HOME EC GIRLS IN TRAINING

FIVE UPPERCLASSEMEN ENTER PRACTICE HOUSE FOR THREE WEEKS

THEORY TO BE APPLIED

Misses Reed, Blomquist, Nettleton, Pechance and Scott Already At Home!

As a part of their regular training in home economics the Senior girls of the department, Manilla Reed, Ruth Blomquist, Sarah Nettleton, Sylvena Pechance and Ruth Scott will try keeping house for three weeks. This is necessitated thru the added requirement of three weeks in a practice cottage for those who expect to graduate in the department.

The family at the cottage will consist of five senior girls and two instructors, and the course is intended to reproduce, in as far as possible, home conditions. The daily routine associated with house work will be a part of the young women's problems, and according to schedule she will be found cleaning, dusting, sweeping and laundrying. The phase is not to be omitted and at times she will be entertaining invited guests or welcoming the unexpected ones.

According to present plans the girls will learn fully how to manage a home. Each girl will, at some time, superintend the house, plan and cook all the meals, do all the buying and pay the bills. She will have a budget and give an accurate account of all expenditures. Fifty-five cents per person per day will be the maximum allowance spent for food.

The course, says Miss Katherine Jensen, head of the department, is certain to prove popular as well as valuable and the girls fully appreciate the opportunity provided for meeting and solving real home problems. The practice cottage will provide an opportunity for the practical application of the theoretical knowledge gained earlier in the course.

Later in the year, the Juniors of the department, Frances Wiley, Cora Salter, Leta Sabin, Olive Merritt and Gladys Clarke, will spend three weeks at the cottage.

The team running the two-mile for Idaho was made up of Hughes, Gerhart, Harsh and Van. Those from Oregon were ...

MERE MAN SUGGESTS PLAN TO GOVERNING COUNCIL

An excellent innovation and addition to our present system of self-government was suggested by an enterprising young man in this University when, as he strolled in almost solitary manner, last Sunday after the Women's League had rung its nine o'clock curfew, he thought a thought that is bound to prove of inestimable value to the Women's Self-Governing Council.

The final purport of all this that is that the council buy a patrol wagon with a powerful and questioning search light to aid the solitary night watchman in his lonely peripatations. The object of the patrol wagon is, of course, to pick up all those weary couples who, after miles of conversation, are too tired to reach a sorority house, and are forced to subside into the nearest shadow. The search light would naturally throw some light on the subjects at hand or in arms.

However, it would be the duty of the patrol wagon to pick up all those weary wanderers. But this is the chief difficulty: What provision for manual occupation should the Council make, once they get a couple in the wagon? (Anyone solving this question gets the first ride in the Bus.)

The gentleman vouchsafing the suggestion, when questioned concerning the size of such a patrol wagon, said that a five-ton truck if fitted overhead with hanging straps, would probably accommodate the crowd.

IDAHO WINS SECOND GAME WITH W.S.C.

By a Score of 18 to 9 Varsity Defeats Neighboring College Bunch—Lose First Struggle 12 to 9.

Taking the lead in the third inning with seven runs, Idaho defeated W. S. C. in the second game of the series Saturday afternoon at the fairgrounds by a score of 18 to 9. Procrastination was the Pullman pitcher's middle name but the game sped up after the middle of the third inning when Idaho batted Cook out of the box, piling up seven runs. He was replaced by Kulzer. Pitchers were shifted by Idaho in the sixth inning when Foran took Carlson's place in the box. Foran brought the on-lookers (all six of them) to their feet and the two ladies present waved their handkerchiefs and gave a deafening roar of applause, when having replaced Carlson with all bases full and one out, he struck one man out and another flew out to the shortstop, holding Pullman to a zero score in that inning.

Carlson pitched a good game, striking out five men, while in the box. The former U. of W. twirler replacing him struck out one man in the sixth and six men in the last three innings.

A home run hit in the second inning by Roy Hanley of Pullman, was the feature of the game.

Evans and Moe showed exceptional form for the winning team.

The Score

R. H. E.
Idaho	18 16 3
Pullman	9 9 7

Batteries: Carlson, Foran and Fox, Cook, Kulzer and Watson.

The line-up follows:

FOOLED AGAIN---SENIORS SNEAK JUNIORS DECLARE HOLIDAY

BUT UNDERCLASSEMEN SIT TIGHT AND CONTENT THEMSELVES WITH GIVING DANCE THIS AFTERNOON IN GYM AFTER DE-LIBERATIONS IN AUDITORIUM THIS MORNING

Foiled again, and by the Seniors! In today's cold, gray dawn when the vast majority of the campus was still sawing logs, the doughty members of the Senior class fared forth "over the hills and fur away"—the further away the better. Unmolested and unchallenged they carted forth from Moscow food supplies sufficient to feed the starving Armenians and Charlie Gerlough. And for aught we know as this paper goes to press, far from Moscow our seniors are gambling on the green, playing tag, and trying to keep track of the chaperones and Ken Newland.

