VICTOR E. PRICE DEAD

Idaho's Famous Debater of 1905-'06 Victim of Tuberculosis.

Victor E. Price, whose recent and early death we all deplore, was born twenty-eight years ago. His childhood was spent in Colorado, his youth in Wardner, and his early manhood at the University of Idaho. As a boy he was known throughout the Coeur d'Alene country and was especially well known at Wardner, where he lived with his mother. The men and women who knew him in those days speak of him as a bright lad, of restless mental and physical activity; a boy of courage, devoted to the things which he deemed to be right.

After his school days at Wardner he went to Whitman Academy, at Walla Walla, for the completion of his secondary education. There, too, his ability and energy made him a prominent member of the student body. He was a member of a Whitman debate team that took part in a contest held in our old Administration Building. His grasp of the question and his aggressive work stamped him as an able debater.

Then he left Whitman and came to the University. Few students have been so active and so successful in our student affairs as he. Every year he took part in two inter-collegiate debates. He was the editor of "The Gem of the Mountains," and of "The Argonaut." One always looked with interest for his editorials. His style was sometimes involved. But the matter was always important, of immediate and permanent interest, and the presentation of his view of it was always vigorous and generally convincing. His volume of "The Argonaut," together with that edited by Guy Holman, remains as a worthy example.

His record as a student was excellent. Not unfrequently he displayed an exceedingly tenacious adherence to his own views; but that was far from being a fault. Victor Price wore his own mental clothes. The ideas he held and the ideals he cherished were born of his own thought and his own experience.

As a young man he was frank and hearty, a man whose word made a bond unnecessary, and whose generous impulses led to many a helpful deed. He was a religious man in the broad but true sense of the word. He ever turned from that which is evil to that which is good, and walked the earth in the faith that he was child of the Great Creator. He feared nothing which was true. He cherished nothing which was false.

In 1906 he was married to Miss Mabel Wolfe, who was graduated from the University with the class of 1903. They had one child, a little boy who died before he was a year old. For a few months after his marriage Mr. Price taught in the Wallace High School, and then he became for a short time the proprietor and editor of "The Wardner News." For the last two years he battled with the disease, tuberculosis, that had laid its hands upon him but in vain.

We grieve for his loss. But it is certain that he would have us show our love for him by doing our best as students, by devoting ourselves to the help of those with whom we come into contact, and especially by doing all we can toward making the university, whose welfare was very dear to him, a greater and a nobler one.

THE ATHLETIC BALL.

First Big Dance in the Armory a Success.

On Saturday evening, Nov. 6, the annual athletic ball was given in the University armory. A large number of students were present, also visitors from Lewiston and Pullman. Mrs. J. A. McLean, Miss Permeal French and Mrs. Edward Hulme were in the receiving line. Promptly at 12 o'clock the "Home, Sweet Home" was played and the guests departed after having spent a most delightful evening.

Much praise is due to the college orchestra for the able manner in which the music was rendered.

The Misses Gundlach and MacKenzie of Pullman were guests of the Beta Sigma Sorority last Saturday and Sunday and attended the athletic ball.

Elsie Larson, '10, was unable to attend classes last week on account of illness.

A Correction.

Joseph Sudweeks, whose name appeared in class B of the 1912 honor roll last week, should have been placed in class A.

Glenn S. Corkey, the senior law student and intercollegiate orator of Washington university, who was ducked in Geyser Basin several days ago, threatens to bring suit against six members of his class who were concerned in the ducking.

IDAHO-W. S. C. GAME.

Idaho Spirit Predominates--Jewell Keeps Up His Good Work. Cliff Edmundson Also Stars.

