

IDAHO'S BATTLING FOOT BALL TEAM TRIUMPHS OVER WHITMAN

Rips Thru Missionaries Line for 16 Points and First Conference Win in Three Years

WHOLE IDAHO TEAM STARS

Entire Aggregation Plays Football, Altho Thompson, Dingle and Breshears Shine Most.

Whitman came into the stadium last Saturday a favorite. Idaho, as usual, had a fighting chance. But the "dope sheet" contained several typographical errors and the Missionaries went down in gory defeat before the blanket fire of the powerful Idaho offensive. Score, 16-0. Thompson, who named the Krupps for the Idaho eleven, was the bright satellite of the big fracas. The burly fullback piled up all of his team's score, consisting of two touchdowns and a goal from placement and in addition punted eight times for an average of 41 yards. Idaho played polished football at all times, holding Whitman for downs on every period except the second, when the Missionaries' advance reached the Silver and Gold one-yard line just before the half ended, robbing Whitman of a probable score. Whitman seemed at a disadvantage while on the offensive, due to the stellar work of the fighting Idaho line and for once the much heralded Missionary pass was ineffective.

The First Half.

The initial period spelled defeat for Whitman when Thompson crashed thru the line, dodged the secondary defense and raced 45 yards to the Whitman eight-yard line. A minute later he was sent smashing off tackle for the first touchdown. He failed to kick goal. Whitman kicked off to "Stev" Ross, who made a sensational return of 38 yards before being halted. Idaho started another march and a 15-yard pass, Breshears to Thompson, placed the ball on the Whitman 45-yard line.

Idaho made first down and then the Silver and Gold eleven was seen to deploy in place kick formation. Standing on the 45-yard yard, Thompson drove the oval between the uprights for the second score. Whitman again kicked to Ross, who made another dashing run back of 29 yards. Whitman held and Thompson punted 45 yards to Botts, who was downed in his tracks by Robinson, the fleet Idaho end. A punting duel ensued between Thompson and Garver in which the former had a decided advantage. Idaho suffered another 101 yard assessment for holding. The college eleven started a near disastrous advance. Botts skirted the right end for eight yards, and the sole complete Whitman pass of 20 yards, Garver to DeGrief, placed the ball on the Idaho 12-yard line. The Whitman backs plunged viciously to overcome the nine-point margin and reached the one-yard line. Here the half ended, probably robbing them of a well earned touchdown.

The Second Half.

In the third quarter "Pip" Dingle recovered a Whitman fumble on the 35-yard line. Thompson hit right tackle for eight yards and on six successive plunges he was sent crashing over the blue line for the final score. Thompson kicked goal. Whitman kicked off to Thompson, who returned 25 yards and then kicked 45 to Garver, who was hit by Goben before taking a step. Garver attempted a pass which landed neatly in "Pip" Dingle's arms. In the next play "Pip," the brainy element of the Idaho team, skirted to left flank for 25 yards, dodging and squirming for every foot. Here Thompson again placed himself in the calcium glare by booting another goal from placement, but this was not added to the official score owing to an Idaho penalty on the same play. The final quarter uncovered a dazzling aerial attack by the Idaho eleven which was started just a minute too late to score another touchdown. Breshears officiated on initial end of the volley, and the former Drake end developed rare ability for handling the forward pass completing four attempts in as many minutes for a total of 70 yards, where the game ended with the ball in Idaho's possession at the Whitman five-yard line.

TURK GERLOUGH MAKES GOOD AT TRAINING CAMP

Former Idaho Football and Track Star Shows Up Well in Camp Lewis Athletics.

"Turk" Gerlough, one of the brightest football and track stars ever graduated from Idaho, is making a strong record in athletics in Camp Lewis, where he is stationed. He has participated in several track meets and always brings home his five points per event for his regiment. In a recent meet he took 440 from a field of fast middle distance men, winning over his closest rival by only four inches.

Gerlough was for four years a member of the varsity football squad and track team. He was one of the fastest half milers who ever ran in the northwest, holding a 1:59.4 mark in the event.

FORMAL GUARD-MOUNT STAGED BY BATTALION

First Time in Many Years Cadets Have Essayed Ceremony This Early in Year.

Idaho's cadet battalion pulled off a formal guard mount last Saturday, much to the edification of the spectators. The whole works was present to participate, and while the events did not move off with military efficiency, the results were gratifying to those in charge, as for many of the ranks it was the first glimpse into the mysteries.

