THE QUILL APPEARS

The New University Magazine Is Reviewed by Dean Eldridge.

In the old days when the "Argonaut" was constantly changing its shape to match its varying contents, there would occasionally appear a "literary" number with stories and an infrequent poem, along with the regular supply of athletic news (and predictions) and the accounts of the doings of the Websterian and Amphictyon societies, now defunct. But to the best of my knowledge no magazine avowedly literary has before ventured to rear its head on the campus. I therefore was glad to read the announcement of such a periodical and am much pleased with the first number, just issued by the English Club under the title of "The Quill."

With the editor, Mr. Ralph Foster, '13, "I believe the university has sufficient material for such a publication." The proof is in the neat little number of thirty-five printed pages before me. While it is announced as merely experimental in nature, it is inconceivable that the university should, by lack of support, let this most promising product of its history languish and disappear. Indeed, the first impression it made upon me was that it was bound to call forth the best efforts of both comparatively experienced writers and novices. Anyone may well be proud to have an article appear in "The Quill" under his signature. Nor should discouragement nor resentment arise, should the editor and his advisors, in adhering to the published intention, not accept all manuscripts offered. The field is fair, and competition should be keen. The balmy spring days now upon us should furnish the necessary poems, while the leisure days or busy, changing scenes of the long vacation should provide sketches and stories enough so that the editor will be troubled with an embarrassment of riches for his early fall issues. After that the enterprise should proceed with increasing momentum.

Now a few words as to the material in this first number. There is excellent variety—two stories, two poems, a sketch, an essay, a metrical translation, some paragraphs of student meditations, and a few pungent epigrams.

After the modest foreword, the first article is a story of consider-

BOISE HIGH SCHOOL WINS ANNUAL INTERSCHOLASTIC

Ten Records Broken in Spite the Bad Weather Conditions. Coeur d' Alene is Second.

Ten Idaho interscholastic records were broken in the third annual Idaho interscholastic track meet held on Idaho field last Friday. The championship of the state this year went to southern Idaho, Boise, carrying off the highest honors in the meet with 47 points. Coeur d'Alene, last year's champions, ran a close second, winning 42 points. The relay was won by Coeur d'Alene. Carley of Boise took the individual honors with 20 points won in four firsts. His nearest rivals were Cooke of Coeur d'Alene with 16 and Thompson of Lewiston with 15.

This year's meet was held under the most unfavorable weather conditions that have been encountered in the history of the annual event. The track though hard was somewhat heavy and the records made indicate that with a better track some northwest records would have fallen. The preliminaries were postponed until Friday morning when they were pulled off before a small crowd that shivered on the bleachers. In the afternoon, however, a full bleacher greeted the high school athletes and the weather responded until it became quite comfortable.

Boise and Coeur d'Alene were the only high schools which appeared to have a chance in the meet. Colfax, winning 21 points, was the only other team that scored consistently, although Lewiston's individual star, Thompson, put his school in fourth place with 15 points. Harbke took 5 points for Nez Perce in the high jump. DeHaven made four points for Grangeville in the distance events. Schooler and Lomasson made the same number for Genesee in the weights, and Wallace placed Hoyer in the discus throw and Murphy in the 220 hurdles for two points.

Following are the results of the meet:

Javelin—First, Cooke, Coeur d'Alene; second, Nourse, Boise; third, Schooler, Genesee. Distance 148 feet.

50-Yard Dash—First, Carley, Boise; second, Morrison, Colfax; third, Thompson, Lewiston. Time, 5.3 seconds.

100-Yard Dash—First, Carley, Boise; second, Thompson, Lewiston; third, Colquhoun, Coeur d'Alene. Time, 10.2 seconds.

Hammer Throw—First, Berry, Boise; second, Cooke, Coeur d'Alene; third, Nourse, Boise. Distance, 135 feet, 3 in.

Shot Put—First, Cooke, Coeur d'Alene; second, Martinson, Genesee; third, Lomasson, Colfax. Distance 42 feet.

Discus Throw—First, Nourse, Boise; second, Lomasson, Colfax; third, Heyer, Wallace. Distance, 100 feet 2 inches.

Half-Mile Run—First, DeWald, Coeur d'Alene; second, DeHaven, Grangeville; third, Bonneville, Coeur d'Alene. Time, 2 minutes, 11 seconds.

Mile Run—First, Gerlough, Boise; second, Bonneville, Coeur d'Alene; third, DeHaven, Grangeville. Time, 4 minutes, 56 seconds.

