WHITMAN HERE FOR TWO-GAME SERIES

FIRST BATTLE TO BE STAGED TONIGHT—IDAHO TEAM IS IN EXCELLENT CONDITION

Whitman Has Not Been Going Well Lately—These Games May Determine Championship

Idaho and Whitman clash tonight in the first game of Whitman's schedule which includes two games with Idaho tonight and Friday and two with Pullman tomorrow and Saturday. Whitman has not been going particularly well of late, having lost every game on their recent western trip and dropping a home game last week to the W. S. C. aggregation. Coach Applegate of the Missionaries has been spending his time recently on improving the team work of his organization, eliminating the dribble and speeding up the team work.

Idaho has been practicing desperately for these games. Jim Keane is back in the harness and has been playing the kind of a game in practice that made him a valuable man for Idaho in the past, and a particularly hard guard for any forward to handle. Captain Gray has reported again and is going great guns. Whitman has always been easy for Charlie and great things are expected of him tonight and Friday. The workouts for the past few nights have been unusually fast and hard and the Idaho team can be counted upon to give a good account of itself tonight and Friday.

At present the Conference championship looks to be almost as undetermined a factor as it was early in the season. W. S. C., Whitman and O. A. C. still stand a chance to cop with W. S. C. and O. A. C. the favorites. Idaho may be instrumental in determining the ultimate winner by eliminating Whitman in the present series.

Idaho has only played three home games this year, losing two by two point margins and beating Montana in a loosely played game. Idaho has yet to play the ball at home that she has played on foreign courts, but if she really starts tonight, Whitman will have some difficulty in defeating the local quintet. Look for Idaho to upset the dope tonight.

JUNIORS AND SENIORS NOTICE!

On Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, March 1, 2 and 3 respectively, an opportunity will be given to juniors and seniors to fill out especially prepared cards indicating the school where preparatory work was taken, fraternity or sorority, honors received, etc. These cards will be placed on the bulletin board Wednesday morning. A box will be provided wherein to place the cards after having filled them out as per directions. All cards must be in before 5 p. m. Friday, March 3.

STEINMAN IS HONORED

Dr. D. B. Steinman, formerly professor of civil engineering at the University of Idaho, has been appointed special lecturer in bridge engineering at Columbia University. He is scheduled to give a course of lectures on advanced bridge design to the seniors in civil engineering at Columbia to supplement the regular course given by Professor W. H. Burr.

Professor Steinman now occupies the position of special assistant to the chief engineer of the New York connecting railroad, in charge of the design and construction of the Hell Gate arch bridge over the East river and the Scotoville bridge over the Ohio river, two of the largest bridges in the world.

SPRING VACATION POSTPONED

All those persons who have studied the program board have no doubt noticed that the spring vacation has been postponed to the week beginning April 18 and ending April 23. This will prevent the breaking up of two successive weeks, as the Inland Empire Teachers' association meets on Wednesday and Thursday of this week and many of the college faculty will attend the meetings.

PURDY IS BASEBALL CAPTAIN

Last Saturday afternoon, Coach Rademacher called a meeting of the baseball "I" men for the purpose of electing a captain with the result that to Harold Purdy fell the lot of conducting the Idaho diamond warriors thru the coming season. Purdy has represented Idaho for two years and has always played a good, consistent game. He is a clever, clean fielder, and has no inconsiderable amount of ability with the stick. He has had many years experience with the national pastime and possesses a "good baseball head." He should make a good leader for Idaho's nine this year.

The prospects for this spring are good. The "I" men from last year's team who are in college include Captain Purdy, Vic Jones, "Nip" Nielson, Barger, Wade, Keane, Fry, and Bistline. All these men have signified their intention of competing for the team this spring. This gives Idaho an intact infield, experienced batteries, and Vic Jones, as classy an outfielder as the conference boasts, as a nucleus, for a formation for this year's aggregation. In addition, Jean Gerlough will be out again, and if he can get the control which he has been working for, will make a strong bid for the pitching staff. Brockman, a new man, apparently has all the fundamentals which go to make a successful moundsman. Idaho should have a real baseball team this spring.

DR. AND MRS. SHATTUCK ENTERTAIN

Sunday evening, February 27, at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Shattuck a banquet was given for the junior and senior members of the forestry department. Those present were: Dr. and Mrs. Shattuck and the Messrs. Morris, Schofield, Yates, Cunningham, Humphrey, Moody, Malmsten, Munson, Barger and Bedwell. The table was artistically decorated with a large center of fir cones and branches topped by a mammoth digger pine cone nearly twelve inches long and weighing over four pounds. Brightly burning candles adorned the pleasing arrangement. The place cards were thin sections of wood each one of which was a different species, and framed by small strips of Idaho treated red fir. In front of each place stood an individual candle stick which was made from miniature Douglas fir cones set upright and adeptly surrounded by tiny sprigs of Douglas fir. The feed—nothing need be said about that, if a person is acquainted with Mrs. Shattuck. However, for the benefit of those who do not know her, it might be said that the Davenport cannot compare with Mrs. Shattuck. After a delightful chicken dinner which lasted for an enjoyable hour, the guests assembled in front of a roaring fire place and the interests of the school were discussed and after a series of reminiscences of which no forestry meeting is complete, the happy fellows left assured that there are no better entertainers that Dr. and Mrs. Shattuck.

