COMMENCEMENT

Class Day Tuesday—Rabbi Wise Delivers Commencement Address.

Twenty-Nine Receive Their Diplomas—Graduates all Have Secured Good Positions.

Commencement Address.

The commencement address was delivered by Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, of Portland. In an address, beautiful for its good advice and noble doctrine, he talked to the graduates as if inspired by an unseen power. The thought of the address was sublime, the diction exquisite, and the masterly still of delivery thrilling.

Rabbi Wise said in part:

"Remember that tomorrow, you will be made the target for the grudge of thousands of people and you will have to judge everything by consequence. You will be called upon to do what you are afraid to do. It is a man's perdition to be safe. I am not asking you to be fools and indifferent to consequence. I am asking you to be indifferent to consequence when you know you are right. The only failure is the fear of failure and much is lost to the world because men will not venture.

"I am speaking today to a gathering of American young men and American young women. A Jewish teacher to American men and women, you must pardon me if at times I bring in some of the teachings of my religion, but you must also realize that its teachings are not denied. Need I point out to you, young American men and women, that we are all Americans here, and why my faith in Israel has made me a stronger American? We, my people, are living a life of the greatest democracy, a life where we scorn the consequence but go ahead if we are right. We follow the teachings and the policy that because right is right, we must scorn consequence.

"You will remember the awful disaster of several months ago when so many lives went to a watery grave, because it was one of the most shameful stories of this country. On that occasion, several crafts were sent to the aid of the unfortunates. One captain turned the stern of his vessel from a wreckage on which were 40 or 50 dying people because he had received a message that he was to return to port when another vessel hove in sight. He answered the message to those to whom he owed obedience but he lost his soul. It was his duty to die. It was his duty to go down in the sea in making attempts to save the unfortunates. If he had succeeded in escaping with his life, he would have lost his place and might have lost the ship, but his name would now be spoken of with honor and his memory revered instead of being the fit subject for scorn.

"Our own beloved President, Theodore Roosevelt, has always known fearlessness and he at all times has scorned consequence. When he was made police commissioner of New York; when he went to the war with the rough riders and when he held out the olive branch of peace to Russia and Japan, he scorned the advice of his political friends and scorned their warnings of disastrous results as a consequence. He knew his duty and he did it.

"Upon this occasion, when you are just about to embark upon the vessel which is to take you over the troublous seas of the world in general, I desire to say to you, young men and young women, that the state which has served you, the state which has mothered you, now asks you that you give her what you possess.

"I ask to be remembered by one word and that is that you be equal to the scorn of consequence."

After the address President MacLean conferred degrees upon the following:

Bachelor of Arts:—Winifred Calkins, Lola Clark, Stephen Craig, Carol Foster, Jessie Fritz, James Galloway, Robert Ghormley, Annie Hoyt, Edward Magee, John Middleton, Amanda Moerder, Chas. Montandon, Ethel Moody, Victor Price, Carrie Thompson, Elvia Wagner.

Bachelor of Science:—Arthur Rogers, Tessa Simpson.

Bachelor of Music:—Margaret Lauder.

B. S. in Mining Engineering:—E. H. Oulver, Louis Fogle, Byron Howard, Reginald Leonard, John McFall, Bayard Morrow, Harry Noble, Nicholas Sheridan, William Snow, Anthony VonHarten.

B. S. in Electrical Engineering:—George Horton.

Class Day.

The class day exercises were held on the campus on the afternoon of Tuesday, June 5. In spite of the cool weather, a large number of friends and visitors were present to hear the seniors in their final official duties.

The first number on the program was the address of the president, Nicholas O. Sheridan. Mr. Sheridan's address was terse and concise and dealt with the value of the education that they had received. The history, read by Jessie Fritz, was well written and delivered. It told of the life of the class from the day they entered college as green, conceited freshmen until they had developed into sober, humble seniors. The exploits of the class were vividly told with fervor and a slight amount of humorous exaggeration.