Broad Jump—First, Thompson, Lewiston; second, Cassidy, Colfax; third, Morrison, Colfax. Distance, 20 feet 6½ inches.

120-Yard Hurdles—First, Carley, Boise; second, Thompson, Lewiston; third, Nugent, Boise. Time, 17.6 seconds.

220-Yard Dash—First, Carley, Boise; second, Colquhoun, Coeur d'Alene; third, Morrison, Colfax. Time, 23.4 seconds.

Pole Vault—First, Cassidy, Colfax; second, Meyers, Colfax; third, Cunningham. Height, 10 feet 3 inches.

220-Yard Hurdles—First, Nugent, Boise; second, Thompson, Lewiston; third, Murphy, Wallace. Time, 28.1 seconds.

High Jump—First, Harbke, Nez Perce; second, Bartges, Coeur d'Alene; third, Goff, Colfax. Height, 5 feet 7½ inches.

Relay—Coeur d'Alene. Time, 1:44.

TRACKLETS.

It is interesting to note that not a record made three years ago still stands. Of the seven which survived last year's meet all were broken this year. In the matter of records Carley is high man with four to his credit. Buck Phillips is second still holding three, al-

MUSIC EXPERTS WILL PERFORM

Music Department to Present a Fine Program to Music Lovers Friday Night.

The first ensemble concert to be given by the faculty of the University of Idaho, assisted by Mr. Herbert Riley of the Berlin Trio, will take place Friday evening, May 10th, in St. Mark's Guild Hall.

The ensemble will be composed of Miss Fay Hostetter, pianist; Mr. E. Hellier Collens, violinist; Mr. E. H. Storer, tenor; Mr. J. Francis Maguire, pianist and Mr. Herbert Riley, cellist.

The program will contain the trio by Mendelssohn for piano, violin and cello, the Gade trio, a sonata by Grieg for piano and violin and several cello solos.

The patronesses of the entertainment are Mrs. MacLean, Mrs. Sol. E. Hutton, Miss Permeal French, Mrs. C. L. Von Ende, Mrs. J. Francis Maguire, Mrs. E. Hellier Collens and Mrs. Eldridge.

Many to Attend Summer School.

Professor Soulen of the Department of Education, who is also secretary of the summer normal session, is daily receiving many inquiries from Idaho teachers in regard to the school which opens on June 17th and continues until July 27th.

A faculty of twenty-five experts has just been appointed, many of whom are members of the university staff. Prominent lecturers will be present and deliver addresses. The whole university equipment, including Ridenbaugh Hall will be thrown open to the students of the summer school.

According to Special Orders No. 5 of the War Department, Captain Benjamin T. Simmons, general staff U. S. Army, will visit the University of Idaho Tuesday and Wednesday of this week for the purpose of holding the annual inspection of the cadet corps here. The cadets will assemble Tuesday afternoon for the inspection, which will probably be continued on the following day.

Owing to criticism of the manner of the Old Guard last year it is likely there will be no such formation this year.

The Assembly period Wednesday was devoted to the interests of the interscholastic meet. Considerable interest and enthusiasm was aroused and quite a number of tickets were sold. A short talk by John Middleton added much to the spirit of the meeting.

They say there is to be no Old Guard this year. All of us, we think, hope this is not true. No one could desire the repetition of formation indulged in last year, though in many respects it was the finest Old Guard we ever had.

This custom originally began here after the Spanish-American war. The boys who left their school, answering their country's call, returned to visit the old campus, and on inspection day formed a line to receive the inspector. It was serious business with them, and done in respect to the flag they fought under,—the same emblem they saw opposite them in the line of the 'Varsity battalion.

But, since—what? A hoodlum mass aping drill, disgusting, even angering cadets, who still looked on and laughed; and worse still, angered the federal inspector, whose business it was to report his impressions of the school to headquarters at Washington, D. C.

In Heaven's name, don't drop the Old Guard, but present it in any way, place, or form that it will not reflect upon our school or battalion. It can be held at the precise moment of inspection but away out of sight of the campus until authority can be given for its appearance there; or lacking that it can be held on the athletic field, or down town will offer plenty of advantages for parade. Campus Day could well afford another demonstration. These are but suggestions. The main idea of the Old Guard is worth preserving, but the following up of it in the last few years has been abominable. Let those interested act.

"STILL PLOTTING."