DELTA GAMMA ENTERTAINS

Delta Gamma entertained the visiting members of K. K. G. and the seniors of the local chapter at a daffodil breakfast Sunday morning.

On the small tables arranged in the living room were baskets filled with ferns and yellow spring flowers. Golden keys, the symbol of Kappa Kappa Gamma, hung from the arches.

During the breakfast an original song was given welcoming the Kappa Kappa Gamma fraternity into Idaho. Doris Gregory and Mary Clarke gave several vocal selections. Emma Barr gave three instrumental numbers and the mandolin club entertained.

Those present were Misses Powell, Rector, Bruck, Wanderer, Dixon, Skinner, Mathewson, Kjosness, Wing, Brandt, Keane, Stevenson, Allen, Patten, Mellison, Lubkin, Hartley, Brown, Stroker, Balch and Anderson and Mrs. Waller and Mrs. Davis.

STUDENT ASSEMBLY

Last week the Argonaut announced a meeting for Friday, but due to conflicts it was found that it could not be held therefore the date has been changed to Friday, March 3 at 4 p. m. It is especially desired to have every member who can possibly do so, to be there, as important amendments are to be brought up. Don't forget—Friday—at 4 p. m.

KAPPA INSTALLED HERE LAST WEEK

LOCAL SORORITY, OMEGA PI, BECOMES NEW BETA KAPPA CHAPTER OF K. K. G.

Banquet After Installation at Ridenbaugh Hall An Enjoyable Affair—Miss Wenz Was Toastmistress

Last Saturday afternoon, from the local sorority of Omega Pi emerged the Beta Kappa chapter of Kappa Kappa Gamma. The new chapter was formally installed and all the active members of Omega Pi and some of the alumni charter members were duly initiated into the rites of the Kappa Kappa Gamma. The installation was conducted by Miss Powell, the national president, assisted by six of the active members of the Montana chapter and one member of the University of Washington chapter.

The list of initiates were the Misses Allen, Anderson, H. Anderson, Bailey, Boland, Balch, Brandt, Brown, Burke, Clamby, Cornwall, Dorell, Dow, Hartley, Forbes, Hill, Keane, K. Keane, Kjosness, Lubkin, B. Lubkin, Lemm, Martin, Mellison, E. Mellison, McArthur, McCallie, Morgan, Mullen, Patten, Roor, Schuyler, Stephenson, Strohecker, U. Strohecker, Swan, Swartwood, Wenz, F. Wenz and Works.

After the initiation the Kappas enjoyed a lovely eight course banquet in Ridenbaugh hall. The hall was beautifully decorated in the sorority colors, light and dark blue. A large Kappa Kappa Gamma key hung above the fireplace and above the table which formed a large letter "I" hung baskets of blue carnations. The color scheme was further carried out in the menus, while the candle shades were fleur-de-lis, the flower of the sorority.

Miss Dorothy Wenz, president of the local chapter, made a most charming toastmistress. Toasts were responded to by Miss Ursel Strohecker, representing the charter members and by Miss Valborg Kjosness and Miss Ada Burke for the active members. The girls were then treated to a delightful talk on "The Land of Great Opportunities" by Miss Powell. A pleasing impromptu talk was given by Miss Bruck of the Seattle chapter. Mrs. Davis, of Twin Falls, Idaho, concluded the speeches with "Here's to You, K. K. G." Thus was Kappa ushered into the University of Idaho.

The Reception

The reception last Friday night at which the Beta Kappa chapter elect of Kappa Kappa Gamma received in honor of the installation team of visiting Kappas was one of the prettiest affairs of the college year. The gymnasium was beautiful with its streamers of blue and blue, the light and the dark, of Kappa Kappa Gamma. From the center of the arched ceiling, where the colors met, hung the curved petals of large fleur-de-lis in which the lights were set. Other lights were hidden in vases of blue carnations standing upon tall blue-covered pedestals, which, connected with chains of blue, outlined the dancing space. At one end of the room hung a large gold key, the Kappa badge, jeweled with tiny frosted lights. In an alcove, behind the key, delicious punch was served.

In the receiving line were Miss Dorothy Wenz, the chapter president and the girls of the chapter and Miss Eva Powell, the national president and the visiting Kappas, President Brannon, Miss French, Miss Benton, Professor and Mrs. C. S. von Ende and Mr. and Mrs. Hutton. When the girls had been received Miss Bernice Root sang and Miss Rhoa Connor read. A program of dances finished the delightful function.

