JOINT SESSION HELD SUNDAY

MANY INTERESTED STUDENTS
GATHERED SUNDAY TO LISTEN TO SPLENDID ADDRESS

Speaker Urged Christian Associations to Seek Definite Ideals and Aspirations

Almost a third of the student body was present at the auditorium last Sunday afternoon to hear Dr. Brannon address the Christian associations of the University. Many townspeople and faculty members were present.

Before the address, Raymond Pittinger played a violin solo, Mendelssohn's Nocturne, which was well received. Oscar Johnson was accompanist.

Dr. Brannon's address, "The Function, or Place of the Christian Association in a Small College," was drawn from three sources. One was a remark made by an official of one of our railroads, that, drawing conclusions from the present war in Europe, civilization can reach only a certain height, when it will drop again to its starting point.

The second source was a remark made by one of the fair visitors from a rural district near Moscow, who said that those at the head of the educational system in Idaho were failing in their work, because they didn't reach that part of the state which needed help the most—namely, the rural schools. The third source was an editorial recently published in a local paper, commenting on the college Christian institutions.

"In order to determine the function of the Christian Associations," he said, "it is necessary to face the question, what is the significance of these organizations? And to answer this question, we must do more than merely state a policy. We must produce results, as well as words."

First, consider the practical work done by the associations. They strive to help the student—not by begging for him, but by satisfying his desire for opportunity for honest work. And if there is a place in this world where such a desire is not felt,—where such a search for opportunity is not considered laudable,—then I want to buy my ticket for a point as far distant from it as possible.

The Young Men's and Young Women's Christian Associations stand for the best ideals of all fraternal orders and society—kindness and fellowship. And so it should be ranked very highly in the situation of these bodies. It should make itself a strong factor toward opening the door to the library, in this way guiding the student in that process which is considered so essential, the renewal of the individual.

Then, too, at all times, the Associations stand for purity and righteousness. If our pragmatic civilization has reached the stage where it can dispense with these two factors, then it can dispense with the associations as well.

But after all, the practical alone is a fallacy. Alone, it stands for nothing. Man must have an ideal, toward which he strives. And eventually, he always overreaches his ambition. Last week, down on the fair grounds, we looked with wonder on the bird-man, who demonstrated in such a wonderful manner the mastery of man over the air. But all of that wouldn't have been possible but for the dream of Langley, and the preserving work of the Wright brothers.

The Idealist is the god-man—the saviour of all times and all ages. But one's ideals should be directed along the noblest lines. This is what the Christian Associations must do—help to create for everyone the true conception of the ideal.

The present ideal is one of strength. We look upon the man who by means of a strong body or strong intellect has amassed a large fortune, as an ideal. But the Association ideal would teach that an organization should be run for dividends, not for profits; for welfare, and not for wealth.

The State of Idaho is not educating her young people with the idea of having them isolate their personality from the other members of the state. She is training them to help make the state a richer, truer, nobler part of our union. But high ideals must be established and maintained; and among the colleges of the United States, nothing has performed this service equal to the Young Men's and Young Women's Christian Associations.

This forming of one's ideals, must be done within yourself. And right here has the efficiency of the Christian Associations made it possible for you to help yourself.

And the work of these associations doesn't stop with the holding of religious meetings, and conducting Bible classes. These are only materials.

It is hoped that other meetings yet to come may be as successful as the one just past.

REGISTRATION CONTINUES

Gains in Every Department But Law and Agriculture Lead in Increase...

The registration lists this week show an increase in all departments. The first few weeks are a very unstable foundation upon which to base estimates as to what the total registration will be.

The two departments showing the most gain over last year are Law and Agriculture, the latter showing an increase of twenty-eight. The registration now in the different departments is as follows: B.A., 92; B.S., 71; B.S. H.E.C., 37; Forestry, 16; B.S. Agr., 78; C.E., 17; Mng. E., 9; E.E., 12; Mech. E., 8; Chem. E., 3; L.L.B., 26; Special Music, 4.

The registration by colleges is as follows: Letters and Sciences, 220; Agriculture, 78; Engineering, 49; Law, 26.

A CORRECTION.

In last week's issue of the Argonaut it was erroneously stated that "every girl in Gamma Phi Beta sorority won A honors." It should have read that the sorority average was A, and not that each member received A honors.