Under this caption there appeared an editorial in the edition of the Argonaut which was got out by the College of Law. The article made or implied the following statements:

That a "clique" attempted to have third year law students classified as juniors; that this "clique" by so doing merely desired to shut out the possibility of any law student becoming eligible for A. S. U. I. president who might run against a certain man, that in the college annual to be published in a few weeks, the law department is to be separated from other departments; that by so separating it the editor of the annual sets himself up as a judge of the comparative merits of diplomas issued from the law school and from other departments, and relegates the much-abused College of Law to the back portion of the book; that there is no logical reason for such division and that his action is taken "merely to revenge the defeat administered by the student body at assembly."

By any thinking person who knows the conditions, this will be taken at its face value as a piece of political manipulation such as anyone who has reached the maturity of a third year in the College of Law should not sanction or permit. For those who do not know the conditions, a word of explanation may be necessary.

There was no attempt to classify third year lawyers as juniors. The proposal was that the third year lawyers should be eligible for offices for which only seniors are eligible, only on condition that they should have had one year's work in college previous to entering the law school. The proposal was made in order to take away the obvious handicaps which law students have in that they can hold offices after only two years in college, which a man in any other department can not hold until three years have been passed in the institution. It will be remembered that the section as passed in Assembly makes third year law students seniors, and that as it was proposed by the writer in his capacity as chairman of the Executive Board committee on revision of the constitution, even it went further and proposed to make second year lawyers juniors. If the proposed amendment was made by "a clique," the writer does not know of it, and certainly does not belong to that "clique."

Those who proposed the amendment had no idea of shutting anyone out because of politics, since the only likely candidates for election from the law school have had college work previous to entering that department and would be eligible under the change. It might be of interest also that the writer supported and boosted for such a candidate until he left college.

It is true that the Law Department is to be separate from the other departments, but it is in the same section of the book and has just as important a position. It was placed there, not to distinguish between diplomas, not to give anyone political advantage, nor for any other reason except convenience. In the case of Seniors there is no doubt in regard to position, but in the case of second year law men, part of whom class themselves as Sophomores and part as Juniors, it was found to be more convenient to arrange the law school separately. In any annual published at a college where a professional school is maintained, the students of the professional school are placed in a separate section. There was no spirit of revenge, because there was no injury done to the editor, and because he would not stoop to such methods, if there had been.

Even without the inducement that convenience offers for separating the law school, there is a logical reason in that the law students have separated themselves. They maintain athletic team go in for journalism to advertise their department and in general segregate themselves from the other departments. The engineers do not come out with athletic teams; the B A's do not get out an edition of the Argonaut. If the lawyers are separate, why not put them together in a separate section?

The editor had hoped, until the article appeared, to keep the annual out of politics, because if any one wants to pick the book to pieces, his wish can easily be gratified. It will have defects, but there will be much of merit in it, and we want it to be received as a college publication, rather than as a political tool.

It is easy to question motives, but it must be evident from the facts in the case that the writer of the Argonaut article had no basis for ascribing petty political motives to the arrangement of the material for the annual. If he is a man, he will either retract his statements or will explain them with evidence, over his own signature. It would be interesting to hear the reasons that the editor of that edition of the Argonaut can give for allowing an article so obviously partisan to be published on the same page with an article denouncing petty politics.

NO DEFICIT IN MAINTAINENCE FUND

Report at Regents' Meeting Shows There will be no Deficit in Maintenance Fund.

At the meeting of the Board of Regents, the financial report showed that if the interest funds are as productive in 1912 as they were in 1911, the University will reach the end of the present fiscal year with a small deficit or no deficit in the maintenance fund.

President MacLean says: "The reason why we are able to pull out without a deficit is simply this:

"Appointments necessary to the growth of the institution have been postponed until late. The following instances will occur to every one: Three years ago the Regents authorized the appointment of a professor of economics. The appointment has never been made. For a number of years the Regents have wished to nominate a head of the department of domestic economy. Up to the present time no appointment has been made. The same thing is true in regard to the department of education and the department of debate and public speaking.

"More ambitious extensions, for example, the school of pharmacy, school of commerce, school of architecture will of necessity be held in abeyance pending a much needed increase in our maintenance fund."

Track Schedule.

Idaho will have but one inter-collegiate track meet at home this year, that one being between Whitman and Idaho on May 11th, next Saturday. On May 25th Idaho meets Washington State at Pullman, which is practically the same as a meet on our home grounds as all loyal supporters will make the trip with the team.

The conference meet takes place at Portland on June 1st and Idaho will send a team.

Professor Tull to Go Abroad.

