NUMBER 2

H. S. TO CONDUCT LECTURE COURSE

Numbers Will Include Packard, Sen. Gore, A. E. Winship, and Bell Ringers.

The high school will again manage the lecture course. It is the belief of the committee that the course this year will be the strongest ever presented in the city. The numbers will consist of Alton Packard, cartoonist, Senator Gore, the blind senator from Oklahoma, A. E. Winship of Boston, the man who has done more in framing the American school system than any person aside from Horace Mann, The Imperial Bell Ringers, a company of ten men which is said to be England's greatest company of bell ringers and musicians, and Skovgard and his company of musicians. Skovgard is one of the really great violinists of our time and every music lover is assured of such a treat as seldom comes to a city the size of Moscow. —Star-Mirror.

~~Work Again Begins on the Ad. Building.~~

Under the title "The Idaho Agricultural News Letter," the College of Agriculture sends out a semi-monthly bulletin to the newspapers of the state and farm journals throughout the country. Its purpose is to furnish general information on agricultural and live stock matters, and to keep the public posted as to the results of the latest investigations in the many fields of work carried on by the college. This service was begun only last May, but its value was soon apparent and at present there are about 300 papers on its mailing list. Prof. O. M. Osborne is the editor of the news-letter; all the members of the experiment station staff are regular contributors. Its wide circulation and recognized worth are evidenced by the fact that an interesting editorial based on an article by Prof. Nicholson recently appeared in the Louisville Courier-Journal.

Orchestra Meets.

The University orchestra held its first meeting of the year last night. About fourteen pieces were present. The old members of the orchestra turned out very well, and were reinforced by the addition of a cellist, cornetist and two violins. These additions are timely and will round out the instrumentation much better than was possible last year. A credit per semester is now being given for orchestra work.

Ira Tweedy, '11, is principal of the Emmett high school this year.

Ladies' Historical Club Dance.

The dance given by the Ladies Historical Club, Friday evening, was very well attended. About a hundred couples were present and enjoyed themselves thoroughly at the first dance of the year. Many new faces, principally those of freshmen, were in evidence and promise well for the future of the class in social lines. Light refreshments were served. The music for the evening was furnished by Carey's orchestra.

JOINT RECEPTION

The Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. Will Entertain.

Next Friday evening, the annual joint reception of the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A. will occur in the Y. M. C. A. hall. All students of the University are urged to come. Last year the reception was one of the best assemblages of the year; this year it will undoubtedly retain its old time high ranking.

Wanek-Stein Wedding.

Boise Statesman—The wedding of Miss Alida Wanek, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Wanek, and Howard Edward Stein, was one of the affairs of last week which attracted a number of guests to the Wanek home on the mesa on Sunday. The marriage was at high noon and the officiating clergyman was Rev. David H. Jones, rector of Christ church. The bride, who was unattended, was given in marriage by her father. She was a picture of loveliness in her white messaline robe, elaborated with Chantilly lace. She carried white roses, her only ornament being a handsome brooch, the gift of the bridegroom. The house was decorated in pink and white, a canopy of green, outlined with pink and white roses was formed in the bow window for the wedding party. A wedding breakfast was served after the ceremony. The breakfast table was covered with doilies of cluny lace and centered with a large bowl of pink and white roses. Mr. and Mrs. Stein left on the afternoon train for a California trip, after which they will be at home at 1109 Jefferson street, a handsome home presented to the bridal pair by the father of the groom, Edward Stein. The groom's mother furnished the home with oriental rugs and the bride's father presented her with a parlor grand piano.

A letter from Frank P. Stuart announces that he is still in the office of the Salt Lake Tribune, but will probably cut Utah for Idaho in the spring. He says, "Salt Lake is a good city, but Utah is not in the same class with Idaho."

Holman Back From Philippines.

Guy Holman, who graduated from the University with the class of '08, spent a part of the summer in Moscow. Mr. Holman returned to Moscow on July 23 after spending three years in the Philippine islands as a government teacher. He came back to the states via the Suez canal and Europe, completing his trip around the globe.

