Y. W. C. A. CONFERENCE WAS HELD AT IDAHO

50 Delegates Come Unexpectedly on Local Organization

Many Strong Leaders are Present and Discuss Association Problems

One of the greatest treats the students and friends of the University of Idaho have had for some time was the unexpected Young Women's Christian Association conference held here on October 16, 17 and 18. The conference was to have been held at Pullman, Wash. and all preparations had been made for it by the W. S. C. girls. On Thursday evening the Pullman council declared the town quarantined and the leaders who had already reached there moved the conference bodily to Moscow. Much of the success of the meeting was due to Pres MacLean and Mrs. Eldridge who made all preparations for housing the delegates.

There were about thirty-five delegates in attendance from the Lewiston Normal school, Cheney Normal, Albion Normal and Whitman college. The only other school to have been represented was W. S. C.

The conference was especially fortunate in having as a leader, Miss Conde, a national secretary from New York City. She is a woman with a remarkable personality and one who is acquainted with all phases of the Christian work in colleges. Other leaders were Miss Hopkins, secretary of this district, Miss Gage, who has visited Moscow several times before, Mrs. Penrose of Whitman, Bishop Paddock of Portland and Prof. Coleman of Whitman.

The first meeting was held Friday evening when President MacLean welcomed the delegates, and Miss Conde gave an address on "The Significance of the Association Movement." Saturday morning was devoted to Bible study and special conferences with the different committees both among the students and faculty.

Saturday afternoon Miss Gage, the well known and much loved Y. W. worker gave a talk on "Work in the Northwest and the way in which the students can cooperate." From four to six on Saturday Ridenbaugh Hall was thrown open to the delegates and an informal reception was held. Light refreshments were served by some of the Ridenbaugh Hall girls.

Prof. Coleman and Miss Conde had charge of the conference meetings Saturday evening. Their subjects were "The Missionary call to the Man of the Hour," and "World's Work of the Y. W. C. A."

Sunday morning a delegates meeting was held, led by Miss Hopkins and then the conference adjourned until the afternoon. At 3 o'clock Miss Conde addressed a joint meeting of Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. workers on the "Value and Need of Prayer." This talk was probably the most beneficial to the greatest number, of all the meetings. She proved in a very clear way the absolute need of prayer in every day life if success is to be attained.

The conference sermon, given by Bishop Paddock of Portland, was held in the Methodist church Sunday evening. After the sermon the delegates met in a short closing prayer service before they separated to return with the messages of the conference to their own associations.

The Idaho girls feel that they have been especially favored in being permitted to entertain the conference since it was impossible for their sister association to do so. It has been an inspiration to meet and hear men and women who are doing so much for the work in all the different institutions.

Student Assembly.

Last Wednesday was the regular monthly student Assembly. No special program had been arranged but all joined in yells and songs after which the following business was transacted: The resignation of Thomas as yell leader was read and accepted. Nominations were then opened for the filling of this important position. The names of Sheppard, Leonard, Jones R. O., Barrett, St. Clair, Stein and Stoddard were placed before the house, and the balloting Monday showed that St. Clair and Stoddard pulled the offices with 141 and 86 votes respectively.

By a unanimous vote of the student body a request was filed with the faculty for recitations to be held on Saturday Nov. 14 in order that the W. S. C. game might be played on Friday Nov. 13. This request was granted.

The old committee on the Trophy Room was discharged and a new one will be appointed by President Magee.

In accord with the vote of the Athletic Board, President McLean then awarded "Varsity" I's to the following men. In track: Edmunson, retiring captain; Montgomery, captain elect; Strohecker, Henry Smith, E. Armstrong, Driscoll. In base ball: Magee, retiring captain; Hansen, captain elect; Slack, Lundstrom, Curtis, Appleman, Kettenbach, Kirtley not returned; Burley graduated, Case, and Crom not returned.

Prof. and Mrs. Shinn returned from the Fair Saturday night where the Professor had been acting as judge in the fruit display. They brought home a monstrous bunch of grapes measuring nearly a foot in length and half as much in width.

