STUDENTS' CO-OP BOOK STORE

Committee Makes Full Report on the Plans for the New Book Store

Pursuant to the wish of the student body, as expressed at last week's assembly, we, your committee on cooperative book store, submit the following as an outline of the constitution and by-laws adopted by us. The plan has been selected after a careful comparison of the constitution and by-laws of similar organizations elsewhere. However, it has not been adopted as yet by the student body, and until such adoption, is open to honest criticism and changes, if the majority see fit.

The plan as well as the advisability of perfecting the organization, will be discussed freely at the next student assembly. It is the duty of every student, who has the good of the university at heart, to study the proposition thoroughly and come out to that assembly ready to express his approval or disapproval of it as a whole or in part.

A room has been secured in the Administration building in which to house the store if organized. If the plan is adopted, it is hoped that we may be able to have some supplies on hand by the beginning of next semester. The working capital will be necessarily small to begin with, and we cannot hope to supply all the books and other needed supplies in the beginning; but what we do hope is to supply a part of the present need, at the same time building up an institution which, by the accumulation of funds through the yearly fees, will be able in the course of a few years, to supply the entire needs of the student body at a great saving to them.

A complete copy of the constitution and by-laws are on file in the bursar's office and may be seen by calling there.

Outline of the plan adopted by the committee:

Membership—Any student, faculty member, or officer of the university of Idaho is eligible to membership upon the payment of the following fees: for all so-called "Short Course" students, seventy-five cents per year; for all others, one dollar per year.

Management—The management of the organization shall be in a board of three directors. The board to be composed of two student members and one faculty member, the board to appoint a manager, fix his salary, and place him under bond of at least one thousand dollars. The board of directors to have the power to remove the manager for cause.

Supplies—Such supplies will be handled as the working fund will justify and the board of directors see fit.

Profits—The supplies to be sold at retail price, or at a slight reduction, all profits to be divided in accordance with the amount purchased; i.e. if A purchases thirty dollars worth of goods he will be entitled to double the profits received by B who only purchased fifteen dollars worth.

Miscellaneous—The following are provided for in the constitution: The manner and time of electing officers, the duties of the board of directors, the duties of the manager, non transference of membership, inventories and reports, regular and special meetings, manner of distributing rebates, a quorum to do business, and the amendment of the constitution.

The following is a copy of the resolution as read at last week's assembly. This will also be considered at the next student assembly. For further information see the constitution and by-laws now open to inspection in the bursar's office, or consult with the committee.

Resolution

Realizing the great need for co-operation in the reduction of the price of books, stationary and other needed school supplies; therefore be it resolved: that we, the members of the A. S. U. I., do hereby empower the president of the student body to name a committee of three members to solicit membership to a student's co-operative book store at one dollar per member.

And be it resolved: that we pledge our loyal support and patronage to such organization if perfected.

Be it further resolved: that the above named committee, together with the officers of the A. S. U. I. acting jointly as a board, be empowered to determine whether or not a sufficient membership has been obtained, to warrant the organization of the said store; and if they so decide, the said committee of three is hereby empowered to call a meeting of the subscribed members for the purpose of perfecting the organization.

Signed:

P. K. PERKINS,
President A. S. U. I.
MARY PETCINA,
Secretary A. S. U. I.

Varsity Team in Good Shape.

Steady practice and no games for the past two weeks has put the Idaho Varsity team in fine shape, and prospects are bright for the Thanksgiving game at Walla Walla. While the north-western coaches and newspapers have been conceding this game to Whitman, Coach Griffith and his squad have been quietly practicing and recovering from the injuries received in the Washington and Oregon games. All of the men are now in good physical shape except Leuschel. "Dutch" is again able to be out for practice which is a great encouragement to those who feared the injuries received at Seattle would keep him out of the game for the rest of the season.

With another week of practice before the final game the Idaho team will be in shape to give the Missionaries several surprises on Turkey day.

