WASHINGTON STATE GRABS ANNUAL GAME

Idaho Loses to Ancient Rivals 37 to 0—Harvard Yell Contest Is Cancelled.

The twenty-first annual gridiron classic between the Gem Staters and the Cougars ended with the score 37 to 0 in favor of the W. S. C. team. Five touchdowns, four field goals, and Halfback Jenne's drop kick from the 48-yard line were features of the game which was played on a soggy turf, the Idaho eleven fighting against a contrary wind most of the time.

In the second quarter W. S. C. drove deep into Idaho's territory but after reaching the 5-yard line were held for downs by the Idaho line losing the ball. The yellow and white kicked out of danger. W. S. C. again came down the field on end runs but was checked at the same spot when they attempted to pierce the Idaho line. A third time they reached the shadow of the goal posts but could not make yardage on plunges, being forced back by the Idaho linesmen whose fierce resistance at once became a feature of the game. On their fourth drive down the field Gilles went over the line for a touchdown. Hanley kicked goal. Washington's first score came after thirteen minutes of play after a series of end and off tackle plays, Jenne scoring and Hanley kicking goal.

During the first half Idaho was in dangerous territory each time she got the ball and was forced to punt. With the opening of the second "Hutch's" warriors gained the ball and made consistent yardage until a fumble gave the ball to Washington. Whitcomb was used almost constantly by Idaho on the offense and was responsible for the gains made through the opponent's line.

Twenty yards was also nipped on a bullet pass, Breshears to Evans. The ball was lost on downs.

The bad blood between the two schools was reflected in each eleven eager for the offensive and neither side gave up the ball until forced to do so. Coupled with this, both squads were able to make yardage almost consistently against the opponents.

Early in the second half a W. S. C. drive was halted when Platinio stepped into the opponents play and interrupted a forward pass. On the offensive Idaho shone brightly, going 50 yards through the Pullman eleven before they lost the ball on downs.

Fumbles Prove Costly.

Because of the slippery ball, both sides were victims of costly fumbles, which were pardonable because of the wet field.

As the game wore on the Idaho defense stiffened and in the last quarter W. S. C. was held scoreless, Idaho being aided somewhat by replacements made in the Washington lineup.

Idaho's backfield was still suffering from injuries received early in the season. Thompson had his bad knee strained again in the Utah game and was held on the sidelines. Gerlough and Breshears were still nursing injured joints and Breshears also was held back by a strained shoulder in addition to a sprained elbow on his port side.

Harvard Contest Cancelled.

Because neither side was sufficiently prepared, the Harvard yell contest was cancelled. The crowd of students and Moscowites, planning to take in the game, was decimated when it was found impossible to secure a special train, owing to the miners' strike which threatens a severe coal shortage. Valiant support was given to the team, though, by the several hundred enthusiasts who did accompany the team.

Whitcomb was easily the shining light, playing brilliant ball on both the offense and defense. The playing of Nagle, Irving, Gerlough and Platinio was also prominent throughout the game. For W. S. C. Jenne's constant broken field gains stood out, together with good work by Moran.

Cap Fights Break Out. Following the game numerous scraps were started by W. S. C. for possession of Idaho caps. An inventory taken later showed that Idaho "won an easy victory" in these affairs.

FRESHMEN CLEAN UP ON NORTH CENTRAL

"Pip" Dingle's Youngsters Take Grueling Contest From Spokane High.

Idaho Freshmen won a hard fought game from North Central High of Spokane last Friday by a score that resembles that of a baseball game more than one of football. It ended 6 to 3.

In the first part of the game the ball saw-sawed back and forth in the middle of the field but in the second quarter the Spokane team plowed from their 40-yard line to Idaho's 30-yard line, where a drop-kick registered Spokane's 3 points.

Following the next kick-off an exchange of punts took place. Idaho broke loose with a series of passes and end runs, tearing off big gains through the North Central defense, but the visitors finally tightened and the half ended 3 to 0 in favor of Spokane.

Soon after the opening of the second half, Idaho rushed the ball down the field to Spokane's 5-yard line, where "Beanie," one of the many Breshears, plowed through for a touchdown. Idaho failed to kick goal.

Idaho received the kickoff and were held for downs. Taking the ball, North Central worked her way to Idaho's 25-yard line and attempted to kick goal. The ball hit the goal post and rebounded into the field, ruining Spokane's last chance to score. Another drop-kick would have tied the game.

