MONTANA MEETS IDAHO SATURDAY

ONE OF THE BIGGEST GAMES OF
THE SEASON TO BE STAGED ON NEW ATHLETIC FIELD

Great Enthusiasm Manifested by Students and Townspeople Over Coming Event

One of the fastest games of the season will be staged Saturday on the Varsity Athletic Field between the Universities of Montana and Idaho. Each team has played one game this fall and are in excellent condition. The University of Montana defeated the Washington State College at Missoula a week ago and the University of Idaho defeated the fastest team Gonzaga University has had for years. Judging by the result of these games there is no doubt, in store for football enthusiasts the opportunity of seeing one of the hardest battles fought on the gridiron this season.

When the Montana gridiron warriors meet Idaho on Saturday Idaho's line will not bend nor break. Our speedy ends and strategic quarterback with a backfield that is a combination of speed and weight, will make things interesting for the visitors. Game is called at 2:30 sharp.

WHAT IS SOCIALISM?

Prof. Lewis to Answer in Lectures Given to Students and Townspeople

Prof. Lewis of the Political Science Department has announced an interesting series of lectures on Socialism. Perhaps of all subjects none is more misunderstood than that of Socialism. What we think it to be matters little; it is what we know about it that counts. Socialism commands marked attention today in Germany, France and other European countries. A party with millions of followers, surely it ought to be understood in some degree by every man and woman in America.

The lectures therefore are intended to add to our general store of knowledge and in keeping with that intention, Prof. Lewis has stated that the lectures will not be technical and will require no knowledge of government or economics. The course is purely cultural and intended not only for students but for faculty and townspeople as well.

The lectures will be three in number and will treat the subjects:

1. Sources, Origin, Philosophy, and Development of Socialism.
2. Present Philosophy of Socialism.
3. Valuation of Socialism.

The first lecture will be given Thursday afternoon, October 22.

SEASON TICKETS

All people, including students of the University, must present their season tickets at the gate before they can see the game next Saturday.

ASSEMBLY

Rev. Mark A. Matthews, or the "New Testament" as President Brannon called him, came before the assembly last Wednesday with a vital message. He wasted no words in generalities, but plunged at once into the subject of "Success And How It May Be Attained." Three things are necessary: To know yourself, to know the article you have to sell, and to know the man to whom you are trying to sell it. Under the first topic Dr. Matthews attacked University students especially for the hazy state of their minds in regard to the purpose of their education. He pointed out the need of knowing our talents and developing them to the fullest extent, at the same time expressing his disapproval of the idea of teaching music to a girl who has no more capacity for music than a woodpecker. It is necessary thus to understand our powers. But we must do more than this, we must know our weaknesses. The man who cannot control himself has no right in the society of his fellow mortals. First we must learn to be directed, so that we will be better prepared to direct self-knowledge and self-control which are the most potent factors in the attainment of success.

But it is also necessary to know very thoroughly the article which we are handling. To illustrate this point Dr. Matthews drew from his own experience in selling shoes. Because he knew all about the shoes in his department he was able to warn a customer against an undesirable purchase, and to advise him as to the best thing to buy. It is this habit of knowing its wares that Dr. Matthews ascribes Germany's unquestioned commercial superiority.

One thing more is necessary before success may reasonably be expected. We must know the people with whom we are dealing, their mental traits and peculiarities. We must learn to read character in the very fit of a man's clothes, the working of his facial muscles and in his manner of eating. In connection with this subject of knowing the men with whom we are dealing, Dr. Matthews took occasion to comment rather unfavorably on the carelessness with which parents treat the matter of selecting their future sons-in-law. Take notice, young man with a green cap: By the time you are a Senior and considering seriously the problem of matrimony, you may find (if Dr. Matthews' ideas are put into practice) that you will be required to present a perfect pedigree to pretty Polly's perspicacious parents before you will be allowed to even so much as call on the young lady, and doubtless you will be called on for a clean bill of health before you will be allowed to kiss her photograph in the back of your watch. Such is the trend of the times unless haply the present war should plunge us into blessed barbarism once more.

