WHITMAN WINS TRIANGULAR

Missionaries Specialize in Firsts—Win 52 Points

Washington State College and Idaho Engage in Close Fight for Cellular Championship

The second triangular track meet, Whitman, W. S. C. and Idaho was held on Rogers field last Saturday and was won by Whitman with a total of 52 points. Whitman won nine firsts, two seconds and one third. With not a single first place to her credit, the state college won second, her points summing 37. Idaho took 33. The state college won nine seconds and ten thirds while Idaho captured five firsts, two seconds and one third.

Contrary to the expectations of all the dopesters, W. S. C. was outclassed in every event but one, the hammer throw. This event rightfully belonged to the State College but Joe Halm stepped out of the ring three times and was disqualified after having hurled the weight 140 feet. Dave Graham won this event over by a mediocre performance beating "Herc" Smith by .02 of a foot.

The little bunch of Whitman athletes were trained to the hour and were superior in form in all events. They evidently had been thoroughly and scientifically coached and their three months of training weather had put them in rare condition. They were coached by E. M. Murphy, '06, who was for four years Idaho's great hurdler and pole-vaulter, and thrice her captain.

The day was cold and raw; the sky was heavily masked by clouds and a cold wind blew from the northwest. Notwithstanding this fact some excellent records were made. Martin, Whitman's sprinter, won the hundred in ten seconds flat and tied the N. W. record by running the 220 in twenty two seconds. He was pushed in every race by Heine Meyers of the State College and Montgomery of Idaho. Montgomery ran a wonderful race in the 220 yd. hurdles, winning by a margin of ten yards and clipping two fifths of a second from the record held by Gordon Moores of Oregon. The high hurdles were won by Philbrook by scarcely eight inches.

Putman and Meyers were W. S. C.'s best performers. Meyers has improved wonderfully since last year and now runs a fast hundred. Putman is a fine hurdler but was overworked in Saturday's meet.

Philbrook was Whitman's best man, winning twenty points. Philbrook weighs 202 pounds, stripped, and considering his weight is a remarkable performer in the hurdles. Martin was easily the premier sprinter of the day; he also won the broad jump by a leap of 21.5 feet.

Captain Edmundson was Idaho's star. He took the 440, 880 and mile and ran a phenomenal lap in the relay. Edmundson was by far the prettiest performer of the day and even the most partisan spectator applauded his high class work. He simply toyed with his opponents in every race and by defeating Johnson proved that he was in a class by himself as a distance runner. Edmundson is as graceful a runner as ever put on a shoe and his beautiful finish after a long hot pace arouses the keenest admiration. He won 16 1-4 points for the silver and gold.

CAPT. EDMUNDSON
The Star of last Saturday's three-cornered struggle

Montgomery covered himself with glory by distancing such men as Philbrook, Putman and Martin. "Monte" has a rare burst of speed and with a little improvement in form will make a star sprinter. Although suffering from a severe headache he ran a good 100 and 220 and when his illness had passed away, showed his real class in the hurdles.

Saturday was "Herc" Smith's Jonah day. He cleared the bar at five feet seven in the high jump and knocked it down with his hand after he was over. Then he lost second in the discus by 3 inches and first in the hammer by .02 of a foot. Williams ran a splendid mile and was beaten by Johnson only a few inches. Bennie was full of grit and put up a magnificent sprint.

The relay was an exciting event. Fawcett of Idaho, Oldright of Whitman, and Elthorp of W. S. C. ran the first lap and ran neck and neck. Then Thornton, Wilson and Lowery ran a lap which they finished in a body. In the third lap Montgomery, by a great burst of speed, finished ten yards to the good of Galbraith. Edmundson ran the last lap for Idaho and easily maintained the lead over Chase of W. S. C. Results:—

880-yard run—Edmundson, Idaho, first; Johnson, Washington, second; Chase, Washington, third; time 2:01-4-5.

100-yard dash—Martin, Whitman, first; Montgomery, Idaho, second; Meyers, Washington, third; time 10 seconds.