Washington Will Be Champs.

The generally unexpected, and to many students, the hoped for happened when the unbeaten Whitman team met Coach Nolan's twice beaten aggies at Corvallis last Saturday. O.A.C. walked away with the big end of a 20-3 score in a game in which luck played a heavy part. The game leaves Washington the only undefeated team of the conference, a usual, this year.

The same afternoon Washington won from the heavier Oregon team by score of 30-14. The university game leaves Dobie's pupils with only the Thanksgiving game with W.S.U. between them and a five year championship.

As W.S.U. has fallen considerably below expectations this year it looks as though Washington would go through another year without a defeat, but this year you can never tell the result until the game is played.

Smallpox Scare!

Will there be an epidemic of small pox? Ralph B. Foster, '13, vice president of the student body and editor of the Quill was quarantined in his rooms on Ash street this morning with a slight attack. He attended his classes up until 10:20. Not feeling well, he went down to see the doctor who immediately pronounced it a case of small pox and placed him under quarantine. The other students in the house were allowed to move out.

"Judge" Denning, '13, spent Sunday in Pullman.

"BREEZY POINT" ON FRIDAY NIGHT

Gamma Phi Beta Girls Will Play For the Benefit of Woman's Building

This charming little play, given under the direction of Miss Permeal French, by Gamma Phi Beta for the benefit of the Women's Building of Idaho, will be presented Friday evening at the Crystal Theatre.

The theme is one which has a common appeal to all. The mistress of Breezy Point finds one morning on her doorstep an unknown babe, richly clad, but not one mark to reveal her parentage. In the kindness of her heart, she takes the child in and gives it a mother's love. And a strange old gipsy shows a peculiar interest and love for this child. Eighteen years later we find the mistress of Breezy Point burdened by a heavy mortgage on the place, which the heroine, the girl she has found, proposes to raise by taking in summer boarders. All progresses merrily until the mistress is suddenly and unexpectedly called away on a long journey, and when she returns, she unfolds the wondrous secret of the heroine's birth and abduction.

The comic element of the play is introduced in such characters as Mrs. Deacon Hardscratch with business propensities and the mother of the Hardscratch twins, who "never tell nothin'"; the work-house wail and the French maid, who runs off with her butcher beau; and the irresistible Mehitable Doolittle, the manufacturer of catarrh snuff and bitters.

Into the second act—the country camp scene—Miss Stevens has introduced a charming folk dance in costume, and Miss Ruth Motie will sing.

The characters are all girls and the cast, in the order of their appearance, will be as follows:

SHORT COURSE IN FORESTRY

Second Year Will Begin on January 6th.

A ten weeks' course in forestry will be offered at the University beginning January 6. The course will consist of intensely practical work with a view of fitting men for the forest service and lumbering in the Northwest. Special attention will be paid to lumbering, forest engineering, forest protection and forest management.

In addition to the regular courses given by the University instructors, special lectures will be given by a number of forest supervisors and lumbermen on different phases of forest management, administration and protection.

A part of the time will be spent on one of the largest plants in the Northwest. Every phase of the lumber business will be studied on the ground, from the standing lumber to the finished lumber. A series of lectures and demonstrations on lumber grading will be given at the saw mill by an official inspector of the Northern Pine Manufacturing association.

"With the increasing development and magnitude of forestry and lumbering interests in the Northwest," said Dr. C. H. Shattuck, professor of forestry, "there has come a great demand for trained, practical men to carry on the work. There is no line of work which offers greater opportunities for the young man who is willing to work and who has the necessary training. It is the purpose of the university in offering the short practical course forstry to give forest rangerse and young men who are limited in time or money for schooling an opportunity to prepare themselves for these positions."

Jubilee Singers.

Of unusual interest is the announcement that the Williams' Jubilee Singers will give a concert in Moscow December 18. The company has appeared here before and has always drawn crowded houses. The selections of the male quartette are particularly pleasing. The program consists of Jubilee songs, negro lullabys, comic songs, cabin and river songs, sentimental songs, ballads, ragtime songs, classic selections and sacred songs.

