SOPHS WIN INDOOR MEET

Secures More Points Than Other Classes Combined

Seniors In Second Place--Smith and Williams are Star Performers

In spite of the deluge of water which descended around Moscow Saturday evening, a fair sized crowd gathered at the gymnasium to witness the first indoor track meet ever held at Idaho. And those who came witnessed an exhibition far superior than they could have hoped for, since it was the initial event of its kind. The meet was interesting and keen competition was developed in every event.

The sophomore class won the pentagon for the greatest number of points. In fact it won more than the other classes combined. The sophomores had 58 5-6 points to their credit. The seniors came second with 20. The freshmen won 16 1-3, the juniors 10-1-6, and the Preps: 2 2-3. The star of the meet was Herc Smith of the class of 1910. Smith entered ten events and won seven firsts and two thirds. His points made a total of 37 1-3. Smith is undoubtedly the finest all-round athlete in the northwest. He enters every track event except the pole vault and will be doing that as soon as a pole strong enough to hold his weight can be made. He is also a football and basketball player.

The main event of the evening was the 25 yard dash. This event brought fourth 18 entries and it required nine heats to decide the winner. Smith, Thornton, Fluharty and Williams qualified for the finals. Thornton the speedy freshman, won his heat in the preliminaries and the semi-finals both in 3 1-5. In the finals he secured a poor start and did not finish in the lead. Thornton, however, is a promising looking freshman and was considered by many to be the fastest man on the floor. As soon as he learns to start he will be a great sprinter. Williams, who won the event, and Fluharty, second, both broke a trifle ahead of time. Williams is a senior and will try for the mile this year. Fluharty is a sophomore and has always tried baseball instead of track. In view of his splendid showing in the dash he will probably try for the track team this spring.

Four events of the evening resulted in ties for seconds or thirds. Savidge, Driscoll and Anderson tied for second place in the high jump. In the draw Savidge drew second place and Anderson secured third. Smith, Price and Strobelin tied for second in the high dive. Price won second in the drawing contest and Smith third. Grete and Beckner divided a third in the fence vault. Woodsworth and Hunter tied for third in the rope climb. In the contest to divide the tie the latter won by a narrow margin. "Herc" Smith put the shot 36 feet 2 inches, which is fine for the first meet of the season.

The long dive was a spectacular event and Wilson's leap of 13 feet will probably stand as the record for some time to come.

The meet dragged a little, due to the fact that it was new and as yet not thoroughly worked out. Interest never lulled, however, and the crowd stayed until the last event, the relay race. Each class entered ten teams of two men each. One man carried another a distance of twenty yards when they reversed and the other-carried his partner back. The second junior team was repeatedly "spilled" and their team was hopelessly lost. The sophomores won first.

THE TRIANGULAR DEBATE TEAM

All marks set Saturday night are to stand as college records and many of them will probably hold for some time.

The band furnished music during the intermissions.

The officials were: Starter, Dvorak; judges, Edmundson and Fenn; timers, Lieut. Smith and Perkins; scorers, Magee and Jellick.

Summary of events:

25-yard dash—Williams (sr.) 1; Fluharty (s) 2; Smith (s) 3.

Running high jump—Smith (s) 1, 5 ft.; Anderson (p), Driscoll (f), and Savidge (j) tied for second. 1 1/2 point each.

Spring-board jump—Johnson (j) 1, 6 ft. 10 in.; Hupp (s) 2, 6 ft. 9 in.; Little (p) 3, 6 ft. 8 in.

Rope climb—Smith (s) 1, time 6 3-5 seconds; Fluharty (s) 2; Hunter (sr.) 3.

Standing high jump—Smith (s) 1, 4 ft. 3 1/2 in.; Savidge (j) 2; Thornton (f) 3. Tied.

High dive—Kettenbaugh (f) 1, 5 ft. 3 in.; Smith (s), Strobehn (j), and Smith (f) tied for second and third.

