IDAHO DROPS THE LAST GAME

W. S. C. Defeats Idaho in a Well Played Game, 30-20.

Idaho started off with a rush in the game with W. S. C. last Thursday night scoring eight points before the visitors made any. They retained the lead up to the last few minutes of the first half when Anderson dropped in with two field baskets, the half ending fourteen to eleven in favor of the college men. Soulen made nine out of the eleven points, shooting two field baskets and throwing five out of seven free throws. Mitchell made the other basket for Idaho.

In the second half Washington state got away with a large lead in the first few minutes, making six points before Soulen finally dropped one in. W. S. C. made sixteen points to Idaho's nine in this half. One point, however, was awarded to W. S. C. by the referee. Soulen made seven out of the nine points made by the home team, Kinnison making the other two.

Soulen was easily the star for the Idaho team. He played the best ball of his two years on the team. Mitchell also played a fast game. For W. S. C. Sampson and Anderson put up the best exhibition. Sampson was the only man on either team who did not foul. Lowery was the chief offender, having six called on him. The free throws of Soulen were a feature, he making eight out of twelve throws.

McNett was not allowed to play for Idaho on account of being ineligible, having to pass off a couple of "cons" before he would have the required credits.

Following is the way the two teams lined up:

W. S. C.		Idaho
Anderson	F	Soulen
Bohler	F	Kinnison
Love	C	Jardine
Lowery (capt)	G	Mitchell
Sampson	G	Keane

Summary: Baskets from field—Soulen 4, Mitchell 1, Kinnison 1, Lowery 1, Sampson 2, Love 1, Bohler 3, Anderson 4. Free throws—Soulen 8, Sampson 7. Fouls—Idaho 14, W. S. C. 12.

Referee—Hec Edmundson.

NOTES.

No more college basketball for ten months.

Baseball and track will now occupy the limelight at Idaho until the end of the school year.

Omega Pi Receives.

The Omega Pi sorority was hostess Saturday afternoon to a pretty reception in honor of Mrs. H. A. Clarke. During the afternoon 150 ladies called and were received by Mesdames Jas. A. MacLean, C. L. von Ende and H. A. Clarke and the Misses Winifred Brown, Edna Campbell, and Ursel Strohecker. The beautiful home was decorated in pink and white. In the dining room the color scheme was carried out in the center piece of carnations on the prettily appointed table which was presided over by the Misses Susan Sinclair and Rose Sieler.

O. Kuykendahl and B. Fenton left Sunday for Eugene after being the guests of Theta Mu Epsilon for a few days.

WOULD MOVE STATE UNIVERSITY

President Barker, of Board of Regents Against Action—Is Political Scheme.

"Taking advantage of every political situation which has tended to divide the forces of the north at Boise, southern Idaho is making headway with a scheme to take from northern Idaho the agricultural department of the University of Idaho," said George R. Barker of Sandpoint regent of the state university, who was in Spokane Saturday on his way to Boise.

"The scheme contemplates the removal at this time of the agricultural department to Twin Falls, with the further understanding that the university itself shall be removed thereafter to Boise," said Mr. Barker. "It may be that the alleged plan to remove the university later to Boise is part of a scheme for winning votes for the removal at the present session of the agricultural department to Twin Falls, a bill for which is pending in the legislature."

"This is the sort of 'trading' that has been going on at Boise this winter, with the object of crippling the northern institution by removal of its agricultural department to southern Idaho. Every opportunity that could be used by Senator Robinson of Twin Falls, the father of the segregation bill, to advance his measure in house and senate has been grasped, with the one object of getting votes."

"It is unfortunate at this time that the senatorial and county and division fights have left the north with a divided front and with some of its legislative members in a mood where it is hard to secure united

First Quill Soon.

The staff of the Quill, the university literary magazine, has been handicapped by the lack for suitable material," said Ralph Foster, editor of the publication. "When Professor Tull got out the first number last year, he had an accumulation of several years' themes, and it was no trouble to get out a tin-top number. The material this year is all new and written especially for the Quill and I have been waiting until I got enough first class material to make a creditable publication although now we are badly in need of a short story."

