VARSDITY MEETS OREGON SATURDAY

VARSDITY PLAYS FIRST AND LAST CONFERENCE GAME OF SEASON ON LOCAL FIELD SATURDAY

Comparative Results of Games Indicate a Spectacular Gridiron Exhibition

So far Idaho has played two football games but has her first conference game of the season to play. Gonzaga University represented by the strongest team for years, was brot into camp. Added to this victory was the marvelous feat of holding the sensational

"COACH" GRIFFITH

Montana eleven to a 0 to 0 score. It is difficult to make any prophecy about Saturday's game but the situation is as follows:

University of Oregon, 7; W. S. C., 0.
Montana, 10; W. S. C., 0.
Idaho, 0; Montana, 0.

University of Oregon, ?; Idaho, ?.

Idaho played Montana with two of her star players out of the game on account of injuries. Saturday the bulwark will be complete. All of our best men will respond to the referee's whistle, so the best exhibition of the year will be staged. This is the last football game to be played in Moscow this year. Every student promises to be there and every loyal supporter of the Varsity athletics should come out and help win the game and incidentally train the vocal chords to respond in the most harmonious manner on November 7th.

Remember the date, Saturday, October 24th, as the occasion when the "Oregon Hoodoo" will be trifled with.

ASSEMBLY

Quite a satisfactory percentage of the student body attended the last assembly. Professor Wilkie N. Collins of the English department commanded the closest attention while he gave expression to some rather disturbing and altogether thot-provoking ideas. The burden of his address was a challenge to us as students to face spiritual peril, to allow our minds to be troubled, and even to seek trouble for the sake of our own spiritual progress.

Professor Collins began his address by reminding us of the fact that as students in a young school and in a new country we are placed at no slight disadvantage. Every new generation simply lives over again the accumulated experience of preceding generations, adding but little from its own brief experience. For the reason our lack of old traditions, the absence of any age-old civilization reaching out at us from the past, is rather a handicap than an advantage. This point was well illustrated by the quotation from Kipling which concluded Professor Collins' remarks.

Since this lack exists, it is the function of the University to make up for it by cultivating the imagination and the abstract enthusiasms of the student within its halls. Whereas it is the duty of the mother to guard, of the father to support, and of the High School to watch over the child, it is the function of the University to break him into life. She must expose him to spiritual peril, shock him out of his mediocrity and in general trouble his soul into action.

The greatest tragedy to be observed in a University is not the case of the man who aims high and fails. "Better high failure than low success." Those most to be pitied are the faithful "hewers of wood and drawers of water," whose grades are all that could well be wished, but who somehow miss the greatest gifts that a college has to offer—fire, enthusiasm, and breadth of view. In spite of their faithful drudgery they are not accepted by their fellows as representative college men and women. The representative college man must be deeply interested in all departments of the University. He must have the power of becoming fired with enthusiasm about abstract ideas. He must care more for the work in which he is engaged than for the job which it gives him. Above all he must be a man of imagination.

In the development of all these qualities many dangers must be faced. The mother's prayer for her son's safety gives place to the prayer of his alma mater. "Lord, trouble him!" He must seek adventure, even in the face of spiritual peril. He must shun mediocrity, even tho there be greater safety in stagnation than in spiritual ferment. Christ had no sympathy with mediocre demands on men. To the rich young man who desired to be saved he said: "Go, sell all thou hast and give to the poor." His greatest contempt was reserved not for those who were considered the greatest sinners, but for the complacent, self-satisfied. Pharisees whose very souls seemed to have died out as a result of spiritual inaction. Wherever Christ found such he proceeded at once to "trouble them."

The words of Professor Collins came as a very timely warning to many of us. There is very grave danger that the monotony of set tasks will breed in us an unconscious indifference toward the subjects which we very often study more from a sense of duty than from any personal interest in the matter. With this attitude toward our college work not even the highest grades could redeem us from irremediable failure. The appeal to "spiritual peril" and the challenge to "play the game" are necessary to waken us from the deep sleep into which the native inertia of our spirits is continually plunging us.

A NARRATIVE OF A ROYAL BATTLE FOUGHT IN A SEA OF MUD

Sensational Plays Were Missing And Both Teams Resorted to Straight Football

"Idaho fought" when she met the Montana eleven Saturday afternoon and the burly visitors, outplayed, were lucky to get away with an 0 to 0 tie.