Against a heavy team, on a sloppy field, with two previous defeats against them and a Pullman crowd clamoring for a big score, Idaho went into the game with W. S. C. last Saturday with the determination and spirit to win, which has so many times defeated Pullman, and held them to a 17-0 score. This included three touchdowns by W. S. C., one of which was clearly unearned and was made at the end of the first half, and after the officials had given W. S. C. four downs in which to make the last 10 yards. Up to this time Idaho had fought W. S. C. to a standstill, and there was nothing to choose from between the two teams. A lucky forward pass enabled W. S. C. to get the ball within striking distance of Idaho's goal, and by virtue of their greater weight they forced their way to the 10 yard line. Here Idaho, by a supreme effort, held them for three downs and the rooters in the east stand set up a yell of joy, which soon subsided when it was seen that the referee was allowing Pullman another down. This time they pushed it over for a touchdown, and notwithstanding the protests of many who were on the spot the decision remained unchanged. That kind of thing is calculated to take the spirit out of any team, but it didn't take it out of Idaho, for every man was there to do or die. The rest of the game was a bitter struggle against odds, for every inch of ground, but Pullman finally amassed two more touchdowns and the game.

Every man on the Idaho team deserves glory for his work. Cliff Edmundson was a star, his tackling being the best seen this year, and he was under nearly every play. Perkins fought until he couldn't stand up and had to be taken out, and Rex Curtis on taking his place gave 'em all he had, too. He broke up several plays and threw the men for a loss. Dorsett wore himself completely out and showed up a man much his superior in weight and pugilistic proclivities. Williams played a great game in the line, and Jimmy Thornton fought with his usual aggressiveness. Time and again Armstrong completely broke up interference and spilled four or five men much bigger than himself. Jewell is still the favorite for all Northwest center.

The only disagreeable feature of the game, with the exception, of course, of the actual final score, was the poor officiating. Hurdling and holding was practiced by Pullman time and again and not once were they penalized for it.

The game fight the boys put up is only convincing evidence of what can be done by Idaho spirit and by a hard working coach who has the confidence of all. Grogan has whipped into the team a fighting spirit and aggressiveness which is coupled with manliness and freedom from rough tactics, which should always be characteristic of Idaho teams. The last game of an exceedingly hard schedule is that with Oregon next Saturday, and Idaho has more than an even chance to win. If the fellows go into it with the spirit shown last week they surely will.

The lineup is as follows:

Fencing Club Formed.

A fencing club of 12 members from the battalion has been formed, and Lieutenant Smith is giving the class instructions two hours each week. Six foils and four masks have been provided by the board of regents, and several members own their own foils and masks, so that all are supplied with foils and all but two with masks. A fencing match will be held some time during the early spring between the club members, and a medal presented to the winner. The members of the club are as follows: Wadsworth, Gray, Essberg, O'Donnell, Block, Teed, Boyeson, Philips and Fix.

Orlando P. Darwin.

The Cumberland Weekly of Cumberland University, Lebanon, Tenn., has lately been added to our exchange list. We note that this paper has Orlando P. Darwin, ex-'09 of Idaho, one of our reliable debaters, for editor in chief.

The only copy received speaks well for Darwin's efforts, and we hope for his continued success. Darwin was a member of the Kappa Phi Alpha fraternity, which has since received a charter in the Phi Delta Theta.

The Oregon Emerald of Oct. 27 contained a very interesting article in regard to religion on the Oregon campus.

We do not wish to be involved in any wrangle between ministers and professors, but we do wish to express our admiration of the able manner in which the Emerald defended Professor Howe. If the investigation of truth is detrimental to certain creeds or dogmas, we think that the sooner such creeds and dogmas are abandoned the better for real religion.

Professor Cogswell recently received a letter from Grace Prugger, ex-'12, who is continuing her studies at Milwaukee Downer college.

Oil Discovered.