TAX SPECIALIST CHOSEN FOR INDIANA

INDIANAPOLIS, IND.—Robert A. Campbell, professor of economics in Cornell university, has been engaged as an expert to investigate tax conditions throughout this state. This is the result of an agitation which caused the Legislature to create a state tax inquiry commission. In order to get the aid of a specialist $5000 was appropriated and Prof. Campbell's fee will be taken from this fund.—Christian Science Monitor.

INTERNATIONAL DEBATE

Many years ago there were several debates between New England colleges and those of Eastern Canada. But for some reason or other there are no more international debates in that part of the country. There are, however, international debates between Western American colleges and Western Canadian colleges. For several years the Law School of the University of Washington has debated the University of Washington will debate Vancouver University. For eight years the University of Manitoba, of which Dr. James A. MacLean is president, has debated with the University of North Dakota. This year their debate is particularly interesting. The question to be discussed is: "Resolved that the United States should have intervened to protect Belgian neutrality."

The Canadians chose the negative side of the question. They have always the highest regard for decorum and dignity and it is thought that they preferred to uphold the action of the United States government rather than to condemn it. For it is almost a certainty—that the argument on the negative side of the question is not the most popular one in the Dominion these days. The question is one that has been discussed much in all diplomatic circles ever since the eventful August of 1914. A rather unique and exceptional feature of the argument is found in the fact that the Canadian team, tho of a country naturally allied with England by blood and tongue, yet they will uphold the action of our nation in this particular matter, while the Dakota debaters, citizens of the United States, will be forced to condemn our nation's attitude in the Belgian neutrality dilemma.

FORESTRY SCHOOLS CONSOLIDATE

The forestry club has recently received a letter from the University of Washington forestry school, who recently sent a delegate to the Eastern meeting of the forestry schools of the United States in which they were considering the feasibility of uniting the different forestry schools into what shall be known as the American Associated Foresters. The Washington delegate was empowered with two votes, one for his own school and one for the Idaho forestry school. The report shows that the topic was thoroughly considered and the different forestry schools are now placed upon a common brotherhood basis. An effort will be made to bring the next meeting of the association West, to be held in connection with the meeting of the Pacific Logging congress which will be held either in Portland or Seattle some time during the month of October of this year.

INNOVATION IN COLLEGE WORK

The agricultural products judging day at the university, Friday, March 3, is the only thing of its kind in American colleges, so far as is known. The day is the third annual event at Idaho, having been organized two years ago in the agricultural college. The judging contests, five in number, are in the following departments: Grains, butter, apples, live-stock and poultry; the poultry judging will be a new feature this year. There will be five prizes for each contest, the first one being in each case, the engraving of the winner's name on a handsome silver cup which will be inscribed from year to year. All of the contests will be carried on like regular inter-collegiate affairs. They will be a valuable part of the training offered in the College of Agriculture.

The annual banquet of the school and College of Agriculture will be held at the Gild hall, Saturday evening, March 4. The various prizes will be awarded at that time. A number of Ag. students are selling tickets to the banquet, and judging from the advance sales, the attendance will be unusually large.

HULME WILL SPEAK AT COLLEGE

Prof. Edward L. Hulme of the University of Idaho, the noted historian, will visit the college next month under the auspices of the Twentieth Century club. He will address the members of the club on Sunday afternoon, March 12, on the topic, "Art and Its Relation to Life." On Monday morning, March 13, he will speak to the students and faculty in the auditorium on "The Forces of Social Progress."—W. S. C. Evergreen.

GLEE CLUB REPORTS A SUCCESSFUL TRIP

GREETED AT EVERY STOP BY ENORMOUS CROWDS WHICH FILL THE THEATRES

Trip Was Financial Success—Hawley Scores Success as Reader—Southern Idaho Trip Assured

The glee club returned Sunday from what was probably its most successful venture as far as the educational reception which it met was concerned. Everywhere on the trip the program was given to crowded houses. At Nez Perce standing room was at a premium; at Lewiston the crowd was measured by the capacity of the theatre and every audience greeted every number with enthusiastic applause which called for encore after encore. The glee club probably fell a little short of its established standard on the recent northern trip, owing to the loss of the services of Mr. Heard and others. But this was more than offset by the spirited performances and the hearty welcome which greeted its efforts.

As usual, the dancing duets were popular numbers, the quartet was particularly well received and Raymond Pittenger pleased the audiences. But the best received of all the numbers were the readings given by Harry Hawley. These numbers did not appear on the program, but the reception awarded them was enthusiastically appreciative.

Although performances were given in a number of small towns whose population is really not sufficient to warrant presenting programs by such a large organization, yet the crowds which greeted the gleesters were large enough that Manager Don David was able to bring a small surplus back to Moscow. Both recent trips have proved financial successes and the surplus will be used to help finance the southern Idaho trip.