The new field was heavy with mud and the warriors of both teams were smeared from head to foot with oozy, sticky clay before they had played three minutes.

"BUCK" PHILLIPS

Idaho played wonderful football in the first quarter. One of Captain Phillips' long boots spiralled over Robertson's head about five minutes after the initial whistle and a short Montana kick gave the ball to Griffith's machine on the visitors' 20-yard line. Dewald and Purdy made good gains on end runs but Montana put up a stone-wall defense inside her own 5-yard line and the Silver and Gold aggregation lost the pigskin on downs.

The two teams wallowed around in the middle of the field during the second quarter, with neither side making much yardage.

Montana was dangerous in the third quarter and she pushed the oval down to Idaho's 20-yard line in the final session but Coach "Pink" shot his subs into the breach and Betty packed the ball out of the danger zone with the longest run of the day, a 20-yard sprint around the left end. The two elevens were scrapping on Montana's 45-yard line when the head linesman stopped the battle.

Gridiron Grist

Ooey, geelix, and gooey, the mud! Great gobs of slippery, sloshy, slimy clay! No wonder the score was 0 to 0.

Estimates as to the weight of the pigskin varied from 10 pounds to 2½ tons. Mighty men of brawn tho the centers of both teams were, many of the spectators could not understand how they were able to pass the oval clear to the backs.

A 20-yard punt was a sensation. Most of the boots made discouraged flights of from five to fifteen yards.

Some of the fans thot that Idaho should have tried a dropkick in the first quarter but the condition of the field made accurate kicking impossible.

Bantz, the Montana tackle, played like a madman. He smeared more than one Idaho play before it got started.

What would have happened on a dry field?

It would have been "Out with the crepe, Missoula," if either Purdy or Betty had snared the forward pass that Kipp hooked.

And it's Oregon on Saturday. Let's shatter the jinx, crack the Webfoot hoodoo! With the whole school behind it the old team can grab the Northwestern Championship.

Y. M. C. A.

The Bible study classes organized by the Y. M. C. A. are proving very interesting. The classes meet in the various churches at the regular hour for Sunday school, 9:45 Sunday morning. All college men are urged to enter one of these classes. The special subject for next Sunday's discussion is "An Expense Account." For any other information regarding the study, see Mr. Willard McDowell or the General Secretary.

ATTENTION MEN

Mr. Guy Needham, the Student Secretary for Oregon and Idaho, will arrive in Moscow Sunday, October 25, and will remain several days to assist the college organization. He will speak Sunday night in the Methodist church. All students are invited.

BASKETBALL TO RECEIVE IMPETUS

COACH HAS BE YET TO ARRANGE INTERESTING BASKETBALL SERIES

Fraternities, Y.M.C.A. and Short Course Men to be Represented With Teams

Probably the most feasible way of creating interest in basketball sport at the University is that which is now taking form under the plans of Physical Director Van der Veet. Basketball interest in basketball has been lagging until the football season has come to a close. Several thousand dollars have been found and devoted to this sport. Football usually runs to the latter part of the semester and sometimes longer which is very nearly the beginning of the basketball season. This naturally does not give the needed time in which to get a team in shape for the opening season. That too if it is not begun early it usually makes it absolutely necessary that only possible prospects for the first teams be given a chance to pump the foot the greater part of the time.

When this method is followed there are those students who never come out to the gymnasium for any exercise at the other exercise in which they find amusement in basketball.

To rectify this condition Coach Van der Veet has been planning for a solution for some time and in truth, a very unique and very desirable solution has been found. The plan is to have each fraternity represented by a team, the Y.M.C.A. and the short course men by one. In all seven teams will be lined up for the contest. A series of games will be played in which each team has the opportunity of playing an equal number of games and be given credit on the percentage basis similar to that used in a series of basketball.

The date in which this tournament will begin is November 1. A schedule of the series will be posted at each team will know when to report. Two or more matches may be made the same afternoon as an opportunity will be afforded for a large number of men to get a work-out the same day.

This promises to be very interesting as some of the fraternities will be represented by very strong teams. Two or more first team men will be found in some fraternity teams.

In the School of Practical Agriculture some excellent basketball material will be found which will make it very interesting for their competitors. The game will be fought between a strong quarter as they have shown their number prospective first team material.

Each fraternity, the Y.M.C.A. and short course men should as soon as possible appoint a captain to be responsible for the assurance of a team on the floor on specified time. The co-operation of all is requested so this plan may be made a success.

