"THE RIVALS."

The Preps Will Present One of Richard Sheridan's Comedies Soon.

"The Rivals," which the Preps are about to present, as everyone knows is one of the three famous eighteenth century comedies which from time to time find their way back to our stage. Of the three "The Rivals" is most popular with the American, because of Joe Jefferson's performance of Bob Acres. Its popularity, however, lies in great part within. For fresh spirited situations, character, lives, it stands after a century and a quarter of dreary imitation without a peer.

Richard Brindsley Sheridan, one of the most brilliant figures in English literary history, was descended on the paternal side from a grandfather, who, on the anniversary of the accession of George I to the throne preached a sermon on the text: "Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof"—and from a father who conducted his correspondence on the principle that letters left long enough unanswered, answer themselves; and on the maternal side, his mother was the author of "Memoirs of Miss Sidney Bidulp." From one and another of these talented forebears he inherited an unmistakably brilliant mind, an extraordinary handsome figure, and a hopeless lack of financial ability. Such traits conspired to bring about his elopement with the beautiful and well to do singer, Elizabeth Lindley. Consequently, upon his marriage and the dispersal of the Lindley pounds, began Sheridan's career as a dramatist. "The Rivals" was his first play, although many others followed. Dramatic composition gradually gave way to politics and oratory. And in the great speech against Hastings in Westminster Hall, Sheridan gained his greatest triumph. Said Pitt, "It surpassed all the eloquence of ancient and modern times." To these events we may add the unsuccessful management of Drury Lane theatre, the incessant struggle in party politics, debt and disease, and finally the sheriff's writ served upon him in the very hour of death—and the life of this brilliant, witty man is done, in July, 1861.

A pitiful tale, this; and without romantic. For Richard Sheridan was the handsomest man of his generation and wrote the best comedy and the best burlesque of the century, made the greatest

ANNUAL FOOTBALL BANQUET AN ENJOYABLE AFFAIR

The Great Football "Feed" Was Held In Ridenbaugh Hall—Proctor Perkins Elected Captain.

Last Wednesday evening the annual banquet to the football men was given at Ridenbaugh Hall under the direction of Miss Breece of the Department of Domestic Science. The serving was done by the girls in the different classes. Those who served were, the Misses Annett, Emmett, Larson, Rudisill, Costley, Soulen and Hazzen. The table was tastily decorated and in the center of the speaker's table was the ball used in the Whitman game, inscribed with the score.

After the dinner, consisting of seven courses, was served, Mr. Vander Veer, who acted as toastmaster, called on President MacLean for a talk. Dr. MacLean responded and told about last season's team and what football meant to the players. He said in part:

"I want to congratulate the team of last fall on its record. I think that there has never been a season when we have won only one big game when the feeling in support of the team has been so unanimous.

"I have not heard one word of criticism or complaint, and true, we all thought that there were two more games that were coming to us. We play five big games each year and I think we should plan to win three of them, and in order to win three, it is pretty near necessary to plan to win all of them."

Mr. Vander Veer next called on Graduate Manager Larson for "Reminiscences." Mr. Larson, who has been at Idaho either as student or instructor for something over ten years, responded gracefully and told in a way of the history of football ever since 1900, when Idaho met Washington in the first conference game with that college and defeated her 12-6. George Horton, one of the two preparatory students who ever held the position, was captain and fullback. Mr. Larson gave a resume of each game of the season, harping on the victories and mentioning some of the worst defeats.

President Kane of the University of Washington, who was a guest of the football team, was then called upon to say a little about what football means to the men in the game, and to the schools. Dr. Kane showed what a valuable training was obtained from football and how it served the player in after life. He says about this phase:

"I have always had that feeling that the training we get in football is one of the best courses of training for the time we spend in it that we get in our college course. I think of this particularly in connection with the younger men, the men who have not had themselves in hand entirely when they came to college and men who need just the training that the game of football gives, and the way of gaining control over themselves so that they may use their energy to best advantage when they get out in life."