"Babe" Brown, "Huck" Breshears, Patch and Chamberlain played a stellar game for Idaho while Hanley and Martin stood above their Spokane teammates in handling the ball.

The death of President G. A. Axline of the Albion State Normal, marked the passing of a man well known and highly respected in educational circles in Idaho. Mr. Axline had been president of the Albion normal for many years and during this time his interest in and his ability to handle educational problems gained for him a reputation that reached beyond the limits of this state.

Upon receiving word of his demise, the faculty of the University sent a copy of the following message to his family and to the faculty of the Albion State Normal:

"In the death of President G. A. Axline, a well spent life has passed on to a higher service.

"In his long and uninterrupted service as president of the Albion state Normal he has placed Idaho under a heavy debt of gratitude. His loyalty to Idaho's educational ideals and institutions, his sincerity of purpose, and his ready co-operation and counsel in educational problems, won for him well merited esteem.

"His personal qualities no less than his official relationships endeared him to all.

"The faculty of the University wish to express their appreciation of his genuine worth and assure the members of his teaching staff and his bereaved family of their sympathy.

"We know that the heritage of his life and work will remain as a permanent gain to compensate in some slight degree for the loss sustained in his departure.

"In behalf of the faculty of the University of Idaho."

$100,000 STUDENT HOTEL POSSIBLE FOR MOSCOW

EPISCOPAL CHURCH TAKES UP PROJECT OF HOUSING OVERFLOW FROM UNIVERSITY—CHAMBER OF COMMERCE IS AWAKE TO NEED OF MORE ACCOMODATIONS AND MAY GIVE FINANCIAL SUPPORT—SUPPORTERS OPTIMISTIC OVER PROSPECTS.

A $100,000 student's hotel for the students of the University of Idaho is included in the program of the nationwide campaign of the Episcopal church for the improvement of church work and the enlargement of the scope of its endeavors.

When Rev. W. H. Bridge, rector of St. Mark's church, was asked about the project, he said that he was surprised at the announcement being made now, as he had not deemed the project far enough advanced for publicity. He stated that he had been working on the project with the New York headquarters of the national campaign, and had shown the need for such an arrangement here. He said, "Even though the arrangements are being considered and planned, everything is tentative. However, we feel keenly the need of such an arrangement to help care for the students."

"We wish to help our own Episcopal students first, but we wish to help all students. This plan of helping to solve the problem of housing the students as been taken up and is being worked out. Business men with whom I have talked have offered much encouragement."

The proposal will be taken up at a chamber of commerce luncheon today by Rev. Bridge and President Lindley.

W. C. SANDELIUS WINS RHODES SCHOLARSHIP

Moscow Man of Class of '19 Chosen for Three Year Course at Oxford, England.

It was announced yesterday thru the Associated Press that Walter C. Sandelius has been elected as the Rhodes scholar to represent Idaho for the year of 1918. Mr. Sandelius, who graduated last year, stood at the top of his class, having an average of 5.788 for his four year's work.

The Rhodes scholarship to Oxford University, which was suspended during the war, provides for a three-year course in any one of the colleges which the student may select. The annual stipend is three hundred pounds, or about fifteen hundred dollars a year of fifty-two weeks. During this period, twenty-six weeks are spent in study, and twenty-six weeks in vacation.

At present Mr. Sandelius is a member of the high school faculty at Sandpoint, where he is teaching history and economics. He is a native of Moscow. He took an active part in student affairs, being vice-president of the Junior Class, president of the Senior Class, A. S. U. I. secretary and debate manager. Sandelius attended an officers' training school in Texas.

The present method of selection differs somewhat from the original system. At present there is a committee in Massachusetts representative of the Rhodes estate, who select upon recommendation the students to receive the scholarships. In the state there is a committee of four, consisting of the president of the University as chairman, and three Rhodes scholars, who select the student who seems most fitted. The members of the committee who visited the University of Idaho were Professors R. F. Scholz and H. B. Densmore of the University of Washington. McKeen F. Morrow of Boise, who was a member of the committee, was unable to attend the conference.

The selection of a Rhodes scholar occurs two years out of every three. Mr. Sandelius was selected for the year 1918. Idaho will not elect again until the fall of 1920, when two will be selected.

