

INTENSIVE FOOTBALL PRACTICE STARTED

IDAHO HAS GOOD LINEUP—STANDS FIGHTING CHANCE IN MARINE GAME

Football practice was started in earnest on Monday evening of this week, when Lieutenant Meehan put the men through some stiff special practice, 15 minutes of scrimmage and then finished up with two laps around the track. A number of new men also showed up Monday evening.

Intensive Practice for Marine Game.

The object of the intensive practice is to defeat Gonzaga at Spokane next Saturday, and the fighting Marines from Mare Island at Spokane on November 30. The game came so nearly being lost last Saturday on account of the lack of fight in the men that Coach Meehan has decided to drive the grid warriors their best this week.

Marine Lineup.

The Marines have a strong team of former college stars, and have informed the University of Idaho that they will meet any team Idaho sends to meet them. Seven of the regular men in the Marines are former stars on the W. S. C. eleven of 1915. This will make the game have a more personal interest than otherwise.

The Marines carry a 50-piece band with them. The Marine eleven is scheduled to play the Camp Lewis team on Thanksgiving, two days before the Idaho game.

Idaho's Lineup.

Inasmuch as the Marines have informed Lieutenant Meehan they would meet any team Idaho will put out, several former football stars will try for a berth. Lieutenant Kimball, a former University lineman, will be out to help stiffen up the line. Lieutenant Hansen, half back, who won the game last Saturday by intercepting one of Gonzaga's forward passes and racing 40 yards for a touchdown, will be in the lineup. Lieutenant Meehan, star end on the Gonzaga eleven last year, will don a uniform and play his old position in the line. Lieutenant Hale, former backfield man on the Texas University team, will also strengthen the backfield lineup.

Lieutenant Bleamaster says that he will be out to help put the team in shape, and it is probable that the football bug will attack him and he will don a suit against the Marines.

Idaho Has Fighting Chance.

With this lineup and the strong men who are competing for positions, Idaho has a fighting chance to win against the Marines and Idaho is going to put up her old fight, according to Coach Meehan.

"We aren't going to Spokane with any idea that we are licked before hand. The Marines are coming with a reputation made by four press agents and a few good men. We have men on the team that I wouldn't trade for some of their men. We are going to fight to the finish."

Several new men came up from Section B, but it is too early to predict what they will do. However, Lieutenants Meehan and Bleamaster will put the men through some hard practice during the next two weeks.

INFLUENZA ALMOST CHECKED AMONG MEN

CASES AMONG GIRLS VERY MILD—SATURDAY MAY SEE QUARANTINE LIFTED

The influenza has been almost entirely checked among the men of the vocational and S. A. T. C. sections. The six men who were in the A. K. E. hospital were removed to the convalescent hospital Monday and that house was closed as a hospital. There was a total of 13 cases in the Inland Hospital Monday.

Six Cases of Flu Among Girls.

On the other hand, the "flu" made its first appearance among the girls of our group Friday. There are six cases from the Chi Delta Phi house, but all are very mild.

The Goodrich house has been converted into a hospital for the girls; it has advantages in that the downstairs may be used for a convalescent hospital, while the upstairs is in use for the patients who are ill.

This hospital is in charge of a trained nurse and has three other nurses caring for the girls—Mrs. Lyon, Effie Swanson and Esther Thomas.

Two others who have been nursing influenza patients are ill at the girls' hospital—Miss Dorothy Laycor, of the Uni-

TELEGRAM SUGGESTS CHANGES IN S. A. T. C. CURRICULUM

A concrete suggestion of modifications in the S. A. T. C. and vocational studies was received recently in President Lindley's office in a telegram from headquarters.

Not all of the telegram is available for publication; but the gist of it is summed up in this sentence from the telegram: "All military details conflicting with academic exercises will be eliminated."

The whole telegram suggests plans to continue the S. A. T. C. and to adjust it to conditions of peace instead of those of war.

FORMER IDAHO MAN CITED FOR BRAVERY

CAPTAIN MONTAGUE IN HEAVY FIGHTING AT CHATEAU THIERRY IN JUNE

The many friends of Robert M. Montague, captain in the U. S. Marine Corps in France, will be glad to hear that he has been cited for bravery.

When the United States entered the war, Mr. Montague was a junior student in the Civil Engineering department at the University of Idaho. He promptly offered himself as a volunteer, and receiving a commission as second lieutenant, reached France in January of this year.

In Battle of Chateau Thierry.

He has taken part in heavy fighting at Chateau Thierry, where the plunge of the Germans toward Paris was stopped; St. Mihiel and elsewhere and has been promoted twice, now holding the rank of captain.

The citation which is for gallantry in action near Chateau Thierry in June, 1918, has just reached his friends here through a letter from headquarters, U. S. Marine Corps at Washington to Mr. Montague's sister residing at Genesee, Idaho.

