A. S. U. I. CONSIDERS IMPORTANT MATTERS

Argonaut Election Amendment is Proposed Together With Resolution for Winning Coach.

Many matters of importance were brought up and discussed at the A. S. U. I. meeting held last Wednesday morning. Among these was the first reading of a proposed amendment to the constitution as regards the election of the editorial staff of the Argonaut. The measure is sponsored by E. K. Lindley, and seeks to lay down certain requirements that persons desiring to be on the Argonaut must fulfill.

Another important measure was the resolution introduced to acquire a football coach who can put out a winning team. It is thought that with the material at hand this year, a better showing should have been made along this line. The resolution as drafted and accepted is to be sent to President Lindley, the Board of Regents of the University and to the State Board of Education. It asks for an expert football man and states that any increased expenses accrued will be met by an increased A. S. U. I. membership fee.

Whether Idaho shall be fully represented at the Des Moines Student Volunteer Conference was also put up to the student body Wednesday. Prof. Lewis first told what the conference was, its aims and ambitions. The finance committee in charge of raising the necessary funds then better showing should have been made passed cards out to be signed and stating what each was willing to pledge towards putting Idaho's delegation into the ring. The amount raised at that time was not entirely satisfactory, only one hundred fifty seven dollars being guaranteed.

A resolution was passed that a committee should see if it were possible to mail the Alumnae of the College a copy of the Argonaut every month, or as often as possible. It was pointed out that the increased cost would be little, and that Idaho graduates were all interested in the College and this was the best way of letting them know of happenings on the Idaho campus.

The Frosh, and many who weren't Frosh, heard some of Idaho's traditions at this meeting as McDevitt was on hand with his list of old Idaho customs. Some of these are: the I bench is reserved strictly for Seniors; Seniors also alone are exempt from wearing headgear of any sort and may carry ornaments in the form of canes; Juniors have allotted to them the task of publishing the Annual. They are furthermore honored by being allowed to carry sticks on the senior sneak day, and then only. The Sophs are entrusted with the task of instilling obedience into the hearts of all new comers to the College, while all Frosh are to wear the green caps, and build the big bonfire. All men are supposed to lift their hats to the President when meeting him.

Seating arrangements were also finally arranged for assemblies. Seniors and faculty members are to occupy the first eight rows in the centre section, and the Frosh are to sit immediately behind them. The first thirty rows on the south side of the Auditorium are for the Sophs, and the Juniors will gather in the first eighteen rows on the north side. All unclassified and short term men

CIVIL ENGINEERS GET FEDERAL MAN

Road's Material Laboratory Will be in Charge of Raymond Harsh.

A new instructor has been added to the civil engineering department. He is Mr. Raymond Harsh who will take charge of the New Roads' Material Laboratory. He comes from Washington, D. C., where for five years he has been in the government testing laboratory of the office of public roads.

The operation of the laboratory at Idaho is supported partly by the state Highway Bureau and partly by the Civil Engineering department of the University, according to C. N. Little, Dean of the College of Engineering.

A. S. U. I.

A very important meeting of the A. S. U. I. will be held Wednesday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, the assembly hour being used for speaking. The Argonaut amendment, very important, will be voted on, and discussed. Other important news will be announced.

CO-OP BOOK STORE GAINING HEADWAY

All Colleges Who Have Tried This Plan Report Big Successes, Says Committee

The committee which is investigating the Student Co-operative Book Store are pushing their work with a vim which promises to bring forth some very interesting results. They are now maintaining a correspondence with practically all the college book stores of the west and middle west and they report that to date, every school maintaining such stores has reported an unqualified success with the venture.

A letter received Saturday from the University of Washington conveys the gratifying information that their store is practically duplicating the results gained by O. A. C. and the University of California.

The student store at Washington handles all text books, note books and note paper, stationery, fountain pens and some jewelry. The store has been making consistent profits and a large sum has been set aside for a building fund. The capital stock was obtained by a student body loan.

Washington's store differs from those of California and O. A. C. in that it does not return dividends to the students, but retains the money in the student body funds. As in the first mentioned schools, they employ a permanent manager and several full time assistants.