All basketball men are wanted in these games to take regular work-outs and get in good shape for the basketball season which is soon here. Remember the date.

WILL SELL JEFFERSON HOME

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13—Monticello, the home of Thomas Jefferson, should be maintained as the Virginia home of the presidents in the opinion of its owner, Representative Levy of New York who notified Secretary Bryan today that he would consider an offer of $100,000 for the purchase of the estate by the government. His communication will be referred to congress.

"I have always admired the idea of Monticello becoming a national museum," Mr. Levy writes to Secretary Bryan. "I have maintained it as a home—the home of Thomas Jefferson and if I am in part well it should like that that to be sold. I like in the home—the Virginia home."

FROM OTHER COLLEGES

University of Wisconsin

John J. Wright, '17, the confessed ring leader of the hazing party that culminated in a city-student riot, has been suspended from the university for the current semester. This action is the first of a series to be taken by the student court against the recent hazing episodes.

Harvard University

Shall the freedom of speech of Harvard be bot for $10,000,000 is the question that is confronting President Lowell, since the reception of a letter from Major C. Weiner of London in which he demands the resignation of Hugo Munsterberg or threatens to withdraw the endowment of his millions. Public opinion is in favor of refusing Munsterberg's already proffered resignation.

Soccer will compete with football at eastern colleges this fall as a result of the change of the soccer season from spring to fall. The title last year was won by Harvard.

Columbia University

Registration figures have again increased. The total registration this year will be between 12,000 and 13,000. This includes graduate students.

The English and Scotch Universities opened this year with reduced attendance. Cambridge University has only 1500 students, as against 3500 for last year, many of those at the institution last year having joined the army. The German and Austrian students who attended in large numbers last year are all absent, most of them being with their armies.

University of Oregon

The student body of the University is now larger in number than at any time in the University's history. The total of 733 being one more than the largest number ever registered.

Yale University

The annual report of Treasurer Day shows a decrease in the total amount of bequests for the fiscal year just ended. The amount is $1,019,846.73, as against $1,416,935.84 for the year preceding. Yale's deficit is also smaller for this year.

University of Pennsylvania

Commencing with this fall only the degree of bachelor of arts will be awarded to the students of the Arts College. The members of the 1918 class will be the first to conform to the new rules.

University of California

The executive committee of student affairs have revoked the ruling barring Freshmen from playing on Varsity teams. This was done in order to play Stanford four classes against four instead of the usual three against four.

University of Kansas

The class of 1918 has declared itself absolutely and unconditionally opposed to all forms of cheating, cribbing, and dishonesty in class and school work and all other practices tending toward the discouragement and destruction of individual efficiency and enterprise of its members.

University of Montana

The faculty in journalism and the editorial staff of the Montana Kaimin are organizing what is to be known as the Western Intercollegiate News Exchange Bureau. The Universities of Idaho, Oregon, Washington, Utah, Wyoming, North and South Dakota,

Washington State College, and the Oregon Agricultural College have been invited to become members. Members of the bureau will send news letters to each other.

Columbia University

Fanned by a high southwest wind, flames recently destroyed the million dollar gymnasium of Columbia University, scores of trophies won by athletes of the college and for a while threatened to raze Havemeyer Hall and Schermerhorn Hall, two of the great modern laboratory buildings.

The fire was discovered by students who had just left a smoker in Earl Hall, on the Broadway side of the campus. An alarm of fire was sounded from the building, and the students attempted to check the blaze until firemen could reach the scene. The intense heat drove them back quickly and within a few minutes the building was a roaring furnace. The first firemen to arrive had difficulty in opening the great gates to the campus.

The gymnasium was in the center of the campus and extended nearly the length of the block between 118th and 119th streets, between Broadway and Amsterdam avenues. South of it is the famous library, with its priceless treasures, and Schermerhorn Hall, the chemical laboratories of the University. Southeast is Havemeyer Hall, with other laboratories, while north of it is Whitaker Hall, where are the dormitories of many of the young women students of Barnard College and of Teachers College.

Hard Workouts for Oregon Team

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, EUGENE, Oct. 22.—Coach Bezdek will put his team thru a grilling drill in tackling, with little time given to any other work, up to the departure for Moscow to meet Idaho Saturday.

The game with Washington State brot out the fact that Oregon is too weak in tackling to hope for a championship unless this is given a quick remedy.

