GREATER VARSITY RALLY SUNDAY

COMMISSIONER SISSON IS AROUSED BY THE TREMENDOUS MORTALITY IN CLASSES.

Dean Eldridge Read Very Interesting Statistics About the University Population.—Band Furnished Music.

As the result of a letter from the commissioner of education in which attention was called to the increasing rate of mortality in the four classes, President Brannon presided at an extra assembly Sunday afternoon when the matter was presented to the students in an effort to decrease the number who may not return next fall.

GUS LARSON,
Retiring Graduate Manager.

The band did some good work in bringing the crowd and the auditorium was better filled than at a regular assembly. There were also a few towns people present.

A few rousing songs with band accompaniment preceded the president's introductory remarks. The object of the assembly was announced after which Dean Eldridge was called upon to submit a few statistics showing not only the mortality in the classes at Idaho but a comparative standing of classes in other colleges.

First the dean compared the size of the freshman class, in any given year, say 1900, with that of the sophomore class in 1901, that of the junior class in 1902, and that of the senior class in 1903. The dean explained that this comparison does not truly represent the facts for any particular college, because of the entrance on advanced standing from other colleges, the transfer of students to other colleges, the completion of the course in a year more or less than the usual four years, the repetition of single years by students who do not complete the course, the transfer to and from the group "special students," and absence from college for a year or more followed by return and completion of the course.

In the second method of comparison the actual careers of the members of a class who enter in, say 1900-1901, are followed in the catalogues. This method has the advantage of telling something about the particular hold a college maintains on its entering classes, and of checking the results from the first method of comparison as given above.

According to the first method, the comparison of class population, it was shown that in an average of 13 years at Idaho, the per cent of the senior class to the freshman class four years earlier is 48 per cent, while Harvard shows 77 per cent, Yale 90 per cent, and Bowdoin 95 per cent.

In the comparisons of class permanences, the average at Idaho for the same number of years is 31.5 per cent, Harvard shows 64 per cent, Yale 82 per cent, and Bowdoin 81 per cent.

From these statistics it is noted that the class mortality at Idaho is a serious menace to the growth of the student body and while President Brannon is emphatic for a better, then bigger university, it cannot be denied that neither can be obtained until the classes can better maintain their numbers through the four years. The dean brought out the interesting fact that southern Idaho sent to the university last year 54.9 per cent of the university students. But a great many of this 54 per cent fail to return. The freshman class last year contained 145 of the green-capped variety, while this year that class has only 80 members. The present freshman class numbers 162. How many of this 162 will return as sophomores? That is the question, and it was with the aim of preventing if possible some losses that the booster meeting was held.

EXPLANATORY EXPOSITION.

In last week's Argonaut the names of the men who have won their "I" this year were given. By some misunderstanding the stars that go with some of these "I's" were not given. The men who get a star for participating in two branches of athletics are: John Phillips, Harold Purdy, and Banks Kinneson.

Those who get stars for participating in three branches are: James Lockhart and Arthur Jardine.

Those who get stars for having been captains are: Clarence Favre, in football; Harry Soulen, in basket ball, and John Hayden in baseball, and James Lockhart in track.

OREGON WINS CONFERENCE MEET

FASTEST TRACK MEET EVER HELD IN NORTHWEST WITH BUT ONE EXCEPTION.

Idaho "Off Color."—Much Dope Upset Yet a Very Slight Change in Time and Circumstance "Might Have Been."

(By C. S. Edmundson.)

With but one exception the conference meet held at Pullman last Friday was the best in the history of track in the northwest. That exception was the national A. A. U. meet held in Seattle in 1909.

Oregon was picked to win by most of the critics and she did all that was expected of her. It is seldom that a team has as many members "off" as did Idaho last week. It was generally expected that the wearers of the winged I would take second place with about 28 points. While the supporters of the Silver and Gold no doubt feel badly about dropping to fifth place, let them remember that there were only nine points difference in the two positions and that many are easily lost in a meet of this kind if luck breaks wrong.