The class oration was delivered by Chas. A. Montandon. He emphasized the idea that their education belonged to the state and that the state had the perfect right to demand its exercise for usefulness. In an easy fluent manner he touched upon the usefulness that an educated man can be to the state, and closed

TRIANGULAR MEET

Oregon Wins by a Large Score. Washington Second, Idaho Third.

Idaho's Star Men Were Out of Condition. Kelly the Star Breaks a Record.

The triangular track meet which was held in Seattle on May 30 proved to bear out all predictions that it would be a great contest, full of surprises. Oregon won handily with ten men who are in a class by themselves. They had a wonderful team equally strong in all events.

In the 100 dash Dan Kelly defeated Rex Smith by three yards. The official time keeper gave out the time as :10 1-5, but four experienced time keepers on the side lines caught him in :9 4-5. But equally wonderful was his performance in the finals of the 220. Without being closely followed he broke the coast record in this event, running in 22 seconds flat.

In the high hurdles it was all Oregon, Moores, Kuykendall and Frizell taking all three places.

In the distances Idaho's little wonder was beaten by Freshman Parker. The half was run in 2:14, rather slow time for a consistent 2 minute man to be bested. Matthews was in pitiable condition and pluckily stayed with his man. Edmundson was beaten for the first time in his career. But, considering that for the ten days previous he lay upon his back suffering from blood poison, he ran a remarkable race.

The broad jump was more of an exhibition than a contest. Kelley and Frizell delighted the crowd by some beautiful leaps, the latter winning out by a jump of 23 ft. 4 1/2 in. Kelley took second with 23 ft. 1 1/2 in. Frazier, Idaho, beat the idolized Rex Smith by jumping 21 ft. 2 1/2 in.

Fawcett, the only Idaho man in condition, took the quarter with ease. He ran a pretty race. He drew the outside track, took a steady pace and kept it to the tape, passing the entire field.

Oregon again starred in the weights. McKinley, Hug and Moulten were almost in a class by themselves. Henry Smith secured second place in the discus, adding three more points to Idaho's total. Moulten won the pole vault, clearing the bar at 11 ft. 2 1/2 in.

The relay was exciting. Oregon and Washington ran neck and neck till the middle of the last lap when Kelley weakened and Smith won out. Idaho took second. The work that Kelley had been doing was beginning to tell upon him and his endurance was wearing. Summary:

100-yard dash—Kelley, O., won; R. Smith, W., second; Moores, O., third. Time, :10

1-5. 220-yard dash—Kelley, O., won; Moores, O., second; R. Smith, W. third. Time, :22 flat.

440-yard dash—Fawcett, I., won; Cameron Will, W., second; Oberteuffer, I., third. Time, :53.

Half mile—Parker, W., won; Matthews, I., second; Edmundson, I., third. Time, 2:14.

1 mile run—Parker, W., won; Matthews, I., second; McOrory, W., third. Time, 4:54.

120 high hurdles—Moores, Friesell, Kuykendall, O. Time, :16 3-5.

220-yard low hurdles—King, W., won; Moores and Friesell, O., second and third. Time, :26.2.

Pole vault—Moullen, O., won; Harrison and Hill, W., tie for second and third. Height, 10 feet 6 inches. Moullen made 11 feet 2 1/2 inches while trying for a record.

High jump—R. Smith, W., won; Kelley, O., second; King, W., third. Height, 5 feet 8 inches.

Broad jump—Friesell and Kelley, O., first and second; Frasier, I., third. Distance, 23 feet 4 1/2 inches.

Shot put—McKinley and Hug, O. firsts and second; Reser, W., third. Distance, 43 feet 3 1-8 inches. Discus—Hug, O., won; Smith, I., second; Moullen, O., third. Distance, 108 feet 6 inches.

Hammer throw—Hug, McKinley and Moullen, O. Distance, 132 feet 4 1/2 inches.