The committee is planning to make a trip to Pullman today to personally investigate the store there. Every effort is being made on the part of the committee to gather all possible statistics concerning the management of the various stores and it is the intention to compile these in a comprehensive report.

Chairman Hosier stated today, that every member of the committee was really putting himself into the proposition of making the store an assured institution for the University of Idaho and that the results have so far been most gratifying.

Tentative articles concerning the management and possibilities of the store will be submitted by the committee within a week or ten days.

One of the most amusing things that has come to light during the past week is that as a result of the canvass made on the campus, of the actual expenditures of the students for school necessities, that the previous estimate of the possible turn over by such a store is in fact several thousand dollars too low. This is most encouraging as it will give the store a greater margin to work on and thus assure greater security and will be the means of adopting a more liberal policy for the operation of the store which means in the long run, that commodities can be handled at a lower margin of profit and at the same time allow a more rapid expansion of the store.

SPOKANE MAN TO ENTERTAIN AT ASSEMBLY

George H. Greenwood, assistant cashier of the Old National Bank of Spokane, will give a piano recital at Assembly tomorrow. Mr. Greenwood who is a prominent business man in Spokane, is also much interested in music and art. He practices on the piano from 6 to 7 every morning before going to work.

Notice

The Argonaut staff appreciates the thoughtfulness of the people who have been dropping letters in the Argonaut box in the University hall—but it is hard on the letters as it is sometimes several days before they get started to their destination. People with letters should hunt up the iron letter box under the main stairway.

S. V. C. MOVEMENT LAGGING FOR IDAHO

Only Portion of Money Necessary So Far in Sight—Professor Lewis Faculty Delegate

As yet no delegates have been definitely decided upon to represent Idaho in the Des Moines Student Volunteer Convention. Only one hundred fifty-seven dollars was raised at Wednesday's A. S. U. I. meeting with which to defray the expenses of the delegates. This amount would hardly cover the expenses for one person, so that it is a little disheartening to those behind the movement.

Professor Lewis is the one person who is sure of making the trip to the Iowa city. He has been unanimously chosen by both the committees to be the faculty representative for the college.

Nevertheless, Secretary MacPherson of the Y. M. C. A., feels certain that the Idaho spirit will come across. He points out that this was merely a preliminary canvass, and he is confident that the sum will be trebled.

A sub-finance committee has been chosen to go into every corner of the campus to complete the raising of funds. This committee is comprised of the following girls: Bloomquist, Wiley, Christen, Merritt, Soulen, McRae, M. Sweeney, Sabin and Helen Johnson. The boys will be jogged up by the following rustlers: Buck, Taylor, Darling, Goff, Atwood, Clements, Jackson, Colburn, Stewart, Cornelson, Burgher, Bristol, White, Bradbury, and A. W. Johnson.

PRESIDENT LINDLEY ATTENDS CONFERENCE

Middle Western Colleges Discuss Many Phases of Important Educational Work

President E. H. Lindley returned Thursday from Chicago where he attended the annual meetings of the State Universities and the Land Grant Colleges.

Among the significant problems discussed, according to President Lindley, were those relating to the readjustment of teachers' salaries, the stimulation of scientific research work, problems arising from increased enrollment, adjustment to post-war conditions of military training in the colleges and questions of finance.

At the conclusion of these two meetings which occupied a week, President Lindley visited and delivered an address at Lake Forest College, and visited Northwestern University at Evanston, Ind., the University of Illinois, the University of Minnesota and the Montana State College. He spent three days at the Montana State Teachers' Association meeting at Helena, where he delivered three addresses.

At a personal invitation from Henry Ford, President Lindley went to Detroit where he had the opportunity of studying the educational and social phases of the relation between the Ford Motor Co. and its employees. It is noticeable that there has never been a strike in the Ford plant.

At Chicago President Lindley met Dr. McLean, former President of the University and Professor Avery, a former professor of chemistry in the University of Idaho. Both asked to be remembered to their many Idaho friends.

MAJOR SWAN WILL BE VISITOR MONDAY

Will Probably Address Men in Assembly in the Morning—Touring the West.

