TRIP TO SALT LAKE

Idaho Debaters Tell of Continual Round of Enjoyment in the Enemy's Country

Charles Montandon and V. E. Price Meet With Tribulations and Triumphs at Salt Lake City.

After long and spicy deliberations, it was finally decided to hold the Utah debate. We seemed at first dismantled for this contest, owing to the loss of our library. But through the generosity and courtesy of our neighbors, W. S. O. and the U. of W., our handicap was fully overcome and an abundance of material secured. On account of the distance (over 1000 miles) and consequent expense, this team is composed of two members only.

The Trip.

The trip promised to be unusually pleasant, for two form a congenial traveling party and the weather and all attending circumstances were ideal. We left on Wednesday the 16th and proceeded on our way uneventfully and unsurprised till we reached the land of sage.

Sage Brush.

This formation is a common sight to our southern friends, but to northern farmers and miners it is an extensive surprise. Sage seems to dominate the whole country and is as continuous as the rails on the road for hundreds of miles. Only a few spots are reclaimed where such cities have been erected as Weiser, famed in our midst for its orators and yell masters and wind jammers generally; Glenn's Ferry, glory crowned in basket ball; Shoshone, for sobriety supreme; and Payette, in grace and power unexcelled. All these cities we saw and more of less notoriety. Careful estimates of the amount of sage brush were made, and figures showed that there was enough to feed 40,000,000 rabbits for 20,000 years. Think of the resources of this state.

A Well Watered Valley.

The next interesting landscape was the famous valley of northern Utah, leading to Salt Lake. Here this fertile stretch, as beautiful and rich as Eden, stands in strange contrast to the country adjacent to the north. Green and abundantly irrigated, the valley extends for hundreds of miles five to ten miles wide as one solid farm. It produces all crops, not excluding young Mormons.

"Ike" Falls to Identify.

On Thursday evening we arrived in the far famed city of "Zion." We set about making diligent inquiry for Utah's able manager of debate, Ike Alexander. Now "Ike" had received our pictures and was at the depot, "all eyes and ears" with the "cartoons" in hand, that he might identify any personages present. "Ike" is a shark but notwithstanding the fact that we carried a large roll of ill fated maps and made withal an effort to resemble our pictures, Ike failed to identify us till we accosted him and were told that he was Ike Alexander. He then entreated us very courteously, and led us to the Kenyon Hotel, one of the best in the city. Here a few minutes later a number of the 'Varsity boys arrived and greeted us in a very pleasant and familiar manner.

The Final Touch.

The next day, Friday, was devoted to a review of our case, to argument, and to elucidation of the crucial points therein involved, as indeed the two previous days in the cars had been. These rites plus a fast and a short walk were the only ones observed preparatory to the final contest.

"The Holy Mountains About Zion."

The first great sight that claimed our attention was the chain of high, rugged snow covered mountains, devoid of vegetation, that form almost an entire circle in the distance around the city. To the founders of the city, the persecuted Mormon pioneers who led across the plains in 1847, these mountains meant refuge and safety and peace; they were therefore referred to by the pious refugees whom they protected as "the mountains of the Lord about Zion," so termed in scriptural paraphrase.

The Tabernacle.

We proceeded toward the Temple block to view the wonders there. The Tabernacle is a unique structure, about 175x300 feet. The acoustics are so perfect that the drop of a pin or a whisper can be heard distinctly in any part of the building. It was devised by the great Brigham and erected under his leadership, 1848-51. It contains one of the largest pipe organs in the world.

Forty Years in Construction.

One structure towers above all others for grandeur. This is the Temple. The foundations were laid in 1856 and the turrets completed in 1896. No gentile has ever been admitted inside its sacred walls.

Almost Persuaded.

As we stood afar off and beheld bewildered its external magnificence, our instructor told us of its inner splendor, of the unsurpassed wealth and pomp of its interior. Here Price became very restless, his curiosity was aroused and he began to devise means whereby he might be permitted to see. Then he exclaimed "Almost am I persuaded to become a Mormon."

Seeing the City.

Col. Wall, who had acted as judge in the debate, took us out the following day in his automobile to view the sights. We were shown all places of importance and beauty and rode around the park at the rate of 45 miles an hour. The genial Colonel added much to the enjoyment of our stay in the city.

The U. boys next showed us around the 'Varsity, where everything is new and well equipped. Utah has the best library of any of our neighbors, it is second only to that which Idaho is going to have.