The questionable practices of the Standard Oil Co. have robbed a discovery of this kind of all its glory, but it is unusual that a discovery of oil in large quantities meets with the general disapproval that it did at the athletic ball in the gymnasium last Saturday night. The gymnasium floor never was the best in the world for dancing, but we can imagine no reason why it should have been ruined entirely. The floor is worn out, and in a year or two at least will have to be replaced. Then why have it oiled? We thought that it might have been done on account of those who work in the gymnasium, but find the basket-ball players loudest in their denunciation of the act. It could not have been to save the floor, for anyone can figure out, without the use of a slide rule, that the money could have been used more advantageously by depositing it somewhere as a sinking fund toward some time paying for a new floor.

It has been suggested that those who are opposed to dancing are responsible for the floor being oiled. It may cause the college dances to be held down town, thereby making the expense heavier for the students, but will not stop dancing.

We do not know whom to blame but the gymnasium floor was oil-soaked last summer, while the students were absent. We have been unable to find any logical reason why this should have been done, and until we have found such a reason, to say that we are dissatisfied is expressing it mildly.

Brighter Ahead.

The outlook is indeed encouraging for the college men who take interest in the work of the Young Men's Christian Association. By the kindness of the state, the regents, and of President MacLean, a fine large room, well seated and heated, is at their disposal. This is a greater boon than they have been able to enjoy since the burning of the old Add. bldg., and it is hoped that they will know how to appreciate it. Soon it is to be furnished with a piano and other furnishings, as the association can afford it. Last Sunday a goodly number of the men gathered in it and were addressed by Rev. Hare on "The Study of Missions." Next Sunday another treat is anticipated from I. B. Rhodes. Rhodes never says anything that isn't worth while, and every man in the university should hear what he has to say. The work he is forwarding in Moscow recommends him to every one. The campaign for a city association is to be started this week. The meetings for men of the university are held promptly at 3 p. m. every Sunday. You are welcome.

News From Washington.

(By Jack Hensley.)

Seattle, Nov. 6.—In a listless game of football Washington went a step nearer the championship of the Northwest by defeating Whitman, 17 to 0. Washington was the aggressor during most of the game, but in the last few minutes of play the missionaries took a brace and assumed the aggressive. Two touchdowns and one goal from field were made in the first half, and only a touchback in the second. Borleske starred for Whitman, and Coyle and Grimm for Washington. Neither side played very good ball, and the old style game was used during most of the game. In the last of the second half Whitman used the forward pass desperately in an attempt to score, but her ends were unable to get away with the ball.

Last night the students gave their annual shirt-tail parade through the business streets, in order to advertise the Washington-Whitman game to be played today on Denny field. Torches were carried, cowbells rung, and the varsity yells and songs given at all the principal corners in the business districts. Another will be held just before the Thanksgiving game with Oregon.

Washington's half century score against Idaho last Saturday came as a distinct shock to the students, for although most of them expected the team to win, not even the most sanguine looked for anywhere near so large a score. Comparing this with W. S. C.'s 17 to 0 score of Friday, on paper at least, Washington is somewhat the stronger of the two.

There is still a chance of a W. S. C. Washington game, although the football men are not very strongly in favor of it, on account of the congested state of the schedule. Student sentiment, on the whole, is strongly in favor of the game, provided it is not postponed too far in December.

Any chance of a game with the Iowa State college team has been effectually killed by the inability of the easterners to get to the Coast until late in December, or possibly not until New Year's. The football candidates flatly refuse to keep in training for such a length of time for only one game.

At present there is a strong agitation in favor of establishing a university common dining table, at which all students will be required to take their noon meal. A committee has been appointed by the board of control to investigate the matter, and it is probable that the department of domestic science will superintend the feeding of the hungry students, should the proposition be favorably passed upon.

Thursday four sophomores were ducked in Lake Union by their fellow classmates for not participating in the glass fight, and four freshmen who had come down to see the fun were similarly treated for not wearing the regulation freshman cap.

Prep. Party

Last Friday night the third and fourth year preps. had a skating party. They enjoyed themselves on rollers until 10:30. The floor was then cleared and dancing indulged in. All report a very good time.