Vast amaze was registered by the entire University when it awoke to find the Senior bunks unoccupied and their morning repast untouched. Foul play was immediately suspected and later confirmed when all rough neck sweaters were reported missing in the various houses. From force of habit and faculty, the dazed underclassmen wandered to their eight o'clocks, but thru a process of unsteady percolation, light began to dawn, and by nine o'clock ulterior forces were at work.

The Juniors collected at the old "J" bench where many important engagements have taken place. Willing to sacrifice all that of self in the matter, the entire class decided to forego the pleasure of school and seek communion with nature. They chartered a few autos and the little food that the Seniors had left in Moscow and hid them away to the hills long before noon.

The Sophomores and Freshmen assembled in the auditorium, where after much haranguing and due consideration of the ten per cent dock thoughtfully promised by the faculty, they decided to attend all classes, but to throw a dance this afternoon for all who could attend.

Peace now reigns on the campus, and all fear of any counter revolution is unlooked for by military and civil experts.

MISS FRENCH RETURNS FROM TOUR OF NORTH IDAHO

Dean Permeal French, who has been touring the northern part of the state in the interest of the University, returned to Moscow on Monday. While away, Miss French addressed the student bodies of the St. Maries, Wallace, Burke, Kellogg, Harrison, and Coeur d'Alene high schools, urging prospective college students to consider the University of Idaho as their future Alma Mater.

While on her tour, Miss French had the opportunity to meet many Idaho alumni, who she reports are making a place for themselves in the world. Not only did she receive the hearty support of Idaho grads, but the superintendents and instructors of the institutions which she visited were sympathetic and willing co-workers in all endeavors to boost for the University.

Miss French leaves for southern Idaho today, where she will conduct a "bigger and better" Idaho campaign. Her itinerary includes Weiser, Payette, Caldwell, Nampa, Boise, Idaho Falls, St. Anthony, Rexburg, Blackfoot, Pocatello and Twin Falls.

F. G. Miller Addresses Foresters.

"The Need of a Forest Policy for Idaho" was the subject of an address given in Missoula, Montana, last week before the Montana-Idaho section of the Society of American Foresters by Dean F. G. Miller. Before he returns to Moscow Dean Miller will visit the Agricultural Experiment Station at Sandpoint to arrange some forest planting there.

STODDARD KING GIVES TALK ON PARODY

ENGLISH CLUB HEARS LECTURE ON GOOD AND BAD POETRY

Do you know good parody, when you see it? And do you know anything about it? According to statements made by Stoddard King at the English Club meeting Wednesday, April 21, there is really a specialized art of parody. It is the acid test for distinguishing between the good and the bad poetry. "Good poetry, really good poetry, is never parodied," stated Mr. King. "You find Tennyson's 'Break, Break, Break' parodied—but never his 'Crossing the Bar'."

A few intimate details of the history of parody were also given by Mr. King, who is probably as well known to campus audiences thru his song, "The Long, Long Trail," as thru the facetious column he edits in the Spokesman-Review. "If you'd dig up enough Babylonian bricks," he said, "and translate the inscriptions, you'd find the parody of one brick on another."

Later in the evening the club members danced.

LECTURE-RECITAL GIVEN BY NOTED HARPISIT

ALICE G. SMITH, OF PORTLAND, ENTERTAINS AT ASSEMBLY WITH VARIED PROGRAM

A lecture-recital by Miss Alice Smith, who has the reputation of being the best woman harpist in the country, was the feature of the regular assembly Wednesday in the University auditorium. Miss Smith is a resident of Portland, Oregon, having come there from New York where she played in the Metropolitan Opera Company.

The widely varied program presented by Miss Smith showed the musical possibilities of the harp and included the following selections: "Impromptu," by Schaecker; "Autumn," Thomas; "The Story of the Harp;" (a) "The Origin of the Harp;" (b) The Harp that Once Through Tara's Balls;" (c) "The Minstrel's Farewell;" Medley, "Dixie" and "Old Black Joe," harp and piano; "Habanera," Chabrier; Waltz, Albania Rodgers; "Fleur-de-Lis," Rodgers.

GIRLS DEMAND "IS" FOR EXPERT DRESS JUDGING

"Shall Freshmen girls be allowed an 'I' for expert dress judging?" may be a question for the consideration of the student body. This new activity was recently instigated in the Home Economics department in the form of a Freshmen Promenade.

Each girl donned her newly created frock and appeared before her classmates who passed judgment upon the garment. The dress was scored from the standpoint of style, use, color, and cost. The dresses on an average scored very high. In the array gingham and voiles predominated. The maximum cost was $9.37 and the minimum $3.00 Miss Hess, instructor in sewing, stated that none of the dresses could be purchased for less than $10 and some would be priced as high as $35 in the stores.

