WATER CURE FOR THE SOPHOMORES

FRESHMEN BEAT SOPHS AT THEIR OWN GAME--TREACHERY REWARDED.

March 17, 1911 will go down in history, not merely because it chanced to be the anniversary of the death of the good St. Patrick of the Emerald Isle, but because it has become immortalized by the great victory of the most puissant Freshmen over the mighty Sophomores. The conventional donning of the green sunk into insignificance beside the wearing of the orange on that day. The annual combat between the Sophomores and the Freshmen, as it was planned by the two classes this year, was to take the pretty and novel form of a color rush. But certainly "the best laid schemes o' mice an' men aft gang a glee." Only a few hours before the time appointed for the battle royal, how little the unsuspecting Freshmen knew the dark treachery which the night would reveal, and how little the designing Sophomores realized what leading roles they would play in the next day's comedy!

In the wee sma' hours of the morning of the 17th the Sophomores became solicitous about the welfare of the Freshmen. No doubt they reasoned in the kindness of their hearts that the Freshmen would be in a much better condition to enter into the day's combat if they could enjoy a long ride into the country, and have an opportunity to breathe in strength with the pure, fresh air, and be inspired by a view of the beautiful rustic scenery.

Accordingly, in a self-sacrificing spirit, with no thought of the sleep they must lose, the Sophomores promptly secured a conveyance, and hastened to gather up the Freshmen. But alas, the wagon could accommodate only about a dozen; so the Sophomores decided to carry out very quietly their act of philanthropy and be well on their way before other Freshmen could come clamoring around their heels, insisting that they should share the ride. Of course it is certain that the only reason they didn't generously take all the class was because there wasn't room. What other motive could there have been? In their haste, too, the Sophomores did not allow the Freshmen to don all of their clothing. This of course was a mere oversight on their part, so anxious were they to go on in their great magnanimous project they were conducting entirely for the Freshmen. It is not to be thought for a single moment that they would have subjected the Freshmen to the rigor of the cold morning at such an early hour had not this minor matter been overlooked in the general bustle of departure. However, it seems quite probable that one Sophomore, at least, regretted this hasty action when at a later hour, a certain blanketed Freshman insisted on borrowing the said Sophomore's pants, and allowing him to have the full benefit of the cool, invigorating air.

Twenty-five Sophomores had assisted in making these preparations for this little pleasure jaunt in honor of the Freshmen. It is to be supposed that so many participated only out of a very general desire to render some little service to the Freshmen, and to help speed them on their way. There could have been no other reason, as there is every ground for knowing that the Sophomores object very strenuously to one faction outnumbering the other. As it would really have been too bad for all this number to lose so much precious sleep, it was decided that the Freshmen should have the company of only five or six Sophomores, and these perforce must walk, because of the limited amount of room which they very generously wished to give to the Freshmen. Now the Sophomores fully realized that the Freshmen would never consent to selfishly "enjoy" the ride while the Sophomores walked, and so in their zeal to avoid the embarrassment of a case of "You first, my dear Alphonso," they forgot all those serious objections they had raised to a tie-up, and bound the Freshmen hand and foot, not only with ropes, but with chains. Had not so much politeness and generosity been involved, the Sophomore's memory surely would never have proved so short.

However, in a moment of weakness the Sophomores gave the Freshmen a blanket to protect them to some extent from the cold. Just when the Sophomores, not content with merely bestowing a ride gratis, were thoughtfully planning how a certain eleven Freshmen should spend a quiet morning in the country, and not run the risk of any injuries in the day's combat, things began to happen. The Freshmen, as usual, did not remain inactive. Working quietly under the blanket, they freed themselves and jumped from the wagon. In a moment captives and captors mingled, and there in the early quiet of the morning was fought a battle that needed only a moving picture machine to make it immortal. There could have been but one end. In a short time the Sophomores had ample leisure to repent of their evil ways, lying chained and roped on the floor of a nearby barn.