The prep. girls sold home-made candy in the bleachers at the football game Friday. The proceeds will go to furnishing the girls' rest room in the Ad. building.

The charge is sometimes made against domestic science departments in the American colleges that the courses are more academic than practical, that the students learn to prepare a few dainty dishes in the class room and are helpless when called upon to prepare and serve substantial meals outside. This charge has never been made against the domestic science department of the University of Idaho, for from the time of its organization the policy of the instructors has been to require the students to gain practical experience early in the courses. During the college year the various classes are required to prepare and serve luncheons and dinners to the board of regents, faculty members, visiting committees and club women of the city. In this way the nervousness and lack of initiative, which are so often associated with domestic science graduates in the minds of the "practical" people who are inclined to sneer at the idea of cookery being taught in college, is wholly obviated.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

Garfield.

The schools of Garfield are enjoying a very prosperous year. One additional teacher has been added to the High School and the departments of manual training and domestic science were introduced for the first time. W. W. Nevins of the University of Pennsylvania has charge of the former and Miss Beryl Flood of the State College the latter. Each is doing excellent work and the departments are proving very popular. The pupils of the manual training department are building their own work benches and will ultimately fit the domestic science kitchen for use. The board is at present installing a gasoline plant of the Detroit Heat & Light Co. for heat in the kitchen and as a means of lighting the high school building. The enrollment of the High School has reached 96 to date. This is 23 per cent of the entire enrollment.

The High School faculty at present consists of: J. S. Goldthwaite, superintendent of schools, algebra; F. W. Cobb, principal High School, science; Elizabeth Roudebush, English; Floy L. Luzader, Latin and history; F. M. Fletcher, German and mathematics; Beryl E. Flood, domestic science; W. W. Nevins, manual training.

J. S. GOLDTHWAITE.

Wallace.

The Wallace High school has had a great increase in its student body this year. Sixty nine have been enrolled. Average daily attendance 65. An extra teacher was added this term. The senior class numbers 6 this year, all boys but one. They are L. C. Beamer, Frank Hart, Lawrence Mason, Bert Woolridge, George Thortenson, all football players, and Miss Jessie McKibben.

The Friday afternoon rhetorical are good this year. Elbridge Smith, Harold Scheave, Ernest Murphy, Annie Wilmot and Constance Gyde, give promise of debating to some purpose in the not far distant future.

The Wallace High school exhibit was accorded a gold medal at the A. Y. P. This puts us with Boise, Lewiston and Pocatello, who also received gold medals. We feel in good company.

The Shoshone Interscholastic Association was organized last month to regulate all interscholastic contests in Shoshone county.

Genesee.

A number of the High school boys joined the Idaho rooters at the Idaho-W. S. C. football game.

Friday Mr. Hunting enjoyed a little tussle with the boys, who wanted to take him with them to Moscow.

The outlook for basket ball at Genesee is bright. The girls' squad is developing steadily under the direction of Prof. Brooks and a strong group of boys are working every night under the direction of Mr. Hunting. Competition for every place on both teams is keen and close.

A new High school teacher is expected soon.

The organ was again placed in the assembly room and we enjoyed a good old song.

Oregon vs. Multnomah Club. (By W. S. Main.)

University of Oregon, Nov. 6.—The varsity defeated the crack Multnomah team on Kincaid field this afternoon by a score of 3 to 0. It was a hard fought game throughout, but the collegians early displayed their superiority, and with better luck should have beaten the club men by at least two touchdowns. The only scoring was done in the first half, when Capt. Clark kicked a field goal from the 20 yard line. Soon after this the collegians, by a series of kicks and line plunges, rushed the ball down to the club team's one yard line, but failed to put it over, owing to a mistake in signals.