Mr. Sandelius was chosen from four candidates, two from the College of Idaho and two from the University. He had previously passed the contest examination in 1916 but the necessity of examinations is now eliminated.

Mr. Sandelius says: "I intend to continue my course in History and Economics, and will probably register in the Honor School of Modern History, where I will specialize in these subjects."

A debate contract of two years' duration has just been entered into with W. S. C. The contest this year is to be held on December 12. This debate will be a dual with the affirmative teams of both colleges in action on their home rostrums. The question is, "Resolved that the United States should adopt a plan to provide for universal military training." Professor Chenoweth, instructor in debate and coach of the team this year, desires to meet all who intend to turnout Wednesday immediately after assembly in room 108. Competitive tryout is now scheduled for Tuesday evening, November 11, at 7:30 in the auditorium.

The Forestry Club recently adopted uniform dress and will appear on the campus in high boots and stag shirts after the manner of the lumber-jack in the woods.

Edwin Rilteig, '19, is spending a few days visiting in Moscow. He will return in a few days to Missoula, Mont., where he is employed in the Forest Service.

There are only six chapters in the northwest, altho the fraternity has ninety-two chapters. During the war there were several foreign alumni associations. The Paris association is still active and had a representative at the national convention in June.

The local Zeta Chi Alpha was founded in November, 1916. The charter was granted at the last national convention held in Buffalo, N. Y., June 26, 27 and 28. Lyle Colborn was the representative.

Notice.
* An all-college dance will be held next Tuesday evening in the gymnasium in celebration of Armistice Day. All are expected to attend. All service men, whether overseas or not, are requested to attend in uniform, if possible the old, ragged ones which they wore during their actual service. Nab a date, boys and help make it a glorious celebration.

TRAINING QUARTERS WILL BE INSTALLED

Hotel Building Taken Over for Conditioning of Idaho Athletes.

In the future Idaho football, basketball, track and baseball men will be kept at a special training table supervised by the athletic department, in order to keep the men in more perfect condition during the training season.

The quarters will be in the Hotel Inwood building at 101 N. Main street which has been rented by the University solely for training quarters.

These quarters will be opened as soon as necessary remodeling of the building is completed and a cook is employed.

Such an institution has long been needed here as it is considered an inseparable unit in the developing a team, but in the past it has been felt that the expense was too great for a school the size of Idaho to meet.

The building is located a short mile from the university and all men at the training table will be required to walk the distance for their classes and for practice.

Here the coaches will be able to keep careful supervision of their men, to regulate their diet and make sure that the rigid rules of training for the scholastic games are being observed.

Candidates for teams will also sleep at the training quarters and in fact will be almost constantly in touch with the other men and the coaches.

It is a distinct step forward for Idaho to have a training camp, such as is maintained by all leading colleges and universities.

IDAHO DELEGATES TO STUDENT CONVENTION

Hope to Send Ten Men to Des Moines, Iowa, Volunteer Gathering—To Be First of the Year.

The University of Idaho plans to send ten delegates if possible to the Des Moines Student Volunteer Convention, to be held this winter in that city. This will be a new experience for Idaho, and Secretary MacPherson of the Y. M. C. A., who is taking charge of the plan for sending representatives from Idaho, is enthusiastic over the prospects for the success of the idea.

This convention is the eighth International Convention of the Student Volunteer Movement, and is held every four years in some American city of importance. Idaho, along with the other colleges of the west, is allowed only a certain number of delegates who will be sent to Des Moines for the gathering, which will be from December 31 to January 4. At the close of the Inland Empire Students Bible Conference held here last week, the local boards for both the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A. gave their approval to the plan to send Idaho's allotment of ten representatives to the conference. As yet no means of raising the necessary money to defray the expenses of the delegates has been devised, but that matter, it is felt certain by those in charge, will be easily overcome.

Those to be sent on the trip will be, the Y. M. C. A. secretary, one member of the faculty, and four members from each the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A. of the college, yet to be chosen. There is expected to be over seven thousand men and women to be in attendance at the convention, which will be by far the biggest gathering of its kind ever held in this country. The purpose of the gathering together the college men and women from all over the western continent is to consider unitedly the serious conditions in all the countries today, and the problems of evangelizing the non-Christian peoples, and to gain inspiration and a vision of the worldwide missionary responsibilities of our country.