Captain Hillman of the season 1911, was then called upon by the toastmaster who referred to him as "Still Bill," Captain Willie," alias "Deadeye Dick." Mr. Hillman spoke of the harmonious feeling on the team last fall and said that the season was as much of a success as could be expected for a team composed of practically new, inexperienced men. He said in closing:

"I have great hopes for the season of 1912. I hope that every man will try to get back next fall and we will have a team that will win more than one conference game, as we did last year."

Couch Griffith, who has coached here at the University for five or six years, with an intermission, then told what he thought the future prospects of the Idaho football team were. In speaking of the past season, he said:

"In looking back over the past season, it is not as bad as it might have been, in considering the number of new players we have on the team, but they have all done creditable work, except in the Salt Lake game, and I don't think any of us did good work down there. The Washington game showed pretty well the respective merits

INDOOR TRACK MEET EVENTS

Won by the Sophomores to The Tune of Thirty-four to Twenty-five.

The Indoor Track Meet held at Lewis Hall last Friday between the Sophomores and Freshmen was won by the former by a score of thirty-four to twenty five. It required the last contest which happened to be the tug-of-war to decide the meet. Had the Freshmen won in this event they would have been victors in the meet by a thirty to twenty-nine score. It looks like a pretty poor policy to have a tug-of-war in one of these meets. There is more or less an element of luck as to who wins for the side getting the drop does not have any trouble holding this advantage.

The first event, the 40-yard dash, was won by McGregor (F.) with Whitten (S.), second and Montgomery (F.) third. Time 4 1-5.

Fields (S.) won the half mile run with Rowels (F.) second, and Warren (S.) third. Time, 2:23.

Phillips (F.) had no trouble in winning the shot-put with a throw of thirty-five feet, five inches, with Kinneson (S.) second with thirty feet, ten inches and Montgomery (F.) a close third with twenty-nine feet, four inches.

Montgomery (F.) did not seem to have much trouble winning the quarter-

We cannot but take off our hats to the plucky little school, which, defeating us last year, in the face of such overwhelming defeat this year, gives voice to its gameness and dead sportsmanship as they are doing. Our boys report a most cordial time,—in fact all our relations with this institution have been of such a nature as to be worth their continuation at any cost. We again would say we are proud to have worsted such an opponent.

The Order of the "I" has not yet developed, but the Legion of Honor is beginning to show signs of life. Definite thought along this line has crystallized to the point where a meeting has been called for all officers and ex-officers of the battalion to be held in the Gymnasium next Thursday afternoon at 5:00 p. m.

Idaho will at last reach the distinction of having the first military club of this kind in state colleges and universities—a feature of no small importance in the eyes of the War Department, and one of great value in advertisement as regards the cadet school here. The association of cadet officers of merit who have worked out different problems together and who have naturally gained a certain strength of purpose and character—the united body of these cadets and ex-cadets should be a powerful motive force in student affairs—both those pertaining to the conduct of the battalion and those pertaining to the welfare of the school.

Among the personal advantages of membership are enumerated the distinction of membership in a closed association of select men, of connection with military affairs of more than mere battalion interest. It is hoped that the organization will, in a year or two, develop into a club with all the appointments of a club. Membership dues will be unnecessary; excepting to meet the expenses of an annual "feed," and of some distinguishing emblem of the order, should such be decided on.

The association will assume definite form and be well in working order before the advent of the Military ball, one social event which will receive material aid and backing at the hands of the club.

PROGRAM FOR GOOD ROADS SCHOOL.

Tuesday, January 30

9:00 a. m. Introductory lecture; History of Road Building; Cost of Bad Roads. C. N. Little.
10:30 a. m. Sand, Clay and Gravel Roads; Culverts and Cost of Maintenance. Chas. H. Hoyt.
1:30 p. m. Location of Roads; Grade and Drainage. D. B. Steinman.
3:00 p. m. Earth Roads, Construction, Maintenance; The Split Log Drag. C. N. Little.
8:00 p. m. Public Lecture on Improved Highways at Eggans' Hall. Chas. H. Hoyt.

Wednesday, January 31st.