Major Eugene LaForest Swan of the medical department of the United States Army will be an Idaho visitor Monday. It is probable that he will address the men of the University in a special assembly Monday morning. Major Swan is engaged in making a tour of all colleges on the Pacific Coast. At present he is in Seattle for a few days visiting the University there, and will be in Pullman the last of the week, and will be here on Monday.

FARMERS TO FROLIC IN ANNUAL AG BAWL

Wielders of the Fork and Shovel to Throw Joy and Merriment by the Bale in Ankle Sling

The Ags of Idaho scraping the snow from their feet, venture forth from their hay stack to blow off excess rounds of joy weeds in the first annual "Ag Bawl," the syncopated fork wielders ankle and toe fling, in the big barn south of Lewis Court, next Saturday night. Prepare to shed bales of tears, ye cat cutters, engineers, muckers and beasts, for you, not even the lawyers, who rank next to the short Ags, will be invited, to this harvest festival of the feeders of the world. For when the Ags bust, they bust, and all "bustible material" is busted when the chicked fancled and cow feeders open up the barn for a foot shuffle. This is all according to dope.

Girls—you that have farmer dates—put your gingham apron on, and tell your house mother that you'll be long. Hay mow costumes are in order, with all the pre-requisites of the dairy maid, etc. Every thing from irrigation ditch punch to lactical fluid from the gentle and loving bovine creature will be in the punch troughs.

An Ag King and Queen will be chosen, judged by the variety and appropriateness of their costumes.

Librarian Arrives.
Miss Lois Criswell arrived this week from Berkeley, California, and has taken up her duties as cataloger in the library.

DEBATERS READY TO OUT-TALK COUGARS

Debate Scheduled for December 12 is Being Rapidly Whipped Into Shape.

A show of interest is beginning to be evinced around the campus upon the dual debate scheduled to be pulled off with W. S. C. December 12. Idaho's affirmative trio will remain at home to take on the cougar talkers and the negative will endeavor to enlighten the Pullmanites on how to debate.

The question on which the two colleges will clash is whether Uncle Sam should have universal training or not. Prof. Chenoweth, who has been coaching the men, is rounding the team into shape rapidly, nearly all of the Thanksgiving vacation being spent in preparation. The judges for the talkfest have not as yet been chosen, but will be announced in a few days.

M'LEAN FIELD MAY BE USED FOR SKATING

Skating Bugs Raise Question of Flooding Athletic Field For New Amusement

A skating pond, formed by flooding the athletic field with the water from the big "I" tank, is being considered as a probable possibility around the campus.

The agitators of the project offer the explanation that such an affair would offer a respite from the monotony of escorting the co-eds to the movies, or sitting around the fraternal hearth. Several of the star fusers have been heard to complain that these two forms of relaxation have been the only correct forms of womanizing since Anthony first dated up with Cleopatra. They think a change is needed.

It is argued that the water in the big "I" tank is used only for fire purposes. If it were used to flood the field, no expense would be involved for the water used.

Another skating fan opined that the wetting of the field would in no way hinder the track activities in the spring. He reasoned that the extra water would not be sufficient to be noticed in addition to the dampness caused by the snow and spring rains.

The project is being taken up with the authorities, and the favorable or unfavorable results will soon be announced.

Notice! Frosh.

The Frosh must hold to the wearing of the green caps for one week more, according to a proclamation issued Monday night by Emery Knudson, chief of the vigilantes, in response to many queries on the subject. His Nibs is of the opinion that the osseous armor of the Freshman brain cell is of sufficient thickness to ward off the frigid solidification of that article for some time to come, unless the thermometer drops abruptly.

DRAMA CLUB WILL GIVE SECOND PLAY

"Her Husband's Wife" to be Presented at Guild Hall Tuesday Night

The Drama Club, which was recently organized in Moscow, will present its second play, "Her Husband's Wife," on Tuesday of this week at anxious that all students who are interested in dramatics, take advantage of these productions. The organization has chosen for presentation twelve plays which it considers wide enough in appeal to please all tastes. One of the twelve plays will be presented every two weeks at a "reading rehearsal." This method of presentation was chosen as it obviates the necessity of committing the plays to memory, and will thus enable the club to put on a greater variety and number of plays. Single admissions to each performance will be 25 cents. Season tickets, which entitle the holders to membership and participation in all club affairs are on sale for $1.50. One of the club promoters suggests that such a ticket would make a suitable Christmas gift.