CALENDAR

- Oct. 2, Fri.—Gamma Phi Beta Pledge Party.
- Oct. 3, Sat.—Ridenbaugh Hall Reception, afternoon and evening.
- Oct. 5, Mon.—Home Economics Association, Ad. Building.
- Oct. 7, Wed.—De Smet Club.
- Oct. 10, Sat.—Football with Gonzaga at Moscow.
- Oct. 17, Sat.—Football with Montana at Moscow.

VIOLIN INSTRUCTOR COMING

Excellent Violinist Will Arrive Next Week to Take Active Charge of Stringed Instrument Classes.

Instruction in the Violin Department was to have been offered by a graduate of Oberlin College Conservatory of Music. A recent wire from Oberlin indicated that Miss Dorothy V. Robertson who has been detained abroad had not known of her manager's arrangements with the University of Idaho and accepted another position before reaching this country. However, the Conservatory has provided an exceedingly able violinist, Mr. Daniel Parmallee, who will arrive at Moscow the first of next week. Thus provision has been made for adequate and high class instruction in violin playing during the coming year.

WATCH THESE DATES CLOSELY

- October 10—Gonzaga at Moscow.
- October 17—University of Montana at Moscow.
- October 23 or 24—University of Idaho at Moscow.
- October 31—Open challenge, not arranged.
- November 7—W. S. C. at Pullman.
- November 14—O. A. C. at Portland.
- Thanksgiving—Whitman at Walla Walla.

DE SMET CLUB MEETS

The De Smet Club will hold its first meeting of the year on Wednesday evening, October 7th. This club is an organization of Catholic young men and women of which all Catholics in college are invited to become members. The meetings are devoted to study and social activities.

Assemblies Are Arranged.

The regular assemblies will begin next week when Dr. Mark A. Matthews of Seattle will be the speaker. Dr. Matthews will give his address at the regular Assembly hour on Wednesday morning, October 7th, at ten o'clock. In addition to the address by Dr. Matthews, Miss Alice E. Tuller, the new instructor in piano playing will play a solo.

The University will be very glad to welcome the townspeople at its regular Assemblies during the coming semester.

Six old graduates have registered this year in the University for further study. They are: C. R. Stillinger, '13; Ruth Fogle, '07; Mrs. Helen Hardman White, '14; Stephen J. Kroh, '14; C. E. Favre, '14; Ella Woods, '11.

PRACTICE GAME HELD SATURDAY

TWO ELEVENS FROM FOOTBALL
SQUAD MIX IN LIVELY SCRUB
GAME

Brown and Ross Show Fine Form in the Backfield—Gerlough Does Well at Quarter

Coach "Pink" Griffith gave the new football squad a touch of the real dope on Saturday of last week, when he balanced two teams and turned them loose in an exhibition game played before the large crowd on the fair grounds, concluding the fair program. The coach's well-intended equilibrium, however, was destroyed when Ross and Brown were placed on the same team, both men proving to be by far the best ground gainers on the squad. Brown has been shifted from the half position, which he has formerly filled, to the position of fullback, from which position, in the game Saturday, he played havoc with the line of the opposing team. Brown was last year considered as the heaviest line plunger in the conference, and he appears to have materially strengthened his driving power this season. Some one will surely have to get up and travel, or Idaho will have Brown on the All Northwest team at full.

Ross came through with a beautiful showing in the Saturday game, and bids well to fulfil the predictions that he will be a star on the Northwest gridiron this fall. Ross is fast as lightning on his feet, and has the weight to back his speed. He is not only a whirlwind in the open field, but can be depended on for consistent gains through the line. With he and Brown working together in the game Saturday, a defeat was given the opposing forces of 20 to 0. Gerlough, however, was on the same side and did a neat job of engineering from the quarter position. Purdy was out of the game because of illness. There is little doubt, but that Hays will again this year be at the center position. He showed up fine in Saturday's game, not only being a good defensive center, but is aggressive and a fighter on defense. Among the Freshmen ground gainers of Saturday's game, were Hamilton of Pullman, and Stookey of Lewiston, both working from the halfback position. Both of these men lack weight, but their speed and dash through an open field make them both valuable men.

The line-up:

FIRST STUDENT ASSEMBLY HELD

DISCUSSION OF BUSINESS TRANSACTED AND MINOR MATTERS ATTENDED TO

Resolutions Passed Decried By and Permanent Regulations Adopted—Mrs. French Talks to Girls

The first student assembly of the year was held at the regular hour in Westchester in this week. After the regular course of business had been gone through, several minutes of discussion were given to settle the time at which time the assembly should for their green year, resulting in their being instructed to have provided themselves with the program by 5 o'clock the same afternoon.

