ARGONAUT REFORM

Elsewhere in this issue we are publishing a news item covering what we hope will before long become an actual reform. If there is any position which a Student Body member may hold that requires, necessitates preparatory work, and special qualifications, that office is the Editorship of the college paper.

It is perhaps, too much to hope for the removal of this position from its political role at any immediate time but it most certainly is a matter for consideration, and should ultimately be accomplished.

"HEC" TO COACH AGAIN

No little astonishment was expressed when it was learned that Clarence Edmundson had accepted the position of track coach at Whitman. When he left Idaho last spring it was with the determination that he was through with college athletics, but the lure of the game cannot be lost in a moment and he will be at it again in a short while.

Whitman has a good man and with anything in the line of creditable material, "Hec" will turn out a good team. He has the confidence of his men, he works with them and he is a coach of high calibre.

CLEAN ATHLETICS

No firmer stand for the benefit of legitimate college athletics has recently been made than that of Harvard University last week. Because of failure in studies Captain-elect Gilman, of the football team, and Boles and Enwright, varsity veterans, and a strong component of the nucleus for next year's eleven, were dismissed from the University.

he broke training before the last game which was finally cancelled. It is actions like these which will bring intercollegiate athletics to a reputation among the varied phases of college education.

INTERESTING COMMUNICATIONS

Last week we published two contributions in the Forum column which were of unusual interest. One, brief and to the point, was the expression of honor, the embodiment of principles of honesty and integrity that most of us are wont to admire but rather unwillingly submit ourselves to.

A GOOD MAN FOR A BIG JOB

The sophomore class is to be commended for its selection of the man who will determine the destiny of the 1918 "Gem of the Mountains." It Mr. Priest they have selected a man who is familiar with a large number of college activities, who has had no inconsiderable amount of experience for the position, and who has the ability to turn out a worthy publication.

If this issue of our weekly seems to be merely a compilation of fillers, you will overlook the fact we know, when you stop to realize that occurrences of note on the campus have been rather rare the last couple of weeks.

THE FORUM

My Dear Aden:-

I have been trying to get a letter off to you ever since I landed here in Oklahoma, but somehow just did not get at it.

I have been watching Idaho in athletics this year and altho she has not won many games, she has done good work when one considers the change in coaching systems.

What are prospects this spring? Seems to me Idaho ought to give a good account of herself in track. I sure am pulling for her. I hope to see her put out a good baseball team, too.

Dean Carlyle is doing wonders here in agriculture. Has gathered and raised some of the finest stock in this country. Had a big show at Oklahoma City last week when the college stuff loomed up in fast company.

Very sincerely J. G. GRIFFITH.

WHAT IS A BLUFFER

"What is a bluffer? Listen. He is the man who goes to class because it is better to bluff than to cut. He is the man who patronizes his professors, affects a scholarly air in the classroom, recites like a man who has ready command of the knowledge of the centuries, and then goes home to tell the boys what a "line" he handed the Prof.

real, hard study. He is the student who rambles through the magazines and books of the library, copies down an article, and hands it in to the rhetoric professor as a piece of original work. The bluffer sleeps peacefully while his 7:40 classes recite and at the end of the week hands in an excuse for sickness.

ARE YOU EDUCATED?

A professor in the University of Chicago told the members of his class that he would consider that man educated who could answer in the affirmative each of the series of questions. The interrogations follow:

- "Has education given you sympathy with all the good causes and made you espouse them?"
"Has it made you public spirited?"
"Has it made you a brother to the weak?"
"Have you learned how to make friends and to keep them?"
"Can you look an honest man or pure woman in the eye?"
"Can you see anything to love in a little child?"
"Will a lonely dog follow you in the street?"
"Can you be high-minded and happy in the meanest druggeries of life?"
"Can you think washing dishes and hoeing corn just as compatible with high thinking as piano playing or golf?"
"Are you good for anything yourself?"
"Can you look out on the world and see anything except dollars and cents?"
"Can you be happy alone?"
"Can you look into a mud puddle by the wayside and see a clear sky?"
"Can you see anything in the puddle but mud?"
"Can you look into the sky at night and see beyond the stars?"
Think over the foregoing questions carefully; there is a word of philosophy and serious thinking connected with each one of them. How about the

FORESTRY NOTES

R. R. McLaughlin, supervisor of the Blackfoot National Forest in Montana, and who has been inspecting the associations of northern Idaho during the last summer in order to make recommendations for the betterment of the different organizations, will arrive Monday, March 20th, and will be here for four or five days.