Morrison lost because he had not been able to train to any extent since the W. S. C. meet. His knee was all right the day of the conference but it was lack of work that beat him. Cooke will never see the day that he can beat him if Morrison is "

Dingle perhaps had gone slightly beyond the best of condition; was slightly "stale." He has worked hard all season, harder than the coach wanted him to. A man should not be criticized for ambition and determination. If all of the team had a little of Dingle's it would have been a stronger combination.

Massey ran a remarkable good race in the 440. If he shows the usual improvement that takes place between a track man's first and second year he will be a wonder in 1915.

Capt. Lockhart ran the best race of his career in the low hurdles. His time was undoubtedly better than 25 seconds, the present college record. It is too bad that it cannot go to him. It was a surprise to Idaho to see him defeated by McCrosky whom he beat three weeks ago, and it was probably no less a surprise to Whitman to see Hoover take third as he had defeated both of the leaders.

The collegiate order of events makes it bad for Lockhart as he has to go from the low hurdles to the broad jump without rest

Buck has the distinction of being the only man to place in three events and of "coming back" in the javelin throw after even some of his most loyal friends had expressed doubt. He also threw the discus farther on his seventh throw than Cole who took first place.

Idaho and O. A. C. each placed in nine events while the others all scored in a less number and in these nine there are a number of places where, if conditions had been right we should have made our nine other points.

We take our hats off to the W. S. C. relay team, 3 minutes 22 seconds is fast time in any company, 50½ seconds per man.

Come Here to Study Premedic Courses.

(By Harry Emhouse)

The Premedic club is, no doubt, the youngest organization in college, having been born this current year. It is composed of members who expect to take work in the medical line and who men coming in next year the success and stability of the organization are assured.

It is not generally known throughout the state that medical subjects in any form can be obtained at the university and consequently many high school are taking subjects that lead up to medical work.

The main object of the organization is to establish a closer relationship among the students having a common interest, and to stimulate and maintain interest in medicine and surgery by means of discussing various topics pertaining to this field and keeping in touch with current medical and biological literature.

The meetings of the club, which are very informal, have been tremendous successes this year and with the new graduates contemplating taking up medicine annually go to other colleges while an efficient course and the best of teachers are available at home, and at their own university. At least two years of practical and essential preliminary premedical work can be had here at the university and are given with the same thoroughness practiced in institutions for medical training. The courses afforded are indispensable qualities in medical work, and since they are here should be availed of by all prospective medical students. The chemistry course is absolutely up to standard. The biology department offers especially strong courses in zoology, physiology, comparative anatomy, mammalian anatomy, entomology, heredity and eugenics, histology, cytology, etc. Bacteriology is offered in an up-to-date laboratory. Physics occupies an extensive department. In fact, two years or even more could be spent at a no better institution than "Idaho" by medical students.

The Misses Florence Pierce, Leah McEchron, and Katherine Vincent of Lewiston were the guests of Gamma Phi Beta Campus Day.

will start early in the fall, and endeavor to finish the tournament so that a team may be chosen from the best players to represent Idaho in contests with other colleges. The tournament started in February has not been completed owing to conflicting dates in the past few weeks. The results show Prof. H. P. Fishburn to be the strongest player, although several close matches were not played, and Ray Cammack and Prof. Peterson were close contenders for the championship honors.

Some of the players were beginners while others had previous experience. Chess is an old game and it requires considerable concentration to become a good player. The club will no doubt have a very successful year next year, and the team will no doubt add another W. S. C. scalp to the Idaho string if opportunity is afforded.

The seniors at Ridenbaugh hall entertained Miss Brashear, Dr. Moore, and Miss Brashear's sister at dinner last week.

SOME FEW THINGS PECULIAR TO THE CURRENT YEAR

ALPHA KAPPA EPISILON HOME.