9:00 a. m. Improved Roads for Latah County. D. B. Steinman.
10:30 a. m. Plain Macadam and Bituminous Macadam Roads. Chas. H. Hoyt.
1:30 p. m. Road Administration in Europe and America; State Aid. C. N. Little.
3:00 p. m. Quarrying. Chas. H. Hoyt.

These talks will be illustrated by three hundred lantern slides showing good and bad roads. Any of these lectures are open to students of the University who may be interested; the general public is invited to attend the evening lecture in Eggan's hall at which many interesting views will be shown.

Girls' Exhibition in Gym.

The Argonaut wishes to correct a news note of last week's edition in regard to this exhibition which is to take place next Thursday at 3:00 p. m. in the Gymnasium. It will be open to the co-eds of the University and the ladies of Moscow and not for the general public as might be inferred.

Mr. Paul Durrie, '11, will resume his studies next semester at the University completing the necessary course for a state certificate in the educational department. Mr. Durrie's work in the High School was given high recommendation by Supt Randall and Principal Eichelberger.

Miss Edna Davis, '11, was over from Pullman visiting friends in Moscow at the beginning of this week.

All officers and ex-officers of the Battalion, in school or out, will assemble next Thursday at 5 p. m. at the Commandant's office in the Gymnasium.

Last Friday the Gamma Phi Beta girls gave a leap year entertainment consisting of a hay-ride to Joel where an informal dance and supper were held. All report a most delightful time.

It might be well to remember that the requirement for continuance in the University has been changed from a minimum of eight credits to an average passing grade (3000) in all registered studies of the semester.

W. S. C. Wins Second Game of The Series Played at Pullman.

At Pullman, last Friday, in the second game of the series of four Idaho is to play W. S. C., the score resulted thirty-five to fifteen in favor of the W. S. C. team.

The Idaho team played a much better game than they did the week before, and much improvement was noted in the team work.

Probably Loux and Kinnison played the star game for Idaho, while Lowry played the best game for Pullman. Each team used ten players during the game, Idaho substituting one at a time, while about the middle of the second half, W. S. C. ran in their whole second team.

Following is the original lineup:

W. S. C.	Idaho
Lowrey	R. F. Kinnison
Williams	L. E. Zabel
Ritter	C. Loux, Capt.
Knight, Capt.	L. G. Foester
Kienholz	R. G. Buffington

Summary: Field baskets: Loux 5, Kinnison 2; Lowry 5, Williams 4, Kienholz 4, Knight 1, Gardner 1, Anderson 2. Free throws: Lowry 1, Loux 1. Fouls, Idaho 2; W. S. C. 7. Referee, Putman; time-keeper, Osthoff; scorer, Mason.

For Idaho Soulen, Doyle, Gildea, Denning and Nuffer were substituted, and for W. S. C., Gardner, Riley, Sampson and Hunt, played during the second half.

THE DEBATE AT PACIFIC

Interesting Occurrences And A Few Sidelights On The Debate There.

The students of Pacific University who suffered a double defeat in debate by Idaho's teams have shown themselves to be the gamest losers we have ever met. We have met teams from numerous colleges from the Rockies to the Pacific coast, but we have never met any more courteous, more gentlemanly, more fair-minded than the Pacific men. Some other schools when victorious have shown an in inclination to "rub it in," when defeated, to complain or to offer excuses, but not so Pacific. As an evidence of their commendable spirit, read the following clipping from the Pacific paper:

"The second annual debate with the University of Idaho was held last Friday evening in Marsh Hall and a large audience gathered to see if Idaho could 'come back' after the reverses they suffered last year at our hands. And come back they certainly did. The mass of evidence which they produced was practically impregnable and our debaters, though they worked zealously and were game to the very last, seemed to no up against a stone wall.

"The Pacific team, consisting of Howard Taylor and Harold Benjamin, had worked hard under the direction of Coach Harrington, but the plan outlined succumbed before the fierce onslaughts of the opponents.