"The next number will appear very shortly, within a couple of weeks. There will probably be but one other number gotten out, besides this first one this year."

COACH TO BEGIN BASEBALL SOON

Will Hold Preliminary Work-Outs in Lewis Hall Until Warm Weather.

Coach "Pink" Griffith issued a call for a meeting of all baseball men in school Tuesday of this week. He gave the prospective squad a good talk on what to do and what not to do in early practice, for he does not want any of the men to work out too fast and get unnecessary sore arms, strains and "charley-horses."

"At first there will be nothing but limbering up of the muscles of the arms," said Coach Griffith to an Argonaut reporter "and then later I intend to put the squad through a systematic course of instruction in hunting and base sliding. I intend to start the pitchers to work for control and for speed. I will not countenance any curve balls being thrown until the weather is warmer."

"Fay Robinson, who made his letter two years ago, is a first class catcher," continued the coach. "He has one of the best arms I have ever seen on an amateur. For pitchers I have John Hayden, who pitched for the varsity in 1910."

He has a good curve and plenty of speed but lacks endurance. Then there is Proctor Perkins who was emergency pitcher two years ago. He may develop into a strong man this year. Jean Gerlough, a sophomore, has the best curve ball of any of the prospective pitchers. He pitched in the inter-class and inter-fraternity leagues last year. He showed lots of good stuff but was inclined to be wild. He has a

MILITARY BALL ENJOYABLE AFFAIR

Ninth Annual Dance Held In Ergan's Hall Last Friday Evening.

Last Friday night occurred what was probably one of the most enjoyable military balls, the University of Idaho has had in many years.

The ninth annual military ball of the cadets of the university was held in the company "F" armory, down town last Friday night. Owing to the severe illness of Mrs. Carithers, one of the patronesses of the dance, the function was nearly postponed several times, but finally came off on schedule time. The grand march began at 9:00 o'clock, and the dance continued until one o'clock Saturday morning. The attendance was diminished due to the fact that no Delta Gamma girls attended owing to the fact that Mrs. Carithers is one of the sorority patronesses, and also has a daughter who is a member of the sorority.

Among the out of town visitors at the ball were Lieutenant Bennett, commandant of the W. S. C. cadets, Lieutenant Dawson of the coast artillery, Major Wilkins, of the Idaho National guard, Cadet Colonel Myers of W. S. C., George H. R. O'Donnell, major of the Idaho battalion last year and several other retired cadet officers of the Idaho cadet corps.

The hall was decorated with a profuse canopy of flags low hung and bordered with strings of electric lights. The galleries were festooned with evergreen, upon which at regular intervals, crossed guns, sabers and bayonets were displayed.

Two cozy corners, shut off from the main floor by screens of evergreens, a corner delightfully arranged for serving a combination of punch and hardtack, with a corner for patronesses rounded off the angular appearance of the dance floor. The stage, which was occupied by the orchestra was filled with a war-like setting of tents, guns, flags, and other paraphernalia relieved with tree like evergreens, making the hall appear entirely harmonious in its arrangements. About seventy-five couples were in attendance, most of the men being in uniform.

The dance was in charge of Cadet Major Louie T. Jessup. Captain Carlson was chairman of the decoration committee.

The patronesses attending were Mrs. McLean, Mrs. Griffith, Mrs. Franklin, Miss French, Mrs. Carithers and Mrs. Lewis were unable to be present.

The office of The Argonaut is in the publicity office, next door to the bursar's office. A member of the staff may be found in the office any afternoon except Tuesday. All contributions gladly received up until Monday noon of each week. Paper goes to press Tuesday.

It is not violating a confidence, nor usurping the privilege of a prophet to predict that Tuesday's session of the Chamber of Commerce at luncheon will be eminently worth while.

Principally because "Nick" will talk.

Professor Nicholson is not a book farmer. He has been a farmer boy and farmer as well as expert on poultry and bacteria.

What he doesn't know about country life is what the man knows who has never been in the country.

He was drafted into filling a position on a program at the country life congress in Spokane recently, in place of Dean Carlyle, and his talk on "Country Life" was the bit of the session.

