IDAHO ROCKS COME THROUGH ANNUAL INSPECTION WITH FLYING COLORS

Federal Inspector Puts Battalion Through Its Paces on Campus Saturday Afternoon

BAND GETS HIGH PRAISE Favorable Report Will Be Certain Result of Hard Work Done by Officers and Men.

The annual federal inspection of the University of Idaho Cadet Battalion took place on the Campus Saturday morning, Major Smith of the coast artillery being the inspecting officer. Due to a jumble in dates the inspector arrived almost a week earlier than he had been expected, and in view of this fact, the showing of the battalion was all the more remarkable.

Word was received at the office of the commandant Friday evening that Major Smith would be here the next day to inspect the battalion, and accordingly, word was sent to all who could be reached, that the battalion would assemble Saturday morning at eight for preliminary drill and cleaning of equipment.

Under the direction of Sergeant Abendroth, the equipment was quickly put in shape for inspection and the battalion was then taken out on the campus for an hour's strenuous drill in both close and extended order. After the drill, Captain Cummings addressed the men, telling them of the rules of the inspection which they would be expected to observe, and some of the questions which they would probably be asked.

The battalion was then dismissed, and formed again at 1:00 p. m. in Lewis court. The two companies and the band went through the ceremony of parade and review before Major Smith, and then followed the actual inspection of arms and equipment. Everything was found to be in excellent condition, and the good appearance of the men in their clean and neatly pressed uniforms impressed the inspecting officer very favorably. Each man was asked a few questions dealing with military work.

Company A was put through a bayonet drill, and B company gave an exhibition of extended order drill next when the battalion was called together and the inspector gave a short talk on the value of military training.

He mentioned especially the wonderful improvement in the condition of the Idaho battalion over last year, the drill, condition of equipment, the carriage of the men and the efficiency of instruction all coming in for a share of praise. The highest praise of all was given the band, when Major Smith said that it was the best that he had inspected during the present tour which has included the Universities of Washington and Oregon and Washington State college. The whole Idaho organization, he said, was equal to any in the northwest.

Captain Cummings said, "Of one thing we may be positive, there will be no unfavorable report turned in this year. The very fact that the inspection was short is conclusive proof that the battalion made a satisfactory impression. The battalion, after the first slight demoralization caused by the radical change of systems, has done excellent work all year."

LEWIS MUCH IN DEMAND FOR COMMENCEMENT TALKS

Ten Engagements Will Keep Popular Instructor on the Jump Most of This Month

Professor Lewis of the department of economics is scheduled to deliver a large number of commencement addresses at different high schools throughout the state. On the 9th of May he speaks at Rupert, Burley, the 10th, Filer, the 11th, Heyburn, the 12th, Wendell, the 15th, Aberdeen, the 17th, or 19th, Buhl the 18th. Fairview high school is also requesting a date. The 25th he will appear at Genesee and jump to Wardner-Kellogg June 1st. His subject will be the civic responsibilities of the graduates, their duties and opportunities in improving conditions in communities where they live.

SENIORS SNEAK AND JOY IS UNCONFINED FRIDAY

"Wodsy" and "Sister" Gail Act as Most Efficient Chaperones On Annual Trip

The annual sneak party of the Senior Class was "snuk" last Friday. Some thirty-five of the members of the Senior Class congregated at the Inland depot in the morning and they all took the early train to Viola, from where the party walked up into the mountains. The day was spent in true picnic fashion and at noon a lunch was eaten, which had as the piece d' resistance the usual and inevitable "winnie", served a la mode on willow sticks. Some of the snap shots of the trip show certain members of the faculty, commonly supposed to be very sedate, in rather undignified attitudes, but it all goes to show that the sneak party was sure SOME sneak. To make perfect the day, a dance was held in the Guild hall in the evening.

LAST CHANCE TO GET A COPY OF 1918 ANNUAL!

Editorial Work on Book Completed and Publication Will Be Not Later Than May 25th.

The last of the copy for the 1918 Gem of the Mountains went to the printer this week and the work of printing the book will begin in a short time. It will be a hummer, according to the editor and any Idaho student who fails to order a book in advance will regret it, for there will positively be no extra copies, and unless the book is ordered before printing starts, it will be impossible to get a copy. Ralph Largent can be communicated with at the Co-op Club, Phone 39-J. Phone your order in to him.

