DELIGHTFUL SENIOR DINNER.

Graduating Student Works Out Charming and Inexpensive Menu. Full Instructions Given.

On May 11 at 6:30 occurred the Senior dinner given by Miss Edna Dewey at the domestic science rooms at Ridenbaugh Hall. Miss Dewey is the first and only girl to graduate in the B. S. (D. E.) course.

The color note throughout the courses was red and white, being very effectively used. The light from the red shaded chandeliers, and red shaded tapers softly illuminated the prettily arranged table, in the center of which a tall cut-glass vase of red and white roses placed over a dainty lace centerpiece, showing red through its meshes, made an attractive decoration. The guests' places were marked with name cards on which were sketched pretty senior maids in cap and gown. Tiny black mortar boards holding nuts, and a dainty long stemmed rose for each guest, made up the favors. The serving table was artistic with its silver

DIRECTIONS FOR WAITRESS.

See that the dining room is free from dust and the air fresh and of proper temperature, screens in place and the clock running.

Lay the silence cloth on the table smoothly, and then the table cloth, the fold running lengthwise of the table and exactly in the center. Place the center-piece in the center of the table, with the red paper underneath, then the vase of roses on it.

At each plate place the silver in the following manner, beginning at the right of the plate, and at the outside, 1 and a huge bowl of red and white roses. Miss Dewey's guests were Mrs. Dewey, Miss Maynard and Mr. Magee. Following is the Menu and dietary used for the dinner:

A standard dietary is such a dietary as shall furnish the amounts held necessary for a man with light exercise.

The dietary we adopt is Prof. Atwaters' for one day: Proteid .22 per cent of a lb; fats .22 per cent of a lb; carbohydrates .88 per cent of a lb; calories 2980. Dinner, breakfast and luncheon are estimated on the following ratio: 7 : 4 : 4. Therefore for dinner we require 7-15ths of 22 per cent; 7-15ths of 88 per cent, 7-15ths of 2980.

The expense of this dinner shall be $1.25 for four persons, covering the laundrying of the linen, but no expense for service.

Cost $1.25.

Color Scheme—Red and White.

Decorations—Red and White Roses.

HISTORY OF THE CLASS OF 1909

Largest Class Ever Graduated From the University. Members Prominent in all College Activities.

On Sept. 17, 1905, the present Senior class registered at the University as green Freshmen. The class was large, but before long it was in full

With the beginning of the Sophomore year the class was again put on all the later developments when nitric acid was so freely used, none have forgotten. Then came the hours spent upon the 'carpet' and exciting class meeting and finally the word from the President that Freshmen must give up all social privileges. As a consequence the only Freshmen party was the one which had been held in the old Club House the first of October. Altho the class could have no parties the individual members worked hard in college activities. Two of the Triangular Debate team were of the class, and there

A LAST WORD.

With this issue of the Argonaut the staff hands over the pen to its successors. We wish to thank our readers for the interest they have shown in the paper, and also for the leniency with which they have endured our mistakes and short comings. We took up the quill with no experience, and are as cognizant of our faults as any one. Yet we have no apology to make for we can honestly say that we have done our best. It has been our one intention to publish all news fairly, and to show no favoritism. The readers may judge of our success.

Now to the new staff we extend our best wishes. They have all had experience and are qualified to put out a good paper. We wish them all the success possible. We can do no better than hope that the student body will give them the same support which it has given us.

The editor wishes to thank publicly the staff members and all others who have so kindly contributed articles from time to time. Without this assistance the publishing of the paper would have been impossible.

THE ARGONAUT welcomes the Oh-a-di to the University organizations. We have felt for several years that many student affairs are conducted too loosely. A permanent booster organization among the upper classmen should do much towards remedying this fault. We hope that this society may be effective in its purposes and that in the future it may become a power in the building up of the University.

Senior Ball.

The Senior Ball last Friday night was a great success. Almost all the graduating class was present and a large number of the alumni.

The gymnasium was beautifully decorated. Pines hung from the rafters; bunting, of the class colors red and white, entirely hid the walls; and there were numerous cozy corners scattered here and there. The platform and scenery as arranged for the class play, furnished an excellent stand for the orchestra, a corner of this also being used as a place for refreshments. The music which was by Sterner's was declared to be the best ever furnished by that excellent orchestra.

The Seniors worked hard to make this ball a success and their efforts were amply rewarded.

The patronesses were Mrs. James A. MacLean, Miss Permeal French, Miss Henrietta Moore, Mrs. A. W. Smith, Mrs. W. H. Carithers, Mrs. M. E. Lewis.

On the side table spread a linen cloth and place the following: Carving knife and fork, gravy ladle, two large spoons for the dessert and potatoes, the loaf sugar and cream, and a small tray with doily to use in serving.

