NEW RULES FOR THE CADETS

Lieutenant Franklin Announces Discipline in the Military Department.

General Order No. 11.

1. Cadets absent from drill or class will submit explanation for the same within three days after said absence.

2. Explanations will not be received after three days except under exceptional circumstances.

3. Five absences unexplained will subject a cadet to being sent before the discipline committee of the faculty.

4. Absences not satisfactorily explained may be removed by extra work as prescribed by the commandant.

5. Five absences not satisfactorily explained or not removed by extra work as prescribed by the commandant will render a student liable of being sent before the discipline committee of the faculty.

General Order No. 12.

1. The following is a list of delinquencies and military offences and the number of demerits which will be awarded in each case:

One demerit

Late at drill

Slow falling in ranks

Hat on one side or back of head

Spitting in ranks

Not keeping eyes to front when at attention

Soiled clothing in ranks.

Not executing manual of arms properly

Improper salute

Two demerits

Dirty gun at inspection

Dirty equipment at inspection

Talking in ranks

Chewing in ranks

Carelessness in writing explanations

Dropping gun

Inattention in ranks

2. A list of offenses reported at each drill will be posted on the bulletin board the next day after the drill.

3. Any cadet wishing to explain verbally to the commandant his offense may do so before the following drill.

4. Any cadet receiving a total of ten demerits within one calendar month will be required to do one punishment tour of one hour and a half, or one extra drill of one hour and a half as the commandant may see fit to impose.

5. Any cadet failing to do his extra drill or punishment tour when ordered and failing to properly explain his failure within twentyfour hours after the time said punishment will be sent before the discipline committee.

IDAHO IS DEFEATED BY UNIVERSITY OF WASHINGTON

U. of W. Shatters Idaho's Championship Aspirations by the Decisive Score of 24 to 0.

By a decisive score of twenty-four to nothing, Idaho's championship hopes went glimmering at Seattle last Saturday. It seems impossible to wrench the championship of the conference from the University of Washington. Although Dobie lost five of his best men by graduation last year, yet he managed to dig up a team of new men that had no trouble at all in defeating Idaho's team, composed of nearly all experienced men.

Washington piled up twenty-two points in the first half. Idaho made first down only once in the same length of time. It seemed that the Washington boys beat Idaho doing everything. Washington got the jump on Idaho in every charge. The Idaho backfield men were downed before they could get even to their own line: two and sometimes three Washington men downed the Idaho man catching punts before he could move out of his tracks, and the Idaho boys seemed to be in a trance trying to solve Dobie's plays and runs off tackle. Jacquot, right half back for Washington, proved himself to be a powerful runner and once he got past the line of scrimmage he was hard to stop. He made most of his gains through holes opened for him by Bliss, left tackle, and it was a sensational run of forty yards by him that paved the way for Washington's first touchdown. Washington lost the ball on Idaho's five yard line after this big run, but Idaho had to kick from behind its own goal line, and right afterward, Captain Griffith of Washington dropped back of the line and hurled a forward pass straight into the arms of Sutton who raced ten yards for a touchdown. The ball was downed in the corner of the field and Patten had to kick out. Patten missed his kick for goal. Score, six to nothing.

A long run by Jacquot, followed by a run by Bud Young resulted in another touchdown in short order, and this time Patten kicked goal. Score, Washington 18, Idaho 0.

In the second quarter, Young made a run for thirty-five yards behind perfect interference and planted the ball within a yard of a touchdown. Shiel took it over in one buck. Patten again missed goal. In the same quarter, Young made a drop kick from the forty yard line, and the first half ended twenty-two to nothing in favor of Washington.

Washington only made two points during the second half, on a touchback when Brown was thrown behind the line, but toward the end of the last quarter Dobie sent substitutes in and pretty soon had practically a new team on the field. The subs had the ball within ten yards of another touchdown when time was called. It did not seem to make much difference how many substitutes Dobie used, for Idaho could make no gains against them.