WILL NOT DEBATE WITH MONTANA

Debate Council Decides Definitely to Take on no New Debate Relations

At last, after considerable investigation, the Debate Council decided last week to let the debate situation stand as it is. This year will contain the same number of debates as last year so that Idaho will meet only W. S. C., Oregon and Washington. The council decided that if Montana was met this fall it would mean too much work upon the debate coach. To contest Montana and W. S. C. almost at the same time would cause the working up of two different questions and the coaching of six men. This would mean that neither team would receive the required attention. For these reasons it was deemed advisable not to debate the University of Montana and the secretary was instructed to telegraph this decision to Missoula.

Republicans Active

On Friday afternoon a goodly number of young politicians met at Morrill Hall and proceeded to organize a permanent society to be known as the University of Idaho Republican club. The purpose of this organization, in the terms of the constitution adopted, is as follows: "The club is to afford a rallying point for the U. of I. Republican students to assist in securing local recognition of the right of student voters in college and home towns, to promote discussion and investigation of the political problems now before the country, to cooperate with and encourage the work being done by the Republican students of the United States through the local college clubs, state leagues and the National Republican College League in advocating, maintaining and safeguarding the principals and policies of the Republican party and in endeavoring to uplift the political ideals of the nation." This club is similar to those already organized throughout the colleges of the country and will undoubtedly be a factor in the coming election in North Idaho.

Officers were chosen as follows: President, R. O. Jones; vice president, Mike Leonard; secretary, Paul Savidge; treasurer, Ira Tweedy.

Dr. Little was unable to meet his classes the first of the week.

BREMERTON TEAM SATURDAY

Navy Men to Figure in Northwest Championship—Varsity Team Working Hard.

When the Marine Team from the Bremerton Navy Yard play here Saturday the game will be much more than a practice match. The Bremerton team are after the Championship of the Northwest as they took pains to inform the management when asked for a practice game.

Their team is composed of full grown men, men who are given three hours leave from duty each day in order that they may practise, and they have been practicing for two months under the coaching of an old Annapolis man.

The Idaho team is rapidly getting into shape and have commenced to practise the trick plays and formations that gave the team such notoriety last season.

After the game here Saturday the Marine Team will play W. S. C. Team on the following Friday. In the mean time the team will stay in Moscow and practise daily in the old ball park. The privileges of the Gym have been extended to them for baths etc.

This game comes only one week before the opening of the intercollegiate season and is the last chance Idaho supporters will have to see the local team in action with an outside bunch before it is in the midst of one of the fullest and most difficult schedules in its history. This season is unique in that it is the first under the new conference rules. All ringers and football specialists are barred so that we shall be able to see an exhibition of clean sport. There is not an institution in the big six that is not crippled in some manner by these regulations. New men must be used consequently devolving much worry and strain on the coaches.

So then in view of these facts we are asking all students for the most loyal support. Come to the game next Saturday and yell; and continue to come, and yell thruout the season. In this way and in this way only can Idaho put out the winning team that she did last year.

Athletic Board Tuesday.

Last Tuesday afternoon the Athletic Board held an important business meeting. The first thing considered was a date for the Annual Athletic Ball. Nov. 14 has been set as the probable date for this event. Owing to the nearness of the basket ball season it was deemed wise to appoint a manager of this branch of athletics. Clarence S. Edmunson, last year's manager, was again chosen for this position. There is some talk of an intercollegiate cross country meet in the near future so a track manager was appointed to arrange for this and also to get the schedule for next spring's meets out early. Mr. Griner, '10 received this appointment. A committee consisting of J. D. Mathews, L. L. Brown, W. K. Gwin was appointed to take charge of the gate receipts at all athletic events thruout the year.

ORGANIZATIONS

Last year there were at least six departments which maintained organized clubs doing work outside of class hours. Among the most successful of these may be mentioned: The English club, The Classical Club, The Western Federation of Miners, The Biology Club, The Agricultural Club and The Deutsche Gesellschaft of former years. At present only one of these—The Agricultural Club—is in operation. It is still a little early for all to be thoroughly organized but we hope that the departments are at least laying plans for such work later in the year.