The Argonaut has no hesitation in recommending the Williams' Jubilee Singers; their concerts are thoroughly enjoyable. Remember the date—December 18. They appear under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A.

Sell What You Can, and Can What You Can't.

"Every year thousands of tons of fruit go to waste in Idaho which can be turned to a good profit," says C. C. Vincent of the college of agriculture. "Frequently the market is glutted and good prices cannot be obtained; it is difficult for many ranchers to get their fruit to a market; and always culls and imperfect fruit are left on hand.

"We have installed a small canning plant at the university and are demonstrating that canning is a most profitable method of marketing fruit. For instance, we bought peaches on the open market for forty cents a crate and from one crate produced eleven cans which retail at from twenty-five to thirty-five cents a can. Even if the producer were to obtain only half this amount at wholesale, the profit would still be much greater than under the plan of marketing the fresh fruit. Cherries, plums, pears, berries and fruits of all kinds and also vegetables, such as corn, beans, peas, tomatoes and pumpkins, can be handled in this way. As I have already said, the grower disposes of not only the first class fruit, but also culls and defective fruit which would other wise go to waste."

The apparatus is inexpensive and easy to operate. The cans containing the fruit are placed in a steam tight receptacle, submitted to a high temperature, and then sealed. The plant may be set up in the open air. From four to eight people are required to run it, according to its size. The cost of a complete plant ranges from twenty-five to one hundred dollars. The small one has a capacity of one to two thousand cans a day, the largest one from five to ten thousand, all depending upon the skill of the operators. Cans cost from two and a half to three cents each. The exact cost of operating the plant has not yet been determined, but it is slight. The experiment has progressed far enough, however, to show increased profit in this method of marketing.

The recent action of the faculty in restricting the social functions at the university has not met with universal approval. The faculty has the right, of course, to handle matters as they see fit. But when the faculty asks that the fraternities and sororities elect members to form a Pan-Hellenic Council whose duty it shall be to represent the interests of the students concerned in their relations to the faculty, and then proceeds to absolutely ignore them, the students have a complaint coming.

We hope that Graduate Manager Larson and Proctor K. Perkins will be able to arrange a suitable baseball schedule with W. S. C. and Whitman for next spring. Whitman also dropped intercollegiate baseball last spring, because it was too expensive an entertainment with the long jumps to the coast schools. With an Inland Empire league, though, the distances would be short and the expenses light. A series of four games with each school could be arranged, thus giving each school eight games, and then the champion of the Inland Empire league could meet the champion of the coast college teams for the championship. With this arrangement it would be possible to play 35-cent baseball, or possibly 25-cent ball.

We have long been familiar with the assertion that athletic victories are indispensable to an increase in college attendance. But the facts do not seem to support the allegation. Idaho has not been conspicuously successful in athletics for a number of years. Yet we have enjoyed a healthy growth in numbers. From the last issue of the Harvard Bulletin, we take the following paragraphs. They seem to throw additional light upon the point.

"The Yale Daily News has done good service in reinforcing through an exploration into Yale history the truth established for Harvard by President Eliot that success or failure in athletics has no influence on the numbers of a college. The News, going back as far as 1866 in its researches, has shown that at Yale there has been no relation between increase or decrease in enrollment and the winning or losing of games and races. In 1868, 1872, 1880, 1891 and 1899 the entering classes showed an increase, though Yale had been unsuccessful in athletics the year before; and decreases in the entering classes in 1876, 1881, and 1895 followed successful seasons in athletics. In the period from 1885 to 1894, when Yale teams and crews were winning pretty steadily, there was, to be sure, a considerable and almost continuous increase in the entering classes; but there was a like increase during the same period at Harvard, and we certainly at that time were not distinguishing ourselves in athletics. The experience at Yale therefore falls in exactly with that at Harvard to disprove any relation between athletics and enrollment.