Some of the allotments for neighboring colleges are given below, as are also the previous conferences of the movement held in this country. W. S. C. has been allotted for their quota to be sent to the conference twenty-two delegates; Whitman College, five; University of Washington, fifty-four; University of Oregon, nineteen, and the University of California has the largest allotment of any western college, ninety-seven. The first of these gatherings was held in Cleveland, Ohio, in 1891, only 680 delegates attending. The next convention was held four years later in Detroit, Mich., when 1,325 delegates responded. In 1898 it was again held in Cleveland, 2,221 representatives attending; 1902, Toronto, Canada, had the gathering, 2,957 being the recorded attendance. Nashville, Tenn., was the next in line in 1906, with 5,235 delegates; and then came Rochester, N. Y., in 1910, with 3,747 delegates, and the last of these conventions was held in Kansas City, Mo., in 1914, at which conference were gathered 5,031 men and women.

MONTANA AND IDAHO PLAY HERE SATURDAY

Rejuvenated Varsity Strengthening to Grab Victory From the University of Montana.

Fired with the determination that the balance of the season shall contain nothing but victories for them, the Idaho warriors will meet the Montana aggregation here next Saturday.

In the Pullman game, Idaho is credited with showing up much better than it had in previous contests and this week is expected to show as much improvement over the last one as the preceding one did.

Casualties continue to weaken the Idaho forces. Gowen is limping with an injured leg and stands a poor chance of being on end against Montana. "Tommy" Thompson is still held back from practice on account of a sprained knee and he too will probably adorn the sidelines. The rest of the eleven are going strong and most if not all of them who were injured early in the season will be as good as new.

If the plan of the local committee of the national campaign of the Episcopal church for the extension of church activities work out Moscow will have a student hotel. The need of such an institution is too apparent to make much emphasis necessary. With the rapid growth of the school it becomes each year increasingly difficult to find adequate and proper housing for the students. At present all male students outside of the fraternities are quartered in the hotels and private homes of the city, many of them under unfavorable conditions. Such a hotel as is proposed would furnish the best possible means of caring for the students, at the most convenient cost.

There might be a possible chance for criticism of the project on the grounds that the hotel would be maintained by a particular religious sect, whereas the University, being an institution of the state, is strictly non-sectarian. However, we feel that the crying need which the proposed project will fill is great enough to override any objections along that line. And also, we feel assured that in the event of such an institution being established, the genuine sincerity of the Episcopal church in establishing it would make it impossible for any partiality to be shown. Taken all in all, it seems a good enough proposition to deserve the hearty cooperation of all the students of the University for its realization.

As customary the Frosh built their bonfire Thursday afternoon, stopping work promptly at six p. m. as per schedule (only for some reason wagons loaded with various articles made of wood arrived until far into the night). It was a regular ringtailed dinger of a fire and it not only made a hot blaze but made a lot of people blazing hot which is all good and proper. Somebody always loses a priceless old chicken house or a prize section of fence and promptly goes over the traces which adds to the general effect.

But along with the tradition of the fire are these traditions concerning it. For a long time it has been an unwritten rule that no university property be destroyed.

Unhappily a portion of University board walk found its way toward the fire. It is regrettable, not so much on account of the value of the walk as it should have gone by the board long ago, but because it shows an outcropping of vandalistic notions. Every stick, stone or brick belonging to the University should be sacred to every student regardless of its intrinsic value, and the sooner that that is embedded in the minds of the Frosh, the sooner will we have unlimited support of the student body in building future fires.

CAMPUS ROOMER

Oh, you cute W. S. C. cougars! Who do you suppose fed the darn things anti-fat?

Nothing like getting in good with the girls, tho' the Betas, and fed them apples. Evidently forgot what a tell-a-mess the first apple kicked up. The Kappa Sigs found that their desert was missing after the stampede and the Betas have almost discovered who got the piece of pie by the unearthing of footprints on the staircase.

Another Case for the S. P. C. A. Girls! did you see those great big men over at W. S. C. pulling those two little express wagons around between halves? Weren't you just ashamed of them? And those funny stuffed cats on top of the wagons? The poor things were so thin. It's just too utterly utter to think of such big men mistreating those nice kitties. Almost as bad as the pre-meds.