Courageous Performance of Duty.

The following is the citation as taken from the division orders: "First Lieut. Robert M. Montague, 6th Mach. Gun Battalion, faithfully performed his duty in a courageous manner under heavy fire during the action incident to the capture of the Bois de Belleau and rendered valuable service in testing for gas at the greatest personal danger. This in June, 1918."

Those who knew Mr. Montague at the University are in no way surprised that he should have earned this honor.

SON OF SERGEANT ABENDROTH GASED—WILL RECOVER

Sergeant Abendroth received a telegram last week stating that his son, Pvt. Wesley M. Abendroth who is with the 1st Division, 18 Engineers in France, had been gassed. The telegram also stated that Private Abendroth would recover.

Sergeant Abendroth is now rejoicing over the prospects of his son's early return home. Private Abendroth is in the 1st Division, and a brother, William H. Abendroth, Jr., is in the Sunset Division. Wm. Jr., is 1st class sergeant in the 116th engineers. Both divisions were mentioned by General March as being the first to be returned from Europe.

RED CROSS DISTRIBUTES MORE SWEATERS TO MEN

A second shipment of Red Cross sweaters was received on Monday of this week, and distributed to the men who did not previously get a sweater.

When the first distribution was made several weeks ago, it was asked that only those men who had no sweaters should apply for them, because the number was limited.

About 75 sweaters were distributed to Section A on Monday. Every man in the S. A. T. C. is now supplied with a new Red Cross sweater.

The sweaters are well knit and warm, and if purchased from a retail store, would cost more than $12 each.

Co. A and Co. B Change Command.

Lieutenant Hanson, who has been in command of A company since it was organized, was relieved from duty with the company on Monday of this week by Lieutenant Frank H. Burlington. Lieutenant Hanson has been assigned as tactical officer.

Lieutenant Baird has been assigned to duty with Section B and Lieutenant Blomquist will also be assigned to duty with Section B as soon as he is able to be out. Lieutenant Blomquist who has been ill with the influenza for the past several weeks, is getting along nicely.

MR. VORIS HERE IN INTERESTS OF Y. M. C.

"Y" BUILDING UNDER WAY—MUCH INTEREST SHOWN IN Y. M. C. A.

Mr. Voris, religious director for the Y. M. C. A., was at the University of Idaho on Friday. He is visiting all the student army training camps on the Pacific coast. Mr. Voris is engaged chiefly in reconstruction work for men taken from France. He is an old friend of President Lindley, having been secretary of Indiana University when President Lindley was on the board there.

Meetings for Bible Study.

As soon as quarantine is lifted Reverend Chaney expects to have special meetings for Bible study. The real, religious program cannot be put on until the Y. M. C. A. hut is finished. Occasional meetings are being held in the Auditorium now. The main thing the religious work is doing now is to interest the men in the local churches.

Y. M. C. A. Building is Started.

Mr. Vogel, secretary of the bureau of construction for all army Y. M. C. A. buildings, was in Moscow on Saturday, and he went over the plans for the U. of I. hut with Dean Angell and Reverend Chaney. The building is already started, the ground having been broken on Friday. At present the foreman, Mr. Wilkenson, three carpenters, and as many men from the Vocational section as can be worked to advantage, are working on the building to rush it to completion as soon as possible. Next week Mr. Vogel and Mr. Martin, who has charge of buying equipment for the building of the hut, will be here.

Building for Section B.

It is planned to open a building downtown next week for Section B men. Reverend Chaney says "The Y. M. C. A. work is opening up well, and all connected with the University and the military department have been very cordial and seen anxious to co-operate. Much interest has been shown by the men; about 100 visited the temporary headquarters in the Administration Building on Saturday morning to secure stationery, etc. We hold a good many personal interviews with the men and are glad to see them at any time."

"B" COMPANY IS INSPECTED

Rifles, Personal Appearance and Quarters of Men Inspected—K. P. Duty for Some.

Last Saturday was inspection day for B company of the collegiate section. The inspection was on the rifles, personal appearance of the men, and of the quarters of the men. It was conducted by Captain Felker and Lieutenant Turner, the latter B company commander.

That the inspection would take place was posted early in the week so that every one might prepare for it. The names of those whose shoes were not shined, or whose clothing did not have the proper attention, were taken and they will probably be assigned to special fatigue duty.

Inspection will be made of one of the companies in Section A each Saturday, alternating between Company A and Company B. Official inspection is an event the S. A. T. C. men look forward to with a great deal of anxiety.

OVERCOATS ARRIVE FOR MEN

Quartermaster Department issues Overcoat to Shivering Men.

Overcoats were issued this week by the quartermaster department of the S. A. T. C. to the men who did not have a civilian overcoat, so that all of the men are now supplied with overcoats. A shipment of 215 was received. The coats were distributed as they were needed to the men of both A and B section.