Mr. Holman is now in Portland studying banking methods and brokerage.

THE FOOTBALL FIELD

Practice Not As Good As First Indicated.

"Pink" Griffith is having trouble getting enough men out to play football. Several nights he has not had enough men for two full teams. There are not enough of the new men going out. Manager Johnson will be glad to give any new applicant a suit who will come to the gymnasium any evening at four o'clock.

Coach Griffith for the past several nights has been holding signal practice. He has been working Kinnison at center, E. Perkins at quarter and Knutson, Burns and Loomis in the back field. The first game will be a practice game with Lewiston Normal and will be held on Idaho Field, a week from Saturday.

Meeting of the Athletic Board.

The first meeting of the Athletic Board for the present school year was held Friday evening at the Theta Mu Epsilon house, the following members being present: P. Perkins, Hillman, Kinnison, Favre and Harris. Joe Barrett, who was elected to the Athletic Board last spring will not be in school this year, and the following names were suggested to fill his place: Redeker, Downing, Curtis and George Scott. No election was held, however. The new member will be chosen at the next meeting.

Fritz Lundstrum was chosen as assistant coach of football. He will have charge of the second team in addition to helping Coach Griffith coach the first team. The Board voted him $150 for the season. The Board also voted Graduate Manager Gus Larson $100 to start the season to be used in buying football supplies.

Vestal Hockett was elected Field Manager to succeed Harry Stoner, who will not be in school this year.

The University of Montana law school began its work this year with an initial enrollment of 17.

STAG SOCIAL A DECIDED SUCCESS

Over a Hundred and Twenty-Five Attend and Have a Good Time.

The annual stag social held by the Y. M. C. A. in the gym last Friday proved to be a huge success. Of the male students of the University over one hundred and twenty-five attended, despite the fact that a university dance was to occur that evening.

After about forty had assembled, a paddle game was started and all who came late had to run the gauntlet of two lines of men with paddles of all patterns in their hands. After about forty more had assembled and the paddles were well warmed, those present were handed cards and at a signal from Professor Nicholson, who was master of ceremonies, each started out to gather in acquaintances, with the name and part of the state the acquaintance hailed from. At the end of ten minutes the cards were handed in and the number of acquaintances listed on each card counted. To the one having the greater number of names a prize was given—S. K. Denning, the winner, receiving a season pass to the football games to occur in Moscow this fall. Afterwards a rooster fight, pillow fight and Idaho songs and yells furnished amusement for the assemblage. The evening was closed with a feed, after which President MacLean spoke a few words rapping the allegations lately made by Millionaire Crane about student bodies. Needless to say, President MacLean took his old stand, reiterating his unqualified faith in student bodies.

The College of Agriculture will send a team of six men to represent it in the student stock-judging contest at the Spokane Interstate fair. The team will be composed of the following men: Clyde Heard, Charles Johnson, Leland Case, Earl Hall, A. W. Kjosness and C. J. Kinzer. Mr. Kinzer is a new student at the University, having come this year from the Kansas State Agricultural college. He has the reputation of being one of the best animal husbandry students in the West. He has already made a name for himself as a judge of and general expert in live stock matters. The Idaho boys will have as rivals like teams from the agricultural schools of Montana and Washington.

Since 1892 the University of Chicago has granted 5,895 degrees.

Idaho spirit is based on a deep, wide fellowship, and it extends farther than one at first may think. Also, it has the deepest significance.

He is that a poor representative of any school who has not cultivated a winning way, a cultivated voice and an open, frank method of speaking. He is not a college man. The true Idaho man has these qualities and this, the negative, or passive, side of showing the Idaho spirit, is the greatest help to one working positively or actively for Idaho. A winning personality is often a far choicer argument, than the best founded logic. It often precedes in importance the sentiments falling from one's lips. This Idaho man is the test of his institution; and in working for the university, no matter what other good parts he may possess, from what he is, the university will be judged; and that judgment means his success or failure.

