INTERSCHOLASTIC TRACK MEET

Committee at Work.—Meet to be Held Friday and Saturday, May 3d and 4th.

According to Graduate Manager Larson the interscholastic is certain to be held, and the dates set are May 3d and 4th, which correspond to the same time it was held last year.

Prof. Soulen is at the head of the committee in charge, but Professor Stewart will have active charge, all correspondence and details to be left in his hands. He is taking the place of Professor Sage, who handled the work so admirably last year. Professors Griffith, Larson and Van der Veer will attend to the officials and the details on the field.

Mr. Larson has written to Prof. Sage, who is now at the University at Washington, as to the whereabouts of the files of correspondence from last year, which seem to have been misplaced.

Last year the meet cost the University about two hundred dollars after all expenses were paid, but the fact that there will be no intercollegiate baseball this year will help a great deal, as baseball is a big drain on the finances of the students. About the same number of teams will take part this year as last, as it is not the intention of the committee to expand this year.

THE KLEPTOMANIAC

University Girls Win Professional Triumph With Clever Acting.

The English Club entertainment, Saturday night, pleased an audience unusually large for a Lenten audience. The show went with dash and each number attracted spontaneous applause. Miss Stolle's monolog, "In a Street Car" was effectively given and appreciatively received. As an encore she gave some funny "kid verses," called "That's the Way You Look." Miss Stolle's work was up to her usual high standard.

Then came the Spanish novelty act which was really a "novelty" to Moscow audiences. An artistic stage picture was presented on the rising of the curtain. The corner of an adobe house was revealed with vines and flowers trailing over it. Under a growth of palms and other tropical plants were seen Spanish serenaders and dancing girls. The act opened with "La Poloma" rendered by the mandolin quartet composed of Fred Record, "Teddy" Watts, Carl Loux, and Raymond Gillespie. The spot light was then turned on Ernest Loux and E. K. Humphries

WHITMAN VS. IDAHO IN FORENSIC PLAY

Friday Evening Will See Big Contest In Y. M. Hall. Everyone Wanted Out.

Next Friday night the Y. M. C. A. hall will, for the second time this year, be the scene of an intercollegiate debate. Whitman and Idaho will look horns. Come and see it.

Debate between Idaho and Whitman has stretched over a period of eleven years—of the ten forensic trays held within that time, Idaho has won six and Whitman four—a larger number than any other institution has ever won from Idaho. It is also interesting to note that that in debate between these two institutions was the first assumption of intercollegiate debate relations between state schools of Idaho and Washington.

The subject up for discussion will be the ratification of the arbitration treaties. Whitman is to contend that the action of the Senate in changing the treaties was wise, while Idaho is to say it was unwise. This same topic is the one on which President Taft spoke when he visited here last fall.

As for the debaters, there is but one man on the Idaho team who has ever had intercollegiate debate experience before. Parker V. Lucas, Dotson and Ostroot, pure novitiates in intercollegiate work, complete the team for Idaho. The Whitman team seems shrouded in who sang "My Hula Hula Girl" with accompaniment of eucalalies, and the other instruments. They were recalled twice. After another selection, a Spanish waltz, by the quartet, Miss Maude Gregory, in Spanish costume, appeared at the window of the 'dobe house and sang "Carmena" charmingly. Miss Gregory's voice was shown to good advantage with accompaniment of the strings, and she was heartily encored. After "Serenade Melodies" by the club, four dancing girls—Gladys Lessinger, Clara Hockett, Edna Clarke and Elizabeth Holaday—who were trained by Miss Jean Wold, gave a pleasing Spanish dance. They were in costume and the effect of dance in the soft light and with the background of palms and serenaders was very attractive.

mystery—not one of the three names of their debaters appears in their last catalog. Perhaps all three of them are freshmen; if so, they are the same as our debaters; but, perhaps they are not. Perhaps each comes from a different university with a string of debate scalps hanging from his belt. We well know that the Whitman leader put up a strong fight last January against the University of Washington.