The overcoats are the regular heavy olive drab army issue. The men who have received them say that the coats come in mighty handy, even now; and the cold weather has not really set in yet.

Another shipment is expected to arrive any day. Overcoats will then be issued to all of the men in the S. A. T. C.

Men Want New Suits.

The men are all very anxious for the suits to arrive. They say the duds they left home with on October first are getting pretty well worn. A number of the men in Section A have purchased serge uniforms. But those who have not already purchased uniforms do not want to do so now with peace so near.

Captain Felker has received no information as to when the new suits will arrive, and when they do come it will be unheralded.

APPORTIONMENT MADE OF STUDENT FUNDS

EXECUTIVE BOARD MEETS FOR DIVIDING FUNDS AMONG ORGANIZATIONS

The Executive Board of Management of the student fund, composed of Roscoe Jones, Ann Glindeman, Boyd Corneillon, Lieutenant Blomquist, Harold Decker, acting during Marie Freehofer's illness, and Professor Lewis met last week to apportion the student fund of the present quarter.

There is $1780.37 in the fund at present. Because there will be no debates this quarter, and very little athletics, it was deemed advisable to apportion the fund in a manner different from the old constitutional apportionment.

Following are the apportionments made by the committee:

Argonaut $150.30
Athletics 399.03
Glee Club 170.48

Permanent Funds Transferred.

The debate committee asked for no money this quarter and stated their willingness to apply the remnant of their last year's fund, an amount of $28.89, to the miscellaneous fund.

A remnant of $8.07 from the graduate manager's fund, which is a subdivision of the athletic fund, was also transferred to the miscellaneous fund, making the latter total $1089.96.

The Glee Club Fund.

A word may be necessary in explanation of the Glee Club fund. In the spring of 1917, when the Glee Club started a tour of south Idaho, the proposition was on a paying basis. The death of Vernon Henry in Boise, however, put an end to the tour and the Glee Club returned to the University $700 in debt. A note for this amount was held by one of the Moscow banks. By an arrangement with the bank the Glee Club fund each year is applied to the note until it is paid. One hundred dollars has been paid on the principal and all accumulated interest up to date, thus consuming the Glee Club fund for this quarter; $225.15 is still due on the note and it is expected that this will be paid by the end of the present college year.

The Miscellaneous Fund.

The miscellaneous fund is going to be used by the board in conjunction with the publicity committee of the faculty and Reverend Chaney, the Y. M. C. A. secretary, to bring something fine in the way of entertainment to the University. Professor Lewis hopes to have some high-class musical entertainments, something good in the way of vaudeville and in the way of a good lecturer or reader this quarter. The committee is already making arrangements with this in view.

Benefits to Students.

In return for the $3.00 contribution each quarter to the student fund, each student receives the Argonaut for the year, admission to all athletic games here, and the W. S. C. game, if one is held, and free admission to all entertainments given under the auspices of the student body.

At the last meeting of the committee provision was also made for students who withdraw from the University. All students who withdraw up to the time that the quarantine is lifted will have their student fee returned to them, provided they present their claim within five days after quarantine is raised.

This provision applies to this quarter only. Hereafter the usual rule will prevail in regard to withdrawals—i. e., that no fee will be returned later than ten days after registration.

FEDERAL AUDITOR PLEASUED WITH S. A. T. C. LOOKS

Francis S. Lamb, federal auditor, spent last week in Moscow, auditing the books of Section B and Section A up to Oct. 15th. Mr. Lamb is investigating all the S. A. T. C. cantonments in an endeavor to arrive at the cost per day of each man enlisted in this section of the service. Mr. Lamb had not compiled the facts concerning the section at Idaho upon his departure Saturday, but said that he would be well satisfied if the conditions prevailing among the S. A. T. C. at Idaho were prevalent among the rest of the camps that he was scheduled to visit.

Clever Dancers Entertain Fans.

An incident that made the girls of the "U" the merriest of merry women was the little dancing episode which took place between the halves of the Idaho-Gonzaga football game last Saturday. White and Morgan of the vocational section gave an astounding, if not an alarming exhibition of the fox trot and one step. Since this little dance was a revival of ancient last year customs, everyone was enthused with the entertainment.

FIRST DEATH IN SECTION A

Frank J. Paterka of Spokane Dies From Pneumonia After Influenza.

Frank J. Paterka, a member of the S. A. T. C. Class A of the University of Idaho, died Saturday, Nov. 16.

He had been ill for a little more than a week. Pneumonia and influenza combined resulted in his death.

His mother was with him until the last.

Frank Paterka, though a Freshman at the University, had won a host of friends on the campus and among the faculty. His personality could not fail to attract and charm all who knew him. In the Alpha Kappa Epsilon fraternity, of which he was a member, he was a great favorite.