Fence vault—Smith (s) 1, 6 ft 8 in.; Williams (sr.) 2; Beckner (f) and Grete (s) 3. Points divided. Beckner drew the ribbon.

Long dive—Williams (sr.) 1, 13 ft.; Kettenbaugh (f) 2, 11 ft. 8 in.; Poyerson (p) 3, 11 ft. 5 in.

Shot put—Smith (s) 1, distance 36 ft. 2 in.; Armstrong (sr.) 2, 34 ft. 1 1/2 in.; Crom (s) 3, 31 ft. 3 in.

High kick—Smith (s) 1, 8 ft 3 in.; Grete (s) 2; Driscoll (f) 3.

Dips and Pullups—Smith (s) 1, average 22; Horn (sr.) 2, average 18.5; Woodsworth (s) 3, average 17.5.

The relay teams finished in the following order: sophomores 1, Preps. 2, and freshmen 3.

A cross-country club has been organized under Captain Edmundson, of the track team, and the candidates for the distances are all out for the work.

Club to Give Play

The English club will give another of its high-class entertainments at the Moscow Theatre on Saturday evening of this week. The programme will consist of two farces and several select music numbers. The first farce to be presented is entitled, "Dick and the College Girl" and is written for the sole use of the English club, by a local writer. The piece is a forty minute comedy, rich with local puns. The club has picked an especially strong cast for this farce.

The second farce to be given is Jerome K. Jerome's one act farce, "Barbara." This piece is admirably suited to the cast selected and promises to be the most laughable ever produced by the English club comedians. The musical organizations will take a prominent part in the entertainment. The girls' glee club, under the direction of Miss Caldwell, will make its first appearance before a Moscow audience. The club has been organized but a short time, yet is now one of the strongest clubs that has ever represented the university. The boys' glee club and the mandolin club are both billed for appearance and these popular organizations will be at their best.

The feature of the evening's entertainment will be a grand finale during which a new Idaho song will be sung by the combined clubs. This song has been written by a member of the college faculty and is new both as to words and music. The chorus will be printed on the programs and the audience will be asked to join in when it is sung.

The biggest advertisement that can be given to the class of entertainment that will be provided is to say that it is to be given under the auspices of the English club. A packed house should greet the amateurs.

THE BIG RELAY RACE TODAY

Special Event to Take Place on Campus This Afternoon

Substituted by a Vote of the Classes in the Place of the Annual Class Scrap

The sophomore class has unanimously rejected the idea of an annual scrap with the freshmen class, and by so doing, knife a custom that has been in vogue at the University for the past six years. The lower classmen, however, have set their well-oiled brains to work and have devised a contest which they claim will be both decisive and thrilling.

The plan is to have an inter-class relay between two picked teams, each team to consist of twenty men. Each man will run three hundred yards.

The relay race has several advantages. It will certainly not be accompanied by as many dangers as was the old form of contest. It will also tend to bolster up the interest in track work which is rising like a tidal wave as spring approaches. The contest will be decisive and it dwindles down to individual competition. The originators of the scheme also claim that the relay race will be more pleasing to visitors and that it will be a fitting substitute for ancient custom.

All arrangements have been completed. Clarence Edmundson has been elected captain of the sophomore team and claims that the second year men will undoubtedly win. The freshman class, however, under the leadership of Fenn, the crack sprinter, have an equal chance to win, since their team will contain such men as Montgomery and Thornton.

A large crowd will be present.

* Cadet Officers Appointed

Lieutenant Smith has organized the university battalion into three companies and has appointed and assigned officers and non-commissioned officers as follows:

For first lieutenant and adjutant—Cadet Lieutenant Edmundson, C. S.
For first lieutenant and quartermaster—Cadet 1st Lieutenant Stokesberry.

Company A—Cadet Captain, Savidge; Cadet 1st Lieutenant, Edmundson, W. C.; Cadet 2nd Lieutenant, Case; Cadet 1st Sergeant, Richards; Cadet Sergeants, Grete, Fluharty, Roberts, and Driscoll.