It is undecided as to who the judges will be. Whitman has somewhat delayed her choice of judges, hence the present indecision.

There will be no admission fee. Students are inexcusably negligent of interest in debate work. Thus far it is the only activity of the year in which Idaho has won a championship and in which Idaho has been successful. It is up to the students to see that the Y. M. C. A. hall does not lack filling Friday night.

It is charged that fraternity men have killed debate at Idaho. There were no fraternity men on Idaho's team in the double victory over Pacific in January. There are no fraternity men on the present team that is to meet Whitman. Will there be any fraternity men in the audience?

The entertainment closed with the presentation of "The Kleptomaniac," a one act farce by Margaret Cameron, by seven girls. It was the climax of the show and pleased the audience throughout. The plot was slight, but the naturalness and finish of the acting made the play a rather notable one. The cast was unusually successful in "getting over" the points to the audience; the latter laughed at the right time.

Charlotte Tuttle played the leading emotional role in a convincing manner. Her voice was pleasing and natural, her action marked by ease, and her interpretation of lines clever. She made Peggy Burton the character about which the others naturally rallied, as they should.

KAPPA SIGMAS' DRESS BALL

Very Enjoyable Affair Pulled Off In Eggan's Hall Last Friday Evening.

Last Friday evening the Gamma Theta chapter of Kappa Sigma gave a formal ball in Eggan's hall that probably surpassed any similar function given here for some time, in the beauty and originality of its decorations.

Eight alternating segments of scarlet, white and emerald-green hunting formed a solid canopy overhead from the center of which a light was suspended. Frosted globes bearing the Greek characters for Kappa and Sigma were suspended at intervals from the balcony. Pennants and banners hung from the walls. Easy chairs and sofas made the intermissions delightful.

The feature of the evening was exhibited during and after the special. It was a six-foot crescent and star—the fraternity emblem. The jewels, skull and Greek characters of Kappa and Sigma were shown by lights shining through colored tissue paper. When the other lights were turned off, this emblem made a very beautiful spectacle.

The stage was decorated with evergreens, and was set with sufficient tables to accommodate one-third the guests present. Throughout the evening punch and wafers were served at a booth in one end of the hall which was decorated in the Kappa Sigma colors.

Besides the active members and the alumni of the Idaho chapter there were representatives from each of the other fraternities at Idaho. Mr. Whitthorne of the University of the South, and four Kappa Sigmas from the Pullman chapter were in attendance.

President and Mrs. MacLean, Professor and Mrs. Hulme and Miss French were in the receiving line.

A. M. U. I.

The bi-weekly session of the Associated Mines was held at the Zeta Delta house last Tuesday evening. Part of the meeting was given over to business, after which Prof. McCaffery gave interesting talk on aerial tramways. The talk was accompanied with lantern slides. The slides not only showed the method of supporting the cables but also gave a clear view of the terminals, showing the method of loading and unloading. These meetings of the miners are always informal and any one is welcome to attend.

Idaho has a debate with a strong adversary Friday night. Her debaters are freshmen—every man of them. They will be nerved and put on their mettle if they face a full hall of their fellow students, each of whom urges, even demands, that each debater fight to the last ditch—that each man put forward all he's got.

It's like football, or baseball or other competitive stunts. The presence of their supporters wins. It won at Pullman in the most crucial minute and a half of football ever played in the Northwest. The only complete, double scored, absolute championship victory Idaho has won this year in any contest was that last January in debate. It's up to the students to make good—to pay off their obligations to these men and to this line of college activity.

Fetch at least one or two of your friends to the debate Friday.

Requirements for Master's Degree.