The Athletic Agitation was a composite picture from life's other side. On first appearance it seemed a friendly gathering of the United Walters and their lady friends. The white kid hand curtains, and the hot-house heritage lent the proper funeral effect and all the grand march lacked was a corpse to pass in review of. The decorations were profuse consisting of two imitation palms, donated for the occasion by the Palace of Sweets as a prize to the punch committee for purchasing the piffing gallons of liquid exhilarator there. Those unlucky enough to inhale a container of the above mentioned juice are still wondering what brand of gasoline substitute was used. Like substitutes, it lacked the kick. The floor was well sanded and anyone in their poled sod busters had difficulty in climbing the hillocks. During the letter men's special the gym suffered from a bad case of pink.

Freshman Queen, on receiving flowers for athletic wrasse: "What's the matter with that guy? I ain't sick."

Fair Co-Ed to Doc Procter, who flashes a role of kopecks from his watch pocket: "Did you rent that with the suit?"

When the week's wash is sent to the laundry, we suggest that the gym floor be included and a shine applied by the Moscow Barber Shop.

Saturday we suffered more difficulty in returning home than any time since prohibition dried up the state. The "bug" resembled a Mormon family on a church picnic. There wasn't even room for Hep Eberle to chew gum, but from some of the "get acquainted" parties, there was plenty of room for talk. However, B. Brigham was the worst damaged, as he was in the baggage room where somebody sat on his trunk and smashed his lid in.

Some wondement has been expressed as to why our noble editor should be in need of the extra 50 per cent of the Argonaut proceeds. Possibly the following monologus overheard in the Long Distance office will throw some light on the subject:

"Hello, Long Distance. - Emmet? - - - Wearing what - - - Oh, pardon me, Miss Ellen Waring. - - - Do you wish it paid here? - - - Very well, I'll call you." We wonder whose birthday it was.

Where was the Yell King queening when the game started last Saturday? She must have given him some jolt from the size of the Gloomy Grouch he arrived with. The personal satisfaction he got out of saying "hell" just naturally paralyzed those two cougars.

Suggestions About the Extreme Delicacy of Asking for Money

Some things are extremely delicate, And among these, I should say, That writing home for money was A diplomatic job—not play. The letter must be carefully begun In a light and jocular vein.

O, tell them of last night's rain, The results of the football game, Anything that shall stall for space. It might be well to mention grades. How everything is well, and place Your results in tabulated form. It looks like business and gets by. Ask of everybody at home, and in town—

About the pigs or Johnny Brown. Then, in a way most casually calm, Bring in the awful not—

That you are most infernally bent— In fact (make it plain) you're broke. The last compass in very small space, Make it brief, but to the point. They'll think you've been frank all along.

This is not guaranteed to bring results, But the author has used it successfully for one year.

(N. B. He just began to try his hand at poetry a short time ago.)

The widely advertised Jazz Band, guaranteed to reduce Pullman to a state of emerald green envy, and warranted to blow on forever, was conspicuous by its absence last Saturday. Music and its power to soothe the savage beast, was particularly necessary when W. S. C. wheeled in her Hell Cats.

Did anyone notice that the W. S. C. Cougars are wearing their tails between their legs at the present writing?

Ever hear of the horn of plenty? Well, Ted Holderman has what we would term "plenty of horn." We went up and asked him to compete in an endurance test, but he got

Idaho in France

Leo W. Schroeder fought with the famous 32nd division in France. He went into the trenches early in June 1918 in Alsace-Lorraine and his division has the distinction of planting the first American flag on German soil. According to the Herald, an American publication in France, the 32nd fought twenty of Germany's best divisions, including the Prussian Guard, on five fronts and did not yield one yard of ground. From Alsace-Lorraine the division moved to Chateau-Thierry where its first objective was the ground upon which Quentin Roosevelt fell. The third engagement was at Soissons, where Schroeder went over the top three times. Twenty-eight men out of a company of 250 remained after the Soissons drive. After a victory with the French here, the division had a rest for ten days before preparing for the final drive in the Argonne forest. The American army's engagements north of Verdun was but three days old when the 32nd went in and for the next three weeks they battled the Boche. On the night of October 16th, Schroeder, with five of his comrades, was lying in a small dugout when a mustard gas shell burst within four feet of them. Gas masks saved them from instant death. After several hours they were rescued and taken to the gas hospital near Verdun. Schroeder was the only one of the six to recover. For weeks he was totally blind and speechless. He was removed to Base Hospital No. 114 at Bordeaux where he remained until Christmas day, when he sailed for America. He received treatment at the Base Hospital at Newport News, Virginia and later at Camp Fremont, California, and received his discharge 1919.