Before the Oregon team leaves for Moscow there will be several important changes in the lineup. From now on it is likely Cornwall will be found in "Tick" Malarkey's position in the backfield. Cornwall played only a few minutes in the W. S. C. game but proved to Bezdek's satisfaction that he has great stuff. There will be a shift of ends, Malarkey probably taking Garrette's place.

EMMINENT BOTANISTS OF THE WORLD MEET

Nearly 300 botanists from various parts of the world are in St. Louis, Missouri, celebrating the 25th anniversary of the founding of the Missouri Botanical Garden. After the festivities the botanists of the central states will meet in convention.

A SUGGESTION

The game last Saturday was unquestionably one of the best games witnessed on the Idaho field for some time. In fact it was the first football game to be played on our new field. If they play clean sportsmanlike, and high class football will be so manifest at our future games on the new field we will be proud of the achievement.

The side line support was admirable. Interest and enthusiasm were conspicuously noticeable whether our team advanced toward our goal or was pushed back. Every player fought bravely and had his eyes on the man with the ball every minute of play, which was indeed necessary as usually more than one of our men were required to upset one of our big Montana friends.

Mostly men we are proud of you for the clean football and true sportsmanship you displayed. Next time you come we hope to have our field in more suitable condition.

Our football field needs attention. During this time of the year we can expect rain at any time and in fact hereby our chances of getting good weather for our big games. The field even after it is the drained gets very muddy after a rain. Saturday it was impossible to get punting or forward passing because the spectacular side of the game was somewhat lacking.

What can be done to overcome this disadvantage which we are forced to repeatedly face? What is done at other schools where the football field has received a permanent place on the campus? In California the football field has been seeded down in grass which has formed a sod thus making a fast game possible in rain or shine. This could easily be done. As soon as spring opens the football field could be worked and you have the best of slope for a seed bed. If seed were sown as soon as the fingers of frost had passed and tended to with water all summer we would have a fast football field.

The expense attached to this change would be very considerable when compared to the added advantages it would offer over our present field.

This change would necessitate laying off the baseball diamond on another part of the field. Perhaps it would involve the baseball diamond which would not be altogether desirable but if such a change is deemed best for the biggest interest of all the students will not object to it.

money to effect it. This is for your serious consideration. Think it over!

DISINTERESTED

College students are sometimes criticized, and perhaps justly, because they do not take the proper interest in the questions of the day. It may be a timely criticism among our student body. Current events receive little consideration. Problems which are very important and which are in the making today are known among very few. Different excuses are given. Some have no time and others are not interested. No one is too busy to spend a few moments each day in reading daily papers. Nor is any one too busy to spend a few hours a week reading some of our best magazines—Top Notch and others similar excluded. Surely no one would confess disinterest in the making of contemporary history. Government in a democracy is a business and our government is a business in which we are all stockholders. If we fail to take care of our business some one else will. This business has been aligned in the state and the nation and the result is that we are today facing serious and vexing problems.

The eradication of corruption, improvements in our industrial and commercial systems and the adjustment of social conditions are problems which will demand our attention and must be solved in the near future.

It has been said and truly said "As the college goes today so the nation goes tomorrow." The college-trained man and woman will be called upon sooner or later to take an active part in civic, social, and political circles. In order to be of the biggest service it is imperative that we familiarize ourselves with the problems of today and their solution.

We should know something about our political system. We should also be instructed about our financial and social conditions. Not only is it necessary to be familiar with our national current events, but we should study the conditions in other countries as well. After we have become interested in contemporary history we will find our interests will continue to grow, and we will find it a source of knowledge and inspiration for greater activity.

INTEREST IN DEBATE

Last Saturday when the try-out was held for the selection of men to represent Idaho in the coming triangular debate with Oregon and Washington State College the court room, in which the try-out was held, was almost empty. Only a few visitors were there to encourage the men who had entered the race. This is our right. Debate is also a field in which Idaho may win laurels.

It requires perhaps more backbone to prepare for a debate than for any athletic contest. Several men volunteered to enter the try-out but only a few carried out their determination. Those who dropped out had to do so because of too much work. It is indeed a sacrifice and support should be given the one who volunteers to devote enough time and energy to prepare Idaho's interests in foreign work.