Following are the requirements for a master's degree at the University which were adopted by the committee on graduate instruction and degrees, March 5:

- 1. Conditions of Candidacy:
A graduate of one of the colleges of this University, or of another institution in which the requirements for the first degree are equivalent, may become a candidate for the corresponding master's degree by making application on a blank form provided for the purpose. The application must be submitted for approval to the committee on graduate instruction and degrees not later than October 15th.
- 2. Nature and Amount of Work:
The minimum requirement shall be twenty-four credits in addition to the thesis, at least one-half to be graduate in character. Not less than twelve credits shall be in the major department.
- 3. Residence:
One year's work is required of every candidate who has not received a first degree at this University. Graduates of the University of Idaho may be permitted in special cases to spend one semester at some other approved institution.
- 4. Examinations:
Final examinations are required upon the completion of each subject.
- 5. Thesis:

A thesis upon some subject connected with the major study is required, unless waived by the committee, upon recommendation of the major professor. This subject must be submitted for approval to the chairman of the committee on graduate instruction and degrees before November 15th. Two typewritten copies of the thesis in specified form shall be deposited in the University library.

6. Degrees:
The degrees offered are: Master of Arts, M. A., Master of Science, M. S., Master of Science in Agriculture, M. S. (Agr.) and Master of Science in the respective branches of engineering, e. g., M. S. (C. E.), etc.

7. Fees:
Before receiving his degree the candidate shall pay a diploma fee of ten dollars and any unpaid laboratory fees.

Track Prospects Bright.

The track men have been out on the campus for a week, and a large squad is reporting every night. Prospects for a strong team are bright. As soon as the cinder track on the athletic field is sufficiently dried out the team will go to work down there.

Correction in Stock Judging Scores.

In the stock judging contest at the Portland Live Stock show, the original scores were announced as follows: Idaho School of Agriculture, 1955; Washington, 1946; Idaho second team, 1871; Oregon first team, 1788; Oregon second team, 1545.

Errors subsequently found in the Idaho and Washington scores make them stand as follows: Idaho, 2012; Washington, 1974; Idaho second team, 1871; Oregon first team, 1788; Oregon second team, 1545.

Miss Maud Himes Prima Donna.

Miss Maude Himes has been chosen to sing the leading role in "The Pirates of Penzance," the Gilbert & Sullivan opera, to be given by the junior class, May 3 and 4. Miss Himes is a freshman, and has only appeared in recital once, but she is possessed of a beautiful soprano voice, and is one of the coming vocalists of the school.

Cadets to Coeur d'Alene.

Spring vacation has been definitely set to begin April 20 and last till April 29. The cadet battalion will leave Monday, April 22, for Coeur d'Alene, where they will be encamped for a week.

Miss Belle Sweet entertained at an informal tea Saturday afternoon in honor of her sister, Miss Margaret Sweet, who is to take Mrs. Haner's place in the department of Domestic Art. Many of the college girls and various members of the faculty called during the afternoon.

Fine Journalistic Ability in the University.

"The Lure of the Moving Picture Show," an essay written by Harry R. Burke in the sophomore rhetoric class, was featured in the Sunday Statesman last week. Another essay entitled "Life and Existence" was published in the Spokane Review some time ago. Professor Tull has submitted some of Mr. Burke's work to various editors, who have praised it highly.

How to Use the Library.

Next year a one-hour course in the use of the library will be offered. The work will consist of the study of reference books, e. g. dictionaries, encyclopaedias, bibliographies, indexes, etc., and of the different ways of finding desired material which is in the library. This course will aid materially in the preparation of other college work for it will give a student the means of using the library effectively.

Old Glory should be respected and honored wherever seen, and it is certain that every Idaho student feels as he or she should in regard to our national emblem.

However, if a stranger were to hear the comments of a great many on the campus on the flag that every day, rain or shine, floats over the gymnasium, he would feel that we were lacking in patriotism.

That flag, or rather what is left of it, is a disgrace. Tattered and torn, faded and ragged, it has seen its best days and should be replaced. Two stars have recently been added to the flag. One of the new arrangement is what is wanted.—A Student.

Agriculture Dep't "There" at Portland.—High Priced
Sales.

LIVE STOCK PRIZES.