The house shown in the cut is the first home of the fraternity named under it. This is another product of the last year. This, the youngest of the Greek-letter organizations, is the fifth one to be organized at Idaho with the student body and in the welfare of individual students. President Brannon recognizes the need of a "Greater University" and under his generalship we are sure to have it.

by Gale Seaman and I. B. Rhodes, the following plans have been made for the work of the Y. M. C. A. during the coming school year.

First, to welcome the students upon their return to school, especially the new students. Trains will be met, and assistance will be given the students to find suitable lodgings. An employment bureau will be conducted to obtain work for those students who wish to pay part or all their expenses. It is hoped that the community as a whole will support this policy by handing to those appointed on these committees notice of any work and of lodging accommodations which they can offer.

Secondly, to hold religious meetings of an interesting and helpful nature every other week, on Sunday afternoon. Good speakers will be obtained to address these meetings, and special music will be provided.

Thirdly, to conduct bible study in connection with the various Sunday

CONFERENCE OF Y. W. C. A.

Young Ladies Urged to Attend Meetings During Vacation.—Funds Lacking to Send Delegates.

(By Rose Curtis.)

At this time of the year it is very necessary to call the attention of all the girls of the university to the Y. W. C. A. summer conference which will be held at Cohasset Beach, Wn., June 23 to July 3.

For any young women who are able to go this is an opportunity which should not be allowed to pass by. The summer conference affords a very desirable opportunity to hear speakers of nation-wide prominence, to make new friendships, and to broaden one's view of life, and at the same time spend a few days in health-giving recreation.

The Y. W. C. A. of the university is at present trying to raise funds to send two girls, Miss Mary McClenahan, the president of the local association, and Miss Lottie Works. If there are any other girls who can afford to take this trip, or who will be at the coast this summer, we wish to urge them to attend this conference. We would like to have them hand in their names to Miss Grace Darling or Miss McClenahan at once.

The local association is greatly in need of funds just now to send their delegates to the coast, and if there are any who can aid us in securing the necessary money we should be glad to hear from them immediately.

DELTA GAMMA HOME.

The cut below shows the new home of the Delta Gamma sorority. The sorority moved into the house during the early part of the year. Formerly the girls lived in Mrs. Moore's small house on Deakin avenue. The girls purpose of living together. It was organized just one year ago and has successfully completed the first year of its existence. The house, though small, is extremely convenient and by using the sleeping porch the boys find plenty of room.

NEW ARGONAUT OFFICE.

Most encouraging progress has been made this year in the effort to secure a permanent Argonaut office. Once the need of such an office became generally known there has been no lack of co-operation on the part of the president and A. S. U. I. offi.

Temporary quarters were secured in the publicity room and a little furniture purchased. Forgetting the constant interruption, the little corner was an obvious improvement over no office at all.

But better times are at hand. Prexy Brannon has been quick to see the need of a real Argonaut office and he has accordingly made arrangements by which one of the rooms in the Gym. may be given to the Argonaut. When this step has been taken, we can or should take an increased interest in our university publication. In the past there has been little interest beyond the tendency to pick it to pieces and find fault. With a well equipped office such as we are assured in the Gym., or better still, in the Ad. building, the future looks good, very good.

TWO MONTHS OF PREXY BRANNON

President Brannon has been here but two months and already throughout the entire state his influence is felt. He has had time, despite his very extensive lecture tours, to investigate almost every branch of university activity. He is interested not only in the establishment and maintenance of a strong, well-balanced university, but in all the functions of the and Miss Margaret Keane were married in Moscow. Mrs. Mason is graduate of the Lewiston normal school and attended the university for some time. Mr. Mason is a graduate of the university, of the class of 1912, and has, until recently, been practicing law in Moscow. He is a representative of Latah county in the state legislature and is now engaged in the newspaper business in Deary where he edits the Deary and Bovill papers. He is well known in the community and is a member of Theta Mu Epsilon fraternity.