Paterka was a graduate of the North Central High School at Spokane, Washington. During his high school course he maintained one of the highest scholastic records ever recorded. He took an active part in class and school affairs.

IDAHO VICTOR OVER GONZAGA'S SQUAD

TEAMS WELL MATCHED—GAME IS HARD-FOUGHT FROM START TO FINISH

Idaho won from Gonzaga by a score of 13 to 4 in the first football game of the season here Saturday.

Lieutenant Hansen saved the day for Idaho in the last quarter when he carried the ball on an intercepted pass 50 yards for a touchdown.

McKiernan of Gonzaga also made a spectacular run of 40 yards for a touchdown early in the game.

The teams were evenly matched and the game was hard fought throughout, although slippery field made a fast game impossible. Coach Meehan says the men did very well considering that they had had only a few night's practice.

A crowd of about a thousand people, including the S. A. T. C. men, who were released from quarantine and many other students and towns people were spectators.

The story of the game:

First Quarter.

Gonzaga won the toss and took the choice of field. Idaho failed to make good on the first kick, but landed the ball in the middle of the field the second time. The ball changed hands rapidly with much fumbling until McKiernan of Gonzaga got the ball for a 40-yard run around end for a touchdown, and then kicked goal. Gonzaga made several forward passes but failed to hold the advantage against Idaho's line smashes. The quarter closed with the ball on the Idaho 30-yard line with the score 7 to 0 for Gonzaga.

Second Quarter.

Idaho got possession of the ball and by a series of line bucks forced Gonzaga to the 1-yard line. They lost the ball here. After a kick by Gonzaga, Idaho again advanced the ball to the 1-yard line and here put Garrity over for a touch down. Bingham failed to kick goal. The ball was returned to the center of the field. Gonzaga revived and pushed the Idaho team to the 5-yard line, but lost the ball and was driven back to the 40-yard line when the half closed. Score—Gonzaga, 7; Idaho, 6.

Third Quarter.

Playing was fast in this quarter. Gonzaga completed several passes but both sides failed to score.

Fourth Quarter.

The ball changed hands rapidly again. Lieutenant Hansen, playing right half for Idaho, intercepted a long pass and carried the ball 52 yards for a touchdown. A relapse followed and Idaho, when defending her own 1-yard line, got the ball only in time to kick it to the middle of the field for the final whistle. Final score—Gonzaga, 7; Idaho, 13.

The lineup and summary are as follows:

WAR WORK DRIVE CLOSES WEDNESDAY

DR. THOS. H. HARPER ADDRESSES ASSEMBLY IN INTERESTS OF DRIVE

Wednesday evening the United War Work campaign will come to a close. The drive was started at an assembly last Wednesday morning. President Lindley presided and Dr. Harper of Spokane was the chief speaker.

Dean Eldridge spoke briefly and to the point about the different organizations represented in this United War Work campaign. Then he introduced Dr. Harper, a "Y" man who has just returned from France.

Praises American Soldiers.

Dr. Harper had the opportunity to talk to several French officers who participated in the battle of Chateau Thierry. They said: "The Americans undoubtedly saved the day. The Germans were bringing up men to be mowed down by the machine guns and the guns were so hot that they had to be deserted by the allies. In the consequent retreat the allied soldiers become discouraged. They advised American officers not to attempt Chateau Thierry. When the American line held and forced back the Germans, the allies took new courage and you all know the outcome."

Tells of Chateau Thierry.

Dr. Harper stayed until train time showing his trophies that he personally had collected from Europe's great battlefields.

Captain Felker and Lieutenant Baird followed Dr. Harper with short talks to the students. Lieutenant Baird has charge of the drive among the S. A. T. C. men.

The drive is supervised by Dean Eldridge, assisted by Dean French and a corps of students. The quarantine has made it hard to get access with town students.

Subscriptions are still being received and the fund is expected to pass the $4000 mark.

UNIVERSITY UNION GIVEN HIGH PRAISE

DEAN ELDRIDGE TELLS OF AMERICAN COLLEGE ASSOCIATION IN PARIS

Dean J. G. Eldridge speaks enthusiastically of the American University Union, established in Paris, of which the University of Idaho is a member. Dean Eldridge in the following interesting interview gives the history of the Union and the work being done:

"When Yale University found that they had five or six thousand students and alumni in the war," said Dean Eldridge, "they decided to send over to Paris to Professor George H. Nettleton of the department of English, getting him to operate a Yale Bureau for their men in the service. Other universities, on learning of this move of Yale University, decided to cooperate and establish bureaus for their institutions. Out of this idea grew the American University Union, which now is comprised of over two hundred of the leading universities and colleges of America.

U. of I. is Member.

"The University of Idaho has been a member for one year, the annual membership fee of one hundred dollars having been voluntarily subscribed by the faculty. Membership in the Union entitles the members of a university to use all the privileges of the club. When a man's relations or friends want to find out where he is, a letter written to the Union will bring the information wanted, if it is possible at all.

