FIRST REGULAR ASSEMBLY

President MacLean Spoke of the Needs of the University. A Large Attendance Present.

The first regular assembly of the present college year was held at the usual hour, 10:20 on Wednesday, last week. President MacLean delivered a very important address upon the needs of the University. Before taking up his address the President gave a very interesting resume of the work on the new university buildings. His address upon the needs of the University was as follows:

First. The University needs more land. The original purchase of twenty acres was undoubtedly too small. A whole section of land—640 acres—would have been commensurate with the needs of the University and could be utilized at the present time. In the past year the Regents have acquired by purchase three blocks east of the old campus, and the sixty-three acres that connect the University grounds with the farm, and by donation the seven blocks that form the site of the Agricultural Building. Eight hundred and eighty acres on the Moscow range have been leased from the State for a term of years. These tracts will serve for a summer pasture, a wood lot and some of the uses of the Experiment Station. Three hundred and twenty acres have been donated by the citizens of Caldwell; one hundred and twenty acres under the ditch will be used for irrigation experiments and the remainder for experiments in dry land farming. It is not the intention of the Regents to acquire any more land at a distance from the University. It has been suggested that sometime in the future a small tract will be needed as a site for a summer Biological station and Lake Coeur d'Alene has been mentioned as a suitable location. This matter, however, has not been thoroughly discussed and is not under consideration at present.

It is not the intention to ask the legislature for any money to buy land, and unless this money is secured through donation it is quite likely that the University will be confined to its present lands for many years. It is to be hoped, however, that the University will soon be able to take better care of its campus than is possible under present conditions. A College campus should carry memories of a thousand delightful and ennobling associations. The campus of today and tomorrow is something to be deplored, wept over if you will, and forgotten.

Second. The University needs new buildings. It goes without saying of course that the present situation will soon prove intolerable. It is even doubtful at the present time whether it can be maintained for 1906-7. The library and many of the class rooms are cold and cannot be perfectly heated, some of the recitation rooms are wretchedly inadequate to the present uses, and it will require all the fortitude and courage and loyalty of the students and faculty to maintain the educational standards and regular routine of the institution during the inclement weather of the next three months. But even though the Administration Building were now finished, instead of begun, and stood today on the campus completely equipped and ready for occupancy, the University would still need many new buildings so urgently that their construction could not be delayed without detriment to the cause of higher education in this state. A central heating plant is required before the buildings now on the campus can be properly and economically heated. A Machinery Hall must soon be provided for the departments of Mechanical and Electrical Engineering. A building for Domestic Science must be provided before the present four years' course, now outlined for that department, can be carried into full operation. Our present library numbers only 3000 volumes. At the close of the year it may number 5000. The scholarship of the University and the needs of the University and the state require a library ten times as large in a building adequately equipped for library purposes, and no other expenditure of money, either by the state, by corporations, or by private individuals, can be expected to produce an equal return. A sufficient library is now and will remain the first and most urgent need of the University.

The Agricultural department needs a stock judging pavilion and a larger area for indoor experiment in horticulture. The two new buildings of the Mining Department are better adapted to the uses of instruction in the Mining Department than any with which we are familiar, but their presence on the campus only serves to emphasize the need for a large building for lectures, a Geological collection and the department of Geology. The classes in Chemistry are too large for the present quarters of the department, or for any that can be provided in any building now on the campus or under construction and a separate building for Chemistry might well have been mentioned at the first of the list instead of at the last.