According to Assistant Business Manager Priest, the tour of southern Idaho is practically arranged. The trip as planned includes performances at practically every town of eastern Oregon and southern Idaho of any size. Twelve towns will be visited and two weeks will be consumed in making the trip. All underclassmen will be exempted from the encampment requirement and the spring vacation week will be utilized for the trip. The artistic success of the venture is more and more assured after the recent success of the organization.

MCLAUGHLIN WILL ADDRESS FORESTERS

Mr. R. P. McLaughlin, forest supervisor from Kalispell, Mont., will be in Moscow from the 20th to the 24th, inclusive and during that time will speak to the foresters on some of the problems of forest protection. Mr. McLaughlin is a western born man—a man with a pleasing personality, and has a clear and concise manner of stating his ideas of conservation and fire protection. Mr. McLaughlin is recognized as the leading person in the fire protection business and every one interested in fire protection should make it a point to be present at the lecture which he will give. During the last season Mr. McLaughlin was employed by the four timber protective associations of northern Idaho to work out and make recommendations for the betterment of these associations.

HONOR SYSTEM IN FORESTRY DEPARTMENT

At the regular meeting of forestry seminar of the last week, most of the time was spent in discussing and adopting an honor system in the forestry department. This idea is purely the idea of the students of this department and is the first to be placed into any department of the university. It is impossible to expect that an advancement of this sort in this direction will be a success unless the students are backing the movement, but since the foresters are each and every one back of this movement, it promises to establish a custom which will spread to the rest of the departments and is one which is badly needed in many of them.

LAW ENGINEERING LECTURE

Mr. A. Folsom of Spokane, a very interesting lecture on "Mining Laws" to the combined law and engineering schools last Saturday. Mr. Myron is a graduate of Harvard and since completing his college work has had upward of twenty years experience along this line.

There were no laws governing mining conditions in the West in the early fifties. The miners organized themselves into districts and passed rules to control those districts. Later, when the states were organized they adopted these rules with a few modifications, which were afterward recognized by Congress. They state what lands may be located and the method of location. The federal laws require only that the corners of claims be marked while the state laws require that the location must be recorded.

These mining laws are a special branch of law and only given attention in the Western states and Alaska. The mines which are controlled by these laws yielded upward of $300,000,000 last year.

After the lecture Mr. Folsom addressed the lawyers at his home on the second floor of the Administration building.

SHORT AG. HIGH SCHOOL BASKET BALL

Not satisfied with having defeated the law school aggregation, Marion Betty's quintet of aspiring satellites in the Short Ag. Basket ball world called a bet with the Moscow high school quintet and lost last Saturday. The score was 12 to 7. The game was slow from start to finish, the high school team being lost on a large floor and the Ags lacking the punch which carried them through the lawyers' lines with flying colors.

The day before the Ags held their annual track meet in Lewis' court. The third year men won with 13 points. Rice took the most in individual points.

COACH DIETZ LEAVES FOR THE EAST

Coach Wm. H. Dietz, after conducting the W. S. C. football team through the most successful season a northwestern team has ever experienced, left Pullman Monday for Rice Lake, Wisconsin, and will probably spend the remainder of the time in New York and California until required to return to Pullman to start the coaching operations for the 1916 season. The big chief was called to Wisconsin to settle the estate of his father, who died in December, and after completing the business there expects to journey to New York—Evergreen.

ASSOCIATED MINERS MEET

The Associated Miners met Wednesday night at the Phi Delta Theta house, where Professor Arnold spoke to the men on mining law. He discussed briefly both federal laws and state laws relative to mining. He also sketched the history of mining and the laws controlling the industry, and told something of the customs of miners in regard to locating and holding claims. Bursar Francis Jenkins talked reminiscently for a few minutes and interested his listeners with tales of his experience.

MONTANA REFORMS

Montana has inaugurated athletic reforms which will place this institution in the conference without any sacrifice to herself should the invitation be extended. The new athletic regulations, which will become effective next fall, embody all the basic principles upon which the present Northwestern Conference operates. No action was taken in regard to the freshmen eligibility rules, but every other factor was incorporated. With these regulations as a basis an endeavor was made to reconcile with the College at Bozeman but the effort failed.

WILL YOU PERMIT IT?

We call your attention to a communication under the forum column dealing with patriotism. The picture which has been presented to the university is "A Reading from Homer" and is certainly an inspiring picture. As this student says the university students should show their appreciation of the kindness of those who have donated such a gift to the university.
 We heartily agree with the spirit of patriotism shown by this student and wish to enter our protest against the removal of this tablet. Shall the words of Shakespeare that "a great man's memory may outlive his body half a year" be proven by us, or shall we prove that the "good men do live after them?" Shall we allow this tablet to be removed to an inferior place now as the first step in its final elimination?
 It seems to us that there is plenty of space in the Administration building where this picture may be hung without crowding out an emblem of appreciation to patriotism, an emblem that stands before us as a tribute to brave students that went before us and an inspiration to us to preserve their memory by our patriotism in whatever way we may. We leave this question with you: "Is patriotism dead?"