In Heart of Paris.

"The Union occupies a large hotel building in the heart of Paris, eight rue de Richelieu, just off the Avenue Del Opera; the building was formerly the Royal Palace Hotel. The hotel is composed of a lobby, dining room, bed rooms, and a library. At all times it is full of young American officers and soldiers. It is the only place in Europe, perhaps, where military salutes are unknown, for the atmosphere is entirely democratic. In the hotel are many thousands of record books where a man registers; he must put down his university, class, year, and frat, if he has any.

Much has been said about keeping up the morale of the army. This period of quarantine has given to the girls of the University an idea of what this means.

This first few days of quarantine were gladly welcomed. All of the stored-up ideas of parties and stunts were given a chance to show themselves. The seriousness of the situation was not a pleasant thing to consider and the thoughts of this unusual vacation held sway in our minds.

Now after four long weeks of quarantine we are thinking much more seriously of conditions. We understand that health is the first consideration but we are worrying over our college credits and the amount of knowledge we will be able to absorb in this quarter and some of us are forced to consider our father's purse.

Waiting is growing very monotonous but we are not weakening. Even with the flu making inroads among the girls the morale is not breaking up. We know that the time of waiting cannot be much longer and we will stand behind those in authority and see it through to prove that the morale among Idaho's Co-eds is of the very highest type.

The following communication was received from a member of the S. A. T. C.:

"Is the pressure too high? It is none of our business, per haps, as soldiers; but as mere students it is well worth while to ask the question, innocently, and without implication. There is a breaking point. Some men say it is in sight. We don't believe that, but we do wish that some of the authorities would try to live up to some of our schedules—studies, drills and accidents! Every man of us wants to do his hundred per cent best, but * * * * * The great hopes of getting over there are gone. There remains the quarantine, the general discipline, the study and supervised study, and the total absence of recreation and of ordinary social intercourse. But nobody says nothing. We're out for Uncle Sam and don't intend to yelp. We just love doing the impossible. But we don't want to bust!"

An article was published in last week's Argonaut from one of its readers, in which he very frankly expressed his opinion of the paper this year.

As a result of this write-up a number of students and a member of the faculty have sent in article in answer to this criticism. We are printing some of them for your consideration. Names of contributors are withheld by the editor. Contributions follow:

"To the Editor: I am sufficiently interested in our student paper and in the criticism of it appearing in your last issue to venture a word from the faculty point of view about the conduct of the paper. Constructive criticism, as your comment on the letter you printed shows, must always be welcomed. A part of your critic's impatience, however, must be due to ignorance of the conditions under which the paper has so far appeared. It ought to be evident that at the beginning of the year a completely new staff had to be developed out of raw material. The staff of last year, both business and editorial, had either gone to war or were in the S. A. T. C. Volunteers, or draftees, had to sacrifice themselves for the good of the paper and of the University. S. A. T. C. men were largely responsible for the earlier issues; then, as the military work stiffened, girls who had had no previous experience had to do practically all the work. Quarantine would not permit these girls to go down town, secure advertising contracts, get the papers for mailing, read copy and proof, and do the things essential to bringing out a good paper, interesting in news, properly 'silly' in parts, and reflects practically all phases of university activity. The Argonaut must be run for everybody, not merely for your late critic. If I were in control of the staff, I should hesitate, on the evidence of his own letter, to give your critic any place on your staff; good as his intentions may be, I doubt if we should like to see the critic's paper go to the high schools of the state as representative of student quality at the University. Keep on improving and we shall all be proud of you.

"A Member of the Faculty. November 18."

"Moscow, Idaho, November 18, 1918.

"To the Editor of the University Argonaut: I read, last week, the letter printed in the editorial columns of the University paper. To me this letter seems unfair and unjust to the people on the staff who are doing the most in their power to make a real paper of the Argonaut. Any undertaking needs criticism of the right kind. Anyone can tear down, but it takes a person of real mental power to show how all these things may be straightened out. Constructive criticism is the one thing in this world that carries great undertakings to a successful completion.

"This year the university has been in a rather strained condition due first to the fact that nearly all the male students were members of the United States army and were denied the proper time to devote to the paper, and second; the close quarantine of the student body of girls as well as boys made it practically impossible for any meetings to be held where the staff of the paper could get together and discuss the vital things in the make-up of the paper. However, this drawback was overcome almost completely by loyal members of the staff, especially Miss Anderson and the faculty director, Mr. Jameson. To them, too much praise can not be given, for without their unending work the University would have been without a paper during the whole period of the quarantine.