The Pacific Northwest Live Stock Show held at Portland March 18, 19, and 20, was many times larger than its predecessor and was unquestionably one of the great shows of the year. The University of Idaho exhibited one Percheron mare, five head of steers, five fat wethers and one fat barrow, and entered for the students' stock judging contest two teams of five men each. This showing brought wonderful results both in the show and judging ring and in the sales ring.

Clifton, a pure bred Hereford steer dropped in March 1909, and champion Hereford of the International Live Stock Show at Chicago in 1911, won first for three year old steer and was later made reserve champion.

Evergreen Wilton, pure bred Hereford steer dropped in February 1910, was awarded first prize as two year old steer.

Sterling, pure bred Hereford steer dropped in January, 1911, won first prize as yearling steer and was later made grand champion of the show.

Amorita, six year old Percheron mare weighing 2050 pounds and carrying record of champion mare of the 1909 International Live Stock Show was awarded first prize for draft mare.

The pure bred Berkshire barrow which has been kept at the University since last October and was seen by thousands of people on the Demonstration trains run by the University was returned to his former owners, Barrows and Davenport of Crabtree, Ore., who showed him and won the champion ship for fat barrow and a $50 silver cup.

On sheep the University won first and second on two year old wether and same awards on yearling wether.

Such is a list of prizes won by University animals.

The sale of the fat steers, however, brought forth the sensation of the show, when the champion steer Sterling sold to George Warren, of Warrenton, Ore.; for $1.20 per pound, bringing a total of $1296. This exceeds the price paid for the champion of the International this year by 30 cents per hundredweight and with a single exception is the highest price on record.

Clifton sold for 50 cents per pound to William Constantine of Portland, and Evergreen Wilton was bought by the Los Angeles Packing Company for fifteen and one-half cents per pound.

STUDENT STOCK JUDGING TEAM WINS CHAMPIONSHIP

The students added fresh laurels to the wonderful record just given. In competition with two teams of five men each from the Oregon Agricultural College and one team of five men from the Washington State College, Idaho won first and third. The winning team was composed of students from the second year of the School of Practical Agriculture. Two of these boys have always lived on live stock producing farms, but had no special training with pure breeds before coming to the University, one lives on a forty acre fruit farm in South Idaho, one has lived all his life on a Palouse wheat farm, and one has had but two years of farm experience.

Of the 25 students competing Geo. C. Leth of Buhl, Idaho, made the highest score, 437 out of a possible

500. He wins a gold medal valued at $25, offered by Ex-Mayor B. T. Byrnes of Moscow.

The winning team is made up of the following men:—Geo. C. Leth, Buhl; H. R. Abel, Moscow; G. R. Adams, Eugene, Ore.; M. V. Miller, LaCrosse, Wash; and E. R. Greenslet, Nampa, Idaho.

Third place was won by a team from the junior year of the College of Agriculture made up of W. B. Kjosness of Spokane; C. E. Johnson, Idaho Falls; C. H. Heard, Moscow; L. I. Case, Minneapolis, Minn.; and J. R. Maughn, Preston.

Clark Moon Assaulted.

Clark B. Moon, a former student at the University of Idaho, now city editor of the Coeur d'Alene Press, was badly beaten by T. A. Daughters and C. A. Colby of the Journal, of that city, according to press reports the Journal had accused the Press of promoting a prize fight. Moon went to see his "distinguished contemporaries" about it, and came out of the Journal office after the fashion established by the late "Billy Patterson" For some hours he was unconscious. A poker is said to have been cast for a prominent part in the performance.

The new eleventh edition of the Encyclopaedia Britannica has been received at the library and is now on the shelves with other reference books. It is much better than the old editions in paper, print and binding but the greatest changes have been made in the form, content, and arrangement of the material. Most of the articles on comprehensive subjects have been broken up into their component parts, and each is in its own alphabetical place. This improvement makes the work much more convenient for quick use.

Prof. Aldrich on State Control of Water Power.