It might not be out of place to mention some reasons for the existence of such organizations. First, we know of nothing that speaks for a more healthful condition of a department than for faculty and students to co-operate in doing research work outside of class hours. An instructor cannot hope to completely exhaust a subject in a short period of fifty-five minutes a day or possibly every other day. The student often has questions for which time will not permit a full answer. Or he may be interested in some particular phase of his work which he cannot follow out fully in regular class work. An informal evening spent together in discussion may obviate all of these difficulties.

Then further than mere gaining of knowledge there is the means of advertising a department thru an organization of this kind. Often times students in one line of work have no conception of the work done in other departments nor have the public at large any idea of the work in the school. By programs and public exhibitions such as the English and Classical clubs gave last year much light is thrown upon these lines of work and they are brought into the favor of the public eye. Further, these evenings may be the means of enrolling more students. The Agricultural club can testify to that fact for thru the organized effort of its members, both faculty and students, the registration of the College of Agriculture has surpassed by many fold all previous records.

Then as a last and best argument we would mention the pleasure and profit resulting from social intercourse of students and faculty outside of class. Often the professor never has a chance to meet even his own students except under the rather formal rules of class exercises. He often gets wrong impressions of them and likewise they of him, which might be readily readjusted could they meet on more equal footing. The students can get the refining touch of contact with their superiors in no other way than within some organization of this sort.

Then we will mention a few items without enlarging upon them which would result from such clubs. There is training in organization, training in speaking which the absence of literary societies deny, ability in getting up papers and many other duties which may be demanded of college students.

We hope that this brief recital of benefits may appeal to all readers and that the various departments will soon lay plans for the organization of societies similar to those in existence last year.

WHERE IS OUR COLLEGE SPIRIT

With the election of two competent yell leaders last Monday, "College spirit" at Idaho should arouse from its temporary lethargy.

Never before in the memory of the writer has football interest been at such a low ebb. We have not heard a single rousing yell since college opened and yet within a week and a half we meet the strong team from the University of Oregon. At the Y. M. C. A. game it was impossible to get enough students together to carry thru a single yell. Only last week a member of the first team squad, said, "I cannot get interested in football as in former years. I forget to go to practice and it does not seem that we are going to play football this year."

Under these conditions it is obvious that we cannot hope to put out a winning team. A championship season rests on three fundamental principles—the ability of the coach, the work of the team, and the support of the student body. The first is a comparatively constant quantity and is an element that we possess in the full. We have seen our coach in action on the field and have watched his superior work with the team. No one in the West doubts the ability of Coach Middleton. The second element is a variable quantity—that is, it depends on both the ability of the coach and the support of the student body. This element then is in doubt for it has only half a foundation. As yet we have seen no visible signs of loyalty of the students and the last element of a championship team is entirely lacking.

This is the status of affairs. Idaho has only a little better than one-third of a chance to put out a winning team this season—unless conditions change radically within the next week and a half.

But is it possible for this change to take place. We believe it is and in this way. Let the yell leaders gather the students on the side lines at the evening practices. Then let every student turn out to the game next Saturday and cheer the team on. Let the students occupy one section of the bleachers exclusively and follow the yell leaders absolutely. Let us have some rallies, bonfires, parades at which we may utilize our band, glee clubs, and orators to the fullest extent and let us carry these functions into and thruout the streets of Moscow until every citizen—man, woman and child—catches the spirit and helps us in our effort to stir up some spirit.

If this program is carried out in general we have no fears for the Oregon or subsequent games. If we do not get together—well, we have an unlimited faith in our coach and team but we confess that we doubt their ability to do it all. They are both working hard, so let us as "rooters" do our part. Let us supply the missing quantity in the championship equation and see that Idaho always has a positive score equated with her opponent's negative.

Dorm. Dance.

A dance was given to their friends among the men by the Ridenbaugh Hall girls Friday night. The piano and snare drum furnished excellent music, and punch was served in the lower hall.

It was a charming little party and enabled the new students to get better acquainted.

Preps Defeat Normal.

The Preparatory football team defeated the Lewiston State Normal team at Lewiston Saturday morning to the tune of 34 to 0.

The Normal team was entirely outclassed and at no time was the Prep goal in danger.

The Prep team made a wonderful showing in their handling of the forward pass, twenty in all being attempted of which only two were failures.

Harrison G. Maughan '09 was at Lewiston last week looking after the Idaho exhibits.