In previous the recurrence of the same embarrassment at the future assembly was pointed out the time of the first student assembly to be held at the time for the wearing of the cap in future assemblies.

A. K. Thompson and "Bobby" Johnson were selected to in the Fall leading for the coming year.

A resolution was also passed which makes it imperative a provision of the rules of the upper body of the university for any person with membership in other clubs should be placed not as members of the underclassmen.

A committee consisting of V. V. Casey, C. R. Saffington and R. Lee was appointed to select a name for the new student body which at this time has gone unchosen.

After adjournment of the student assembly the girls were detained for a short talk given by Mrs. French, dean of women.

WISCONSIN NINETEEN TWENTY

Allen Clark Badger among men and women candidates in being developed into a junior winner a very important in Madison. He further conveyed the increasing information that Allen will be brought back from the center position to the eighth ranking for the Badgers of 1924. Allen vaults somewhere between 100 and 150 yards lighted phosphorus and it is expected to produce what will happen when some day Cooper will be the largest. Moore and the last Mr. Moore captured the marooned frame upon the first little Cooper showed. These are among the honors of war—Exchange.

Captain Charles Erickson of the Harvard football team has given away the winner of the putting contest. He spent the summer at Jay, Va. and in the camp had two golf carts erected. Instead of a ball, he used tennis balls and declared that the small weight and smaller surface had a tendency to improve his accuracy.

It is said that Yale students favored the better first and attempted to replace the tennis balls with cannon balls, but Erickson discovered the substitution before breaking his tee—Exchange.

MEMBERS OF FACULTY ATTEND

At the Columbia Institute, which is to be held at Lewiston, October 5th to 15th, the following members of the faculty will contribute to the program:

Mrs. Isaac Higgins, Jean Hartman, Professor Fisher, and Professor Milne.

Dean L. I. Little was seen at Jones in attendance at the meeting of the Highway Commission. The work in this Commission is one of the greatest importance and Dr. Little's presence further the opportunity for a discussion of the part of the University with the state in her great road-making work of building highways.

LAW SCHOOL GAINS

Several new members of the Law School Enrollment—Dean Agnes Bowring Law Library

Last year when the books over in the law department was being considered it happened in the year of regular the friends of the department predicted that it would be a permanent to remain in the future one of the strongest departments of the University. From its growth this season that prediction would not appear to be too wrong. The enrollment this year has increased over last of about 15 per cent, and one of the most remarkable things in that our one of last years students have failed to return, but a couple who were out last year are back.

Under the aggressive campaign started by Deans Agnes there has been added to the Law Library in all over 100 volumes of reports and other books comprising the most practical and valuable library and the number of volumes would afford. The total is all about reached, however, and it is feared that in will not be over 1000 volumes are numbered in the Law Library library.

RECEPTION AT RINDENBACH HALL

Students and Faculty Members Extended an Invitation to be Present

The girls of Rindensch Hall will give their annual reception Saturday afternoon and evening. In the afternoon from 2 o'clock they will receive the young ladies of the University. In the evening members of the faculty and their wives, members of the Senior class and townspeople will be received from 7 o'clock on.

FIVE OUT FOR QUARTER BY W. S. C.

There are five men for the quarterback position this year and a score of men are out for the halfback job. At fullback McKinley, Dick Saffington, Harley and Loane are leading for supremacy. Captain Albert and Appleton are leading for line. There is a lively war between Tomer, Reg Zimmerman, Louisa, and others for the end.

Will Find Inspector

Inspector H. Chapman of the Soil Survey of the Western Area paid the survey with a party of Monday of this year. He went over the work being done and expressed himself as being highly satisfied. Monday he left for Hendrick to go over some of the difficulties met in that section of the country. From there he will go to Plover by way of Lewiston. Of necessity the work here must soon be stopped for the winter and it is gratifying to know that it has been well done to the present time. About twelve types of soil have now been mapped out.

SCHOOL CHILDREN VISIT UNIVERSITY

SCHOOL CHILDREN ENJOY HOSPITALITY OF UNIVERSITY IN DAY OF SIGHT SEEING

Home Economics Department Prepares Splendid Feed for Our Little Visitors

Last Friday children from the county contest clubs visited the fair and were entertained by the University. Naturally, the boys and girls were interested in the state's great center of learning and especially in the Agricultural and Home Economics Departments, for the former furnished the bulletins on which the boys based their different contest clubs, and the latter published those required by the girls. These clubs are organized all over the state, for the purpose of bettering the farm conditions thru the younger generation, and the children in each county send their produce to their respective county fairs. Those taking prizes at these places, have, in former years, been treated with a trip to the state fair. There being no state fair this year the children of Latah county were brought here to see the University.

