NO SPECIAL FOR SOUTH IDAHO FOUR EXTRA SLEEPERS, FRIDAY

SPECIAL ARRANGEMENTS MADE WITH DIRECTOR GENERAL OF RAILROADS TO ACCOMMODATE SOUTH IDAHO STUDENTS—NORMAL TRAIN SERVICE FRIDAY.

There will be no special train to take University of Idaho students to their homes in southern Idaho. But there will be four sleepers provided and these will leave Moscow Friday evening, December 19, at 4:30, on the O.-W. R. & N., making connection with No. 5, at Colfax, and with the main line train for southern Idaho at Umatilla Junction. The sleepers will leave at 4:30, not 5:30 as was announced, as the train will leave an hour earlier than the old train. A telegram from W. M. McMurray, general passenger agent of the O.-W. R. & N. received at the university last night, announced that this arrangement will be made. No special train will be provided nor can reduced rates be granted. A good service will be given and the students will be taken to their homes in the southern part of the state on the regular trains which will begin running again on the old schedule Thursday morning. The University will lose Friday evening, December 19, and remain closed until Monday morning, January 5, for the holiday vacation. About 150 students have signed up for the trip to south Idaho and it is expected about 200 will go on the train leaving here Friday evening.

PROFESSOR HICKMAN VISITS INTERNATIONAL SHOW

Animal Husbandry Head High in Praise of Exposition—Idaho Is Well Represented.

Professor S. W. Hickman, head of the animal husbandry department, returned last week from a two week's visit to the middle west attending the International Livestock Exposition, an important Shorthorn sale, and visiting several large farms. He emphasizes the fact that the livestock show was an unprecedented success for the animal husbandry world.

Professor Hickman reports that Idaho was well represented at the show, and many friends and graduates of the University were visitors and officials.

DEAN IDDINGS HOLDS EASTERN CONFERENCE

Agricultural Head Attends Conferences and Secures Help for Extension Division Work.

Dean E. J. Iddings of the college of agriculture, recently returned from an extensive trip East, including conferences at Chicago and Washington, D. C., reports interesting and rapidly advancing work in the lines of vocational education, experimental activities, greater extension division plans, and teaching, pertaining mostly to agricultural work in land grant colleges. While at the International Stock Show at Chicago, the greatest exposition of purebred livestock ever assembled, he met several ex-Idaho men who are holding responsible agricultural positions in the middle west.

Probably the most interesting work taken up at the annual meeting of the Association of Land Grant colleges was the consideration of the Smith-Hughes vocational education proposition, giving greater prominence to teacher training, with special reference to high school vocational work, which has been very much neglected in the past, but will be now taken up with special emphasis to give all students of less than collegiate standing opportunities for future work. This will open many teaching positions for college graduates, and will be an important factor in building community work all over the country. Basic courses in agricultural work will be given in all branches of work, for those men who do not wish to specialize.

Conferences in Washington.

Dean Iddings held several conferences in Washington with heads of the extension departments of the U. S. Department of Agriculture with reference to securing federal help in Idaho for carrying on clover seed and clover disease work, for enlarging the station at Aberdeen, and securing additional federal men for work in Idaho. He was able to throw much interest on the important and well advancing work of the Idaho experiment stations, and the extension divisions.

ENGLISH CLUB HEAR ORIGINAL PLAYS READ

Mrs. MacIntire Entertains Members By Readings—New Members Voted On.

Mrs. H. J. MacIntire entertained the members of the English Club at their meeting in the "Y" hut Thursday evening when she read two clever original plays, "The Ivory Tower" and "The God-son," the former having been published in Poet Lorel at one time.

"The God-son" was a comedy with its setting in France during the recent war. Mrs. MacIntire's representation of it added to its charm.

"The Ivory Tower" was an allegory, dealing with the problems of a young woman's part in modern society.

The business part of the meeting consisted of the reports from the several committees and the formal voting in of new members. The names submitted by the membership committee are Brian Bundy, Phoebe Jane Hunt, Edith Dingle, Vaughn Price, Rex Kimmel, Margaret Moseley, Caroline Logan, Avis Selby, Margaret Kutnewsky and Helen Ramsey, all of whom won parts in plays through their recent efforts in the try-outs. Katherine Stanford, a senior in the English Department, was also voted in as a member of the club.

At the close of the business meeting refreshments were served and at the end of the social hour the meeting adjourned.

ADVANCE MANAGER IS BUSY FOR GLEE CLUB

Several Towns Are Already Slated To Entertain Singers Says Manager Scott.

"Within a reasonable doubt the tour of the southern part of the state by the University's Men's Glee Club is assured," stated Russell Scott, the manager of the club, in an interview Monday.

"Charles Darling, the advance manager, departed last Tuesday for the south. He has already made arrangements in several of the principal cities in that section for the appearance of the club.

"All students going home for the holidays should take it upon themselves to boost the club in every way possible. This is the best advertising that the club has.

"The faculty has consented to let the club start on its trip during the examination week at the end of the semester. The exact date of departure, however, has not been set.

Mr. Scott also stated that the state might expect one of the best clubs the University has produced. The club plans to carry with it a violinist, reader and lady soloist.

"COUSIN KATE" NEXT PLAY FOR DRAMA CLUB

"Cousin Kate," a sprightly comedy in three acts by H. H. Davies, is to be presented by the Drama Club of Moscow on Tuesday evening December 16 at Guild Hall. This brilliant and witty play centers around the efforts of Cousin Kate to recover the missing bridegroom for her cousin Amy. The scene of the play is laid in England, and covers a period of but five hours.

The cast is well chosen and includes Mrs. Ryan as Mrs. Spencer, the helpless mother; Kenneth House as Bobby Spencer, the equally helpless son, Nora Ashton as Amy Spencer, most helpless of all as she has lost her only bridegroom; Mrs. Bridge as Nora, Oscar Weaver as the Reverend James Bartlett, and Mr. Cushman as Heath Desmond.

The club promises a rollicking evening to all who care to sink twenty five cents in an ocean of good fun.

MILITARY DEPARTMENT ACQUIRES NEW MAN

Sergt. Eugene Nagele To Assist Col. Chrisman in R. O. T. C. Work.

"I've been everything from a second lieutenant up to a buck private," is the epitomization with which Sergt. Eugene Nagele, formerly of the 21st Infantry, describes the ups and downs of a regular army career covering more than 21 years. Sergeant Nagele has just been assigned to the University of Idaho as assistant to Colonel E. R. Chrisman, commandant of cadets and professor of military science and tactics.

Colonel Chrisman and Sergeant Nagele first soldiered together 14 years ago in the Philippines. At that time the colonel was a captain in command of H company of the old 16th Infantry and the sergeant was an unadorned buck private.

Sergeant Nagele's long experience and his thorough knowledge of every phase of military life are expected to make him a valuable asset to the university military department.