In the morning Tribune of Lewiston of March 24th Professor Aldrich has an interesting article on the "Forest Service Attitude on the Use of Water Power." His trip last summer in the Nevada-California desert country brought him in touch with a peculiar instance of the handicapping of a legitimate private development project by the forest service. The article is in line with his recent contribution to "Science." He argues that the people of the western states can solve their own problems.

Cards announcing the marriage of Miss Marguerita Isabel Sandgren and Mr. Ross E. Rowell, U. S. M. C., have arrived. The marriage took place on the sixth of March in San Francisco.

SHOULD THE A. S. U. I. FEE BE RAISED

Victor Price Debaters Discuss Topic. Recitation by McAdams and Several Stump Speeches

Friday evening John McEvers and Chester Minden endeavored to show against B. E. and J. D. Davis that it would be better for the University of Idaho if the registration fee were increased so as to include a season ticket to all athletic events. The affirmative showed that the raise would not be anywhere near so much as it takes under the present system of buying tickets to all contests. Their figures called for an increase in the registration of $2.50 per semester, making the total fees paid in per school year $13.00. But the negative had something to say as well. They contended that the present system was good because it paid out. Last year athletics came out ahead financially. Also the question of spirit would not be helped out greatly by this condition of affairs. Men would have to go to the contests because they paid for the privilege. The element of coercion would come in while under the present system this is not the case. The present system is democratic while the proposed scheme would be a system of "taxation without representation". According to the athletic report of last year, $6448.72 were received by the manager of athletics. Graduate Manager Larson estimates that 30 per cent, or $1934.68 per year, comes from the students. There are 315 students now registered in college work. That means that each student would have to pay $6.15 per year in order to get a season ticket, necessitating an increase of the registration fees to $14.00 per year. And there would still be a chance of not coming out even,—should the attempt to liquidate the debt on the athletic field be carried on, the fees would have to be still higher.

Not only is the present system good in being democratic and in gaining results, but it would be highly undesirable to in our present state of development here. Conditions are different from those in other institutions where this system is followed out. At Utah, for instance the student body is much larger than it is here at Idaho. Seattle again has over two thousand students. A season ticket admits to all activities—the whole cost but $5.00 per year. The conditions there are different not only in there being more students but also but also because there is a town support that is much greater than the combined support of townspeople and students here at Idaho.

The system would be again undesirable because it would turn students away from Idaho. Nor has Pullman, large as it is, any fee that is compulsory. It is also bad because the Regents would not authorize the collection of the extra amount and it would be up to the students to do as they individually saw fit. That is the way it is at present. How much better off would we be? From the standpoint of fairness also it would not be desirable; for all men who play on the teams would have to pay to see their own games. "It seems then," summed up the negative, "that since the present system is good and democratic, and under the present conditions the plan proposed would not work well, the A. S. U. I. registration fees should not be raised so as to include a season ticket to all events."

The judges gave an unanimous decision for the negative.

The next regular meeting of the society will be held in the Dormitory, Saturday, April 6th, when the question of the recall of judicial decisions will be discussed. All students are invited.

Baseball.

There will probably be an average of four games of baseball per week this spring. This will mean two games in each league. Coach Griffith called a meeting of the different managers of the fraternity teams, and an organization was effected. Following are the officers of the league and the managers of the different teams:

President, Coach Griffith; Secretary-Treasurer, Jas. Harris; Manager Non-Fraternity team, Clarence Favre; Manager Kappa Sigma, Enoch Perkins; Manager Theta Mu Epsilon, Jas. Harris; Manager Phi Delta Theta, Ralph Dippel; Manager Zeta Delta, Fay Robinson. It was decided that each team was to raise ten dollars, and this amount was to be used in purchasing a trophy and the remainder to be used in purchasing baseballs.

The schedule will be made as soon as possible and will be published in this paper. Each team will meet each other team about three times, according to present indications.

Coach Griffith is planning to have a diamond on the campus if permission can be had from the proper authorities. This is greatly to be desired as there is not room on the one diamond on the athletic field.