During Mr. McLaughlin's stay here he will give a series of lectures on fire protection work. These lectures will be illustrated both with charts, pictures, and actual fire fighting apparatus which Mr. McLaughlin brings with him. All persons interested in fire protection are not only invited but urged to attend these lectures.

T. D. Cowan, one of the short-course Foresters, has recently received an offer from the Flathead National Forest of Montana for employment on that forest for the following summer.

AGRICULTURAL NOTES

The Animal Husbandry department just sold a ten months old bull calf to E. Des Voigne of Bonners Ferry.

In cooperation with C. M. Yearington, of the division of Biological Survey U. S. D. A., the University farm has been conducting a campaign against the squirrels of this district, trying out various formulae, which in Mr. Yearington's experience are effective in squirrel eradication.

Mr. Yearington has found the Columbian ground squirrel, which is the one working here, to be the hardest of all to handle. His works here also showed some modification of his formulae necessary in order to obtain the best results. He added more strychnine.

The University of California, thru Professor G. H. True, head of the Animal Husbandry department, has asked the College of Agriculture of the U. of I. to name some of its graduates as candidates for specialists in beef cattle on the state farm located at Davis, California. Several names have been submitted, but as yet no decision has been made.

A request also from the Wyoming

State Farm Board in charge of one of the State Board's irrigation farms north of Cheyenne for the recommendation of a man from the list of graduates from the U. of I. to act as superintendent of this farm.

The recognition received by the Agricultural College must indeed be a slight satisfaction at least for those who have worked so hard in the up-building of the college.

Mr. Wade, County Agriculturist of Lewis county, has sent in a request for assistance from the Agricultural College in holding a meeting at Kamiah Saturday, March 25. He indicated the subjects of farm crops, live stock, and dairying as the ones in which the people are especially interested.

Dean Iddings was in Spokane Wednesday attending the meeting of the board of directors of the Northwest Livestock Show of Lewiston. Matters concerning premium list, hire of secretary, etc., were discussed. After much discussion the board appointed a committee of five to take care of the publicity end of the show, also to make all arrangements for the show of 1916.

The committee consists of three members of the board and two members from the Commercial Club of Lewiston. The board members are R. C. Beach, D. S. Wallace and E. J. Iddings; the Commercial Club members of Lewiston are Messrs H. Herb and Geo. Kincaid. The general sentiment of the meeting was to make the 1916 show bigger, better and stronger than ever before.

Mr. C. M. Yearington gave the Ag. Club a most interesting and instructive lecture on the "Control and Eradication of Rodents" last Wednesday. His complete and thorough talk left nothing untouched. Besides giving the methods of control of rodents, Mr. Yearington gave a very good outline of the work of his division of the U. S. Biological Survey.

Professor N. S. Robb, head of the Farm Corps department, has just published a bulletin, "Field Peas," which is very complete in all respects. In this bulletin Professor Robb takes not only the culture of field peas, but the adaptation of the crop to the climate and soil, the various varieties and where each is best grown, and in short clearly shows the reasons for the less extensive growth of peas and also reasons why it should be more extensively grown. All Ag. Students should read this bulletin for many new ideas may be obtained.

One week from Wednesday the seniors of the Ag. College will hold a mock farmers' institute at 10 o'clock. Farm crops such as peas, clover, etc., will be the main subject. Come and ask questions.

ASSEMBLY

The assembly last week was addressed by Professor Clarke of Lewiston State Normal, on "Folk Ways in Education." In brief he said:

"The Normal at Lewiston is endeavoring to do the same thing in education as the University is in engineering, agriculture and other courses. They endeavor to show the students why and how they should study and apply the principles of education.

"Folk ways, habits and instincts passed down from the earlier ages, control most of the people nowadays. Many of these have secured some very necessary results. In the control of disease the early abhorrence of a leper has been passed from generation to generation and exists even more strongly today. Just so are the people of today endeavoring to build up an abhorrence for a person having tuberculosis and other diseases closely akin.

"The aim of education is to build up new ideas and offset many of the older traditions, to give the students an idea of the higher aims of the larger institutions of learning.

"Many college students have the idea that they are the picked few from the large body of young people of the state which the commonwealth is educating. We should not think ourselves so mentally deficient we need extra training to ably combat with the balance of the population. A democracy cannot support this idea but means that the most promising of the young people are being trained at public expense to make themselves of more value to the community.

"The student from the time he enters the primmer until he finishes high school and many times until he finishes college is compelled to sit in a chair and think just as the teacher does. When he has finished he is expected to be able to shift for himself.

"We say we believe in science, but science has scarcely marked our path today. The only reason is because we have failed to do our duty. We are shirking.

"Be loyal to any type of education which builds up an appreciation of folk ways. The University students must learn these things.

