SEAMAN TALKS ON CONFERENCE

Half-way Meeting With W. S. C. Association Sunday. Regular Meetings Closed.

Gale Seaman, student secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association for the Pacific Coast, who is now engaged in a campaign among the colleges of the Northwest to secure large delegations to the student conference at Columbia Beach, was in Moscow Friday and Saturday. Friday evening he delivered an illustrated lecture on the Conference to a fair-sized crowd of men in the assembly room of Morrill Hall. A series of lantern slides was shown, giving views of the Y. M. C. A. buildings at various western colleges, and scenes from student conferences, showing camp grounds, athletic fields, as well as other views illustrating the manner in which the time passes at such a gathering. In the lecture, facts concerning the conference, and the exceptional advantages to be derived from attending it were pointed out. The leaders of classes and speakers will include prominent business men, pastors, Y. M. C. A. workers, and professors, among whom will be Dean Eldridge of our own University. It is expected that two hundred men from thirty-six colleges in Idaho, Oregon and Washington, will attend. There is reason to believe that the apportionment for the University of Idaho shall not only be met but even exceeded. The conference is open to all men who desire to learn something of efficient and virile Christian leadership.

The half-hour following the lecture was spent in disposing of a goodly supply of coffee and baked beans, and in becoming better acquainted with Mr. Seaman. Until his departure Saturday afternoon for Pullman, his time was occupied very largely by personal interviews.

This campaign was followed up Sunday afternoon by a half-way meeting with the W. S. C. Association. About fifteen Idaho students enjoyed the five-mile walk to the Garrison school house, where they were met by some thirty-six representatives from the Pullman school. An enthusiastic meeting was held, in which those who had formerly attended the conference told of the inspiration and benefits they had received. Talks were also made by Dr. Humphrey, Fred Hencke, the Association secretary

A. S. U. I. HOLDS UNUSUALLY QUIET ELECTION FRIDAY

Proctor K. Perkins, Law, '13, Elected President; Parker V. Lucas, Treasurer; R. D. Bistline Argonaut Editor.

An unusually quiet student election was held at Idaho this year. No intense rivalry or outward manifestation of "politics" marred the election. In several instances the election was close—in one case, for seventh place on the Athletic Board, a tie occurring between two men. Proctor Perkins, president elect of the A. S. U. I. was elected by a majority of 56 over G. E. Watts; Ralph Foster, vice-president elect of the A. S. U. I. by a majority of 2 over Carl G. Paulsen; Miss Mary Petoina, secretary elect by a majority of 54 over Miss Ruth Annett; Parker Lucas treasurer elect, by 38 majority over Joe Braham; R. D. Bistline, editor elect of the Argonaut by 12 over Chas. Horning;

Miss Gladys Lessinger, associate editor elect of the Argonaut, by 88 over B. E. Davis; Roy Tuttle, business manager elect of the Argonaut, by 26 over Walter Scott. On the Athletic Board Clarence Favre, 1st. Virgil Samms 2nd, Ernest Loux 3rd, John Phillips 4th, B. Kinnison, 5th, J. F. Hayden, 6th with R. E. Curtis and A. Knutson tied for 7th place. Louis Jessup and George Donart were other candidates for places. On the Debate Council were elected Chester Minden 1st, Paul Ostrout 2nd, Frank Osborne 3rd, B. E. Davis 4th, Theron Warren 5th, and F. Dotson 6th. Other candidates were J. D. Davis and M. Anderson.

CAMPUS DAY FRIDAY, MAY 31

Same Program in Many Respects as Last Year—But New.

Campus Day will be Friday, May 31. The program will be similar to that of preceding celebrations. There will be music from the tower of the Administration building, Maypole dancing, student orations, lunch on the campus, band concert, orchestra, glee club concerts on the balcony of Ridenbaugh hall, and student singing. The faculty committee in charge is composed of Dean French, Miss Wold and Prof. Tull.

Z. D.'s Entertain Dorm Girls.

Last Friday the Zeta Delta boys entertained the girls of Ridenbaugh hall in a dancing party held in the K. of P. hall. Though the party was small a very enjoyable time was had by all. For refreshments punch was served, the party breaking up at 12:00.

Last week Dr. Steinman was shown a signal honor in being elected president in the two societies: The Young Peoples Union of Moscow, and the Christian Endeavor society of the Presbyterian church of Moscow.

An attempt is being made to have Tyler of Spokane, the eminent tennis player come to Idaho Campus Day.

