WILL BE A STRUGGLE

Both Sides Well Represented in W. S. C.-Idaho Debate

R. O. Jones, W. K. Gwin and J. D. Matthews are hard at work on the question for the debate with Washington State College next month. Frequent conferences with the debate coach are held and the three members of the team are busy delving in the extensive literature of the subject in the University library.

The team which Jones, Gwin and Matthews will meet will be one of the strongest that the State college has ever sent against Idaho. It consists of Miss Elizabeth Prior, whose home is North Yakima; A. E. Price, and R. E. Chapman, both residents of Pullman. The trio was chosen last June at the annual Stearns Medal debate. There were twelve contestants in the finals. Miss Prior was the winner of the medal, and is to be the leader of the team against Idaho.

A. E. Price was a participant in the Sophomore-Freshman debate last year and was leader of the team which represented his college against O. F. A. C. The third member, R. E. Chapman, is the most experienced, having already debated on three intercollegiate teams.

Athletic Board at Work.

On Thursday the Athletic Board met in the Gymnasium and did considerable work. The report of last year's baseball expenses was audited and accepted. After much discussion the Board decided to hold the Athletic Ball this year on the 8th of November. This will be on the evening of the W. S. C.-Idaho football game and a large number of Pullman students will probably take in the dance. This hop last year was held late in November and consequently was too close to the Prom. The change, then, will mean a large attendance at both of these important events. Committees have already been appointed for the Athletic Ball and earnest work has been going on for sometime. It is the intention to make this dance the best of them all and every possible decorative feature will be used. A special orchestra will furnish the music.

The Board adopted a new plan in the way of gate keepers at athletic events by appointing a committee of three students who will have charge of the gates during the entire year. These appointees will keep a strict account of money taken in and are expected to make reports to the different managers at the end of each season. The men appointed were: Paul Savidge, S. E. Vance, and Loren Brown.

Sophs get Sweaters.

The class of 1910 decided at a meeting held last week to adopt sweaters as the official sophomore article of dress. Henry Smith, Ludwig S. Gerlough and Jennie Gerhardt were appointed to take charge of the matter. When the members of the present Senior class were sophomores they adopted a class jersey, black, and bearing the numerals 1908 in red. The next year's sophomores did not continue the practice but it seems likely that it will now be resumed by the class of 1910.

Ready for Battle Royal

Although Idaho does not Expect Victory the Silver and Gold Eleven will Fight to the Last Ditch

Are you going to the game Friday? Sure. Why? Because on that day will be played the most important game on Idaho's schedule, the game with Washington State College.

This will be the tenth annual game between the institutions. Of these, W. S. C. has won five and Idaho four; W. S. C. has scored a total of 57 points to Idaho's 53. The average of 13 points per game is a criterion of the character of the games played. They have been contests of brain, brawn, and muscle that have startled the followers of athletics in the Northwest. Every game but one has been a shutout for one team or the other.

The game this year will be no exception to the rule. W. S. C. has the finest team in her history. Her backfield is composed of three men who stand in a class by themselves as a trio of heavy, plunging backs. The line is heavy and composed of experienced men, and above all she is coached by one of the ablest men in the Northwest. Her team outweighs Idaho's by an average of 12 pounds per man.

Idaho's team is light and fast. She has played in one big game this year and the Portland papers have paid glowing tributes to her playing powers. She is acknowledged to be far ahead of any other college team on the coast in knowledge of the new rules. She worked the forward pass for many gains against Oregon and is relying on the same play to score on W. S. C.

Idaho's team is fast rounding into condition. Johnson is still out of the game with a bad knee but will probably be in the game Friday. In case he is still on the sick list, Montgomery or Perkins will take his place. Stein and Keyes are getting rid of their "Charley horses" and are out again. Coach Middleton will put the men thru some sharp grueling this week and promises that W. S. C. will need the best team of her career to beat Idaho Friday.