MONTANA CLEANS HOUSE

The recent action taken by Montana in regard to the inauguration of athletic regulations which will place her eligibility rules on a par with those of other Northwestern colleges is to be commended. Whether or not, as a result, Montana is admitted to the Conference is a problem of the future, but we do not hesitate to say that in all probability it will assist to no small degree in bringing about that result. And, Montana can, at least, take more satisfaction in winning her future intercollegiate contests when she competes on an equal basis with other college teams. Is it not possible, too, that this is but one more step toward the formation of an Inland Empire Conference, embracing Idaho, W. S. C., Whitman, Gonzaga and Montana?

REAL ASSEMBLIES

Last week Idaho students and faculty members enjoyed—we mean it—two real assemblies. In every sense of the word they were good. Comments among the general student body were flattering and numerous.
 We realize the difficulty with which such programs, such real messages, are arranged for at Idaho. But the students have had a taste of what assemblies can be; programs like those given last week will never lack support. A high water mark has been set and it is to be hoped, that as far as is practical and possible, it can be maintained.

GLEE CLUB SCORES AGAIN

Again the action of the student body has been vindicated, the action that it recently took when it incorporated the Glee Club among those student organizations which receive financial support. In the light of the recent success of the Glee Club, Idaho has never made a more worthy move, even if the methods employed were questionable, than this.
 The Argonaut has steadily maintained that no single activity which our student body can support is capable of carrying the merits and work of our university before so many of Idaho's citizens. And the fact that the Glee Club is an organization on a par with those of much larger institutions reflects more credit on those who have had the work in charge and magnifies its potency as an advertisement for our university.

CREDIT WHERE IT IS DUE

Everyone admits and recognizes the capable manner in which Professor Storer has taken the limited amount of available material and welded and polished it into a splendid organization. But we are perhaps rather too apt to overlook one other vital factor in determining its success. Don David and A. J. Priest have handled the business end of this enterprise so capably that maximum results have been obtained so far as publicity is concerned and the present finds the Glee Club on the verge of its initial trip to southern Idaho in an excellent financial condition. No little credit is due the business managers who hold particularly trying and exacting positions of responsibility.

THE NEW SOBORITY

Last week witnessed the installation of a premier national women's fraternity at Idaho, Kappa Kappa Gamma. The persistency of the Omega Pi girls in establishing and maintaining the high standards requisite before such a signal honor could be conferred upon them is to be commended. Idaho has every reason to be proud of the group of young women whose unceasing labor has brot about this installation, which we cannot but feel is another step toward a "bigger and better Idaho."

THE FORUM

To the Editor of the Argonaut:

I understand that a picture has been presented to the University by the Federated Women's club of Moscow. This gift should be and I think is appreciated by every student of the university. As students, we prize the interest taken by the women in giving us such a fine picture by which we may cultivate a taste for the beautiful in art.

But I understand that this picture is to be placed in the hall of the Administration building in the exact spot which the patriotic tablet commemorating the heroes from the university who rendered their country such great service in the Spanish-American war holds, and that this tablet is to be moved to a less conspicuous place near the library door. I hereby enter my protest and I appeal to every patriotic student of the university to do likewise. No matter how beautiful or wonderful the picture may be, I don't think that this nucleus of patriotism should be relegated to any background. Did not these students give their last full measure of devotion to their country? Was not this war the first after the founding of the university and did it not allow our students to display their love for their country?

I appeal to you as a patriotic American citizen to enter protest against the removal of this bronze pate. Do not allow the brave deeds of our heroes to be forgotten so soon.

Yours,

AN AMERICAN COLLEGE STUDENT.

ASSEMBLY

All those persons who missed the address by Dr. Crothers at the assembly last Wednesday missed a lecture which is not everyone's lot to enjoy in the course of a college term. His subject, "A Literary Clinic," was delivered in such a forceful and humorous way that it could not fail to take root. In brief he said:
 Literature is not the easiest of subjects to teach. The teacher of a science has tests upon which he may rely to find the extent of the student's knowledge. The teacher of literature also has tests, but what do they tell him beyond the fact that the student knows something of the poet's life and work?

In the teaching of literature the instructor has a different aim than the teacher of a science. The latter prepares a student with material which will be used in his future work. The teacher of literature considers the future of his pupil in a different way. He desires to build up a taste for literature so that in after life the student may be able to enjoy an evening with the people of one period and in the next evening enjoy it with those of a later or earlier period.

Shelly defined literature as the record of the best and happiest moments of the best and happiest minds. Reading should be approached from the point of reading for health rather than for information. Develop the mind along many minds and the information comes incidentally. A thought must be interesting to cause us to return to it. Interesting minds make interesting thoughts. So it is with literature.

The real value of literature lies in what it does for us. The good done depends upon what we need. Nothing is so harmless as printed matter when left entirely alone.

Literature is similar to pharmacy. A book is a literary prescription for people who need it and for this reason should be carefully put up to suit the needs of the reader. Diagnose the person before and after reading the book to see if he is better or worse.