Guard mounting has hitherto been left until spring encampment, but the military department having undergone a renovation, the cadets are being initiated in the fall.

MANY IDAHO MEN STUDENTS TO HEAR MARSHALL FRIDAY

Vice-President of the United States Will Address University Twice This Week-End

Thomas R. Marshall, vice president of the United States, will twice address the university students during his visit to Moscow. The first talk will be given Friday evening in the university auditorium. A charge will be made for this lecture, all proceeds over and above expenses going to the Red Cross.

Saturday at 9 for Students. On Saturday morning at 9 he will address general assembly. All students are urged to be present, as Marshall brings a vital message.

A reception committee, composed of faculty members, have arrangements in charge, and have planned a dinner and reception in his honor, to be held at Ridenbaugh hall, the reception succeeding the dinner. Alexander Presides.

A feature of the lecture is that Governor Alexander will preside. The governor is making a special trip in order to be present. Townspeople will be welcome at both talks.

TWO-BIT MEAL FOR GOVERNORS

Home Ec Departments of University, Normal, Extension Staff and Lewiston H. S. Cooperate.

That a good 25-cent meal is still a possibility, despite war prices, was demonstrated last Thursday when the home economics departments of the university, normal, and Lewiston high school prepared a breakfast for the dignitaries attending the Lewiston Live Stock Show. The meal was prepared for a cost of less than 25 cents per person.

Among those present were the governors of Oregon, Montana and Idaho.

FORESTRY SHORT COURSE OPENS

The five-months course in forestry opened November 1 and according to Dean Miller the registration is very satisfactory. This, he stated, was especially gratifying in view of the heavy drains made upon the timber workers and loggers by the draft and enlistments. Work is going on full blast.

ELDRIDGE GETS CALL TO FRANCE

Dean of University Faculty Summoned by Army "Y" for Duty on French Front; May Leave Soon

One of the biggest surprises in the Y. M. C. A. campaign was the announcement, made last Wednesday at assembly, that Dean Eldridge had received a call from the Army Y. M. C. A. to go to France on active duty. The time of his departure is indefinite, but will probably be within the next month. The term of service will be six or nine months, and may be in one of several branches, working in the huts near the front line trenches, teaching in the "universities," executive work at headquarters, or service in the hospitals. In all of these departments there is great shortage of men, as the different nations are making requests for Y. M. C. A. units for their camps.

Thousands of secretaries must be had, and Dean Eldridge will be but one of many to go. His leave of absence extends to September 1, 1918.

Dean Eldridge has been active in the Y. M. C. A. work at the university, and his going will deprive that organization of its leader and hardest worker.

Mines School Gets Equipment

The Daister Concentrator Company presented to the School of Mines one of their famous concentrating tables. This table will become a part of the new equipment which is being placed in the Metallurgy building. The gift was the result of correspondence initiated last spring by Mr. Varley and Dr. Goodrich.

Faculty Members and Under Graduates Pledge $2742 Total in Forty-Eight Hour Drive

FACULTY GIFTS LARGEST

Unclassified Gifts Rank Next, With Different Organizations Following Closely.

Friday at five the drive of the Army Y. M. C. A. came to a close, with the books showing an over-subscription of 90 per cent. The drive was started at assembly Wednesday morning. President Lindley presided, and Dr. G. W. Knepper of Spokane was the speaker.

In introducing the speaker, Dr. Lindley said: "At the outbreak of the war, one of the German staff predicted that the side who had the best nerves would win. We are organizing to maintain the morale of our armies and also that of our allies, of which Dr. Knepper will speak this morning." He then presented Dr. Knepper.

Knepper Speaks. "Can we realize," said Dr. Knepper, "that already 40,000,000 men have been taken out of the productive activities since the war started, and 10,000,000 have met death—that 12,000,000 men are suffering in broken health and disease, that 6,000,000 men, or three times as many as ever before have participated in any one war, are now in the prison camps of Europe, and among the 32 nations who are now against Germany, $8,000,000,000 worth of property has been destroyed?"

"We are now active participants in this war. Uncle Sam will furnish our boys with ammunition and the bare necessities of life, but the morale and morals of our men must be looked after in another way." Mr. J. R. Mott said that if we could put Y. M. C. A. organizations in the Russia armies their morale would return and a million men would be saved thereby. The Russians can't be blamed for breaking. They have been for two years fighting in mud, with no comforts of home—nothing to read, or no material on which to write a message home.

"Now that they have broken Germany is able to advance her men to the Italian front where the Italians are outnumbered four to one.