Schroeder is following a course in Agriculture at Idaho this year.

Fred C. (Ted) Erb received his commission as second lieutenant in August, 1917, after attending the first officers training camp at the Presidio. He was assigned to the 363rd Infantry of the 91st (Wild West) division and was promoted to the rank of 1st lieutenant June 15, 1918, shortly before leaving the United States for overseas duty. His Battalion sailed from Philadelphia July 6th. Upon reaching France they went into reserve at St. Mihiel.

On September 19th they went into the trenches in the Argonne Forest and, while awaiting re-enforcements, made preparations for the big drive which commenced September 26th. Erb and his men pressed forward, fighting incessantly. On the night of October 4th he was relieved and came back to the rest area behind the lines. At this time Erb received his promotion to a captaincy. The second engagement in which he took part was at Ypres, Belgium. The advance started October 31st, and with his company he held his position in the front line until the armistice was signed November 11th.

He remained in Belgium for several months expecting to be assigned to the Army of Occupation. Orders were changed, however. He sailed from France in March and was discharged May 1st, at the Presidio.

Erb is a senior in Law this year.

Every Woman Appreciates the Charm and Comfort of a Fair Face
 It has been said that beauty is a grace beyond the reach of art. Beauty cannot be created—once nature's charms are gone. But a woman can remain beautiful by using approved methods of retaining the freshness of her complexion. The skin must be fed, and the best thing for this purpose is
GARDEN COURT DOUBLE COMBINATION
 It is an excellent skin food and tissue builder. It is quickly absorbed by the pores, removes impurities, round out the muscles and makes the skin fair and firm. It is perfectly harmless and is delightfully perfumed, so as to make its use a delight and comfort.

And It Didn't Rain. Ken Newland had purchased a brand new rain coat. Tho' the sky was cloudless he carried the coat to school—we said he was Newland.

All morning he anxiously watched the sky; by nine o'clock he was decidedly agitated, by ten he was a nervous wreck; at eleven he was wildly demented and cursed insanely at the jovial sun.

At eleven thirty the sheriff and three deputies were heroically struggling to hold Napoleono Bonepart, not Newland, who was hurling great gobs of cuss words at the fickleness of nature.

It had not rained, snowed, sleeted or blizzed for four consecutive hours.

WHAT IS VIGILANCE COMMITTEE DOING?

Some Frosh Still Persist in Not Wearing Green Caps—Here's One.

The cast iron nerve of a solitary "Frosh" of our illustrious University who refuses to carry out the traditions of old Idaho, is causing the upperclassmen much sorrow and not a little worry. He will not wear his little green cap!

During the past few weeks, a certain member of the first year class, said person being identified with a very common surname, has insisted upon omitting the little green cap. And what is more to the point, still persists in being naughty after having received several duckings and being subjected to an equal number of paddings. It is rather peculiar why a person with such a common name as Smith should not be perfectly willing to take on such an oddity as the aforesaid green cap. By accustoming himself to the emerald headgear he might even be distinguished from the scores of other Smiths enrolled in our institution.

Unless this "Frosh" deems it necessary to distinguish himself from his numerous doubles by taking upon himself that distinguishing insignia of a Frosh, the upperclassmen shall have to revert to a more severe punishment in order that the old traditions of Idaho may not be broken.

The aforementioned institution offers to pay the expenses of the Frosh squad if they will show up for a Thanksgiving game. There is no positive dope on the college squad. However, they are reported to be going strong in their section. The College of Idaho has always put out a good team for a school of its size, several years ago having claimed the small college championship of the northwest. Their only game this year that has been reported this far north was their scrimmage with Boise high school, from whom they won by a small margin.

While they will undoubtedly put up a good fight, everything seems to point to a victory for the Idaho Frosh, in the event of an engagement.

If this trip is made, the Frosh will undoubtedly contract with Boise for a tussel on the turf.