"The negative speakers introduced their arguments in a very effective and convincing manner and were very quick to use every advantage to strengthen their own position or weaken that of their opponents, whether it was to appeal to the patriotism of the American people or to tell a humorous story to illustrate the impossible position of the affirmative.

"The Idaho team consisted of DeWitt Davis and Parker Lucas. Both are pleasing speakers and estimable young men, and we recount it a pleasure to have them with us, albeit to award them the honors of the day. Last year we showed them what good winners we were; this year we have shown them what good losers we can be.

"After the debate a reception was held in the parlors at Herriek Hall where the students and faculty were given an opportunity to meet the young men from Idaho. After all had assembled a delightful musical program, consisting of piano, violin and vocal numbers, was given by the students of the Conservatory. Then with President Ferrin acting as chairman, the place became the scene of some speech-making Professor Harrington spoke a few minutes, and then

Mr. Lucas of Idaho was called out. This discerning gentleman in a pleasing speech was sincere and unstinted in his praise for Pacific University. Mr. Benjamin, representing the affirmative team, paid a fine tribute to his opponents.

"The informal good time which followed was greatly added to by delicious ice cream served by the ladies. Herriek Hall proved a strong attraction for the visitors and, indeed, it is said that one of the gentlemen formed such an attachment for it that he almost turned traitor to Idaho."

The following is from the editorial column of the Pacific paper: "Last Friday night the University of Idaho regained the colors won from her last year, and today they are waving proudly from her flag pole. Stung by the double defeat a year ago, she came back strong, and, with a mighty effort humbled Pacific, whose debate record has been victories in six successive debates. She surely got revenge. We are not the ones to say the judges were not fair or that our men were not up to the standard. Neither of these statements would be true. The judges were fair and our debaters acquitted themselves in a creditable manner. It was simply a case of good men losing to exceptionally good men. Idaho's case was developed and interwoven in a manner impregnable and this, coupled with their experience on the forensic platform, won them the clear out victory they deserved.

"Now that the contest is over we are content to let it rest as past history. Next year promises to display a battle royal between the two institutions, and we predict a forensic fray that would put even the old Roman gladiators to shame. He who laughs last laughs best, and each school is going to struggle for that last laugh. If it falls to us, we will be glad; if Idaho is successful we will take off our hats to her.

"We congratulate you, U. of I. We like your spirit."

AT ASSEMBLY.

A very interesting lecture was heard at assembly last Wednesday when Rev. Lowry who is conducting a series of meetings in a down-town tabernacle, addressed the student body. His talk was not in the form of a sermon as some expected. Rev. Lowry knows how to deal with cool college students and with young people in general, and does so in a very effective manner.

The songs rendered by the Quartet and Mr. Moody, who accompanies Mr. Lowry, were much appreciated by all.

speech of two hundred years, and was the companion of the First Gentleman of Europe.

There may be dispute as to which of Sheridan's plays is the best comedy of the century, yet at the very least "The Rivals" is the very best but one. It is set against the artificial background of Bath Society and derives thence what critics sometimes call an unnaturalness. In point of fact, the incidents are all very natural. Mrs. Malaprop, for instance, has no cause to suspect the "Captain Absolute and Ensign Beverley" nor has Bob Acres cause to suspect his opponent as one of his "particular friends." Managing his situations with great probability, Sheridan proves himself a great dramatic artist. Nor are his characters any less natural than his situations. They are artificial because they present society folk. But society folk abound in all generations and Mrs. Malaprop, Bob Acres, Sir Anthony and Lydia Languish are natural in their artifice. That the sayings of these characters are rather brilliant than true, adds to the naturalness of the play. In short "The Rivals" stands well among the great comedies. And we of the University should be glad that the Preps are again presenting a Sheridan play.

OREGON MAKES UP DEFICIENCY

Loss From No Oregon Game Made Good. Basketball Schedule Not Complete.

Graduate Manager Larson is in receipt of a letter from A. R. Tiffany, treasurer of the Oregon Athletic Board, advising him that his claim for the loss resulting in the Oregon claim being called off, had been allowed by their athletic board. Following is the letter received by Mr. Larson:

Eugene, Oregon, Jan. 17.

