

DR. UPHAM SOON TO BE ON CAMPUS

Will Leave Ohio For Idaho Shortly After Thanksgiving Will Confer With Bryan at Boise.

A new president will be on hand to take charge of the University of Idaho shortly after the beginning of December in the person of Dr. A. H. Upham, recently selected by the board of education to head the school. Dr. Upham is planning to leave his present home in Oxford, Ohio, immediately after Thanksgiving. He will come to Moscow from that town after stopping at Boise to confer

FAHRENWALD GIVES MUCKERS BIG FEED

The Muckers Club was entertained on the occasion of its regular meeting last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fahrenwald on West First St. The evening after the conclusion of a business session, was devoted to a discussion of mine fires and methods of combating them, the lead being taken by Mr. Wilcox, who is in charge of Mine Rescue car No. 5, which spent last week in Moscow.

Mr. Wilcox has been in all the big fires in the mines of the northwest in the past ten years, and was able to discuss them from the standpoint of experience. He emphasized the fact that an army gas mask was worse than useless as a protection in a mine after a fire, as it filters out the pun-

TEAM PRAISES MONTANA COURTESY

Returning Football Victors Laud Good Sportsmanship and Entertainment Of Montana Students.

"We want to hand it to the students of the University of Montana for being rare good sports and royal entertainers." This was the sentiment unanimously voiced by the members of the football squad who returned Sunday afternoon from Missoula, where they defeated the lauded institution in a hard-fought game.

The men report that Montana hospitality started when they were carried to the football field in automobiles. It ended only when the victors were sent away with a sincere slap on the back, and the best wishes of the vanquished.

The most satisfactory and enjoyable entertainment was provided throughout the stay of the Gem State Huskies in the neighboring state. It is reported that the men were particularly impressed with the friendly attitude of the co-eds, who seemed to instinctively recognize an Idaho visitor, and greeted him with a cheerful word and a sunny smile. The attitude of the entire student body is said to have been one of frank good will and fellowship. At the dance, to which the players were invited, on the evening following the game, it was noticed by the Montana people that the Idaho folks, because of their lack of acquaintance with the co-educational contingent, had many opening dances in their programs. Every dance following the discovery, which came during the fourth, was made a "tag", in order that the Idaho boys might feel free to mix as they chose.

"I want to say," said a husky Idaho guard, in commenting on the treatment received at Montana, "that Idaho can learn much from Montana along the lines of courtesy and good sportsmanship."

ADVANCED STUDY IN FRENCH UNIVERSITIES

Idaho Grads To Be Given Opportunity To Complete Education In European Schools.

Twenty-five Americans will be granted fellowship for graduate study in French universities during the years of 1921-22. Each fellowship will have a cash value equal to $200 plus 10,000 francs. All graduates or prospective graduates are eligible to the candidacy, and further information may be obtained upon application to Dean Eldridge.

Many Courses Offered.

The fellowship will be assigned in the various Universities of France, according to the strength of the schools in the special lines in which those receiving the fellowship will want to study. The fields offered for advanced work are thirty, including all sciences, all languages including Asiatic and semetic, history, geography, religion, law, and agriculture.

Rules of Eligibility.

To be eligible a candidate must be a citizen of the United States or one of its possessions. There is no definite rule of age laid down, but it is understood that preference will be given applicants between the ages of twenty and thirty years.

The fellowships are offered especially to graduates of colleges of recognized standing, or of professional schools requiring three years work for a degree. However, candidates who are over twenty-four years of age and who have had at least five years training in gaining technical skill will also be considered.

All candidates must have the ability to use French books intelligently and must also be of good moral character.

OGDEN HONORS LIEUTENANT EVERLY WITH BANQUET

Lieutenant Ronald Everly, former student and instructor in military science at this University, who has for the past year been stationed at Ogden, Utah, as military instructor of the high schools of that city, is to be honored by a banquet tendered him by the board of education and high school faculty of Ogden on the occasion of his leaving to be mustered out of the service at Fort Douglas on November 30, according to a report received from Ogden Sunday afternoon.