These then are the three things which make most surely for success. And what is success? Dr. Matthews defined the truly successful man as one who went through life making other people happy—leaving behind him green fields where only weeds grew before, and smiles where only tears

IDAHO SQUAD DEFEATS GONZAGA

GONZAGA PUTS UP STUBBORN
FIGHT AT CRITICAL MOMENT OF GAME

End Runs Were Feature of Game and Resulted in Big Gains

Gonzaga University's speedy eleven showed a surprising amount of strength when it went against Coach Griffith's gridiron aggregation at the Fair Grounds, Saturday afternoon and the Silver and Gold team was forced to battle every minute to grab the long end of a 5 to 3 score.

Burns started things with a long kick-off to Crowley. The Spokane team tried the Idaho line for a couple of bucks and then punted to Purdy. Captain Phillips and Crowley exchanged several boots with the honors about even.

The Silver and Gold eleven finally worked down within striking distance of the Gonzaga goal and Burns marked up a field goal with a pretty drop kick from the 30-yard line.

Ross got away for a couple of good sprints after the second kick-off but the quarter ended with the score still 3 to 0.

The Idaho backs were unable to gain thru the Gonzaga line in the second quarter and altho Burns and Purdy skirted the ends for good gains the pinch punch seemed to be lacking and Gonzaga held twice within her own 20-yard line. Buffington took Johnstone's place and Hamilton relieved Ross toward the end of the quarter.

"Pink's" doughty men carried the pigskin to Gonzaga's 5-yard line three times in the third quarter but the linemen were unable to open any holes and the threatened touchdowns failed to percolate. Idaho got her safety in the third period. Codd, the Gonzaga quarterback, pulled a friendly bonehead and let Dingle sweep him over the line for a two-point count.

Gonzaga got a field goal in the last quarter. A forward pass put the Spokane team on Idaho's 30-yard line and Crowley booted a place-kick over the bar.

The field was heavy and muddy and Idaho's speedy backs were unable to rip thru because the going was bad.

STUDENT RECEPTION A SUCCESS

The first representative social gathering of the year was held last Friday evening at the Gymnasium, under the auspices of the Christian Associations of the University. The reception was more successful than any held heretofore. The attendance was very comprehensive, and everyone entered into the evening's entertainment with an abandonment of all care.

If anyone carried with him a feeling of reserve, he was forced to discard it before entering the scene of festivities. Each guest was met at the door and provided with a pencil and a slip of paper, upon which he wrote the name of his native state. Then the arrangement of the guests by states produced much jolly confusion and opportunity for acquaintance.

When all students were lined up under their proper banners, representing states from Washington to Alabama, and from New York to California, each group decided upon a "stunt" which would signify their state allegiance. These were very clever. Colorado was in evidence with a dozen suspiciously vigorous "lungers," Nebraska gave a demonstration of corn-growing ability, etc.

The young people were then rearranged by means of families. Each drew a slip which bore the name of one member of a family of six,—father, mother, two sons and two daughters. Faculty families were formed first, then national notables, then came the commoner herd, the animal family. This proved highly successful. In order to develop latent talents in the sterner sex, the brothers and fathers were requested to make hats for their "women-folks." Some astonishing results were obtained. The prize as head-milliner was granted to Francis Bistline; that of apprentice to Jerome E. Johnstone.

A short program followed in which those present were favored by two masterful trombone solos by Carl Melugin, and readings by Miss Selvy and Miss Camille McDaniel. The two readings were charmingly rendered.

After partaking of light refreshments, the party broke up, the guests taking with them the memory of an evening enjoyably spent and new friendships formed.

HAND BALL

A Great Deal of Interest is Taken in Hand Ball

There are four courts in Lewis Hall in splendid condition and Coach Vander Veer has arranged for a Hand Ball Tournament to begin the first part of November. Suitable prizes will be given in doubles and singles.

ADDITION TO DEBATE SHELVES

In Memory of Victor Price '09. Books
Are donated to the library.