Company B—Cadet Captain Perkins; Cadet 1st Lieutenant, Wadsworth; Cadet 2nd Lieutenant, Leonard; Cadet 1st Sergeant, Tate; Cadet Sergeants, Hall, Grey, Heard, and Pierce.

Company C—Cadet Captain Griner; Cadet 1st Lieutenant, Ludberg; Cadet 2nd Lieutenant Wilson; Cadet 1st Sergeant, Weigand; Cadet Sergeants, Thomas, Curtis, Kinney, and Williams.

For cadet sergeant-major—Cadet Sergeant Wyman.

For cadet quartermaster sergeant—Cadet Sergeant Stewart.

For color sergeant—Cadet Sergeant Cook.

A number of Prep. students gave a dancing party at the rink on Washington and Third Sts., Friday evening.

INDOOR MEET

The indoor meet which was held in the gymnasium last Saturday, was the pioneer in a new realm of athletic activity. The meet was an epoch-making event. It marks the time when athletics cease to be a mere diversion for the football man in the fall and the track man in the spring, and becomes a business. With the advent of the indoor contests comes the hope and the assurance that athletics will soon be organized into a strong department with a definite organization. With the establishment of a permanent department of athletics the work can be carefully planned and the contests come in a regular order, and to some definite purpose.

The meet Saturday was a grand success, and mainly through the efforts of Idaho's energetic instructor. Mr. Dvorak met all sorts of disappointments in attempting to hold an indoor meet and it was with great difficulty that he stimulated enough interest to make the event a success. Now, that it is over, we wonder where we could have been when we clamored for more basket ball, and were indifferent to an indoor contest. The meet last week took on a championship atmosphere since it was a manufacturer of records.

We must heartily pray that this is the beginning of a sudden revival in athletics and that the interest manifested in this meet will continue to the end of the college year.

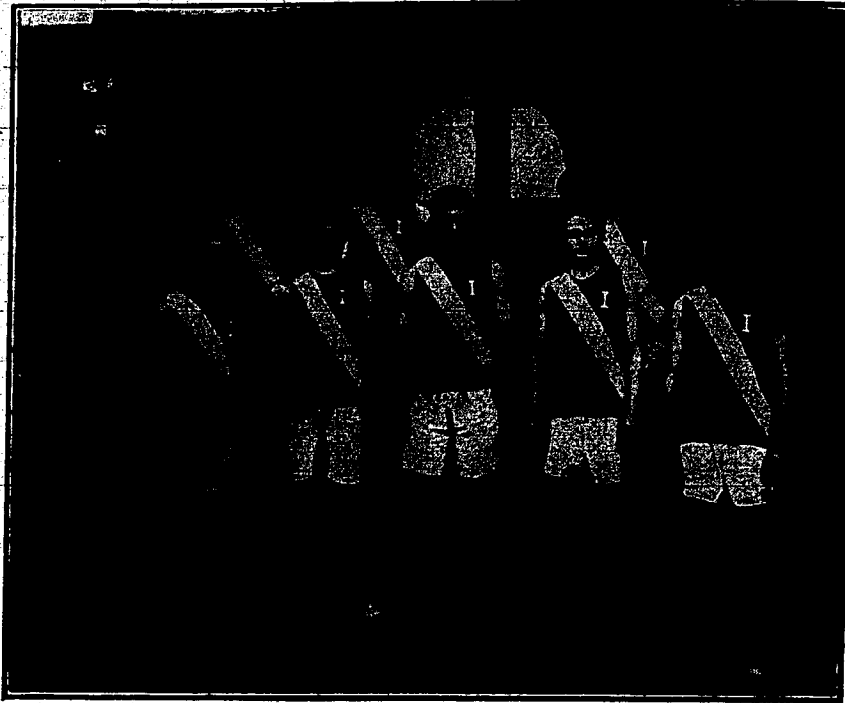

SOME COMPARISONS

A scribe in the Argonaut office had occasion this week to figure up exactly the amount of type required to fill the various weekly college papers of the Northwest and his calculations brought out some interesting facts. The fact that different sized type is used in the different papers made it necessary to reduce the figures to a common measure. Reducing all the statistics to those for type of the size used in the Argonaut, and taking 11 1-2 inches as the standard column length, the Argo statistician reached the following results for the five papers named:

Each week the O. A. C. Barometer publishes 17 columns of matter, the W. S. C. Evergreen comes next with 16 columns, and the Argonaut follows close with 13 1-2 columns. The University of Oregon paper, the Oregon Weekly, fill an average of a little over 12 columns and the Weekly Index of Pacific University publishes nearly 10 columns. The figures are interesting as showing the slight variation between the amount of news published by the papers of the large and small institutions. The calculations were not made for the Whitman College Pioneer because no copy was available at the time, but it would take a high comparative rank. The Pacific Wave published at the University of Washington, was not included because it is published twice a week. It is a five-column paper and maintains an exceptionally high standard for a college publication.

THE publication of the first "Idaho Student Farmer" marks an epoch in the history of the Agricultural College of Idaho. Hitherto the agricultural students of the university have hardly been considered, but now they have shown what they can do, they have stepped out ahead of all the other departments and have issued the first department publication.

This is a good start and it is hoped that the Associated Miners and the other student organizations will soon fall in line and demonstrate to the skeptical outsider that each department of the University of Idaho has able representatives who are proud to boost for their state.

"Animals Before Man"

Those who missed the lecture by Prof. A. L. Melander of Washington State College on Friday evening missed a rare treat. The professor by means of the lantern and beautifully colored slides showed the most important of the large animals which existed in pre-historic times. He discussed their life habits; their specialia-tion for special purposes, and their extinction. The size of the animal in relation to its brain capacity was something astonishing. Animals from the Reptilian Age weighed in some cases 20 tons yet their brain cavities were only large enough for a brain of about two pounds, smaller than that of man at the present day. These reptiles were followed by mammals whose brain capacity was larger. Slides were shown illustrating these types up to primitive man.

The lecture was very interesting and was well attended considering the inclemency of the weather.

Philharmonic Club

The Philharmonic club gave its regular monthly programme Tuesday evening. The entire number registered in the music department were in attendance, together with many music lovers from the city. The music was by "Grieg." The following was the program:

Argonaut Election Friday

The election of the editor, associate editor, business manager and assistant business manager of the Argonaut for the year 1908-09 will be held next Friday. Thus far no nominations have been made in addition to those made at the student assembly two weeks ago.

Toney T. Crooks is the only candidate for editor, Proctor K. Perkins and Frank Stewart are in the race for associate editor. Robert St. Clair has no competitors for the position of business manager and there are no aspirants for the assistant business managership. The polls will probably be open next Friday from 10 a. m. to 2 p. m. All students are entitled to vote.

F. E. Lukens and Guy Holman have received word from the Civil Service Commission at Washington that they passed an examination which they took last December for eligibility to appointments in the Philippine teaching service.

Greatest Living American

In a recent editorial wherein comment was made upon President Roosevelt's toast to Admiral Dewey, the Oregonian proposed Andrew D. White as more deserving the honor of being the 'greatest living American.' Kindly inform an unenlightened reader the basis of the Oregonian's contention. Who is Andrew D. White, and what service has he rendered to America? "It seems surprising that any person living in the United States should not know who Andrew D. White is. The questions which are asked by the writer of this letter are another among the numerous current proofs that the education which many people acquire in school is artificial and unreal, that it deals with trivialities and neglects useful knowledge. Andrew D. White is one of the principal founders of higher state education in America. He first helped materially to establish the University of Michigan and then by his vigorous and untiring labors built up Cornell University. He has been for many years the steadfast champion of the sciences and mechanic arts as the staple of popular education. To him more than to any other man is due the great progress which sensible schooling has made in this country and the reform of the old system of training the young in a catalogue of chimeras and stupidities.