In the meantime the alarm had spread among the Freshmen left in town. Each Junior became another Paul Revere, and the minute men of olden times could not have responded better than did the valiant Freshmen. In a half hour they came flocking from every corner, eager to show their skill in the game the Sophomores had started, even if the deck were "stacked." They easily captured a half dozen terror stricken, unresisting Sophomores, and started with them into the country. But on the way they chanced to pass Paradise creek. Immediately the question of how best to dispose of their prisoners was solved. A few minutes later the creek again flowed on—calm, peaceful and undisturbed, and several dripping, shivering Sophomores crept quietly home.

The remainder of the day was but a sequel to the first part. Paradise creek became a popular resort of the Sophomores. The bathing season began unusually early this year. Before 10:00 a. m. the campus was crowded with people who had come to view the fight. All morning long the Freshmen gave cold-shower baths free of charge to the Sophomores, and then kindly took their pictures, that the prominent part which they played in the day's events might not be forgotten. It was queer how strangely shy the Sophomores suddenly became! It was even necessary to tie them up and offer all kinds of inducements for them to look as pleasant and natural as possible. But it was almost worth while to be a Sophomore to hear the crowd exclaim "Poor things!" "Those horrid Freshmen!" One fair co-ed even pitied them because they looked like muddy, wriggling angle worms.

And in this manner the day ended, as no flag contest was now possible, and the great "annual scrap" was over, with victory written to credit of the Freshmen. The Sophomores had been beaten at their own game.

Encampment.

Encampment week this year will start Monday, April 10. The Battalion will leave Moscow about noon of that day.

The place has not been definitely decided yet but the selection will be made between Coeur d'Alene and Lewiston. The commercial clubs of both towns have taken the matter in hand. The Lewiston club offers the use of the Normal grounds and gymnasium and offers to transport the baggage to and from the train but say nothing about cash for provisions. The Coeur d'Alene club has not sent in its report at this writing.

The cadets have expressed their preference by voting and Coeur d'Alene is ahead by a large majority. If practical, the Commandant will make his selection according to the preference of the cadets.

Mrs. H. A. Peavey of Twin Falls, formerly Miss Emma Strong and a graduate of the class of '04, is visiting at the home of her parents in this city. Mrs. Peavey was one of the early members of the Beta Sigma sorority.

T. R. AT THE UNIVERSITY

Elaborate Preparations for the Reception of the Distinguished Visitor.

According to the schedule, Ex-president Roosevelt will arrive in Moscow Sunday, April 9th. Special arrangements have been made with the Inland Electric company for its finest special car in which the Roosevelt party will come from Spokane. The committee on general arrangements, of which Mayor Byrnes is chairman, has secured the services of a special train to carry them back to Spokane in time to leave for Missoula Montana, at two o'clock Monday afternoon.

Mr. Roosevelt will speak at nine o'clock Monday morning. Because of the limited time allowed for his visit here, he can give only one address. Since the University will furnish a good share of the audience and can supply the best place in town at which a large crowd can assemble, the committee has chosen the tennis court and the adjacent slope as the place for an out-door address if the weather permits. The members of the committees, interested in acquainting Mr. Roosevelt with the agricultural excellence of our section plan to have a pile of Palouse wheat for the platform. If this arrangement is not possible, the new gymnasium will be used.

Members of the University faculty and of the Moscow Commercial Club have practically concluded all the arrangements for entertaining our famous visitor. If the plan proves feasible, a troop of horsemen, in honor of his fame as a Rough Rider, will welcome Colonel Roosevelt at the station and escort him to the Moscow Hotel. Mr. Roosevelt has requested that no plans be made for a public reception or address Sunday evening, as he will not arrive until 7:30 p. m.

Monday morning a battalion breakfast will be served. The cadets who had planned to start Sunday for their annual encampment will be held over until Monday. It is not certain that Mrs. Roosevelt and daughter Ethel will come to Moscow, but plans are being made for their entertainment at a Domestic Economy luncheon if they should come.

If possible the party will be given a drive over the surrounding farm lands, but since they must leave at about ten-thirty, this will probably have to be omitted.

The members of the publicity committee have succeeded in interesting a great number from outside the town and the students from Washington State College have been invited. Since Col. Roosevelt may spend even less time in Spokane, in spite of their elaborate preparations for his reception and entertainment, many living nearer Spokane than Moscow plan to come here, believing the opportunity of seeing and hearing Mr. Roosevelt better. One enthusiastic member estimates the audience at thirty thousand, but perhaps half that number would be more accurate.