"As I said before constructive criticism is what all undertaking need. It is the students of the University who publish the paper. May I say to those who ask for a reform that they come to the editor and have a talk with her and not only talk, but jump in and do something for the paper. It is easy to sit back and criticize but the test of the man is to show where in a thing is weak and remedy it by supporting it and doing what is in his or her power to make it stronger. "The making of a paper it not up to any one person. I should speak for the student body. The old saying is still true that if you try to please everyone, you will please no one. The world is made up of gloom distributors and chronic cranks, as well as joy distributors and chronic smilers.

"We may say that the University DOES stand for ideals, yes ideals of the highest type. May I ask if any ideals are portrayed in criticising so severely the staff of the college paper because a few seemingly "rotten" verses and "bunk" have been printed? I have yet to be shown where these are to be found.

I cannot improve on the editor's comment in last week's issue. The Argonaut is what YOU make it and if the paper does not come up to your standards it is YOUR fault."

"To the Editor of The Argonaut: In regard to a letter published on the editorial page of the last issue of The Argonaut, I would like to say that such a letter was uncalled for. The only mistake the Argonaut editor made was in the publishing of the letter. Such a poor attempt at being funny or at being deliberately nasty should be tossed into the waste paper basket. If the gentleman had advanced an atom of constructive criticism—but we assume entirely too much, he didn't even come close.

Is the Argonaut reflecting the student life of the University of Idaho or is it a literary review or possibly the New York Times? There is room for improvement. Nothing is perfect. But most assuredly the criticism, advanced by some chronic grouch who had an idle moment and a desire to "splutter ink" is unjust.

It is to be regretted that an Idaho student lacks loyalty to his University paper and has so far descended from the Idaho environment to accentuate his own paucity of finer feeling."

"Dear Editor: I wish to say a few words concerning the letter published in the foregoing issue.

To speak frankly, that letter did

From Reveille at 6 A. M. to Taps at 10 P. M., the University of Idaho is devoted to war service. This does not mean that the colleges of letters and science, agriculture, engineering and law or the schools of mines and forestry have ceased to exist, or that the experiment stations in agriculture, mining and the like have stopped their work; but it does mean that each of these organizations is enlisted for the war as well as for service in the reconstruction period that must inevitably follow it.

VOCATIONAL NOTES

Section B is proud of its two star football players, Garrity and Brigham.

Lieutenant Blomquist is now attached to Section B. He is recovering nicely from an attack of the Flu and will soon be able to report for active duty.

Sergeant Sterling Oakley is holding night classes in automobile ignition work. Sergeant Oakley is an expert in his line and a number have taken advantage of the classes.

Who broke the quarantine rules?

In all probability a number of men will be transferred from Section B to Section A in the near future. The following men who were regular students of the U will be transferred: Top Sergeant Alfred A. Kinney, Sergeants Boyd Brigham, Clayton Keane, Charles Otter, Charles W. Gerlough and Howard L. Hatfield.

A number of other men in the company are eligible for transfer. Those who intend to make the transfer are:

John M. O. Neil, G. T. Woodward, E. A. Evanes, William Miller, Raymond Bell, G. W. Brass, Donald L. Robey, Emmett E. Bauer, Floyd B. Morrison, George Marshall, and J. A. Ziebarth.

Private Sabo almost proved to be a hero one night last week when he discovered a fire in the main barracks. Upon discovering the fire private Sabo immediately notified the sergeants, who were in the rear barracks and in a short time the fire was out, without much ado. A number of the men sleeping within a few paces of the fire were not awakened. The near fire was due to the overheating of a flu. Had private Sabo failed to keep his head and aroused the quarters the situation might have proved serious. As it was the damage was negligible.

Watch your step! Watch your step! Brigadier General Parkinson is on the job as M. P. "Keep a movin', keep a movin', don'tcher know its agin the orders to loiter aroun' on the streets? Here you fellers come out of that confectionery store. What's your name men? Don't give me any fake names, I'm on to you. Report immediately to the barracks and make it snappy, too." Such was the variety of orders that issued forth from the valient M. P. as he patrolled the main streets and by-ways of Moscow and to hear the boys talk there is no doubt but that he was on the job. Section A men and B men fared alike. It was no unusual sight Saturday night to see a man hit down Main street with one side of his face lathered or his hair partly cut or perhaps one shoe shined. The M. P. had caught the poor victim red-handed in the barber shop. He is called "Parky" for short probably because of his active patrol of the city park—(Contributed.)

The M. P. is out of a job now. The quarantine has been placed on both sections again because some of the men failed to observe the quarantine regulations. It is understood that as soon as the names of the offenders is in the hands of the C. O. the quarantine will be lifted. The men will in all probability be turned over to the company for punishment. Oh, Boy, let's get them.

Section B is now entirely free from the Flu. There is not a case of the Flu in the entire company and only a few cases of pneumonia. Sergeant Gerlough says all but eleven Section B men have been discharged from the convalescent ward. 21 Section A men are still in the convalescent ward. In all the situation is well in hand in both sections.