"He has been for many years the champion of modern scientific thought against theology and superstition; has written a great book upon the endless struggle between theology and science; has been prominent in the politics of New York; has represented his country at the courts of Germany and Russia with great distinction; has been among the leading champions of international peace, and is the author of one of the most interesting autobiographies ever written.

"The Oregonian did not say that Andrew D. White was 'the greatest living American.' It did say that his claim to be called a benefactor of his country was at least equal to Admiral Dewey's, and we think his record amply justifies the statement."—Cornell Sun.

Assembly

The speaker at the last assembly was Mr. George Fields, editor of the Idaho Post. Mr. Fields chose for his subject "Some Phases of Our International Relations."

Mr. Fields had the opportunity of studying international law under Consul-general Davis, the greatest authority on these questions in the United States. He told of many peculiar incidents that have come up in our transactions with other nations. The case of the "Virginus," in which Spanish officers seized an American vessel and murdered the crew was described. This case is seldom, if ever, mentioned in history and is an example of how incidents which have all but caused war are missed by the historical authorities.

Mr. Fields likened the nations to a big family, England the mother; Germany, the father; the United States, the older brother. He claimed that, as the brother, the United States is the most powerful nation in the world, and that she is in a position to dominate in world politics. He described the various attempts at international arbitration and the simultaneous preparations for war, and said that no one can foretell what is in store. In case of war he predicted that it would be one of two things: Japan and China against the world, or Germany and France against England and Russia, the smaller powers lining up promiscuously. He gave cogent reasons for his ideas and minutely described the entangling alliances that exist among the powers of the old world. "Peace" he declared "is not to be hoped for as long as the War Lord sits on the throne of Germany."

Mr. Fields is a pleasing speaker. He talked without notes and seemed to have a storehouse of information resting on the tip of his tongue. The address was listened to with more than the usual interest on account of the life of the subject.

Before Mr. Fields began his address the girls' glee club made its initial appearance. It was indeed a surprise to many of the students to learn that the club had progressed so rapidly. It has been scarcely a month since the membership list was started and the club is now well organized and efficient. Two numbers were sung, the first a soothing sleep song and the last a rollicking college song. Both were heartily encored.

"Student Farmer" Appears

The "Idaho Student Farmer," a quarterly issued by the agricultural club of the university, has made its first appearance. It is a 40-page magazine, neatly arranged and printed on the finest book paper.

In an editorial the editor says, "we are publishing the Student Farmer as a means of bringing the people more in touch with the university." Such is its laudable purpose. While it is devoted to the cause of agriculture and will devote its energy to place agriculture on a general scientific basis its collateral and main object is to cast abroad the benefits to be derived from the university. The editor is a student, D. C. Petrie, '10, and Charles Maughan, '09, is the business manager. The club has complete charge of the periodical, and, although the members of the experiment station staff are generous contributors to the magazine, it is, nevertheless, distinctively a student publication.

The first issue is very attractive, and is profusely illustrated with cuts of Idaho scenery. It contains articles on farm subjects by Professors French, Henderson, Nelson, Hyslop, Jones, Shin, and Frandson, of the station staff, and Messrs. Gibbs, Grayhill, Petrie, and Cole, of the students. The issue has a local farm scene for a frontispiece while a cut of Morrill Hall is on the back.

All in all, the issue is worthy of praise, and should be put in the hands of every farmer in the state.

Murphy to Coach

According to a report that is current around college, E. M. Murphy, '05, will coach Whitman's track team this spring. "Spud" is one of the best known athletes in the Northwest and is well equipped for the coaching business. While in college, he was a hurdler, jumper, and pole vaulter.

The Kappa Phi Alpha society was entertained at a smoker by Kappa Sigma last Saturday evening. Others present were Messrs. Dvorak, Tull, and Smith.