Just before the guests arrive place curled celery, radishes, salted almonds, with small spoon beside it, on opposite ends of the table. Put the butter balls on the bread and butter plates, fill water glasses two thirds full and place the water bottle on the side table.

Course I.

After the guests are seated bring in the soup-in bouillon cups, with croutons, and place in front of the persons from the right with handles parallel with the edge of the table, beginning with the hostess then down the left side of the table. When finished remove the cups and saucers from the right.

Course II.

Place the cutlets with sliced cucumbers and bread and butter rolls in front of the guests from the right. When finished remove the plates from the right.

Course III.

Fill the water glasses if needed. Place the carving knife at the right of the hostess, fork at the left, and one large spoon and gravy ladle at the right. Hot dinner plates are placed at the left of the hostess. The platter containing the roast, braised potatoes and apple circles directly in the center of the table about twelve inches in from the hostess. Place the gravy bowl at the right of the hostess. The waitress remains at the left side of the hostess and with the left hand places the plates on the table in front of the hostess, after the roast, potatoes and apple circles have been placed on it she removes the plate with the right hand and replaces it with an empty plate with the left hand, and proceeds down the right side of the table and places it in front of the guest of honor, from the right. When all have been served in this manner, the gravys is offered from the left. The soufflé is then brought in and placed in front of the plate, from the right. The rolls are next offered from the left, the plate refilled and placed on the tables. The radishes, celery and the almonds are next offered from the left and replaced in their respective places. The coffee is then placed at the right of each guest with the handles to the right. Sugar and cream are offered from a tray at the left. When all are finished, the roast, gravy, celery, almonds, rolls, plates, bread and butter plates, ramekins, salts and peppers are removed from the right.

Course IV.

The strawberry parfait is served in parfait glasses on small white plates with doily between, and is placed in front of guests from right. The cake is then offered from the left, then placed on the table. The coffee cups are refilled and cream and sugar passed again from the left. When finished the parfait glasses, plates, cups and saucers and water glasses are removed. The finger bowls, half filled with luke warm water, and a few rose petals in each, on a small plate with doily between are placed in front of each guest from the right. The waitress may then retire to the kitchen.

Fraternity Banquet.

Theta Mu Epsilon held its third annual banquet last Friday night at the Hotel Moscow. This function is given in honor of the graduating members of the organization each spring.

The dining room was attractively decorated with blue and white, the fraternity colors and college pennants. Hundreds of pansies were strewn over the table which was arranged in a "U" shape, while an orchestra hidden in a grove of palms played softly the entire evening. About forty members and their friends were present.

Not until a late hour did the toast master dismiss the party after all had spent an enjoyable evening.

Despite the superabundance of examinations, rehearsals of "The College Widow" are being held daily and the play promises to be one of the best ever staged at the University.

Ray D. Armstrong left for Boise last Friday to take up work in the city engineer's office.

college spirit. The event was a shoe-pulling contest, a contest which no other classes have even had courage enough to enter. Fifteen sturdy was called at 3:30 and finished at four o'clock. The Freshmen class was defeated by a score of 8-7. That evening the victors celebrated with fair Chaperone. Where the banner has been kept since, the '09 class is unable to say.

The last party of the year was one

The Junior year was not filled with many social doings, but the class did well what it attempted. The Junior Promenade was one of the most successful and pretty dances of the year. The '09 Gem of the Mountains was said by all to be the best annual ever edited at Idaho, and the class is proud to claim it as its own.

The last year of the class's life at Idaho is nearly over. It has been a happy one, and the class as a whole, and every individual has thoroughly enjoyed it. The members have become better acquainted and class ties will become broken with some degree of sadness. The social events of the year, the Chafing Dish Party at the Gymnasium, the banquet given by the men of the class at the Hotel Moscow, the dinner party given by Mr. and Mrs. Morley, and, best of all, the one long holiday at White Cross mines, have, indeed been happy ones.

W. K. Gwin, B. S. Instructor in Science, Lewiston Normal School

At the end of Commencement week, during which is the Senior Ball and the presentation of "The College

The class as a whole has given much to Idaho. It has had men in all departments of athletics and in de-

Many of those who registered as Freshmen '09ers have had to leave the class, but some of the places have been filled by those from other classes or other colleges. The forty members who will receive their degrees make up the largest class that has ever been graduated at the University of Idaho.

Of this number there is only one charter member left. Howard David started in as a first year Prep., seven years ago and has completed the course with the class. Five of the present Seniors joined the class as second year Preps. Twenty-eight of the eighty who entered as Freshmen are graduating this year the remaining twelve having joined the class during one of the three latter college years. Four have cast their lots with the '09 class during the Senior year. Eleven were prepared at our own Preparatory school, four came from Boise High School, three from Idaho Falls, and the others from various secondary schools in the state.