OFFICERS ELECTED

Uneventful Campaign for Choice of A. S. U. I Officers and Debate Council

Seniors Take Four Out of Nine Debate Council Places—Juniors 2, Sophs 2, Freshmen 1.

On Friday, May 18, occurred the election of the officers of the Associated Students and members of the Debate Council for 1906-7. In comparison with the election for the officers of the Argonaut Staff the recent election was very quiet. There was some campaigning but not so intense as usual in such elections.

For two offices there was no competition. Walter M. Myers, '07, was the sole candidate for President, and Ruth Fogle, '07, was without opposition in her campaign for Secretary. For each of the other two offices of the A. S. U. I. there were two candidates. G. H. Wyman, '07, and A. M. McPherson, '08, ran for the vice-presidency. Wyman won by a majority of 15 votes. P. S. Darlington, '07, won out over Roy Eichelberger in the vote for treasurer by a majority of 42.

Mr. Myers, President elect, entered the University as a sophomore. He has taken an active part in all student affairs. For two years he has been a member of the track team and was on the football squad last fall. As a member of the Amphictyon Literary society he has proved himself efficient for the position to which he was elected. He was a member of one intersociety and one interclass debate. With all the students he is very popular.

The Vice-President elect, Mr. Wyman, entered the University in 1903 from the Boise High School. He has been very popular at the University. He represented the Amphictyons in an intersociety debate and debated for the Sophomores against the Freshmen in 1905. For three years he has represented the University in base ball, and was a member of the basket ball team last winter. He will be an able executive officer.

Miss Fogle, another member of the '07 class, was the sole candidate for the office of Secretary. She is diligent and conscientious, and an active worker in the Y. W. O. A. Her reliability will insure to the students accurate records of their transactions and proceedings.

This is the second time Mr. Darlington was elected to the office of Treasurer. He did not return to school in 1904-5 hence did not fill that position that year though elected. He is a member of the Amphictyon Literary society and was a member of the Debate Council in 1903-4. The confidence reposed in him by the students is exemplified by the fact that he has twice been elected custodian of the student funds.

The Debate Council election exhibited more competition for the positions. As a result of the election the Seniors have a representation of four, the Juniors two, and the Freshmen one. The following were elected: W. W. Goble, W. M. Meyers, N. B. Adkison, T. E. Hunter, J. D. Matthews, Guy Holman, O. P. Darwin, Roy Barto and W. Solibakke.

Talks to High School Graduates

The Lewiston Teller says of the commencement of the Lewiston High School week before last:

"The class address was given by Edward M. Hulme of the University of Idaho, who chose for his theme 'Public Problems and Public Education.' The address was scholarly and eloquent and full of good thought for the class. The speaker outlined as the great social and economic problems the problem of corporate control, the labor problem, marriage and divorce problems, immigration problem, the railway problem, and the negro problem. These were chief among many, and to these the people of the country must find solution. The youth of the land must be made to see clearly the conditions and history the best vantage ground for getting the proper perspective. This age he compared to another, the Renaissance; and its problems are to be settled on the same basis. He spoke very feelingly on the deepening consciousness of social solidarity, the common brotherhood of man."

T. R. Jones, '05, recently met with a painful accident in the Bunker Hill and Sullivan mine at Wardner. The mine physician was summoned and discovered that Mr. Jones' third finger on his left hand was badly lacerated. The injured finger is, however, causing no serious trouble. Mr. Jones was last year editor-in-chief of the Argonaut and participated in many different student activities.

IDAHO IS AFTER A VICTORY!

May 31, next Thursday, is the date for a great triangular contest between the Northwest State Universities, to be held at Moscow. That is the Intersate Oratorical contest. The contest will this year be one of the first events of commencement week.

It is an event which will add much to the series of exercises which usher in the close of the college year of 1905-6. In the former contests Idaho has always had to be content with second or third. This was because of too much oratorical and debate work and consequently poor attention to both. But Idaho students who keep an eye on the debate and oratorical situation are expecting better things in the coming competition. With hands free of the over-numerous responsibilities in this line in former years, the winning time has come. If not this year, at least next, the full benefit of new conditions will be realized and the silver and gold will have an oratorical record more nearly equal to her record in debate.

In oratory success depends largely on the inspiration of the moment. A large audience, Yellow and White Represented by a Creditable Bunch in the Great Three-Cornered Contest.