W. S. C. has telephoned for one thousand tickets and will undoubtedly bring train loads of rooters. They are confidently expecting to wipe out the 32 to 0 defeat which Idaho administered to them three years ago. Idaho, on the other hand, hardly expects to win but is determined to hold her rivals to a small score, and they need not be greatly surprised if victory should again rest with the silver and gold.

Tickets will be on sale at Hodgins Friday morning and it is requested that as many students and business men as possible will buy their tickets in the morning to avoid the rush at the gate.

Oregon's Comments.

While devoting a great deal of space to the superiority of the Oregon eleven in straight football, the Oregon Weekly, the student paper of the Eugene institution, has much to say of the ingenuity of Idaho's tactics in the contest at Portland. The following extracts are from the Weekly's report of the game.

"The crowd was puzzled and watched every play with eagerness, for much that is new in football was shown to those who witnessed the game. Coach Middleton with his 'spread formation' has originated a series of plays which the framers of the rules never dreamed of, and these the watchers witnessed in open mouth amazement."

"The style of the two teams was decidedly different. Idaho seemed to depend chiefly on her trick plays, which for a time proved very effective. On the other hand Oregon wisely mixed straight football with the forward passes and fake runs.

"Idaho's 'clever spread' formations and intricate passes were a revelation and made things look dangerous for Oregon until the plays were solved. After five minutes of play, Fred Moulten had booted the ball squarely between Idaho's goal posts. The Idaho men began their steady progress down the field at from ten to twenty yards a clip and scored a touch-down, and the jubilant feeling of the Oregon rooters fell."

Jerry Nissen and J. W. Lilligren, captain and manager respectively, of the W. S. C. football team were in Moscow Saturday arranging matters for the game.

BASKET BALL BEGUN

Old Players and Many New Ones Trying out for Places.

During the past week many of the students have been spending two or three hours daily in the Gym, getting in condition for the basket ball season which will soon open. Several more will be in as soon as the football season is over, when regular work will be taken up. Of the last year's team, Case, Small, Johnson and Young are back, and will make somebody hurry to make the team. Several of the new students have played considerable basket ball before coming here. Stricklin was a member of the Weston Normal championship team last year and Pierce and Wyman both played on the Boise High team. From the number of fellows practicing and the material which we have, we should have a championship team this year.

Only one date has been arranged as yet, and it may be changed, but the first game will probably be with W. S. C. early in January. Dates are also being arranged with Whitman and Oregon, and the games will probably come off in January.

The manager has not yet been able to secure a coach for the winter, although he has been writing to several eastern colleges. His intentions are to get a track coach who knows basket ball, and have him come the first of the year and stay throughout the track season, but success is, as yet, not assured. Manager Edmundson said, "We may be able to get a track and basket ball coach, and have $600 ready for the right man, but we may have to get along without a basket ball coach."

Loyal Adkinson Married

J. L. Adkinson, a member of the class of 1904, passed through Moscow last week enroute to Salem, Oregon where he married Miss Addie Reed on October 30. After the marriage Mr. Adkinson brought his wife to Moscow for a few days visit with old friends. The couple left Sunday for Cottonwood, Idaho, where "Ad" has the principalship of the public schools.

Adkinson while in college made quite a reputation as a debater and an orator. He was a member of a number of winning debate teams, and in 1904 was awarded the Watkin's medal in the annual oratorical contest. As Idaho's representative in the Northwestern oratorical league he made second place.

Freshmen at Joel

The freshman class last Saturday night followed the example set by the seniors and sophomores and went in hay wagons to Joel where they spent several hours dancing to the music of a country fiddler. The usual good time had on trips to Joel was enjoyed to the utmost by the numerous 1911 students who were present.

Y. M. C. A. Meets

L. A. Hunting '09, led a very successful Y. M. C. A. meeting Sunday afternoon at the Gymnasium on the subject of "Friends." About thirty were present and many took part in the discussion of the topic.

KEEP THE COLORS HIGH

Idaho does not enter the game with Washington State College expecting a victory, but the Silver and Gold team and its supporters are going into the contest with a definite idea of what they are in it for, and of what they must do to emerge from it honorably.