Geographically the class is well distributed. There are seven states represented and nine counties from our own state.

Each college in the University is represented in the list of candidates

Ivy Smith Curtis, B. A. Expects to Teach

for degrees. For the first time in the history of the University there is to be a degree granted from the Domestic Economy Department and for the first time since 1901 degrees in Agriculture.

There will be twenty-five degrees conferred in the College of Letters and sciences, thirteen in the College of Engineering and two in the College of Agriculture as follows: Bachelor of Arts, seventeen; Bachelor of Science, five; Bachelor of music, two; Bachelor of Science in Domestic Economy, one; Bachelor of Science in Civil Engineering, six; Bachelor of Science in Electrical Engineering, one; Bachelor of Science in Mining Engineering, six; Bachelor of Science in Agriculture, two.

The Scholastic standing of the class is high. Twenty-one received third year honors, twelve class A, and nine class B. This means that twelve made an average grade of one "A" to two "B's" and nine made an average of "B".

With such a brilliant past, who dares to predict the future. Just as the members of the class have been leaders in the University so will they continue to lead wherever they go. Many are planning to take advanced work, while others are going into their callings immediately. Every industry will be reached and enlivened.

Nor, when they become captains of industry with wealth and influence at their feet, will the members forget the University which gave them a start.

Some day Scholarships will be offered, monuments and halls of learning will be erected as tokens of the love which the class bears to its Alma Mater. In after years the sons and daughters of our young state will point with pride to the efficient service rendered both to the University, the state and the nation by the members of the class of 1909.

one fourth of the total number in the Senior class. In such a case the number may be increased until the said one-fourth is obtained.

Sec. 7. Not more than a total of five members may be selected from any one college of the University.

Sec. 8. It is further provided that the number of fraternity men or non-fraternity men shall be limited to fifty per cent of the maximum number in the Oh-a-di.

Sec. 9. A unanimous vote shall be necessary to elect a candidate to membership.

Sec. 10. Any candidate for election to the society who shall receive more than four black balls shall not be entitled to any further consideration as a prospective member of the OH-A-DI.

Sec. 11. If, however, a candidate shall receive less than four black balls, the member proposing the candidate may demand the objections of the opposing members and a thorough discussion by the society.

Sec. 12. After said discussion is concluded a new ballot is in order.

Sec. 13. If only one member opposes the new candidate, said member shall, on demand, made in manner heretofore stated, give his reasons and then drop out of the ballot. In such case the society may elect the said new candidate, notwithstanding the objections of the opposing member.

ARTICLE III.

Section 1. The officers of the OH-A-DI shall be as follows: President, Vice President, Secretary and Treasurer. These officers shall perform such duties as regularly falls to them.

Sec. 2. The officers of the OH-A-DI shall hold office for a term of one year.

Sec. 3. The election of officers shall take place at the last regular meeting of the society, said election to be participated in by the new members only.

ARTICLE IV.

Sec. 1. The dues of the OH-A-DI shall be one dollar ($1.00) per year.

ARTICLE V.

Section 1. The OH-A-DI shall meet twice regularly twice each month of the college year. One of these regular meetings shall immediately precede each regular student assembly.

Sec. 2. The last regular meeting of the year shall be a joint meeting of the old and the new members.

Sec. 3. All meetings of the OH-A-DI shall be public except meetings to elect new members.

Sec. 4. Nine members shall constitute a quorum to do business, except in the case that the total number of members returning to the University in the fall shall be less than nine. If such be the case, the total number of members returning to the University shall meet and fill vacancies necessary.

ARTICLE VI.

Section 1. A three-fourths vote of the society is necessary to amend this constitution.

ARTICLE VII.

Section 1. The following shall be standing committees of the society:

Sec. 2. The Membership Committee shall consist of — members.

Sec. 3. The Publicity Committee shall consist of — members, of which the Secretary of the OH-A-DI shall be chairman.

The Commencement Concert to be given on Monday evening, June 7th, at the Presbyterian church promises to be unusually interesting and attractive. It is hoped that as many students will remain to attend that event as possibly can. Besides the numbers by Miss Caldwell, soprano; Mr. Grissen, violinist; Miss Stockton, Miss Broman, Miss Kiefer, pianoists; and Prof. Cogswell at the organ, there will be Riedelsberger's String Quartette from Spokane which has been well received by the Spokane public and is making a place for itself. Be sure and attend the concert.

HONOR FRATERNITY AT IDAHO

Tau Kappa Alpha, Leading National Debate Fraternity, Enters University.

The debate council was made happy last Friday when a telegram was received from the national convention of Tau Kappa Alpha, convening in Indianapolis, Indiana, saying that a charter had been granted to the petitioning Idaho debaters. Tau Kappa Alpha is the leading national debate fraternity in the United States, having chapters at Indiana, Ohio, South Dakota, Maine, Massachusetts, Tennessee, Pennsylvania, California, Kansas and other states. It has among its members such men as Hugh Th. Miller, Lieutenant-Governor of Indiana, President Benton of Miami University, Gov. Buchtel of Colorado, Senator Beveridge of Indiana, and others.