Certain books are stimulants which put us to thinking. These kind of books are not published every year and many that are sold as such are, in reality, lacking in that quality.

Come books are intended to irritate. Pure satire is not irritating. When you want to read books of this kind select ones which are especially desirable to make you feel miserable.

It is extremely hard to get the masterpieces read, even when they are so few. For this reason it is extremely fortunate that masterpieces are not published every day.

In these days of forced reading the minds suffer from lack of humidity. Get them on other subjects for a rest and change.

Books that put us in a working mood are seldom, if ever, finished. The mood comes upon us as we read and we lay the book aside to pursue our idea until it is exhausted and then return to the book.

A SPECIAL ASSEMBLY

The program given at the Auditorium last Tuesday morning in commemoration of Washington's birthday was exceptionally fine in every part. Expressions of both student and national life were given by various individuals and groups of the University.

GLENN'S NEWS STAND

The first number on the program was given by the University band and the audience, the selection being "America."

The Colonial minuet was then graceful and artistically executed by Misses Permelia and Gertrude Hays and Messrs. Nusbaum and McDougal, all in colonial costume, under the direction of Miss Stevens.

A solo dance, given by Miss Ann Mullen was beautifully and charmingly done. These dances gave a beautiful picture of the social life of the early days of our nation. The Glee Club delayed its trip to Lewiston long enough to render three songs which were greatly appreciated.

The humor for the program was furnished by a clever little skit caricaturing the desire of certain state senators and prominent politicians to break up the University and carry away the parts to various towns thruout the state. The comedy contained a lesson concerning the unity of the University that may well be remembered by every voter in the state.

Part of Washington's Farewell Address, the part dealing with foreign affairs, was read and commented upon by President Brannon as being worthy of our consideration in regard to our relationship with the nations of Europe.

Miss Helen Deneké read a short play portraying the social and home life of our first president, a scene that most fitting for presentation on such an occasion.

One of the best addresses of the year and one that was most beneficial as well as appropriate was delivered by Floyd Bowers. Mr. Bowers made an analysis of the character of Geo. Washington enumerating the foundation stories that cause the example of such a character to last for over a century. "The first foundation stone," said Mr. Bowers, "was his mother, who gave him life, shaped his manhood and directed his course, who kept him out of the English navy and gave to the colonies their leader. The next stone was his magnificent ideal and his definite purpose that kept his spirits high and drew men to him, Washington's gracious manner, his faculty of associating and co-operating with men proved that his watchword was "In Union there is strength." Frank and open in nature he won the confidence of his friends, the fear of his enemies. For his eloquent manners and tactful conduct he was respected and honored by all who knew him. In his daily life, Washington realized the value of his time, utilizing every minute in gaining a fund of information that was of great service to him. He had daring and decision, as was shown by his victory after his skilful manner in crossing the Delaware. In his finer nature, Washington had a great ability to appreciate the beautiful and a wonderful purity of mind. The last and one of the greatest of these foundation stones was his executive ability—the ability to co-operate and to seek out and use assistance. Our constitution is an embodiment of his ideals."
 Mr. Bowers, reminded us that by picking up these attributes, by hero worship, we will live better lives and be more useful to our nation. In closing he quoted the familiar lines of Longfellow:

"The lives of great men all remind us We can make our lives sublime And departing leave behind us Footprints on the sands of time." The program was closed by singing the national anthem.

TRIANGULAR DEBATE

In the neighboring state of Washington there is a triangular debate league of which the members are the State University, State College, and Whitman College. Each institution has two teams, one affirmative and one negative. The negative teams always debate away from the home institution. There are three debates, one at each institution. This is the fifth year of the league's existence. The debates were held last week on the following question: "Resolved that a program of military and naval preparation embodying the general features proposed by President Wilson should be adopted." Washington won two debates, W. S. C. won one and lost one, and Whitman lost both.

OVERHEARD UNDER THE SEA
 "Hypocrite!" cried the Swordfish to the Clam.

"Why hypocrite?" retorted the Clam. "You consider yourself the emblem of pacifism, and all the time you and your tribe are engaged in the making of shell!" sneered the Swordfish.

EDUCATIONAL NOTE
 Hokus—Do you think the colleges turn out the best men?

Pokus—Sure, I was turned out in my freshman year.

It is as necessary to hang some men as it is to honor others.

After a man has once occupied a big position, he usually continues to have a big feeling and outlook as long as he lives.