I do not know what plans the Regents may have formed in respect to the needs I have just outlined. It is to be expected that they will ask the legislature for a large appropriation, a very large appropriation for the construction of the Administration Building. It is also to be expected that they will ask for a special tax, for a permanent building fund, and a large increase in the maintenance fund. Whether the Regents will ask for any other building in addition to the Administration Building, I do not know. I think they will not make any request that

WASHINGTON VS. IDAHO

The Last Game of the Season To Be Played at Seattle on Thanksgiving Day

The latter part of this week the football team will depart for Seattle. This will be our last game of the season and Idaho's chances for a victory are good. A few comparative scores would perhaps be of interest:

Idaho played Whitman 5-6.
Washington played Whitman 0-0.
Idaho played Oregon 0-12.
Washington played Oregon 6-16.
While the two Armstrong boys may not go to Washington on account of the very severe illness of their father, the team will still be strong though crippled. This is one of the most important games of the year. It may be decided at Seattle whether Idaho has a good team with poor luck, or a poor team. Idaho has been beat in some of the other Inter-collegiate games purely through the luck of their opponents. The only exception would be the game with the heavy, experienced team of Oregon, which will undoubtedly have the Northwest championship this year. We can not all go to Seattle to root for the boys, but, if possible, let us all turn out to the train when they leave and give them a good send-off. Let them feel that every student of the Idaho State University is behind them and patting them on the back toward the goal line. Show the Idaho spirit.

PREPS 5, L. S. N. 0.

The Preparatory Team Won in a Close Game Last Saturday.

In a fiercely contested game of football here Saturday by the Preps defeated the L. S. N. team by a score of 5 to 0. The ground was covered with several inches of snow, which rendered quick action and long runs unsuccessful. Forward passes were resorted to by the Preps. to good advantage. McKinley, Curtis, Kjosness, Stephens among the Preps deserve special mention. Cleveland, Pauls and Basher for the Normal were especially strong and heady.

The first touchdown was made after six minutes by Kjosness. Curtis had a little the best of the kicking.

The lineup:
L. S. N. Preps.
Low c. Cooper
Gimlin r. g. l. Bangs
Harr l. g. r. Nail
Pauls r. t. l. Riley
B. Cleveland r. t. l. Crom
Dole r. e. l. Stephens
McCormick l. e. r. Curtis
Basher r. h. l. McKinley
T. Cleveland l. h. r. Tate
Kettenbach f. Kjosness

Touchdown, Kjosness 1.
Referee, Arthur Pauls.

Zenith of halves, 20 minutes.
Scores: Preps. 5, L. S. N. 0.

With Hug, Moullen and Latour ette, three of her best men out of the game, Oregon defeated Washington last Wednesday by a score of 16 to 6.

Corn Carnival and Farmers' Institute

First Annual Meeting of Idaho Agronomy Association to Be Held at Moscow, December 11-14, 1906.

The Idaho Agronomy Association will hold its first annual meeting at the College of Agriculture, in Moscow, beginning Tuesday, December 11, and closing the following Friday.

Agronomy is that branch of Agriculture which treats of the science and art of producing farm crops, and for that reason the convention ought to be of large practical value. It should certainly be well attended. The following announcement of the meeting has been sent out by Professor Crosthwait, agronomist of the Agricultural College and Secretary of the State Association:

"An interesting program is being prepared, consisting of addresses, papers, and discussions on various phases of stockgrowing and dairying, fruitgrowing and gardening, soils and crops, poultry raising, domestic science, and other topics.

The principal feature of the convention will be an exhibit of corn grown in Idaho and a study of corn and corn growing. It is thought by some that corn cannot be grown in Idaho. The first "Corn Carnival" of the Pacific Northwest is for the purpose of correcting this erroneous belief.

Premiums will be offered for exhibits of the several classes of corn grown in the state, and it is hoped that everyone who has corn grown in Idaho will make an exhibit. Premiums will be offered for exhibits of dent corn, flint corn, sweet corn and pop corn. Nearly 100 premiums will be offered.

Important. If any one feels that his corn is not good enough to compete for a premium, because of unfavorable climate, soil, or other conditions, let him bring a sample in spite of that feeling. One of the most interesting and instructive studies of the convention will be the comparison of corn from different sections of the state, grown perhaps 500 to 800 miles apart or at great difference of elevation above sea level. Therefore, let each one bring a sample of whatever he may have. Let us all work together to make our first "Corn Carnival" an important event in the evolution of corn production in the Inland Empire. The success of this event will have an important bearing upon the development on the corn industry in the various sections of the state.