The first Interstate Triangular track meet in the northwest will be held at Seattle Wednesday, Washington, Oregon and Idaho will battle for honors. The outcome is exceedingly doubtful and it is hard to forecast the outcome.

Idaho is strong in the distances and in the relay and has good chances of gathering in a few scattering points in the other events. Washington and Oregon are both strong in the sprints and the field events. These two institutions should break about even in these events. Idaho should pick up some seconds and thirds at the same time. If she can manage to get a couple firsts in some of the field events her chances for victory will be good.

Oregon looks like a winner in the 100 and 220 dashes and the shot put. Washington should do something in the quarter and the pole vault. Idaho should clean out the mile, 880 and relay. Her chances for seconds in the quarter, shot, hammer and 220 hurdles are good. If she can only capture a few more scattering points, with an even break between Oregon and Washington for the rest, the chances are good.

Edmundson, who was hid up with a poisoned foot, went with the team, and if he is able to en-cheering and yelling, hearty and sympathetic backing count more than almost anything else in helping an orator to do his best. Here is a case where the benefits of "rooting" are not in the least problematic. They are evident to any sensible observer. Then it is a fact that Idaho can win this oratorical contest, other things being equal, if J. W. Galloway is greeted with a crowded house of spirited backers when he rises to talk of "Millet, the peasant painter," on the night of May 31.

George H. Merritt of the University of Oregon will speak on "The New Awakening." Washington's orator will be Martin Musser, whose address is entitled "Men of Destiny." The contest will be in the M. E. church. The price of admission will be as low as is consistent with the expenses of the contest. The expenses of a man from Eugene, Oregon, one from Seattle, and judges from Lewiston and Spokane, must be met by the proceeds. Every student of the University should attend, if Galloway is to win, and if the management is to succeed in paying expenses.

The signal victory over W. S. C. on the track May 18 was the reward to a large squad of track men who worked and sacrificed for three months. The lot of the track man has been particularly aggravating this season. In the first place the hard indoor track put several of the most promising men out of the running on account of sprains and sore muscles. Then, when outdoor work began, inclement weather, lack of facilities and accidents combined against the boys. Then came the disappointment of no meet with Whitman. The schedule had been permanently fixed and this meet was necessary to try the metal of the youngsters, before the big contests.

Hampered by all of these mishaps, the boys went into the W. S. C. meet with absolute lack of confidence. But by their tenacity and determination they strained their every muscle and won out in a grand contest.

To the boys who have appeared for their workout, rain or shine, every day, must be given the first credit. To them belongs the credit of defeating W. S. C. after two successive defeats, and of establishing six new records.

The student body has been unflinching in its support of the team. The crowd taken to Pullman showed their interest in the work of the faithful.

To one individual belongs great credit, that is Coach Vande Veer. Coming to Idaho too late to do a proper amount of indoor work; confronted by lack of training facilities, not even a track upon which to work out; he had a colossal task before him. The star Murphy, was gone. The team had begun too strenuous training before he arrived. These little incidents amounted to nothing to a man who was accustomed to accomplish. He began his task without a murmur. He improved every chance to work for a successful team. He played no favorites. With his bushels of enthusiasm and patriotism he petted his embryo team into semi-maturity. Gradually he improved and developed them until he now has one of the most formidable track teams in the entire northwest. Credit to Idaho's coach and his little bunch of athletes. Success to them in the Triangular.

The Y. W. O. A. held an informal reception for Miss Gage, Tuesday afternoon at Ridenbaugh Hall.

J. R. Middleton is elected to teach Mathematics and History in the Lewiston High School for the year 1906-7.

"Men-of-Destiny," "The New Awakening" and "Millet, the Peasant Painter," at the M. E. church next Thursday.

Karl Keys, '08, left Monday for Arlington, Oregon, to visit his sister for a few weeks. From there he will go to Gearhart.

David Graham, of Whitman College, spent Sunday with the Y. M. O. A. arousing enthusiasm for the Gearhart Conference.

The graduating class of the Preparatory department will have completed their examinations by Tuesday, May 29.

Be on hand to cheer up J. W. Galloway for first place in the Interstate Oratorical Contest, at the M. E. church, Thursday night.

W. A. Tener, Secretary of the Student Volunteer movement, will be here June 3-5 in the interests of the Gearhart Conference.