Besides the wit and good humor which bubble through his discourse there are also ideas. Lots of 'em, too.

Professor Nicholson has not only farmed—he was thinking when he farmed. He has not only studied bacteria, he has applied the result of that study to farm life. He has not only raised chickens, but he has won prizes and pointed out the way for others to make chickens profitable.

The luncheon Tuesday will be worth while, not only to the farmer, who wants hard sense and facts, but for the town dweller and merchant who wants to know of the relation of farm and town, and how they can be of mutual help.

Mrs. W. H. Carithers Dead.

At 12:30 o'clock Monday morning occurred the death of Mrs. Warner H. Carithers, whose life had for the last week hung only upon a slender thread of hope. Death was due to a complication of chronic troubles, from which Mrs. Carithers had long suffered, and which had resulted in the last few weeks in such a condition that a most delicate operation was performed as the only hope of saving her life. In spite of the skill of the best surgeons in the northwest and every care which could be given even this was unavailing.

While the passing away of Mrs.

Carithers was not unexpected, for even before the operation there was but the faintest hope, it is none the less a great shock to Moscow and truly heartfelt sympathy goes from the entire community to

Dr. Carithers and their daughter, Miss Lillian, who survive her.

Henrietta Pearl Jones was born in Bellville, Canada, in 1873, and removed later with her parents to Elmwood, Ill., where she was married to Dr. Warner H. Carithers in 1889. Dr. Carithers had at that time been practicing medicine in Moscow for a year and they came immediately to Moscow, where they have resided continuously since.

In the city to which she came as a bride Mrs. Carithers became truly a friend to everybody. Probably no woman in Moscow was more loved. An ideal doctor's helpmate she combined social graces with kindness and a sunny disposition with a warm heart, and while Mrs. Carithers was a social leader whose hospitality was most prized, she was not less her husband's helper, taking a deep interest in his profession and assisting him about the hospital where her warm kindness and inspiring cheerfulness were a continual comfort to those in bodily distress. She was modest and unassuming, a woman of deep, broad human sympathies, energetic and unswerving in her efforts for others and spiritually radiant because of a life of goodness and purity devoted in self-sacrifice to others.

AT ASSEMBLY

The main thing to be noted at assembly last week was the way in which the lawyers monopolized the front seats. It would appear as if they desire to be seen. The musical number was a piano solo by Miss Fern Berry. The address was given by Professor Wilson of the law department on "The Lawlessness of Reform." On seeing the number of the law students present the professor stated that there was no credit given for the course, but failed to allege the effect attendance would have on grades, hence many of the students do not feel that the occupying of the front row was a waste of time.

By way of excuse for his subject the professor said, "Every one here will be a voter, if he or she is not one now, and therefore should know something of law. I am not going to talk of legal principles," he continued, "but of 'legal methods.'"

He then spoke of the lawlessness which seemed to accompany all our reforms and as an example cited the suffragette movement. "Where it is the less lawless," he affirmed, "it is the more satisfactory to the instigators themselves." And as proof of the statement he drew a contrast between the movement in this country and that in England.

Mr. Wilson repeatedly stated that he did not wish to be understood as taking sides one way or the other on any of the questions, but was attempting to show the cause of the undesirable effects of some of the reforms as they appeared to him. He mentioned the "Recall of Judges" and "Recall of Judicial Decisions" and the great rush to the commission form of government. He also spoke of the prison reforms and the bloody Friday in Oregon.

The professor then took up the derivation of our laws and reviewed the way in which they had been taken from the laws of England, both our codes and common law decisions. He pointed out that when a statute was enacted the legislature stated that it was the commencement of a law, but that the common law judges held that the law which they propound as existed forever.

The professor then took up the objectionable features of the recall of judges and judicial decisions. He held that it would cause the judges to enter the sentiment of the people and that the result would be endless confusion and bad law. As proof he cited a case that was tried in the City of Bushnell, Illinois, where the court took the popular side of the question and held that if the city ordinance stated that a certain drink was intoxicating, though it didn't contain enough alcohol to intoxicate a man, yet it would be classed as intoxicating liquor.