A bond of common interest and good feeling has been very evident in the perfecting of the plans for this visit.

Mr. Roosevelt's address will be helpful and educational to all. His coming will advertise the town, since he will visit only one other Idaho city. The University has never had the honor of being addressed by such a distinguished statesman and student pride and interest will be increased since Mr. Roosevelt has seen fit to visit it.

Among the students who have distinguished themselves in college activities are Charles Horning, Tom Driscoll and Chetser Minden, Freshmen, who have made the Varsity debate teams.

Horning debated for Grangeville in his high school days and shows careful coaching. He has done especially good work at Idaho in this field, having not only debated against Pacific on the question of English old age penisons, but having also become leader of the Idaho team and winner of the Dewey prize. The class is justly proud of him.

Charles E. Horning

Driscoll has good delivery and shows consistent reasoning in his arguments. He debated for Weiser high school in the Southern Idaho Scholastic League. He is a law student and will "sure make good" if present appearances count.

Minden shows especially good head work and his delivery is first class. He represented the Preparatory department in debate last year.

The question to be argued in the Whitman debate is "Resolved,

I.

O'er the far blue hills of Idaho
When the sun is set 'mid the twilight's glow,
We'll ride together, away—away,
When the moon shines bright at the close of day,
Where coyotes howl and the night winds blow,
O'er the far blue hills of Idaho.

II.

O'er the far blue hills of Idaho
When the cowboys rest and the campfire's low,
We'll linger beneath the star-lit sky
And sing old songs of days gone by;
We'll drink to the health of "Bill" and "Joe,"
Bronzed men of the hills of Idaho.

III.

O'er the far blue hill of Idaho,
Where the softly sighing pine trees grow,
We'll silently sit while the gloaming rings
With the lonely song the cowboy sings,
As he thinks of the girl he once loved so,
Who's far from the hills of Idaho.

IV.

O'er the far blue hills of Idaho
Echoes wildly our gay "Hallo!"
When we've roped the ponies with steady hand,
And marked them with the bosses' brand.
O, this is the life you all should know,
The life 'mid the hills of Idaho.

O'er the far blue hills of Idaho,
When the sun is set 'mid the twilight's glow,
We'll ride together away—away,

That, although it is a better remedial measure than compulsory insurance, it is undesirable to compel employers in railroading to pay compensation to their employees for industrial accidents." Idaho's team—on which Horning and Driscoll act—will support the negative against Whitman at Walla Walla next month. The team of which Minden is a member will argue affirmatively against Whitman at Moscow.

Freshman Girls Honor Heroes.

The crowning success of last Friday's events for the Freshmen was the party given by the Freshman girls at the Dormitory in honor of the heroes of the day. Perhaps it may have been noticed by the other classmen that the Freshmen are no slow bunch this year. Several such informal evenings have been given by the girls to aid the boys in their class activities and to enable the new students to become more acquainted with each other, and we believe the results are perfectly satisfactory.

The dance began about eight-thirty. Owing to the previous night's and day's labor, not all the boys were present, but the dining hall was none too large for the crowd to have a good dance. Music was furnished by Miss Edna Campbell, who, notwithstanding the fact that she was alone in the enemy's camp, gave us her usual excellent music. Very attractive refreshments, consisting of sandwiches, pickles, coffee, pine apple sherbet and cake, was served at ten-thirty.

Contrary to the expectations of some we received no visits from those persecuted for "the wearing of the green." Our only regret is that they could not have shared in the fun.

Miss French acted as chaperon and all did not leave until nearly midnight, thanking her for her ever helpful cooperations in making our parties successful.

Miss Ella Woods spent Sunday in Lewiston visiting Bessie Perkins. Miss Perkins did not return to the University this semester, since she has enough credits to register Senior next year.

Wednesday, March 18th at Merrill Hall, Dr. Axtell lectured on Grecian cities from Corinth to Northern Thessaly. The lecture was illustrated by lantern slides and proved very interesting.

The luncheon given last Wednesday by Miss Bernice Maynard, assisted by the Junior cookery class in honor of the Domestic Economy faculty of Washington State College proved a success in every way. St. Patrick decorations were carried thru all the courses. Shamrock place cards and sherbet decorations were especially attractive features.