Following is the way the two teams lined up:

U. of I.		U. of W.
McCormick	left guard	Griffith
Perkins	center	Presley
Favre	right guard	Anderson
Buffington	right tackle	Patten
Leuschel	right end	Sutton
Lockhart	quarter back	Young
Burns	left half	Dorman
Perkins	right half	Jaquot
Knutson	full back	Shiel

Summary: Touchdowns—Sutton, Young, Shiel. Goal from field—Young. Goals kicked—Patten 1. Hookenberry of Portland, referee; Flaeger, Northwestern, umpire; Skeels, Seattle, head linesman. Substitutes—Shipky for Leuschel; Miller for Dorman; Devine for Anderson; Bruce for Patten; Smith for Young; Clark for Hunt; Leader for Sutton; Gallagher for Shiel; Griffith for Presley.

WOMEN'S BUILDING AT UNIVERSITY

Idaho Women Are Working for A New Building for Domestic Science

The women of Idaho, through their State Federation of Women's clubs are planning to ask the next legislature to make an appropriation for a Women's building at the University. They believe that through research, training of resident students, moveable schools, extension and chautauqua the university will make an incalculable return to the state in improved health and domestic conditions.

"It is everywhere being recognized that it is equally as important to train women to be capable managers and intelligent consumers as it is to make men efficient producers," said Miss Permeal French, dean of women. "The need for trained home-makers is greater today than ever before. For instance the pure food and drugs act requires labels stating the contents of packages, but until the housewife understands what effect preservatives have upon the health of her family the law is of little benefit to the people at large. Preservatives are used not only by manufacturers but by many women themselves during the canning season.

"Home economics trains the future mother. Over one third of the children born die under the age of five years and more than half of these deaths are due to digestive disorders.

"The United States has as many divorces as all the other Christian nations combined and it is not incorrect to say that a very large proportion of them are caused by incompetent housekeeping."

"New fields of industry are constantly opening for women," said Miss Jessie M. Hoover, head of the home economics department. Trained women are being employed as institutional managers, pure food and pure textile experts, laundry, luncheon and cafeteria managers, hospital dietitians, costume designers, interior decorators, extension and chautauqua lecturers, magazine writers, architects and teachers of home economics.

"At present the University of Idaho is handicapped by inadequate facilities for giving the girls of the state the training they want. The home economics department

Explanation.

To whom it may Concern:

To show my appreciation for the benefit of those who patronize me, I take this method of protecting them.

It has been rumored, so I am informed by my friends, that I am a scab barber.

I wish to state emphatically, the rumor is false, and will openly and defy the party or parties that made such an assertion to probe into my past along the lines of unionism.

During my career as a barber, I have been an active member in aiding the organization of three local unions.

For the present, I am resting on a retiring caad. I was in good standing at this time.

As I understand unionism and the by-laws of the organization, a person must be notified by the local in the place where he resides and given a chance to become a member. He must refuse or disobey the rules of the by-laws before he can be termed a scab or put on the unfair list.

If I am a scab because I have given to a body of students a rate by forming a club; I stand ready to admit to those who were bold enough to make such a remark, but if those who condemn me will kindly walk out and tell me he is a true union man, I will convince him that he is not. For myself, I do not care what you call me so long as I do not hear you.

But if I am a scab, I would be ashamed to even charge Moler's prices, for the kind of work that I have seen that was done by some of my fellow craftsmen in this city.

I belong to Boise Journeymen Barbers International Union of America, local number 380, was retired September 10, 1908. Retiring card number is 39091. Therefore, if there's a local here, I stand ready to be reinstated, if not you know what I am not.

Yours very truly,

WALDORF PENDLETON,

(Adv.) Moscow, Idaho.

Former University Student For County Commissioner.

Clinton Wilson, who for many years has lived in Moscow, is a candidate for County Commissioner of District No. 2. It will be of interest to college men and women to know that Mr. Wilson received his education in the University of Idaho. For several years he was engaged in school teaching in Latah county, being for two years principal of the Moscow Irving school. He is now chief deputy in the office of tax collector.

Mr. Wilson has always been a strong supporter of the University and has always shown a deep interest in everything pertaining to its work.

In casting the ballot on Nov. 5th, all college men and women should remember an old University student.