This adds another note of interest. It might be suggestive that the "donors of the denims" take notice. If there be such a saving by the simple creation of a dress, might the saving not be as great by the creation of a pair of new spring overalls?

MISS JENSEN TO ATTEND HOME EC. CONVENTION

Miss Katherine Jensen, head of the Home Economics department will go to Denver, Colorado, to attend the national conference for teacher training and supervisor work in Home Economics which convenes there May 3-8.

DEAN THOMSON GIVES REPORT AT ANNUAL MEETING

A report showing that more than half of the total expenditures for the year of the Idaho state bureau of mines was provided by the cooperation of the United States bureau of Mines and Geological survey, was given by Dean F. A. Thomson in his report at the annual meeting of the bureau in Boise last week. Professor D. C. Livingston of the Geology department also represented the University.

Total state appropriations for the bureau's work expended from April 1, 1919 to April 1, 1920, were $17,252.29. The federal bureau of Mines contributed $6,317.56 and the geological survey $13,220 for projects in which the state and federal governments united within the state.

Other members of the board present were Governor D. W. Davis, chairman and Jerome J. Day, Robert N. Bell, state mine inspector, was out of town.

Y. M. C. A. CONFERENCE TO MEET AT SEABECK JUNE 18

The call to Seabeck June 18-27, 1920, should be answered by at least thirty Idaho students, according to James Macpherson, Y. M. C. A. secretary. Representatives are to attend from the colleges and universities of Oregon, Idaho, Washington and Montana.

This year the Northwest Student Government Conference will hold its meeting with the Seabeck Students Assembly of which Ernest Lindley is secretary, and Stanford Anderson of the University of Oregon is chairman.

KELLEY DUE THIS WEEK

NEW FOOTBALL COACH WILL ASSUME OFFICIAL DUTIES HERE IN SHORT TIME

STUDENTS TO SUPPORT

A. S. U. I. Meeting Unanimously Adopts Resolutions of Welcome And Cooperation

Coach Thomas Kelley, former Chicago football star, who is to guide Idaho's 1920 gridiron destinies, will probably arrive on the Campus the latter part of the week, according to a statement made by L. F. Parsons, executive secretary. Mr. Kelley comes to the University largely thru the efforts of Robert O. Jones, secretary of state, and other southern Idaho alumni.

The sensational record made by Kelley at the University of Alabama and at the Missouri School of Mines has led Idaho football enthusiasts to believe strongly in the probability of a successful season. He has been an all western tackle for two years and is said to have unusual capabilities as a coach of linemen.

University undergraduates have been thoroughly aroused by the prospect of Kelley's appearance here and at a recent A. S. U. I. meeting the following resolutions were unanimously adopted.

Student Support Pledged. Whereas, Thomas Kelley, recently appointed Idaho football coach, will make his appearance on the campus at some time in the near future, and

Whereas, it is incumbent upon the student body to assure Coach Kelley that his welcome will be cordial and sincere. Now, therefore be it resolved, that we, the Associated Students of the University of Idaho, pledge to Coach Kelley our zealous, unqualified and determined support and declare ourselves ready to cooperate with him in any way that he may deem advisable.

Be it further resolved that a copy of these resolutions shall be sent to Coach Kelley and that they also shall be printed in the University Argonaut.

A.S.U.I. TO HOLD SPECIAL MEETING

Many Amendments to be Considered; Glee Club to Elect and May Queen to be Elected

Idaho's Queen of the May will be elected at a special A. S. U. I. meeting to be held on Wednesday at the regular assembly hour. According to President Red Clements this meeting is going to be a live wire proposition, as full of burning and important business as a mustard plaster,—that is if enough persons attend to make a quorum.

The University Glee Club, which held the audiences of southern Idaho spellbound, will take fifteen minutes to try a little binding on the student body. The Club has some new Idaho songs of merit which it wishes to present to the university at this time. Likewise, the committee appointed to further arrange for a Co-Operative Students' Book Store has some inviting news to report to the seekers after economy, which includes everyone in this college. A Students' Book Store means a bigger Idaho. Come and vote for it.

And last, but not least, there is the plain garden variety crop of amendments to consider. The rapid growth in this university makes the present A. S. U. I. registration fee inadequate to cover the necessary expenses for necessary athletic teams. Increasing the fee means an increase in the prestige of this, our college. Everybody out, and see that it's done rightly.

A formal session of the Forester's Club was held at the Kappa Sigma house April 21. R. A. Muttkowski of the Zoology department spoke on the "Relation of Entomology to Forestry."

FOREWORD.