The purpose of the Club is not to give people an opportunity to act, but to offer high class entertainment to interested persons. Members are not required to take an active part in the plays, unless they so desire. After further organization, the Club will endeavor to affiliate with the national Drama League.

Notice.
Y. W. C. A. meeting at Edenbaugh Hall, Wednesday, December 3. President E. H. Lindley will speak on "The Woman of the Future."

ATHLETIC CONFERENCE IN SEATTLE SATURDAY

Idaho Faculty Men to Take in Important Gathering for Northwest Colleges

Dean Angell and very likely Tommy Mathews will leave sometime this week for Seattle, to represent Idaho at the northwest conference to be held Saturday, December 6, which will arrange the basketball, baseball and track schedule for the season of 1919 and 1920. Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Montana, W. S. C., O. A. C. and California will probably be represented at this conference.

An attempt will be made to re-establish football relations between Idaho and Washington for the season of 1920. The last time Idaho and Washington met on the gridiron was in 1907, at Seattle. At that time Idaho was defeated 24 to 0 by a team which had beaten every opponent for a number of years previous. If a meeting is arranged between the two for next fall the result may be different than it was in 1907.

Idaho will no doubt play basket ball with the U. of W. this winter and students here have no reason to think that Washington will come out on top when the melee is over.

Arrangement for a big intercollegiate tournament to be held at one of the universities will probably be made at the conference. A tournament is necessary, in order to determine the championship, and this is the only way possible as dope is so invariably upset these days that it would be impossible to decide a championship just by score sheets alone.

Nothing definite is known about track, but there is no question about that, everyone concerned will get a good schedule. Should a big meet of all the conference be decided upon Idaho will be strongly represented, and will have a good chance of bringing home the bacon.

DO WE SKATE?

Why should Idaho not have a real sheet of ice to skate on?

The athletic field offers a perfect location for such an affair.

Only enough water would be necessary to wet down the snow. This would involve practically no expense.

The small amount of water thus put on the field would not be sufficient to hinder track operations in the spring. No artificial drainage system would be necessary.

Such a pond would give Idaho students the opportunity to enjoy one of the most beneficial of sports.

A few hours work and the water in the big "1" tank would turn the trick. WHY NOT?

THE CO-OP STORE

The results of the investigation of the committee on the University book store have brought us face to face with an opportunity which would be little less than criminal to ignore.

Reports from colleges and universities which are operating student book stores, show that every store has been an unqualified success. Every one has been a self sustaining institution and not only that, but they have been the means of lowering the price of books and other school necessities from thirty per cent to as much as sixty or sixty five per cent. And again, such stores not only reduce the cost of school needs, but return a handsome profit which is kept in the student body where it properly belongs. The students realize that every purchase made through their store, not only saves them money but actually puts some back in their pocket.

The canvass of student expenditure which the committee has made during the last week show that the estimate contained in last week's Argonaut, of the possible turnover of the book store, will be in fact several thousand dollars larger than it was at first estimated. This lends assurance that the store can be "put over" beyond a doubt and made a paying institution.

This is beyond a doubt the greatest opportunity that has ever presented itself to the student body of the University. It is not only something that you yourselves will reap a benefit from, but will be the means of aiding every student who shall attend the university in the future. Not only will the purchasing power of your dollar be nearly doubled when spent for school supplies, but also you will be directly aiding in the building of a bigger, better Idaho.

Final plans will be submitted in a few weeks. Are you going to be ready to put those plans across? Are you going to boost this proposition to the last man? Of course you are. Lets get our sleeves rolled up and be in line to show our loyalty to the student need.

And his heart was all aflutter As he sat him by her side. Oh, it was a cunning cutter, With just room enough for two, And Schlitz found time to utter, "Do you think one hnd will do?" It was a well trained cutter, And she was a lovely maid, But the lively man does mutter, "When will the bill be paid?"