WOMEN'S BUILDING

is housed in one room in the girl's dormitory and one or two scattered rooms of the administration building. Experience shows that to do the best work we ought to have a building with the following rooms: Cooking and sewing laboratories with small store rooms connected, lecture rooms for domestic science and domestic art, a demonstration room with full equipment, small kitchens and dining rooms for lessons in serving, laundry class room, laboratory for chemistry as food and nutrition, research laboratory, rooms of a model dwelling, room for instruction in home nursing, office and consultation room for resident nurse, rest rooms, exhibit room, room for women's clubs, gymnasium, locker rooms, reception room, banquet room and offices.

The state federation of clubs at their meeting in Boise last June voted to make the securing of such a building for the university one of their most important legislative measures. The matter has been placed in the hands of the legislative committee of the federation and is being vigorously pushed. The legislature will be asked for an appropriation of a hundred thousand dollars for a fire proof building, and a small additional appropriation for equipment.

Concerning Breakfast Foods.

In view of the general and substantial increase in the cost of living it is obviously the plain duty of everyone responsible for the provisioning of the household to inquire diligently into the actual food value of certain food-stuffs, which are so attractively put up and advertised by their manufactures. Unquestionable there is at present an enormous consumption of the so-called prepared cereal breakfast foods which reach the consumer in comparatively small cartons or containers. Commendable arguments have been advanced in favor of the cereal breakfast foods put up in this way. In the main they center upon such claims as: increased palatability, insurance of non-contamination on the way from the manufacturer to the consumer, and ease of preparation for the table. A simple calculation at the time of purchase will reveal the extravagant prices often paid for a single pound of the particular cereal in question, particularly if it be remembered that the man who produced the raw product received for a like amount not to exceed one and one half cents. The consumer of the partly prepared, expensively cartoned, and highly advertised cereal breakfast foods may well ask, "Am I getting my money's worth?" The average consumer needs to be reminded that in the preparation of the above mentioned classes of foods the same cereals, viz: corn, oats and wheat are used as in the preparation of the more commonplace raw meals which ordinarily can be secured in much larger bulk and consequently at a much lower price per pound. When properly cooked these meals are highly nutritious and palatable. There is no really good reason why they should not in the average family be given preference over the more expensive cartoned article.

Friday evening six Delta Gammas and their Kappa Sigma friends spent a enjoyable evening at the Safford home, northeast of town. Leaving the chapter house at six o'clock they arrived in time for dinner, followed by dancing later in the evening.

Reception to the Students of the Music Department.

A most delightful and informal reception was given by Professor and Mrs. J. Francis Maguire and Professor and Mrs. Hellier-Collens to the students of the music department, Friday evening in the assembly hall.

The rooms were tastefully decorated with the U. I. colors, and the evening was enjoyably spent in listening to musical selections, after which refreshments were served.

Those assisting were Misses Edna Campbell, Lesetta Lubkin and Grace Holoday.

The Y. M. C. A. boarding commons is enjoying an exceedingly liberal patronage at present among students of both the regular college and the short course. Thirty six men are now being provided for in the club dining rooms. There is yet room for a half a dozen men. A recent change has been made in the kitchen and the meals are, if possible better than before. All the boys speak highly of the board now being served. A feature is made of the Sunday dinner. The club employs two students of the university as well, as acting as an employment bureau for student labor. There is usually a surplus of jobs for Saturday work.

Irvin Griner, '13 Law, returned yesterday to take up his school work.

The office of The Argonaut is in the publicity office, next door to the bursar's office. A member of the staff may be found in the office any afternoon except Tuesday. All contributions gladly received up until Monday noon of each week. Paper goes to press Tuesday.

The Argonaut will publish communications only when it has the name of the author of the same. We would like to have students express their opinions, as many valuable suggestions may be brought before the student body in this manner.

The Moscow business men make the Argonaut possible. The contract price for getting out one issue of the Argonaut is $22.50. Thus for the year, thirty-five copies amounts to $787.50. There are approximately four hundred and fifty subscribers at $1.00 each, which amounts to $450. The balance of the money must come from the advertisers of Moscow.

Before making your purchases look over the advertisements in the current issue of the Argonaut and see who is making the paper possible. Or in other words, patronize those who patronize you.