"BILLY" LOST FALSE TEETH

The One Thousand Dollar Reward Soon Resulted in Their Discovery.

How would you feel if you had your front teeth knocked out in a football game and were forced to wear a set of false "piano keys?"

That is the position "Billy" is in. Then, in order to get accustomed to the "tomb stones" he takes a trip to Havana. Who should be on board but a girl friend whom he had become very much attached to at the beach the summer before. He is just about to propose to her when the ship's steward bumps into him and he loses his false teeth. This causes him to lisp and the predicament and laughable situations that lead to the recovery of the teeth follow in rapid succession in the play entitled "Billy" to be presented at Eggen's Hall Friday afternoon and evening of this week.

The special scenery for the play which was painted in Spokane arrived Tuesday. The cast is working hard under the able coaching of Professor Tull and it is thought that "Billy" will be one of the brightest, sparkling farce comedies ever presented at the University.

Seats are now on sale at the Bursar's office and Hodgkin's drug store.

Five games were played in the interclass leagues last week, eliminating several teams from the running. It appears now that Kappa Sigma will win the cup in the frat league, while no one has been found who does not concede that honor to the sophomores in the interclass. The faculty ventured out for two more drubbings. The faculty team has but one more game to play, that with the seniors, and a movement is on foot among the faculty members to have that game postponed from May 30 to the last Monday of the year, June 10. Considering that the faculty team is now in a bad state of repair, the change is not without reason.

Kappa Sigma Wins.

Kappa Sigma won its hardest game and that which will probably win the cup for that order, when it defeated the Non Frat team by a score of 14-5 last Friday. Kappa Sigma played consistent ball throughout the game while the non frat men didn't seem to get into the game at all. An unassisted double play by Samms, the first of the league season was a feature of the game.

The 1913 "Gem of the Mountains came out today." It is a gem. From one cover to the other reflects "class" of more than ordinary degree for an Idaho annual. It consists of two hundred and forty pages of cuts and printed matter, is bound handsomely in leather, and printed on pebbled paper presenting a most attractive and distinctive appearance. An original and clever frontpiece of much beauty by Mark Anderson, comes first. It is a pictorial representation of the word "Idaho"—following out very well the Indian legend connected with the name. The dedication to Charles Wilcox Vander Veer is rich and tasteful. Then comes the usual departments, among them one of Prexies rich and unimitable studies. The various and beautiful phases of the Ad building introduced throughout the front portion constantly strikes a harmonious sympathetic chord in the hearts of Idaho students. The introduction of the Law Department is a new idea, well conceived and carried out. The maintenance of the Department of Traditions is still preserved—a feature that should never be permitted to die out in Idaho annuals. The organizations are richer, more varied in number and handsomely presented. The Athletic Department has a fine feature in the silhouetting of the players and members connected with it.

We congratulate the editor and his staff on the fine showing they have made in carrying out the wishes of their class.

Professor Hulme Talks in Coeur d'Alene.

"The seventh annual commencement exercises of the Coeur d'Alene high school," says the Coeur d'Alene Evening Press, "were held last evening at the high school auditorium. Before an audience that completely packed the house, Professor Edward M. Hulme of the University of Idaho delivered the commencement address, taking as his topic 'The College, the Individual, and the State.' The professor, who has a reputation at the University of being one of the best and most entertaining lecturers of the institution, thoroughly lived up to his reputation last evening, delivering a most pleasing and entertaining address to the class of 38 graduates, the largest class ever graduated from the high school in this city. Professor Hulme has a clear strong voice and his pleasing delivery at once captured the attention of all present. In his address he clearly showed the benefits to be derived from a college education, giving concrete proofs of what the training in college would do for a man or woman in the way not only of higher education in the branch chosen by the student for his business work, but also in concentration of thought and ability to cope with the higher things of life.

"In considering the college training, he carried his proofs through the work of the individual to the state, showing how the college training would make better citizens of its men and adapt them to the problems of the day, with regard to the government of the nation. The professor closed with a wish that all of the large class would continue their educational work and attend some college during the next few years, hoping they would enroll in the University of Idaho, their home institution of higher learning."

The students of the University should learn to patronize the firms who advertise in the Argonaut. It is these advertisers that make the publication possible. For your clothes, supplies, stationery, ice cream, soft drinks and places of entertainment, patronize those people who patronize you.

Professor Soulen has secured Mayor Hindley of Spokane to deliver the commencement address for the Preparatory graduates.