"It is clear American boys keep their heads in this matter: whatever the space given to college athletics by the newspapers, and no matter how large the absorption of graduates, the boys themselves seem to pick their colleges without much regard to the winners. There was a great and general increase in the number of boys going to college beginning about the middle or end of the eighties, and many colleges showed the result in their numbers; but success in athletics has been one of the least of the causes which controlled the distribution of the increase. It is a habit of the American people to enjoy its amusements hysterically; but underneath the yelling, there is always a saving sense of humor. In this endowment of the fathers the sons have a full share."

It is other and more substantial things than success in athletics that attract youth to the colleges of the land. Let us hope that as the years go on, the University of Idaho will have more and more of these substantial attractions to offer. Among those we need are public speaking, economics, sociology, journalism, pharmacy, business courses and architecture.

When at home the student goes to Sunday school and church. He does this because he has been taught to do it and there is some one to see that he gets up and goes. When away at school he feels that the home restraints are lifted and he can do largely as he pleases. There is no one to say for him to do this or not to do that.

He may sleep all Sunday morning if he wishes to. If he chooses he may get up, put on a bathrobe and spend the morning with his pipe and newspaper. The morning may be taken up by getting out the French lesson for Monday. A few Sundays spent in this way and a habit is formed.

The college student should not abandon too many old paths. He certainly should leave none except for a better one. High moral tone is maintained only by a continual fight against relaxation.

In itself alone there may be no merit in attending church. But the act of going to church shows a mental and physical state of deep importance entirely aside from religion—Missourian.

STUDENT AFFAIRS

AT ASSEMBLY.

As usual at student assembly, last week the room was packed full as well as a portion of the hall. Before the business was taken up President MacLean recommended the adoption of a plan, by which the "I's" would be presented in a formal manner on May day of each year, instead of in the very inappropriate way which has been the custom heretofore, that the presentation of "I's" be made a part of the May day program and more worthy of the honor that is conferred with them. As a committee to further arrange the details the president suggested Proctor Perkins, Gus Larson, Miss French and two students to be appointed by the president of the A.S.U.I.

However, as the old custom is still in vogue the president presented "I's" to the following athletes: For track, Redeker, Phillips, Whitten, Harris, Hunter, Watts and Scott; basket ball, Kinnison, Nuffer, Loux, Soulen, C. Perkins and Buffington. Stars were awarded to Loux, for two branches of athletics and Redeker as captain of track.

After the "I's" were awarded the reports of committees were taken up. The committee appointed to look into the advisability of incorporating reported unfavorable to incorporating at the present time, but recommended the appointment of a standing committee whose duty it should be to bring up the matter again when said committee should see fit.

The committee appointed to draw up a lease for the athletic field with the fair association reported very favorably. It was stated that the board of regents has left the matter entirely with the students and that the committee had been treated right by the fair association officers, that the latter agreed to drain the track and outfit in first class shape, to make a 220 yard straightaway with cinder path as wide as that of the old track, that they would make a five foot cinder track around the half mile track as it now stands or build a quarter mile track on the inside of the present track and around the base ball field, that they would level off and fix up a base ball field and move the bleachers in the spring to a suitable place. The committee reported that on investigation they found that only a portion of the field as now enclosed belonged to the student body, and that a good part of the half mile track was not on the college ground. As regards renting the field it was reported that the fair association had offered to take a lease for ten years on condition that they build a grandstand, in a place selected by the students, costing about $1500.00, to keep all buildings in good repair and at the end of the term the said buildings would belong to the students. The report was accepted and the committee instructed to execute the lease as per agreement.

The committee on the co-operative book store submitted a favorable report. It was stated that they had taken the matter before the board of regents and had received their permission to go ahead with the plan and had further been promised a room in the Administration building for the use of such a store if established. Because of lack of time action on the report was postponed until next meeting with the provisions that full particulars of the plan of the store be published in this issue of the Argonaut.