WILSON READS HISTORIC PAPER

Extracts of Masterful Address of President Before Congress on War Situation

On the 3rd of February last I officially laid before you the extraordinary announcement of the Imperial German Government that on and after the first day of February it was its purpose to put aside all restraints of law or of humanity and use its submarines to sink every vessel that sought to approach either the ports of Great Britain and Ireland or the western coasts of Europe or any of the ports controlled by the enemies of Germany within the Mediterranean. That had seemed to be the object of the German submarine warfare earlier in the war, but since April of last year the Imperial Government had somewhat restrained the commanders of its undersea craft, in conformity with its promise, then given to us, that passenger boats should not be sunk and that due warning would be given to all other vessels which its submarines might seek to destroy, when no resistance was offered or escape attempted, and care taken that their crews were given at least a fair chance to save their lives in their open boats.

This minimum of right the German Government has swept aside, under the plea of retaliation and necessity and because it had no weapons which it could use at sea except these which it is impossible to employ, as it is employing them, without throwing to the wind all scruples of humanity or of respect for the understandings that were supposed to underlie the intercourse of the world. With a profound sense of the solemn and even tragical character of the step I am taking and of the grave responsibilities which it involves, but in unhesitating obedience to what I deem my constitutional duty, I advise that the Congress declare the recent course of the Imperial German Government to be in fact nothing...

BRANNON SAYS THAT SCHOOL WILL NOT CLOSE

President Brannon said yesterday that there was absolutely no truth in the rumor that the University was soon to be closed by the governor. The board of education meets on the 14th of May, but there has been no intention of taking up the matter of closing the school.

Dr. Brannon said, "Please quote me as saying that at the very first instant that we get any definite information in this office in regard to closing of the university, we will telephone the information to all the houses where students congregate. We hope that this will put an end to the foolish rumors that have been going the rounds for the past few weeks, and enable the students to get down to intensive work."

TRACK MEET TO BE AT PULLMAN

Stage for Annual Tangle is Taken From Moscow and Date is Set Ahead a Week

The annual dual track meet between the University and Washington State college will be pulled on the 12th of May at Pullman, according to the latest dope from the office of Hec Edmundson. Both schools have lost or will lose several of their best men but it will be just about an even break as to the number of men lost, so that the meet will be mainly a meet of novices. This has spurred the Freshmen to greater effort in the past few days, and some of them are showing up much better than they did earlier in the season.

There is still considerable doubt as to the awarding of letters for the event, but it is not expected that men competing in this year will be given letters so that it will not count as a year of competition against them in the Conference.

The meet will not be held on the home field but it will be the only intercollegiate meet of the year near Moscow.

Word has been received from Pullman that Idaho Student tickets will be honored, so that the only expense to Idaho students is the carfare over and back.

BURRILL TO FIGHT BUGS IN SOUTHERN HAY LOTS

Department Will Try to Kill Out the Pests Causing Farmers Much Loss Every Year.

Professor A. C. Burrill, station entomologist will leave soon for South Idaho where he will carry on research work on the extermination of several insect pests that have recently made their appearance in the fields of the irrigated section of the state. The clover seed aphid cost the farmers of South Idaho more than a million dollars loss during the past year, and it is intended to find some method of combating this little pest. The grasshopper is also causing considerable damage in the alfalfa fields and while there is a good method of fighting these bugs, it is necessary to educate the farmers in its use.

"WHERE YUH EATIN" NOW IS QUERY HEARD EVERYWHERE

Fraternity Houses' Closing Tables Due to War and Men Rustle Everywhere for Grub.

The quantity of "chow" that may be had for the sum of two bits seems to be the absorbing topic that monopolizes masculine conversation around the campus the last few days. Seldom does one hear of quality, but mostly how much. Because of the departure of so many of the upper classmen for the training camp at San Francisco and the departure of many others for the farm, some of the houses find their membership reduced to a few men. Since it is an economic impossibility to run a table for five or six men, the "brothers" have found themselves shoved out into the cold, cold world to hustle for their own eats as best they may. And this is the reason for the oft repeated discussion of "Where yuh eatin'?"

"Aw, say, them jokes is awful punk," We hear the "critics" say, But goodness; you just ought to see The ones we throw away. —Exponent.

LINDLEY TELLS OF PIONEERS

More Progress in the Past Fifty Years Than In All Previous Recorded History

The lecture of Dr. Lindley of the University of Indiana, last Friday was one of the best things that has come to Idaho this year. The subject of the talk was "Pioneers" and stress was laid on the frontiers remaining today, the external nature, our mind and the external social order.