Who will be the speaker at the next commencement at Idaho? It is up to the senior class to decide. If action be taken now and not delayed until some dozen days before the date of graduation it will be possible to secure a man who will measure up to the occasion. It is understood that Professor George Herbert Palmer, of Harvard, will be in the west about that time. Why not make an effort to get him? A better selection could not be made. At the commencement exercises, Princeton university, June 11, conferred the honorary degree of L.H.D. on Professor Palmer. In presenting Professor Palmer, Dean West said:

'George Herbert Palmer, professor of philosophy in Harvard University, a teacher who holds his students by scholarship of living power, a clear thinker of meditative tone, a student of ethics with a deep grasp on that ethics truth which underlies all righteousness, a literary artist—fit editor of the poems of his spiritual ancestor George Herbert: his refinement in style, whether in philosophy or literature, being no mere fastidiousness, but the reflex of refined thought, a philosopher in the original sense, widely influential for good and imbued with a tranquil enthusiasm for truth which gives substance and worth to all his work'

COMMUNICATIONS

Could the Barbs Organize?

There has been a great deal of discussion among the non-fraternity men this fall about organization and that is as far as it seems able to get. Of course the one object for organization would be the closer bonds of fellowship among the non-fraternity men.

All recognize that the great majority of barbs are "out of it" so far as the social part of college life is concerned. Nor are there any so foolish as to hope to get the great majority "into it." But it does seem possible that as members of that "great majority" though we are not able to enjoy the much preferable company of the co-ed, at least we might enjoy a better fellowship among ourselves. While we might despair of enjoying the company of the fairer sex as does our more fortunate fraternity man I, for one, see no reason why we should grumble and lay down all hope in absolute despondency. If a fellow is a "barb" he ought to be a good "barb" and not ashamed of his position. For he who cannot get into a fraternity and is ashamed to be a "barb," certainly is in a most pitiful condition.

It seems to me that there could be an organization effected and custom started of having at least three good "barb" rallies per year, say one before the Pullman game as a reception, one in mid-winter and farewell in the spring.

If these rallies consisted of nothing more than a cheap feed of ice cream, cake and grape juice, with speeches, songs, stories and a rousing good spirit, there would certainly be more life and concerted action among us non-fraternity men, or more simply among us "barbs." We don't want to knock the fraternities. They are doing the very thing we would do if we had a chance. They are in no way responsible for our incapacities, either financially or otherwise, and a man with any pride could certainly not wish to impose it upon them.

Such organization has probably been attempted before, but only right on the verge of political elections and probably the movement started by some lordly office seeker who would "stick around" the fraternities the rest of the year, vainly watching for the half open door that he might slip in. I don't know that it has been tried but I have been told that it has and if so under these conditions, no wonder that no harmony was created.

It simply ends in this—we're "barbs" and why not be what we are? For my part I can enjoy the company of any one if they are only willing that I should.

STUDENT AFFAIRS

AT ASSEMBLY.

The address at assembly last week was given by Dean Eldridge on the elective system in college. Mr. Eldridge gave a short history of the system, pointing out the fact that before the civil war, the courses in college were much more aristocratic and that graduates from colleges lived among the people and not with them. But since that time the tendency has been toward a much more democratic system. Mr. Eldridge read quite extensively from the work of Dean Wright or "Old Baldy," as Mr. Eldridge was pleased to call him, of Yale. The reading of Dean Wright's work was somewhat of a review for the sophomores and perhaps other upper classmen as they have been required to read it in the first year English work. Yet it is doubtful if many read it so carefully that a review would be a waste of time.

The fact that Mr. Eldridge is a personal friend of Dean Wright brought interest in the work that a student in just reading it would perhaps not have felt. Dean Eldridge picked out the cream of the work that applied to the elective system both in favor and against. The main point against the student's right to choose his course was the fact that the tendency to follow the line of least resistance is often very detrimental, while the benefit is a more liberal and democratic education. A piano solo was given by Miss Jones.

Short Course Boys Find Enjoyment.

