ENGLISH CLUB PLAY WAS GREAT SUCCESS

Dramatic Society Made Hit at Its Second Appearance. General Satisfaction Expressed.

The University English Club made its second appearance of the year last Saturday evening, when it presented a clever little four-act comedy called "The Manoeuvres of Jane." The appreciation of the former work of the club was shown by the large and enthusiastic audience which greeted the players, and the frequent applause and many flowers thrown revealed the general satisfaction with the last performance.

Two of the leading members of the cast were physically hardly able to be out. Mr. Johnson had been on crutches for nearly a week because of a sprained ankle and Mr. Cleveland came from the hospital suffering from pleurisy, to take his part in the play. Yet, despite these facts, each did his part admirably.

In particular, the work of Miss Harmer, Miss Lee, Mr. Johnson, Miss Sebree, Mr. Cleveland, Mr. Faris and Mr. Fenn, among the leading characters, deserve high praise. Miss Harmer, as Jane, had a difficult role, which she interpreted well. Her ability to change rapidly from the wilful, impetuous Jane before her father and in her soliloquies, to the sly, hoodwinking charge before the chaperone, Mrs. Beechimoor, was her chief charm. Miss Lee, as Mrs. Beechimoor, was particularly pleasing in her fitting costume and authoritative voice. The part of George Langton, as acted by Mr. Johnson, was well taken. Miss Sebree, as Constantia Gage, showed great self control during the many humorous scenes with Mr. Cleveland, as Lord Bapchild. Her desperate attempts to allure the young English lord into a proposal were enjoyed by all. On the other hand Mr. Cleveland, as the undecided English lord, was equally clever in missing the points of her leads. His merging of himself into the precise Englishman was appreciated by all, and his humorous interpretation of his lines, kept the audience in a continuous uproar. Perhaps Mr. Faris, as Jervis Punshon, presented the best stage appearance. He seemed perfectly at home, and his enunciation was clear and distinct. Mr. Fenn, as Mr. Nangle, was well suited to his character and the scenes between him and his daughter, Jane, were amusing.

Among the minor characters, Miss Howard as Pamela Beechimoor deserves special mention. Her costume and interpretation of her lines were above the ordinary. Mr. Hays and Miss Anderson as servants, both had good make-ups and acted capitally. Miss Zumhof, as Mrs. Bapchild, amused all by the ease with which she went to sleep, and broke into the conversation in a manner in perfect keeping with the character of an old lady. Mr. Stoddard represented the typical inn keeper in a fitting manner, and Miss Wilson assumed the staid part of a single lady to perfection. The only adverse criticism possible, and the only thing which designated the players as amateurs, was a slight hesi-

SPEAKER CLAGSTONE ADDRESSES STUDENTS

Idaho's Youthful Representative Visits the University and Tells of Last Session.

Tuesday morning a special assembly was held when Hon. Paul Clagstone, Speaker of House in the Idaho Tenth Legislature gave the address. A full attendance of faculty, students and townspeople greeted the speaker who told something of the proceedings of the last session. Mr. Clagstone first spoke of the natural resources of the state and particularly of the agricultural side. In the north there are immense tracts of timber and swamp lands which are not properly worked. In the central section of the state the grain output is not what it should be, while in the south a mere start has been made in reclaiming the vast desert tracts. There are only one million acres now under water, and projects planned to water another million, while there is fully eight million acres of land in the State which at a cost of $100 per acre can be made productive by irrigation. All these defects can be remedied by scientific training. To this end the appropriation for experiment stations was made. It is hoped that in the near future auxiliary stations can be placed in each county.

Mr. Clagstone then spoke of the newspaper reports of the last day of the session and stated that it was unjust that a sister state should indulge in such criticism.

Outside of the university measure the most important bill of the session was the one which gives Idaho a direct primary law, continued the speaker. We now have as perfect a ruling in this line as any state, the direct primary law of Wisconsin being the nearest akin to Idaho's.

After paying a glowing compliment to the Latah County Delegation, Mr. Clagstone concluded, leaving a general feeling of satisfaction among the University friends that in him our institution has a strong and loyal supporter.

Representative Bangs was called on for a talk and further complimented Mr. Clagstone.

The Mandolin Club played at both the opening and close of the address, the appreciation of which was shown by the hearty encores.

"Her Own Way"

It will interest those who enjoyed the latest appearance of the English Club to know that the next play, announced in the Argonaut some weeks ago, has been finally scheduled for April 8th, the evening before the spring vacation begins.

The play, "Her Own Way," should be very popular because it deals with American scenes, topics and characters. The situations and lines are full of humor. There are some splendid emotional scenes.

Professor Moore has full charge of the play and is having daily rehearsals. She has asked Mrs. Roland Hodgins to assist in training the four children that appear in the play. This will be a novel and delightful feature. Mr. Ernest Ellis has accepted the management.