The delegation was met at the morning train by members of the chamber of commerce and was conducted thru the buildings and grounds of the University—the boys under the leadership of Judge Morgareidge, and the girls led by Miss Bryden, the county superintendent.

The future farmers of Idaho were shown thru the agricultural buildings, stock barns, and orchards; while their prospective wives were shown thru the auditorium and other places of interest. They were then conducted to the Home Economics Department. Here they crowded into the chairs and were served a luncheon. The materials used were furnished by the Fair Association, and the meal was cooked by the Junior and served by the Sophomore Cookery classes. No sooner had the hundred girls finished and been ushered out, than over a hundred boys were brought in, who distributed themselves thru the rooms and even overflowed into the hall, where some of them had to sit on the floor while they were served. After their appetites had been satisfied they were shown thru the other buildings on the campus, and then they all marched down to the fair to spend the remainder of the afternoon.

Judging by the cheers that were given, for Miss Hoover and her "feed," the youngsters enjoyed themselves immensely; and one young maid yet in the grades, was heard remarking to another, "I guess I will work hard and pass the state exams so that I can enter the University next year."

WHERE WE GET THE NAME, "GAZETTE"

Few persons know the origin of the name, "Gazette," which so many newspapers in the United States have adopted.

Students in newspaper history in the School of Journalism at the University of Montana, have discovered that an Italian weekly newspaper, published in Venice in 1566, was sold on the street for one "gazetta," a coin of small denomination. From this came the name, gazette.

One Michigan newspaper which adopted the name, Gazette, has a title which sounds like a college yell. The newspaper is the Kalamazoo Gazette.—Exchange.

CO-OPERATION WITH THE U.

Farm Management Demonstration Under Government Direction Be Given in Idaho

The United States agricultural department is carrying out a spirit of co-operation with agricultural extension departments in all states of the nation, turning the channel of its investigations and efforts toward a unification of the various problems affecting farm management, development, culture, and science. Arrangements being completed for the particular branch of the work represented by Mr. Goddard being carried on in Idaho through the agricultural extension department of the University, which will result in all appropriations for this work by the government, Idaho's proportion being expended through the university and the work being carried on by the extension department.

EXPERTS CONFER

Specialists From Washington, D. C., Co-operate With University Heads

Mr. L. H. Goddard, Agriculturist in charge of Farm Management Demonstrations and Mr. Macy M. Lapham, Soils Specialist of the U. S. Department of Agriculture and Mr. L. C. Corbett and Mr. H. J. Ramsey, Specialists on Apple Storage Problems of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, have been in conference with the Administration and Heads of Departments of the University during the present week. These conferences have been in the interest of co-operation which is being fostered by the U. S. Department of Agriculture and the University of Idaho.

TAKE HEED

Final Date for Change of Study-List is Set for October 15th

The final limit for change of study-list, either thru dropping a course or adding one, is fixed for Thursday, October 15, at 5 p. m. Petition blanks may be obtained in Room 106.

If you wish to receive credit for Physician Education, Glee Club, Violin, Voice, Orchestra, or Piano, it will be necessary to fill out a semester record card by the above date.

CONFERENCES WITH FARMERS

At the University there will be held during the year frequent conferences with the farmers of the immediate vicinity and others who may be able to come to the University for short courses in Agriculture. This series of conferences was inaugurated on September 12th. About 75 farmers met with the Farmers Union of Moscow for a conference on smut. This conference was addressed in the morning by President Brannon of the University who gave a general discussion on the life history of the smut plant. In the afternoon it was addressed by Dr. Ira D. Cardiff and Plant Pathologist Woolman. Both of these speakers contributed greatly to this co-operation discussion on smut.

REPORTERS

The office of The Argonaut is in the publicity office, next door to the bursar's office. A member of the staff may be found in the office any afternoon except Tuesday. All contributions gladly received up until Tuesday noon of each week. Paper goes to press Wednesday.

THE GRIND.

The course of study for each student is now fixed for the semester and regular class work is in full swing. During the first few weeks many students and especially those here for the first time, are fixing their habits for the year, so it is advisable for everyone to make a few sensible resolutions for the new semester.