It is needless to say that to show evidence of this spirit demands sacrifice,—but at the same time, the result gained is far from being a loss. Time cultivated for these ends is never lost. A football rally, or game should never lack the presence of one man imbued with the Idaho spirit. If it is impossible to come to a game or other function, that is an end of the matter and no manhood need be lost as a consequence. But he who willfully places his time and means elsewhere is not admitted to the true fraternity of Idaho men; and in his true colors can never be admitted to any other one.

About the Campus.

A letter from Frank P. Stewart to the Bursar announces that he is still in the office of the Salt Lake Tribune, but will probably cut Utah for Idaho in the spring. He says: "Salt Lake is a good city, but Utah is not in the same class with Idaho."

Last Thursday evening the Junior Annual Staff met at the Zeta Delta House. This was the first of its fortnightly meetings this year. The scheme they have adopted will keep the staff together through the social time of these evenings, and make it more efficient as a working force.

ANOTHER IDAHO PUBLICATION

College of Agriculture Will Send out a Bi-Monthly News Letter.

For the second time after a year and a half, work is commenced on the north wing of the Ad building. It is in charge of Cunningham of Spokane. In a few days the materials will put in their appearance—the principal need at present being the stone, which comes from Boise. The work will be rushed as fast as the accumulation of materials will permit. The building will be finished by the first of May.

The history of the first attempt is rather interesting. The state legislature appropriated $73,000, part of which was to be used for the erection of this wing. The state treasurer contested the validity of this act in the Supreme court, meanwhile enjoining the state auditor from payment of any part of the contested appropriation. Meanwhile the contract was let, bonds given and the work began. Then came the decision of the Supreme court deciding that the appropriation was illegal and void. Work ceased, and about the 1st of February, 1910, the north wing was left in its present condition.

Many Innovations To Be Made
In The Battalion This Year.

The unsettled state of affairs which always reigns in a cadet corps of a university or other school at the beginning of the school year still holds sway in the cadet battalion here. New men still come in and old men to whom appointments will probably fall still come. Lieutenant Cathro has long ago completed his plans for the conduct of his department, and in the next few weeks will select his officers, and arrange the men in the university battalion as will be most advantageous. So far but three appointments have been announced: H. C. Gray, Cadet Major; C. Y. Garber, Cadet Captain and Quartermaster, Commissary and Ordinance Officer; and Geo. O'Donnell, Assistant Commandant, ranking Captain.

The battalion will be divided along lines differing markedly from those employed hitherto. The old cadets will form Company "A" and will start target practice immediately, while the new cadets will form Company "B" and will be taught the movements of the drill manual. When those students registering in the Practical School of Agriculture arrive (about October 16) they will form "C" Company. This company will be with the battalion the shortest time of any—but thirty-four drill days. In this manner the practical as well as the theoretic work will be made progressive. After while "A" Company will get work both theoretical and practical in signaling—flag, torch and heliograph—and field engineering.

The freshman company, or "B" Company, will study for the first semester: The Manual for Privates of Infantry and Signaling. For this, flag, torch and possibly heliograph work will be given. Any man having had some experience with wireless telegraphy is in demand in the department. For the second semester First Aid to the Injured, Advanced Drill Regulations and the Manual of Guard Duty will be given. The sophomores will study Firing Regulations and Field Engineering the first semester and Field Service Regulations and Minor Tactics the second semester.

It is possible that the officers of the battalion and as many of the cadets as wish to go, will visit the battlefield of Chief Joseph on the upper parts of the Clearwater, to study the battleground and to trace the tactical movements made there in the course of that fight. The trip will probably be made at some week-end, the party leaving Friday evening or Saturday morning and returning on Sunday.

ABOUT THE CAMPUS.

A telegram to Kappa Sigma announces the serious illness of Harry Changnon. It is possible that he will not return to school this year.

Geo. A. Scott '14, and Herrick Webster '13, have returned to school after spending the summer in Oregon.

Pat Riley will register at W. S. C. this fall, to take up work in the pharmacy department there.

It is reported that Otto Leuschel will soon return to school.

Otis Ress '07, will return to Idaho this year to take up post-graduate work.