This Argonaut is issued merely as an Argonaut. It is issued partially to show the men of the University that the Idaho Co-eds are capable of putting out a paper that at least looks like the one which usually appears Tuesday night. We wish to give you the campus news—to make you smile a little—and to make you understand that perhaps women can do something. This is our first attempt. Judge it as leniently as you did the first attempts of the regular staff. If you have criticisms to make—make them to us.

The lack of knowledge displayed by most of the student body concerning the coming presidential election has caused considerable adverse comment. Idaho recently established for itself the reputation of being a wide awake University—a reputation of being a place where the women take enough interest in national and state affairs to carry on a successful campaign for the ratification of the national suffrage amendment in this state.

Considering the fact that the University reading room contains several newspapers and that everyone is talking election it is remarkable that so many members of the student body are absolutely ignorant of national affairs. If you think Bryan is the best man—vote for him. The idea is to vote for someone, and to know why you are voting the way you are. If you let others think for you now what are you going to do when you have to think for yourself?

Are you a dead head or a live wire? You're either one or the other. You can't be both. Are you giving to the A. S. U. I. of this, your university, the loyal support and hearty cooperation that as a member of this college you necessarily owe to it? Or are you one of the lounge lizards who prefer "playing around" to the serious business of participation in college activities?

A chain is no stronger than its weakest link. The A. S. U. I. can be no stronger than the individuals that compose it. Its initiative, its personality, its pep and its force is measured by the degree to which its components possess these qualities.

As it is the composition of the atom that determines the nature of the mass, so it is that you, individual member of the A. S. U. I., have the power to determine the future effectiveness of this organization. It's up to YOU.

EX-SERVICE MEN TO HEAR WAR WORKER

MRS. JEAN MORRIS ELLIS OF PORTLAND COMING HIGHLY RECOMMENDED

VOCATIONAL GUIDANCE EXPERT

Open Meeting to be Held Followed By Personal Interviews For Ex-Service Men

Mrs. Jean Morris Ellis of Portland, Oregon, who has been working under the auspices of the National War Work Council, Y. M. C. A., as a vocational guidance expert, comes to Moscow and to the University next Sunday, May 2, in the interests of ex-service men.

Mrs. Ellis has been visiting American Legion Posts and other organizations wherever ex-service men are to be found all over the north-west and comes highly recommended because of her fine work. She usually holds an open meeting to explain her work after which the time is devoted to personal interviews with the men. There will probably be two or three open meetings in Moscow.

Mrs. Ellis will speak at the "Y" hut next Monday and all ex-service men desiring an interview should arrange a date with Secy Macpherson as early as possible. There will be great demand for interviews as she becomes known among the men. Her services are absolutely free.

Women's League Chooses Officers. The new officers of the Women's League for the year 1920-21, are as follows:

Gladys Clarke, president; Francis Wiley, vice-president; Phyllis Orford, secretary-treasurer. The executive board is composed of Alice Sheffield, Eleanor Faris, Gladys Hastie, Georgia Oylar, Grace Taggart and Marie Anderson.

After having lost a game and won a game in the conference series, the Idaho baseball nine will meet the University of Oregon nine in the first contest of a two-game series Wednesday.

Definite announcement has not been made as to Coach Hutchinson's pitching selection, but it is believed that he will start Ed. Foran of Seattle, who got seven strikeouts in his brief time in the box Saturday.

Jacobberger, of the Oregon team, is said to be a fast pitcher. According to reports, Wednesday's and Thursday's games may see a mound duel between Foran and the Oregon pitcher.

HOME EC. DEPARTMENT WANTS REAL LIVE BABY

Will You Loan Yours?

Have you a little baby in your home? If you have, would you consider lending it to the Home Economics department for a few weeks? The girls in the practice house have all the comforts of home—now all they need is someone's baby to experiment on.

If your baby is strong and used to rough treatment send it over to the cottage. The girls promise to return it to you in good condition, although no one has been found who will promise to walk the floor with the child if it should become unruly. Or perhaps you have twins. Can you spare them?

Prof. Longley Assists Fruit Growers.

Prof. L. E. Longley of the Department of Horticulture has left for Payette to enter upon a study of orchard spraying in Payette and neighboring counties. Mr. Longley will spend something like three months in this section of the state, carrying on investigations having to do with spraying, effects of spray upon vegetation in the orchard, and other work of interest to the horticulturists in that section.

Mr. Longley goes to this section at the direct request of the people of this community for special assistance in securing information of vital importance to the future of the fruit growing industry.

YOUNG WOMEN MAKE PUBLIC OATH OF OFFICE TAKEN BY COUNCIL MEMBERS

The oath of office which all members of the Women's Self Government Council are required to take on entrance to their official capacity was omitted from the list of published regulations as they appeared in the last edition of the Argonaut, and in its place appeared a series of dots, dashes, and question marks that might indicate almost anything.

In self defense, the Council requests that the oath of office be printed as follows:

Oath.