D. S. Whitehead departed Saturday for his home in Boise, where he will assume charge of his father's store during the summer months.

The latest advices from Washington, D. C., state that Senator Heyburn is resting easily. None of the advices shows any definite improvement.

Mrs. M. E. Ridenbaugh has resigned from the Board of Regents. She has ever been a most active worker in behalf of the University.

Last Thursday Professor E. M. Hulme left for Idaho Falls where he will deliver the commencement address to the graduating class of the High School.

Margaret Henderson, '04, has returned from Pullman where she has been teaching for the last year. She leaves next week for Chicago to spend the summer.

Six W. S. C. students are now answering a charge of disorderly conduct, as a result of a recent ruckus in which a street faker was showered with stale eggs.

Milton R. Klepper of W. S. C. won the intercollegiate oratorical contest from Calvin O. Thomason of Whitman at Walla Walla, Friday. Mr. Klepper won five firsts.

Work on the Metallurgical Laboratory and the Assay Building is being rushed. They will be completed and ready for occupancy when the University opens in the fall.

Several preliminary plans for an Administration building have been drafted. These will come up for consideration at the meeting of the Board of Regents during commencement week.

Finally after months of debating the Hepburn-Dolliver Rate Bill has passed the Senate. As it has been returned to the House its own author would hardly know it, so many and so varied are the amendments attached.

The Standard Oil controversy is becoming heated. Charges and counter charges and denials are passing back and forth. Every manner of corruption and fraud in its dealings has been charged against the Standard Oil company.

Saturday evening the Beta Sigma's gave a jolly party at the country home of the Skattaboos, just outside of town. Arthur Rogers acted as chauffeur of the automobile furnished for transportation to and from the scene of gaiety.

The Librarian has returned the material—books, papers, pamphlets and magazines—which the University of Washington and Washington State College lent the University for the use of its debaters. This aid on the part of the two sister institutions enabled Idaho to proceed with one of its debates, though the library had been destroyed. Every courtesy was shown the debaters by these two institutions. The University of Washington lent about twenty books besides various papers, pamphlets, etc. W. S. C. lent many books and pamphlets and tendered the use of its library to the debaters.

Y. M. C. A.

As the year draws to a close and we look back upon the work of the Y. M. O. A. we see that it has been one of the most prosperous years for the association in the history of the Y. M. O. A. work at the the Idaho State University.

Although we have not done as much as we should like to have done yet we feel that the Association has been of service to the University and to the individual student.

Below we give the report of the treasurer. Since the students are asked to contribute to the work we feel that they all have a share in it and should be interested in the same as in any other branch of student activity. Our expenses have been a little higher than usual this year as the Bible Study Institute held between Whitman College, W. S. C. and Idaho was held here this year, thus putting upon us most of the expense. We do not regret this in any way however as we feel that we received more of the benefit than did the other two institutions and would be glad if we could have one here each year.

Bible study is one of the most important branches of the Association work and, aside from the regular services, the branch with which we have been most concerned. We are planning much larger things for next year and must have a large delegation at the Gearhart Conference in June to get new enthusiasm and new ideas for our work. The Association lends each man who attends the conference fifteen dollars to be paid back when convenient and we hope in time to have a permanent fund. As the report shows only $34.00 in all on hand we shall be obliged to use all money available for this purpose this year.

Sham Battle.

The first sham battle which the cadets have held this year was fought Friday afternoon at the University grounds. The new cannon recently received from the Rock Island arsenal were posted north of the annex facing the advancing line which formed in open order in the field west of the Varsity about six hundred yards distant. Captain Clay commanded the defending party in charge of the two guns while the attacking party was led by Lieutenant Steunenberg.

In a continuous skirmish line the offensive party advanced to within about three hundred yards of the guns, firing by volley. Then by executing a flank movement they went out around the Gym and President MacLean's residence and approached the artillery squad from the north.

Captain Clay, to meet this manoeuvre, moved the cannon to a new position near the steps of the Ad. building and so when the attackers came up they were met by the defenders in their new position.

The offensive line advanced by alternate rushes, to within about one hundred yards firing by volleys. Then the command "rapid fire" was given and, fixing bayonets, they charged the guns. The ammunition for the rifles of the defenders had given out and they met the assault with fixed bayonets. Bugler Savidge sounded the charge and with shouts of triumph the attacking line swept over the artillery squad and took the guns. The lines then went back and picked up the dead and wounded.