Helpful Hints.

How to entertain a Girl, or Ways to Impress a Peach.

1. It is always good form to recall that old gag about your first drunk. To make it convincing casually mention the names of two or three of your frat brothers "who have that sort of a rep." It may be hard on the brothers, but "all's fair," etc.

2. If the above doesn't seem to be producing the correct effect, draw forth from your inside vest pocket the property match. Insert this in your fist and ignite it with your thumb nail. The effect is liable to be spontaneous combustion of match and thumb, but a few choice cuss words will only impress the damsel with your hardboiledness. By this time she is liable to suspect the truth concerning your hard cider and vanilla extract story.

3. The above openings serve to pave the way for the heavy work, which should come next. In deep and hollow tones reiterate "I have never loved before, but, girl, you interest me strangely," etc. This, beyond a doubt will impress her that you are original (probably The Original Nut). This line always gets by fine—the only thing that now remains is the get away.

SUGGESTIONS—PRACTICAL AND OTHERWISE

Practical suggestions and helpful hints characterized the statements that the Argonaut reporter gathered from prominent University students in regard to the Co-Operative Book store now under consideration by the A. S. U. I. A hot-dog emporium in connection with the proposed University book store was the suggestion of Fred Cline when interviewed concerning his expenditures for incidentals relative to and necessary for his University education. Mr. Cline believes that the hot-dog vendors of Moscow are unscrupulous profiteers and that with its present supply of canines the University could and should take this step toward the material reduction of the H. C. L.

"My greatest overhead expense," Miss Grace Taggart is reported as saying, "is for hairnets, and any proposition that tends to lessen economic pressure in this direction will receive my hearty co-operation."

This gratifying expression from one of the Co-Eds, is re-echoing the sentiments of the majority of the University women. "The rapid advance in the price of paint," says one, "since the beginning of the war has made it difficult for many of us to remain in school, but we trust that a Co-operative Store will again put our complexion on a peace basis. Such a plan would receive our undivided support."

"I am up to the neck in economy," admitted Drom Campbell, "and have even resorted to celluloid collars to reduce neckware and laundry bills. I welcome a Co-op haberdashery where students may buy Bow and Arrow collars at three for five. A laundry run in the same manner should be our next effort."

A coco-cola fountain to quench the thirst and add new life and zest to the tired student should be a feature of a Co-op hangout declared Johnny McGowen.

"The movies also gather in the fugitive shekels," replied Miss Virginia Dermott in answer to the reporter's queries, "so why not can the village canaries, and listen to the birdies sing in our own Co-op theatre?"

"Fraternity pins and candy being practically synonymous, the proposed

The law of compensation requires that after every vacation there be school. The idea being, of course, that you get more fun out of your vacation if you are always thinking about your lessons. This last vacation was no exception and college students had a good time every minute. Those who went home for the week-end missed all the excitement of the various house dances, etc.

Beta Theta Pi entertained Thursday evening with a Thanksgiving house dance. Features included an Idaho and Beta song fest and numerous dances played for by the eight-piece Beta orchestra. Dancing was enjoyed until eleven o'clock and at that hour light refreshments were served. Mrs. E. U. Cummins of Wallace, Chaperoned the party. Guests present were the Misses Clarke, Merritt, Newman, B. Faris, Peasley, Woven, Soulen, Chrisman, Shurtz, Hardman, Tecklenberg, Alibough, M. Kutnowsky, Woods, Favey, Hare, Logan, Robbins, Spilburg, Easley and Mr. Ernest K. Lindley.

Thursday evening Sigma Nu entertained at an informal dinner dance. The invited guests were: Dean and Mrs. F. A. Thomson, Misses Cora Salter, H. Frantz, Alberts, Moseley, Atkins, E. Roberts, Bodler, F. Jones, A. Sweeney, M. Sweeney, Sanger, Hastie, Stanford, Schroeder, Healy, Reed, Musser, DeCamp, Hoffman, Davis, Morris and Babcock.