Another college year is under way and once more a little group of earnest students are busy at work in the library preparing for the intercollegiate debates. One of the most vigorous and effective debaters that Idaho ever had was Victor Price. He who used to devote with unswerving eagerness and great analytical power everything in his library to the subject in which he was engaged. It seems very fitting that a memorial to him should take the form of an annual contribution to the library. Every year Mrs. Alabel Price '09, with the assistance of the library office, gives $50 for the purchase of books for the library. This year's contribution is being made in the form of the book, "The Book of the Year" by the students. The book, purchased last year with the students' money, had only one dozen copies. DON'T FORGET THE SHOE RECEIPT

These days the students are so busy getting ready for the coming year that they often forget to get their shoes repaired. It is very important that the shoes be repaired before the start of the year. TENNIS ground in the Physical Director's office shows that 25 per cent of the University students last year played tennis. This year the percentage has been considerably increased as 50 of the young women are tennis enthusiasts. The tennis courts at the University of which there are six courts, are used more than a few weeks in the fall and a few weeks in the spring of the school year. This handicap on tennis sessions was alleviated when from schools where weather conditions make it impossible to play tennis during the winter months, and also on our own courts, a number of students came to play during the winter months.

The Physical Director has studied the situation and has found it necessary to overcome these difficulties by installing more courts, to be placed on a full permanent basis with the opening of next school year. It would be possible to install four courts which would allow the students a year long tennis season during the school year. It would be very satisfactory if the new courts were installed during the summer months. ADVICE TO FRESHMEN

Every normal Freshman has ambitions to lead in his class and in the organizations of college life. Indeed this is a part of the ambition that carried him thru high school and caused him to enter college. He should cherish it.

But he will learn before completing a four years' course that honest labor is the only thing that brings leadership. True worth is recognized among University students probably more quickly than among any other class. Other things being equal, it is the man who stays on the field after the others have gone in, or who works more diligently while there, that makes the team. It is the man who concentrates his mind—or burns the midnight oil—that makes the debating squad. It is the man who attends meetings and works for the good of the organization that is selected to tell the others what is best to do.

No amount of self-advertisement will do what honest work will. No one cares whether you were president of your class in high school or its most insignificant member. If you did things there, keep them to yourself, forget about them—and enter into University life. It is what you do here that counts.—University Oklahoman.

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON

Excavation work has been started on the new Administration Building. When completed the structure will be one of the finest in the Northwest. The cost of the building will be $100,000. Additional repairs to the extent of $75,000 on the various other buildings of the University are also being made.

UNIVERSITY OF WASHINGTON

Ralph A. Hoer, graduate manager of the University of Washington, has resigned his position. Mr. Hoer's reason for resigning is that his law practice has increased to such an extent that it requires all his time. J. A. Younger, Mr. Hoer's assistant has been elected to fill the vacancy.

The debate try-out at the University of Washington this year is to be on a new plan. All will prepare a brief and give it to the graduate manager. The paper will be graded on content and form. The 30 men receiving the highest grades will be allowed to enter the try-out which will be conducted as before.

UNIVERSITY OF WISCONSIN

A modern "town and gown" row was precipitated last week at the University of Wisconsin, when students of the University tried to throw a town boy into Lake Mendota, mistaking him for a fellow student. In the resulting street fight 300 students battled with several hundred citizens, despite the cooling powers of the streams from several fire hydrants, which the city fire department directed into the crowd of combatants.

C. R. Van Hise, President of the University, stood bond for the four students arrested and addressed the 1500 students who surrounded the University, thirsting for battle and persuaded the mob to disperse.

HARVARD UNIVERSITY

Six hundred or more youths entering Harvard College as Freshmen this year will be housed, fed, humanized and educated together in splendid structures owned by the University and specially constructed to provide an environment at once more fraternal and paternal (from the college officials' standpoint) than has been seen in Cambridge for several years. This is the beginning of Harvard's Anti-Caste policy.

The latest registration reports from the colleges of the Northwest gives the following:

Reed College	230
Willamette University	450
Washington State College.....	600
University of Oregon.....	710
Oregon Agricultural College.....	1310

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON

The girls of the University of Oregon are to have an athletic field of their own. This field will have accommodations for golf, hockey, baseball, and volley ball, in addition to this, a portion of the field is to be leveled for folk dancing.