The committee reports being complete new business was taken up. The plan proposed by Dr. MacLean and mentioned above was moved and accepted. The question of baseball for this year was discussed and a motion passed instructing the delegates to the conference to try and arrange a triangular league with W. S. C. and Whitman.

Proctor Perkins was unanimously chosen as student representative to the Northwest conference.

Y. M. C. A. Commons Closes.

Last Sunday dinner was the last meal to be served by the Y. M. C. A. commons. It closed its doors after a little more than a year from the time it was started. B. E. Davis, the present manager, came to the conclusion that the competition was too keen, and that the club in having to rent a house and hire help, while its competitors did not, made it impossible or at least impracticable for it to continue. As there seemed to be no demand for it's running the only logical thing for it was to shut down. Hence Sunday dinner was given as a farewell to its loyal supporters, and the Y.M.C.A. commons passed into history.

Freshman Class Meeting.

The freshmen held a class meeting last week for the purpose of choosing colors and making arrangements for the pictures to be taken for the junior annual. A committee was appointed to select different colors and present them to the class for adoption, and the members of the class were urged to have their pictures taken as soon as possible.

SECOND TEAM GAME SATURDAY

Idaho and W. S. C. Second Teams Will Give Battle on Idaho Field.

The second teams of Idaho and W. S. C. will meet in their annual game on Idaho field next Saturday afternoon. This is the second game played between the second teams of these two institutions since they were again taken up last year. Last year's game resulted in a rather decisive victory for the State college team, although the strength of the two teams was about the same.

The unusual strength of the Idaho team has been a subject of considerable comment among the students this year and, although Pullman also has a husky bunch in her second squad, it seems that another Idaho victory can be expected.

The second team is in a large part composed of the Freshman team that cleaned up the Sophmores a couple of weeks ago. Besides these the team will be materially strengthened by men from the Sophmore lineup and from the upper classes.

The second team game was set at this time to make up for the weakness of Idaho's home football schedule this year. The many students who have regretted not having any games at Moscow after the season got well started, will have an opportunity next Saturday to see a hard fought football game. While the game will not affect the conference rating in any way, yet there is a keen rivalry between the two second teams and the game will be full of fight from the start. Come out and see next year's varsity team in action.

The probable lineup for the Idaho team will be Heyden, center; Jayne and Elliot, guards; Fluharty and Donart, tackles; Numbers and Keane, ends; Gerlough, full; Gowan, quarter; and Jardine, Bibby, or Robinson, halves.

Dr. D. B. Steinman will speak at Litz Hall next Sunday afternoon, Nov. 24th at three o'clock upon the subject of "Extension Work." The subject is intensely practical in its nature, as Dr. Steinman will tell in a very definite way the manner in which college men may extend their influence outside of the College world.

Indoor Meet Postponed.

On account of a lack of harmony in the ranks of the second year short course ags, with the result that they cannot decide upon a track team to represent them, Mr. Van der Veer has found it necessary to postpone the indoor track meet which was to be held this Friday until the first Friday after Thanksgiving holidays. On that day a team representing the three classes of Practical-ags will endeavor to make the college freshmen "bite the dust." It is the intention of the physical director to stage the same events which he had planned for the called-off meet. These will consist of the 50 yard dash, mile run, tug of war, basketball game and one or two other events including a relay race.

No line on the track material in the freshman class has been available so far, and this will be a good opportunity to see what the prospects are for a track team in the spring. There are only four men in school who have won their letter in track: Phillips, Scott, Harris and Whitten.

Campus Celebrity No. 2.

Dulce est desipere in loco, as the Dictionary of Quotations says. The loco has come to extract an impertinent interview out of you.

"All right. My sense of humor will stand for a little foolishness. A little nonsense now and then is relished by the wisest men, to quote right back at you."

I want to know if it is true that you have to tie a string around your head to tell how far up to wash your face.