Non-commissioned officers for Section B have been appointed as follows: First sergeant, A. A. Kinney; quartermaster sergeant, George Marshall; mess sergeant, Clarence Wight; duty sergeants, Robert J. Thornton, A. A. Parkinson, John A. Cannon, Roy Fry, Carl Malone, Ronald Molen, Guy E. Reeder, Donald L. Robey, Julius Johannasen, Griffith Williams, Charles Robbins, John Smith, Boyd Brigham, Howard Hatfield, Ralph Kennedy, Sterling Oakley, Gerald Healey, Herman T. Mackay, Earl E. Richey, Robert Rosen, Glenn Stewart, Francis Keane, David R. Ripley, Charles Otter, Edward D. Dalton, Erwin Wicklund, John Reese, Ira Matzdorff.

PHI DELTA THETA BARRACKS NEWS

Corporal Howard, who has been nursing at the hospital during the Flu epidemic, has returned to resume his study and drill and is quartered at the Phi Delta Theta barracks.

A special meeting of the George Washington club of the Phi Delta Theta barracks was held Sunday evening. The object of the meeting was to start again, the activities that characterize the club. It was decided that a dance will be given as soon after the quarantine is lifted as is practical. The exact date has not been set. President Roberts is very enthusiastic over the prospects of the new organization and promises that the general meetings from now on will be full of pep. The following committees were appointed: Literary and dramatics, Schroeder, Tift and Thomas; Athletics, G. W. Ferguson, T. Eldridge and R. Long.

Henry Dorman, Jr., is unable, at the present time, to fill all the invitation cards he has received since he has been upon the campus. He blames the quarantine.

Ted Hege, who has been in the hospital with the Flu is again with his squad at the barracks.

Much needed clothes lines have been erected this week for the airing of bed clothes.

Sunday being the first day after the quarantine was temporarily lifted, found the barracks practically deserted, except for the N. C. O. and R. O., who had to stay with their jobs in spite of the fine day.

Dean Iddings to Give Addresses. Dean Iddings has been invited to attend the Washington State Irrigation association meeting at Yakima, Wash., on December 17 and 18 and to deliver an address on the relation of stock raising to irrigation. He will probably accept the invitation. He has also been invited to attend "farmers, week" at the Montana Agricultural college at Bozeman and deliver a series of lectures there. He will probably attend and speak two days, December 12 and 13.

Y. M. C. A. TO OPEN BIBLE CLASSES

The Y. M. C. A., in connection with the Baptist, Christian, Presbyterian, Methodist Episcopal, and Episcopal churches, are making extensive plans for the student bible classes this year. The courses are being carefully selected and the teachers are being chosen from the University faculty and others who are well prepared to instruct in the advanced biblical studies.

the modified fashion in which they exist at Idaho. He found that at some universities none of the fraternity houses had been taken over. Some universities were allowing the fraternities to live in their houses along with other outsiders and were paying the fraternity at the rate of $1.00 to board and room those living or quartered in the houses. The minimum price paid by any university was seven cents and the highest 20 cents. This was where quartering alone was considered.

Mr. Ferrall saw the first inter-collegiate football game of his trip Saturday when Idaho romped away with a 13 to 7 victory over Gonzaga. Mr. Ferrall took several pictures for the historical collection of the fraternity. One of these was the Marshall tree on the University campus. The picture of the tree planted by the famous brother will be shown at the Phi Gamma Delta Club in New York City.

HEALTH HINTS BY ARMY CAMP WORKER

TELLS HOW TO KEEP THE MEN IN CAMPS FROM BECOMING ILL

The following letter was sent to the editor of the Argonaut by Lieutenant Lyle J. Meehan, with the request that it be published in this issue:

"Dear Sir: I have been working in the Army camps and realize there should be some systematic effort made to keep the boys well, but this seems to be left to his own discussion along the lines mentioned below.

"In most cases a boy's own ability to make up his bed properly and to keep covered properly (especially in the morning hours when it is coldest) seems to be the one thing in life where he displays absolutely no ability.

"I am sure a thorough investigation in each camp would suggest the cause and a means of preventing perhaps one-half of the present low rate of sickness.

"I have been through the bunk house where the boys were sleeping (with the atmosphere such that an overcoat would be comfortable) and saw feet, arms, legs, chests and rumps uncovered, and I am surprised there is not more sickness than there is just from this cause alone.

"This exposure night after night leaves the body a fertile field for any germs that are prevalent.

"I am sure there should be an orderly in each bunk house to see that the boys keep covered properly in the morning hours.

"I would suggest that in cases where three blankets are not enough a boy should be allowed more and that he should be made to understand that the things he needs to keep him well and healthy is not only his privilege to ask for, but his duty.

"I would also suggest that in making his bed at night he lay one-half of the first blanket at the left side of the cot, then the same way on the right side, and so on; then after he has retired on the half of the blanket that are on the cot he can throw the half from the right side over him, then the half from the left, then from the right, and then from the left.