Mr. Wilson then spoke of governor West's giving Oregon such a "bloody Friday" that they would never want another, and of the Governor of Arkansas, who is opposed to pardoning, trying to bring about reform by pardoning so many criminals that he will give the state a lesson. They have violated the fundamental principles of law," said he, "and have showed an utter disregard for law and it's fundamental principles."

"The courts of this country have repeatedly violated principles of law," he affirmed, "and the uncertainty causes the unrest. The average reformer cannot wait for his time to come," he continued, "he believes that the end will justify the means."

And in closing the professor said, "Courts should hold strictly to rules until changed by statute, and should not allow things to be done by popular clamor. In fact we should have more cool and well planned reform and not so much lawlessness."

WOULD MOVE STATE UNIVERSITY

action against the south.

"It is time that the north end of the state arouses itself if the situation is to be saved. The whole press of northern Idaho should exert itself, its citizens get busy with petitions and the legislators be allowed to know that it is over the united protest of the north that the removal of the agricultural college will be made.

"The favorite argument in the south for removal of the agricultural college is that southern students have to travel so far to reach Moscow. In the matter of transportation in the state of Idaho, southern Idaho has all the best of it. If we of the north visit our capital it is to go into three states to get there. The school for the blind, the industrial school, the school for feeble minded, one of the state insane asylums, one of the state normals and a state academy are all in southern Idaho. Northern Idaho has the state university, the Lewiston normal and one of the state asylums for the insane at Orofino. In the matter of division of state institutions southern Idaho has all the best of it.

"For northern members to sit idly by because of political differences with the Latah delegation at Boise and allow politics to interfere with the best interests of their section of the state is a shame and one which I can not think will finally have its weight in the present situation. I can not believe that personal differences of members will operate against the direct interests of their state."

fair head, and is a fair hitter. I understand he played four years of baseball for Boise high, as first baseman and emergency pitcher. He shows unusual knowledge of inside ball for a new man, but still has a lot to learn. Other prospective pitchers are Jardine, Keane and Kinnison, all of whom have had high school experience. For infielders we have, Burns, E. Perkins, Hughart, Jardine, Humphries, Jones, Lattig and several others to pick from."

The weak point on the Idaho team for the last four years has been the lack of a pitching staff. Coach Griffith intends working hard and will specialize on this department of the game. The men will probably be able to do outside work about the middle of March. The first game is with W. S. C. on April 18th, so there is plenty of time for preliminary work. Inasmuch as there are only four home games scheduled, it is the intention of Coach Griffith to again have a class league and probably an interfraternity league, all varsity squad men to be barred.

Idaho will have its first taste of twenty-five cent intercollegiate baseball this year. It is the intention of Graduate Manager Larson to get out season tickets, similar to the basketball tickets of the past season.

There will probably be several exhibition games, in addition to the regularly scheduled games. The Spokane Indians will perhaps play a game here on their way back from their training camp at Boise about the tenth of April.

Mr. C. H. Heard, who graduated from the University of Idaho in 1910 and who has been in charge of the work in agriculture in the Twin Falls schools the past year, has been elected to the position of associate professor of agriculture in the Peru State normal school of Peru, Nebraska.

The Peru State normal is one of the oldest and best equipped normals in the state and has an enrollment of over 1400 students.

Mr. Heard will assume the duties of his new position in June.

It will be of interest to the students of the department of education to know that Ransome A. Mackie, who took work in the B. A. department in '09-'10 is now a fellow in Psychology at Clark University, Worcester, Massachusetts. Mr. Mackie is at present running a series of articles in "Education" on Progressive High School Reorganization his next article being entitled: The Six Year High School.

An Opportunity for Service.

The boy scouts of Moscow have issued an appeal for an additional scout master, two assistant scoutmasters and two basketball coaches. Under the leadership of Dr. Steinman, the local organization of scouts has been steadily growing until now it is too big for one man to handle. This is a splendid opportunity for some of the students of this university to give themselves in unselfish service to help the boys of the community. We reprint the following excerpt from the official Boy Scouts' Manual:

The scout master is the adult leader of a troop, and must be at least twenty-one years of age. He should have a deep interest in boys, be genuine in his own life, have the ability to lead, and command the boys' respect and obedience. He need not be an expert at scout craft; a good scout master will discover experts for the various activities. He may choose an assistant some young man over 18 years of age.