"So the gossips say there is not enough hair on my head? Tell them that there is nothing in it."

Are you really as dignified as you look?

Well, I don't object to being referred to as Prexie, but it is better manners not to call me that to my face."

What happened to the Freshman who did not reconize you down on the field the night before the W. S. C. rally and wanted to scrap when you asked about the barber pole?

"Suppose you ask him. He probably has a more vivid recollection of the incident."

What is the hardest problem that confronts you as President of the University?

"Keeping peace in the local War Department"

What is your greatest pleasure in life?

"Teaching my Alexander to write poetry. He composed a creditable quatrain when he was four years old. At this rate he will be producing sonnets at fourteen. I expect the Quill to be enriched by contributions from him this year."

Have you any other forms of amusement?

"Oh, yes. I love to pluck pretty posies and gambol on the green in the spring, tra la. I am also fond of smoking big round fat black cigars. In regard to smoking, you may quote me as saying that it is most injurious for young men. I urge those addicted to the habit to cut it out. Tell them to throw their cigarettes and pipes in the stove, to give their cheap cigars to Fred, and to leave all 15 and 25 centers in my office."

Four members of the local Y. M. C. A. were guests of the W. S. C. association at Pullman Saturday evening, Nov. 16. Those who went from here were Boyeson, J. D. Davis, Swanson and Iseman, who were received with cordiality and were extended warm hospitality by the W. S. C. men. Speeches by several W. S. C. men and by Davis from Idaho were listened to after which a yell was given by over 200 W. S. C. men for Idaho and in turn a yell for W. S. C. was given by the four Idaho men. The guests were then entertained by the Websterian Literary society which was also entertaining the Columbian Literary society. Music and a mook trial were the special features of the entertainment. After the program refreshments were served. The visitors were guests for the night, two of them being entertained at the Gamma Delta fraternity house.

"WHERE QUALITY COUNTS"

Overdoing It.

Woodrow Wilson at a luncheon in Spring Lake said of a boy athlete:

"I am afraid he sets athletics too far above English, mathematics and history. His aunt said to him the other day:

"I'm delighted to hear of your success on the school baseball team, Harold, but you must remember that there are other things in life besides baseball."

"Yes, aunt I know," said the boy, "but hang it all, I'm afraid
I'm too light for football or rowing."

Geology Classes To Take Trip.

For the benefit of the students who are interested in geology Dr. Stewart is planning a field trip for Thanksgiving vacation. He went down to Orofino last week to look over the country and found that it offered an excellent opportunity for the study of geological conditions. So the party will probably go to Orofino and make short daily excursions from there. This trip should prove valuable to those who take it, as it will give them a chance to apply some of the class room lectures and diagrams to actual conditions.

The University of South Carolina offers a one-hour course in automobile instruction.

A new record has been established in college annuals. The Senior class of the U. of O. have returned the class dues, paid their bills and still have a neat sum in the bank to their credit. The 1912 Oregonian has shown a balance of $147.

A freshman at the University of Wasnington was treated to a free bath by the sophomores because he insisted upon sitting with the upperclassmen at student assembly.

At Whitman College a new literary society, called the Whitman union, has been formed by the men of the college, somewhat after the nature of the Oxford union or the Harvard union. The membership is limited to those who wish to go in seriously for spoken and written English work.

At Eugene, a man secured $100 in clothing and $75 in cash by donning a green cap, posing as a University student, and passing bogus checks.

According to an investigation at Iowa it has been found that only one out of every eleven college engagement result in marriage. So we see that it is a "perfectly harmless" practice.—Ex.

A new library, which is to cost in the neighborhood of one million dollars, is to be built at Cambridge soon. The new building is the gift of Mrs. George D. Wideman, as a memorial to her son, Harry, who was a victim of the Titanic disaster. The present Harvard library is one of the finest in the United States and contains some two and one-half million books. The new building will have to have over fifty nine miles of book shelves in order to hold the volumes.