"This makes it nearly impossible for the cold air to get to the body, but I would suggest a still better way would be to let each boy sew up one side and one end of his blankets and tuck one inside the other, this would make it impossible for him to get uncovered.

"Even under these precautions, if the night orderly sees that any certain boy is constantly catching cold his case should be dealt with accordingly.

"I will conclude that the death rate of the Army is low compared with other wars, but why should we stop when thousands of more lives can be saved at such a small cost, and we need our hospitals for the wounded.

"Thanking you for a conscientious study of these facts, I remain yours for the safeguarding of the boy who has given his life for our cause.

"I make this plea for the mothers and sisters at home, who would willingly give their own lives instead.

INFLUENZA ALMOST CHECKED AMONG MEN

Quarantine for Girls Extended.

In order to safeguard the other girls of the campus it was voted at a meeting of the Deans Sunday evening to continue the quarantine for the girls until Tuesday night. This would then afford a period of six days for the development of the influenza among any of the other girls who may have been exposed last week.

At the end of that period, if there is no other development of epidemic among the girls outside of the Chi Delta Phi house, all classes will be opened for the girls on the campus and the girls in town.

The quarantine was again imposed on the men to continue until next Saturday. The quarantine for the men was lifted Saturday of last week and that afternoon and evening found all the stores and shops downtown crowded with University men.

Situation in Moscow Worse.

The situation in town is worse and hence the quarantine was imposed for the mutual benefit of the townspeople and the vocational and S. A. T. C. men. The quarantine will probably be raised permanently Saturday.

Pres. Lindley Praises Townspeople. President Lindley says, regarding the quarantine: "This quarantine is in appreciation of what the town has done for us. It is to take off the strain, for there are not nurses available for us and for the town."

COMMUNICATIONS

not deserve publication. It is to be condemned on four counts. Coming at a time when the publication was crippled on account of quarantine, it was untimely; having used destructive instead of constructive criticism, it was unjust; taking the stand that the Argonaut is a failure, it is untrue; and on top of it all, it was anonymous—a thing unforgivable in a "knock" which was all it was.

In analysis of the paper we will try to see clearly from the tart what it is, what its limitations are, and how best to keep inside those limitations to gain an end. Before going farther let us see what end the paper has so far served and whether the aim has been worth while.

"When the flue came penning us all up in quarantine, being idle, irked with seemingly endless regulations, our morale was very low. The Argonaut unquestionably tried and to no small degree helped the spirits of its readers here at the U. Ask yourself how many of those in quarantine would have enjoyed reading a long article on the 'Aims and Ideals of the U' when they had colds and hungered for the amusements that quarantine denied? Wouldn't they immediately turn to the joke column?

As a paper the Argonaut must be popular. What if it adopted the "Bolshevik policy of throwing the reader's wants to the winds, and turning the paper into a sort of small town literary rag, with all the characteristic harping on subjects that the writers have usually read something about beforehand and that has sounded "deep" to them? If the Argonaut is to have such a "literary" end it is indeed a failure.

The Argonaut must be popular, that is one of its requirements. As students of the U we have contributed little or nothing to OUR paper. We paid no attention to OUR paper till it was delivered to us, then we sat down to criticize the "pink tea stuff" that we found and went on letting George do the writing of OUR paper, not thinking that George, being a society animal, with "Jazz" for a middle name, would contribute only that which he knows—"pink tea mush."

This is a warning. Let us not allow our paper to become one extreme or the other, but stay in the "golden medium." It is in this, like Idaho roads, in wet weather—in the center hard and mush on either side. Sincerity must be our motto. Our paper must be our life—and in our lives there are many sincere jokes as well as sincere poems, and the things that are near to all of us we want expressed.

Let us get behind OUR paper, and give it our virility, the spirit of the West. Let its coming make our readers glad and it will be a worthy representative of the U. of I.

SECRETARY FERRALL VISITS A. K. E.

NATIONAL FRATERNITY SECRETARY HERE TO VISIT ALPHA KAPPA EPSILON

Mr. James Ferrall, the field secretary of Phi Gamma Delta was a campus visitor last Saturday and Sunday. Mr. Ferrall came to the University for the purpose of visiting the local chapter of Alpha Kappa Epsilon. Mr. Ferrall's itinerary started at New York City the fifteenth of September. Since the beginning of his trip Mr. Ferrall has visited nearly all the universities where a chapter of his fraternity is located. The itinerary will end December 23 in New York City.

Mr. Farrell had many interesting experiences on his trip. One of the most amusing was his entrance to a university town on the side where the least number of guards were posted due to the quarantine. A number of times he tangled with the university officials as well as the military officials concerning the fraternities and in most cases came out on top.

He found that only in five of the schools where he stopped, fraternities were not allowed to operate in even