TRACK OUTLOOK AT IDAHO

Track work begins in earnest. During the past week about forty men have reported for track work and the outlook for a winning team is much brighter than was expected.

Next Friday night the men will be given a chance to be in competition in the indoor meet, and several of the new men are going to make a good showing.

The man who wins in track must have determination and patience. The men who are going to make the team are those who train faithfully every evening. Manager Griner has arranged a very desirable schedule. The W. S. C. meet will be held in Pullman on May 1st, the Whitman meet in Moscow on the 8th of May, the triangular with the U. of O. and U. of W. in Eugene on May 14th, and O. A. C. in Corvallis on the 17th. It is possible that a meet will be arranged with Montana and if so will occur on May 29th. Thus it will be seen that the track men will be seen twice at home and that they will have a trip into Oregon for two meets. This is the first time Idaho has made this trip since Murphy, Edmundson and Matthews represented her at the fair in 1905.

If the season is a financial success a team will be sent to the conference meet in Seattle in June.

The old men who are back again are Capt. Montgomery and Fenn, for the sprints. In the quarter new men must be developed to take the place of Fawcett, Edmundson and Thornton. Denning is the only man left for the 880, while in the mile there are Hunting and Price. For the hurdles and jumps Driscoll and Strohecker are back, while in the weights new men must be developed.

At the present those who are showing up best in the sprints are Montgomery, Fenn, McKy, Harris and Quinby; in the 440, Ream, Beckner, Strohecker, Fluherty, Bashor, Frazier, Armstrong, Rember and Heard; in the distance runs, Jessup, Denning, Hunting, Price, White, Kennedy, Fox, Cliff Edmundson, McDonald, Graham and Myrick. The hurdlers are Montgomery, Driscoll, Fox and Davis; the jumpers Glaze, Savidge, Sudweeks, Strohecker and Driscoll; the weight men Stokesbury, Jewell, Ream and Frazier; and the pole vaulters Hockett and Strohecker.

It will be seen that more men should be trying for the weights and pole vaults. If every student who is not trying for baseball would train for track, Idaho would have a winning team, if not this year, next year. The training will do you a great deal of good and takes but little of your time.

Assembly.

At assembly last Wednesday an address was given by Professor Chedsey of the Department of Mining. He spoke on the different kinds of ores. The address was followed by two very pleasing cornet solos by Mr. Carey, the University band instructor. After this the President took occasion to deliver a short address on St. Patrick Day Celebrations.

TRIANGULAR DEBATE THURSDAY EVENING

Northwest Championship to Be Again Decided. Idaho Teams Working Hard.

On next Thursday evening will occur the fourth annual triangular debate between the Universities of Idaho, Washington and Oregon. These contests, all taking place on the same night and on the same question, will decide the northwest championship. Since the organization of the triangular system of debating four years ago, three contests have been held, Idaho winning first twice out of the three times, and one second. In number of points she now leads by a comfortable margin.

In preparation for a battle royal on Thursday evening both Idaho teams are working overtime. Every possible bit of information on the subject is being obtained and when the time is called there will be a fight. The two teams have had several contests together, including the struggle for the Borah Debate Prize.

Against Washington, and at Seattle, Idaho sends a veteran team consisting of Jones, Matthews and Tweedy. All of these men have had intercollegiate debating experiences. Jones has been a leader in four Idaho debates and all of them have been victories. Matthews is a senior and a debater with all kinds of experience. Tweedy was a member of last fall's team against W. S. C. and did excellent work.

At home, Clemens, Holman and Rock will fight for honors. Clemens is a sophomore and comes with a good reputation from the College of Idaho. He is a good speaker. Holman is a brother of Guy Holman, whose brilliant refutation last year won over Washington. Much is expected of him. Rock has had experience in high school and has been a member of two Borah Debate teams. All of these men will put up a good hard debate on Thursday night and are expected to play no small part in another championship. Oregon is sending Robinson as the leader of her negative team. He is a cool speaker with a clear, analytical mind. The whole Oregon team is experienced.

The Moscow debate will be held in the Methodist church and the program is scheduled to begin at 8:15. Some good musical numbers have been arranged for by Manager Gwin which will include several selections by the Mandolin Club. The question to be discussed is, "Resolved, That, waiving constitutionality, the federal government should assess a progressive income tax on all incomes above a certain specified amount."

Coming March 26.

The indoor track meet between the classes will be held next Friday evening in the Gymnasium. Manager Griner has arranged to present ribbons to the winners of the first, second and third places in each event.

The Sophomore class won the meet last year but all of the others say that they cannot do the trick again this time.

If you really want your class to carry off the most honors come out and compete or cheer your class on.

...outside the athletic field, to a Moscow audience. The court scene was imposing and brot out as perhaps no other the real merit of the amateur actors.