Mary baked a little cake

And used it for a mallet.—Ex.

QUERY DEPARTMENT

The editors of this issue have received many letters of inquiry, chiefly from the Sophomores who seem especially anxious to have us settle their difficulties. We have answered many of these letters personally, others we will attempt to answer here.

Teed—We can not prescribe for your case. It seems hopeless.

Geneal Hague—If Charles Annett annoys you with his attentions, quietly and in a lady-like manner, request him to discontinue them. I am sure he will be open to reason.

Little Perkins—No, it is not proper to devote yourself so exclusively to the girls. If possible, cultivate a cold, distant attitude toward them.

Osborne—I do not think you need be afraid. Everything indicates that she would give the desired answer.

Iva Emmett—Hydrogen peroxide will not injure your hair. Follow treatments as you have been doing and it will remain the same shade.

Bon Watts—Consult Miss Von Osten regarding your aspirations toward grand opera.

Foster—Yes, you should always assist a lady to descend from a carriage.

Gladys Ainey—No, it is not always necessary to wear a hat when driving.

Kathryn Smith—We find it impossible to advise you in regard to a church wedding. Many facts need to be considered, such as expense, number of invitations to be issued, and so forth.

Hillman—If you will forward stamped, self-addressed envelope, we will be glad to send address of good beauty specialist.

Shorty Ruth—We know of no device by which you can increase your height.

Parker—The proper use of "dear" and "dearest" depends entirely on the intimacy of your acquaintanceship. Please forward further particulars.

Luella Harvey—We advise you to write your mother concerning the affair. You are entirely too young to think of such things.

Winifred Brown—Since the weakness you describe is a very serious matter, it would be best to begin daily physical exercises at once.

Miss Arline Kees, of the Alpha Theta Sigma sorority at Pullman, spent the week end at the Beta Sigma house visiting Alice Cooper.

A few Dormitory girls entertained at a jolly feed Thursday evening in the Dormitory library. Those present were Misses Rosa Strohbehn, Nettie Bauer, Margaret Brandt and Edna Larsen and Messrs Frank Osborne, Verne Glaze and Paul Durrie.

Beta Sigmas Entertain

Saturday afternoon the Beta Sigma's entertained the Omega Pi sorority at a Kensington. College songs and the taking of souvenir snapshots formed pleasant diversions. Light refreshments were served. Later in the afternoon a surprise shower was given to Elsie Larsen. Miss Larsen graduated from the University last year. She will be married March 27th to Mr. Lee Savidge, Kappa Sigma, of class of '09. Saturday evening the Beta Sigma's entertained the Kappa Sigma fraternity. The evening was spent playing old "kid" games which all apparently had not forgotten.

Miss Margaret Keane, formerly a student of the '13 class and now attending the Lewiston Normal, spent the week end at her home in this city.

Miss French addressed the Y. W. C. A. girls last Wednesday afternoon. The subject of her address was "The Rising Generation," taken from the Atlantic Monthly, and was thoroughly enjoyed by those present.

FRESHMEN ATHLETES WIN

Stars From Class in Football, Basketball and Track.

The work of the Freshman class in athletics this year has not been anything supernatural, but the class has contributed its share toward Idaho's athletic victories in the last seven months. The class has also held its portion of honors in interclass athletics.

In football last fall the Freshman boys turned out loyally. Vesser and Fayer won their "I's" in the game last season. Kinnison, Knutson, Samms and Dipple were worthy members of the squad and other Freshmen who attended practice more or less regularly, aided materially in Pink's scheme of practice.

In the interclass football the Freshmen gave the Sophs an awful hard rub in the 0-0 game. The team was managed by Tom Driscoll and captained by Robert Burns, each of whom distinguished himself in the game. Hughart, Griner and others also played a star game for the Freshmen. The whole Freshman team played ball that was worthy of mention and came near carrying the ball over the Sophomore goal for the five points necessary to win.

Idaho's success in the basketball season just closed was largely due to the playing of Rex Curtis, a Freshman. Curtis captained the team, played guard through the most of the season and made more points for Idaho than any other man on the team. He was the only player on the team who played through the entire game of every match of the season. Willie King, another Freshman, played sub on the Varsity team and got into some of the intercollegiate games.

