

PHOTO INFORMATION

Photo by Denise Ortiz

From left to right: Kenneth A. Laurence, research development coordinator, University of Idaho Research Office, and interim director, International Trade and Development, University of Idaho; Ernest Ables, training program coordinator, professor of wildlife resources, and associate dean for academics and continuing education, College of Forestry, Wildlife and Range Sciences, University of Idaho; Karma Dhendup, forester, Wildlife Division Headquarters, Bhutan; Adam Ausan, St. Paul Park superintendent, Philippines; Gem Tshering, forester/manager, Manas National Park, Bhutan; Gleanne G. Wray, acting associate director, International Trade and Development Office, University of Idaho.

Location: College of Forestry, Wildlife and Range Sciences, University of Idaho, Moscow, Idaho

Description: Dr. Ernest Ables presents U. of I. College of Forestry T-shirts, hats, and certificates of completion to three of his four Asian students--Karma Dhendup, Adam Ausan, and Gem Tshering.