Owing to the lack of entertainment available to the short course boys, one of their party was forced to supply the need. It appears that the culprit violated some of the rudiments of the table manners laid down by his fellow students as proper conduct. In consequence a kangaroo court was held and the accused being found guilty was sentenced to be exhibited before the public lashed to a cart. The decree was carried out in true rustic fashion. A car was obtained and the convict, lashed to the frame, was hauled through the main street of town. He was then taken to the east side and left bound to the cart in such a fashion that it was possible for him to obtain his freedom, but having been conveyed thither with blindfolded eyes, he found some difficulty in finding the way back. It was reported that he returned barely in time for breakfast the next morning. One would be led to think that the violation of table manners must be a terrible offense in the eyes of the short course boys, yet we have not heard of the wheels of the cart becoming heated.

Forestry Students Take Field Trip.

On last Saturday the students of the forestry department took a field trip for practical experience. The party left the corner at Polk and 3rd street at 7:30 a. m. and went to the Tomne ranch and then to Tonner's Butte. All hands took lunches with them and evidently the climate was appetizing as a neighborly cow devoured the extremities of one of the boy's coat. The party returned at about 5:00 p. m.

Supervision of College Teaching.

An excellent article of Professor Charles A. Stewart, our popular instructor in geology, is printed in the October issue of the educational review. Its subject is the exceedingly important one of the supervision of college teaching, of the weeding out of unsatisfactory teachers and of the proper payment of effective teachers. Today, according to Professor Stewart, too great emphasis placed upon investigation, or research work by college instructors and too little attention is given to the work of teaching. The work of teaching in high school is usually submitted to supervision. But the work of teaching in colleges frequently goes on without any supervision whatsoever. The article advocates such supervision. A part of its concluding paragraph is here given.

"All of this assumes that the president or regents, or whomsoever the power of appointment rests with, has some means of keeping in touch with the teaching staff and judging relative efficiency. A system of inspection of teachers has long been considered essential in elementary school organization; it should be equally so in a college. The same methods cannot, of course, be applied in the two cases. Greater freedom must be allowed in the higher work, and the results of college instruction are not always easily measured, but the perplexing nature of the problem is no reason for neglecting it. Progressive universities have already turned their attention to it by instituting investigations by the deans, by appointing special committees of the faculties, and by questioning the alumni concerning the weakness of the teaching during their undergraduate days. In some cases inefficiency and lack of interest have been revealed, and resignations have been more or less quietly laid before the trustees; in others unappreciated work has been uncovered and there have followed promotions that would have been long delayed under the slipshod system still prevalent in many institutions." It seems self evident that there ought to be some attempt made to supervise college teaching. Every poor teacher in a college is an incalculable loss to the state that supports the college and to the students upon whom the inefficient teacher is inflicted. Such supervision would seem to be the prime duty of every college administration.

In order to vote for Senator Borah you must vote for the republican legislative ticket. A vote for Fields, Mason, Oversmith and Clark is a vote for Borah. —Adv.

COULD THE BARBS ORGANIZE.

We can all create a better spirit among ourselves if we are only willing to do so. As it is, a great majority of us go around as though we were strangers among ourselves. Certainly better to be a "barb's" dog than nobody's dog at all. There are bound to be those with the hammer, and I haven't much faith in complete organization at the present time. Yet steps might be started with the under classmen and the upper classmen who would join, to accustom the new comers each year to the tradition and spirit before they become sectionalized and jealous of any one who starts a move. I see no reason why we should knock or grumble that our lot is so wretched and lonely or deprived of this or that, but that we should say and feel that we are lucky to have what we have. Can't we make the best of things as they are, by taking that which we have and not striving after that which we can never get? You'll never get into a fraternity quicker by cutting your fellow barbs. Can't we have a more concerted feeling among ourselves? I'd be willing to try it a whirl anyway.

JOHN McEVERS, '15.

Moscow, Idaho, Oct. 24, 1912.

To the Editor of the Argonaut,
University of Idaho.

Dear Sir:

Believing that there is room for a few more songs intended to develop class spirit among the students attending the university, I beg to submit for your consideration the enclosed lines intended to be sung to the tune of the Flag Song.

Yours sincerely,

MORGANWG.

'VARSITY SONG.

To be sung to the tune of the Flag Song.

There are 'varsities in many states,
They are found where'er you go,
But there is not one in any state,
Like our own lov'd Idaho.