While our exhibition is primarily a "Corn Show," no agricultural product is debarred, and we hope to see our new agricultural building, Morrill Hall, filled with the products of Idaho's fertile soil.

Another feature of interest to the convention will be an exhibit of soils. Bring in samples of your soils and compare them with those from other sections. Idaho has very different types of soils and it will be interesting to see them together. Take three or more samples at various depths, taking a new sample when there is a change in the character of the soil. In an hour or less one can carefully sample his soil to a depth of six feet. Be careful to make a note of the thickness of the different layers and the character of the wild vegetation. Samples should be not less than one pint. Teaspoonful samples of soil do not amount to much. Label each sample carefully.

Those intending to send in exhibits should notify the Superintendent as soon as possible, giving the number and kind of exhibits in order that space may be provided for all. There will be no entrance fees. For further particulars see the "Rules of Exhibit."

Each day during the convention the Domestic Science Department of the University will present a program of special interest to the women of the home. This will be an excellent opportunity to become familiar with the solid foundation which this department is helping to lay for the future homes of the state. Lectures and demonstrations will be given relative to the composition and preparation of food and the principles of household management. Women of our Idaho homes, we hope that, if it is at all possible, you will show your interest in the home by attending the coming convention. Take a little outing and visit your State University.

There will also be a special session for the boys and girls, where they will be encouraged to begin an experiment which will be interesting and profitable to them.—Gem State Rural.

INTER-SOCIETY DEBATE A GO. Committee Getting New Rules Rapidly Into Shape.

Galloway and W. H. Mason for the Amphics and Morrow and Holman for the Webs are working on the rules for the new Inter-society Debates, and have them nearly ready for presentation to the societies. The rules provide for a debate each year on or about the 15th of January, and for the Heyburn debate on the third Friday in April. In the first debate only one inter-collegiate debater will be allowed on either team.

For the present year special arrangements will be made in regard to the dates. The Websterians have set the date for the tryout, and the Amphics, it is expected, will shortly do so. The question is to be the same one which will be used in the triangular debates between Oregon, Washington and Idaho next March.

Prof. Phelps of the English department of Yale would make the Bible the sole test in all English entrance examinations.

The record of 9 3-5 seconds for 100 yards made by Dan Kelly of the University of Oregon, has at last been approved by the Amateur Athletic Union of the United States, and it will stand as the world's amateur record.

RATES—One Dollar Per Year

Entered in the postoffice, Moscow, Idaho, as second-class mail matter.

Correspondence from members of the Alumni solicited.

At Assembly last week Pres. MacLean spoke of many things of vital importance to the University. We wish to emphasize one in particular. The President said: "The University needs local scholarships, Railroad scholarships some one has called them—with the idea that the scholarship should be sufficient to defray the student's travelling expenses for three years during his college course."

His plan is as follows: "Each town by an annual expenditure of one hundred and fifty dollars could materially assist several of its students in attendance at the University. Suppose for example the city of Boise established a scholarship tenable by graduates of the Boise high school, payable in three annual installments of $150 each, the first on matriculation at the University, the second and third in the September of the two succeeding years. In this way at any given time there would be three beneficiaries of the Boise scholarship in attendance at the University."

This is an admirable plan and would greatly increase the attendance at the University. It would do more than this, it would act as an impetus to high school work. There are a great many scholastic students who would attend the University if they only had a little financial assistance. The scholarships would increase the attendance and also the standard of the work done by the high schools of the state in that the assurance of a high quality of work done by a scholastic student would act as a means to an end, the end being attendance at the University.