Lack of interest in debating or public speaking may be due to the lack of appreciation of the significance of public speaking. In the days of Grant and the art of public speaking was regarded as a supreme talent to be cultivated as a means to fame and power in the days of Grant and Democracy.

ones it was regarded as a practical means of great service to society and the state. The periods, when under either motive it has held the front have been in times of democratic life. The rise of the political party in England develops its great debaters. The dominance of public opinion means the dominance of persuasion. The growing interest in public speaking which distinguishes American college life is not accidental. As the career of our nation unfolds it is destined to increase. The time has come when the living voice must supplant cold type as a means of profiting convictions. Some influence is needed which can reconcile what people read and hear, and make all doubts less certain and debate will. This task is no where so pressing as in our land. Debating is not a mere educational charm added to the dry dross of the curriculum; it springs from the very nature and requisite of American life and it is therefore highly justified.

Every student who expects some day to enter political life or to go into public service of any kind should avail himself of the splendid opportunities afforded at the University to get that invaluable training which he will need so badly in the future, and incidentally to help win laurels for Idaho. Certainly there is no more legitimate sphere for student ambitions than to excel in debate, nor is there any other line of discipline which brings more practical or lasting results, not merely as to particular skill but as to the whole personality of the student. Think it over.

DEBATE TEAMS ARE CHOSEN

IDAHO MEETS W. S. C. AND O. A. C. IN TRIANGULAR DEBATE IN DECEMBER

Aspirants for the Teams Made Competition Keen and Interesting

The try-out for places on the debating teams which are in the near future to clash with O. A. C. and W. S. C. was held Saturday in the court room. The ability shown in the contest would be a credit to a much bigger university than ours. It is safe to say that we would have to search our records pretty thoroly to find a forensic contest which has displayed more enthusiasm, sound logic and frankness of expression than the one of Saturday last.

Four Men Were Chosen

Each team will be composed of two men. The four men chosen were Charles Chandler, Alvin Beckman, Lawrence E. Huff, and Julius Nordby. The judges being Professor Ayers, Lewis, and Gill

First and foremost of the forensic champions is Charles Chandler. Mr. Chandler is a Sophomore who took part in last year's tryouts but has so improved since then that the judges felt justified in giving him first place. Mr. Chandler is enthusiastic, fluent, and impressive. Then too he is a worker.

Lawrence Huff stood head and shoulders above all of his competitors in physical stature and there is no reason why he cannot do as well in other qualities. Mr. Huff is a rapid talker with an eye for logic and consistency. He looks the judges square in the face and fears no one.

Alvin E. Beckman scored third. Mr. Beckman's speech was a surprise to all those who heard him. Hitherto we have known him as an excellent student, now we also know him to be a power in the debating circle. Mr. Beckman possesses the power to reason soundly and systematically. He thinks on his feet. He never gets excited but strikes the nail squarely on the head at every stroke. Mr. Beckman bids fair to prove himself a formidable opponent but a safe colleague.

Julius Nordby who represented Idaho in one of last year's debates, has again raised his shining shield in defense of his Alma Mater. Mr. Nordby showed a very marked improvement over his last year's work. He greatly magnified his better qualities as a debater and laid aside most of the less desirable qualities.

Willard McDowell and Leonard Cox showed themselves to be strong men and fell short of places only on hair-splitting decisions. McDowell's expressive manner and oratorical voice set him off as a second W. J. Bryan in the making. Mr. Cox is a pleasing and convincing speaker.

The question which is to be debated, is: "Resolved, That within the commonwealth a system should be adopted wherein there should be a ministry responsible to a unicameral legislature and wherein the government should be similar in general features to the governments of other English-speaking countries. Constitutional questions waved." Sometime in December our negative team will debate this question with W. S. C. affirmative team at Pullman, on the same night Pullman's negative team will debate with O. A. C.'s affirmative team at Corvallis, and on the same night O. A. C.'s negative team will debate our affirmative team at Moscow. In the meantime our teams will thoroly arm themselves with invincible arguments with which to lay low their aspiring opponents.

We also wish our teams to feel that we are back of them and that defeat is inevitable.

TWO UNIVERSITY GRADUATES ARE MARRIED

On Friday, October 16th, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Hibbs, in San Diego, Cal., occurred the marriage of Ludwig Gerlough and Margaret Lauder. Miss Lauder is the daughter of Mrs. Wm. C. Lauder of this place. In 1906 she received the degree of B.M. from the U. of I. and in 1907 that of B.A. She was prominent in musical circles and was recipient of the Kaufman scholarship.