Chorus:

Then shout hip, hurrah,
Hip, hip, hurrah,
For the great U. of Idaho,
And we in our might forever will fight,
Fight for the U. of Idaho.

Of all the colors rare and fair,
That some to the breeze unfold,
We think there are none that can compare
With the silver and the gold.

Chorus.

And when we pass away from earth,
Whether up or down we go,
Still we will sing the praise and worth
Of the U. of Idaho.

Chorus.

That coffee will be much better with good rich cream Varsity coffee cream is now 15c per pint, whipping cream is now 20c. U.
of L. Creamery, Morrill hall.

IN THE GYMNASIUM

On account of the conditions of the roads, there was no cross country run last Friday.

The first indoor meet will be held on November 22nd, which is the Friday before the Thanksgiving vacation. The meet will be held between the first and second year practical ags, with a possibility of two events for college men.

The meet will consist of a fifty yard dash, half mile run, four man team tug of war (total of weight of each team to be less than six hundred pounds), a basketball game between the two classes and a five man relay race for a distance of ten laps. The events for the college men will be a fifty yard dash and a mile run.

The track and basketball workouts for the practical ags have been turned over to Clarence Edmundson. Mr. Van der Veer will continue the body-building exercises.

There were between fifty and sixty people at the dancing class last Saturday morning. Miss Stephens is well pleased with the progress of the class.

There is a close race among the girls for the highest strength test. Miss Faye Thomas still retains the lead with a total of 4275 pounds. Miss Arlee Lyons of Moscow made a test of 4265 pounds during the last week, and Miss Ruth Otter made a test of 4225 pounds.

The trophy case in Mr. Van der Veer's office is full and there are three cups and one football for which there is no space. Mr. Van der Veer is planning to get authority to have the students in the shop course make another case similar to the one he now has which will fit directly on top of it.

NOTES OF THE GAME

The Idaho team accompanied by Student Manager Paulsen, Graduate Manager Larson and Coach Griffith left Moscow Thursday p. m. in a special car over the N. P. and returned Sunday evening on the electric.

Buck Phillips was not able to make the trip. The ankle which he had sprained in the W. S. C. game on the 18th would not permit of his playing.

Dutch Leuschel was pretty badly injured in the first part of the game and had to be carried from the field. He was taken down town in an ambulance but recovered sufficiently to come home with the team.

Buffington, who is secretary of the republican county committee, did not go over with the rest of the team on account of rush of work, but left Friday morning and arrived there in time to play.

Washington figures that they will have a pretty easy time of it with W. S. C. on Thanksgiving day. They dope Washington State to be the weakest team in the conference.

There does not seem to be the same fighting spirit between Idaho and Washington as there does between Idaho and W. S. C. It has been about two college decades since we have defeated Washington.

The following is a pertinent statement of the Seattle Daily Times: "The dope on college sports is not worth the paper it is written on. The trouble is that the dopsters are chock full of information that is not so."

Several of the local business houses received the results of the game by wire. There was a large crowd of students and others in front of David & Ely's window all afternoon. Nor was it the most joyful crowd ever assembled.

If Idaho plays the game she did against W. S. C., we should have no trouble defeating Oregon next Saturday, but if the team plays the way it did at Washington—

Oregon now stands at the bottom of the conference having lost two games, Idaho and W. S. C. have each won one and lost one, and Whitman and Washington have each won one.

We have never defeated Oregon. There has been one tie game and several very close ones but we have our first game to win from Oregon and it looks like we stand a chance this year.

The Agricultural Club Meets.

At a meeting of the Agriculture club last week a committee which had been appointed at a previous meeting to look into the advisability of holding a college fair, and arrange the details therefor reported very favorably. Permission had been obtained for the use either of the buildings at the athletic field or Lewis hall. The date of the fair is as yet undecided but beyond a doubt it will be held in the near future. This will be the first fair of this kind ever given by the students of the Agricultural college, but nevertheless should be a great success. The students behind the work are determined to make it one of the largest events of the season.

The barb men are complaining that at college dances, such as the athletic or military ball, the sorority girls will not dance with them. This complaint suggests a few pertinent remarks on the growing tendency toward exclusiveness.