Professor Clyde Tull of the English department has been granted a year's leave of absence. Mr. Tull will spend the summer at his home in Monon, Indiana, where he will work in his father's business. About the middle of September Mr. Tull will start on a tour of Europe, spending most of his time in England and France, although he will cover nearly the whole of the country. He will also probably visit St. Petersburg to visit friends.

At Assembly Wednesday there will be presented a series of stereopticon views of scenes in Yellowstone Park. These views are represented by those who have seen them as of the highest excellence. They are in charge of officials of the Northern Pacific Railway, and will be presented by them.

NOTICE—The Bulletin Board in the Administration Building will hereafter be cleared weekly

ABOUT THE CAMPUS.

The Argonaut loses a valued member of its staff in John T. Morgan who has been covering special assignments. Many of the longer articles in the papers have come from Mr. Morgan's pen. Mr. Morgan has accepted a position on one of the Nampa papers.

Mac Schofield, '14, has been appointed official scorer for both baseball leagues by President "Pink" Griffith. Mr. Schofield was sporting editor last year, and is athletic editor of next year's Gem of the Mountains.

Professor C. A. Stewart returned from his inspection trip of the high schools in the Coeur d'Alene District Tuesday.

The Y. M. C. A. boarding club has room at its tables for a few more students.

The debate "I"'s were supposed to have been given at Assembly Wednesday, but owing to the rally, the event was postponed.

Professor J. M. Aldrich of the Department of Biology, delivered an address at Lewiston last week on salt water lake insects.

Active rehearsal has begun on the sophomore play which will be presented the last of this month. Herbert Whitten is managing the play.

Professor Tull returned from South Idaho last week. He inspected the schools in the southeastern corner of the state. Mr. Hulme has also returned from his inspection trip.

Nominations for student body offices will probably be made at assembly next Wednesday. Election comes on the third Friday of May which is the 17th.

A farewell party to John Morgan, who leaves the end of this week to accept a position on a Nampa paper, was given at the Curtis home Tuesday evening.

Prof. Shirley Gale Patterson, of the Department of Romance Languages, will spend the summer traveling in Europe. Mr. Patterson has been re-engaged for next year.

The class in plain surveying is making a topographic survey of the campus and immediate vicinity.

Lorenzo and Roland Evans, of American Falls, who are attending the Northwestern Business College in Spokane, spent the week end at the Zeta Delta House.

J. Maurice Crom, '11, graduate of the Civil Engineering Department, is now city engineer of Cashmere, Washington.

John R. Middleton, '06, one of Idaho's best football players, and originator of the famous Idaho Spread, and who is now a banker in Hysham, Montana, spent the week in Moscow. Mr. Middleton made a talk at the rally, Wednesday.

Archie French, a short course dairy student at the University, was married to Miss Ethlyne Eastman at Payette on April 21st. Both bride and groom are from Boise.

RESUME OF YEAR'S Y. M. C. A. WORK

The Association has Established Its Right to a High Place in University Organizations

The past year has been the most successful in the history of the Young Men's Christian Association. Under the able leadership of Ray Lyman, assisted by other students and members of the faculty, it was a great benefit and help to the college men in many ways. The membership reached the high water mark of 115. Over one hundred men were provided with live, interest, and helpful courses in Bible study. Many students had their vision of the world's needs and conditions broadened by the classes in mission study. The employment bureau secured work, amounting to hundreds of dollars, for needy students. Everyone recognizes that the mens' stag and the joint reception afford the best opportunity for getting acquainted with the new students and also for having a good time. These socials were the most successful that have been held for many years. The financial support necessary for these various activities is provided by voluntary subscriptions from students, faculty, and friends. It amounted this year to $350.00.

A new departure was made in the establishment of the student's boarding club, which has provided good board at lower rates than could be had anywhere else in town for the same quality. We believe this club deserves more patronage than it has received heretofore. It will be continued next year.

Besides these material services to students, the Y. M. C. A. has exerted a potent, tho perhaps unseen, influence in raising and preserving high standards of morality, in deepening and vitalizing the religious life of the institution, and in developing strong Christian characters. These forces would become even more potent if more men gave their hearty support to the organization. The addresses by Mr. Hurrey and Mr. Robbins were especially full of inspiration and the virile type of Christianity exemplified in the lives of most Y. M. C. A. secretaries.

The officers and committee chairman, comprising the cabinet, have been chosen for the coming year.