PRESIDENT ASKED TO SPEAK

Dr. Lindley Invited to Speak to Colleges on S. V. C.

Dr. E. H. Lindley has been invited by the New York offices of the intercollegiate movement to spend four to six weeks among the colleges of the country following the S. V. C. convency at Des Moines.

Dr. Lindley stated: "The committee selected a group of men to carry the message of the convention to the cities and colleges of the land. My field of course lay among the colleges. This goes to show the scope of the movement, and the part the colleges are expected to play in the movement for church unity."

BACTERIOLOGIST COMES TO HEAD DEPARTMENT

Missouri and Wisconsin Man Will Fill Important Vacancy in the Ag. Department

Dr. W. M. Gibbs comes to head the department of bacteriology, as professor of bacteriology, and bacteriologist for the state experiment stations. He graduated from the Missouri Agricultural College, and recently has procured his doctorate from Wisconsin. He has had much experience in research work, and has assisted in teaching at Wisconsin for several years. He has recently been discharged from the sanitary corps in the army, where he was a lieutenant. Experimental work will probably be started at once by the new head of the department.

Idaho easily pushed the cow college down a notch by winning the annual dual debate Friday night at Pullman and Moscow.

The affirmative of the question, "Resolved, That the United States adopt a permanent system of compulsory military training was given the unanimous decision of the judges for the Idaho home team. The negative trio debating in hostile territory was awarded a two to one victory over their opponents.

The Idaho affirmative team debating here put up an argument which was a stone wall for the Pullmanites. The arguments advanced by the affirmative were, namely, that first, some system of compulsory military training was necessary because of the existing external and internal conditions, the point held by Karl Burke.

Taking up the discussion from this point, William Carpenter, from Boise, advanced the method by which the Idaho team would put into operation such a military training. William Briscoe of Troy, then clinched Idaho's argument by showing just how the plan advanced would function. W. S. C. based their argument on the fact that all of the benefits to be derived from such a plan as advanced by the affirmative would be obtained by measures of a less radical nature, but which arguments failed to convince the judges of their practicability.

The star of the evening was easily conceded to be Briscoe for Idaho. Not only were his arguments logical but his delivery aided greatly in winning for Idaho. Carpenter of Boise appeared to capture second honors for the evening. It is to be noted that both these men are first year students and were certainly a credit to both their class and the college.

The debaters and the order of their appearance is as follows: In Moscow, Idaho was represented by Karl Burke, William Carpenter and William Briscoe; for Pullman, H. Markoff, W. C. Beach, and I. E. Cook. At Pullman Idaho's trio consisted of Lawrence Huff, Philip Buck and Ray Agee.

The judges here were, Alex Rosenberg of Lewiston, Judge Warren Truitt and J. S. Heckathorne, both of Moscow. Mr. Gill of Moscow, acted as chairman.

In speaking of the debate, Professor Chenoweth, who coached the Idaho teams said, "We are justified in being pleased with the outcome of the debate both on account of the victories and on account of the work done by the Idaho team. Every man did what was expected of him."

Dr. Miller Pleased.

Dr. G. M. Miller, interviewed after the debate had this to say of the affair. "The debate was very good. The Pullman debating team had a well outlined argument, but their substitutes for universal military training could easily be attacked as substitutes. The strength of the Idaho affirmative was sufficient to deserve a unanimous decision. It came from the fact that the affirmative forced the negative to admit the possibility of war, and strengthened their admission by proving that the present tendencies of our civilization tending toward a struggle for trade supremacy is likely to result in war. If so the only democratic method of preparation would be universal military training."

M'CONNELL LEAVES FOR TEXAS

Popular Animal Husbandry Professor Gets Advanced Position as Swine Husbandman.

O. E. McConnell, assistant professor of animal husbandry at the University of Idaho, left Moscow yesterday to accept the superintendency of an experiment farm in swine production under the direction of the agricultural experiment station of the state of Texas. He will have his headquarters at College Station, Texas.

"Mr. McConnell's resignation was accepted with sincere regret," said Dean E. J. Iddings of the college of agriculture today. "He not only was a popular teacher, but had made a decidedly good impression, on the stock men of the state with whom he came in contact. The increase in salary offered him was so substantial, however, the university was unable to meet it."

Mr. McConnell's successor has not yet been named.

SELL RED CROSS SEALS THIS WEEK

Idaho Students Will Be Expected To Contribute Their Share In Great Work

A campaign for the sale of Red Cross Christmas Seals is being initiated on the campus to which all students are expected to contribute. A booth will be erected in the main hall of the Administration building either on Monday or Tuesday to sell the stamps.

Miss Permeal French, Dean of Women, in an interview Monday stated, "The students must do their part in raising the quota for the University. The state will look to see what its highest institution of learning and the county in which it is situated will do during this most commendable campaign.

"These stamps may be most satisfactorily used for the sealing of Christmas packages and gifts. It is to be hoped that each student will do his part. The stamps may be purchased at the booth in the main hall of the Ad. building."

The funds proceeding from the sale of the stamps will be used by the Red Cross to carry on their fight against tuberculosis.

The quota for Latah county is $1,800, of which a considerable part is expected to be raised by the University.

FORESTRY NEWS LETTER MAKES APPEARANCE

The Associated Foresters of the University have launched the initial number of a forestry news letter. It is the aim of the letter to promote the interests of the school of forestry at the University of Idaho and for the betterment of Idaho forests in general. The letter will report all activities of the School of Forestry and any items of interest concerning the workings of practical forestry over the state.

The first number is a mimeographed five-sheet paper, gotten out in the form of a letter and is not only interesting but instructive as well. It is the aim of the foresters to publish the letter once a month.

SAVE ONE MILLION ACRES IDAHO LAND

Arid Plains of Upper Snake River Can Be Reclaimed By Irrigation

One million acres of arid land on the Snake River plains of southern Idaho, can be made into a valuable agricultural area by irrigation, according to recent statements by Governor D. W. Davis and ex-Surveyor General D. A. Utter.

This area of arid land is bounded on the west by the foothills of the Owyhee Mountains, on the east by the foothills of the Sawtooth, and Bitter Root ranges, on the north by the Boise Project, and on the south by the Twin Falls Project. Most of the land is owned by the federal government. A great deal belongs to the State, and some of it belongs to private individuals, or live-stock corporations.

According to the Governor's statement there are 150,000 acres of land in the Minadoka Project which have been set aside purposely to carry out Secretary Land's plans for reclaiming lands for soldiers. General Utter estimates that there are about 250,000 acres in the big Bruneau tract of which 30,000 acres belong to the State. General Utter also estimates that there are about 600,000 acres of arid land in the Mountain Home, Sunnyside, and Boise tracts, that could be prepared for practical irrigation. These approximations in total amount to 1,000,000 acres which can be included under the proposed system. Although this figure is only approximate, it gives a close index to the real situation.