WELL PLEASSED WITH INSPECTION

Adjutant General Crow Back at Boise Speaks Highly of University Cadet Battalion and Commandant Fooks

Capital News, Boise: Adjutant General Crow and Colonel Elmer E. Syms of the governor's staff, are back from a trip to Moscow where they inspected the university cadets and were present at the military exercises. General Crow was enthusiastic when seen today over the showing of the cadets. He declared that from a military standpoint their training has been the very best and the cadets are very efficient in military maneuvers. To Second Lieutenant Herbert C. Fooks, U. S. A., detailed to give military training to the cadets, is this showing due, says General Crow. "Lieutenant Fooks is to be congratulated for the manner in which he has given military training to the cadets," said General Crow. "He has brought efficiency up to a high standard and his methods are very thorough. The military work of the cadets proves that." The cadets are anxious to have a machine gun or artillery from the state or government. They are enthusiastically for the program of preparedness and want military training extended at the university. The government has agreed to furnish the cadets with the regulation olive-drab uniforms and they will soon be received at the 'varsity.

LEHRBAS, STAR PERFORMER

Former University of Idaho Student is Making His Mark in Athletics in Wisconsin University

That Lloyd Lehrbas, son of Deputy Game Warden L. A. Lehrbas of Pocatello, and who was a student at the University of Idaho last year, is making good in athletics and study, in the University of Wisconsin, is voiced in a story transcribed below, taken from the Daily Cardinal, the student daily in the school. It reads: "Four of Wisconsin's 1100 freshmen are rejoicing tonight over winning their numerals. In the annual freshman-sophomore dual track meet yesterday in the gym annex Lloyd Lehrbas, 'Speed' Malacher, Art Wolf, and George Hanson got their '19 for good work for the Frosh. Malacher won the quarter, Wolf got second in the 40-yard dash, and Hanson was awarded the one lap run, while all four made up the victorious Frosh relay team. Young Lehrbas was the star performer in the relay. With a wonderful spurt after a neck and neck race for two laps he won the relay for the first-year men. Time 2:24. Lehrbas has been nicknamed the 'Flying Dutchman' by his team mates and if he keeps up his present pace will be heard from on the varsity next year.

Why Go To "Idaho"

The choice of a university or college to be attended by a student should be based upon four principal requirements: 1st, a high purpose and broad field of work; 2d, a competent faculty; 3d, a sufficient equipment; 4th, a student body of high ideals. The University of Idaho fully satisfies these requirements.

I. Purpose and Field—
Its purpose is to serve the people of Idaho in developing and training students; in advancing the entire State educational system of which it is a part; in assisting toward the solution of economic and social problems; in furnishing expert knowledge in Agriculture, Engineering, Forestry, Home Economics, and Educational matters not only to students in residence but also to all who desire it thruout the State.

II. Faculty—
The faculty is made up of eighty-three teachers of thoro training and efficiency attained by years of study and experience. They are deeply interested in the progress of each and all under their instruction. They know the State and its conditions and give their best efforts to its development. In addition there are fifteen workers in the agricultural extension division and six agricultural county agents.

III. Equipment—
Its equipment is ample. It has a library of over 39,000 volumes, excellent facilities for teaching Literature, Philosophy, and the Social Sciences, and well provided laboratories for the natural and applied sciences.

IV. Students—
Its students, numbering eight hundred and seven in the present school year, 1915-1916, are earnest, wide-awake, and democratic. A large number of them earn their own way. Its alumni now occupy high positions and will be the future leaders of Idaho in professions, the industrial vocations, and in the building and maintenance of homes.

The four colleges and the central agricultural experiment station are located at Moscow; the main agricultural extension office is located at Boise, and the agricultural sub-stations and demonstration farms at Sandpoint, Clagstone, Caldwell, Moscow, Gooding, and Aberdeen.

FROM OTHER COLLEGES

Football carried As a Sideline
The Rhodes Scholarship of both Virginia and Indiana have been awarded to football men.

Yale Athletics Are Bankrupt
Yale athletics are bankrupt, and the athletic authority has been put in the hands of receivers. These receivers are to act as advisors to the corporation until the disagreements between graduate advisors and the administration of the athletic affairs can be settled.

Book Store Drops Project
The project of the Stanford Book Store to supply the houses and clubs on the campus with groceries and supplies has been temporarily dropped because of the unwillingness of some of the houses to join in the undertaking and the difficulty in financing the project at the beginning.

Yale Glee Club
The present season marks the fiftieth year of the founding of the Yale University glee club. The singing has improved steadily until now it is conceded by musicians that Yale has a club which is second to none in the country.

McGill Drops Athletics
McGill University has lost so many students, due to the fact that they are serving in the armies in Europe, that the authorities have decided to discontinue intercollegiate relations for the time being.

Japanese University Is Alive
The University of Tokio with an enrollment of five thousand, fifty buildings and a large department, has been extending its work along such modern lines as engineering, agriculture, and so on. The number of courses offered is much larger than at an American University. Because of this and of the nature of the language the Japanese student is a memorizer rather than a thinker and reasoner. He is a gatherer of information where the adaptation and use of his knowledge to as the American collegian is trained more to practical affairs. The Japanese student, however, is usually far more serious than is the western undergraduate, since in Japan learning has always been an essential element for public leadership among the nation's men.