Discus—Philbrook, Whitman, first; Halm, Washington, second; Smith, Idaho, third; distance 121 3-5.

Pole vault—Foster, Whitman, first; Cowgill, Washington, second; Boone, Washington, third; height 10.8.

120-yard hurdles—Philbrook, Whitman, first; Hardy, Washington, second; Putman, Washington, third; time 16.1

440-yard dash—Edmundson, Idaho, first; Oldright, Whitman, second; Chase, Washington, third; time 52.1.

220-yard dash—Martin, Whitman, first; Meyer, Washington, second; Lowery, Washington, third; time 22. This ties the northwest record made by Kelley in Oregon in 1906.

Mile run—Edmundson, Idaho, first; Johnson, Washington, second; Williams, Idaho, third; time 4:46.

220-yard hurdles—Montgomery, Idaho, first; Putman, Washington, second; Martin, Whitman, third; time 25 seconds.

High jump—Philbrook, Whitman, first; Putman, Washington, second; Moulton, Washington, third; height 5 feet 7 inches.

Hammer throw—Graham, Whitman, first; Smith, Idaho, second; Cowgill, Washington, third; distance 113.69.

Broad jump—Martin, Whitman, first; Lewis, Whitman, second; Putman, Washington, third; distance 21.5 1-2.

WASHINGTON COMING

Varsity Meets Coast Slab Artists on Local Field Saturday

The University baseball team tries conclusions next Saturday afternoon with the University of Washington nine. Idaho's team, encouraged by the close contest with W. S. C., and strengthened by hard practice under Coach Middleton's direction, will put up a hard fight for victory over the west side aggregation. Washington is coached by Dehn, a faculty man not engaged especially for this purpose, but who had much baseball experience in his undergraduate days and who is qualified to turn out a strong team. The Purple and Gold suffered a fate similar to Idaho's in being defeated by the Washington High school of Seattle. The score was 4-0. Two weeks ago, however, they won a victory over Whitworth by a score of 14 to 7.

MILITARY OUTLOOK

University of Idaho May Have a Troop of Cavalry Next Year.

After a number by the band and a vocal solo by Arthur Thomas, Lieutenant Andrew Smith, Commandant at the University, addressed the last Assembly on the military outlook of the University. He first expressed his appreciation of the way in which the students have taken hold of the drill and said that he considered it one of the Commandant's duties to plan for the growth and development of the military course where he is stationed.

If the officer who inspects the cadets this spring is favorably impressed, Idaho may have a troop of cavalry next year. Lieutenant Smith thinks that the Government will furnish everything except the horses. These must be furnished by the students. Forage, however, can be had at wholesale prices, which will lessen the expense a great deal. This troop of cavalry will only require about forty men, and, as upper classmen will be allowed to join it, it is thought that there will be no difficulty in getting that number.

This will be a great drawing card for the University and it is to be hoped that the inspector will report favorably on the matter. The Lieutenant then explained the late order from Washington whereby University graduates may be appointed second lieutenant in the regular army. After this the band played two more selections and a short rally closed the program.

REVISE CONSTITUTION

Organic Law of Associated Students to Undergo Changes

The executive committee of the A. S. U. I. met last Tuesday afternoon to discuss plans for redrafting the much abused constitution of the Associated Students of the University of Idaho.

After examining constitutions of student organizations of several different colleges the committee decided to have such departments as Athletic, Debate, Argonaut, etc., draw up a set of rules, to govern their organization. These rules are to be approved by the executive committee. These constitutions of departments are to be printed with the constitution proper of the A. S. U. I. If this plan succeeds it will make the constitution much more simple and will give entire control of separate organizations to the boards or officers of those departments. It will not be necessary for such minor details as awarding of "I's" and all such things to be brought before the student body to be passed upon.

Several other changes are to be made in the constitution so as to include all amendments that have been made. At the next regular meeting of the student body the changes and plans will be fully discussed. It is the intention of the committee to make the constitution a practical, up-to-date one. When the revision is completed a new edition of the constitution together with the rules of the various departments, will probably be printed and put on sale.