"Our greatest assets are our personal desires, our ambition and our determination. Ambitions are the starting and ending point of education."

"He that willeth to do, Shall know."

Stanford Track Team to go East Leland Stanford will send a team of twelve men east next summer to compete in the intercollegiate track and field championships. There will be dual competition with either Yale or Harvard. This is the first time Stanford has considered making a trip to the east with a track team. Heretofore the men have confined their attention to the middle western conference competition.

DELTA GAMMA BANQUET

The Chapter of Delta Gamma Fraternity held its fifth annual founders' day banquet at Williamson's cafe Saturday March 11.

The decorations were carried out in the fraternity colors, bronze, pink and blue. Satin streamers made a canopy for the flower laden table. The place cards were the fraternity crest in gold and white. Mrs. E. M. Hulme acted as toastmistress. The theme was "Evolution." Those responding were: Miss Helen Denecke, "The Freshman Age;" Miss Velma Spaulding, "The Junior Age;" Miss Naomi Morley, "The Senior Age;" Miss Lillian Skattahoe, "The Coming Age."

Before the banquet the freshmen of Delta Gamma entertained the active members and alumni with an original stunt, consisting of a three act farce with songs and dancing. Those present were: Mrs. E. M. Hulme, Mrs. Earl David, Mrs. W. E. Lee, Misses Margaret Newman, Beryl Johnson, Lillian Skattahoe, Gladys Wiley, Helen Denecke, Marion Wiley, Naomi Morley, Henrietta Safford, Edna Clarke, Lillian Carthers, Velma Spaulding, Irene Gould, Coral Morgan, Helen Bowden, Camille McDaniel, Ruth Taylor, Lois Wells, Ruth Chapman, Doris Morley, Cora Mae Jones, Doris Gregory, Ruth York, Irene Barr, Anna Gindeman, Dorothy Addy, Lillian Sample, Ester Pearson and Ann McMonigle.

CHI DELTA PHI ENTERTAINED

Delta Gamma sorority gave a St. Patrick's day luncheon in honor of Chi Delta Phi last Saturday.

Shamrocks, streamers, and pipes decorated the house prettily. Irish potatoes made unique candle sticks for the green shaded lights in the center of the small tables. Tiny green flags added to the gayness of the scene. The place cards were small oars, the Chi Delta Phi emblem in green and white.

During the luncheon an Irish musical program was given. Those present were: Misses Mary McClenahan, Ethal Richmond, Beulah Carey, Bertha Povey, Olive Merritt, Frances Mock, Margaret Rawlings, Eleanor Wilson, Maynee Stapleton, Lyle Turner, Adella Basset, Ada Povey, Antonette Shott, Grace Darling, Venna Patterson and Flora Loomis.

IDAHO COURSE LAUDED

Idaho has come in for its share of praise in an address recently delivered to the Syracuse College of Forestry by C. S. Kellogg, secretary of the National Lumbermen's Association.

Mr. Kellogg, after a discussion of the great value of the lumber industry to this country, in which he showed how over $1,500,000 wage earners were affected directly or indirectly, closed by commending the Idaho Forestry School for inaugurating the lumbermen's course. He expressed himself as being confident that men prepared by the training outlined in that course will be able to materially help the lumber industry in the future.

ARGONAUT STAFF MEETING

A week ago Sunday evening the majority of the members of the Argonaut staff met at the Beta house for an informal discussion of immediate journalistic problems. An effort is being put forward toward the establishment of the Argonaut on a bi-weekly basis, the change to take place at the beginning of the next college year. The foundation was laid toward the inauguration of a movement to take the selection of Argonaut elective staff officers out of politics, providing for their election by some means whereby the men best qualified for the positions might get them.

The next meeting of the Argonaut staff will be held next Sunday evening at the Sigma Nu House at 7:30 p. m. These informal gatherings and discussions are entertaining as well as instructive and every staff member should endeavor to be present.

An efficiency expert and a rampant individualist met the other day and shelled each other for four hours. Several indolent bystanders were edified, but otherwise no damage was done.

Drill at Stanford

As the result of a spontaneous meeting held recently at which over thirty-five students were present, it is possible that voluntary drill may be introduced at Stanford. Chancellor Jordan and President Wilbur are both reported as favoring the move.

Disastrous Fire

Irreparable loss to the Michigan Agricultural College was brought about by fire on Sunday, March 5th, when its engineering building, which was erected in 1906-7, with the individual apparatus, notes, books and memoranda, was destroyed.