The pathetic but dignified ruins of College Hall at Wellesly still stand. They will be removed this fall. About $625,000 is still lacking for the completion of the endowment and restoration fund of Wellesly College. A temporary zoology laboratory has been constructed while the geology department will remain in the former kitchen of College Hall, the only part of the building not completely destroyed by fire. Over 470 new students have registered this fall.

Princeton University began its 168th year September 24th with about 500 Freshmen. Several faculty changes have been made. Prof. W. F. Weloughly has a two years' leave of absence in order to act as constitutional advisor to the president

CHOOSING A PROFESSION

In every walk of life we meet people whom after being engaged in their profession for many years, dislike their work. They make life a burden to themselves and to others because they do not think they hold the right position in the world. Then again we see people who find great pleasure in their work because they have found the work for which they are adapted.

In view of these facts it becomes a question of great concern for every student to choose his life work wisely. It is to be regretted that so many students have actually failed to discover their particular inclination before completing their college work. They enter upon a professional career not knowing whether they are adapted for it or not. By finding the particular pleasure in their work, life is insured of a greater pleasure in life and work. It increases one's efficiency in doing work.

The college is the place where this choice can be made as one can test his ability in different spheres. Every man should be done early in the course as the student must be chosen with a view to his future work. This age of specialization demands that a man do one thing and do it well. A "jack-of-all-trades" cannot become a "master of industry." It is not the man who can do anything but the man who can do one thing and do it well who succeeds and becomes a valuable asset to society. By following one's inclination and selecting that particular calling for which he feels he is adapted and preparing himself carefully for that work, the student can be able to do the most efficient work to find the greatest enjoyment in life and to serve his fellow-men best.

TRUE SPORTSMANSHIP

Our athletic contests have begun for another year. During the course of each year contests take place where the teams are so equally matched that only the keenest playing wins. During such contests the players and "rooters" are taxed severely if a decision is made which does not meet their approval. The students of Idaho have often been complimented on the manner in which they have treated the visiting teams. A spirit of fairness is a very commendable one. Whether in the contest or as guests or hosts this fairness should always be shown.

The man is to be admired who puts up a game fight whether the odds are against him, and who in doing so avoids any unfairness that might be a temporary gain, but being discredited to him and his school. Such a man should receive the heat of side-line support and he wins laurels or meets defeat. This is the kind of sportsmanship we want and the kind we expect. It is also a sign of true sportsmanship to avoid personal remarks and attack on officials. We discourage this as well as the exchange of refereeing remarks from side-line supporters of the opposing teams. We expect to win and we expect to win fairly, but if we lose let us be good losers. By so doing we will stimulate a feeling of friendliness which when our rivals become opponents will ameliorate the questionable spirit too often prevailing between different institutions.

THE GAME LAST SATURDAY

Whatever may be said concerning the poor showing of our team, it must be admitted that the student body did little to help those eleven men suffering in a sea of mud. Not a roll was heard during the whole game and even though it was only a practice game, a few rolls might have put us in better trim to do some real yelling when the seventh comes.

Another thing that should not be permitted is crowding on the sidelines. There was some complaint from newspapermen in the grandstand who often could not see the plays that were being run because of a mass of students crowded around the teams. This sort of thing has always existed but there is no reason for it. The subs, the officials, the coach, these are the men who have a right to be on the sidelines and the privilege belongs to no others.

CLASS SPIRIT

At the opening of each school year there is always manifested a certain amount of class spirit. This is particularly apparent between the lower classes and is not undesirable if it is the right kind of class spirit. But there are two kinds of class spirit, a right kind and a wrong kind. Sometimes feelings of hostility are awakened between the classes. This is the wrong kind of spirit from which does not take into consideration the welfare of the school. Rivalry between classes may occur and be called manifestations of class spirit. Such class spirit develops a feeling between classes and prevents in lack of unity in college enterprises where the support of the entire student body is imperative. This kind of class spirit is detrimental to the classes and detrimental to the school.