"Y. M. C. A. men have already gone into the Siberian camps where 6000 men were huddled together with insufficient food and clothing. They were able to collect 12 books from the surrounding country, and with these books 35 courses were offered. Crude instruments were constructed and orchestras organized. Dentists and doctors were singled out, and, in a word, all the men who possessed ability along any special line were ministering to their fellows. Russia and Italy want these camps.

"I draw to a close with a plea to you to contribute to this work as generously as you are able."

The drive was supervised by Dean Eldridge, assisted by a corps of students. None of the amount collected, which was $2742 (for the 48 hours of the drive), goes to the regular Y. M. C. A. work. Subscriptions are still being received and the fund is expected to pass the $3000 mark.

TOMMY FOR ALL NORTHWEST

"Offside," Sports Writer for S-R., Mentions Idaho Fullback As Strong Possibility.

When Spalding's official football guide comes out next fall, Idaho fans will probably see a familiar name in the list of players composing the all-northwest team. Roy Thompson, line backing fullback is the man, and if his play in the remaining games is on a par with his work in the Oregon, Pullman, and Whitman games, his all N. W. job seems cinched.

Speaking of the Whitman game, "Offside" of the S-R., has this to say of him:

"The contest uncovered a player in Thompson who will have to be given due consideration when it comes to picking the all-northwest team at the close of the season. The Idaho back apparently was a whole team in himself. It was his splendid efforts, more than anything else, which gave the Muscovites the victory."

Only one mistake was made. Pullman discovered him at least one week before.

REST IN PEACE

The fact might as well be faced; the student body is dead. While rumors to the effect have been current, the momentary flash at the Pullman game served to silence them for a space; but the support accorded the team last Saturday showed beyond a doubt that the old Idaho spirit has passed away.

In its place has come a new brand, as spurious as the Billy Sunday type of religion, which is called into fitful existence by a band and yell leaders, and, when these stimuli depart, departs with them.

We talk of the revival of Idaho spirit at the Pullman game. Rot. It was a convenient and easy outlet for a little pent up feeling which convention prevented us from blowing off in the class room or on the street—a cheap emotionalistic debauch.

No more damning proof of its counterfeit nature is needed than the fiasco of the Whitman rally. And the game was worse. The team had a bare fighting chance—it needed support. But only a handful of rooters occupied the stands. "Idaho Fights" did not ring with the indomitable fighting spirit which characterized Idaho rooters a decade ago. It sounded like an apology; an apology for being there at all.

The reason is easily found. Students then were a unit, they were for the welfare of Alma Mater above all. It's different now. We're a dozen little units, scrapping each with each, petty fogging and bickering over such noble ends as who will elect the most class presidents. Loyalty to Idaho pales into insignificance before the momentous question as to how many representatives we get on the committee for the next dance.

We prate of a "bigger and better Idaho." It slips easily off the tongue. But we will never attain that ideal until we realize that the big thing in college life, the one ideal to which we should dedicate our finest loyalty, and best energy, is the welfare of Idaho, and not of our particular group.

Fiat Lux

Some few citizens of the United States have gone war-mad, and are trying to drag the rest with them. They shout "Down with Germany." In hot-headed spurges of patriotism they denounce every viewpoint which includes more than a mere arraignment of the kaiser, as tho the method of downing kaisers was completely formulated and well-tried. Free speech is rapidly being swallowed by sedition and treason until in the average mind there is no difference between the two. One who even attempts to distinguish between them is labelled a traitor.

There is such a force as sedition, and in our indiscriminate haste to stamp it out we have encroached upon the realm of free speech. Under the influence of a few ranting patriots we have reached the point where any opinion that is not immediately subscribed to by the majority is called treason. At all criticism, at all varying beliefs the word "sedition" is hurled as tho it would dispose of them without further comment.

This attempt to beat down with the club arguments that which should be met with reason can not be long successful. It only strengthens the position of those who promote them, and arouses in the minds of those who are most thoroly committed to the war, wonder at the democracy which tries to stifle intelligent criticism.

There will be a reaction to this moral brow beating. We will look upon these ultra-patriots as we look back upon the pillar saints. We may admire them for their sincerity of purpose, but we must realize that in the blind pursuance of their course they did their cause more harm than good.

It is for the university, which should be the stronghold of liberal thought, to make a stand against this bigotry which dumps freedom of speech and independence of thought into the same pot with sedition and treason; which attempts to supplant reason and perspective with the hate and the rash plunging of the mob. We must check this lest by our zealotry we defeat our end.