A Nice Offer

A Mayville, Wis., girl offered $10,000 to the authorities of Lawrence College for a girls' dormitory. She made a good impression and the offer was accepted. It later turned out that the offer was nothing less than a magnificent bluff, that "Miss Alice Miller" was a well known professional shop-lifter and check forger, and that to the Milwaukee police she was known by the mild scented alias of "Kerosene Alice."

Burn Green Caps

As a substitute for the famous "Tank" scrap at Purdue, a cap burning fete is to be held. On a certain night the freshmen will attempt to burn their green caps, which celebration the sophomores will endeavor to prevent.

Failures in Rhodes Examinations

In the examination of candidates in the United States for Rhodes Scholarships last October 5 and 6, 158 men offered themselves. Only 26 passed the whole examination, 41 past in Latin and mathematics and so became eligible for election, subject to passing in Greek before entering the University of Oxford, and 91 failed to satisfy the examiners. The per cent total of failures was thus about fifty-eight.

Few Colonials at Oxford

There are only eighteen colonial scholars at the University of Oxford, England. Of these five have obtained or applied for commissions, 4 are unable to serve for reason of health or defective eyesight, and 6 who are pursuing a medical course, are advised to continue this work at the University. Up to the present time 167 scholars and ex-scholars at the University have enlisted.

Plan for Celebration

An elaborate celebration is planned for next October in honor of the two hundredth anniversary of the coming of Yale to New Haven from Saybrook and the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the School of Fine Arts. One of the most notable pageants in history will be staged in the Yale Bowl which, it is hoped, will be filled to its capacity.

The Richest College

Oberlin may now claim to be the richest college in the world, owing to an endowment recently donated it of the modest sum of $300,000,000. The alumnus who made the gift became rich through the discovery of the modern method of extracting aluminum from its ores.

Utah Has Championship Team

The University of Utah basketball team last week the amateur championship of the United States when they defeated the Illinois Athletic club at the University of Chicago. The game was close and hotly contested.

Nevada Abolishes Baseball

Attributing the action to the lack of support given the pastime by members of the Student Body and to extreme competition with professional teams, the University of Nevada has abolished baseball. Following this action, immediate agitation for the abolition of all-intercollegiate athletics became acute. Nothing has yet materialized from this agitation.

Mahan to Coach California

Edward Mahan, the famous Harvard halfback, will serve as assistant coach at the University of California next year.

Wisconsin Sports Probed

Athletics at the University of Wisconsin have been subjected to a rigid investigation by a regents' committee and their report will probably determine the fate of intercollegiate sport at the Badger institution. Authorities there are in favor of the abolition of intercollegiate athletics.

Feminine Impersonation

Members of the Yale Dramatic association are forbidden by Dean Jones to impersonate female characters for more than one year in succession. Dean Jones believes that continued impersonation of feminine roles tends to make men effeminate.

"Too Proud to Cheat"

A committee at Ohio State University has started a campaign against "cribbing" at examinations. Publicity is the committee's chief method. Here are some of the slogans that were submitted to it:

"A man is too proud to cheat."
"Honor—first, last, always."
"Cribbing murders manhood. Are you an assassin?"
"Cribbing is for infants; quit rocking the crib."
"Better be held for downs than cheat for a forward pass."

"Baldies" Form Club

The "baldies" of the University of Minnesota have formed a club, in which the qualification for membership is "three square inches of cleared forest on the candidate's block."

Brown Wants Sports Back

Over half the under-graduate body at Brown has signed a petition asking that basketball be restored as an intercollegiate sport.

Study of Gaelic Revived

Classes have just been organized at Columbia for the study of Gaelic, and it is reported a large number of students of Irish descent have enrolled. The course is a result of a movement to revive the study of this ancient language.

A Real College Man

The characteristics of a "real" college man have always been a favorite topic for discussion. Opinions ventured on this score have been wide and varied, and the question has never been fully settled. It has remained for the Harvard Lampoon to come forth with the first codified set of rules. These were published in a recent issue, and are quoted here:

1. All heroes are named Jack, Stanley or Dick.
2. All college men wear sweaters, always smoke short, fat bowled pipes.
3. There is always a "Fatty" who is a funny fellow.
4. Any four college men make a quartet, which can sing "Merhilee, we rohull alonung" at any time.
5. All college men are wooing a girl named Dorothy or Betty, who is "sweet and pure as an angel."
6. All college men address each other as "old hoss."
7. College men never study, but spend their time in tossing repartee back and forth.
8. All college rooms are adorned with pennants.
9. All college men call their fathers "Pater" and speak of the "honor of the dear old school" in a husky voice."

Runs Five Miles

A pedometer worn by a referee indicated that he had run five miles in a game between Northwestern and Chicago basketball teams.