"The present day civilization," Dr. Lindley said, "is the result of the efforts of millions of men and women of past ages who applied their intellects constructively to changing conditions. One of the most distinguished men of our time has said that there has been more progress in the past fifty years than in the preceding five hundred, but I say that there has been more progress in that period than in all the previous period of recorded history."

"Our knowledge of the earth and its history, when compared with that which must have happened before, is infinitesimal. The minimum estimate of human existence on this globe is but a quarter of a million years. Suppose we represent this on the dial of a clock, allowing one hour to represent 20,000 years. Do you realize that it is not until half past eleven that we have even the slightest record? Twenty minutes ago, on our clock, Egypt and Assyria were in the height of power. Seven minutes ago Greece and Rome were in the full splendor of their power and it was but thirty seconds ago that steam was harnessed. What has brought about these changes? It is not because modern men have greater brains than those of the early members of the race, for scientists have unearthed the skulls of prehistoric men with brains as large as those of the modern man. The slow emergence of man from the darkness of the prehistoric was retarded because the ancient man could not apply his intelligence constructively. This is the only fundamental difference between man and animals and when a man loses this faculty he is dead to all intents and purposes."

"You Freshmen of the University of Idaho have a greater fund of knowledge than the most learned man of four centuries ago. Your possibilities are unlimited. It was only fifty years ago that the most prominent scientist of France declared that the physicists were beating against a solid wall; that there was nothing new to be discovered. But he was scarcely cold in his grave before radio-activity was discovered. "The second frontier is that of our own brain. The human brain, when rightly trained is a limitless source of energy. When one considers that the average man uses less than 10 per cent of the total force of his brain, and when we consider the tremendous amount that has been accomplished with this low application, we begin to have some appreciation of the possibilities. To me, the most wonderful discovery of the age is the discovery of control over the mind. Directive psychology is beginning to realize the inherent fault of our old methods of education, where initiative has been systematically ground out, except in the two extremities, the kindergarten and the graduate research school."

"The third frontier of the present is that of the external social order, whose resources have scarcely been... (Continued on Last Page)

ARGONAUT FINANCE BEST OF A. S. U. I. ACTIVITIES

Glee Club and Debate Both in the Hole But College Paper Pays Old Debts

The Argonaut has been a most successful business venture this year. Just before leaving for Presidio, Business Manager Charles Owens, handed in an account of his stewardship which shows $176 on the credit side, the largest balance in several years. It is expected that by the end of the year it will have paid off all outstanding obligations, including the loan of $100 from the Athletic Association, which was made two years ago. Other activities of the A. S. U. I. have not paid as well. Debate finished 90 simolcons to the bad, and the Glee Club also has a deficit. Provision for this last will be made by Manager Harold King, who succeeded Vernon Henry.

FIRST PRAY WITH W. S. C. AT PULLMAN ON MAY 8th.

Return Game at Moscow Next Day—Both Teams Crippled With Loss of Veteran Players.

The first Washington State-Idaho ball game has been scheduled for May 8th at Pullman with a return game here the next day. Two more games will be scheduled later, and it is quite possible that a fifth and sixth game will be arranged for when the available dates are settled.

The Pullman aggregation has lost several of their mainstays, but that is just the fix of Bleamaster's pets. Idaho has lost or will lose within a week, several of the old standby players and the ball games like the track meet will be novice games.

WHITMAN PREXY AT ASSEMBLY

Critical Faculty of American College Students Paralyzed—America Must Awaken to Progress

President Penrose of Whitman college addressed the assembly of last week, on "Pointers of Preparedness." The university band opened the assembly with two selections, "Gems from Overtures" and "Royal Trumpeters March."

In opening his address, President Penrose paid tribute to Dr. Brannon and expressed the common regret of all friends of the university at his leaving. President Penrose took as his theme some points of preparedness that are very likely to be overlooked in our rush to the more obvious phases of preparedness. "The two principal phases of preparedness," he said, "are thought and action and they should always go hand in hand. In the fields of thought and action, there is equal opportunity for both men and women to contribute helpfulness. The best that we can do for preparedness is to endeavor to bring about the happy union of these things. Thought without action is only a dream and in our present crisis we are prone to over look thought and be content with the idea that action alone is adequate. It is the function of college men and women to preserve the balance between action and thought. "College people should be critics. As a rule they are too complacent, they do not assume mental aloofness and criticize life and the civilization that is around them in a constructive way. H. G. Wells, the author, never had the paralyzing influence of a college education. He was hated because he was dissatisfied with civilization, but a civilization that doesn't have its critic is marked for a speedy passage. At the outbreak of the present war, we saw all our old defenses being torn down, fortifications became obsolete and new methods had to be devised. It was constructive criticism that accomplished this. And this criticism should be carried into all classes."