Mr. Gerlough is also a graduate of the University as well as a Rhodes scholar having received his Oxford degree last summer. He is also a member of the Theta Mu Epsilon.

COMPLIMENTS MAJOR CHRISMAN

Former Moscow Man at Fort Niagara Ordered to Texas

So generally popular is Major Chrisman of the United States army with Moscow people that any account of his present activities and success will be read with interest by a great many persons. Major Chrisman has been ordered from Fort Niagara to Texas. The following editorial from the Trenton Times speaks highly of his ability and industry:

"Generally every innovation in the National Guard of New Jersey means an additional expense to the state, a heavier burden on the taxpayers, and the results are not commensurate. One added feature, however, has proved its worth, that being the installation of regular army officers as special instructors of the troops.

"The value of this change in the service was shown at the recent encampment at Sea Grit.

"With practical and rigid maneuvers on the program, the soldiers were given a taste of real army life. Strict discipline was enforced while the troopers were in camp and sanitary conditions were given much attention. All this was mainly due to the presence of Major Edward R. Chrisman, the regular army officer, who arranged the maneuvers and had governmental supervision over the soldiers. His earnest interest in the advancement of his charge resulted in a new spirit being instilled into the troopers.

"While here Major Chrisman was maintained by the government, no expense being thrust on the state by his presence. The Major has been ordered back to his own regiment in Texas, but his successor, Lieutenant Colonel Henry D. Styer, will doubtless continue the good work already started."

Diamonds Add So Much to One's Prestige

socially, in college life, in business, in every human relation —yet so few can afford to wear stones of the character, size and quality they desire. Even those who can afford the costlier gems, often prefer the Baroda Diamond, for safety, as well as for the immense saving.

that of the genuine diamond. And who can tell the difference? Baroda Diamonds are the nearest to real diamonds yet discovered—of the same pure white color, with lasting fire and sparkling brilliancy. Not to be compared at all with the cheap glass or paste imitations often seen in show windows under strong electric light.

Baroda Stones Are Not Man-Made

—they are actually mined. Analyze one in the chemical laboratory, if you will—see how near it is chemically to the real diamond. Baroda Diamonds are cut and polished like real diamonds, with same mathematical precision—same number, shape and proportion of facets, giving highest refractive value. They have the desired hardness and wearing qualities. They stand acid, alkali and heat tests. In short, they pass in every respect for diamonds of the first water—takes an expert to tell they are not—and you wouldn't hesitate a minute to wear one after seeing and thoroughly examining it.

VARSITY GLEE PLANS TRIP

MANAGERS ARE BEST FOR YEARS AND GREAT ENTHUSIASM IS SHOWN

Management is Busy Making Arrangements for a Big Trip

The Men's Glee Club was reorganized last week and under the direction of Prof. E. H. Sizer, will become one of the leading musical organizations of the University.

At the business meeting of the club, Lawrence Stone was elected manager and E. Scobie assistant. The management is at present making arrangements for a tour which will likely include St. Martin, Orem, Palms and other towns of the northern part of the state and may include some towns in the Levisian country.

Most of the other colleges of the Northwest send out glee clubs and clubs should be able to send out an efficient club. There is no better advertisement for the University than a good glee club giving entertainments in the towns of the state and it will draw many new students to the University.

Prof. Sizer and the members of the club are working hard and faithfully and deserve the support of the student body. If you have talent try out for the club. The membership is free.

SENIOR "BUFF"

The class of 1914 gave the collegians their first opportunity for a roasting good time with the "Senior Buff" Saturday night. All were in good spirits after the game with Mounts and the large attendance at the first dance of the season showed the "Hot Idaho Peg." Both floor and music inspired to the merry whirl and all pronounced the "Buff" a success. The Seniors set a good example by stopping their function promptly at 11:00. Miss French and Mrs. Carlyle were patronesses. The Misses Stella Ballerston and Helen Carlyle presided at the punch-bowl.

OXFORD NOT AFFECTED BY EUROPEAN STRUGGLE

OXFORD, Oct. 1.—Oxford University will open as usual and F. J. White, Oxford secretary of the Rhodes trust, has called Rhodes scholars to report for study. A great many Rhodes Rhodes scholars have enlisted to receive commissions, their subscriptions of course being kept open. University authorities do not expect that the enrollment of undergraduates will total more than 2000. Those absent on military services will suffer no loss in academic standing the time spent in serving their country counting as time in residence at Oxford if the undergraduates so desire.