In the first place one should get in the habit of being prepared each day. The difference between a good recitation and a poor one ordinarily means only a few minutes additional work each day, but the lack of these few minutes often means another semester's work. The mastery of the first chapter aids in getting the second and even if our aim was to do as little work as possible the easiest way to get thro a course would be to get each assignment thoroly as it is given.

The value of time has already been brought to our attention, but let us not deceive ourselves, the fact that a book is in front of our eyes and we are looking over the words often develops a habit of wasting time. The ability to concentrate our attention and accomplish something should be developed. This ability to get things done gives time for other things of very great importance to the student. If we get nothing from our college course except that from the classroom and the text book, certainly much of our time will be wasted.

FOR YOUR CONSIDERATION

Again the question has come up as to the arrangement of the different classes in assembly. Last year the student body was segregated into four or more sections and definite places assigned them. The result of such seating arrangement was a disorganized and scattered student body. The speaker found himself speaking to small detached groups rather than to a united body of faculty and students.

Obviously the student body should be drawn together into a unit. This would surely be a marked improvement over the present awkward way for, first of all the speaker would be greatly aided in being able to deliver his address with much more power and force and with more ease. Secondly, the faculty and students grouped in a single body well up in front could hear what was being said without straining to gather the general idea of the address. Thirdly, greater unity could be obtained in the student body. Surely we need some such opportunity as assembly affords to be brought together. There is no necessity, at least none that is apparent, for dissecting the student body in assembly. Every class holds its class meetings, has its own separate organization and class spirit. There is no lack of class individuality. If any one doubts such a statement, let him inquire how disorganized the Freshmen and Sophomore classes are. Some believe they are already too highly organized and the frosh have been here less than a month. What other opportunity is offered us to really meet in a body? The Pullman rally comes close to it. Instead of little groups of students and big patches of vacant seats, why not get together and emphasize some of the Idaho spirit instead of dwelling too much on class spirit.

It was suggested recently by the faculty chairman on assemblies that a vote be taken to determine the will of the student body in the matter.

ENCOURAGING

The Law School of the University was given national recognition last spring, by Phi Alpha Delta, one of the largest national legal fraternities in the United States, when the Kent chapter of that fraternity was established at Idaho, and admittance to the American Bar Association has been assured as soon as the required number of volumes in the library can be obtained. These things only point to the fact that Big men of the United States look upon this western country as being undeveloped, and upon the law department, and the University itself, as being only in the making.

THE EMPLOYMENT BUREAU

The employment bureau of the University is doing much good service this year in securing work for students. Almost daily, notices appear on the bulletin boards calling for the services of one or more men. The cooperation of the townspeople must be appreciated for they are helping very materially in furnishing as much work as possible to the greatest number.

There is great possibilities for good in a University employment bureau and another year should witness a more efficient and systemitized bureau whereby more work may be listed for those students who desire work.

THE CLASS FIGHT.

The Sophomore-Freshmen entanglements of the past week have been the most serious fracas of their kind that the University has witnessed.

The authorities have asked that for the sake of sportsmanlike fair play surreptitious tactics be done away, with and the members of both lower classes have responded to these demands in a unanimous and altogether creditable fashion. Committees from the two classes are now at work on plans for settling any questions of honor that may arise between the two factions and it is to be hoped that they will be successful in arranging a system that will obviate objectionable interclass hazing scrapes for all time.

LITERARY SOCIETIES.

We do not account for the absence of a literary society at Idaho, but the mere fact that no such society exists here has been the source of much wonder and comment from visitors. It is pointed out to us that schools smaller than the U. of I. maintain two or more literary societies. But here nothing of the kind exists. They are recognized as essential in most colleges and conducted independently of a debate coach. Two literary societies operate more satisfactorily because of the rivalry that is sure to spring up. Debates are participated in, oratorical contests are held and much good comes to every member of each society.

We do not need a debate coach for the successful maintainance of a literary club at Idaho. A debate coach is a paid (?) official who teaches three men to win a contest from a team of some other college. Only three men receive the benefit of that debate. A literary society offers equal opportunities to all and because of that fact should receive the encouragement and support of the entire student body. Athletics should not be allowed to exclude things as important as these.

ENGLISH CLUB ELECTS

The first meeting of the English Club took place Thursday evening in the rooms of the English Department. The following officers were elected for the year: Lesetta Lubken, President; Helen Deneke, Vice President; Willard McDowell, Sec.-Treas. Oliver Nisbet was selected as Manager of Property. Prof. Collins gave a brief talk in which he gave some excellent advice for perfecting plans for the year.