The installation of the local chapter will take place next Monday evening, and will be conducted by Professor Hulme. Any college student who has participated in any inter-collegiate debate or oratorical contest is eligible to membership, and is admitted if voted in by the chapter.

Those now in the University eligible to membership are J. D. Matthews, R. O. Jones, W. K. Gwin, Ray Peebler, Rowe Holman, Paul Clemens, Ira Twedy and John Rock.

Senior Breakfast.

Saturday morning an eleven o'clock President and Mrs. MacLean entertained the Senior class at breakfast. The tables and place cards were artistically decorated with the class colors—red and white. The guests were seated around three large tables which were attended by Mrs. MacLean, Miss Maynard and Miss Sweet. Dr. MacLean kept the baby. After a delightful meal the guests retired to the lawn where they spent a pleasant social hour. Class play rehearsal cut this charming party entirely too short, and very reluctantly did the members leave.

On Friday evening of last week Mrs. Lewis and Mrs. MacLean entertained the members of the faculty at Mrs. MacLean's home. The evening was spent in conversation and music, the music, the music being furnished by Mr. Cogswell, Mr. Grissen and Mr. Eldridge. THE TRACK SEASON CLOSES

Results for Idaho Better than expected—Prospects Bright for 1910 Season.

Never did Idaho face a more gloomy prospect for a track team than she did at the beginning of the season just past. Montgomery, Strohecker and Driscoll were the only point winners of the 1908 team who were eligible to compete.

Yet the showing of the team has been most gratifying to the supporters of the Silver and Gold, and especially so when we take into consideration that the only coaching the men received was from the Athletes who were debarred by the conference ruling. Idaho met every college in the conference and has attained a rank of fourth.

In the first meet with W. S. C. we were defeated by a large score. But when we realize that our opponents across the line, have what is probably the best team ever put out in the Northwest, we feel no chagrin.

In the triangular meet with Oregon and Washington, we took second place. Oregon, under the coaching of the never yet defeated Bill Hayward, for the fourth consecutive year, scored more points than Idaho and Washington combined. Idaho made 33 points to Washington's 26 and the latter had practically every member of her last year's team. The Pacific Wave speaks very highly of both the Oregon and Idaho teams.

Whitman was defeated earlier in the season by the score of 64 to 58. The Missionaries had about the same number of old men on the team as did Idaho, so the two teams competed on an even basis.

The last meet of the season was with O. A. C. at Corvallis and was won by the latter school. The final score was O. A. C. 72, Idaho 58.

Throughout the season the men performed consistently and at no time failed to come up to expectations. The work of Cap't. Montgomery and of Strohecker has been of the highest class. Monty has not been defeated in either the 220 hurdles or 440 dash during the season, and, even the most partisan, praise his work in these events. Strohecker has not lost the high jump this year and has been defeated but once in the pole vault. His work in these two events has come to be very reliable.

Price in the long distance runs has been a surprise to all. He ran within a few feet of Cooil when he lowered the Northwest record 14 seconds. His work shows what conscientious, persistent training will accomplish. He is a new man at the work but has labored hard every night since early in the season.

Those who won the "I" during the season are Cap't. Montgomery, Strohecker, Driscoll, Price, Hunting, and Frazier. Denning lacked but three-fourths of a point in two different meets of winning the coveted emblem. He too has worked hard and faithfully and deserves much credit for his work.

Idaho's weak point this year was in the weights. On the southern trip only one point out of a possible fifty-four was taken.

The outlook for next year is very bright. Every man of this year's team is coming back and will be in condition to do better work than he has done this season.

SENIORS AND FACULTY MIX

Annual Base Ball Game Results in a Tie. Errorless Game by Those Who Did Not Play.

The team of prehistoric men who first played base ball, using a thigh bone for a bat and a neighbors skull for a ball, must have turned over in their graves Tuesday afternoon during the time of the Senior-Faculty ball game.

As such contests should end, the game was a tie, when six innings had been played and the numerous aches and pains satisfied all concerned that they had had enough.

DeLury for the faculty pitched the entire game and in the last three innings pitched good ball.

Tom Noble pitched the first two innings for the Seniors, fourteen faculty members facing him in those two innings and to three of these the ball was inaccessible and looked like a "bean."

Johnson then went in and the faculty members could not connect with the ball simply because they couldn't see it. Johnson allowed but one run and one hit. DeLury for the faculty allowed five hits, one of which was a home run by Johnson.

The only members of both teams who did not make errors were those who failed to get a chance at the ball.