There was a rumor that a former German Rhodes scholar of Queen's College was held in Oxford as a prisoner within sight of his old college rooms. On investigation this individual was found to be a German servant formerly in the employ of Queen's College.

Since the Laurain outbreak the anti-German feeling in Oxford is very strong. Despite the former friendship between the Oxford and the German learned world people feel that in case of an invasion of England Oxford might suffer as Laurain has suffered.

CROSS COUNTRY RUN

Y. Take Place Friday, October 24

The upper-country race for the permanent medal will be run Friday. Six men have entered for the final race and are working hard every day to make as good a showing as possible. It will be very difficult to pick the winner as the men are working very close.

All the students and those interested in this athletic event should come out and see the exhibition races in the final dash for the trophy.

The race will be started from the Gymnasium and will last half the full course and return. The runners will cross the big hill west of the athletic field so it will be possible to cheer for a good part of the race.

ENTHUSIASM

They say it is contagious. It is demonstrated at the RALLIES. Come out get infected and pass it on for it is a coveted disease.

An employment application card has been given up by Prof. Soren, chairman of the Employment Committee, and all students in need of regular or temporary jobs will assist themselves manually in the direction by filling out a blank in Mr. Soren's office.

A new classified list of all recent magazine articles on Education to be found in the University Library has been made by the Department of Education for use of students and faculty. The list is kept up to date by additions each month.

At the Idaho County Institute last week at Grangeville two addresses each were given to the teachers by Prof. Soren and Prof. Collins.

THIRD STREET

ALUMNUS HAS GREAT EXPERIENCE

MARVIN MILKEY WAS ONE IN A PARTY TRAVELLING FROM SALMON CITY TO LEWISTON

The Treacherous Rapids of the Salmon and Snake Rivers Were Shot in Shows

One of the most unusual and thrilling adventures was that experienced by Marvin Milkey who arrived last evening from Salmon City after a most exciting trip down the Salmon river to Lewiston in a skow. The party consisted of Marvin Milkey, Carl Clark, Dr. W. E. Hart, W. B. Harmon, Grover Botta and Ray Erwin. Captain Grilke, who is known as the conqueror of the Salmon river, was in charge of the skow, and George Smith was his assistant. Captain Grilke is said to be the only man who has ever taken a boat successfully down the Salmon as far as Lewiston.

"The trip was simply grand," said Mr. Milkey. "It is very dangerous because of the number of treacherous rapids, but we came straight through and did not get hung up anywhere. We camped at night and slept on the bank of the banks of the river. The river flows through a canyon. The walls are of rock. The scenery is something beyond description. I'm sure there can not be a finer trip anywhere."

IN THE GYMNASIUM

The handball enthusiasts are taking their regular work-outs and are making great improvements.

Regular classes in physical culture are given and the men, particularly the Short Course men, are responding in large numbers.

Last year some of these men who took their strength test at the beginning and close of the year found improvements of over 500 pounds. It is well worth while for it gets every muscle in the body into play which is impossible in any other kind of work or exercise. Particular attention is not paid to the over-development of certain parts of the body but to the body as a whole. A man's physique should not be measured by some abnormally developed set of muscles but by the normal development of all muscles in the body.

The machine, which is used in the Physical Director's office to ascertain the strength of all the muscles in the entire body, is the most accurate means of locating the muscles which have suffered from lack of exercise. They are not developed properly and the only way of developing them is to exercise them which can be done in the Physical Culture classes.

Student: "If you have a weak muscle 'Wandy' will find it." Get in boys and develop your body so all the parts of it will respond harmoniously.

Basketball has been started and enough men are out for practice to make several teams. A petition may soon be circulated for means to buy bigger baskets as those we have seem to be entirely too small.

HIGHEST CATARACT IN THE WORLD

Is there a higher cataract or waterfall in the world than the Niagara? There is one in South America much higher and greater in every respect. A cataract on the Iguazu river, which partly separates Brazil from Argentina, has a sheer fall of 110 feet; that of Niagara being 167 feet and the Iguazu cataract is 11, 120 feet wide, or about two and a half times as wide as Niagara.

It is estimated that 100,000,000 tons of water pass over Niagara in an hour. A like estimation gives the falls of Iguazu 140,000,000 tons.