BRING BACK THE ALUMNI

While the class of 1908 is considering plans for Commencement week, it is appropriate to suggest that—whether it be attempted by the seniors or by the alumni association—some well organized effort should be made to institute a successful system of class reunions. Every year some of the University's graduates pay their alma mater a June visit, and the alumni banquet is held to crystallize their feeling of comradeship. But the number of those who return is not nearly so large as it should be, nor so large as it can be made by proper effort.

Idaho, as a state university, is prone to rely on public aid as a guarantee of her future prosperity. Therein lies a potential source of retarded development. For no university, no matter how maintained, will attract students or become an influential seat of learning, except as its own sons and daughters have a sustained interest in it and constitute themselves advertising committees in behalf of their alma mater. Alumni whose work is far from the University and who rarely or never revisit their undergraduate home speedily lose the inspiration and enthusiasm which qualifies them to do Idaho any service. For these reasons, it is a vital question, this of bringing back the "old grads" in June.

The result to be desired can only be brought about by definite planning and vigorous prosecution of plans after they are formed. As one feature of such a movement, why would it not be wise to adopt some plan of class reunions according to a fixed succession. For instance, why should not the seniors invite to the University as their guests during commencement week every fourth class, counting backward from 1908? The classes invited, that is, would be those of 1904, 1900 and 1896. Next year the classes of 1905, 1901 and 1897, would be the guests. Special efforts should be made to induce as many alumni of these years as possible to visit the campus next commencement time. In addition, the usual welcome should be extended to all alumni of other years, who may find it convenient or desirable to come back for the June exercises.

"IT IS NOT altogether the information gathered together, as it is to a large degree the friendships started, which count in college. The friendships that grow up here are different from others, for they are lasting and enduring, and are usually accompanied by a wide and sane view of life.

"We should not choose as our daily companions any who have not good health and the cheerfulness that goes with it. Cheerfulness is contagious, and if we are in the companionship of people that are cheerful, our capacity for work is increased. Then, sanity, a certain balance of life, is another requisite, for if we are a little overtopped ourselves, these same people are the ones to give us the final trust that sends us over the precipice."—From an address printed in Chicago Daily Maroon.

Writes of Old Church

Tessa Simpson, '06, who is now studying in Boston, writes very interestingly in a recent letter to her parents here, concerning a visit to the Old North Church in Boston. The letter is dated April 5. Parts of it are printed herewith.

"This morning Mrs. McKee took four of us down to Old North Church. It was an ideal day. We took the elevated by the harbor. It made me think of Humboldt Bay only there were more vessels in the harbor. Old North Church is in the worst part of Boston, on Salem street, where the low class Jews live. It was here that the college song "Solomon Levi" originated, written by some Harvard fellow. After many turns and questions—some times the answer would be, I speak no English—we finally arrived at the church. It seemed as though I had stepped back to Revolutionary times, the only thing to call the present was the modern garb of the congregation. The pews are high backed, one step up and shut up by a small door. The windows are large with small panes of glass. The chancel is deep and receding. In the center over the altar is a painting of the "Last Supper," the work of Mr. Penniman, the famous old artist. This picture has hung there over a century. Below this is a quaint inscription "This is none other but the House of God, and the Gate of Heaven." The oaken table which is used for an altar is also a century old. In the front of the church is the old organ. The clock in front of the gallery was placed there in 1749. The Communion service consists of thirteen pieces which were presented by George II, 1724. After the service we look around, in the vestry was a quaint old Bible and Prayer book with the name of the king scratched out and that of the president of the United States substituted. At the left of the vestry is an excellent bust of George Washington—and real likeness; so life like. Next we enter the historic belfry and after the guide collected fifteen cents we began the ascent. The second story contains the first real bell brought to this country. The stairs are old and worm eaten, and the descent laborious, but we went back to olden days and thought of Robert Newam, 18th of April, 1775, who on that evening sat quietly in his house on Salem street awaiting the arrival of his friend, Captain Barnard, who was watching the movement of the British while Paul Revere waited on the other side of the Charles. When you at last arrive at the top and look down, as he did, on the same scenes, your heart beats in one impulse in love of country and these brave men; you can almost see the stamping steed on the other side of the river."