Largest Athletic Arena
Syracuse University is to have the largest athletic arena in America, its stadium covering six and one-half acres. It will have a normal seating capacity of 20,000, which can be increased to 40,000. The stadium will cover more ground than the famous Yale "bowl."

Co-ed Barber Shop
According to the University of Cincinnati News, co-eds at Northwestern University have opened a barber shop with four chairs, the profits to go toward a new woman's building.

Hamlin Starts Endowment Fund
The students of Hamlin college have established an enviable record. As a starter for the endowment campaign, now under motion there, at a thirty minute chapel exercise the students pledged over thirteen thousand dollars. The faculty followed with four making a total of eighteen thousand dollars from the school for Dr. Kerfoot to use as a working basis in his efforts to raise the required amount.

Song Abolished
"Drink a Highball," and old drinking song of the University of Pennsylvania, has been officially banned under the order of Provost Smith and other university officials, who declares that the song lays Penn open to misunderstanding and is not truly representative of the university.

Prohibition Popular Subject
National prohibition is a favorite topic of intercollegiate debate in the eastern colleges this season. The Amherst-Williams-Wesleyan Triangular uses the question—"that the sale, manufacture, importation and exportation of alcoholic beverages, except for scientific and medicinal purposes, should be prohibited by an amendment to the constitution." This is a stronger statement of national prohibition than that of the Hobson bill now before Congress. Williams follows the triangular in the dual debate with Union on the same question.

Many Enlist
According to the University of Pennsylvania, 600 graduates of that institution are actively engaged in the present European war.

Are You a Low-Brow?
Pardon the question, but one can't always tell by appearances, you know. Some of us may eat pie with out knives at home and chortle with glee at the antics of Charlie Chaplin, but if we don't do it in polite society, we have a perfectly good alibi.

Likewise, some of us may belong to exclusive clubs devoted to the study of art or literature or music or some of the sciences, and by maintaining an impressive reserve and hiring some student to write our semi-occasional papers for us we may hoodwink the esteemed fellow members for years. Now you, for instance, may talk fluently and beautifully about something the rest of us don't understand, and if you don't slang or shovel your food at the table it never would do to accuse you; but really and truly, cross your heart and hope to die, are you and honest-to-goodness highbrow, or just a low-brow in disguise? Thanks. We just wanted to know.—University Missourian.

Peace Again
California and Stanford universities have resumed athletic relationships after a break of a year.

Engages Purdue Coach
"Andy" Smith, for the past three years coach of the Purdue University football team, will coach the University of California team next fall. His salary will be $4,000 a year.

Whitman Simplified
The faculty of Whitman college recently met for the purpose of considering the adoption of certain rules of the national simplified spelling board. Prof. George H. Stanton, head of the German department at Reed college, Portland and Pacific representative of the national simplified spelling organization, presented the matter in a comprehensive way.

Fire
Morse hall, containing Cornell University's valuable chemical laboratories and scientific equipment has been destroyed by fire. Over 2,500 students will be compelled to rearrange their schedules as every course at Cornell, except that of law, requires the study of chemistry.

He called her Lily, Pansy, Rose, And every other flower that grows. She blushed a rosy red but said: "You sure do Lilac everything."

GOOD ROADS SCHOOL
On Wednesday and Thursday of last week the civil engineering department of the university, in cooperation with the U. S. office of public roads and the Latah county commissioners, held a "Good Roads School." The school was held principally for the benefit of the road overseers of Latah county, but was well attended by farmers and business men. The purpose of the school was to make more efficient the current expenditure of road funds and to stimulate interest in good roads.

The principal speaker was Mr. B. J. Finch, senior highway engineer, U. S. office of public roads and rural engineering. Mr. Finch has had a wide experience in road building and the department was exceedingly fortunate in obtaining a man with such a thorough practical knowledge of the subject.

Mr. Finch opened the school on Wednesday morning with a discussion on "Earth Roads as Built in Forest Reserves." During the two days Mr. Finch delivered papers on construction, maintenance and drainage of earth and gravel roads and a final paper on hard surfaced roads. Dean Little also gave a discussion Wednesday afternoon on "Gravel Roads for Latah County" and Professor Winslow on Thursday afternoon discussed "The Location of Roads." Perhaps the most valuable and instructive part of the school was the presentation of experiences in road building by the different road overseers. Some very interesting information and statistics on itemized costs were obtained from the talks and discussion, by the different overseers.

COLLEGE COMMENT

The following from the Ohio State Lantern seems to "hit the nail on the head" as regards the honor system as it is advocated:
"The honor system forces honest and sincere students to the distasteful and unpleasant task of reporting those who break their word."
"The honor tradition imbues all with the holliness of playing fair, so that those who cheat are soon enough frowned out of the community."
"The honor system puts one upon his word."
"The honor tradition is a moral force which transcends a person's word. It is the soul itself, and needs no oath to bind it."
"We want an honor tradition at the university. It is a noble sentiment. But we need no honor system."