The entire Sophomore mining class of the university has adopted the pompadour style of haircut. Some "class" to those miners.

Ernest Loux, who was hurt in recent football practice, is reported to be convalescing.

"Dutch" Schroeder spent the week-end in Moscow looking up old acquaintances.

Professor Frandson leaves today for the University of Nebraska where he has charge of the Dairy Department.

Mr. Vincent has accepted the Professorship of Horticulture at the University of South Carolina. He will leave about October 10 for his new location.

CURTIS RETURNS FROM OXFORD

Boise Statesman: George H. Curtis, Idaho's fourth Rhodes scholar to complete the Oxford course of three years, has arrived home, his first visit during that period to America. He says that every day of his absence was spent in keen enjoyment of his studies, of the sights of the old world and of the social relations which are open to the American in Oxford during the university terms and in European countries generally during the numerous vacations.

Mr. Curtis states that the idea that there is a lack of welcome on the part of the dons and students of Oxford for the sort of men who have so far held the scholarships for the American states is entirely wrong, the American receiving a cordial welcome, his own personality depending on how far he goes socially later.

Mr. Curtis stated that it was difficult to speak definitely of what he regarded as the greatest thing Oxford has to give to the American. "Every one there," he said, "has an excellent chance to survey the principal movements in the world's history. Most particularly is this true of those who take the course in ancient history and philosophy, a course not to be found on a classical basis in any other university.

"The required amount of Latin and Greek, however, makes the course extremely difficult for the man who has received his preparation in an American college. The Americans, however, can compete on equal terms with the Englishmen in the schools of modern history and law. In the pursuit of either of these courses the American student is attracted to the political problems of the present day.

"Political life in England during the past three years has been particularly interesting, just as developments in the United States have been, and the problems of the modern world are enough alike in all countries to make a sound knowledge of British institutions and the changes now going on in them extremely valuable.

"The members of the English universities are, for the most part, very keen politicians. It is a decided impetus to live close to the center of government and to receive every day carefully reported accounts of the struggles in and out of parliament."

Mr. Curtis states that he has not yet decided just what line of work he will take up, now that he is home. His reading, he says, has been of a general nature, and leaves the work of a definite profession to be learned, but the pleasure of living for a time in a city which has had such a rich spiritual history and still preserves the beautiful ideals of the past has been a true inspiration.

Mr. Curtis hopes to take up teaching. He states that T. T. Crooks of Moscow, the fifth Rhodes scholar from this state, enjoyed his first year immensely. Ludwig Gerlough, who succeeds Mr. Curtis left Boise a few days ago, the fall term at Oxford opening October 17.

Ludwig S. Gerlough, B. A. '09, left Moscow Sunday afternoon for New York on his way to Oxford university, England. Mr. Gerlough goes to Oxford as Idaho's sixth Rhodes scholar. He took the examination last spring for the scholarship in all subjects except in Greek. On July 11 he took the Greek examination in Moscow, and was informed in August that he had passed successfully. Mr. Gerlough will make stops at Washington, D. C. and at Philadelphia on his way to New York. At Philadelphia he will visit with Bruce D. Mudgett, '08, for several days.

DELTA GAMMAS ENTERTAIN

Are at Home and Splendidly Entertain a Number of Their Friends.

The Delta Gammas gave their first college dance last Saturday evening at their house on Deakin Avenue, when they were at home to a number of their friends. These were entertained at an informal dance, one of whose features was the alternation of upper and lower classmen and pledges on the floor. Refreshments with punch were served. The affair broke up at twelve o'clock with all guests delighted and anxious to renew such a delightful evening.

EXCHANGES

The associated students of the University of Stanford will in the future discuss all questions of university policy or general interest in a special assembly called for that purpose. K. L. Faculty Men whose attire is conservative, we wish to call your attention to our preparedness to serve you with a large line of HIGH GRADE, HAND MADE CLOTHING, made in models that are the envy of the custom tailor and the pride of many University and Moscow professional men. We absolutely and positively assert that this is a most unusual line to be found in a small town, and the only one hereabouts of the same class.