In all the years in which these two great rivals have clashed Idaho has fought every battle with all her might. Out of four of the contests she has come victorious, and out of the other five, the Idaho eleven came with the knowledge of having played football fair and hard. To play fair and play hard is the resolve of the team for Friday's contest. Nothing short of this will be honorable, but having played up to this standard, defeat or victory will not matter.

A similar standard must be adopted by the student body. The most friendly spirit must predominate. That is playing fair. But more important is it that every student shall be present and cheer the team as long as he has a voice, in victory or defeat, without wavering or half-heartedness. Nothing short of that will be playing hard.

BOOST THE ENGLISH CLUB

If you are hunting a 'good thing,' which needs the boon of your membership and co-operation you cannot make a wrong investment of your time and energies by joining the English club. Anybody of six weeks experience in this University should be able to see the barren waste that exists in the field of literary effort. Musical clubs we have, which serve a delectable menu of melody at their programs; mining associations we have, which meet to plot new ways of plundering the earth of its riches; but there has been nothing to evince a steady undergraduate interest in the world of literature. No students have felt drawn to the joys of writing, to a degree that would warrant the publication of a literary monthly magazine. Now these are phases of activity the neglect of which is a real disgrace in an institution which claims to be a college and is blessed with the title of a university. It is therefore very important that the English club shall be made a successful organization from the beginning. Watch for the announcements of its programs and answer them with your presence.

WAR TIME REMINISCENCES

Prof. Henderson Delivers Assembly Address

The last assembly was opened by a vocal solo by Dean Eldridge after which Prof. L. F. Henderson gave an address on the civil war time and the reconstruction period as seen by a seven year old boy.

He compared his old home in Massachusetts and that of his grandfather in New Orleans to the little farm in the backwoods of Mississippi where he was taken on account of his mothers' health and where they were caught by the civil war. He described vividly the privations of the Southern families during the war, the return of the soldiers and the conditions they found on their return; and then told about the carpet-baggers and the riot of '66 in New Orleans.

The Ridenbaugh debate prize was awarded at the close to Robert O. Jones who is to lead the Idaho team against W. S. C.

SCARES FRESHMEN BADLY

Professor Thorpe, of U. of W. Gives Entire Class "D's"

Freshmen Rhetoric was the one best bet for the most unpopular course in the university last Friday, when returns came in from a test given by Professor M. J. Thorpe.

Professor Thorpe is now in his first year on the university faculty and no one had taken the trouble to explain to him the system of marking in vogue here. When the papers came to him for grading he gave the majority of the class a mark of "D," which at Stanford, his alma mater, is a fair passing grade. The registrar sat up and took notice when the list was handed to him. But the real storm broke when the innocent little fourth letter of the alphabet carried the news to aspiring underclass literateurs that their work was rotten beyond redemption.

Triangular Questions Submitted

Each of the three Universities in the triangular debate league of the Northwest have presented a question. Oregon presents the theme of protection for trans oceanic marine; Washington is well informed on the Japanese Immigration problem; while Idaho wants to debate the Federal Income Tax. The questions given second place by the different colleges will decide the bone of contention for next spring. The Japanese problem has recently caused considerable discussion and should afford an interesting debate. The recent message of Roosevelt and his attitude toward a Federal Income Tax makes this a timely question. A decision will be made within the next two weeks so that the triangular debaters will have ample time to study before the contest in March.

Prom. Committees

Sophomores Busy

The sophomores held a meeting last Friday and decided to have individual pictures taken for the '09 annual. The 1910 annual was also mentioned. Some members of the class urged the advisability of beginning to consider the possibilities for the staff which is to publish the 1910 book. The election of the staff will probably be held sometime before the close of the present semester.