They are: President, Frank Osborn; vice-president, J. D. Davis; secretary, Ray Cammack; Treasurer, Ralph Foster; manager of student's home, John McEvers; Bible study, J. D. Davis; missionary, Oliver Nisbet; social, C. E. Watts; membership, E. E. Davis; finance, Ralph Foster; religious meetings, Chester Smith; employment bureau, C. R. Stillinger.

These men earnestly solicit the active support of all the students and faculty, in order that the or-

UNIVERSITY CLUB BUSY AT BOISE

Plans Being Made for Reception in Honor of Miss French and High School Graduates.

At a business meeting of the University of Idaho club held Saturday afternoon in the office of A. P. Adair, '86, Empire building, it was decided to hold a club reception in honor of Miss Permeal French, dean of women at the university, during her visit to southern Idaho.

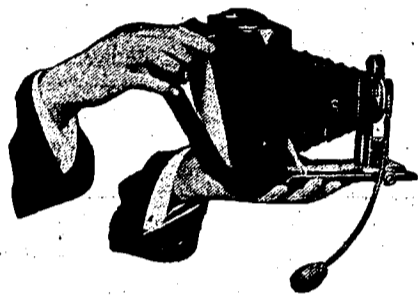

It is the intention of the club to invite as their guests for the evening the graduating class of the Boise high school.

The club was organized several years ago for the purpose of stimulating the university spirit among the alumni and ex-students of the university, and to encourage all high school graduates within the borders of the state to attend their own institution. There is now a membership of about 100, and since its organization the club has been active along social lines. Each year it has given a picnic at Pierce park, and numerous receptions to distinguished visitors. The club has annually given a scholarship in the state university to a deserving student of the Boise high school, selected from the graduating class by the high school faculty. The present scholar is Miss Lesetta Lubkin, who is distinguishing herself at the university by her work.

North Wing Progressing.

Rapid progress is being made on the north wing of the administration building. The auditorium will be thirty-three feet by one hundred and fifty feet, with a twenty foot stage. The floor will be sloping. In the front part of the wing will be three class rooms, the one on the first floor being assigned to the civil engineering department and the one on the second floor to the biology department. The top floor has not as yet been assigned. The building is supposed to be entirely completed by the last of August.

Organization may fulfill its greatest mission in rendering service to the men of Idaho. Any suggestions looking toward the strengthening or broadening of the Association's activities, will be gladly received.

MUSIC DEPARTMENT SCORES HIT

Pirates of Penzance Best Production Ever Seen Idaho.

After weeks of painful effort on the part of many connected with the Pirates of Penzance, the opera was given in a creditably high class manner in Eggan's Hall, May 3rd and 4th. Scene after scene of pleasing beauty was presented to the eye, new delights forming and unforming in a long succession.

Fine training on the part of the chorus in voice and action relieved the sole work with its massive effects. All in all the school of music, especially that in connection with the vocal department under the direction of Mr. Storer, may feel proud of its best achievement.

The Pirates of Penzance is an English production, a comic opera by Gilbert and Sullivan, the writers of Pinafore (an opera put on here last winter). Its music is especially English in many respects, a feature very noticeable in its production Friday and Saturday. It is regarded as the best of its authors' works. It contains much difficult music, a circumstance adding to the triumph of the amateur circles able to produce it.

The work of Miss Maud Himes as Mabel, General Stanley's youngest daughter, deserves high praise. Her part was sustained on a high plane through continuously burdensome scenes. Mr. Enoch Perkins, as Frederic, played his part both well and effectively. Much of the fierceness and sentimentality of Richard, the pirate chief, was enacted by Mr. Carl Loux. The exceptionally fine voice and presentation of the "model Major-General" by Mr. Ernest Loux deserves special mention.

The cast was as follows:

Richard, a pirate chief, Mr. Carl Loux; Samuel, his lieutenant, Mr. E. K. Humphries; Frederic, a pirate apprentice, Mr. Enoch Perkins; Major-General Stanley, Mr. Ernest Loux; Edward, a sergeant of police, Mr. Claude Heard; Mabel, General Stanley's youngest daughter, Miss Maud Himes; Kate, Edith, Isabel, General Stanley's daughters, Miss Mable Rudisell, Miss Katherine Smith, Miss Gladys Nankervis; Ruth, a piratical maid of all work, Miss Maud Gregory; General Stanley's daughters, pirates and police—Sopranos, Miss Helen Denecke, Miss Elizabeth Redway, Miss Evelyn Meeks, Miss Marguerite Jones, Miss Lorraine Rank, Miss Olive Kadlitz, Miss Genevieve Hague. Altos—Miss Dorothy Taylor, Miss Rose Sieler, Miss Jesse Coram, Miss Florence Stephenson, Miss Nita Miller, Miss Ursel Strohecker, Miss Edna Larsen, Miss Edwina Yearian. Tenors—Messrs. Alfred Wicher, John McEvers, Ralph Dippel, Fred Record, Chester Smith, Eugene Gerlough, Vernon Fauoett. Basses—Messrs. C. R. Buffington, H. W. Whitten, C. E. Watts, E. E. Smith, R. O. Burns, H. L. Chamberlain.