I, (name), do solemnly swear in the presence of this Council of the Women's Self-Constituted Government of the University of Idaho, that I will not as a member of said Council, nor

ALUMNI SECTION

"Shortly after Christmas of this school year, Mr. L. F. Parsons, Executive Secretary of the University, presented a plan to the alumni by which he would be enabled to distribute Argonauts to alumni, through the active cooperation of Moscow business men. $175 was raised for this purpose, and the Argonaut has been sent out to alumni without cost to them for the past half school year.

"It was hoped that enough interest would be manifested by the alumni in University matters after again having them brought to their attention thru the Argonaut, and that sufficient membership and subscription fees would be forthcoming from them to continue the distribution of the Argonaut to all alumni. This has not been the case, however. A large number of alumni have paid in, and the campaign has proved a success.

"But there are still a number of graduates who have not paid their dues. The funds for free distribution are exhausted. We are now forced by circumstances to discontinue the distribution of the Argonaut to those not paying their membership dues and the subscription price to the Argonaut.

"If you do not receive the Argonaut after this issue, you will know that it is because the Alumni Association has not received $2.00 from you.

"If you still think anything of the University and care to be intimately informed on what is doing in all departments of the University life, please send in that $2.00. Let us prove to the student body and the administration that we have some appreciation of their desire to cooperate in a greater Idaho program."

ALUMNI PERSONALS

A. H. Knudson, '15, is coaching in Dillon, Montana, and has just won the state championship in basketball.

Harold S. Purdy, '16, writes from Coeur d'Alene that he is trying to stir up interest there among the high school students in the direction of the University. He also states that he doesn't want us to publish his letter, so we won't. But we couldn't help letting you know that Hank still has the Idaho spirit.

The following message comes from Alvin Denman, '19, who is practicing law at Idaho Falls: "We are filled with optimism and great expectations regarding the University's future. The strong Alumni Association which has been built up, the increased enrollment at the University, and the addition of a number of valuable members of the faculty, is bound to place the University of Idaho in the lead of our Western educational institutions. Success is certain, but one thing we must keep in mind, and that is that it shall be a tremendous success."

Herbert A. Wadsworth, '10, is an officer in the army of occupation on the Rhine.

Newell S. Wight, '16, College of Agriculture, is the secretary of the Chamber of Commerce at Twin Falls, Idaho.

F. H. Lefrenz, '15, has resigned his position as superintendent of the Sandpoint Substation and has entered into a partnership with his brother, in Coeur d'Alene in handling the Lefrenz home farm. It is the plan of the Lefrenz brothers to develop the farm so as to engage in the production of purebred livestock.

J. E. Nordby, '15, has just returned from marketing 96 head of two-year-old experimental steers which were fed under his direction at the University experimental feeding plant at Caldwell during the past four months. At the culmination of the feeding period on March 17, the livestock men of southern Idaho were invited to visit the substation farm and look over the experimental cattle. 250 farmers and stockmen responded and showed marked interest in the results. There were 120 steers on the farm this year and next year it is planned to increase the number of steers and feed sheep in addition.

David Worth Albert, '16, accepted an appointment in the Department of Horticulture of the University of Arizona. He is the third Idaho graduate to receive employment in the U. of Arizona, the other two being Allen F. Kinnison, and H. C. Hurd.

Grover D. Turnbow, '16, recently field dairyman of the University of Wyoming, has gone to the University of California, University Farm, Davis, to become associate professor in the dairy department, in the place of S. L. Deining, '15, who has accepted a position with a concern handling dairy supplies in Oakland, California.

Leland I. Case, '13, College of Agriculture, has been appointed field representative of the American Hereford Cattle Breeders' Association. Mr. Case is the 3rd Idaho graduate within the last two years to become identified with this association. The others are Ronald Miller, '16, field man for the association, and C. H. Ficke, '17, who is on the staff of the American Hereford Journal.

Home-coming week has been set at this date this year in order to enable the alumni to be on the campus during Commencement. The other members of the committee are Mrs. Beinfuhr, '04, George Horton, '06, Mrs. Noffsger, and Nora Ashton. In connection with Home-Coming Week, Mrs. Hulme says: "We are planning to make this the biggest Home-Coming yet. This year has seen a new revival of interest among the alumni, and many of them have already expressed their intention of returning for Commencement."

"It is hoped that every county in the state will send a delegate to the University for Home-Coming Week. The committee is planning for the alumni an old-time, get-together sort of a week, and all alumni are urged to plan their northern visits so that they may visit the campus at this time."

The Kind of Man I'd Like to Marry

"Live to learn, Maggie, live to learn," says Jiggs, the sole acquaintance of the newspaper-reading college public, and you'll learn a lot if you peruse this article. Despite the reticence of several hundred of the women students who were interviewed, the reporter succeeded in getting statements from several of the prominent women on this campus as regards the qualifications that they would consider essential in a good husband. The general consensus of opinion among the Co-eds appears to be that a "good man now-a-days is hard to find," something like the proverbial hen's teeth, or the good old fashioned American dollar. However the untiring efforts of the office dog resulted in the following discoveries that should be of much value as a standard of future conduct among the male fusers.