Dear Sir:

I have been asked by Mr. Geary, who is absent from the University, to notify you that the Athletic Council of the University of Oregon, has approved your claim, amounting to $165.80. I think, account of the Oregon-Idaho football game. He will take the matter up with you on his return.

Very truly yours,

A. R. TIFFANY,

Treasurer.

Mr. Geary is the graduate manager at the University of Oregon. Mr. Larson is pleased at the treatment received from the hands of Oregon's athletic council. Idaho was entitled to the money, no doubt, on account of Oregon finishing out her schedule after having called off the game with Idaho on account of Noland's death. No better treatment in the matter of settlement could be expected than was offered by Oregon.

Graduate Manager Larson attempted to arrange a non conference basketball game with Whitman, to be played at Walla Walla during Idaho's trip. He received a reply to the effect that Whitman had completely dropped baseball and basketball, and would confine their athletic efforts entirely to football and track. Mr. Larson is trying for a game at The Dalles, or with the Y. M. C. A. at Walla Walla, or with the Multnomah Club in Portland. If he cannot fill in the date made vacant by Whitman's dropping out of the conference it will mean the week's trip for the Idaho team will have to be cut out.

Graduate Manager Larson is trying hard to schedule a track meet with Motana this spring, either to be played here at Moscow or at Missoula.

ABOUT THE CAMPUS.

Prof. Iddings of the Animal-Husbandry Department is in the Grangeville country on official business.

Miss Orah Howard, '09, who taught in Moscow high school last year, has again taken up work in that institution.

John R. Price, '08, has just taken up his residence at Soldier, Idaho, where he has a homestead.

Harry H. Daus, '11, is visiting Moscow and friends about the University.

Beatrice Swain returned to college last Sunday.

Saturday, January 13, the Kappa Sigmas delightfully entertained the Delta Gammas. The evening was spent in dancing, after which refreshments were served.

Thursday evening Mr. Tull informally entertained the Delta Gammas. The music for the evening was furnished by Messrs. Tull, Wheeler, Ricard, Watts and Gillespie. The girls report a very enjoyable time.

The Theta Mus entertained the Delta Gammas Saturday evening at a very delightful dancing party. After dancing dainty refreshments were served. They proved themselves excellent entertainers.

Gamma Phi Beta was informally entertained last Saturday evening by the Kappa Sigma. Dancing, music and refreshments made up the program for the evening.

William Robertson, who has been visiting at the Kappa Sigma house for the past few weeks, returned to his home in Glenn's Ferry Monday morning.

Professors Steinman and Patterson and Mr. Carlson were the guests of Kappa Sigma at dinner Sunday.

William Spears, a W. S. C. student, has been visiting at the Kappa Sigma house the past few days.

Steve Regan was released from quarantine last Saturday and has resumed his work in school.

Miss Jewell Bothwell left school last Saturday morning for her home in Ogden, Utah.

The Watkins Oratorical contest which was neglected last year, will be held sometime near the first of March. It will be open to all with no time limit nor any restrictions in the choice of subjects. A medal will be awarded to the winner.

John McEvers has been elected manager of the Y. M. C. A. Boarding club. The club now has about thirty members.

President Kane of the University of Washington was a visitor at the University last Thursday. This was President Kane's first visit at the University since 1904 when he delivered the Commencement address at the graduation exercises.

Theta Mu Epsilon entertained Delta Sigma Saturday night.

Miss Wold's dancing class is progressing nicely. If you do not know the difference between a waltz and a two-step you had better come down to the K of P. hall next Saturday at 11 a. m.

GRADUATE HOLDS GOOD POSITION

W. L. Zeigler in South America Engaged in Locating Difficult Railway.

Dr. C. N. Little, Dean of the Engineering Department, is in receipt of a very interesting letter from W. L. Zeigler, a graduate of the Civil Engineering Department in 1904. Mr. Zeigler is now located at S. Paulo, Brazil and holds a very responsible position with the Brazil Railway Company. Following is an extract from his letter: "Besides the Chief Engineer, Mr. S. F. Shaw, of Cuba, only two engineers have been brought down from the North, one being Mr. F. B. Morris, from one of the southern states. Mr. Morris is Assistant Engineer in charge of the Southern work, while I was given the work in the North, the State of Sao Paulo."