The right kind of class spirit is a friendly rivalry between classes which is a benefit not only to the classes but to the entire school. It develops in each student loyalty to his own class and acts as an incentive which urges him to put forth every effort for the advancement of his class. It may be present in the class room as well as on the campus, in whatever form it may be expressed. Where each student is striving to raise the standard of scholarship of his class. It may be found in forensic work and athletics where effort is made to win laurels for the school. True class spirit would also prevent any student from doing things which would in any way discredit the honor of his class.

If a student does not show loyalty to his class and support it in every enterprise, worthy of support, he will not be likely to support the undertaking of the school and be loyal to it. Loyalty to the class, and a true spirit of rivalry between classes will result in an unfeeling loyalty to the school and a united student body ever ready to support the work done by the school.

IN THE GYMNASIUM

The competition this year for the silver cups given by the Physical Education Department for the Freshmen making the biggest strength test is very keen.

Among the young women Miss Leah Watkins leads with a total test of 6700. Miss Mabel Brown is second with a total test of 4840, and Miss Pearl Buchanan is third with a total of 4430. Last year the cup was won by Miss Mildred Brown whose total test was 4870.

The biggest test among the Freshmen boys is that of C. W. Rainey who has a total of 6235. Last year the cup was won by Bruce McGowan whose total test was 5415 pounds. These tests continue until the opening of the second semester.

Winners of Interscholastic Distance Events Are Showing Up In Good Form

The interest in cross-country running this year is greater than it has been in previous years. Among the old men DeHaven of Grangeville, who won his "I" last year, and Masse of Kellog, who is also an "I" man are showing up in good form. In the squad that reports regularly for work-outs we have Mr. O'Rourke who won the mile run in the Interscholastic meet last year. Cambel winning second place in the half-mile run is also showing up good. These two strong men were so impressed with the University last spring while here at the Interscholastic that they decided to return this fall.

Raney, Gail, and Poindexter report daily for work and will make it very interesting for someone in the final race for the silver cup.

The cross-country run for the cup will be held in Moscow on the 23d or 24th of October. A team will be chosen in this race to meet W. S. C. here on October 31. The final arrangements for this meet have not been made as it is more than likely that Whitman College wishes to compete with Idaho, and W. S. C. here on the same date. Announcements will be made later.

On November 7 a team of three men will be sent to Corvallis to compete in the Conference meet. These silver trophies and big meets should induce the long distance men to get in the very best of shape and report daily for the work-outs under the able coaching of "Hec" Edmundson. "Hec" never failed to get every bit of speed out of his men and with the promising material here this year we look forward to great results.

NEW MEMBERS OF AGRICULTURAL FACULTY

Prof. O. W. Holmes has been appointed Assistant Professor of Dairying and Assistant Dairyman of the Experiment Station. He comes to us well equipped with experience. He was a graduate of Oklahoma Agricultural College in 1908 after which he was Dairy Commissioner for that state for two years. He has worked on the extension work in Minnesota and has been Instructor of Dairy Manufacturing at Washington State College. Prof. Holmes will have charge of the dairy manufacturing at this University.

E. M. Strate, a graduate of this University in 1912, has been appointed Creamyman and Assistant Instructor for the Dairy Short Course, to succeed Mr. R. A. Lamson. Mr. Strate is well known to the older students here.

G. J. Downing, graduate of the Idaho Agricultural School in 1914, has been appointed assistant in Horticulture.

Newell S. Robb, Assistant Professor of Agronomy, was graduated from the Kansas State Agricultural College in 1911. During his senior year and for a short time after graduation Mr. Robb was a student assistant having charge of the small grain improvement work. Since graduation he has been on soil survey work in Kansas and was superintendent of the judging work for the Kansas Corn Breeders' Association in 1912. He has spent one year in the wheat-growing regions of Minnesota and one year in the Boise valley. Mr. Robb comes from one of the largest and strongest schools along Agronomy lines in the country.