Student Assembly

Tomorrow will come the monthly assembly of the Associated Students. Several matters of importance are to come up, and a full attendance is desired. Among other things, part of the hour will be given over to nominating candidates for offices in the A. S. U. I. next year, and for next year's debate council. A president, vice president, secretary and treasurer of the A. S. U. I., and six members of the debate council are to be elected on the third Friday of this month. The president of the Associated Students must come from the next year's senior class. There are no limitations as to eligibility for the other offices.

Seniors in Conclave

The seniors met Thursday afternoon for the purpose of discussing arrangements for Commencement week. The senior ball and class day were the principal topics on which the "grave and reverends" deliberated. President Burley was entrusted with the power to appoint a committee to have complete charge of the class day program. As a demonstration of their continued skepticism concerning the faculty's athletic prowess the seniors elected a captain and manager of their team for the senior-faculty baseball game. The coveted honor fell all in a lump on Peter Bryden. The opinion of the class is that he will get together a pennant winning squad. Howard Stein reported on the matter of class pins. The '08 pins, which are of the same design adopted by the class of 1907, are expected to arrive before many days.

They Had the Spirit

Almost the entire student body gathered at the gymnasium Friday night, shouting and singing the praises of the U. of I. and her athletes in a manner that swells the heart with pride for the dear old school.

Paul Savage led the yell, and the band under the leadership of Verne Ziegler accompanied the songs, in a way that proved their hearts to be in the right place. The enthusiasm was increased by the spirited talks of Baldy Myers, Pres. MacLean, Captain Edmundson and Jack Simpson.

Let us have more of these rallies. They not only increase college spirit, which means the success of any school, but will also in after years be recalled to our memories as the most pleasant events of our lives. A man who goes through college without college spirit has plucked the foliage and left the flower.

Alumni Banquet

During the recent Teachers' Institute at Sandpoint, the U. of I. alumni present gave a banquet at the Hotel Casey. It was attended by the seven "Idaho" teachers of Kootenai and Bonner counties. Those present were Chas. Montandon, '06, St. Maries; Zoia Clark, '06, Edna Wahl, '03, Hope; Ethel Oderlin, '03, Theresa Peterson, Rathdrum; Margaret Lauder, '06, and Leila Tilley, '07, Coeur d'Alene.

There were toasts to Idaho, Alma Mater, by all and some thrilling speeches, especially that of Chas. Montandon who still retains his oratorical powers as of old. It was altogether a very successful and enjoyable affair.

Fight the Dandelion.

War on the festive dandelions which are dotting the campus with their cheerful coloring—such is the program of Prof. Shinn, horticulturist in the college of agriculture. His plan of attack is the sprinkling of the campus with a weak solution of sulphate of iron. The plan is still an experiment, and it remains to be seen whether the prolific spring beauties will yield to the onslaughts against them. The sulphate of iron solution will burn the grass slightly, but not so much that it will not speedily recover its greenness. Repeated sprinklings will be necessary, perhaps, in order to produce an appreciable effect on the dandelion pest.

The Gem of the Mountains.

University of Idaho Glee.

(Based on the interpretation used in the State Seal, that the word Idaho signifies the Jewel radiance, the glamour, on the mountain snowfields under the sunrise.)

Far on the crest of the mountains,
Cold in a world of snow,
Eastward where dawn hath its fountains
Shines the jewel I-da-ho,
Where golden light and tender
From the sun, new-born, out-streams,
There in a halo of splendor
The Gem of the Mountains gleams.

Fair are her woodland waters
That laugh to the kiss of the breeze,
But fairer the face of her daughters
And lighter their laughter to please.
Warm is the love they offer
If the heart of the lover be true,
And this is the pledge we proffer,
The Gem of the Mountains for you.

Proud is our Empire's story
That we build in the Golden West,
And our Alma Mater's glory
Is the faith by us confest,
Homely the wisdom she teaches,
Strong as iron and salt as the sea,
Its strength and savor outreaches
To the race that yet shall be.