The signed statements follow:

Anyone, just so he is a Beta, an athlete, and has two "I" sweaters. I need one. Gladys Clark.

Anyone rating $300 in good U. S. currency every month is eligible in the finals. Edith Dingle.

I should like a man with two great big brown eyes; no more, no less. Gladys Putnam.

I crave Harmony in my wedded life. Manilla Reed.

Give me a man with a cool million, patent leather hair, and a cinch-hold in the dance. Nathalie Tecklenberg.

Oh, you athletes—especially if they are good with a line—even a rope line. Polly Thomas.

I've always been fond of travel—goodness me, NO—I don't want a traveling man; I was just trying to say that I'd like to sail straight to Port. Evadna Roberts.

I've always been keen for the Dutch. Julia Adelman.

Anyone, just so he is a Kappa Sigma in good standing. Verna Wilkinson, and Norma Langroise.

Must be tall, have red hair, live in a nice brick house, and have a mother of pearl pin to match my Kappa key. (Modesty forced her to withhold her name.)

I don't want a man, I won't have one. I want a uplift the Pore. Virginia McRae.

Y. W. Has Good Year.

During the winter of 1919-20 the Y. W. C. A. has been active in many phases of campus life according to Margaret Byrns, ex-president. It has entertained the women of the college in a democratic fashion and laid the foundation for new and broader relationships thru the Big Sister Movement. It has endeavored to center its meetings on practical problems in the college and in the world at large. Thru all their activities the women of the Advisory Board have given unmeasurable service and enthusiasm. A splendid opening has been made for better work next year and there is every reason to expect a better and bigger association in the future.

OVERALLIC BLUES

There are overalls, and coveralls and all-in-alls, and we s'pose that there are underalls, but after all the freshmen have done it all. In other words the fickle members of the sterner sex in the freshman class have forsaken the Janes for the Jeans, and the refrain of the entire class is something like this:

"I've got the blues, I've got the blues, I've got the overallic blues."

For the girls in the class call it the "bunk" and two-thirds of the male members are radically again it, but somehow the overalls were shipped up on 'em, which is, of course, the proper thing for all well behaved overalls to do. So along side of the corduroys, and the red handkerchiefs; the gum boots and the gum shoes, we have the blue denims.

"Long away, they wear. "Quite cottons, to wear."

The demand for President E. H. Lindley, as a commencement and baccalaureate speaker, is shown by the following closely run schedule:

Blackfoot, May 9; Jerome, May 11; Rupert, May 12; Buhl, May 13; Meridian, May 14; Franklin, May 15; Weiser, May 16; Coeur d'Alene, May 20; Kellogg, May 28 and the Oregon State Normal at Monmouth, June 16.

FIRST STEP IN "KNOW YOUR UNIVERSITY" CAMPAIGN

"Know your University" is the slogan of some large eastern universities, and in this connection it may be of particular interest to Idaho students to know more about the activities taking place in the various departments of your University.

"There is, probably," says Prof. C. H. Werkman, "no more interesting field than that of bacteriology. The bacteriologist deals with the invisible life, but life so important that human existence is dependent upon bacterial existence. The deepening current of human existence forces us to study bacteria and their functions. In so far as they are dangerous to our health we must defend ourselves; in so far as they are necessary and beneficial, we must learn to make them useful to society."

"The department of Bacteriology is a branch of the state board of health, and as such does much of the clinical testing for northern Idaho. Among the more common diagnoses performed, says Professor Werkman, is that of tuberculosis. In making this diagnosis a small particle of exudated is stained by a peculiar acting stain. All germs of tuberculosis become a deep red color; all other bacteria are stained deep blue. There is a peculiar fascination in watching for the slender red, rod-shaped organisms of tuberculosis. There is a feeling of relief to pass the sample under the microscope and find it free from the dreaded germ of the great White Plague."

As a means toward protecting the health of the students, and citizens of northern Idaho, throats of persons suspected of having diphtheria germs are swabbed with a sterile tuft of cotton, which is then incubated at body temperature for twenty-four to forty-eight hours. Since even normal, healthy throats, contain a variety of harmless bacteria, it is necessary to resort to staining methods to identify the diphtheria germs but by means of a special aniline stain the presence of diphtheria germs is noted by their peculiar shape and appearance.

Thus in case of infection being present, diphtheria anti-toxin is administered, either in protective doses or in larger curative doses in case the patient is suffering from the disease.

Various other tests are performed for the safety and welfare of the community, for example, the blood tests of animals for various contagious diseases affecting livestock.