Those who have college news which they desire to be printed in the Argonaut will confer a favor upon the editor by either reporting the same to him or by referring such news to the staff editor in whose department that particular news belongs. In one or two instances we have failed to get certain happenings about the University. These omissions can be eradicated by those who know of news to report the same to the staff.

Last week we published an article referring to the question as to whether the registration fee should be raised and said that the same was a brief upon the registration fee question. We were slightly mistaken in this assumption in that the article was an introduction to a brief for the affirmative and negative sides rather than a real brief upon the question.

The Editor-in Chief of the Argonaut wishes, in this the last edition before Thanksgiving to thank the students of the University and the citizens of the city and of the State for their hearty support and patronage they have given him in the past. He unites with the staff in extending to all wishes of a very, very pleasant Thanksgiving Day.

Those who do not receive the Argonaut regularly should notify the Business Manager.

We are still in need of a few short stories for the Xmas number of the Argonaut.

The great Michigan football team went down to defeat on the 17th before the Pennsylvania team by a score of 22 to 0. This is considered one of the greatest surprises of the season, since Pennsylvania had been badly defeated by Carlisle a few days before, and Michigan went into the game with a record of years untarnished by defeat.

Stanford defeated the University of California 6 to 3 in the first game of Rugby between the two institutions this year. The new game proved to be as exciting and interesting to the shouting crowd as the old.

Co-education has been abolished at Chicago. As soon as plans can be perfected for their complete segregation the two sexes will not meet in class rooms, dormitories, entertainment halls or chapel. They will, however, meet occasionally on the campus.

Does college pay?

To be at home in all lands and all ages; to count Nature a familiar acquaintance, and Art an intimate friend; to gain a standard for the the appreciation of other men's work and the criticism of one's own; to carry the keys of the world's library in one's pocket, and feel its resources behind one in whatever task he undertakes; to make hosts of friends among the men of one's own age of life; to lose one's self in generous enthusiasm and co-operation with others for common ends; to learn manners from students who are gentlemen, and character from professors who are christians—these are the virtues of a college for the best four years of one's life.—Pres. Hyde.

A final contract has been drawn up between W. S. C. and O. A. C. which calls for one debate each year. The first debate will be held at Pullman this year.

The Senior class of the University of Oregon will give the Greek mythology play, Pygmalion and Galatea.

The Amphictyon Society met last Saturday evening in their usual great number. The committee in charge of the Inter Society debate made an extensive report, favoring two debates and an oratorical contest annually between the two societies. The date for the tryout was set for Dec. 15, on the question, "Resolved, that the disfranchisement of the Negroes in the South is justifiable." This question was discussed at the last meeting. All those desiring to enter the tryout should hand their names to T. C. Galloway.

The attendance was very large, about one hundred being present.

That is why I have so large a real estate business today.

Why not put your property among the number that will be sold as a result of these "ads?"

I will not only be able to sell it—some time—but will be able to sell it quickly. I am a specialist in quick sales. I have the most complete and up-to-date equipment. I have branch offices throughout the country and a field force of men to find buyers.

I do not handle all lines usually carried by the ordinary real estate agents. I MUST SELL real estate—and lots of it—or go out of business. I can assure you I am not going out of business. On the contrary, I expect to find, at the close of the year, that I have sold twice as many properties as I did the past year, but it will first be necessary for me to "list" more properties. I want to list YOURS and SELL it. It doesn't matter whether you have a farm, a home without any land, or a business; it doesn't matter what it is worth, or where it is located. will imperil the bill for the Administration Building. On the other hand I think that the needs of the University are so well understood that the Regents will ask for any additional building or buildings that there is any reasonable possibility of obtaining. The buildings that I have mentioned may be divided into four classes. Some will probably be provided by the legislature by special appropriations, others by a permanent tax, still others by private donation, the Library, the Mining Building and a Conservatory of Music suggest themselves for this list, and the rest we must do without for a time.