Commissioner Swendsen reports that there is enough flood water lost each year in the Snake River to irrigate much more than 1,000,000 acres of land.

Douglas C. Livingston, Professor of Geology at the University of Idaho, reports that the soil of the Snake River plains is excellent for agricultural purposes. It is made up of a combination of sand and sediment deposited during the lake period, well mixed with eroded lava, and loess blown in by the wind from the dry valleys of Nevada and Oregon.

THE SUFFRAGE DRIVE

People who take the time to consider seriously the more or less big problems of the day are beginning to realize that the drive for a special session of the state legislature in January which is being carried on by the women of the University is something which means more to the general student interests than is at first apparent.

It means much to the University as a whole to have people in the state know that there are college women who are awake to the vital interests of the day and who are interested enough to do something. It will show others that the student body of this University intends to have, as it really should, something to do in leading public opinion.

The drive also is a means of bringing the women of the University into closer cooperation than anything else has ever done. It gives them something to work together for.

The committee which has for the past month been investigating the feasibility of a student book store has brot some very interesting facts before the University students.

From investigations made of a dozen different co-operative book stores, comes the gratifying report that every one has been an unqualified success. The committee has found that there would be ample support at Idaho to launch a store which would not duplicate the history made by other stores over the entire west.

The only difficulty in the road at present is the matter of finances. It is said that six thousand dollars will be required properly to equip the store at Idaho. We consider it an obligation resting on every student of the A. S. U. I. to aid in putting over the store. It is a cause which will benefit not only themselves, but will aid every student who may at any time come to the University. It is not the mere financing of a worthy cause, but it is aiding one that will pay cash dividends to each and every one of us.

Every student who has what he believes a practical plan for financing this movement, should make it a point to communicate with members of the committee. Every student who has an influence, or can bring influence to bear, upon CAPITAL should exercise that influence to the utmost. It will not be charity to contribute to, or finance the student book store; it will be an A No. 1 investment, an investment which will not only pay dividends to the investor, but to the borrower as well. It is an investment secured by nearly a thousand men and women, an opportunity which has for its prospectus, the unqualified success of hundreds of similar stores.

Surely it is a worthy cause and commanding of the practical support of every man and woman in the University. Let's get behind it.

Christmas vacation should mean more to the home-bound student than a mere fortnight's cessation of study.

It is an opportunity, if not an actual obligation resting on every student, to carry on a campaign for a larger student body. There is not a man or woman of the University who is not acquainted with one or more high school seniors who will be graduating at the end of this semester, or next June at the least. University people should make it a point to interview these high school students and interest them in the University of Idaho.

Get acquainted with your University and be prepared to expound on its advantages and resources. Be ready to answer general questions on the various departments and colleges.

If you are a loyal Idaho student, the University of Idaho is to you, the best, finest school in America. When you get home make your high school friends see the University as YOU see it.

S. V. C. DRIVE

There have been times, and very recent ones, when the students of the University have been accused of a lack of interest in things more serious than good grades and dances. Many of us were inclined to deny these accusations.

Recently there has been a campaign on the campus which should have appealed to the serious side of the student's makeup. The results were rather discouraging.

If three quarters of the students of this school had contributed the minimum that was asked of each one of them, the funds resulting would have been nearly double what they are.

This statement is by no means complimentary to the spiritual tone of the student body.

Each of us should take this for what it is worth and thoroughly digest it mentally.

During this week there are just two classes of students on the campus, those who are going—and those who ain't.

The constituents of the former class make us so darn jealous that not a word of space will be given to them. But the poor, despoiled ones who 'aint,' are deserving of more than they ever get.

In the first place they have to spend an almost endless week in listening to the fervid plans of their departing friends; this in itself is enough to bring on depreosy in the staunchest physique.

Then comes the added torture of seeing your best tie and Stetson, your string of La Tusca pearls, etc., adorning your room mate as he or she blithely skithers to the depot.

The third ordeal is at the station when the "special" pulls out. The Left Over is compelled to stand around in the snow and assimilate the babel of the home goers. They always are solicitous of our well fare and duly admonish us to have a good time when they know and we know that we are in for the damdest, dullest, lonsest time possible.

And finally, the train pulls out and the Left Over's gaze mournfully after the blur of fading smoke and experience a sickening sensation in the pit of their innards: the vacation is on. The Left Over winds mournfully home and finds the old house all but deserted, and gloomy as a tomb. He tries to eat some chow hashed up by an embryo Miss Farmer (the cook has left of course) and forthwith has indigestion.

In the evening a movie show fails to entertain and when the student climbs into bed, he is the most dejected being in seven states. The next morning the furnace man forgets to wake up and the pipes in the bath room are "busted."

Life becomes one grand wrangle of gloom until Saturday night when the Left Over dance sheds a ray of solace over a weary world (only this year there is a coal strike; hence no ray of cheer).

The funeral grinds on to the dirge of lost souls until Prexy's party saves us from utter extinction.

Then, Oh, Boy! We discover a girl that we have always adored, and learn that her "steady" has gone away. "No she hasn't a date for tomorrow night, and oh, I'm just dying for a coasting party and crazy to see a movie."

Ain't it grand and glorious, tho?

CAMPUS ROOMER

If some girls we know could find half as many excuses for study as they can to show that they just must have some new clothes, there wouldn't be honors enough to go around. (The same applies to the men about going to town for a pool game.)

In view of the impending coal shortage, it appears by no means unlikely that some of the University men will learn how Lincoln got his start. Who wots but in the next few weeks we may hear of wood choppers picnics to Moscow Mountain and in this day of women's rights, it would not be surprising to read the following in the society columns of the Argonaut: "Ketcha Man" sorority entertained at a jolly wood-splitting party Friday afternoon. Nearly sixty guests were present and two cords of wood were split into kindling. Miss Nottbuster was the champion axe wielder of the day, having split three sticks in fifteen minutes. Dainty refreshments, consisting of ham sandwiches, baked beans, and coffee were served at six."

Did you know that Clayton Keane is the greatest expoundant of English ever seen in Moscow (pool hall)?

Red noses are again coming into their own. Seventeen of the American Beauty tips were observed in the hall the other morning and Tookie Prout followed one for six blocks but was not rewarded with even a smell of the oliver which makes Kentuckians the greatest fighters the world has known.

Bernard McDevitt is considering tutoring a class in I. W. W.ism as exemplified at the mines in Erke.

When interviewed he said only tentative plans had been formulated, but that if given, the only fees would be the torture of hearing him lecture.

While the coming week is slowly wearing to a frazzle, we venture to say that there will be more consultations of time tables, bank accounts, wrist watches and lingerie stocks than in any other ten weeks of school.