SOCIAL & PERSONAL

Campus society was in full swing over the week-end. The Sophomore frolic given by the class of '22 in the gymnasium Saturday evening was one of the most successful of the all-college dances this year.

By far the most elaborate affair of the season was the formal party given by the alumnae of Gamma Phi Beta Friday evening. On the same evening Alpha Kappa Epsilon entertained with a delightful dance in the K. C. Hall. The social program for the remaining weeks of the school year is crowded and with spring at last with us the trend of entertainment will turn to the out of doors.

The alumnae of Xi chapter of day, April 23, at a formal given at Gamma Phi Beta were hostesses Friday evening in honor of the active chapter. The spring idea was carried out in the decorations. Brilliant colored flowers were suspended from the pink and blue latticed ceiling and butterflies poised in the fountain in the center of the hall. FACULTY EXPRESSES OPINION ON BLUE DENIM

GENERAL SENTIMENT LEANS TO RESURRECTION OF OLD CLOTHES

"Economy denotes a sound mind," said President Lindley when interviewed concerning the step taken by the Freshmen toward alleviating the H. C. L., when they recently adopted blue denims as a class garb. "It is a good solution," continued the President in part, "if one has to purchase new clothes, but it is a better solution to wear the old clothes out first. Old clothes are always consonant with neatness, and a cotton shirt can be kept as clean as a silk one. Likewise old shoes will take polish. Let us spend with system." Dean Cockerill of the Law school said that he was doing his bit toward forcing clothing prices downward not by buying denims, but rather by rescuing from the attic partially worn garments which he is intrusting to the Moscow pressery system for further resurrection and renovation. "This is the most sensible and effective method to use in order to force a reduction in prices," said the Dean.

"It will help, but it is not an adequate solution," is the statement of Professor Brown.

The above statements seem to contain the consensus of opinion of the students and faculty concerning the freshmen and their blue denims. It is generally agreed that the purchase of overalls will alleviate the situation only in so far as the purchase of new clothes is necessary, but that the better solution is to wear out the old garments and buy only that which is necessary—"to spend with system."

Some Sports!

(By Rhoda Bike.)

Come up, ye girls! Can we do it? 7734, Yes! What? Why, write for the Argonaut, play basketball, baseball, hockey, tennis, cut up cats, milk cows, discuss presidential candidates in everything. Let's go!!

Are Women's Athletics at Idaho making a hit? How's this sound? Approximately two hundred girls signed up for outdoor Spring athletics. One hundred five will play tennis, sixty-four will turn out for baseball, and fifty-five will take a turn at field hockey. And if they take the interest in these sports that they have in basketball. Well, boys, watch 'em—You'll be proud of 'em.

Scandalous, outrageous, awful but time every word of it. Listen!! And don't breath a word of it. Men, real live men, will be admitted to the final game of the girls' basketball tournament next week. Come one and all, we gladly greet you! Watch for the date.

Listen to these reports and then help boost women's athletics for your Alma Mater. "Nearly 500 women register for sports, facilities crowded," read the headlines of the University of Oregon Emerald recently.

An intragroup baseball tournament is being held by the co-eds of W. S. C., this form of outdoor sport having been introduced this year for the first time. According to the school paper the tournament is being looked forward to with much interest.

"Class numerals will be awarded to thirty-seven girls of Penn State, because of the fact that they succeeded in hiking 100 miles during the first semester," reads an article in the last number of "The Collegiate World."

In Salem, Mass., the stronghold of Puritanism and witch-craft, the school authorities have decided to include wrestling and boxing in their curriculum for women students.

"The Canadian colleges are very much interested in girls' basketball this winter. Queen's College recently played McGill at Montreal. Basketball is growing in popularity altho the girls have usually taken the greatest interest in hockey," another item in "The Collegiate World" informs us.

Reports also come to us from the University of Cincinnati, Kansas University and many other colleges, telling of the keen interest in women's athletics thruout the country. Come on Idaho co-eds! Rise and Shine! You have a good start. Next year they'll all be reading about you. If you do YOUR part—just mark my word.

Have you been talking up the State Interscholastic meet, scheduled for May 13 and 14? Get busy if you haven't. Let's make it a big one.

Were you in that crowd at the game Saturday? What crowd? Why that crowd that could have held a convention in a telephone booth with the members of an A. S. U. I. assembly. Idaho won from W. S. C. for the first time in years. What interest we do show! Oh! Well, there's no use crabbing. Come out next time. It's not too late to make amends, but let's turn strong to the Oregon-Idaho game, Wednesday and Thursday.

Boys, how's the new athletic fraternity coming? Any new members? No? Well, if you can't meet the qualifications we girls have some applicants. How's chances? Sigma Delta Psi—Sigh is right—that's all you've done so far—not so?

Question: Which is the most popular quarter mile track at Idaho? The well-beaten path for the track squad about the campus or the one from University and Elm streets to the far end of the University orchard?