An impressive program is being prepared for the occasion, among the speakers being Superintendent Hopkins, Principal A. M. Merrill, and Major Frank Foster, who will succeed Lieutenant Everly as head of the military department of the Ogden schools.

Announcement and Notices

From now on the Argonaut will publish each week a list of announcements and notices. These may be notices of meetings of groups or classes, notices of articles lost or found, or announcements of articles wanted, as second hand books, etc. All such notices must be in the Argonaut box before the Monday noon to be published the following Tuesday.

Argonaut Staff Meeting

The Argonaut Staff will meet in room 108 for about ten minutes just previous to the Wednesday assembly. It is imperative that every member of the staff be there.

Sophomore Class Meeting.

The Sophomore class will meet in the Auditorium at 4:00 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon. The meeting is called to discuss the matter of space in the annual. It is important that all be there.

Cassia County Students

A meeting of all students from Cassia County has been called for Tuesday at 4:15 in room 113.

STAGE HOUSE WARMING LINDLEY HALL FRIDAY

Idaho's First Boy's Dormitory Formally Opened With Entertainment and Inspection by Visitors.

One of the events of the week was the Lindley Hall House Warming given Friday evening for students, faculty and townspeople in honor of the recent opening of the University of Idaho's first boy's dormitory. The visitors were more than pleased in the way in which the hall is constructed and furnished while the men living there were enthusiastic over the spirit shown by their guests.

Every room was open for inspection and many favorable comments were expressed on the neatness, tidiness and general good taste shown in all. The hall was simply decorated with its chosen colors of purple and white.

Music was furnished during the evening by the Lindley Hall Orchestra, tuneful jazz and dreamy waltzes echoing throughout the corridors as a result of the efforts put forth by Thompson and Bowlby on the saxophone, Aiken and Bradford, violins, and Boas on the piano. Light refreshments were served in the dining room to the visitors and a general good time enjoyed by all. Had it not been for the inclemency of the weather it is thought a larger number of townspeople would have taken advantage of attending the house warming than did.

MEN FROM U. S. DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE ARE UNIVERSITY VISITORS SATURDAY

The Agriculture College had as visitors Saturday B. H. Rowl, chief of the dairy division and assistant chief of the Bureau of Animal Industry of the United States Department of Agriculture, and J. E. Gorman, who is in charge of the division at Salt Lake. They were especially interested in the department of dairy husbandry here.

FOOLING THE PROF.

Oh yes! It is easy to fool the prof. Handshake with him every chance you get. Lounge on his desk and talk with him about what you are going to do. Other students may be waiting to see him, but don't mind them. Your business is to impress the old man with your wit and brilliancy, which is a thing your daily assignments cannot do. Spring a line on him! Bewilder him! That's the big idea. And it is an easy thing to do. The chances are that he has been teaching for ten or twenty years and has, undoubtedly, lost the power of character analysis.

Stud-book, Co-ed-book, Book neglected, Flunk expected.

I sit in the library. Around me are cases of books. Before me is note-book and paper. Quiet prevails in the room. I see a pair of ankles across the aisle. They are covered with silk stockings. I become more interested as I go upward. Again I look at those ankles.

There was once a verdant young frosh, Who took a maid to a dance in Osh-kosh. When he said, "Won't you gimme 'A look at the shimmy?" She replied, "I can't sir, it's in the wash."

"I" TANK UTILIZED TO GOVERN SOCIAL CONDUCT

Observation On University Water Tower Installed To Keep Tab On Campus Fussers.

What is regarded as the most novel feature ever employed in collegiate life for the maintaining of proper social conduct, was installed at the University last week by the Women's League cooperating with the Dean of Women. The innovation consists of a tiny observation box which has been built on the platform of the "I" tower, where three paid watchmen, equipped with powerful field glasses, are on constant duty, each serving in eight hour shifts.

Due to its extreme height, the tower commands a direct view of the entire campus and of the town as well. The Arboritum, heretofore regarded as sacred to amorous couples, will doubtless suffer a decided falling off in the number of visitors who have formerly made this beautiful place a trysting spot.