Aint it H— when you have been planning for the last six months to spend Xmas with your best girl in the east and just the week before vacation, you discover that there is only seventeen dollars in your bank account and that your best suit needs cleaning and that you are two weeks behind in Chem and that the urgent letter home was delayed by the tie-up of trains, due to the coal strike? Aint it now?

The skii jump record of the Delta Gamma hill was broken last Sunday when Port Arthur featured a new style which consisted of both the proverbial hop and skip as well as the jump. The new record holder says his distance would have been twice as great had not his lady partner grabbed him by the head on the way down. He states he had no intentions of entering a handicap event when he asked for that date.

Josh—"Shine yo' shoes so you-all kin see yo' face in 'em, Mac."
 Horton M.—"Nothin' doin'," Josh, I'm satisfied with seein' my feet in 'em."

These days its pretty hard to tell by his hair cut whether he's a rube or a genius.

Gadys—"And when we are married we will live near mother so she can slip over."

Neil—"Yes, we'll live at the edge of a cliff."

CHEMISTRY CLUB MIXER

"The Effect of the War on Chemistry and the Chemical Industry," was the subject of a thirty minute talk by Dr. J. A. Kostalek, at a meeting of engineering students in the Ad. building last Wednesday evening.

Professor Kostalek told of the ways in which the war caused new discoveries in the science of chemistry and how people came to put more and more confidence in the sciences. He credited the war with having restored and increased the people's interest in chemistry and with having brought the inestimable value of chemical principles to their minds. The speech was of high educational value

WEST LAGS BEHIND IN SUFFRAGE EFFORT

Votes of 21,000,000 Women Depend On Seven Governors in Mountain and Pacific States

That the Pacific Northwest is the only large section of the United States which is not giving aid in the campaign for ratification of the federal suffrage amendment is shown by statistics recently received by the committee on statistics. Even the so called solid South, including the southeastern states, has shown signs of activity in the work and great hope of victory in the January sessions of Virginia and Mississippi are held by suffrage workers.

All other sections of the country, with the exception of the northwestern states have shown themselves enthusiastically for the amendment. The majority of the population of the country has ratified the amendment, including the great states of New York, Illinois, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts and California. The full enfranchisement of 21,000,000 women in 1920 will be withheld, if at all, by the combined inertia of the solid South and the Pacific Northwest. The latter section, including Idaho, Washington, Oregon and Nevada, is the critical area of the country in regard to this question.

While the ratification by the solid South is not absolutely necessary to the success of the amendment, and since the traditional attitude against the enfranchisement of women in these states makes it probable that some will refuse to ratify, the ratification by the northwestern states is absolutely essential to the enfranchisement of the women of the country, according to leaders in the work. The women of Idaho are realizing that on them may depend the fate of the national suffrage measure.

The present situation nationally in regard to the federal suffrage amendment was outlined yesterday by the committee of research and statistics: Suffrage Amendment.

There are approximately 28,000,000 women of voting age in the United States. To All University Women.
Do you realize that your willingness to work for a special session in January may mean the complete enfranchisement of 21,000,000 women in 1920 and the presidential enfranchisement of 11,000,000 women? Do you want 21,000,000 women to help you in 1920 in such matters as child labor laws, social betterment, education and international relations?

CO-EDS GET SUPPORT OF MEN AND FACULTY

No Opposition Among Idaho Citizens Say Supporters of Special Session Campaign.

The co-eds are finding interest and support in the campaign for a special session among the men of the University and the faculty. Some of the statements follow:

DEAN F. A. THOMSON: "I sincerely hope that it may be found possible for the governor to call an extra session of the legislature to ratify the suffrage amendment. There are many questions involved in the calling of extra legislative sessions however and I hope the friends of woman suffrage, of which of course I am one, will recognize that if the extra session is not called it will not be due to any lack of interest in the subject in the state. I wish the women of the University every success in their campaign."

PROFESSOR H. T. LEWIS: "I am highly in favor of the immediate ratification of this amendment by Idaho. I believe that immediate action should be taken on this amendment for two reasons: 1. If not acted on at once, this issue will be obscured by state and national campaigns next fall. 2. The state and national issues of the coming year are of vital import, and the vote of every thinking American is needed."

DEAN J. G. ELDRIDGE: "I am entirely in favor of the movement. Idaho tried woman suffrage early and the experiment has been a success. She should show to the more timid or backward states of the East that she does believe in it heartily."

MRS. E. H. LINDLEY: "I am extremely interested in this movement, and feel that it would be a great misfortune if ratification were postponed for another year."

PROFESSOR J. J. GILL: "The amendment should certainly be ratified and I have no doubt it will be. I question, however, whether the state officers having jurisdiction of this matter will feel inclined to call a special session at this time for the purpose of ratification, and in view of the cost of a special session, particularly in the face of the demands now made upon the taxpayers, I feel that this probable action may be right."

MISS MARION BYRNS: "The complete enfranchisement of 21,000,000 women and the presidential enfranchisement of 11,000,000 women in the elections of 1920 depends very probably on a special session in Idaho in January. It is worth it."

PROFESSOR CHENOWETH: "I hope the campaign will succeed."

PRESIDENT LINDLEY: "Idaho, being one of the first states to have equal suffrage, should, therefore, be one of the first states to ratify the amendment; otherwise it will indicate to the nation that suffrage has been a failure in this state, whereas it has been an unequal success."

MISS FRENCH: "The serious problems which are confronting the nation must be considered by enlightened and clear thinking men and women. To such citizens all must look for help, and help can most effectively be given thru the ballot. The right of the ballot should be the right of both men and women. Idaho should promptly ratify the amendment."

DEAN C. N. LITTLE: "As Idaho was a pioneer in adopting woman's suffrage, with resulting satisfaction to the large majority, so now the people of Idaho should be willing to make the necessary sacrifice involved in the expense of a short extra session of the legislature to extend to the women in the more conservative states the privilege of voting, which has been enjoyed for years by the women of Idaho."

PROFESSOR BROWN: "I am in favor of a special session of the legislature to ratify the woman's suffrage amendment. As soon as a sufficient number of states ratify the amendment to make it operative, enough others will fall into line. The extra session would be limited in action to the purpose given in the Governor's call, hence the session would be brief and comparatively inexpensive considering the object of the session."

UNIVERSITY WOMEN DEMAND RATIFICATION OF SUFFRAGE

TWO HUNDRED FIFTY CO-EDS WILL WORK IN HOME TOWNS DURING HOLIDAYS FOR SPECIAL LEGISLATION IN JANUARY TO RATIFY FEDERAL AMENDMENT.

Resolutions requesting a special session in January to ratify the federal suffrage amendment were adopted by unanimous vote at the special meeting of the University Women's League yesterday evening in the auditorium. In a meeting, which will be remembered as one of the most important in the history of Idaho student affairs, detailed plans were outlined for the suffrage campaign in the home towns of the state during the holidays. Two hundred and fifty University women have pledged themselves by this action to active effort to win the vote in 1920 for millions of other women in the United States.