Answer: The quarter-mile run from the campus to the pool hall.

CLEVER PLAYS PRESENTED BY DRAMA LEAGUE ON TUESDAY EVENING

"Trifles" and "Suppressed Desires," two plays by Susan Glaspell, one of the most promising of the younger American dramatists, were presented at the Guild Hall April 20, by the Drama League.

The cast for the first play included Rev. W. H. Bridge, Abe Goff, Ambrose Johnson and the Misses Newlin and Hunt. The story is that of a murder in an out-of-the-way farmhouse, and its novelty lies in the detection of the murderer. The detectives are unsuccessful and the audience learns the truth only thru "trifles."

"Suppressed Desires" is a two-act farce which takes place in Washington Square. It deals with dreams and their explanation. The cast for this play included Mrs. Rosenberg as the wife who interpreted the dreams; Mr. Cushman as the husband, and Mrs. Bridge as Mable, a friend of the Brewsters.

FORUM MAKING PLANS FOR COMING YEAR

EXTEMPORANEOUS SPEAKING ON CURRENT PROBLEMS TO BE EMPHASIZED

As the only organization on the campus in which all students can have an active part the Forum is making plans for next year. It is hoped that one evening can be found for the meeting when there are no classes. Stress will be placed on extemporaneous speaking dealing with important current problems, both local and national.

"Every University man, or woman" said Professor Brown of the Economics department in speaking of the Forum, "is normally a leader in his community. He is called upon not only to preside at meetings, but to initiate and back movements of value. For this reason no better training can be devised in college activities than familiarity with, and ability to discuss, public affairs."

Installing New Fountain.

The old Fern confectionery parlor and candy kitchen is rapidly giving way for the new and modern equipment, and in a few days the old customers will hardly recognize the place. Today workmen are installing one of the 1920 models of the Walrus iceless fountains, one of the finest things in the line on the market, and the automatic carbonator will be installed by tomorrow. The machinery for making candy has not yet arrived but is on the way, and should be here within a few days. The old lineoleum has been replaced with clean new floor covering, and the painters have brightened up the entire interior by a liberal application of white paint. A nek front door has been hung, and the place thoroughly renovated. Within a few days it will be ready for business under the new name of "Mittens."

VARIOUS PHASES OF SOCIOLOGY TO BE STUDIED AT NEAR-BY CITY

Inside information concerning various phases of sociology will be obtained by the Economics 24 class when it visits Spokane May 27 and 28. According to Professor Brown the class will visit the Hutton settlement, a children's home built on the cottage plan; the Insane Asylum at Medical Lake; a session of the Juvenile Court and as many other institutions as time will permit. A study is also to be made of the activities of the Social Service Bureau. Before making the trip the students will make a special study of similar institutions and conditions, so it may go well prepared.

IDAHO NINE PLAYS U. OF O. WEDNESDAY

TWO-GAME SERIES STARTED THIS WEEK FOR COLLEGE CHAMPIONSHIP

After having administered and 18 to 9 drubbing to Washington State College Saturday afternoon, Coach R. F. Hutchinson's University of Idaho pastimers Wednesday will meet the University of Oregon nine in the first contest of a two-game series.

The Idaho mentor last night had not announced his pitching selection, but it is believed that he will start Ed Foran of Seattle, a big right-hander who has been displaying unusual speed and fast breaking curves. Foran finished the last three innings of Saturday's game in splendid style, getting seven strikeouts in his brief time in the box.

University baseball enthusiasts have been mightily encouraged by the slugging proclivities of Coach Hutchinson's diamond warriors. In Saturday's contest every man on the team got at least one solid hit, Paul Evans of American Falls and Les Moe of Kellogg leading the swatsmiths with four and three blows respectively.

The Webfooters are said to have a capable hurler in Jacobberger and it may be that the Idaho hitters will not find his offerings as toothsome as those of Washington State's pitchers. If Jacobberger lives up to his reputation, a mound dual with Foran may be the result.

The two teams play again Thursday afternoon.

LONDON OF OLD DAYS REBUILT FOR FILMING "TALE OF TWO CITIES"

True to the old life is the ancient London street which figures largely as a setting for the tremendous deluxe photoplay production, "A Tale of Two Cities," which William Fox will present at the Kenworthy Theatre on Wednesday with William Farnum as the star.

Even to the roughly paved roadway fringed with the picturesque houses of "ye olden time" fidelity to detail is exact. One of the dwellings, a typical inn, is "The Nag's Head," exactly as described by Dickens, even to the sign which warns all citizens of the good town of London that stages for Dover leave at ten and two.

And over it all, enveloping everything, is the atmosphere which Dickens pictured—the old apple woman with her little stand; the children; riff-raff of the streets; marching soldiers in scarlet; bawling