Loss of Game at Missoula Avenged Now With 8-4 and 6-3 Scores on Friday and Saturday

GAMES NEVER IN DANGER

Barger, Rettig and Brashears Prove Invincible Trio—Chick Evans Shows Some Class

For once the predictions of the Argonaut sports writer proved to be the right hunch, and Idaho did trim the Bruins twice last week. The first game closed with the score standing 8-4 in favor of Idaho, while the second showed 6 for Idaho while Montana was a close second with 3.

Bunt Brashears climbed the mound for Idaho in the first session and pitched a good game of ball, allowing but four hits and retiring 18 of the Montana huskies to the bench via the knockout route. The hits that he did allow were widely scattered, the three bagger that Reardon cornered in the eighth inning cleaning the bases and making Montana's scores. Idaho was somewhat more free with the offerings of the gentleman from Montana and managed to corral 12 safe taps.

In the second game Nissen sent in his star right handed pitcher to attempt to split the series with Idaho. Rettig pitched for Idaho, and seemed to have things very much his own way during the greater part of the game. Two errors on the part of the infield filled the bases, allowing Montana's scores. The second game was marked by heavy hitting on the part of Blea's pets together with a brand of fielding that is much better than any seen at Idaho for some time. Captain Barger led the field with his hitting, batting better than .350. Charley Gray seemed to have a little hard luck connecting with the ball, but he made up in his work in the field. Slim Almquist was very much in evidence as usual and his long reach did a lot to win the games. Anything that comes within a rod of first base is as good as dead. Chick Evans has been showing unusually good stuff in the late games. He is a wiz at base stealing and is good with the willow. He got a good double in the first game that started the ball rolling to a winning score.

Idaho will be very much handicapped in the later games by the loss of Captain Barger, Al Blackmer, Nip Nielson and Jim Keane, who will leave in a few days for the officers training camp at San Francisco.

SOPHS AND FROSH CAN GO TO R. O. C. TRAINING CAMP

Latest Word From War Office Puts More Men of Cadet Corps in Eligible List.

Captain Cummings has just received a telegram as the Argonaut goes to press from General McCain to the effect that members of the reserve training corps, meaning Freshmen and Sophomores of the Cadet Battalion of the University, who are over the age of twenty years, and nine months may make application for admission to the training camps of the Reserve Officers Corps at San Francisco. General McCain advised the men who are under the prescribed age limit to stay in school and complete their training here, with the implication that they would be given an opportunity to enter the corps when they become of age.

AT WASHINGTON'S TOMB.

The ceremonies at the tomb of Washington, at Mt. Vernon on Monday last, were of such an impressive character as to awaken emotions of patriotism and friendship between the peoples of Great Britain, France and the United States. The ceremonies were inspired by a wish on the part of those nations, through their commissions, to confer every honor within their power on this country, and to rededicate their united efforts for democracy. The Honorable Arthur James Balfour, foreign minister at the head of the British commission, laid a wreath on the tomb of Washington, signifying a public manifestation of the greatest honor that one great nation can pay to another. When one thinks of Washington as the leader of the revolution that won independence of the thirteen colonies from Great Britain, wresting from her a large part of the present United States, the act takes on a greater significance than would have been the case with a different history. It means the final healing of the breach, spare no sacrifice of service, of formade by the revolution. France, through former Premier Viviani, now minister of justice, and Marshal Joffre, the most popular military character of that country, and idol of the people, showed to the father of the American republic the highest honor within the gift of the French nation, by the placing of a bronze palm leaf on Washington's sarcophagus.

Viewing the event in its entirety it seems to cement three of the greatest nations of the world in bonds of friendship, fraternity and democracy. They are now united and pledged to spare nasacrifice of service, of fortune or of life, in overcoming Germany and her allies, in the kaiser's ambition to conquer the world by military force and to fasten autocratic government upon all nations. The event at Mt. Vernon inspires the highest hopes of the lovers of liberty and augurs the survival of the free and independent states, whose governments are based on the consent of the governed. The aid the United States can give in driving back the German and allied armies across their own borders will be very great, and it is hoped sufficient to accomplish that purpose very soon and end the war.