The non-fraternity men have organized at the U. of W. The society is known as the "Washingtonians" and boasts of regularly elected officers and executive board. A smoker is now being planned as the first event of the year.

Enrollment at the U. of W. this year exceeds that of last year by 500.

Hoffer, the big O. A. C. tackle, has been chosen to captain the 1914 team. Hoffer weighs 190, and plays fast, aggressive ball.

HONOR LIST IS ANNOUNCED

HONOR LIST SHOWS NAMES OF STUDENTS WHO HAVE ATTAINED AN AVERAGE OF 5 OR OVER

System and Classification of Honors Are Explained in Detail

In order to promote scholarship the faculty has adopted a system of classified honors with the following rules: Honors are of two kinds: (1) Yearly Honors, given at the close of each year and known as First-Year Honors, Second-Year Honors, Third-Year Honors, and Fourth-Year Honors; and (2) Final Honors, based upon the work of the entire course. Yearly Honors are divided into two groups, known as Class A and Class B. Final Honors are divided into three groups, known as Honors, High Honors, and Highest Honors.

Honors are determined in accordance with the following numerical system: Each semester-hour with grade A counts as 6, B counts as 5, C counts as 4, D counts as 3, E counts as 2, F counts as 1.

Numerical equivalents are attached to the above honor groups as follows: First-Year, Second-Year, Third-Year, and Fourth-Year Honor Lists:

Class B, an average of 5.000 or over.
Class, an average of 5.333 or over.
Final Honor Lists:
Honors, an average of 5.000 or over.
High Honors, an average of 5.333 or over.
Highest Honors, an average of 5.666 or over.

The award of Highest Honors is conferred by vote of the University Faculty only upon candidates who (a) have attained the required grade of 5.666, (b) have performed the work of the Junior and Senior years in residence at the University of Idaho, and (c) have shown capacity for intensive work.

The arrangement of names with each group is alphabetical.

Last year's honor list has just been completed and honors were awarded as follows:

Famous Shoes for Men.

Our SHOES

Put the finishing touches to your Dress. One can no more be well dressed wearing shoddy, improperly fitting shoes than a rusty, ill-fitting suit. Our Bostonian Shoes give that trim, neat look to your suit that our perfectly fitting, high grade made-to-measure suits give the figure. Our shoes bristle with style and snap, and they feel and wear just as good as they look.

Two new college football songs have been added to the college song book at Colorado A. C.

The students at Kansas A. C. have organized a Rooters Club with intention of working out plans to help more effectively the men on the gridiron.

The Freshmen at the U. of W. voted unanimously to re-establish the old custom of wearing green caps. This is a voluntary action on the part of the first-year men, the custom having been discontinued for some time.

In Frank Hinkey, the head football coach at Yale, that college has secured a man who knows the game from every angle. Hinkey was unopposed all-American end for four years, and shared with Tom Shelvin the end position on Walter Camp's football team for all time.

Hazing has been abolished at the University of Missouri by ultimatum of the faculty.

W. S. C. BEAR STORIES

The lightest team in the history of the college will defend the Crimson and Gray this year against unusually heavy opponents. W. S. C. will have the lightest team in the conference, with the possible exception of Whitman. The two Oregon schools and Idaho have especially heavy teams, with O. A. C. easily the heaviest. Washington will, as usual, have a team averaging about 180 and a smashing backfield that may reach an average of 190. Compared with these aggregations of young giants, the state college team will appear small indeed.—The Evergreen.

WASHINGTON STATE COLLEGE,

PULLMAN, Sept. 24.—Nothing is being left undone that may give the Washington State College a winning team on the gridiron this year. Notice has been given that a training table will be started in the men's dormitory on Monday morning. The cost to the players will be less than if they ate at the regular table, and any loss that may be incurred will be made up by the student assembly. The men will be taken on as they show ability and prove themselves valuable to the team.

The Dramatic Club at Reed College has selected John Galsworthy's "The Pigeon" as the first production of the year to be presented. The cast is being chosen by the "try-out" system.

GEORGE HALL STILL MISSING

Prof. Corbett returned Sunday from Almota where he directed a force of men in dynamiting and dragging the Snake river at that point in the hopes of securing the body of George Hall, reported drowned there last week. The work was unsuccessful, however, arrangements were made for a patrol of the stream for the next two weeks in the event the body arises to the surface.