Mr. Zeigler is engaged in location work at the present time. He has finished one survey and had it accepted by the government. He speaks of the ease in using the Metric system. He says it is much more simple than transposing our feet and inches.

Just at the present time Mr. Zeigler is engaged in trying to get a line from Sao Paulo down the coast range of mountains to Santos. They have a one per cent line to the top, but going down, the country drops off from an elevation of 2000 feet on a forty or forty-five degree slope to the ocean. The road will have to be either cog or cable with electrical power.

Mr. Zeigler writes very interestingly of his voyage to Brazil. He sailed from New York the fifth of May and arriving at Santos, the 26th of the same month.

Mr. Zeigler's first employment after leaving school was as a cook for a lumber railroad. Inside of four years, he was locating the main line of the Chicago, Milwaukee and Puget Sound R. R. in the difficult ground of the Bitter Root mountains.

Prep Basket Ball Team Takes Trip.

The basketball team of the Preparatory School left last Tuesday to play a series of three games with Lewiston High, Clarkston High and Asotin High. They succeeded in winning one game and lost the other two by large scores.

At Lewiston they were defeated by the score of 24 to four. At the end of the first half the score was six to two. In the second half the Preps were swamped on account of having to play A. A. U. rules, which they were not used to.

After being beaten by a score of thirteen to four at the end of their first half, the Preps came back and won from Clarkston High by a final score of 26 to 20.

At Asotin they were beaten nearly as at Lewiston, the score being 38 to 12. The score at the end of the first half was 11 to 12.

The men making the trip were: Manager Jack Adams, David, Hill, Munson, Smith, Holliday. Cliff Edmundson and Fritz Lundstrom were also with the team at the game.

ANNUAL FOOTBALL BANQUET

of the team. The Pullman team got away pretty lucky."

Coach Griffith believes in the scouting system for obtaining good athletes. In closing he said:

"Let's go out and get athletes. Work on the men you know in your own state. Write to them; show interest."

Proctor Perkins, captain-elect for 1912, then told in a few words, the work of the last season, where the fault laid in part of the defeats, and of the prospects for the coming year. Speaking of the scholastic standing of the team, he said:

"There was no one caught up for his studies this year and this speaks well for the men on the team. I might say I just noticed this evening how the number of players were divided among the different departments and I find that there are five civil engineers, three foresters, three lawyers; one mechanical engineer and one B. A. student."

"Hercules" Buffington, president of the student body and tackle on the football team, closed up the speeches of the evening. He spoke of the attitude of the student body to the football team in the following manner:

"This year we have had the best support of any team since I have been here."

After giving three cheers for "Miss Breese and the girls," the guests of the football squad left the banquet hall and the football team proceeded to elect next year's captain. Jim Harris nominated Proctor Perkins, and Ralph Dippel moved the nominations be closed and the captain was elected.

Those present at the banquet were: Around the speakers' table, President Kane, President MacLean, Coach Griffith, Graduate Manager Larson, Mr. Van der Veer, C. H. Buffington. Others present were: Manager Johnson, Captain Hillman, Harris, P. Perkins, Redeker, Phillips, Burns, Johnson, Gildea, Kinnison, C. H. Buffington, Favre, Knutson, Samms, E. Perkins, Dippel, Bessee, C. R. Buffington, E. Loux, Loomis and Bistline.

To Those Who Are Boring Now.

My friend, have you heard of the town of Yawn,

On the banks of the River Slow,
Where blooms the Waitawhile flower fair,

Where the Sometimeorother scents the air,

And the soft Goeasys grow?

It lies in the Valley of Whatstheuse,
In the province of Letitslide,
That tired feeling is native there—
It's the name of the listless I don't care,
Where the Putitoffs abide.