Far on the crest of the mountains,
Cold in a world of snow,
Eastward where dawn hath its fountains
Shines the jewel I-da-ho,
Where golden light and tender
From the sun, new-born, out-streams,
There in a halo of splendor

The Athletic Association of the University of Colorado controls, through a Board of Control, all the athletic affairs of the University. All students paying a small fee are members and electors of the captains and managers of the various teams.

Swarthmore College recently had a scandal which resulted in the suspension of fifteen students from the college. It was all over the fact that the fifteen men had placed a full grown cow in one of the girl's rooms in a college dormitory. The frightened animal was gotten out of the building with a great deal of difficulty.

Gillmore Dobie, Washington's football coach for next year, has had much experience both as a football player and coach. After playing as quarterback on the Minnesota team for four years, Dobie made the all-American team in 1901. He acted as assistant coach at Minnesota under Dr. Williams for two years. He was then made football coach and physical director at North Dakota Agricultural College, where he served for two years and developed a championship team.

There are in the University of Colorado three societies which have as their object the advancement of school interests and maintenance of school traditions. Heart and Dagger is the senior honorary society. Members are elected from the Liberal Arts department at the end of their junior year. Torch and Shield is the Sophomore society to which members are elected to the Vulcan society from the Sophomore class of the Engineering school and become active members in their Junior year.

The Student Council of Columbia University has just put through a constitution that will establish a new relationship between the students and faculty. Much power is put into the hands of a body of student representatives. This body will nominate two members to the University athletic committee each year. It also has the right to receive early notice regarding contemplated legislation of the university council primarily affecting the extra-curricular activities of the student body, and complete control of all inter-class elections and intramural athletic activities. In addition the student board will investigate charges of misconduct, including cribbing at examinations, by any student or body of students, and report to the college authorities the results for their action.

At Purdue a Bible study group has been started among foreign students, chiefly Filipinos, but also Chinese and Spanish. Eighteen members of the Faculty have remained in a Bible study group more than two months with an almost perfect record of attendance.

North Dakota Agricultural College gave a "Cyclone Circus" recently. In addition to the big tent, there were many side shows, a mammoth street parade and a menagerie. The affair was a great success financially.

Pacific University, Willamette, University and the Oregon Agricultural College will hold a triangular track meet on May the 16, at Corvallis. Mr. Arnston has arranged dates with Willamette at Salem, McMinnville at Forest Grove and Newberg at Forest Grove.

Oregon's chances on the track this year are not of the best. The recent meet at Columbia University was won by a very small margin of points. The Agics are going to Eugene on May 22 to try and make the number of points difference still less and if possible to reverse the situation and carry home the state championship. Some Oregon men have trained faithfully this year, while others have not taken track work at all seriously and as a consequence Oregon's track athletes are by no means "in the pink of condition."—University of Oregon Weekly.

Y. M. C. A. TAKES STROLL

Annual Half-way Meeting With W. S. C. Association Last Sunday

A small crowd of Idaho Y. M. C. A. men went on a four and one-half mile "hike" last Sunday to participate in the annual half-way meeting with the Washington State College Association. This was the third of these yearly meetings held between Moscow and Pullman. About fifty men from the two associations gathered at the customary meeting place Sunday. The subject of the discussion was "The Rewards of Service." Tony Crooks of the Idaho delegation was leader. A number of men from both institutions spoke, and there was singing such as is always enjoyed on similar occasions.

Addition to Station Staff.

Mr. W. R. Shinn came to the University last week from Twisp, Washington, for the purpose of joining the experiment station staff as assistant in apple breeding experiments now being carried on by the horticultural department. He is a brother of Prof. Shinn. He graduated from Illinois Agricultural college in 1906, and is an expert in the work for which he came to the University. This work is carried on by means of financial assistance from the Adams fund provided last year by Congress. It consists in experiments in cross fertilization of the different strains of apple varieties with the view of securing strains of apples specially adapted to purposes for which they are desired in this state.