STORMY SESSION

English Club Contends With the Friday Night Gale in Giving Program

Those taking part in the program of the English club, which held its second meeting at the Gymnasium Friday evening, had a more or less unavailing struggle with the wind blowing outside in their endeavor to make themselves heard. Making the allowance for this, the program was reasonably successful. It was opened by Minnie Kiefer's singing of "My Rosary," with violin accompaniment by W. R. Young and Miss Silver. Guy Holman read an original dramatization of the Bible story of Ruth. He was followed by Hazel Morrow who told a story of a wonderful egg which got an equally wonderful old lady into a great deal of trouble. John Dawes, 1911, recited a humorous account of the ministrations of a theological student to an afflicted cow and the reciprocation of the cow's owner. The program closed with the singing of some college-songs.

"What's the matter with my work, Professor?" asked a tearful co-ed. "Oh, I guess you're doing as well as could be expected of you," was the crushing reply.

It remained for Trainer Conibear, who arrived at this critical moment with a flunked-out football candidate on each arm, the Conibear vocabulary working overtime, to impress on the chair of journalism that a passing mark in Palo Alto was deep damnation in Washington. But when all was over a sigh of relief went up from Rhetoric, for in the final rearrangement they all passed and forgave.—Pacific Wave

All girls in college are cordially invited to attend these meetings.

Will it Pay?

By the will of a wealthy unmarried woman Swarthmore College, in Pennsylvania, is to receive $1,000,000 upon the condition that it will withdraw forever from intercollegiate athletic contests. There is a question as to whether the endowment would be worth the price that is proposed should be paid for it. The acceptance of the gift upon the terms stipulated would seem very much like selling the college spirit, and without college spirit a college is in a bad way.

"Why, I never heard the name of this college till it scored against Cornell," says a character in a George Ade comedy. Into the "line" Mr. Ade put truth and a shrewd American observation upon the value of advertising. Athletic contests advertise a college more widely than any other form of advertising, and in these days of many universities and keen competition the advertisement is needed. A good foot ball eleven may serve to secure much patronage for the college, and participation in intercollegiate contests fosters healthy, wholesome college pride. The percentage of students who take part in contests is small, the devotion of a student to athletics does not necessarily make him a drone at his books, and a lively interest in athletics makes for a wider interest in gymnasium work and outdoor exercise among students who need physical development, but do not care to try for teams.—Daily Nebraskan.

TIED TO CHAPERONES.

Girls Must not be on the Streets After Six O'Clock.

Willamette University, Salem, Ore., Nov. 4.—Consternation reigns among the girls at Willamette University as the result of a mandate coming from Dean Kirk, of the women's department, regulating the hours when they should be seen upon the streets after nightfall, and curtailing the visits of the young varsity lads to Lausanne Hall, the girls' dormitory. The girls look askance at the rules. The young men are wroth concerning the restrictions, as they strike at the prospective social life of the young people. The rules read, in part, as follows:

1. Girls are not supposed to be out on the streets after 6 p. m.
  2. Gentlemen may be received only once a week, (Friday or Saturday nights) and must go at 10 o'clock.
  3. Girls are not supposed to go any place without a chaperone.
  4. Unless a young man takes a young lady to a place she shall not accept his company home.
  5. On Sunday nights the young men will be required to leave at 9:15.
  6. Girls are not supposed to linger on the campus talking to young men.
- The faces of the girls look rather long when they see the theatre notices, as they know that the young men can not get seats for two and a chaperone.

Whitman recently defeated the Multnomah Athletic Club by a score of 14 to 5. This, as compared with the recent victory over the same team by the U. of W. with a score of 10 to 0 indicates that the two teams are evenly matched. The Varsity apparently has better defense as Multnomah had no chance to score during the game. Whitman's offense is apparently better, especially in place kicking.—Pacific Wave.

In regard to the unpaid note I wish to say this:
Last year's Athletic Board signed a $200 note in my favor just before we started on the Southern Idaho trip. All this has been paid except $30 which is still due at the bank, with interest at ten per cent. It is needless to say that this should be paid at once. Signed, Jay E. Jellick, Mgr.