There are all too few social events at which it is possible for barb and Greek to come together, yet even on supposedly common ground the barriers are not lowered. At the joint reception early in the year, the Greeks were very meagerly represented. Even a more noticeable slight was the fact that all the sorority members and pledges coming at the dormitory where the reception was held, spent the evening elsewhere. It is only right to expect and demand that the acknowledged social leaders of the college show some sense of social responsibility. At a joint reception they ought to be the life of the evening, at a college or class dance they ought to go out of their way to give the few barbs present a good time. Instead, there is complaint that they hold aloof and refuse to mix.

The barbs, with so few social opportunities and privileges, feel a natural and just resentment against the Greeks who have a surfeit, at being snubbed on the rare occasions when they can meet in social gatherings. Idaho needs less exclusiveness, not to use a more offensive term.

That David Starr Jordan will resign in 1915 as the first president of Stanford university to take up the cause of international peace was announced October 1 at the celebration on the campus of Stanford's twenty-first birthday.

The resolution of the board of trustees that a president shall resign at the age of 65 will go into effect. Dr. Jordan is 62.

With Jordan as president Stanford opened its doors in 1892. Stanford's entire policy has been moulded by him. His hobby has been the world's progress in international peace, and much of present progress is due to his efforts.

Freshmen at Whitman college are protesting against the rules laid down for them by upper classmen, which include wearing green caps, Sundays and week days alike, lifting caps to the faculty, and saying "mister" to seniors. These rules have been so modified that Freshmen who can prove attendance at church need not wear green caps on Sunday, but the Frosh are still dissatisfied with the regulations.

Princeton university has given over a large section of its grounds to students who find it necessary to make their own way through college. They are supplied with farm implements and are instructed in the best farming methods. Some of them are farmers' sons, and they find no difficulty in getting their education out of the soil. The city boys do not find it so easy.

A course in journalism has been added to the curriculum at Oregon. The instruction is under the management of Professor Allen, formerly city editor of the Seattle Post-Intelligencer. Three courses are given—one in news writing and gathering, one in editorial policy and one in the organization and executive side of the newspaper. Forty-four students are enrolled in the first course.

Stanford university has decided to select a new name for their daily. The Daily Palo Alto does not suit the students, and they are receiving suggestions from all parts of the state. The selection will be made next week.

Statistics compiled by the United States Bureau of Education show that there were 4,856 foreigners enrolled as regular students in the universities and colleges of the United States during the year 1911-1912.

Graduates of the University of Kansas now number 5000. Of the living women graduates only 20 per cent of them are married.

About 15 per cent of the students enrolled at the University of Iowa are scholarship students. They have four classes of scholarships given at Iowa: the Whitney Carr scholarships, the honor scholarships, the Henry Strong scholarships and the county scholarships.

The Wyoming State of Education, at its last meeting authorized the erection of a $100,000 agricultural building at the state university at Laramie. The plans have not yet been submitted, but the construction of the building will begin soon. Three hundred and seventeen students are enrolled in the university this year. President Duniway expects that this number will be increased by 50 in the second semester.

There will be no basketball coach at Washington this year, according to Victor Zednick, graduate manager of athletics. Continuing, he said, "The team has gotten along pretty well the last two years with captains coaching. We can't afford so many coaches. When I was first elected four years ago we paid only $1,000 for coaching. This year we are paying more than $6,000. The associated students can't stand any more."

Pan Hellenic council of the University of Illinois has adopted resolutions discountenancing hazing. The council is made up of representatives of the various Greek letter fraternities and its action will, it is thought, have a decided bearing upon the question. Several other student organizations, including the University of Illinois Student union and the College of Agriculture club have taken similar action in the past.

Sophomore Class Meets.

The sophomores held a class meeting last week for the purpose of "stirring up" something in the social line of events. It was decided that the Sophomore Frolic should be held sometime in November instead of February as was figured for a while. The date was changed because of Lent beginning February 5th which is earlier than any date able to be secured. There was a great deal of discussion regarding a ride out into the country and a party but owing to the early date of the Frolic it was thought that such a ride should be postponed until sleighing time.