PLANS FOR NEXT YEAR.

Will Make New Students Welcome in the Fall and Keep Them Studying.

(By D. Boyd.)

In accordance with the policies adopted at the conference conducted schools of the city. The nature of the courses studied will be left largely to those enrolled for these classes.

Fourthly, to conduct reading courses in mission study throughout the year, as is convenient with those taking up the studies. These classes will take the form of social, informal discussions on mission topics, as brought up by the books read.

Other plans will grow out of these, and will be adopted as the work goes on. It's hoped that any helpful suggestions concerning any of the work, or its possibilities, will be freely made.

Notice of application for student labor or of lodgings should be left with the bursar, Francis Jenkins, before Sept. 1, if possible. Lloyd Ellington will have charge of students labor and Deigh Boyd of arrangements for new students.

are well pleased with the new home. It is very close to the campus—just up the hill west of the old home of President MacLean. The house is heated by a furnace and is very well suited to the needs of the sorority. It is finished beautifully and in the spacious living rooms, which contain a fire place, room may be easily made for small dancing parties, etc. On the south side is a fine sleeping porch. In front of the house are some very fine shade trees. But the grounds are not yet improved as they should be owing to the uncertainty of the paving of University avenue. The move into the new quarters marks an epoch in the sorority history.

Miss Melgard of Colfax, Wash., was a guest of Delta Gamma for Campus Day.

The office of The Argonaut is in the publicity office, next door to the bursar's office. A member of the staff may be found in the office any afternoon except Tuesday. All contributions gladly received up until Tuesday noon of each week. Paper goes to press Wednesday.

COMING UNDER THE WIRE.

Since this issue is the last one that will be put out by the present staff we think it fitting to offer a summary. The task of the editorial staff is difficult. How well it has been performed is left for our readers to say. But this much is certain: We are grateful. Grateful for all that is given us. In this regard special mention is due Prof. Hulme whose kindly interest and material assistance we thankfully acknowledge; Prof. Patterson, whose contributions and criticisms have always been welcome; Prof. Axtell, whose interest, patience and hope have not wavered; and more especially, Mr. Lehman, whose advice, encouragement and assistance have been priceless.

These, with possibly one or two others of the faculty, are the men who have helped. They have cared. And sincerely we thank them.

Other than matters strictly personal we have received no contributions from students not on the staff.

Of the members of the staff only the good need be told. For the most part they are good workers. We wish to thank them. Beyond question the most loyal and energetic supporter is John McEvers. He has handled the athletic interests during the year and not three issues have been without some contribution from John. Not only the work he accomplished but the excellent spirit in which he worked deserves the highest praise. Harry Einhouse and Arthur J. Lyon have been willing and able reporters. Einhouse especially has faithfully ferreted out faculty secrets and administration measures in a most praise-worthy manner. To Rollo Crater we owe thanks for spasmodic flashes; to Edwina Yearian for a steady glow. They have given real support, and are only less reliable for consistent effort than is C. F. Johnson whose duty it is to make the agricultural college known. The editors wish also to thank Ralph Green, Herman Nuffer, Theron Warren, Alice Hartley, Gertrude Denecke, Dorothy Taylor, Francis Bistline and one or two unknown friends for their contributions. The efficient management of Roy Tuttle and Ray Cammack has been an element of pleasure in the production of the paper. Finally a word of thanks is due the Star-Mirror, who have made our relations pleasant and mutually helpful.

EDITORS.

Dean Ayers appeared in the law office yesterday in a smoking jacket. Since he does not smoke, might we not borrow his jacket and hang it under the Ad. building?

THE NEW SYSTEM.

This year we began to allow the associate editor to edit the Argonaut part of the time. By a ruling of the student body a year ago it was left for the executive board to decide whether or not the associate editor should edit half the issues and receive half the pay. The executive board left the matter in the hands of the editor. Last semester the associate got four issues. This

Professors should be patient if a student gets so dead broke that he cannot even pay attention.