Relay won by Washington in 3:34. Washington's team was composed of Will Cameron, Rex Smith, H. O. Tibbals and S. Parker; Idaho team made up of Matthews, Myers, Fawcett and Denio; Oregon, third, Veatch, Kelley, Prideaux and Oberteuffer.

Drill for Medals.

Monday, May 28, at 1 o'clock, the competitive drill for the Chrisman medal and the medals offered by the officers of B and C companies was held in the armory, under the direction of Lieutenant Steunenber. Cadet Lieut. Col. Knight of the W. S. C. regiment judged the contest.

Private Grete won the silver medal for being the best drilled man in C company. The B company medal was carried off by E. W. Smith. Private Smith also captured the fine gold medal offered by Capt. Chrisman to the best drilled cadet in the battalion. He was closely rivalled by Sgt. Perkins of A and Private Johnson of B company.

Goes to Columbia.

Principal Miles F. Reed of the preparatory school will spend next year as a fellow in the Teacher's College of Columbia University, New York. He has had classes in pedagogy at Idaho for some time and his new studies will be along that line. Prof. Reed is a graduate of Idaho and his success is a cause of pleasure to his very many friends. It is not known who is to fill his place in the preparatory school next year.

WASHINGTON FIRST

Musser Wins Big Interstate Oratorical Contest—Galloway of Idaho Second.

"Men of Destiny" Subject of Winning Oration—Seventy-five Dollars to Winner of First Place.

A very small audience turned out on May 31 for the Interstate Oratorical Contest between the State Universities of Oregon, Washington and Idaho. The competitors were J. W. Galloway for Idaho, Martin Musser for Washington, and George H. Merritt for Oregon. The judges on composition were Hamilton Wright Mabie, of the Outlook, Prof. T. W. Nadal, of Olivet College, and Pres. Thomas McOlellan, of Knox College. Delivery was judged by Prof. William R. Bishop, of Lewiston Normal, Hon. Geo. W. Belt, of Spokane, and the Rev. Wm. H. Fry, of Moscow. Victor E. Price acted as chairman.

Mr. Galloway spoke first on "Millet, the Peasant Painter." His address pointed out the keen interest of Millet in the romantic, in the everyday, hum-drum existence of the French peasant. This interest in the humble, and sense of the beautiful in everything, the speaker said, is the only adequate weapon against the materialism which is spreading through American life today. Mr. Galloway's speech, in delivery and composition, placed him emphatically in the race for first. His subject was very interesting and his delivery pleasing.

He was followed by Geo. H. Merritt whose subject was "The New Awakening." It was a laudation of the new tendencies of reform in American politics and an appeal for more unmasking of political wrong, and for more men of the type of Roosevelt and Folk, to do the work. The speaker lost largely in delivery. He had a good voice but he failed to use it as he should have.

The third address, "Men of Destiny," was by Martin Musser of Washington. He outlined the characteristics of men of destiny in all epochs of history and illustrated his outline by concrete examples, then applied his conclusions to modern conditions in showing the need of such men in America under our present industrial regime. He was a very forceful speaker, and this, together with a very small lead which he obtained over Galloway on thought and composition, won him first place.

The votes of the judges as given below demonstrate that the contest was throughout a very close one. There was no illfeeling over the decision, however, and the utmost friendliness of spirit characterized all concerned in the competition. The judges

Entered in the postoffice, Moscow, Idaho, as second class mail matter.

The staff regrets that condition of the treasury prevents the annual commencement edition of the Argonaut with the full accounts of the commencement exercises.

Idaho students have cause to regret very much the resignation of Mrs. Mary E. Ridenbaugh from the Board of Regents. Her services to the University during the years of her membership of that board have been invaluable. We wish her successor a term of service of as great good to the University.

In spite of the severe reverse that the college work of 1905-6 received when the administration building was lost, the past school year has been one filled with red letters. Notwithstanding the elimination of one year of the preparatory department, the attendance was as large as the preceding year and the percentage of college students was greatly increased. A feeling of unity and of mutuality has been gradually fostered and has cemented the students more closely until the organization of students has become almost perfect. This friendly, brotherly spirit has had much to do with the continued successes of the past year.