Professor E. J. Iddings, head of the Animal Husbandry Department of the Agricultural school has been called to his home in Indiana by the death of his father.

"As You Like It" will be featured Campus Day on the campus.

See "Billy" Friday.

LEWISTON HIGH WINS GAMES

Tennis Sharks From Lewiston Beat University Players Saturday.

In the tennis matches between a team from the University, composed of Hoobler, Record and Humphries, and a team from the Lewiston high school, composed of Wright and Hersey, the latter were somewhat victorious.

In the singles Hoobler lost to Wright, 4-6, 6-4, 6-3; Record won from Hersey, 6-4, 6-1. In the doubles, Hoobler and Humphries lost to Wright and Hersey 6-3, 8-6, 7-5.

Novelist Says Colleges Have Neither Knowledge or Culture.

Owen Johnson declares that the college men of today have no general knowledge, let alone real culture. Most of the colleges, he asserts, have become mere social clearing houses, whose students know only a few facts hastily crammed for examinations and promptly forgotten. In his new novel, "Stover at Yale," which takes up the whole subject of American colleges, Johnson makes a character propose a list of forty general questions to a bunch of classmates. But as the story is laid in 1900, the test is not hard enough for today, says Johnson, though most of his readers admit they cannot answer the questions in "Stover." Johnson has just prepared a new list, which he says, every college student or graduate ought to be able to answer. Any man in a French or German university could pass a creditable examination on them. How many American collegians can, he asks.

A Word From "Wadsy."

Bursar Jenkins has just received a letter from H. A. Wadsworth, '10, parts of which we print as of interest to Idaho people generally:
Fort Leavenworth, Miss
May 11, 1912.

Dear Mr. Jenkins:—

Well, our course of instruction here will end this month, and we will then report to our regiments for duty. . . . I go to Company K, 11th Infantry stationed at Fort D. A Russel, Wyoming.

I suppose you know Captain Joseph Gibreth. He is here at the Army Service Schools, and finishes his two years work in June. He is considered a very capable officer and stands very high in this work. . . .

Captain Leonard of my Regiment is also here at the Service Schools. He was appointed 1st Lieutenant and in command of the company to which Paul Draper was 2nd Lieutenant at the time of Draper's drowning in the Philippines. He got to the scene a few minutes after Draper disappeared in the river. . . . He had a party on construction work, and the raft upon which they were crossing, breaking up, he was unable to get ashore. . . .

I am glad to say that among all the officers stationed here, I have found none who wouldn't do most anything to help us along. . . . I like the work better all the time. . . .

With best regards to your family and every one in general at Idaho I remain

Sincerely yours,

H. A. WADSWORTH.

Veterinary Science at the University of Idaho.

To give the agricultural student useful information on livestock diseases, nearly every state university or college maintains a department of veterinary science. A number of the state schools maintain a regular college of veterinary medicine, where the student receives a three or four year course and is given the Degree of D. V. M. (Doctor of Veterinary Medicine), which corresponds to the Degree of M. D. given in medicine. The graduate of one of these schools receives thorough training in chemistry, anatomy, pathology, bacteriology, surgery, physiology, practise of veterinary medicine, meat and milk inspection, and other allied subjects.

The University of Idaho does not maintain a college of veterinary science as outlined above, but a department which is an integral part of the College of Agriculture.

All second year students in agriculture, with the exception of those specializing in forestry, take comparative anatomy, which is a study of the structure of domesticated animals. A very fine collection of skeletons, manikins and models is provided for study.

In the third year, the student in animal husbandry and dairying takes up the subject of comparative physiology.

Lectures on the functions of the different organs in animals are given, with various laboratory exercises.

In the senior year, the student is given a course on animal diseases, farm sanitation and hygiene. The value of good nursing and intelligent care of sick animals is emphasized, and the student is advised to call a competent veterinarian in time, instead of waiting until the animal is beyond recovery.

Beginning this fall, a clinic will be established at the new judging pavilion. Here, every Saturday morning, between ten and twelve, people may bring sick or disabled animals for free treatment and advice. This will give the student a knowledge of the common diseases, opportunities for examinations for soundness, administration of medicines, bandaging, and what to do in emergencies.

The University herd of cattle is tuberculin tested at regular intervals, and this gives the student valuable knowledge on the subject of tuberculosis and the importance of pure milk.