Mr. Charles H. Hoyt, who is to give four lectures in the Good Roads School, is an engineer of large practical experience in road building. He is to be sent to attend the Good Roads School by the Office of Public Roads of the United States Department of Agriculture.

FARMERS' INSTITUTES NEXT MARCH BY PROMINENT AUTHORITIES.

According to the schedule, thirty-five farmers' institutes will be held at as many different places in Idaho before the end of March. There will also be twelve sessions of the movable school.

Dean Carlyle, Mr. O. C. Gregg, a practical dairyman of forty years' successful experience, E. R. Bliss, a practical potato farmer of twenty years' experience in an irrigated potato district of the west, Prof. W. H. Wicks of the Department of Horticulture, U. of I.; Mr. J. V. MacPherson, State Fruit Inspector, Mr. Don H. Bark, office of U. S. Irrigation Investigations with headquarters at Boise, Idaho and W. H. Olin in charge of Agricultural Extension Department, will constitute the crops of instructors at all the movable schools.

Get Out!

This is to the fellow who has thought for years that he had no ability as a track man at all; it's for the fellow who, in prep school, ran fourth to a snail; who couldn't lift a twelve pound shot; to the one who was scared to death if he jumped four feet in the air or covered more than his length in the broad jump.

Get out!

You may never win a letter here in the university. You may never ever land on your class team, but there's a big chance that you can make somebody else extend himself to grasp some honor and thereby make a class—or perhaps—university team better, so—

Get out!

The athlete who wins points for his university isn't always the one who comes home backed by the great prep school reputation. Maybe you're working along the wrong lines. Why "Sleepy" Dull thought he was a sprinter when he entered the university. He couldn't do the 100-yard dash in less than a dozen seconds to save his soul, but he developed into one of the greatest distance runners in the country. You may be able to do something. There is only one thing for you to do—

Get out!

We want some good inter-class activities this winter. We need something to stir our spirit when it's cold and sloppy and everybody hangs around home and wonders why in blazes he didn't stick in the old town and sell shoes the rest of his life. Help this along. You can do it. Don't leave the work for the men who know they are athletes. Try to be among those present in skinny togs on the gym floor yourself. To do it you must—

Ye Freshmen.

What delightful weather we are having at present! Think ye not so? And how nice just now to be wearing the verdent, pearl-tipped headgear! Think ye this not true? And it is spoken that the upper classmen shall have the infection of spring enter their blood some nice morning, when—PRESTO! The cap SHALL appear. Spring cometh! Think ye not so?

INDOOR TRACK MEET EVENTS

mile run from Whitten (S.) and Woolridge (S.). Only three men ran in this race. Whitten finished second. Time 1:00 3 4.

Only three men entered the high jump. Montgomery (F.) failed to go over the bar at four feet six inches, Phillips failed to go over at four feet ten, while Scott (S.) had no trouble in clearing it at this height. Scott was in good condition and could have gone higher, but did not care to give an exhibition jump on account of the frozen earth floor.

The mile run was about the prettiest race of the afternoon. The race up to the last lap lay between Rowell (F.) Downing (S.) and Scott (S.). Scott took the lead at the start of the race, and there were some great spurts between him and Rowell for the lead on the stretches. Downing hit his gait at the first and kept it throughout, only breaking on the last two laps. Rowell who had also run the half had to give up in the last lap, while Downing nosed Scott out by about six inches. There was also some competition between Mason and Rowell for the third place, but Rowell who was leading Mason by about a lap, after breathing a short time, managed to take the one point for third place.

The tug-of-war was won by the Sophomore team composed of Knutson, Favre, Gribble and Perkins. On the freshmen team were Mitchell, Phillips, Christenson and Buffington. The Sophomores got the drop and held this advantage throughout.

The individual point winners for the Freshmen were Buck Phillips with eight points, and Montgomery with the same number. For the Sophomores, George Scott lead with eight points.

The attendance was not as good as it should have been. There are, no doubt, students in college who have never attended one of these meets. They are well worth any one's time.

It is understood that the victorious Sophomore team will issue a challenge to the other classes of school.