The Freshman class finished the interclass basketball series with an average of 49. The class won from both the Juniors and the Laws. King was captain of the team. Curtis and Kinnison also played good ball for the class, as did Samms, Scott and Fields. The Freshman team went through the season with the fewest fouls against them of any team in the league. The clean games played by the Freshmen were some of the drawing cards of the series.

Of the indoor track meets held this winter, the Freshmen have carried off two—one with twenty-one points and the other with eleven. The Freshman team was captained by Geo. A. Scott. He got together a well balanced team. Fields, Mason, and Brown made a good combination in the distances; Woolridge and Thompson made good in the sprints; Garby was easily master of the rope-climbing contests and Scott was a reliable winner in the jumps. Coach Vander Veer is expecting much of the Freshmen in track this year.

The Freshmen are turning out for baseball and will help Pink all they can in making a team. Curtis will be a valuable man from the class. Borden, Fay Robinson, Dipple, King, Knutson, Hughart and others are working out every day and will give their support to the squad even though they will not make the team.

The Freshman athletes have done considerable, but there are probably others who have not yet been heard from, but who will do something for the University in the next three years. From all appearances the class of '14 will never be lacking in this most popular line of college activity.

GIRLS' TRACK MEET

Miss Weid's gym classes are planning to entertain the ladies of the University and of Moscow with a girls' indoor track meet. The event is scheduled to take place Friday, April 7. This will be just before the spring vacation.

The program is:—25-yard dash, running high jump, obstacle race, long ball game—Freshies vs. Preps, wind and ring drill—Freshies and Preps.

This is the first event of the kind to be pulled off at the University. All ladies are invited to attend. A prize will be given for the best woman athlete in the meet. There are some clever athletes among the girls and it is hinted around that there will be some close competition.

There will be no more men's classes in the gym this year. Mr. Van der Veer has discontinued the regular work on account of the outdoor practice now being done. The track men still continue their indoor work, and most of the students who have been attending gym classes will continue the work on the floor without the instructor.

The tennis enthusiasts are becoming interested now that the weather calls them to the outside. A meeting will be called the latter part of the week and plans for the spring will be discussed.

When Frey begins pitching quots we know spring is here.

IMPROVE IDAHO FIELD

Work has been going on at Idaho field for the past two weeks and the field is in excellent shape. The ball ground has been scraped off and smoothed down, and the baseball boys are now practicing on it every evening.

The track is being worked up into fine shape. It is being dragged and more cinders added. Needed improvement in the field's stands and fences are being made and everything will be in readiness for the opening of the season.

FRESHMEN OUT FOR TRACK

Coach Vander Veer Says Boys of 1914 Class Will Make Good.

The Freshman class is supplying almost a majority of the men for the track practice, which is now well under way.

For distance men the class has Fields, Mason and Downing. Coach Van der Veer is quite enthusiastic about this trio, and believes that with proper training they will bring home points for Idaho.

Kinnison is working out on the shot put, hammer, discus and javelin. He is getting on to the forum and it is safe to say he will make the team this year. Woolridge and Scott are two of the best men in the squad. "Woolley" is developing a great stride for the sprints. "Vandy" expects to use him in the 100, 220 and possibly in the quarter mile.

Scott, according to the Coach, is one of the most promising and valuable athletes Idaho has had for a long time. He holds the University indoor high jump record of 5 feet 5 in. In making this jump he did not jump his highest.

He will go into the pole vault and both the broad and high jump, and may be used in the hurdles if a man is needed in that branch. Driscoll is also working out with the bunch and will probably make a place in the pole vault.

FRESHMEN STRONG MEN

Physical Director Vander Veer reports a number of excellent tests made by Freshmen on his testing machine. Banks Kinnison is easily the strong man of the class. It requires no great imagination to conceive him becoming the strong man of the University, and at no great future time either. Kinnison's test was 6980 pounds. This is within 250 pounds of the University record.

Other men in the class who have made high tests are Samms, Courdin, Favre and Gribble. Samms ran the machine up to 6170 pounds and made record tests on some muscles. Gribble tested 4100, Favre 3025, and Courdin 3010. These tests would be records in some places as they are all nearly 2,000 pounds above the average.