About 150 spectators witnessed the sham battle. The use of the cannon gave a very spectacular effect and the field manoeuvres and artillery practice proved very instructive to the cadets.

UTAH-IDAHO.

Utah Was Given the the Decision in the Debate with Idaho.

Friday evening, May 18, in the Salt Lake Theatre at Salt Lake occurred the last debate of a series of three between the Universities of Utah and Idaho. The question debated was "Resolved, That laws be passed compelling a business undertaking that secures control of an industry to sell its products at reasonable rates and without discrimination. It being provided (1) that the constitutionality of the plan proposed be not questioned and (2) that the negative shall confine its discussion to the plan proposed." Utah upheld the proposition while Idaho contended for the negative.

The Utah debaters were Harold Stephens and George Hedger. Both had done much debating in societies, but this was the first intercollegiate debate for either. Mr. Stephens is a Sophomore member of the Y. M. O. A. and a member of the Congregational church. Mr. Hedger is a senior. Idaho's debaters were Ohas. A. Montandon and Victor E. Price. Both had the experience of previous debate.

The judges of the debate were Rev. E. I. Goshen, pastor of the Congregational church, Judge O. W. Powers and Colonel E. A. Wall. The chairman was President J. H. Paul of the Latter Day Saints' University. William Ray and Percy Goddard acted as time keepers.

The debate was carried on with some vigor on both sides. Idaho's case was well outlined and was given with good effect and remained intact throughout and at the end of the debate the decision of the judges by a vote of two to one gave the victory to Utah. For fully half a minute after the announcement of the decision all was silence. Idaho's debaters congratulated the victorious team. By this time the audience, which was extremely small in such a large theatre, recovered and began cheering lustily.

The debate ended the series with two victories awarded to Utah, one to Idaho.

PREP. EXERCISES.

Participants Making Preparations for Their Graduation.

The participants in the graduating exercises of the preparatory department are putting forth efforts to make their function successful. Professor Allen is training the various speakers. Besides the addresses there will be several musical selections.

The following is the program to be rendered: Salutatory, Clarence Edmundson; Class History, Florence Sprague; Declaration, Marie Kirkwood; Oration, William Salibakke; Poem and Prophecy, Clifford Edmundson; Valedictory, Andrew Ludberg. Besides these there will be the following musical selections interspersed: Selecton, Girls' Chorus; Tombone Solo, Guy Sigman, accompanist, Lillian Clark; Piano Duet, Lillian Clark and Gwendolyn McKy.

TRIP TO SALT LAKE.

Salt Air.

A leading feature of the occasion was a trip to the lake (about eighteen miles from the city) which never matured because our party could never get its total membership assembled in time to catch the train. Several desperate attempts were made but all proved futile.

Tabernacle Services.

Sunday afternoon we attended the principal service of the day in the Tabernacle. On the three rostrums were seated the "powers that be" according to official standing: The president and his council, the Apostles, Bishops and Elders, etc. The sermon that day was delivered by Dr. Paul, an Apostle, who by the way, acted as chairman in the debate. The mighty pipe organ and a well trained choir of 400 voices pealed forth hallelujah's which filled the spacious auditorium with voluminous and powerful harmony, and the foreigners with open-mouthed amazement. Such magnificent melody they had never heard, no, not even in Assembly.

"Ike" Ships Us.

At midnight on Sunday the faithful "Ike" assisted us in getting our traps together and making our exodus. For his troubles he was submitted to an unmerciful and protracted joshing in which he was not worsted for our freshness was opposed by his salty wit.

In Boise.

It was decided several months ago that Boise, the beautiful, the center of the universe, must be visited. Our policy here was to call on every one whose name we had heard. This succeeded so well that we kept it up as long as time permitted. Ross Good, former student of the 'Varsity, took us in charge and drove to all places of interest with his horse-o-mobile. To all our comments on the beauty of the place our driver had but one answer: That the other end of town was far more beautiful! This noble youth and his rig should be subsidized by the city and allowed to devote his entire time and talents to the entertainment of strangers at which he is so proficient. In Boise we were right at home among strangers and had we followed our inclination we should have looked us up a home and stayed there. But we were told "in the spirit" that the faculty had need of us at home for we had been gone eight days. We therefore bade the fair city adieu and toward the land of examiners thoughtfully bent our circuitous route.