The Gamma Phi's gave an informal dancing party at the chapter house Friday evening. Their guests were the Messrs. Gowen, Irving, Plastino, O. Chrisman, S. Brashears, McGowan, Babcock, Taylor, Macey, Sutherland, Lee Scott, Hibner, Holderman, Ficke, B. Johnson, Barnes, Hunt, Bivens, Ward, H. Brashears, Johanneson, Glindehan, Evans, Hunter.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon entertained at an informal Thanksgiving house dance Friday evening. An artificial lighting effect was carried out in the fraternity colors. Dean and Mrs. F. A. Thomson, Dr. Kidwell and Miss Steinmates were patrons and patronesses. The guests were the Misses Logan, Adelman, Soulen, Woods, F. Jones, Penwell, Selby, Chrisman, Collins, Litton, Caloway, C. Jones, Hare, Fiskins, Pringle, Swanson, M. Jones and Bloom.

THE OPEN FORUM

A very important amendment to the constitution is coming up for final consideration Wednesday at the A. S. U. I. meeting and it behoves every student to be there.

Among other things, the amendment provides, indirectly at least, that the Argonaut will in the future be under the control of the B. A.'s, and the English department. It is not the aim or desire of this article to unjustly disparage the B. A. students with an attempt to garner in the laurels of Argonaut control; but that is virtually what the amendment seeks to do.

Its chief provision is that no editor or associate editor shall serve except that he shall have completed a one year course in Journalism as offered at the University. It is notorious that no one ever takes this course except B. A. students, who are under the illusion that there will be a great future for them in the literary game; and on part of the men who are advocating this amendment, it is admitted that the course in Journalism is to say the least "a weak sister." Thus it is apparent that the control of the Argonaut will be practically under the direction of the English department.

Such a restriction on the editorial staff of the Argonaut will do more harm than good as it will too greatly limit the material from which the staff may be chosen. No one will dispute that there are at times, engineers or lawyers or pre-medics or Ags who are very capable men who lead and direct those who work with them and to make a success of the things they undertake. Should we deprive ourselves of the opportunity to use such men, by adopting an amendment that provides that none except a "chosen few" of the B. A.'s who have been exposed to a more or less practical course in Journalism, shall pilot the university paper? And it is a safe presumption that many who shall, in the future, take this course, will have never seen the inside of a newspaper office, have no qualifications other than the somewhat negligible quantity which may come from the course, and be devoid of the personality necessary to the best results from the paper, while a really competent man would be barred. How many people believe that a two or three credit course in Journalism, will qualify an otherwise incompetent person to edit the Argonaut?

Such an assumption is purely visionary. To adopt the amendment that is based on that assumption is a quick method of biting off the Argonaut's nose for no apparent purpose, other than to further the power and activities of the English department.

Heretofore, at least, it has not been the desire of the student body that the Argonaut plagiarize the policy and tactics of the great daily newspapers. A newspaper can be purchased anywhere, it has no outstanding characteristics except those which come from custom of the newspaper world. But on the other hand, a college paper is a distinctly individual and unique publication. Its success is not measured by the degree of faithfulness in which it follows the lead of commercial newspapers, but by the measure in which it portrays college life as the student sees it and by the degree of approval with which it is met by the students as a whole. It is not technicality that appeals to the readers of a college paper—that may be had from any magazine or paper—but the vital thing in Personality and Originality. And these two traits are not an outgrowth of the course in Journalism or of the department of English nor still of the B. A. course but are found in the MAN regardless of the course that he has chosen.

This article is not prompted by personal aims or plans, nor is it intended to unjustly impugn the motives of the any department or of other individuals who may be behind the proposed reform, but it is directed by a sound conviction that the purpose of the Argonaut can best be accomplished by striking out the proposed amendment. And the belief that the thing which the Argonaut most needs is not restrictions, but rather a policy which will be the means of getting the best possible material to pilot the University paper.

C. H. SWANSTROM.

A SKATE DATE

"Gamma Phi Beta House," hissed the sweet, young freshman into the telephone in answer to its buzzing summons.

"I'd like to speak to Katherine," boomed the Beta baritone in reply. "Just a minute, I'll call her."