In almost all branches of intercollegiate activities Idaho is found at the top. That masterly football team, the best ever produced by Idaho, swept everything before it and captured the championship of the northwest. Idaho has proved herself to be without a peer in the realm of debate. Her orators won the triangular debate, the greatest series of forensic contests yet established in the northwest. The basketball team defeated team after team of veteran players and missed the championship only by the narrowest margin. The track team regained lost honors and had a successful season. In base ball alone was Idaho weak.

And it is doubtful if an institution in the northwest can show a record like that Idaho made during the past year. Champions of two branches, foot ball and debate, the two most important ones, and leaders in all others. Surely, when the size of the institution and the meager facilities are considered, the record of 1905-6 is a record of which we may well be proud.

The duties and trials of the students and faculty were lightened by the severe reverses during the year, but by banding together and sticking to the ship they have lived through the trials and everything looks bright for a greater and more expansive future, a larger and more enthusiastic student body and a grander and nobler University. The year of 1906-7 promises to be one of reconstruction of growth. A new epoch is now being entered. An epoch which will see Idaho rise to front rank of collegiate institutions in America.

Annual Competitions.

The staff of the "Gem of the Mountains '08" has announced a series of competitions in literary, art, and funny work for next year's annual. The prizes are to be annuals. The staff hopes that a desire to help in producing a record-breaking book will prompt many in the University to enter these competitions, even though the prizes are not very large.

The prizes are as follows: An annual for each of the three best short stories submitted by undergraduates of the University. The stories are to be of not more than two thousand words. Competition closes on December 1, 1906.

An annual for the best poem submitted by an undergraduate of the University. This poem is to be of considerable length, probably 150 lines, and should have some connection with college life. It should be of a sort well adapted to illustration by panel designs. This competition closes December 1, 1906.

Annuals will be awarded also for especially good work in the art and joke departments. Any one willing to draw for the annual can obtain a list of drawings desired, and further instructions from the editor, Guy Holman, Moscow, Ida., or the head of the art department, Fred P. Roulard, Weiser, Ida. Further, annuals will be given for especially good work in the joke department. Funny cartoons, ideas for comic series, short funny stories, poems, and jokes of any sort pertaining to college life, will be welcomed. The joke editor is R. W. Claye, whose address for this summer is Ashland, Oregon. Further information as to the poem and short story competitions may be obtained from the literary editor, M. P. Morrow, 420 Washington St., Boise.

The annual staff reserves the right to reject any or all work offered in these competitions, and all work accepted is to become the property of the 1908 annual. It is hoped that many may find time this summer to devote to work in these competitions, so that the energies of the staff may be directed to other concerns next fall.

Annual Concert.

It was seen fit, on account of the losses of the department of music in the fire of last March, to charge 50 cents admission to the annual concert on Monday evening, June 4, at the M. E. church. Notwithstanding a crowd hardly smaller than ordinarily greeted the performers.

Every number from the H Trovatore of Singelee, rendered by Mr. L. B. Judson on the violin and Mrs. Wilson Aull on the organ, to Mrs. Aull's closing organ solo, gave very great pleasure to the listeners. Mr. For van Puk sang some tenor solos in his very charming manner. Two songs by Mrs. William H. Fry added much to the program, as did also a piano solo by Miss Margaret Lauder. The most pleasing work of the evening was the singing by Miss Ghormley of the "Hills

o' Skye" and "Where Roses Bloom."

W. S. C. on Top.

In the Intercollegiate Oratorical contest between W. S. C. and Whitman, the State College orator, Milton R. Klepper, won first place. He was given five firsts on delivery. The winner is given $50 worth of books. Idaho was formerly a competitor in these contests, but withdrew last fall.

New Regent.