A room in the judging pavilion is fitted up with an assortment of the more commonly used drugs, and a very good equipment of veterinary surgical instruments. Additions will be made as rapidly as money is available, with the object of giving agricultural students a good working knowledge of disease. No attempt is made to turn out "self-anointed" veterinarians, but to be able to give the best of care to animals under the direction of a competent graduate veterinarian.

The same courses as above, only necessarily more brief, are given to the students in the School of Practical Agriculture, and it would be hard to find a more enthusiastic and energetic class of young men.

Besides the above work, the professor of veterinary science is veterinarian of the Agricultural Experiment Station, where research and original experiments along livestock diseases are conducted. Blackleg vaccine is distributed free, with directions for use, to anyone who requests it and who gives the number of calves they wish to vaccinate. All letters of inquiry from various parts of the state in regard to livestock diseases are promptly answered, and there are so many localities in our state where no veterinarian is available that people are invited to ask questions along these lines.

To conserve the health of nearly two million head of livestock in Idaho, valued at over ten million dollars, with its vital relationship to human health, is a stupendous task. To give interested students training along this line, and in co operation with the various other departments, help equip them to be successful agriculturists is the aim of the Department of Veterinary Science of the University of Idaho.

Kappa Sigma 5, Non Frat 7; double plays, Samms unassisted, Favre to Hoobler to Favre; wild pitches, Hayden 2, Perkins 1; passed balls, Favre 3, Knutsen 1.

Three games are scheduled for this week. Yesterday's game was postponed on account of the weather and indications are that no game will be played before Thursday at the earliest.

Faculty-Sophomore Game.

The faculty team found more trouble in its second game than in the contest of the Saturday before. Only three of the professors were able to circle the bases, while the sophs sent seventeen men around in the six innings they came to bat. The classmen took advantage of the slaughter to strengthen their batting averages. Hughart batted a thousand in five times at bat, which is the record of the league. Nineteen hits were made off Trower's delivery. The faculty team pulled off a couple of double plays during the game.

Zeta Delta 4—Theta Mu 3.

The best game of the week was played Wednesday when Zeta Delta won its first game, from Theta Mu. It was anybody's game until the last man was out. Gerlough for the Mus allowed but five hits, while Kinnison was only touched for six. The game was played in a little over an hour. If more such games were played Pink's leagues would probably have a better attendance.

Sophomore Frolic.

The Sophomore team was able to turn what for a time looked like anybody's game into a sixteen to eight victory. Robinson demonstrated that he could manipulate the delivering end of the battery as well as the receiving end, allowing but nine hits, which is considered good in this league. McCann for the seniors, held the sophomore sluggers to four hits in the five innings he twirled, which is considered better. The Sophomores are showing a very poor spirit about turning out for their games, each game having to search the bleachers for a stray sophomore to put in the field.

Faculty Still Losing.

The Juniors broke into the games won column last Saturday morning when they won from the faculty team by a score of 16-7. It was the best game that the faculty team has played and the Juniors admit that it was as much by the process of elimination as any other that they annexed the game. Axtell, Larson and Wilson were wounded in the first inning but continued in the game. The faculty team changed its line up something less than a dozen times without getting a winning combination, and Captain Griffith has about concluded that there "aint no such animal," so far as his colts are concerned. ### Students Heading for Idaho.

Professor Soulen, head of the Department of Education in the University, while doing work in connection with his department, made trips to Lewiston, Rathdrum and Wariner during the past week.

also delivering the commencement addresses at the high schools at those places. Speaking of the trip he remarked the high quality of the work in the high schools visited and spoke most highly of the work of Idaho graduates in these places.

Miss Dewey, having charge of the Department of Domestic Economy in Lewiston high has proven herself a most successful and popular teacher; a magnificent language to the graduates of Lewiston high for seventy-five was managed solely and in an almost incredibly fine manner by the juniors of that institution under the direction of Miss Dewey. At Rathdrum splendid work has been done. The presence of Miss Hunting and George Curtis has decided six of the thirteen graduates to come to Idaho next year. Wariner is reported as progressing finely with a good delegation in line for Idaho — Miss Pearl Wickstrom's work.

Professor Soulen leaves Thursday for Nez Perce where he will deliver the commencement address to the graduates of that school.

Biologists Picnic.

They arrived at their location for lunch about 1:30 p. m. Afterwards they ascended the mountain, picking flowers, catching "bugs", taking pictures and indulging in a snow ball fight. At 4:30, tired and weary from their strenuous exertions they began the return journey home, much tired, sunburned, and ready to do the same thing over again.