THE TWO COLONELS

Colonel William J. Bryan is no longer a pacifist, but denounces all such, and advocates the fiercest possible prosecution of the war. He outdoes Colonel Roosevelt in patriotism by offering his services to the president as a private soldier. This offer proves, however, that Bryan like Roosevelt, has an eye out always for publicity. Bryan could easily go to the nearest recruiting sergeant and volunteer as a private, and he would get securely tied. The president does not enlist privates, he appoints generals and colonels. Bryan knows this, Colonel Roosevelt knows it, and he acts on the knowledge by asking for a major general's commission.

As long as we have the two colonels there will be no lack of sensational news for the correspondents in Washington, New York and Florida.

COLLEGE MEN FOUND FILLING NATION'S RESPONSIBLE JOBS

A recent examination of the statistics available at the White House has shown that a very large percentage of the high offices are filled by college men. While it is true that only one per cent of the present population are college graduates, yet this small percentage furnishes 29 of the 51 governors of states and territories, 61 of the 93 United States senators, 272 out of 395 congressmen, and the entire supreme bench. Over 60 per cent of the smaller offices of the nation and the states are filled by college men.

Boston—Some of Radcliffe college's pretty girls are said to be pouting because smoking in the dormitories of the college was prohibited in a general order the other day. The order was issued by the dean of the college and read by several hall mistresses to the student body. The students were given the alternative of either conforming with the rule, or giving up their rooms.

Others of the students are indignant. They repel the suggestion that they smoke. However, it is known that some of the girls indulge at times in a cigarette after meals and perhaps just before bedtime.

Giggles for the most part followed the reading of the order.

"Individually we can never attain a great height without seeing our own blunders and criticising ourselves. It is seldom that we are able to turn the light of humor upon ourselves. Leahey's Heatless Trousers Press Valet Service is a wonderful little wardrobe appliance. It's a Presser, Creaser, Stretcher and Hanger, COMBINED IN ONE, WITHOUT THE USE OF THE HOT IRON that scorches the life out of fabrics, shortens their life, and makes them shiny. It's only a Dollar for a Lifetime Service.

West Pointers Trousers Are Never Shiny

The West Point Cadets are the best uniformed—best dressed men in the army. Their method of pressing is similar to ours. Their trousers are never touched by a hot iron. On parade, people marvel at their uniforms. Their trousers are pressed and creased perfectly, always looking like new and wear longer. A TROUSERS PRESSER, CREASER, STRETCHER AND HANGER ALL IN ONE FOR ONLY $1. BUY YOURS TODAY.

This Wonderful Invention

has revolutionized the entire clothing question for men. By its use you can, IN FIFTEEN MINUTES, secure a knife-edge crease from belt to boot on trousers that at the same time are properly stretched and made absolutely free from wrinkles.

Cut Out Tailor's Bills

Just figure out what it costs to have your trousers pressed twice a week at 15c or 20c a pressing. Then figure the cost of the ne wtrousers you have to get so much oftener than is necessary. In pressing cost alone you save over fifteen times the price of the Leahey Service in a single year—and it's good for a Lifetime Service.

At Home or While Traveling

it is equally indispensable. Takes up no more room in your suitcase than a shirt. Presses your trousers while you are on the trip. Folds up with the trousers in it. It doesn't matter where or how you live or what your occupation is—you ought to have one.

Beta Theta Pi Informal.

On Friday evening the members of Beta Theta Pi entertained at an informal dance in the gymnasium. The clever little programs, decorated with the Beta dragon, had been previously made out, so that everybody proceeded immediately to the business of dancing. Towards the end of the evening each of the guests was presented with a "Beta Dorg," whose bark was decidedly worse than his bite. The little Misses Wallace and Parsons served punch and cake during the evening.

VENUS 10¢ PENCIL

No matter what course you're taking you need this famous pencil!

BECAUSE of the superlative quality of material and workmanship, VENUS is admittedly the finest pencil it is possible to make.

If you like a thick soft lead that marks so that you can read the writing half way across the room, choose the soft degrees 6B—5B 4B.

For short-hand notes or easy writing 3B—2B—B (medium soft) are popular.