The games will probably be seven innings as there will hardly be time for a nine inning game.

A meeting of the managers of the class teams will be held the latter part of this week at which some definite action will be taken.

Messrs. McDooga, Minneah, Mead and Becker of W. S. C. spent Sunday at Delta House.

Prof. Harold L. Axtell of the Latin Department has received recent complimentary recognition of his scholarship in the difficult fields of Roman Mythology at the hands of W. Warde Fowler of Oxford University, the great English authority on the religion of the Romans, in a book by the latter entitled "The Religious Experience of the Roman People." Frequent reference by the author to Dr. Axtell's dissertation on "Deification of Abstract Ideas at Rome." (Chicago, 1907) are made always with respect and appreciation. On a very much disputed question concerning a certain Roman deity, he definitely aligns himself with Dr. Axtell.

W. Warde Fowler is fellow and late sub-rector of Lincoln College, Oxford, Hon. D. Litt. University of Manchester, and author of "The Roman Festival of the Period of the Republic," besides the above mentioned book which is the latest and most important publication on the subject.

Mining Students To Visit The Mines of British Columbia.

While the cadets are on encampment receiving practical military training, the upper classmen on the mining department will make a trip to the Rossland mining district in British Columbia. They will observe the methods of the copper and lead smelters and lead refinery at Trail. They will also examine the War Eagle, the Center Star and the Le Roi mines.

The mining students make a trip of this nature and get practical illustrations of mining work. Last year they visited the Coeur d'Alene district. There they visited the Hercules, the Hecla, the Hunter, the Bunker Hill and the Morning Mines.

Potatoes Grown Above Ground.

A curious example of plant variation is demonstrated by some potato plants now being grown by Professor Childers for experimental purposes. In addition to a large yield of tubers in the usual place there are quite a number of potatoes clinging to the vines well above the ground. They may be seen in the college greenhouse.

Miss Maude Himes, '15, has been chosen to sing the leading role in The Pirates of Pengance, the comic opera to be produced May 3 and 4 under the ausices of the junior class. Miss Himes has a beautiful soprano voice and although a stranger to Moscow audiences, having appeared in recital only once, has already gained much commendation and popular favor.

The scenic and costume effects will be worked out and tested on a miniature stage which is now under course of construction. It is planned to make the production the most elaborate in every way, in the history of amateur theatricals at the university.

The cast and chorus are rehearsing several times each week under the direction of Prof. E. H. Storer.

ABOUT THE CAMPUS.

The horticultural department is preparing 360 square feet of hoed bed for experimental work on tomatoes.

The girls of Ridenbaugh hall are planning to entertain the members of Phi Delta Theta at the dormitory on Saturday evening.

Theta Mu Epsilon entertained Mrs. E. Griner, the Misses Redway, McFarland, Neuman, Hague, Holaday, Fox and Clarke at dinner, Sunday.

Miss Mildred Gulie of Pullman was a visitor at the Delta Gamma House over the week end.

Among the out of town guests at the Kappa Sigma ball were the Misses La Follete, Vestal and Coltar, of Pullman, Miss Anna Eaves of Lewiston, Miss Gladys McCann of Farmington, and Miss Mary Prather of Spokane. While at Idaho, they were the guests of Gamma Phi Beta.

How Disease Enters the Body and How Long a Time Elapses Before Appearance of the Disease.

The following table gives the general mode of entering the body for different diseases. The number of X's indicate the relative degree of infection by that channel. For instance, XXXX indicate the most general avenues of entrance, X the least likely, although indicating that the germ may enter that way. A — indicates that infection cannot gain an entrance through that channel.

By period of incubation is meant the time elapsing between the entrance of the germ into the body and the first appearance of the disease.

Since some diseases never attack an individual more than once during their life, some people and even some physicians recommend exposing a child to those diseases and "having it over with." The time of advocating the "catching" of any disease is past. Our modern science of medicine has put a check upon the most contagious diseases and children may now pass through life never having suffered some of those diseases. The lessons of bodily vitality and resistance cannot be too forcibly presented to those who have the care of little men and little women.