READ AND PONDER.

Dr. Jordan Tells What Seems to Him The Meaning of The Guarantee Of Peace.

What shall we say, we of the "uni-

International Mrs. Gumidge, and no more utterly-useless and often utterly mischievous citizen, than the peace-at-any-price, universal arbitration type of being, who is always complaining about war or else about the cost of armaments which act as the insurance against war. There is every reason why we should try to limit the cost of armaments, as these tend to grow excessive; but there is also every reason to remember that in the present state of civilization a proper armament is the surest guarantee of peace, and is the only guarantee that war, if it does come, will not mean irreparable and overwhelming disaster."

We shall say, that Mr. Roosevelt is wrong—wrong in his premises and wrong in his conclusions. We do not mind his sneer, a slur without reason is a sword without a hilt—it cuts mainly the hand that wields it.

It is simply not true that "in the present state of civilization, a proper armament is the surest guarantee of peace." "A proper armament," whatever that may be, is not "the only guarantee that war, if it does come, will not mean irreparable and overwhelming disaster." There is no such guarantee, for "in the present state of our civilization," which is a highly complex affair, in which right and righteousness outvalue all forms of force, that is just what war must bring. War—any war—whatever the outcome, means "irreparable and overwhelming disaster."

Moreover, in "the present state of civilization" war does not "come." War can be had only by the most strenuous efforts, and by the most costly preparation. It is, moreover, necessary, in the present temper of civilized peoples, to gather your materials for war in the name of peace.

The "surest guarantee of peace" is to want peace, to cultivate international understandings, to use every means to take off "the fighting edge," wherever the interests of one nation infringe on those of another.

As to "peace-at-any-price," against we say, let us see your price-lists first. Let us find out what we want, and count the cost. The peace that Europe enjoys today, the peace of "proper armament," is not for us. It costs too much—a waste of human effort and of human life that civilization cannot long endure.

he has edited two. These two were undoubtedly among the best of the issues. We recommend most heartily that the system be continued. If the associate editor is allowed to edit a few issues he becomes acquainted with the difficulties of the performance and a very close bond of sympathy is established. This results in greater enthusiasm—a fine thing to have if the paper is to be successful.

Since his selection as associate editor, Carl Melugin has demonstrated the most indefatigable earnestness and courage. Vigorously active, congenial and willing to work, he has made his services valuable. Not his contributions alone, but his careful thought-out counsel makes him the best man available for the same position next year.

A GREAT MANY SENIORS GRADUATE

UNIVERSITY 1914 CLASS NUMBERING 69 WILL RECEIVE DIPLOMAS.

Largest Class in History of University—First Class Had Four Graduates—Program Announced.

The University of Idaho graduating class of 1914 in which diplomas will be awarded to 69 seniors marks the record graduating class in the history of the institution. The 1913 graduating class was 54 while for comparison the first graduating class in 1896 numbered only four and during the years intervening the number has steadily increased. The names of the 1914 class will be made public within a few days.

The program for the commencement exercises at the university has just been issued, the first of the series of events falling on next Saturday morning on the campus when the senior breakfast will be served. Next Sunday, June 7, at 11 a. m. at the university auditorium the baccalaureate sermon will be delivered by Rev. Willsie Martin, of the First Methodist Episcopal church of Boise.

Monday evening at 8:30 at the gymnasium will occur the president's reception to which the public is cordially invited. There will be a meeting of the state board of education at the executive offices at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning. At the auditorium on Tuesday evening at 8:15 will occur the commencement concert and on Wednesday morning at 10:30 the commencement exercises will take place at which time Edward Octavius Slisson, state commissioner of education, will deliver the principal address. The alumni banquet will be held at Ridenbaugh hall at 1:15 p. m. on the same day. Following the banquet a business meeting of the alumni association will be held.