For sketching, general writing purposes, etc. HB—F—H—2H (medium) will be desirable.

For drafting, a medium hard pencil gives the best results and you'll like 3H—4H—5H—6H.

For very thin, narrow lines for extremely accurate graphical charts, maps, details, etc., 7H 8H 9H are available.

Look for the distinctive water mark on each of the 17 black degrees and hard and medium copying.

Your professors will confirm these statements as to the merits of VENUS pencils. For sale at the College Book Store.

ing less than war against the Government and people of the United States; that it formally accept the status of belligerent which has thus been thrust upon it; and that it take immediate steps not only to put the country in a more thorough state of defence but also to exert all its power and employ all its resources to bring the government of the German Empire to terms and end the war.

What this will involve is clear. It will involve the utmost practicable co-operation in counsel and action with the governments now at war with Germany.

It will involve the organization and mobilization of all the material resources of the country to supply the materials of war and serve the incidental needs of the nation in the most abundant and yet the most economical and efficient way possible.

It will involve the immediate full equipment of the navy in all respects, but particularly in supplying it with the best means of dealing with the enemy's submarines.

It will involve the immediate addition to the armed forces of the United States, already provided for by law in case of war, of at least 500,000 men, who should, in my opinion, be chosen upon the principle of universal liability to service.

It will involve also, of course, the granting of adequate credits to the government, sustained, I hope, so far as they can equitably be sustained by the present generation, by well conceived taxation.

While we do these things, these momentous things, let us be very clear, and make very clear to all the world, what our motives and our objects are. My own thought has not been driven from its habitual and normal course by the unhappy events of the last two months, and I do not believe that the thought of the nation has been altered or clouded by them.

Neutrality is no longer feasible or desirable where the peace of the world is involved and the freedom of its peoples, and the menace to that peace and freedom lies in the existence of autocratic governments; backed by organized force which is controlled wholly by their will, not by the will of their people. We have seen the last of neutrality in such circumstances.

We have no quarrel with the German people. We have no feeling toward them but one of sympathy and friendship. It was not upon their impulse that their government acted in entering this war. It was not with their previous knowledge or approval. It was a war determined upon as wars used to be determined upon in the old, unhappy days, when peoples were nowhere consulted by their rulers and wars were provoked and waged in the interest of dynasties or of little groups of ambitious men who were accustomed to use their fellow-men as pawns and tools.

One of the things that has served to convince us that the Prussian autocracy was not and could never be our friend is that from the very outset of the present war it has filled our unsuspecting communities, and even our offices of government, with spies and set criminal intrigues everywhere afoot against our national unity of counsel, our peace within and without, our industries and our commerce.

The world must be made safe for democracy. Its peace must be planted upon the tested foundations of political liberty. We have no selfish ends to serve. We desire no conquest, no dominion. We seek no indemnities for ourselves, no material compensation for the sacrifices we shall freely make. We are but one of the champions of the rights of mankind. We shall be satisfied when those rights have been made as secure as the faith and the freedom of nations can make them.

Just because we fight without rancor and without selfish object, seeking nothing for ourselves but what we shall wish to share with all free peoples, we shall, I feel confident, conduct our operations as belligerents without passion and ourselves observe with proud punctilio the principles of right and of fair play we profess to be fighting for.

We are, let me say again the sincere friends of the German people, and shall desire nothing so much as the early re-establishment of intimate relations of mutual advantage between us, however hard it may be for them for the time being to believe that this is spoken from our hearts.

We shall happily still have an opportunity to prove that friendship in our daily attitude and actions toward the millions of men and women of German birth and native sympathy who live among us and share our life. They are most of them as true and loyal Americans as if they had never known any other fealty or allegiance. They will be prompt to stand with us in rebuking and restraining the few who may be of a different mind and purpose.

There are, it may be, many months of fiery trial and sacrifice ahead of us. It is a fearful thing to lead this great, peaceful people into war, into the arms of a cruel and bloodthirsty foe. They are most of them as true and loyal Americans as if they had never known any other fealty or allegiance. They will be prompt to stand with us in rebuking and restraining the few who may be of a different mind and purpose.

But the right is more precious than peace, and we shall fight for the things which we have always carried nearest our hearts—for democracy, for the right of those who submit to authority to have a voice in their own governments, for the rights and liberties of small nations, for a universal dominion of right by such a concert of free peoples as shall bring peace and safety to all nations and make the world itself at last free.