A Good Job.

The army "Y" campaign was a success. Faculty and students alike subscribed with a generosity which will mean sacrifice. The indications are that students all over the country have well over-subscribed their share of the thirty-five million dollar fund. We at Idaho are glad that we are giving a little to show our appreciation of those that are making the supreme sacrifice.

THE FORUM

Editor-in-Chief The University Argonaut, Moscow, Idaho.

My Dear Sir: Your editorial "Free Speech" appearing in your paper of Tuesday, October 30, was written, I believe, because you are convinced you have "moral courage of a high order to brave the storm of adverse criticism." Now wasn't it?

But you are mistaking courage for something else. With all due respect, it's ignorance that prompted your outburst, isn't it? Do you know that many of our so-called constitutional privileges have been abridged since our country's entry into the war, notably your so-called right of "free speech?" Do you know that the American press has in most part graciously acceded to an abridgment of its freedom of expression and that no editor has questioned the government's rights in the premises? Do you know that this abridgment extends to all publications, university papers included, whether Land Grant or not?

The theory of some of us places La Follette in none of your classifications, but rather as a "domestic enemy." Why not soft pedal on that "courage" stuff when you don't believe it yourself?

I realized I was addressing a group of "intellectually independent" but what I overlooked was an editor who altho probably hardly out of his teens would have the temerity to state with the ultimateness that you do, conclusions fraught with such tremendous two edge possibilities.

Anent your utterances, I am including with this, some excerpts from a resolution passed at the September meeting of the American Bar Association, presented to it by Elihu Root. The lawyers seem to take issue with you, so I, of course, may be excused for doing so. And, then, Mr. Editor, you call me names. I refrain from a like infraction of the decencies of the occasion.

I am wondering if you are a good enough sport to print this in your next issue.

Excerpts referred to:
"We urge the most vigorous possible prosecution of the war with all the strength of men and materials and money which the country can supply. We stand for the speedy despatch of the American army, however raised, to the battle front in Europe, where the armed enemies of our country can be found and fought, and where our own territory can be best defended."

"We condemn all attempts in congress and out of it to hinder and embarrass the government of the United States in carrying on the war with vigor and efficiency.

"Under whatever name of pacifism or technicality such attempts are made, we deem them to be in spirit pro-German and in effect giving aid and comfort to the enemy."

"We declare the foregoing to be overwhelmingly the sentiment of the American Bar."—Resolutions presented by Hon. Elihu Root and passed at September, 1917, meeting of American Bar Association.

Very truly yours,
EDWARD G. ROSENHEIM.

JAZZ ARTICLES

By "Mac."

Capt. Tom Jackson squirmed about on the bench during the Whitman game with a dislocated shoulder. Tom was crazy to get action, and our scrapping captain will be ready to lead the wrecking crew against Montana.

Plastino, Carnahan, Perrine and Hartwell bore up the brunt of the Missionary advance and stuck to the job fighting every minute. Hartwell was injured but kept his post till the pistol roared out the last charge.

"Stew" Ross showed up well, running back two Whitman kickoffs for 62 yards. This is "Stew's" first appearance in the Idaho lineup.

"Pip" Dingle intercepted two passes and ran the team in fine shape against Whitman.

"Brunt" Breshears shot his passes with unerring aim Saturday, completing seven passes for a total of 102 yards.

Speaking of "Mr. Jazz," Sloughfoot" Bentz, the erstwhile captain of the Montana Bruins, had better watch his step when his eleven clashes with the Idaho "wrecking crew" on Turkey day!

"Vic" Pierson, the bulky university tackle, figured prominently in every line shift play. Vic would shift with his man, gradually gathering momentum, and would appear on the left flank just as the ball was snapped. It is a coincidence that Vic stopped half of the Whitman end runs before they were well under way.

Did any one happen to hear Capt. Busch, the Whitman tackle, crooning doleful snatches of "Broken Doll" to a blue-sweated female adherent after the Bleamaster revolution in the stadium last Saturday?

"Hee" sojourned in Pullman last Friday, but some of his pastimers "gummed the cards," so the berated half miler consoled himself by "chumming" with "Blea" during the Whitman fracas.

Idaho attempted 13 passes, an unlucky number, but the superstitious element may be dispelled, for the varsity completed 7 of the 13 for a total 102 yards. Whitman, on the other hand, tried 12 passes, completing one for 20 yards.

Incidentally one "Benton" Bangs of the line plunging fame did not appear in the O. A. G. lineup. "Benton" was A. T. O. after the Idaho game.