Miss Margaret Allen as Valerie Chase Armsby, the somewhat sophisticated young widow, played her part lightly and easily. Her laugh was good and her interpretation of the part charming. Miss Clara Querry, as the executive, resourceful Freda Dixon, won immediate approval from the audience. Her work was notable from the ease with which she carried on a great deal of "business". Miss Querry was one of the favorites with the audience. Miss Helen Chase, as Mabel Dorer, also had a very "grateful" role. She made the other players and the audience laugh heartily over her devotion to "Charles", and her theory that "it is the sharing of the dear little details that makes married life so sweet." Her telephone scene was as "cute" as any presented at the University for a long time. Miss Cozier, as the snobbish Mrs. Ashley, gave a convincing interpretation of the part, while Misses Nankervis and Miss Whitwell were adequate in their roles of lady journalist and Irish maid.

One of the pleasing features of the play was the fact that the audience could hear everything said on the stage.

The University orchestra under the direction of E. Hellier-Collens played several selections with fine effect. The entertainment was under the direction of Dr. Moore and Professor Tull and under the management of J. T. Morgan.

Track Men Needed.

Wanted—immediately, one hundred men to turn out for track work at the University of Idaho. No previous experience required. Pay—the best.

If the above were to appear in some daily paper it would be a sensation and would probably bring answers. If something does not happen soon Coach Vander Veer and Captain Denning, of the track team, will have to resort to some such strenuous measures to get men to come out for the team. The squad has been very small so far this spring and the success of the team this spring probably depends on the number who turn out, so it is up to all men who possibly can, get out and work for the silver and gold.

Track work is largely individual but every bit of material must be used and there is plenty of material about the campus that is not being used.

It is up to each man whether he will make every effort to see Idaho turn out a winning team or not. There are those who for various reasons cannot do the work, but all who can must—and at once, too.

It should be a matter of pride. If we send a poor team to the conference meet in Portland when we might have sent a better one, we will have been disloyal to our school and to ourselves.

Forest Ranger Course Closes.

The students of the first ranger school finished their work in the department of Forestry at the University of Idaho on Friday, March 8th.

Thirteen students registered for this course, two of whom are already employed as rangers in the Forest service; two others have decided to remain in the forest school and complete the entire four-year course. The others will endeavor to secure employment in forestry work during the summer and either return in the autumn to pursue additional forestry courses in the or take the rangers examinations and enter the government service permanently.

Signs of Spring.

"Stick" calls early.

Vandy's squad is in evidence.

Window lights are being carried about the campus by other than grammar school youngsters. Some interest in baseball after all.

Jesse Pierce purchased a new squirrel rifle the other day and was heard to say "Woe be unto ye unfortunate rodent that maketh a target of himself."

Faculty affected "Pink" Griffith and "Doc" Guerny sprint across the campus, Griffith winning by a hair, and being pushed so hard that he is of the opinion that it would have been better to have lost the race.

Drill on campus Monday. It was probably due to their long confinement rather than to lack of military bearing that the cadets seemed to gaze around so much and so awkwardly. They were so glad to be out they did not mind being called down for looking around at those more fortunate than they.

Promptly at 1 p. m. the railroad surveying class under Dr. Steinman leaves the Ad building for the railroad tracks, where they spend the afternoon in some practical work with switches, etc.

The chemistry department has purchased a new baseball glove, borrowed a ball and gone into training. The first practice took place a few days ago on the lawn between the engineering building and the dorm. The players received some good support from the students who happened to be around. The outlook is promising. Not to be outdone the law department resumed its intermittent practice Saturday, and instead of covering only a small portion of the campus they covered most of it by chasing flies, hot grounders, etc. that persistently bounded the wrong way.

Yes friends, the Argonaut is almost tempted to say spring is probably coming.