J. H. Frandsen, formerly head of the creamery department of the university, but now connected with the University of Nebraska, has just issued an extensive and valuable bulletin dealing with the Babcock test and its use in herd improvement. The bulletin is 24 pages long and is profusely illustrated. Mr. Frandsen writes that copies will be sent to any interested persons. An application to Mr. Frandsen at the University of Nebraska will bring a bulletin in due course of time.

Twenty-five per cent of the men at Stanford are doing work to help support themselves, according to an estimate made by E. H. Lockwood, secretary of the Y. M. C. A., who has charge of the student employment bureau.

This work embraces every line, from "a man to care for the baby in the evenings," to acting as "barker" for the movies. One student partially pays his way thru Stanford by taking daily walks with an elderly Palo Alto man, who desires a companion.

Figures show that students at Stanford earned more than $8300 last year through work provided by the student employment bureau. This was only a part of the amount earned by students, as many kinds of work were secured without the help of the agency.—Exchange.

Frank King returned to resume his college work last Sunday evening. He has been working on a surveying expedition near the Montana-Idaho line. From somewhere in the wilds he managed to bring back to his many friends a taste of venison and the old "Zulu" complexion.

Brief Local News

Signa Anderson and Marjorie Balch are pledged Omega Pi.

Miss Fox was dinner guest at Omega Pi Wednesday evening.

Miss Zella Bigham, '14, of Kendrick, spent the week-end at Omega Pi.

C. C. Vincent leaves next Wednesday for Coeur d'Alene where he will judge fruit for the fair association.

Nathan Barnard spent the week-end in Spokane visiting his father who has been ailing for several months.

C. F. Rayburn, a former student of the University, is demonstrator with the Case Machine company in Spokane.

C. Favre, graduate manager of athletics will be the first student to receive a Masters Degree in the School of Forestry.

Prof. Iddings left Tuesday for Salem, Ore., where he will act as judge of live stock in the Animal Husbandry Division of the Salem fair.

Oscar Knudson made a hurried trip home after his motorcycle and returned with his grease cart Sunday after a rather hard trip from Spokane.

Dean Little was in Boise from Saturday until Tuesday attending the meeting of the State Highway Commission of which he is a member.

Mae Helm of Lewiston, spent Monday as the guest of H. C. Nuffer at the A. K. E. house. Mr. Helm was a Freshman at the University of Oregon last year.

C. M. Ashby, Superintendent of Schools at Mace, Idaho, a graduate of the University, has been awarded a fellowship in Romance Languages at Yale University.

C. Homer Hudelson, who is a member of the Zeta Psi fraternity from the Illinois chapter, was a guest at the Kappa Sigma House for dinner last Saturday evening.

Stuart Martin of Spokane, registered as a Freshman in Agriculture last Monday. Mr. Martin is not a stranger here as he attended the summer session given last summer.

G. J. Downing who has been engaged this summer in conducting irrigation experiments in the Twin Falls district has returned to assume his duties as assistant in horticulture.

Messrs. Brockman and Schneebner, Freshmen at W. S. C., spent Saturday night in Moscow. They are old schoolmates of Walter Thomas and took dinner with him at the A. K. E. House.

Messrs. Marr, Brower, and Turner of the Sigma Phi Epsilon House at W. S. C. took lunch at the A. K. E. House Saturday noon. In the afternoon they attended the Fair and witnessed the football game.

Kappa Sigma is the possessor of a new dog, a small bull pup, to take the place of unfortunate "Violet Rose." The pup shows indications of becoming a fighter and accordingly was christened "Fitz."

The Messrs. Cartwright, Hart, and Watt of the Pullman chapter of Kappa Sigma, were guests at the local chapter Saturday and Sunday. They can see nothing but W. S. C. in the football game this fall.

Lester Robinson visited Saturday with his old schoolmate, Will Harbke at the A. K. E. House. Both men were strong point winners on the championship Nezperce High School track team last spring.

Herbert Samms, who sprained his ankle in the Sophomore-Freshman frolic, is limping around again after being laid up for a couple of days. So far as can be learned he is the only Sophomore who even remotely approached the dignity of a martyr.

"Baldy" Johnstone reports the training quarters too crowded for him during Fair week but has since sworn renewed allegiance to the cause. He turned down a very flattering offer for advertisement and vocal practice as announced at the Lewiston Fair.

The Alumni Association of the Albion State Normal have issued an attractive "Bulletin of Facts" in which is discussed the proposed changes in the educational system of Idaho, "with especial attention given to the true status of the Albion State Normal."