Too much praise for this successful effort cannot be given to the ladies of the Prep Faculty, Misses Smith and Regan, under whose skill and patience the various young amateurs were brot out to their full capacity.
 Mr. Sage, with the patience of Job and the genius of an auditorium manager, looked after the staging.
 The musical numbers between the acts were all by Prep. students with the exception of Ziegler's delightful character solo, the orchestra being conducted by Mr. Thomas of the "A" class, and the soloists Miss Minden and Mr. Meighan being "C" and "D" Preps respectively.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY SCRAP.

Freshmen are Victorious in This Year's Contest with the Sophomores.

The annual scrap between the two lower classes is over. The Sophomores had a team which seemed invincible. Montgomery, Lundstrom, Barret, Appleman, Edmundson, Cook and twenty-three others, the most of whom helped to tie up the Sophomores last year, were there. The Freshmen on the other hand had forty men in the field and among them were Armstrong, Bashor, Jessup, Downing, Cleveland, Albert and several others who showed excellent football ability.

About a week ago delegations from each of the four college classes met and tried to arrange for some definite program or contest to take place on this day. Everybody knew that there would be a scrap of some kind and, as no arrangement could be agreed upon, it was feared by some that the affair would not be properly conducted. These fears were all dispelled. There was hard work for about half an hour, some clothes were torn, and most of the participants had to wash after it was all over. They were dressed for the occasion, however, and nobody seemed to mind the mud. The best of feeling existed throughout the whole fray and no one was hurt.

The Freshmen from the first refused to take the initiative. They were ready, however, to meet the Sophomores at any game they would put up and assembled on the campus at five in the morning for that purpose. It seems that the Sophomores had put up some colors during the night and this was enough for the Freshmen. The green colors were hastily pulled down and orange put up. All the Freshmen boys seemed to be present and the only two Sophomores who were at the dormitory made their way down town by a rather circuitous route. Our attention was here attracted to Ridenbaugh Hall where the Freshmen girls came down to breakfast gaily decorated with orange bunting while the Sophomores were almost equally ornamented with green. A lively scrimmage ensued and it was hard to tell who won but we think that the honor should be attributed to the Freshmen. As no Sophomores appeared there was some talk of attending class but this was quickly hushed when, at about 8:30, twenty-nine of them marched onto the campus. The Freshmen seemed awed by the brilliant colors and grand array of their enemies. For the first few minutes they watched them in wonder. But, when the Sophomores assembled under the yellow bunting and one of them started to climb the cable, there was a rush that made the charge up San Juan hill seem like a secondary affair. It was a hard fought battle. For about fifteen minutes it was uncertain which side would win. The Sophomores came with strong cords evidently intending to tie the Freshmen. In this they failed and in less than an hour they were tied hand and foot with their own ropes. Then there was a lull. The Freshmen had vanquished their foes but they seemed not at all anxious for more foes to vanquish. Then with one accord, without any warning, the Freshmen fell to and liberated their captives. This done they mounted on a dray and circled triumphantly about the campus. There was no judge of the contest and if any member of the faculty was present he kept in the background. The upper classmen were present to prevent unnecessary roughness but they were not needed. Fair play prevailed. When the Sophomores were liberated the contest was over and the universal verdict is that the Freshmen won.

The two classes are now at peace, this being the final contest of the year and the University never witnessed a fairer, cleaner, contest.

...With Other Colleges...

In the seven Coast States there are at least 9,000 college men, forty per cent being church members.

Taking young men generally over the country, one in twelve is a member of a church, but among college men one in two is a member of some church.

Though only one in every 200 of the young men of North America is in college, yet sixty per cent of the most prominent positions are held by college men.

Last year 48,882 were enrolled in the voluntary Bible classes conducted by the Associations of North America. 3481 of these were prominent athletes, 4,267 fraternity men, 3,259 others prominent in university life.

There are approximately 200,000 college and university men in North America.

The fees for Michigan students at the University are as follows: Matriculation fee, $10; annual fee, $30. In the professional schools the annual fee is $45. There are also in some departments, laboratory fees for certain courses. For students outside of the state the fees are higher.

The University of Washington has now passed the 1600 mark in the enrollment 660 being coeds.

Utah will send a squad of about 20 men to take part in the track events at Seattle during the A. Y. P. exposition.

University of Oregon has an amendment before the student body providing a for graduate manager of all athletics, oratory, debate, and the glee club.

In the department of engineering at Michigan as a result of the recent mid-year exams, there were 2600 subject flunks, or an average of two per student.

tancy in taking up the stage conversation. At times there were pauses at dashes where other characters should have broken in. However, none of these were noticeable to any great extent, and but little prompting was necessary.

The Mandolin club, under the direction of Prof. Terrill, also helped to make the evening enjoyable. Its first appearance was well received, and it fully lived up to its past reputation.

The general sentiment is that this production is the best ever given by the English Club, and that the cast was the best yet chosen.

Batting cages have been constructed on the athletic field for the use of the base ball team.

Hon. Paul Clagstone reviewed the battalion of cadets Tuesday afternoon.