"We cannot allow this critical time in the history of American suffrage to pass without doing our part," said Miss Lar Vern Borell, one of the leaders in the movement. "We feel that the responsibility is specially ours, here at the University, to carry on the work that means so much to the women of America."

The resolution which was adopted by the Women's League is as follows:

Whereas, it is of vital importance that all intelligent and conscientious citizens of this nation be empowered to vote in the Presidential election of 1920, and

Whereas, delay in ratification may result in the loss of the Federal Suffrage Amendment by default should the issue become obscured by other state and national questions, and

Whereas, the ratification by Idaho of this amendment has become of critical importance in obtaining true universal suffrage.

Be it Therefore Resolved that we the members of The Woman's League of the University of Idaho, earnestly request the Governor of the State of Idaho to call a special session of the Idaho legislature in January, 1920, for the ratification of the Federal Suffrage Amendment.

Lillian White, President. Gladys Clarke, Secretary. Dated this 15th day of December, 1919.

This resolution will be used as the basis for the resolution which it is hoped will be passed by every woman's club in the state. Copies of these will be forwarded to the governor.

Other Societies Act.

In addition to The Woman's League the majority of the other woman's societies of the University have passed the resolution and forwarded it with a letter to the governor. They are: Chi Delta Phi, unanimous; Kappa Kappa Gamma, unanimous; Delta Gamma unanimous. Gamma Phi Beta and Ridenbaugh Hall will probably act. It is expected that the Y. W. C. A. will also take action later in the week as well as various departmental clubs.

Instructions Given.

Each woman in the University has been urged by the committee of four, representing all of the women of the University, to follow the instructions for the vacation campaign given at yesterday's meeting in the auditorium. Reports on the work of the University women in each town will be made by the town chairman after the holidays.

"The key of the entire campaign is in the work in the home towns to be carried on by each loyal co-ed of U. of I.," said Miss Inez Callaway, one of the committee of four. "In the larger towns, such as Boise and Pocatello we shall organize for a special effort, but the smaller towns are also of great importance. It cannot be too strongly urged that the University women put aside personal affairs for a time to help definitely in this great national undertaking."

The instructions cover work with the home editors, state congressmen, woman's clubs, ministers and church societies, and with the governor himself in the form of carefully written letters.

For Editors.

A call is to be made by each University woman on her home town editor, according to the instructions given in yesterday's meeting. During this call she will bring his attention to the following points: (1) that the campaign for a special session in January is non-partizan and is being carried on by Idaho woman organized about The Woman's League of the University; (2) that complete ratification will mean the enfranchisement of 21 million women in congressional elections and over 11 million women in the presidential election of 1920; (3) that the issues of next year are of enormous importance, for which the vote of conscientious women is greatly needed; (4) that the ratification of the federal suffrage amendment is likely to be obscured by other issues in 1920 so that its passage must very probably be now or not at all; (5) that Idaho has become a critical state, that 22 states have ratified, others have indicated that they will, leaving Idaho, and some six or seven normally for suffrage, necessary to complete ratification before the presidential primaries.

This call on the editor will be followed, after an interval of a day or two, by a personal letter reminding him of the call, recounting again the points made, and asking him for his cooperation.

For Congressmen.

In regard to the state congressmen living in her home town the co-ed will take much the same procedure as in the case of the editors, according to the decision made at yesterday's meeting. A call will be followed by a letter asking cooperation.

For the Governor.

"We hope," said Miss Callaway, "that each university woman will send a carefully written and courteous letter to Governor D. W. Davis, Boise, requesting a special session in January to ratify the federal suffrage amendment." In this letter reasons similar to those outlined in the letters to the editors will be used.

For Woman's Clubs.

A letter prepared by Miss Marion Byrns, of the committee of four, was read as a suggested type for a letter to be sent by each University woman to a prominent club woman of her home town. The letter suggested is:

I am writing to you in behalf of the Women's League of the University of Idaho seeking your cooperation in the following plan: In view of the danger that is threatening the ratification of the Federal suffrage amendment, we believe that the biggest efforts should be made by the women of Idaho to do their part toward furthering the passage of this vital amendment by advocating a special session in January for the purpose of ratifying the suffrage amendment. We understand that Governor Davis is willing to call a special session if he considers the need critical in Idaho and if there is sufficient demand for the session. Idaho is now one of the several states which would normally ratify the amendment and which has not yet made any definite move toward the completion of ratification. Twenty one states have now ratified. Others have indicated that they will. Idaho remains one of the few necessary to complete the required 36 before the presidential primaries and the elections of 1920. Many millions of women will lose their presidential vote if the ratification is not completed before the primaries in March.

The Woman's League, which comprises all the women of the University of Idaho, has given its enthusiastic support to a campaign for this special session which it hopes to carry out in co-operation with the Women's Clubs of the state. Will you kindly bring this before your club at the earliest opportunity?

For Ministers and Church Societies.

It was asked at the meeting that each University woman talk with the minister and with prominent church women of her home town and ask cooperation in order that the woman's vote may be effective in such great problems as education, prison reform, child labor laws, vice, enforcement of prohibition, women in industry, etc.

Totals.

"This work demands of each University woman a minimum of five calls and five letters between Christmas and New Years, which is not too much to ask of any woman for the good of this cause," said Miss Borell. "We know it will be done."

Oregon Session January 12.

"I am in Chicago in the interest of the ratification of the Susan B. Anthony amendment," said Mrs. H. O. Havemeyer, prominent suffrage worker of New York, as she launched into the story of states, and special legislative session in an address before the Chicago Woman's club in the Fine Arts building recently.

"There are 20,000,000 women who can vote in the next presidential election, but there are many who cannot. In behalf of justice, of expediency, of expense and of labor it is necessary that this amendment be ratified quickly."

Take This Sheet Home.
This insert page is printed especially for each co-ed to take home with her for the holidays. It is to be used for instruction in the campaign in the home town for a special session. Study it. It may mean the votes of 21,000,000 women in 1920.

ALL DEPENDS ON TOWN CHAIRMEN

Home Leaders Responsible For Success of Big Ratification Campaign.

Town chairmen, chosen for their pep and working ability, have been selected to carry the suffrage campaign into every town in the state during the Christmas holidays. The girls chosen for this work will cooperate in every way possible with women's clubs in their home towns. It is their work to begin correspondence with such organizations at the earliest date, and to attempt to get in touch with any state legislators that may live in their districts. As newspaper publicity is of vital importance the town chairmen will send to the papers in their homes, articles regarding the proposed special session of the state legislature for the ratification of the suffrage amendment.

The "heavy" and vital work will come during the holidays, when the town chairmen are to call, personally, on all editors, state congressmen and woman's clubs in their towns.