Once more the high standing of Idaho's students has been shown in the election of Miss May Herman to the Presidency of the Senior Class at Whitman. In addition to this honor she is secretary of the Greek and Idaho clubs of the same school. Miss Herman took her sophomore year at Idaho where she was very popular.

Alumnus Returns.

P. S. Darlington '07 spent Sunday and Monday shaking hands with old friends at the Varsity. Mr. Darlington was prominent in college activities during his undergraduate days, having held the office of treasurer of both the A. S. U. I. and Y. M. C. A. and was athletic director of the '06-'07 Athletic Minstrel. He now has a position as a Deputy State Fruit Inspector of Washington with headquarters at Wenatchee. With his characteristic optimism he now boosts for the Wenatchee

Valley as hard as he formerly rooted for the "Varsity."

W. S. C. Proposes Cross Country Meet.

Track Manager Griner has received a proposition from Manager Wexler of W. S. C. for a Cross Country Meet to take place about the last of the month. Wexler suggests that Whitman, Idaho, W. S. C., S. A. A. C. and the Spokane Y. M. C. A. enter teams and that the event be made an annual affair. Such a meet has never been held in the Northwest but owing to the interest being shown in the local cross country club, Manager Griner says that he favors the proposition if satisfactory arrangements can be made.

Beta Sigma's at Home

On Saturday afternoon the Beta Sigma sorority was at home to its friends among the college girls and town women and on Saturday night to the faculty and their wives. The charming sorority house was darkened and shaded lights threw a soft glow over the attractively gowned girls. Hot grape juice, cake and mints, which carried out the sorority colors, were served buffet in the dining room after which the guests were shown over the house. Mrs. Eldridge, Mrs. Hulme, and Mrs. Rogers, honorary members of the sorority, Mrs. Miracle, the matron, and Mrs. Burton French received with the upper classmen.

Miss Bessie Perkins '12 left Oct. 13 for Lewiston to spend several days at her home and to attend the fair.

Miss French was confined to her room Sunday, but was able to be up again the following morning.

Mr. Hitt, on his return from the fair at Lewiston, made a short visit to his daughter, at the Dormitory.

Agricultural Club Meeting

Last Friday evening the Agricultural Club was addressed by Mr. Maeda '11 on ancient Japanese Agriculture. The speaker described in a very interesting manner the rice and tea industries in Japan after which he told of the Japanese school system. This is the first of a series of talks on agricultural conditions in Foreign Countries, the next being a lecture on Italian Agriculture by Dr. Gage, November the 7th.

Prep Literary Society.

The Preparatory students met last Saturday night and organized a Literary Society. This is the first organization of this kind ever formed by the Preparatory Department alone, but as there is much debate material among the secondary students a successful future for it is predicted.

Holman Still Alive.

All reports as to the annihilation of Guy Holman in the Philippines was dispelled Saturday when a letter was received at the office from the '07-'08 Argonaut editor to the effect that he was still alive. Mr. Holman after passing a successful civil service examination last spring received an appointment to the Philippine service. He left on graduation, and has, since July 15, been teaching at Cabagan Nuevo, Isabella Province. He writes that in addition to looking after the ordinary intellectual welfare of his 22 students that he spends two hours per day putting them through a rigorous system of military drill—showing that after all our plan of military instruction at the U. can be utilized in actual life.

Mr. Holman will be remembered as one of Idaho's greatest debaters. Last spring he led the team against the University of Washington to a unanimous victory in a memorable contest. During his four years at the Varsity he was never on a losing team. Besides being a talker, Holman was editor of the '08 Gem of the Mountains and during his senior year piloted the Argonaut through the shoals.

Smoking of tobacco is less prevalent at the University of Washington than at any institution of the size in the United States. Such, at least, is the opinion of agents for fraternity jewelry who recently have been visiting the campus.

"A remarkably small per cent. of the men at this university seem to smoke," said one of these traveling salesmen who is familiar with conditions at most American universities. "I carry a full line of pipes and I sell almost none at the University of Washington. In fact, I hardly take the trouble to show them to the fraternity men here, there is so little demand for them."

One of the recent addresses given before the students of Whitman College was on "Table Manners" by the wife of the president.