D. G.'S ADOPT WAR ORPHAN
Not content with heading the list of contributors to the "Y" fund among the sororities, the Delta Gamma sorority has adopted a war orphan. The orphan is a girl and will write letters to her newly found "mothers."

wages, the expenditure will exceed the original allowance.

The building will contain the metal working shops, carpentry shops, and laboratories for work in mechanical, chemical and electrical engineering, altho the major part of the work in these courses will be carried on in the old building, where the offices and recitation rooms will still remain.

At present the masonry is practically completed and carpenters are at work on the roof.

New equipment will be installed in addition to that being used at present. Part of this equipment will be ready for use within a month, altho it is not expected that the building will be occupied for use before the second semester.

THE BANKER'S SINECURE
 When a banker lends me money I have to pay him five, six or ten per cent interest, perhaps more. When I lend the banker money by depositing it in his bank so that he may invest in various financial enterprises of secured return, he pays me anywhere from nothing to two per cent. When I lend the banker money, I lend him my own money; when the banker lends me money, he lends me some other fellow's money, and not his own. I would like to be a banker!—Ex.

CONVOCATION

At Freshman convocation held last Wednesday, President Lindley delivered his third lecture, the subject being "Will Power." He said in part:

There are three classes of people in the world. First, those who see what needs doing and don't do it. Second, those who see and do it. Third, those who see, and make others cooperate with them in doing it. It is merely a question of will power. But what is will power? It is the ability to put forth effort. Infants are born into this world helpless. But as the child grows he begins to contend with obstacles and he begins to use his will.

Will power is developed by giving undivided attention to the subject in hand, and not worshipping at the shrine of the next thought. The test of will power is, 'Can I hold my mind to this task?'

A supreme effort is a great factor in developing will power. The late Senator Stanford, founder of Leland Stanford Jr. University, who was a great judge of horses, always tested a young horse by putting it to the utmost test of speed and then letting it rest. Just so with our minds. Better five minutes of intense absorbing application to a task than two hours of bleary-eyed mental work.

Dislikes must not influence our choice of courses here at the university. If you do not like a certain subject, get into the atmosphere of people who do. This particular course is the result of years of deep study on the part of learned and experienced men, and a little whim must not interfere with what is good for us. Get a good start and work hard. Don't be discouraged by a little failure. Keep the memory of former successes fresh in your mind. They show what you can do. Think about successful things and you will make a success.

ENGINEERS AND CHEMISTS WILL SOON HAVE NEW HOME

Modern Brick Structure Will Contain Labs for Different Branches of Engineering.

The latest arrival on the campus in the way of buildings is the new shop building which is being constructed directly back of the old School of Mines. The increase in registrations of engineering students, which has taken place the past few years, rendered the old quarters inadequate to efficiently accommodate the number, so the contract for the new structure was let. The building itself is lost to view behind the old building, being located directly in rear of it. The two are separated by an interval of 15 feet, which makes the location of the new structure ideal, as the minimum amount of time will be consumed in getting between laboratories and classes. In preparing the site, quite a little excavation work was necessary.

The building itself will be a one-story brick structure with a floor of concrete. Appropriation for its construction was made by the legislature last spring, but due to the rise in the cost of materials, and the increase in that Idaho has won over these two schools. The scores are as follows: Idaho 2606, Oregon 2570, Washington 2486. In addition Idaho had the two high men. Warren had a score of 605, Ambrose Johnson 552. Two Oregon men tied for second place, with scores of 543. M. Davidson was fourth, with a score of 522.

STOCK JUDGES WIN

Leave for Portland Soon.

The same teams will compete next week at the Pacific International Live Stock Show at Portland.

In addition to the Live Stock Intercollegiate contests the School of Practical Agriculture was represented by C. W. McCullough. G. A. Cowgill, Hall Pentzer, J. O. Rasmussen, and Dewey Patton. This team won over a team representing the Normal School at Lewiston. McCullough was high man in this contest.

The Animal Husbandry Department of the University of Idaho regards the Annual Live Stock Show as a part of the training that it is able to give to the men in the live stock work. The department is represented in the show in many ways, but particularly in two—the exhibiting of live stock and the study by the judging teams and interested students.

The university had on exhibition a carload of fat steers and fat wethers which were highly commended by visitors, and which won champion steer in the college class and grand champion wether over all exhibited. The University of Idaho faculty was represented by Professors J. E. Nordby, T. W. Hickman and E. J. Iddings.