The instructions for the town chairmen given out by the committee of four are:

Instructions For Town Chairmen.

The work in the home towns during vacation to assist in urging a special session of the Idaho legislature for the purpose of ratifying the federal suffrage amendment will be divided into four sections:

1. Cooperation with woman's clubs of your town.
2. Calls on and letters to the editors of your home town.
3. Calls on and letters to the state congressmen living in your town.
4. Well considered letters to the governor.
5. A report from each town chairman on the work done during the holidays is to be filed with the chairman of the town cooperation committee not later than January 8.

Specific Instructions.

As a measure of cooperation with the woman's clubs, each town chairman will send to the clubs of her home town three copies of the resolution, advocating a special session, not later than December 15, together with a letter explaining the issue involved and requesting that the resolution be passed, and one copy sent to Governor D. W. Davis at Boise, Idaho, and one copy sent at once to Lar Vern I. Borell, chairman of town cooperation committee, R. F. D. No. 1, Box 3, Moscow, Idaho.

During the holidays you are to request the woman's clubs of your town permission to make a talk of a few minutes in length at one of their meetings on the need of a special session in Idaho in order to give the women of the country a vote in 1920. If the resolution has not already been passed by the woman's clubs, you are to make every effort to see that it is passed without delay.

2. As town chairman, you will make it a point to call on the editors of your local papers during your vacation and impress upon them the need for publicity in an effort to get a special session. This should be followed up by a letter outlining in detail the question at issue.

3. You are to call on any state congressmen in your town and follow up with a letter as in case of the editors.

4. You will prepare a carefully written and courteous letter to the Governor showing by statistics and other means the great need to the women of the United States of a special session of the legislature of Idaho in January.

NOTE: It is important that the letters and the arguments used by yourself and by the university women of your town whom you advise, be written according to the suggestions of the central committee of four. These instructions together with the resolutions to be used by woman's clubs will be given out later on separate sheets.

Town Chairmen.

The town chairmen are: Grace Vogleson, Lewiston. Gladys Beach, Burley. Leah Borden, Shoshone. Marion, Byrns, Frieda Soulen, Mos-

IDAHO IS CRITICAL IN SUFFRAGE WORK

Gem of Mountains Must Ratify to Save Amendment from Probable Loss by Default.

That Idaho has become a critical state in the national campaign for ratification of the federal amendment makes the effort by the women of the University of Idaho of great importance, according to statements by prominent coeds. Idaho is now one of six states, or at the most ten, on whose initiative the complete enfranchisement of 21,000,000 women and the enfranchisement of over 11,000,000 women in the presidential elections depends. These six states now have state suffrage and for that reason, it is explained by leaders of the drive, the governors seem somewhat indifferent in the matter of obtaining votes for the millions of women in the United States who have no vote.

Complete ratification of the federal amendment depends on whether the women of these states, and particularly of Idaho, can overcome this indifference. The move must come from the so called progressive states of the Northwest if the general antipathy of the solid South is to be overcome and the amendment ratified.

"We are considering the problem from a national point of view, with America as the unit, not merely our own locality," said one of the Women's League workers yesterday, "and we believe that the fate of American suffrage may very possibly lie in the work of the next two weeks. Idaho has found woman's suffrage worth while, and if worth while for us it is immensely more worth while for the United States as a whole."

On the vote of the women, these leaders assert, will depend the improvement in the country as a whole of the conditions of women in industry, child labor, education, and social and domestic conditions generally. It will also give the white race a relative increase of 6,000,000 votes in the solid South. This fact the South has not considered.

Idaho and the progressive northwestern states should be the first to ratify the federal amendment, they assert, because Idaho has tested woman's suffrage and knows that it is of value to the country. On the initiative of this small group of states, including Idaho, which are in great minority in population to those states which have already ratified the amendment, depends the ratification of the federal amendment.

Other issues, say the coeds, are likely to obscure the suffrage question within a year. Reaction is likely to set in, and the amendment will be lost by default, if the iron is not struck while hot. Idaho is a critical state.

MRS. LINDLEY WILL DISCUSS SUFFRAGE

Talk in Assembly on Wednesday Will Cover Ratification of the Federal Amendment.

Mrs. E. H. Lindley will speak at general assembly Wednesday, December 17, on the situation in Idaho in regard to ratification of the federal suffrage amendment. Mrs. Lindley, as well as President Lindley, was prominent in suffrage work in eastern states before coming to Idaho. Mrs. Lindley's experience in this work will make the address of great value to other Idaho suffrage workers.

A talk by students on the drive will be given in Professor Miller's Freshman English lecture Wednesday.

A campaign is now on to induce Governor Carey of Wyoming to call a special session in December, the anniversary month of the granting of suffrage in Wyoming. So far the governor has contented himself with proclaiming a celebration of the anniversary but does not give that celebration the practical character of a special session.

Once this suffrage boycott by some western governors is overcome and ratification secured from the four states which can be counted upon to ratify at the regular sessions in January—New Jersey, Maryland, Kentucky, Rhode Island—only three additional special sessions will be required to enfranchise all the women of the country.

The legislatures of Vermont and Connecticut show majorities in favor but their governors are anti-suffragists. Indiana and West Virginia are among the other states which are ready to ratify if a session is called. In Mississippi, South Carolina and Virginia, active campaigns are being conducted in the hope and expectation of securing favorable action at the January sessions.

OREGON SESSION JANUARY 12.

ly. For more than seventeen years we have been working strenuously for suffrage. If the democratic administration had passed the amendment there would not have been this delay, for the greater number of the state legislatures were then in session. Twenty-two states have now ratified the amendment, Oregon will call a special session Jan. 12—that will make twenty-three.

"This is a consideration that affects half the population of the United States. Why shouldn't the governors call special sessions of the legislature?" They were called for the doughboys to vote—and on the good roads issue."

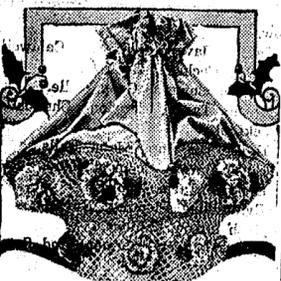

For a Man's Desk

If there is anything a man appreciates more than another it is a waste basket to hold things that he doesn't want or a case to hold things that he does want. Here are both these sensible gifts, made to match, and happy is the man who will receive them at Christmas time.

The waste basket has a foundation of very light board, covered with a dull rose-colored tapestry and finished with dark-green braid. Handles with tassels to match prove convenient. A medallion of figured tapestry bound by braid completes this practical and handsome gift. The case for papers is made to match the basket.

Something New in Bags

A basket crocheted of twine and dipped in shellac, is allowed to dry after being shaped to suit the fancy of its maker. It is then adorned with odd yarn flowers, as shown in the picture above, and converted into a pretty bag by lining it with silk and extending the silk above the top of the basket. The silk gathers up at the top on a ribbon. If one cares to present a friend with the ultimate in luxurious laundry bags, this affair will answer for it will grace any dressing room and serve to catch soiled handkerchiefs and neckwear.