Third. The University needs new instructors and larger appropriations for departmental equipments. There is hardly a department in the University that does not require assistance in instruction. Most of the professors are carrying more hours of recitation and laboratory work than is consistent with the demands of scholarship or the demands of good teaching.

Fourth. The University needs an Athletic field. What hoped that the strong public interest in athletics might be sufficient to provide the University with a good athletic field. I am still hoping that somehow, somebody from somewhere will be moved by the spirit of true philanthropy, or some other laudable motive, and construct a field that will be sufficiently well drained to provide a level surface until after Thanksgiving, that will have a grandstand that can be mounted without the risk of breaking your neck, and that will afford no opportunity for unscrupulous on-lookers to evade the keepers of the gate.

Fifth. The University needs local scholarships, railroad scholarships someone has called them, with the idea that the scholarship should be sufficient to defray the student's travelling expenses for three years during his college course. I will outline a plan by which each town by an annual expenditure of $150 could materially assist several of its students in attendance at the University.

Suppose for example the citizens of Boise established a scholarship tenable by graduates of the Boise high school, payable in three annual installments of $50 each, the first on matriculation at the University, the second and third in the September of the two succeeding years. The cost to Boise would be 1906—50

 1907—50 50
 1908—50 50 50

1909— 50 50 50
 So that at any given time there would be three beneficiaries of the Boise scholarship in attendance at the University. The needs of the University are presented to your attention at this time for the reason that each of you will have hundreds of opportunities of advancing the interests of the University, and no one will wish to neglect a single opportunity of promoting the cause in which we have enlisted.

PHILHARMONIC CLUB
The First Program for the Year Was Rendered Last Friday Night

The first program of the year for the Philharmonic Club was given last Friday evening at Ridenbaugh Hall. It was in the form of an informal musicale and social affair for the members of the club and their friends. The program was as follows:

During the first part of the entertainment the souvenir booklets of the club were distributed. These were neat little folders bound in imitation vellum, giving the names of club officers, members of the club, and the programs for the entire school year.

The club officers are:
 President..... Walker Young
 Vice President..... Della C. Shaff
 Recording Secretary..... Esther Larson
 Corresponding Secretary..... Lucy Case
 Treasurer..... Anna Kiefer
 Chm. Program Committee.....
 Margaret Lauder
 Chm. Executive Committee.....
 Sadie Stockton

The second program for the year will be a special Duet Program, Tuesday, January 8th, 1907.
 Program 3, Composer—St. Saens. Tuesday, February 12th, 1907.
 Program 4, American Music, Tuesday, March 12th, 1907.
 Program 5, Waltz Program, Tuesday, April 6th, 1907.
 Program 6, Composer—Schumann, Tuesday, May 8th, 1907.
 To these programs everyone is cordially invited.

The Philharmonic Club must indeed be congratulated upon their earnest endeavor to advance that noblest of all branches of art, music. Time flies, man passes away, the earth changes, but music with all its endearing charms still remains to cheer the struggling, raise the fallen and advance the cause of truth, love and beauty. May the good work continue.

Y. M. C. A. Conference.
 At Eugene, Oregon, on December 7, 8 and 9, will be held the annual Idaho-Oregon conference of the college Y. M. C. A's. Prominent Association leaders from the coast cities will be present. The conference is expected to be very profitable for those who are fortunate enough to get to go. From Idaho, it is as yet uncertain who will be the delegate. Ray Peebler and Leon G. Nichols were the Idaho delegates to the conference last year.

Registration Figures.
 The enrollment in the University thus far shows a gain of over fifteen per cent over last year's registration. The classes are different in size from the corresponding classes of last year, in pleasing respects. The Senior class is larger than last year, and the same may be said of the Juniors. The figures emphasize the tendency, noticeable in recent years, for the College to gain in numbers much faster than does the Preparatory department. The Preparatory enrollment is twelve and one-half per cent larger this year than at the same time last year.