Oregon began a kicking game on the start and Clark of Oregon easily excelled in this department of the game, his punts being high and averaging 40 yards. Gordon Moores, a former Oregon man, and All-Northwest end for several seasons, did the kicking for the visitors, but his punting did not compare with Clark's. In all the Oregon team had three chances for field goals, while Multnomah essayed one drop-kick on recovering one of their own punts on the 20 yard line. LaTourette, Moores and Templeton, all former Oregon players, were easily the stars for the visitors, while Sap LaTourette, Pinkham, Clark and Kiltz showed up well on the varsity.

Coach Forbes was well pleased with the outcome of the game. He said afterwards: "Oregon played a punting game, for we could gain on an exchange. We won, and the score of three is as good as though we had 20. I am pleased over the result—pleased at the way Oregon fights."

Death of Mrs. Robert Jennings (Violet Gray).

This community has been saddened this week by the death of Mrs. Robert Jennings of Salt Lake City, formerly Miss Violet Gray of Blackfoot. She was married less than a year ago, and on the 24th of September a baby came to their home. The mother took typhoid fever and pneumonia, and died at the Holy Cross hospital last Sunday. The funeral was conducted Wednesday afternoon from the Episcopal church of this city. Rev. Williams officiating.

Deceased was one of the girls who grew up here, and belonged to the first class that graduated from the Blackfoot High school. Six of her schoolmates acted as pallbearers at the funeral, Frank Berryman, Jouquin Wright, Herbert and Albert Whitten, Wendell Gagon and Jack Stone performing this last sad rite.

Mrs. Jennings was the youngest of nine children, all of whom survive her.

Violet Gray was a freshman here with the class of 1911.

Birney Yancey, ex-11, came down from Spokane Friday to attend the Idaho W. S. C. Football game.

Laura Rhodes of Lewiston was a week end visitor in Moscow.

Miss Helen Riheldarffer of Pullman was the guest of Mrs. John McLane on Friday.

Professor Attacks Carnegie Foundation.

Dr. J. G. Schurman, president of Cornell University, recently attacked the Carnegie foundation for the advancement of learning. Dr. Schurman is a trustee of the foundation, and while he regards it as a great power in education, he looks "with concern and anxiety on the influence of such corporations on the free and independent life of our institutions of learning and research." He gave expression to these views at the recent annual convention of state universities in Boston. The danger, as he sees it, is that the benefactions are made conditionally, the benefactors reserving certain rights to superintend the course of study. While the ambition of such corporations is to reform educational abuses, that in itself is a danger, as Dr. Schurman sees it, "for he believes that no self-perpetuating body should have the power to galvanize the life of the institution it undertakes to foster." He thinks the benefactions should be given outright, and that it should be left to the trustees of an institution to determine how they shall be expended and what shall be taught and how it shall be taught.—U. of W. Daily.

A Case of "Have to."

"Last evening a member of the faculty, who is in a habit of arranging assembly programs, came to me and said, 'Say, I've hunted all over this whole town for some one to give the address tomorrow, and I simply can't find any one. Won't you do it? If you won't, I'll have to myself.' And so I'm here." These were the opening remarks of Rev. Hare at assembly last Wednesday morning. The question is whether the speaker was induced to come because the faculty man was unable to procure any one else, or because he would otherwise be compelled to do it himself.

Rev. Hare addressed a representative number of students, giving an account of the life and career of John Knox. Knox was the Martin Luther of Scotland, the man who stood through the greatest religious and political movement in history, for that form of religion in Scotland which now dominates in the greatest of the nations. Like those other first Protestants, he was persecuted mercilessly, and like them, he won in the end.

Some great discoveries have lately been made, and some others might well be made. For instance, the south pole; and by a method by which Idaho can win a football game this year, etc., etc.

But to some people in Scotland one of the greatest discoveries that could be made would be the spot where John Knox's bones lie.

Norman Adkinson '07, was a Moscow visitor during the week.

Georgia Carter, ex-'12, came up from Lewiston Friday to attend the football game and athletic ball.