CAMPUS ROOMER

Much money can be saved the students if they will do their own laundry. This is a simple and dignified work and should cast no discredit on the individual.

A practical method to pursue in washing clothes is to place all colored and white clothes along with woollens in a rusty kettle, adding soap, bluing and starch and boil for three hours. Remove and rinse in a solution of H₂O, sulphuric acid and Dutch Cleanser (the acid will remove the stains from the white clothes and at the same time be a test as to the quality of your woollens—if it eats the supposedly woolen things entirely up, you may rest assured that they are all wool. However if any threads remain you will know that they are not all wool and should be returned.) If the above directions are carefully followed you will be amazed at the results and the clothes will appear exactly as they do after being sent to a steam laundry.

Bath robes are always in good form and will be found much cheaper than tailored suits. They are the height of good taste at a formal dance, when worn with slippers and a string tie. Put on your dress suit under the robe and no one will be able to make slighting remarks about the misfit or burnt spot in the west end of the trousers, which are so common when rented suits are worn on the outside.

It is also well to avoid all hot house flowers as they create that air of liberality which is never pleasing to a girl. Instead buy a bouquet of artificial flowers (any dry goods store will be able to supply you for fifty cents), and perfect some method of inveigling them away from her just before you say good night. They can be used many times. A little violet or carnation, talcum powder sprinkled over them before going out will add to their impressiveness.

Shoe polish or store blackening will be found an excellent expedient for hurried dressing when your best pair of silk ones have a hole that shows. Apply the polish liberally around the corn place, (after donning the article) Be certain to cover the immediate vicinity of the corn place so that the "lap" or splice will not be noticed. This stunt works very well with white or slate colored hose.

The other morning, A cold frosty morning, I was coming up the campus walk. As I said before it was a cold, snappy morning. And on the campus, there were eight dogs playing.

It was cold, And perhaps the dogs were trying to keep warm. Or maybe after all They were only playing. Tag or leap frog or Blind Man's Buff or Run Sheep-Run. Anyway they were there playing and having a world of fun, And just then Bill Sutherland came up the walk.

And he watched the dogs, with a Hungry look in his weather eye, And after awhile He whistled to one of them and smiled All over his face (You know how he does it) And then he whistled some more and Said: "Heah Shep, nice old dog, Nice old Shep" And he tried for ten minutes to get That big Collie To come up to him, But he wouldn't come. Do you suppose that the Collie knew Bill was a pre-medic and likes to dissect dogs and get all mused up? I thank you.

A new armory to cost $125,000 has been proposed for the University of Utah. Now how about one for Idaho? Ask the Frosh.

Why Go to "IDAHO"
The choice of a university or college to be attended should be based upon four principal requirements: 1st, a high purpose and broad field of work; 2d, a competent faculty; 3d, a sufficient equipment; 4th, a student body of high ideals. The University of Idaho fully satisfies these requirements.
1. Purpose and Field—
Its purpose is to serve the people of Idaho in developing and training students; in advancing the entire State educational system of which it is a part; in assisting toward the solution of economic and social problems; in furnishing expert knowledge in Agriculture, Engineering, Forestry, Mining, Home Economics, Law, and Educational matters not only to students in residence but also to all who desire it throughout the State.
2. Faculty—
The faculty is made up of eighty-three teachers of thorough training and efficiency attained by years of study and experience. They are deeply interested in the progress of each and all under their instruction. They know the State and its conditions and give their best efforts to its development. In addition there are more than seventy workers in the agricultural extension division and fifteen agricultural county agents.
3. Equipment—
Its equipment is ample. It has a library of over 40,000 volumes, excellent facilities for teaching literature, philosophy, and the social sciences, and well provided laboratories for the natural and applied sciences and for the technologies.
4. Students—

KAPPAS NEARLY CAPTURE REAL HE MAN

A misguided burglar in a moment of absent-mindedness, attempted to enter the Kappa house Sunday evening.

"Folled again," was his exclamation when Mrs. McFee, into whose room the intruder was gaining entrance, advised him of her presence. She had finally awakened to the fact that the noise she had heard on the side porch was not a "sneak-date" but instead that someone was actually coming in through the window.

A few of the braver sisters in squad formation, armed with stove poker, hat pins, and other feminine implements of warfare, advanced to the attack. They found nothing but footprints in the snow, giving evidence of the hasty retreat of the would-be burglar, who had been frightened away without obtaining his longed-for bank roll.

Soon after dates were dismissed at 6:30 the members of the household assembled before the fireplace for their Sunday evening feed and song-fest. The only light left in the house was extinguished about 7:30 when Mrs. McFee, who has been ill for the past few weeks, retired. Apparently thinking that the last of the girls had left to join the fire-side circle, the uninvited guest sought entrance thru the most convenient side window which proved to be that of Mrs. McFee's room. The unsuspecting house-mother did not fully realize the situation until the window was forced open and a tall man in dark clothes had partially stepped into the room. She at once demanded of him as to his mission. The answer was a mad dash back through the window, over the porch rail and away.

A detective called to the scene attempted to ascertain the burglar's course upon leaving the house but the tracks were lost when he reached the sidewalk and his identity is as yet unknown.

Economics Club Meets.

The Economics Club met at the Sigma Nu house December 10. President Lindley gave an interesting talk on his eastern trip. He visited the Ford and Arrow plants and told of their modern equipment and how they made for efficiency.

DELEGATES CHOSEN FOR S. V. C. CONFERENCE

Verner Clements, Margaret Byrns and Marjorie Smith have been selected as student delegates at large to attend the S. V. C. conference at Des Moines, Iowa, December 31, 1919, to January 4, 1920. Other delegates are Abe Goff, Kenneth Hunter, Waldo Pierson, Helen Johnston, William Dille, and Marjorie Smith.

Owing to the fact that the student body was unable to raise all the necessary funds the Moscow churches were asked to contribute with the privilege of selecting the delegate whose expenses they paid. Therefore, when five churches raised $140 each, the committee was given the privilege of choosing three student delegates. Marjorie Byrns is paying her own expenses.

The delegates will leave Spokane December 28, and it is hoped to have a special train in spite of the coal shortage.

The Des Moines convention coming this time is of considerable importance and is the first meeting of its kind to be held since 1914 in Kansas City. Once during each college generation such a conference is held.

Western colleges to be represented at this convention are: Oregon Agricultural College, University of Oregon, University of California, University of Nevada, Stanford, University of Montana, University of Idaho, University of Washington and Washington State College.

To the Faculty and Student Body of the University:

The following are the delegates selected to attend the Student Volunteer Convention at Des Moines, Iowa, December 31, 1919, to January 4, 1920:

Student Delegates at Large
Verner Clements, Margaret Byrns, Marjorie Smith.