THE QUILL APPEARS

able length by Arthur P. Beokner, '11, entitled "Cupid, the Fool." An intimate knowledge of human nature is shown, tho in common with most college fiction the author is afraid of being accused of sentimentality and so adopts a somewhat cynical tone at times to offset the genuine feeling. The characters and dialog seem real, with the exception of the city-bred jilt.

"The Lad O' Dreams" by Harry R. Burke, is excellently written, its smoothly flowing language well fitting the graceful, slightly puzzling theme of the regained self of other days coming back to guide the maturer, more material man into beauties of the soul nearly forgotten. Mr. Burke's poem, "Peace," is a little gem that one enjoys reading again and again.

Two of the best numbers are signed only with initials, perhaps fictitious. The first is "Musings of a Student," in which is much sound wisdom well expressed. The other is a delightful essay on "Perversity," practically a successful vindication of that trait we are fond of calling feminine, when in reality we mean human. The wealth of instances of perversity, while distinctly personal and realistic, have the quality of universality.

Professor Hulme's poem, "Nocturne," is selected from his little book of verse, "At Twilight," written in his undergraduate days at Stanford, and is as graceful and sweet as the title implies.

Miss Jewell Bothwell, ex-'12, is represented with two widely differing contributions, an excellent translation of Horace's famous ode, "Integer Vitae," preserving largely the original meter and having the added difficulty of rhyme; and a genuinely hair-raising ghost story, "The Return of Jim Taunton," in which thruout there is no letting down of the high tension set in the opening paragraph.

The short humorous squibs have all a college setting. The best is: "What you learn at college is like horseradish; it's not to fill you up, but to make you hungry." There is a world of pedagogy in that!

The form of the magazine is pleasing and tasteful. In future issues it might be desirable to print the name of the individual article at the top of the right-hand page. The proof-reading is better than that of most student publications, the occasional annoying slips occur. The development of a sort of Editor's Drawer as a regular department might be considered.

In conclusion, let it be said that the first number of "The Quill" amply justifies its reason for existence, and its editor is certainly to be congratulated.

BOISE HIGH SCHOOL WINS

though one of his records was broken Friday.

Morrison had hard luck. He lost the 50-yard dash after leading all the way to the tape; he got set back in the hundred, and only got off well in one attempt in the br ad jump.

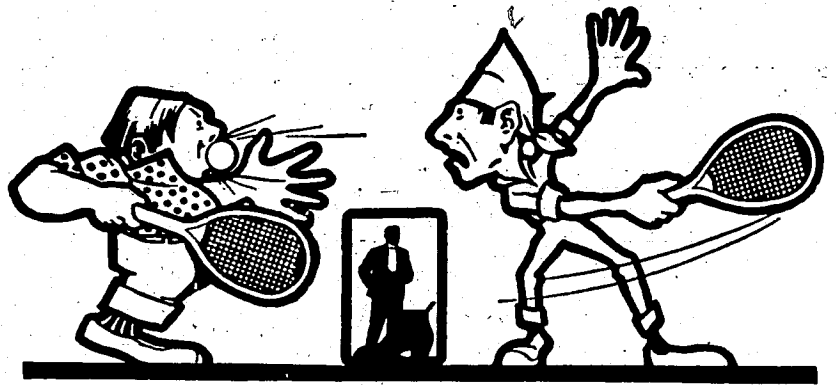

The Nez Perce team is coached by Stokesbery, Idaho's former football captain. That high school won the meet at Lewiston a week before. Dunkle, the Genesee coach, is another Idaho man.

Worthwine, the Boise coach, is in his first year at that school. He was a star fullback on the Chicago university team.

Smith, who won the low hurdles for the Lewiston Normal in last years' meet is reported to be trying out for the Michigan track team this year, and making good.

The bookmakers were out at the races, but they didn't go any stronger than milkshakes and sodas.

The faculty was represented on the list of donators of medals by Professor Patterson, who contributed the prizes for the 100-yard dash. 'Nuf sed.