To such a task we can dedicate our lives and our fortunes, everything that we are and everything that we have, with the pride of those who know that the day has come when America is privileged to spend her blood and her might for the principles that gave her birth and happiness and the peace which she has treasured. God helping her, she can do no other.

The University of Utah has instituted compulsory drill for all male students at that institution. They will drill every day and will receive one credit for the work done between the time the regulation went into effect and the end of the second year.

ALL GERMAN MAGAZINES ARE STOPPED BY BOARD

Fear That Subs Help Enemy Closes Source of Information for Idaho Chemists—

An example of misdirected patriotism was recently perpetrated by the state board of examiners. The university had contracted for $96 worth of German periodicals, all of them needed, especially those dealing with chemistry. Thinking that this was giving "aid and comfort to the enemy" the board cancelled the whole order. A reconsideration may be gotten since the magazines were already contracted for but in any event they will have to be repurchased after the war.

The University of Kansas and Oregon Ag. college have already started their spring football practice. This will consist mostly of practice in passing the ball and working out new plays. No scrimmage will be done this spring.

AS TO WASTE

There is danger of too much advice, too much preaching and instruction addressed to people in their duty. Many magazines and newspapers in addition to officials in high places, are sending out lessons embodying acts of commission and of omission that people are expected to do or not to do, almost daily. The American people are intelligent. They are loyal, they love liberty and the precious institutions of this country. All they need is to learn just what is wanted, and they will supply it, or what is not wanted and they will refrain.

Some crazed statistician has given out a statement which is widely published as a fact, that food to the value of $700,000,000 is annually wasted in this country. Who has kept the record? If no record has been kept, how is it ascertained that there has been such great waste of food? We do not believe the statement. It is only guess, and a very poor guess at that, in our opinion. There has been some waste and extravagance among the rich; costly food left over from fashionable banquets has gone to the swill barrel, but among the masses of the people there has been only a small waste, and in the absolute sense no waste at all. What is left from the daily meals of the family as a rule, is fed to domestic animals. The scraps from hotels are emptied by swill gatherers and fed to hogs. There should be less said on the subject.

sounded. The idea of living together in communities of a million souls is essentially a modern idea. Athens and Rome at the height of their power were only villages as compared with the present day metropolis. We are beginning to learn the laws and benefits of combination and co-operative effort. If the United States is to exist as a nation, she must recognize this fact and make use of it. But we must not fall into a rut. We must cultivate spontaneity of thought; we must encourage exploration in new places. If we cease to question but take everything without avail, we have ceased to be human and have descended to the plane of the animal."

The appearance of so many white shoes on the campus brings to mind that old saying of Abe Martin's: "Some girls wear white shoes, and others jes' naturally have big feet."

Why Go To "Idaho"

The choice of a university or college to be attended by a student should be based upon four principal requirements: 1st, a high purpose and broad field of work; 2nd, a competent faculty; 3rd, a sufficient equipment; 4th, a student body of high ideals. The University of Idaho fully satisfies these requirements.

1. Purpose and Field—

Its purpose is to serve the people of Idaho in developing and training students; in advancing the entire State educational system of which it is a part; in assisting toward the solution of economic and social problems; in furnishing expert knowledge in Agriculture, Engineering, Forestry, Home Economic, and Educational matters not only to students in residence but also to all who desire it throughout the State.

2. Faculty—

The faculty is made up of eighty-three teachers of thorough training and efficiency attained by years of study and experience. They are deeply interested in the progress of each and all under their instruction. They know the State and its conditions and give their best efforts to its development. In addition there are fifteen workers in the agricultural extension division and six agricultural county agents.

3. Equipment—

Its equipment is ample. It has a library of over 39,000 volumes, excellent facilities for teaching Literature, Philosophy, and the Social Sciences, and well provided laboratories for the natural and applied sciences.

4. Students—

Its students number one thousand and one in the school year of 1916-1917, and are earnest, wide-awake, and democratic. A large number of them earned their own way. Its alumni now occupy high positions and will be the future leaders of Idaho in professions, the industrial vocations, and in the building and maintenance of homes.

The four colleges and the central agricultural experiment station are located at Moscow; the main agricultural extension office is located at Boise, and the agricultural sub-stations and demonstration farms at Sandpoint, Clagstone, Moscow, Gooding, and Aberdeen.