BONFIRE FURNISHES HEAT FOR YELL-FEST

Frosh Uphold Traditions With Big Fire—Dancing in Nighties Follows

Following the traditions of the school, the entire student body turned out Friday night for the annual rally and bonfire preceding the Pullman game. The gathering place was the proverbial campus steps. Here the nocturnally garbed males gathered behind the band and marched to the Gym, where they watched the Varsity run signals for a time. At this point some one scented a bovine odor, so a delegation was sent out to guard the bell.

Having duly seen the disciples of the pig-skin thru their antics, the boys gathered in one end of the room. Here they listened to a concert by the twiddlers of the silver piston until they were joined by the female delegation. Then the real fun began. Ceremonies were initiated by yells and ditties vigorously intoned by the entire assemblage.

President Lindley followed with a brief talk upon college spirit in general, closing with some remarks concerning physiological architecture considered in the light of football tactics. Following Prexy, Captain Breshears, Coaches Hutchinson and Bleamaster, Freer, Secretary of State Jones, and Red Clements spoke briefly. The speechifying was ended by our yell queeps, who dropped a few hints bearing on the fluctuation of our pre-maxillaries and mandibles in their relation to the winning of the Harvard Contest.

After more voicing of the aggregation started toward. Here they expected to go thru the customary procedure of invading the shows etc. But upon receiving word that some impetuous Frosh had prematurely dropped a match into the bonfire, the procession wended its way thither after having raided only one movie.

The fire burning low, all hid themselves to the Gym again, where languorous strains intoned upon cornet, piano, and drums furnished the necessary incentive for a jazzy shindig.

Over Half of Seats Available for Students Reserved Monday Afternoon—Townpeople Buying Good

Reports from the musical department of the University are highly satisfactory at the way tickets are moving for the University Artists Course Monday afternoon saw the opening of reservations of tickets in the main hall of the Add building, Professor Bangs having charge of the making of reservations.

To give both the residents of Moscow and the students of the University an equal chance for securing good seats, it was decided that every other row of seats should be saved for the townspeople. Professor Bangs states that no difficulty at all is being experienced in disposing of these tickets to residents of Moscow at two dollars and a half.

The Auditorium will seat about twelve hundred people, and at four o'clock Monday over half the University's allotment of seats were gone. If the sale of seats continues as it has been, every seat will be filled when Lambert Murphy, renowned tenor, gives the first program of the series November 19.

PULLMAN GAME, CAUSE OF MUCH CROWDING

Lone Truck Accommodates Those Left Stranded at W. S. C. By Bug.

To Red Clements belongs the credit for chartering the "Sardine Special." Red, according to authorities on this campus, is an expert packer. One truck, according to his method is certified to hold 50 Eds. and 12 Co-eds.

Red discovered, when the "Bug" pulled out of Pullman last Saturday that it had left behind a dozen distressed damsels who were "rarin' to go," but with nothing to rare in, until he found a truck already loaded with Idaho men, but as neither the men nor the girls objected to a tight squeeze, the Co-eds were packed in, whereupon the bus set out at a terrifying speed, passing all pedestrians and vehicles headed in the opposite direction. After roaming thru most of Washington and Idaho, the truck arrived in time to permit the mangled occupants to fall in at the rear of the grand march.

FIRST YEAR STUDENT ATTEMPTS OWN LIFE

H. J. Mileham, a first year vocational training student of the University, and a veteran of the world war, attempted to take his life Thursday, October 30, by shooting himself in the left side just below the heart with a .44-caliber Colts revolver. The attempt at suicide took place on west Sixth street, at about seven o'clock in the evening. Mileham had been brooding over the fact that his bride of a few weeks had refused to live with him here in Moscow, instead she chose to remain in Berkeley, California, going to college there.

Mileham had returned just the day before from Berkeley where he went to try to induce his wife, formerly Miss Esther Diggles, with whom he eloped from Salmon City several weeks ago, to return with him to Moscow. She refused, and according to later reports, disclaimed to ever have married Mileham. Her parents and relatives, tho, confirm the fact that she had married the man in Utah.

He spent Thursday afternoon in his room and started down town early in the evening with his room mate, saying he would not remain in Moscow, and gave directions as to disposal of his personal effects. As they walked toward town, Mileham stopped and handed his companion two letters which he asked him to mail, saying he would not go down now. His companion took but a few steps forward when Mileham shot himself. He was rushed to the hospital, and it was ascertained that the bullet had passed just below the heart, piercing the lower left lung. Mileham's doctor states that he has an even chance for recovery provided no further complications set in.