C. W. Hickman, Assistant Professor of Animal Husbandry, was a graduate of the University of Missouri in 1913, taking his degree B.S.(Agr.) In 1912 and 1913 he was student assistant in animal husbandry at the same school. From September 1, 1913, until July 1, 1914, Mr. Hickman was assistant in animal husbandry at the Pennsylvania State College and from July 1, was instructor in animal husbandry there. He began his work here at the beginning of the present term.

SENIOR WIT

There was once a crafty-minded senior whose thots surged thru his broad brain as the sounding waves of the gray sea when they rush with crested force upon the roaring shore, and he thot within his gray matter: "Would that I could find that goal where, when once reached, all un-filled desire shall fly away as the geese when the cold winter comes apace; and where nothing would be left me but contentment. But such is not to be; and I will prove that it never can be." So saying he took from his pocket a shining gold watch, studded with jewels, and placed it in a large window overlooking the campus with this placard in letters so large that you could almost hear them talk: "I will give this watch to anyone who is satisfied."

He sat down and awaited results. Ere the sands of the hour glass had trickled away many golden moments, a youth appeared, the freshman, son of the horse taming Classicus. "I have come to claim the prize of contentment," blithly quoth the whistling freshman, the son of his father.

"And do you feel perfectly satisfied?" asked the senior. "Yes, I do."

Then in words with wings on them the senior spoke: "Well, if you feel perfectly satisfied, why do you want my watch?"

Negotiations have been nearly completed for debates with North Dakota University, North Dakota Agricultural School, Oregon, Utah, and Wyoming. Plans are also being made for a debate with the University of Colorado. If a majority of these contests are arranged for it will be the heaviest schedule that the debaters of the University have ever had.

GRUBBING GRIST

After all, our June plowing was done for the whole county after. When the crop was in the water and to look at the "pea" out of the ground and out of the team and to shovel the dirt and that most that made any display of their intelligence.

"Baker" Johnson's first dinner was a dinner was altogether second. The "Baker" Baker. Have you ever the "Baker"?

Handled the condition with a lot of get into the game. He seems to be using the old cement roof all the time and he gets it every year.

Parry and the team well. He is gauge his horse work would be hard in every corner of the field Saturday.

In general principle, you'll have to hand it to Bonanza. Every man of her team was scratching all the time and how they did pull that bunch of large stuff in the shadow of their own goal posts.

Bonus dropped his field goal in the corner field. Bonus' success was should be made a permanent thing before the season is over.

That last hour Friday was Bonanza's half mile carried about a yard. The Spokane member seemed to get better as the game went on.

Montana's corner Saturday. Every man of her team was scratching all the time and how they did pull that bunch of large stuff in the shadow of their own goal posts.

The Young Women's Christian Association held its regular meeting, Wednesday afternoon, October 7th, in Ridenbaugh Hall. Miss Mary McClenahan and Miss Marion Byrns of the High School Associations gave interesting reports of the conference held at Cohasset Beach. Afterwards a service for the recognition of new members was held.

From a report on Tuesday morning in the Bursar's Office 406 have registered for four-year courses and 60 short course students have entered. The short course in the school of Agriculture did not start until Wednesday and consequently the registration for this course will be much heavier than Tuesday's report. Already the registration for the four-year courses has passed the high water mark of any heretofore and the present number will increase considerably before the end of the semester.

On last Saturday evening Omega Pi entertained at a party in honor of their pledges. The chapter house was the scene of the delightful affair and was effectively decorated with Virginia creeper for the occasion. Most of the evening was spent in dancing, the girls proving themselves most charming and capable hostesses. Delicious refreshments at 11 o'clock rounded out the evening's jollification very appropriately. The guests present were Misses Bailey, McAnthem, H. Woods; Messrs. Rapp, Peterson, Gowen, Schefel, Robison, Gray, R. Gerlough, Stillinger, Chaistenson, Ellington, Adlemann, Keane, Cassidy, Evans, H. King, Lommasson, F. NOTICE

Will all the earnest applicants for work please take notice of the blue pencil notices on the bulletin board and answer them at once. At the first of the term many were crowding the Bursar's Office with applications for work and now when work is to be had and is advertised these same men do not heed the notice.