"GREATER VARSITY" RALLY SUNDAY.

The speakers that followed gave brief talks on assigned topics all bearing on the problem of making the school a better, a bigger, university.

Dean French spoke on the relation of the women of the university to the state and depicted the qualities that go to make up the womanly woman. She told of some things that did not make for either a better or a bigger university. Her remarks on intellectual snobbery rang true.

Dean Ayres spoke on the "Spirit of Unity," while Prof. Hulme talked on "Educational Unity." Other points of interest were touched upon by Deans Shattuck, Little and Carlyle.

Representing the students, Harry McAdams talked on the activities of the student while Joseph Pond spoke on the community spirit.

The enthusiasm and better understanding aroused by the talks and the general spirit of the meeting, resulted in a unanimous pledge to devote energy and ideas to increasing the enrolment for next year. It is expected that the greatest good can be accomplished for the university by the adoption of plans suggested Sunday.

DAVID CUP TOURNAMENT WON

FINALS PLAYED OFF ON CAMPUS DAY.—STRINGENT NEED FOR NEW ASPHALT COURT.

Why Not Award Tennis Teams Their Letter? No More Tournaments This Year.—Verna Smith Wins.

The finals of the David cup tournament were begun immediately after the finish of the semi-finals on Campus Day. In the semi-finals Harry Soulen defeated Paul Peterson by a score of 6-3, 6-3, 6-1. Don David won from Jack Hayes by a score of 6-0, 6-1, 6-0. These games were played in the late forenoon. In the evening David and Soulen began the final match. They were forced to stop before the three sets were finished. The last set was played a day later with the result that David won. This makes Don David the winner of the David cup. Little doubt can be entertained as to the justice of the outcome. For in all his matches this year David has clearly demonstrated his superiority over the other players. He loves the game; knows it; plays it.

In the girls' tournament Miss Verna Smith won from Hazel Woods and Lucy Horton. She, too, is a lover of the game. When talking to our reporter she said: "Honestly, I would much rather play than eat. I could live on this court." Some think this diet is carrying the training craze a little too far but it evidently brings the results. Miss Smith thus won the Hayes cup. In all her matches Miss Smith has shown herself a very clever player and surely her opponents were among the best players in college. It is, however, to be regretted that more girls did not enter into the spirit of the sport and enter the tournament. There will be no more tournaments this year.

Idaho is behind the time in tennis. Not, to be sure, in the quality of players she has, but in the method of treating them. At Washington, Oregon, O. A. C., and W. S. C. the men who make the tennis teams are given their letters. The men who defeated our teams at Pullman a week ago received sweaters with five-inch letters on them. At the Universities of Washington and Oregon tennis is a major sport and ranks with football, basketball, baseball and track. Whitman does not support a team and Whitman and Idaho are the only colleges in the conference that do not give letters to intercollegiate tennis teams. Surely Idaho will awaken.

Next year, we hope, we will have an asphalt court. The condition of the courts this year during the rainy season has clearly shown the need of such improvement. We have already recognized tennis as an intercollegiate sport. Let us make it successful.

Y. W. C. A. CABINET MEETING.Miss Lottie Works and Miss Mary McClenahan Will Attend Summer Conference at Cohasset Beach

The Y. W. C. A. cabinet of the university met Sunday, May 31, at Ridenbaugh hall.

Matters pertaining to sending representatives to the coast conference were discussed. Miss Mary McClenahan and Miss Lottie Works were chosen as delegates.

The cabinet next made plans for the following year. They intend to have committees appointed to meet all trains in the fall so that they may become acquainted with the new girls, and help them feel at home.

On the first Friday in the college year they plan to hold a social get-together meeting of all the girls of the university.

The second Sunday after school opens Dr. Brannon will address a joint meeting of the Y. M. and Y. W. C. A.

Prespects are very bright for a successful year for the association next year.