Mileham's parents are dead, and an aunt in Stockton, California, was notified of his act. The parents of his wife are wealthy pioneers of Salmon City, and the affair has caused a great deal of comment both there and here.

WORK ON "GEM OF THE MOUNTAINS" COMMENCED

Everybody is interested in the "Gem of the Mountains," the annual put out by the Juniors every spring. So far this year, tho, we haven't heard much about the annual, but work is well under way towards putting out a scrappy magazine. Al Kinney of Nampa is the editor of this year's "Gem" and William Langroise is to handle the business end of the issue.

For some mysterious reason or other the above mentioned pair are exceedingly coy about divulging anything at the present time in the way of information, but no doubt they have something up their sleeve which they are going to spring on the students as a surprise, and modesty forbids us enquiring further.

By looking over the college this year it will be observed that an abundance of material is at hand for the annual, and will no doubt be put to good use. One of the features this year will be snapshots, and pictures. While absolutely nothing is known about the paper definitely, it is known that the annual this year will be the largest ever put out by a class from the University of Idaho.

Athletics will take up more space this year than ever before, owing to the fact that the Freshman rule is again in effect. So far the Freshmen have upheld the honor of Idaho just as loyally and wholeheartedly as the oldest student in college. Therefore they will come in for a big block of space in the annual.

OVERSEAS MEN HAVE LARGE ORGANIZATION

One hundred and twenty members of the A. E. F. convened last Tuesday to organize and elect officers for an overseas club. Plans were made for a dance to be held on the evening of Armistice Day, November 11. The consent of the faculty was obtained.

The following officers were elected: Ted Erb, president; Ted Holderman, vice-president; Leo Schroeder, secretary; Don Eagleson, treasurer; Earl Hunt and Don Eagleson were appointed as a committee to arrange for the dance.

Steps were taken to effect a permanent organization. The club is organized primarily for social purposes, and also to keep alive the memories of what they did over there. Plans were made to hold services in celebration of the day on Tuesday morning, and to present exercises entitled, "The Day we Slept in."

In regard to the dance it was stated that all men who have been in the service either here or over there attend in uniform.

"Put on the old, ragged one," stated Chairman Hunt of the dance committee, "That covered you when you saw your hardest service."

STOCK JUDGING TEAM SELECTED FOR TRIP

As a result of nearly two months competitive stock judging tests, Professor C. W. Hickman, of the department of animal husbandry, has announced the team which will represent the University of Idaho at the Western Royal Stock Show at Spokane, which began yesterday, the Pacific International Exposition at Portland and the Northwest Livestock Show at Lewiston.

The men chosen by Professor Hickman were Ambrose Johnson of Twin Falls, Chas. Grey of Genesee, Eugene Campbell of Bonners Ferry, Leon Taylor of Buhl and Chas. Raney of St. Maries.

The judging team left for Spokane Monday morning where they will compete with the various teams of the Northwestern colleges.

Professor Hickman plans to exhibit not less than a full carload of the University's pure bred stock at each of the three shows and there will also be a car or more of sale stock offered in the sale ring at Spokane and Lewiston.

"Mercy sakes alive!" exclaimed the editor in chief.

"Shades of Beta Theta Pi!" shrieked the sweet social editor, thrusting her dainty fingers into her delicate ears, the cause of it all being loud

"TRUE HEART SUSIE"

Robert Harron as a lanky, long-necked country boy who goes to college and becomes a minister, with wise opinions about selecting a girl for a wife, but hasty and lacking judgment in doing so, plays the part of a character familiar to millions in D. W. Griffith's new Artcraft picture "True Heart Susie," at the Orpheum theatre, Thursday and Friday.

Even before he leaves for the small college his innocent complacency at being a favorite among the girls of the small community, led him to strut and council with the confidence and wisdom only a boy at such an age could assume.

And when he returns from the college for his vacation, with a new suit, a mustache, and a new importance in his carriage; and grandly invites Susie to attend his royal and triumphal progress to the village grocery store in search of a "sody," Mr. Harron makes all the world his debtor for one of the most deep-seated laughs the screen has ever offered, it is declared.

Lillian Gish and Clarine Seymour play the leading women's roles. The cast generally is of the Griffith standard of excellence.