All men who are interested in this work should apply at once to Dr. Steinman who will present their names to the local council (a committee of representative citizens) for action.

Seniors.

All cap and gown pictures must be taken by Saturday evening, March 1st. There are caps and gowns at Sterner's studio. Report on your proof at once.

IDAHO DROPS THE LAST GAME western invasion Sunday. They meet Washington first and wind up by playing O. A. C.

O. A. C. took two games from Washington last week. Washington defeated Oregon twice. Looks like clear sailing for W. S. C. to the championship.

Putnam was substituted for Anderson in the last part of the game. Anderson turned his ankle which was painful though not serious.

Bohler did not prove to be the sensation of the W. S. C. team as was expected. The strength of the college team lies in Captain Lowery, Sampson and Anderson.

Lowery is the best man with the dribble in the conference. He pulls in his head like a mud turtle when he starts down the floor. He is playing much faster ball this year than last.

Love was lucky to slip in his lone basket. He shot it while he was on his knees. This is Love's first year on the team.

The all-northwest selection will look something like this: Savage, center; Byler, forward; Walker, forward; Lowery and Sampson, guards.

What a Man Ought to Be.

The girls of Drake university met in Des Moines, Ia., for serious discussion and formulated rules of what a live, up-to-date, worthy, all-around young fellow of 1913 should be. The girls, after a meeting, which lasted many hours, posted these rules:

He must make a good appearance, but not be handsome.

He must be careful in personal appearance, but not a "dandy."

He must be jolly, accommodating, considerate and a true sportsman.

If an athlete and meeting the other requirements, so much the better but if not athletic, it need not detract.

He must be a good conversationalist and realize that a girl is not flattered by having nonsense talked at her all the time.

He must show respect and reverence for the aged.

He must show the same gentlemanliness with men as with women.

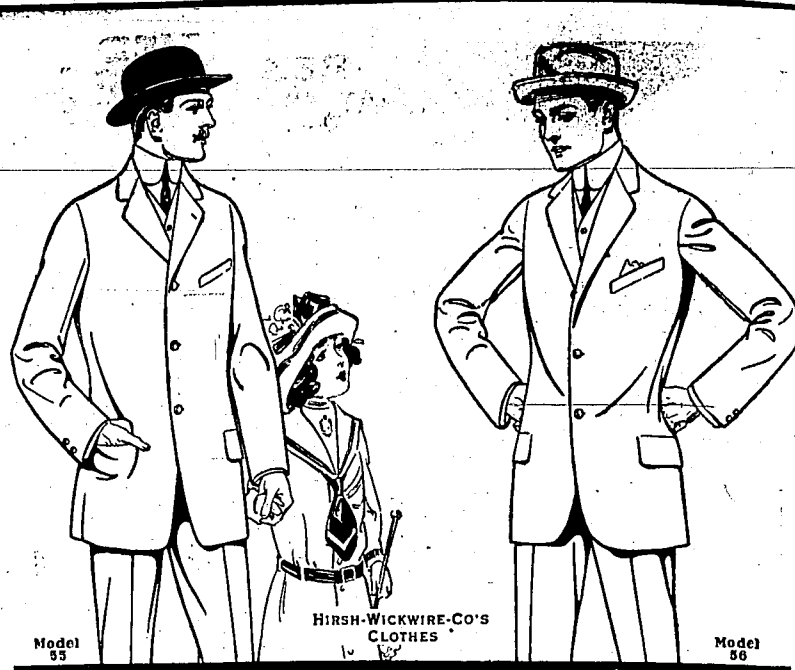

He must not sit serenely in a street car while an old man or an old woman stands, and then arise suddenly and offer a seat to a pretty girl.

He must not smoke nor drink nor be guilty of the attendant evils.

He must not sneer at religion nor joke about it.

The young women recognize no difference in standards for men and for women and declare such distinction as false.

The young women can only truly respect those men who live by principle and not by others' opinions.