THE ARGONAUT GETS NEW LOCATION

Comfortable quarters are provided for the Argonaut office in Room 3 in the School of Mines building. A room 16x16 has been partitioned off in one corner of the large recitation room. This office will be occupied jointly by the Y. M. C. A. and the Argonaut. Up to this time the office of the Argonaut has been—if there has been such a thing—in the room now occupied by Dr. Shattuck, Dean of the College of Science. A great deal of disturbance, it is true, had to be endured by Dr. Shattuck and we are very much indebted to him for his kindness in permitting us to occupy his office until quarters were provided.

The new office will be open to any member of the staff. It will also be open to those who wish to read the exchanges from other colleges. These exchanges will be kept on a rack in the office and we encourage the students to come and read them. It is a very good way to get acquainted with the spirit of other student bodies by reading exchange and, too, it may give rise to suggestions which would be beneficial to our own college paper.

ANSWER

Continued from Page 1: had been told he was that way. Money is the heart of all things to be desired. It may come as a result of a life of hard service but it is not an end in itself. Service to humanity is the important thing with its value to society in some like the highly trained of this team-work is necessary as the failure of many a lonely worker has proved.

Dr. Matthews is a man with a message and all who answered agreed when the assembly hall was called missed a real opportunity to learn from a man of wide experience. Have you stopped to consider how a speaker must feel who comes to our school to speak to us and needs half of us going the other way? Not much of a compliment to the speaker is it? But when the speaker is as renowned as Dr. Matthews this would seem to reflect rather on the student body. If we are interested in lectures of this kind the question might well be raised, why are we here? It must be admitted, however, that there are signs of improvement along this line. Assembly has been worse attended.

We encourage the faculty, students, and friends of the University to patronize our advertisers.

NEW COURSE IN AGRICULTURE

One of the most noticeable features of this year's enrollment is the great increase of freshmen entered in the Agricultural Department. Many of these men have signed up for this course and more will undoubtedly enroll in some time to come. Those added to the roster men will have returned should bring the department up to well over the hundred mark.

Within this department field there will be found a variety of courses of interest along agricultural lines. A year ago there was one Senior in Agriculture this year there are three Seniors and six Juniors. The strengthening of the Agricultural course is promised by the past enrollment. Mr. Boyd and the present increase of interest promised to become lasting.

A new course of special interest to Seniors will be given this year for the first time. The course is entitled "Principles of Agricultural Experimentation" and will be extremely useful and practical. The general interest in the development of field crops will be added to in first class the methods and results of investigations together with a detailed study of the uses and uses of plants will receive the attention of the students. The agricultural work conducted at the various stations throughout the world will be taught in much discussion and reading. The purpose of the course is to give the student a firm knowledge of what has been done in the past and to the work being accomplished in the present in our leading stations. In this way the student will become thoroughly familiar with this kind of work and will be able to put it into practical application.

DONT FORGET

To stop in the Bureau's Office and see a copy of the 1915 "Year of the Mountains." There are a few copies left to be sold for the nominal sum of $2.00.

14. CLUB MEETS

Students' English-Speaking Club Year's Progress

The first meeting of the Agricultural Club for this year was held Wednesday evening October 17. Thirty students were present. The club plans to make this its banner year by enlisting every member of the Agricultural School in its ranks and giving them something to do. Particularly does the club desire the participation of the first course students. They are welcomed to all the Faculty and Long Course students. The club intends to give a big joining dinner this fall to help start and the matter is now in the hands of a committee for action.

Prof. E. T. Ellington addressed the students on the importance of club work and what it means to other institutions. "An Agricultural College is judged by the wisdom of its Agricultural Club." The faculty are all interested in the growth and work of the club. They expect it to keep pace with the growth of the school which indeed has been most rapid. Prof. Ellington urged us to mix with our Short Ag. friends and with all the students for if we do not show the inclination to mix with fellow men, we are missing an opportunity which the University offers us.

So, Agricultural Club, let's get the