A recent letter from former Prof. Nicholson tell of his work in his new position. Prof. Nicholson is supervisor of farm marketing in the Department of Development of the St. Louis and San Francisco railroads. His headquarters are in St. Louis from where he travels in the interests of his company. The big apple crops this year have kept him busy in a large territory including the fruit districts of the Ozarks, Texas, the Pecos Valley, Colorado, and California.

MARSH LIKES YUKON

Tells of the Gigantic Dredging Operations and of the Great Quantities of Gravel Moved

Harry Marsh, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. William Marsh of this city, former student of the university, and a member of Phi Delta Theta, is now in Dawson, Yukon territory, where he has a very responsible position in a large mine. Mr. Marsh has many friends in Moscow who will be interested to hear what he says in regard to conditions in the great British territory. The letter was written some weeks ago but arrived only a few days since.

Come to the Yukon for a cool breeze. We have no extreme heat, nor smoke, nor dust. Yukon summers are delightful. It is the ideal place for a summer camp.

The Yukon is the hunter's paradise; grouse, ptarmigan, swans, ducks, and geese in countless numbers. There is also an abundance of big game, moose, caribou, mountain sheep, goat and bear, also all the fur-bearing animals. For the angler there are numerous lakes that swarm with fish, in many of which a fly has never been cast.

I think that if the European war continues another year, the tide of the tourists that visit Europe each year will be turned toward Alaska and the Yukon. Then the seed will be sown of "See America first." Alaska once visited, they will tell others and return themselves.

To date the European war has not affected the Klondyke. The Klondyker's staple article is gold and gold is not affected by the metal markets of the world. The product of the Canadian Klondyke Mining company gold dredges is much in demand.

The Canadian Klondyke Mining company operates four sixteen-cubic-foot dredges in the valley of the Klondyke. Then there are sixty-nine of three buckets in digging line; the bucket line makes a complete revolution every three minutes and twenty seconds. A little calculation of the slide rule will give you an idea of how much material the dredges handle each week.

The record run and amount of material handled was made the week ending August 8th. When the dredge known as Canadian Number four handled 102,030 cubic yards of material in 169 hours. They have a capacity to dig below the water line of 55 feet.

For the number of ounces of gold produced each week by the Canadian Klondyke Mining company I will refer you to the London Financial Times. The company's production is quoted there each week. It varies from 3000 to 8000 ounces per week at an average of $16.75 an ounce.

Their operating season is nine months out of the year, the other three months they are frozen in. During the winter months, the season's repair work is done.

I have been with the Canadian Klondyke Mining company since February in the position of assistant to the superintendent, Mr. R. P. Pullen. You will probably remember Mr. Pullen as he was one of the University of Washington football stars in '11 and '12 and a brother of Gus Larson's old football rival, Van Pullen, who is now in the engineering corps of the U. S. army.

I hope to come home this fall for a visit. I am, Yours truly,
HARRY W. MARSH.

WAS SPLENDID RECEPTION

First Social Affair at Home of the New President of the University Complimentary to Miss Fox, on Friday afternoon at the home of President Brannon, Miss Benton, assisted by the members of the young Women's Christian association, entertained the women of the faculty and the girl students at what proved to be one of the most enjoyable teas of the early fall season. More than a hundred guests called during the course of the afternoon and for several hours the tastefully decorated rooms of the president's handsome residence were filled with animated and happy guests.

The dining room was lovely in white asters and yellow ribbons, the color scheme conforming to the university colors. All of the numerous hostesses and assistants were charmingly gowned and were highly complimented on their gracious hospitality.

UNIVERSITY DEAN WRITES COLLECT FOR CLUB WOMEN

Miss Mary Stewart, dean of women at the University of Montana, is the author of "A Collect for Club Women," a dainty bit of English prose-poetry, which has found its way into the home of practically every club woman in America. As it has been published, this collection bears the signature, "Mary Stuart," which is Miss Stewart's pen name. The collect is worth a place in every woman's home; it is:

"Keep us, O God, from pettiness; let us be large in thought, in word, in deed. Let us be done with fault-finding and leave off self seeking. May we put away all pretense and meet each other, face to face—without self-pity and without prejudice. May we never be hasty in judgment and always generous. Let us take time for all things; make us to grow calm, serene, gentle. Teach us to put into action our better impulses, straightforward and unafraid. Grant that we may realize it is the little things that create differences; that in the big things of life we are at one. And may we strive to touch and know the great, common woman's-heart of us all, and, O Lord God, let us not forget to be kind!"