Carl Garby is credited with an extraordinary test. In the arm tests alone he measured 2300 pounds. This is 1000 pounds over the average test for the arm muscles.

SEASON BASEBALL TICKETS

Graduate Manager Larson has announced the sale of season tickets to baseball games. Season tickets this year are two dollars and fifty cents. These will include admission to nine games. The regular price of admission this year is fifty cents. The season ticket scheme will be a great saving to the lovers of the game.

The first game of the season will probably be played at Lewiston, April 8th. Manager Larson is making an effort to bring the Spokane Indians here for a game on the date of Roosevelt's visit. The large crowd that will be in Moscow on that date should make the game a success from every point of view.

The squad is working out every night and shows great promise. Bender Williams is back at work after a seige of small pox. The infield and outfield appear to be well filled and the greatest need now seems to be in developing a staff of pitchers.

Prof. E. M. Hulme left last week for the southern part of the state, where he will inspect high school work. He will not return until the spring vacation.

The address at Assembly last Wednesday was delivered by Dr. D. S. Hibbard, president of Siliman's Institute at Dumaguete, Philippine Islands. He gave a very interesting account of student life in the Institute, the needs for education there, and the opportunities for service. Dr. Hibbard is a brother-in-law of Prof. Morley and has been visiting him on the return from a year's furlough in the United States.

Paul Durrie of the Senior class has been appointed assistant principal in the Moscow high school for the next year.

The Philharmonic Club met Wednesday, March 15, at the home of Mrs. F. E. David. Piano solos by Miss Clara Hockett and Miss Edna Campbell and a piano duet by Misses Lorena Dartt and Mary Petoina were all highly appreciated. Miss Van Osten and Miss Mabel Rudisell favored the company with very enjoyable vocal solos. Delicious refreshments were served by Mrs. David and her daughter, Mrs. Homer David, after which Miss Hostetter, by request, played in her usual entertaining manner.

This, the first Argonaut put out by a freshman class of the University of Idaho, is edited by a staff selected from the class of 1914. The aim has not been to make the paper a "josh" aimed at the Sophomores, but to make it representative of the Freshman spirit in social, athletic and literary lines, and at the same time to cover the field of the regular issue. The staff wishes to express here their thanks to the members of the class who have contributed either by work or interest and to the faculty who have aided in the production of this issue. The class showed a rare spirit—one to be greatly commended—when it voted an assessment to help finance the paper.

We wish to commend the editorial by J. D. Davis, '13 in the Sophomore edition of the Argonaut. This article reflects a spirit that if adopted by all Idaho students will eventually prevent the exhibition of petty politics harmful to the students and to the University as a whole, echoes of which we could not help but hear this year. We believe that in a great measure it lies with the underclassmen at Idaho to develop clean, healthy politics. They are the men who in the future will dominate elections and exhibit political honesty or political fraud as the case may be, at Idaho. If they cultivate the tolerance and broadminded honesty necessary in clean politics their spirit will be left behind them and influence succeeding classes.

One of the chief evils at the University of Idaho was the mean devices used in influencing preparatory students. This condition has been abolished since the ejection of the preparatory students from the Associated Students of the University of Idaho.

With this start in the right direction may the class of '14 this year refuse to forget itself in the excitement of the coming election, refuse to tolerate any questionable "log rolling," refuse to dictate or be dictated to. We should "use our heads" and "vote for the man" regardless of "deals" or combinations.

We do not wish to give the idea that we think all combination bad. The combination which keeps incompetent men out of office and puts good ones in is for the benefit of all; but care should be taken that it does not crush competition. Healthy competition is good; "wire pulling" and trickery are bad.