The party at the initiatory end of the line listened for some moments to the peculiar conglomeration of sound which comes to a listener at a line open at the other end in a sorority house. He amused himself by trying to disintegrate and characterize the various elements of the babel.

"Hello." A silvery treble aroused him from his calculations.

"Kitten?"

"Yes."

"This is Duddy. I was wondering if you would like to go skating on the athletic field this evening."

"I should say I would," gushed the tender maiden.

"Well, I'd kinda like to go along," ventured the bold Beta, "if you wouldn't find it too awfully inconvenient."

"All right, you may," was the laconic reply.

And this was only one of the many similar conversations that buzzed over the wires that winters eve.

After darkness had fallen, many couples drifted across the campus and sauntered down the bleacher steps to stand at the edge of the silvery field. He would strap on her skates. Then hand in hand they would slip away over the frozen surface, the perfect union of their movements typifying the harmony that pervaded their souls.

A real moonlight was this, lighted by the cool glow of the moon, which sparkled on the etched surface of the ice as if to mock the stars. Their Cougars Too Many For Montana Bears—W. S. C. 42, Montana 14.

The Pullmanites spent Thanksgiving day in Missoula making touchdowns and getting revenge for her last two defeats handed her by Washington and the Oregon Aggies. Straight football marked the contest. W. S. C.'s big machine plunged thru the Missoula line for six touchdowns but were unable to keep the Bears from scoring twice between their little parties behind Montana's goal posts.

The boy with the cue ball hair cut, Capt. Shirk, starred for the Bears, while Hanley & Gillis held down the lime-light jobs for Washington State.

Northerners Bring Home Southern Bacon.

One lonesome touchdown, smothered in Pacific Coast mud, gave the University of Washington a 7-to-0 victory over California in a game of pure football. Nothing but old every-day plunges were used owing to the extremely heavy field and presence of chocolate colored water bog which was scarcely recognizable as a football field.

Aerial System Falls Gonzaga.

O. A. C. cleaned up on the Spokane boys Thanksgiving by the lopsided score of 50 to 0 in a two style game played at the Spokane fair grounds. The Oregon visitors clearly showed their superiority as footballers by the fast work of her ends and back field when they piled up the points against Gonzaga. The Spokane team shocked the natives in the first quarter by getting by with three forward passes. They stuck to the line of aerial attack thruout but the score shows that evidently some were quite unsatisfactory.

Let Whitman Have It.

The fire-side sports have handed in their decision at last as regards the Northwest Championship. They doped it out very simply on a percentage basis and as Whitman is the only team in the conference which has not lost a game her percentage is at the head of the list. The Walla Walla boys are therefore the heroes of 1919.

This matter of picking the champs has bothered the fire-side sports for some time so do not up set their decision by letting them know that Whitman has played but one game and that one a 7-to-7 tie with Montana.

Still Want to Skate!

Let's go men! Get a committee to look around and fix a puddle for us to skate on.

Until our new skating rink is ready in Lewis Court, let's follow the kids to the sand pit and skate. It's 400 by 203 yards and the only objection we have to it is that it is 144 yards beyond the limit where the ladies' rules and regulations can allow them to roam. The total distance from the Kappa house being one mile and 144 yards.

music was the melody of the wintery ephy, accompanied by the flapping of the frozen lingerie on the Delta Gamma clothesline.

The hours that followed seemed as but moments. As their keen skates carried them over the frozen lake, they seemed to glide into some celestial ball-room, lined with crystal and roofed with jewels. Here was no electric dazzle, no ribald jazz. Here was only the soft glamour of the moon, the flutter of clothing, the ring of skates.

If tired, they sought rest on a secluded bench, enshrouded by the frosty darkness, and were warmed by the faint flush of a tender consciousness, safe from the ubiquitous gaze of curious chaperones. Or, perchance, they squatted around a crackling fire, toasting themselves in the saner warmth of it's ruddy glow.

So each moment was crammed full of Joy and High Glee until the Zero Hour, when the fusers drug over the hill and smeared their "Olive Oils" etc., at the various fraternal thresholds.