Mrs. S. H. Hays of Boise has been appointed to succeed Mrs. M. E. Ridenbaugh on the Board of Regents of the University. Mrs. Hays has been a citizen of the state for 20 years, and has long been deeply interested in educational matters.

Plans for the 1908 Annual are rapidly assuming definite shape. Next fall the work will be pushed vigorously. Printing and engravers' contracts will be let early, orders for the book will be taken in the fall, and the editors will arrange their work so that the book can come out very early in the second semester.

The President's reception was an elaborate affair and was largely attended.

Victor E. Price's mother, of Wardner, spent commencement week in Moscow.

The debate council met Monday afternoon and settled up its accounts for the year.

Ed. Magee and Wm. Robertson have convalesced from their recent attacks of measles.

Senator Heyburn is convalescing, and has gone on an ocean trip, by advice of his physicians.

Dr. Lewis, of the department of zoology, has gone east. He will not return to Idaho next year.

On account of the press of other events, no Y. M. C. A. meeting was held on last Sunday afternoon.

Dr. Magee father of E. H. and Frank, spent some time in Moscow during his son's illness with the measles.

John Persson and Peter Bryden are working on the Inland surveying crew between Moscow and Pullman.

Mrs. Elzy and Miss Ethel Elzy, of Everett, formerly of Moscow, visited the University during commencement week.

Mrs. M. Kidwell, of Coeur, Idaho, visited her nephew, J. M. Bennett of the preparatory school, this week.

The alumni banquet was held at Hidenbaugh Hall Tuesday afternoon. Many alumni were present on the occasion.

PREP. COMMENCEMENT.
Budding Freshmen Rendered Excellent Program Saturday Eve.

A packed auditorium greeted the 3rd year preps. for their commencement exercises at the M. E. church Saturday evening, June 2.

Clarence Edmundson delivered the salutatory. Florence Sprague followed with the class history. William Solibakke delivered an excellent oration on "The Trend of Modern Commercialism." Clifford Edmundson gave the class prophecy in clear rhyme. Andrew Ludberg was the last speaker with the valedictory.

The musical part of the program was also good. It consisted of a trombone solo by Guy Sigman, a piano duet by Misses McKy and Clark, and a song in the German, "Verlassen," by a chorus of the girls of the class. The Rev. W. H. Fry made the opening and closing prayers. The presentation of diplomas was by Dr. MacLean. The graduating class numbered thirty-six.

with an appeal to be self sacrificing. The class pilgrimage then began. Forming a line the graduates, followed by the spectators, marched from building to building and at each one some member of the class told of the history of the building and bade farewell to the same. Tessa Simpson spoke of the Horticultural building, Zoia Clark bade good bye to the dormitory, Bryon-Howard briefly outlined the work done in the mining building, Victor E. Price sounded a pathetic farewell to the dear old administration building, while James Galloway made an impressive talk before the armory and gymnasium, emphasizing the importance of the training received by the cadet.

After the regular program, an old canon, a relic of the Civil War, was presented to the University by the Major Anderson Post of G. A. R., Colonel R. H. Barton presented the canon and Lieutenant George Steunenberg spoke in response.

Thus Martin Musser of the University of Washington won first and J. W. Galloway of Idaho got second. The winner received $75 and second man $25, prizes offered annually by the King County (Wash.) Bar Association.

Gearhart Delegation.

David Graham of Whitman College visited the 'Varsity Sunday, a week ago, to aid in working up a Gearhart delegation for the conference at Gearhart, Oregon. The Y. M. C. A. annually sends a few men to this conference of the northwest college students in Y. M. C. A. work. A considerable sacrifice is necessary in order to go but those who have attended say that benefit derived far exceeds any outlay which must be made. Idaho had a larger delegation, considering the size of her student body and her distance from Gearhart, than any other at last year's conference. The sessions will be held this year from June 16 to 24. It is confidently expected that at least eight men will go this year. Any who desire to take the trip should see Montandon or Keyes at once.