Delegates Selected By Churches
Abe Goff, Episcopal; Kenneth Hunter, Christian; Waldo Pierson, Methodist; Helen Johnston, Presbyterian; William Dille, Baptist.

Faculty Delegates
Sec. James MacPherson, Professor H. T. Lewis.

Extra Delegate
Marjorie Byrns.

The committee wishes to make the following explanation of the above report: In planning the canvass for funds it was felt that the entire sum of $1400 necessary to send Idaho's quota of ten delegates could not be raised by the students and faculty without undue hardship. The churches of Moscow were therefore asked to contribute with the stipulation that any church furnishing the full amount of $140 necessary to send one delegate would have the privilege of selecting that delegate. Five churches raised $140 each, and the names of their delegates as approved by the committee, are above.

The student body subscriptions were sufficient for three delegates only, and the committee therefore had the power to select only those three delegates, from a list of about 50 applicants, including many of the most prominent students. The Methodist church is contributing a portion of the expense of one of these.

Miss Marjorie Byrns is being sent as an extra delegate. If any other students are willing to pay all of their own expenses the committee will endeavor to make arrangements to have them admitted to Convention Floor as officially representing the University of Idaho.

It should be said furthermore that it was necessary that men and women be represented in proportion to their enrollments in school, and that since another such convention will not be held for four years it was deemed advisable that freshmen as well as seniors go as delegates.

Respectfully yours,
Committee on Selection of Delegates to S. V. C., Ernest K. Lindley, Chairman.

DAVIDS'
"Gifts For All"

Sporty Sputterings

By HAMOND EGGS.

Let's give fifteen big ones for the whole, grand, glorious West! At a meeting of the coast conference officials held in Seattle, December 13, resolutions were passed which provide for a post-season game in 1920, and annually thereafter, between Eastern and Pacific Coast college football champs.

Several other things of importance came up in the meeting, among which was the postponement of the applications of the "U" of Southern California and Stanford for admittance into the Pacific Coast conference. Official collegiate wrestling weights were set at 125, 135, 145, 168 pounds with the heavy-weight class at 175. This new class eliminates the "little fellows," which come under the old 115 pound class. No medals will be awarded in the Pacific Coast track meets of the future. A shield will be awarded to the winning team.

"Plasty" Plastico To Lead Football Men of 1920

At the annual "I" meeting of the football men, who earned their letters in the past season, Felix Plastico was elected captain for the coming season. "Plasty" sports two white rings on his sweater which he has earned while doing wild-cat service in the position of center for Idaho in the seasons of '17 and '19. If the big center can lead a team next year, which will trump the example he has set in his work on the Varsity squad, there is not a doubt but what that champion Eastern team will meet Idaho in the fall of 1920.

Mythical All-Coast Team Chosen

Not a single unanimous choice was cast for a position on the All-Star team which was recently chosen by the eleven pig skin critics who have the privilege of naming their home town boys for the honor job. Bill Steers received ten votes for the position of quarter. The other vote was cast for our old friend Dick Hanley of Washington State.

Large Squad Out for Frosh Team

Thursday evening, December 11, the first call of Coach "Hutch" was answered by a crew of 26 hoop artists. Light work was done in dribbling and basket shooting. The coach is well pleased with the material he has to work on but says twice that number should be out. Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday nights have been set as practice nights and everyone is supposed to be out in full war paint at 7:30 sharp.

"I" Club Feed at Plummers—Grover Evans New President

The "I" men pulled their first meeting of the year last Thursday at six bells in the shape of a highly informal eating contest held on the city's Cafeteria gridiron and track combined.

The first event featured a pork-chop eating contest in which President Barber won the tooth-pick prize by a margin of three swallows, a cup of Java and a choke. "Nels" Howard was set three yards and a doughnut for beating the gun and refusing to pass the sugar. This was a terrible handicap but the boy says it only served to enlarge his capacity. This official capacity test was cancelled and declared a luxury owing to the high price of spuds and macaroni. It is hoped, some day, to get Howard's cubical capacity listed in black and white.

After the eats were declared vanquished by "Umps" Irving, the meeting was called to order by President Barber and the election of officers ensued. The following men were chosen as officers for the year: "Grover" Evans, President; "Prexy" Lindley, Vice-President; "Mack" McCallie, Secretary and Treasurer.

President Evans took the chair amid the cheers of the multitude and numerous demands for a speech. (The speech followed in two reels and a headache and then all was quiet save for the scratching of picks upon ivory.) The speech itself was impressive, being short and to the point. The following quotation is taken therefrom and also being the whole: "Awdmittahelgwan fellows, lay off that part of it."

Official Pin Adopted

It was decided that the "I" men have as their official insignia, when not wearing the sweater, an "I" pin which is to be of sterling silver, one-half inch in dimensions, to be in the same proportion to form a block letter. These pins will be worn upon the vest and are to be distinguished from the gold "I" which has the word Debate engraved upon it and is awarded to those making the debate team. It is the desire of the club to have all members furnished with this pin and have it replace the life ticket which was formally given to the letter men when they received their sheep-skins. This means that anyone wearing this pin has a free pass to any athletic contest held at Idaho.

Exponents of the Mat and Fistic Arts Going Good

The grappling class under "Babe" Brown is doing real work on the canvas this week. Here is a free opportunity for everyone to come out, get good wholesome exercise, develop those muscles which you never knew you possessed and learn a real man's game. The boxing class under "Al" Kinney has an enrollment of seventeen men, which is about half the number that should report. Both these sports are

These classes are open to all and enrollment in them does not necessarily mean that you are trying for the team in either branch. Classes are held at the "Y" hut Tuesday and Thursday afternoons from 5 to 6.

No Rest For Varsity Squad

Coach "Hutch" announced that the men on the varsity squad would be required to report on Monday, December 29th, for practices as per always. The mat and tumbling work has been abandoned (much to the delight of Squinty) and light scrimmage will start right after Christmas. The squad has been showing up in first class shape for early season work although the old combination is somewhat weakened by "Bo" Moe being on the wounded list. He still suffers from a twisted knee but is working regularly and hopes soon to be back in the regular harness.

Dead Heat Between California and Stanford

The California teams put on a double exhibition of football last Saturday, when they staged a rugby football game with a soccer game as a curtain raiser. The Stanford crew won the soccer game by a score of 2 to 0 while the rugby game ended in a 3 to 3 tie.

Babe's Statement

"The boys of the wrestling class are taking hold with the proper spirit and are showing the fight and vim which goes to make up a winning team. What we do need however, is a larger squad of men. There are a lot husky men on the campus who have had experience on the mat and it is the duty of these men, as Idaho students, to turn out and do their utmost to help Idaho put out a winning wrestling team."