At a meeting of the student senate lately measures were taken to withhold credits from the freshman class until all its debts were paid. The senate may appoint advisers for the freshmen next year.

Last Monday afternoon Mr. Jones, in charge of the motion picture outfit, taking pictures for Idaho's exhibit at the world's fair in 1915, took pictures of the university stock judging classes. The first scene was that of fat steer judging with Mr. Iddings explaining the merits of the various animals; as background there will be the model dairy barn of the university. Similar pictures were taken of horse judging and sheep judging, showing the animals which have been prize winners at various fairs, and also showing in the backgrounds the waving trees of the orchard and the well kept yards about the stock buildings. W. L. Carlyle assisted in arranging representative pictures.

THE LAW AND THE PROPHETS

HONESTY AS FUNDAMENTAL PRINCIPLE OF LIFE AND CONDUCT IN THE LEGAL PROFESSION.

Audience Sing. Mr. E. K. Humphries Sings. Last Regular Assembly of School Year '13-'14.

(By Melvin Ison.)

Last Wednesday's assembly was one of the most interesting and instructive this year. After singing "Nearer My God to Thee," Pittinger played the violin. He was assisted by Miss Petcina, who played the piano. Mr. E. K. Humphries sang. The music was greeted with hearty applause.

After the music we listened to Prof. Wilson's interesting talk on "Lawyers and Prophets." The speaker aimed to place the audience in a better light as to the ethical principles of a lawyer, and to smash some of those Sunday school scruples commonly held against the legal profession.

Prof. Wilson began with a definition of law.

He then continued, "I have found most lawyers living up to this ideal and free from corruption. It must have been a surprise to the freshmen law students when they started to school last fall and found that the professors insisted on honesty and fair play. Many people actually believe that 'lawyer and liar are synonymous.' It is true that crookedness exists; then where does it exist. In the client. Not one client out of fifty will tell his attorney the truth as it really happened, but will tell the things which will help to win the case. Hence it takes the trial to find out the truth in the case.

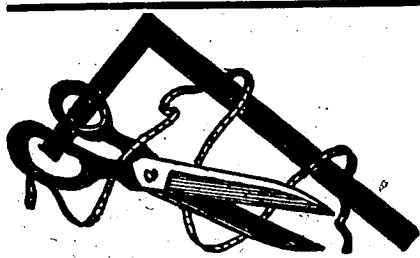

"Crooks are not confined alone to the law profession. They are to be found among every other class of people. There are lawyers who make a practice of taking cases and winning by lying, but those people are few and far between. Has the lawyer a moral or ethical right to plead for the man whom he knows to be guilty? Yes, and not only has he the right but it is his duty. The law is for the purpose of proving at each step the guilt or innocence of a man. So it is the purpose of the attorney to see that his guilty client is proven guilty by due process of law. The law presumes to hold every man innocent until he is proved guilty.

"If, after a trial, the clients on the opposite sides see their attorneys walk out of the court room arm in arm they at once conclude that the outcome was all made up between them before the trial. They forget that the lawyers can be brothers and at the same time oppose each other in fair trial for the sake of testing a case.

"Because there are evils in the legal profession does not prove that it is all corrupt. It merely shows that the profession is on the high road of progress. Where there is progress there are imperfections. When evils or imperfections cease to appear progress has ceased. Where no evils are found stagnation is the inevitable result."

Prof. Wilson said that he believes these things, and he spoke as one of firm convictions. "These are principles which we are expounding to the law students in the U. of I. The fundamental doctrine is honesty, which every student is required to learn. Not the spineless honesty so often found in all trades and professions, but honesty which can say 'no' to all evil allurements. The law students are being taught the fraternal brotherhood—how to test a case fairly and without malice so that they can walk out of the court room arm in arm after a hard test." Mr. Wilson is a keen man and we believe that his own ethical principles together with those of the other law professors, will be an incentive to the law students for the maintaining of the upright principles of their profession.