Governor Hawley's veto and reduction of many items of the Appropriation Bill passed by the last legislature is a matter in which every student at Idaho should be interested as it will affect our University very vitally. The appropriation of $28,934 for building and improvements and that of $9,500 for barns and stables was vetoed. The fund for University maintenance was reduced $19,800, and the University extension work appropriation was reduced $26,000. This makes a total cut of $84,234. This means that there will be no buildings at our University for the next two years with the exception of the north wing of the Administration Building, which has been provided for by a bond issue. This means also that there will be no addition to the permanent equipment either for the Library or in the way of scientific apparatus for a period of two years. For the University of Idaho this out is particularly severe. In 1909 the University received $89,500 for maintenance and equipment; in 1911 it receives only $80,000. Barns and stables were voted by the legislature of 1909 and the act was declared invalid by the Supreme Court. They are now again voted in 1911 and the item is vetoed by the governor. When the item of $28,934 was vetoed, it prevented any possibility of receiving state aid for a Mens' Commons, Domestic Science building or a girls' dormitory. The effect of this on the mill rate legislation is disastrous. The legislature voted the University a mill rate of three quarters of a mill annually for all University purposes and Governor Hawley signed the bill. By vetoing items in the Appropriation Bill and reducing others, he has subtracted $84,234 from the proceeds of the proposed mill rate law and it is perhaps doubtful whether the mill rate law which was championed by Governor Hawley and passed unanimously by both houses of the legislature will ever be very effective. The University of Idaho is not the only state institution which has suffered. The total cut of the appropriation for the Academy of Idaho was $59,143; for the Lewiston Normal $93,886; and for the Albion Normal $44,956. The only items that do not seem to have been touched by the demand for economy are the items of three quarters of a million for the state capital and one-quarter of a million for county roads and bridges.

The short Course Aggies.

The St. Patrick's Day celebration closed the first term of the short course in Agriculture. The course started last October as an experiment and under the very efficient management of Principal E. J. Iddings has proven thoroughly successful. Great things may be expected in the future.

The requirements for admission to the course is an eighth grade education and hence it admits a class of students that, not having the time nor inclination to spend four years in high school, might otherwise remain unprogressive on the farm. The course extends over that part of the year when farm work is least rushed; this fact with the thoroughly practical (for practical and not theoretical study is one of the basic principles of the course) nature of the studies offered have induced many farmer's sons to take steps by education towards a better and more comfortable living when they undertake the management of farms of their own.

The spirit and organized enthusiasm of the boys—the Aggies—have been examples to the whole University of what class spirit should be. They have not only organized a club for work on practical investigation and the study of parliamentary procedure, but have also developed some of the best indoor athletic teams of the season. The "big huskies" have the championship for the tug-of-war; they had a first-class basketball team, and some good runners. At those track meets in which their organization was represented, every member turned out and helped his fellow men to win by his untiring rooting and "spectator enthusiasm." A member of this class, Thometz of Twin Falls, holds the record on "Vandy's" testing machine—having beaten Montgomery 110 pounds.

The students are thoroughly loyal to the institution as a whole; almost to a man they plan to return next year and they promised each other to bring ten men apiece back with them. Before they left they presented each instructor under whom they worked, with a picture of the group.

Idaho has only good words for the boys and hopes for the return of everyone of them next year.

Senior Dance.

Don't forget the big dance to be given Friday evening at Eggan's hall under the auspices of the Senior class. All students, faculty and friends are cordially invited to attend. Dress suits and coats not allowed. Music starts at 8:30. Admission $1.00.

Miss Evelyn Merwin, last year a Freshman at the University, entertained about twenty young people at her home on A street Saturday evening. The house was decorated with shamrocks, and all the evening's entertainment was carried out with St. Patrick's Day ideas. A very pleasant time is reported by all.

Wanted—500 girls to buy shoes at the Hub. Come early and avoid the rush.

Society Items.

The North Central Idaho Club met at the Gamma Phi Beta house last evening. The meeting was adjourned for lack of a quorum.

The men's cooking class received at the dormitory last Sunday afternoon. The boys found it necessary to serve coffee instead of tea, as their course of instruction had not yet included the latter. With the help of some of the ladies, the boys were able to get thru the afternoon, but it is understood that they are not ready to again attempt such a feat.

The Northern Idaho Club met at the home of Beta Sigma, March the 14th. As there were no open dates to be procured, the plan of entertaining the other students of the University had to be given up for the present. Arrangements were made for a straw ride to Joel and a dance for the members of the club in the near future. It is the belief of members of the organization that better work for the University will be accomplished if the members become better acquainted. Light refreshments were served.

All kinds of fine dress skirts can be had for much less than regular price at the Hub.