It is reported that there have been an unusually large number of dates, which were out later than the prescribed 11 P. M. this Fall, and the Counsel has had a difficult time to check up on these couples who persist in breaking the rules of the League. After casting about for several weeks for a system to check the violations of the rules of fusing, as laid down by the Dean and the Women's Counsel, the plan of hiring watchmen was finally adopted, and is said to be proving highly successful. The shelter box which has been built on the tower is practically inconspicuous of wood, lined with heavy felt paper, making it warm and dry. The observers assume a semi-prone position, which is said to be highly comfortable.

The observation post contains a telephone directly connected with the office of the Dean of Women. It also has record books for making notations of all transgressors.

A pair of extra strong field glasses are mounted so that it is an easy matter to survey the entire town and campus. A four foot night glass is another novel feature, and it is said that with this glass, a person can be distinguished as far away as the campus steps, an ony save the very darkest nights. A powerful searchlight, capable of casting sufficient illumination to make possible the reading of a newspaper by its light at a distance of three miles, is mounted on a quadrant which enables the observer to instantly focus the light on any point within several miles of Moscow. This light will be used at irregular intervals when the nights are too dark to permit the use of the night glasses.

It is the plan of the Counsel to keep accurate record of all dates either on the campus, or down town, and any violations of the set rules of conduct organization, which will be held in will be made public each week thru the columns of the Argonaut. Students are said to be feeling the influence of this new system already, and a marked improvement of social conduct has been noted. Several Deans of Women from other colleges have been informed privately of ment.

the installation of the new system, are said to be eagerly awaiting the outcome of the innovation, and are hopeful that it may prove useful in their own institutions.

Editorial Note: The above story is printed with all due respect for both the Dean of Women and the League.

"I" TOWER BULLETINS

Some Theta girl was kissed on the front porch of the chapter house, last Thursday night at 10:46. Owing to the fact that the porch faces away from the tower, the watchman was unable to ascertain who the interested parties were, but the minutes of the tower show that somebody was knocked clear over the banister and that he rolled half way to the walk. Some Wallop.

Two couples were reported to have been occupying the big piles of planks in the Standard Lumber yard on Friday evening, time, 10:59, but before the searchlight could be focused, they left for the campus.

EDUCATIONAL MOVIE FOR ENGINEERS CLUB

Film Produced By Twist Drill Company Proves Interesting At Wednesday's Meeting.

A meeting of the Associated Engineers was held Wednesday evening at the Y hut, at which a motion picture was shown through the courtesy of the Cleveland Twist Drill company and Prof. Chandler, who was instrumental in obtaining the film.

Altho treating a technical subject the picture was reported to be interesting to all. Defects of certain types of drills, ways and means of remedying these as well as the correct method of sharpening and caring for high speed drills were brought in the film.

A short business meeting was held immediately after the showing of the picture, and refreshments were served. As evidenced by the large attendance and approval of everyone these meetings are proving valuable to the embryo engineers, and the entertainment committee has promised several more of the same character during the year.

Mr. A. W. Fahrenwald, who is in charge of the local experiment station of the Bureau of Mines, has gone to Wallace where he will attend a meeting of the Northwest Section of the American Institute of Mining Engineers.

PROFESSOR BANGS TO ATTEND STATE TEACHERS ASSOCIATION

Professor E. O. Bangs, president of the State Music Teachers' Association will leave Wednesday for Boise to attend the annual convention of that organization, which will be held in conjunction with the state teachers' association.

Other members of the university faculty who are expecting to be in attendance are Dean Messenger, of the Department of Education, and Professor Soulen of the same department.

Since the registration of President Lindley the work at the university has been carried on under the faculty without any regular man in charge.

Mrs. Upham and small daughter will visit in California until such a time as a home is prepared to receive them, which will probably be about the first of the year. Dr. and Mrs. Upham will ultimately be at home in the Payne residence, formerly occupied by Dr. Lindley.

BUNT BRESHEARS UPHOLDS DISCIPLINE IN LINDLEY HALL

If one had been listing things he considered absolutely beyond the bounds of all reason, early on the list, right up among the graves giving up their dead, the sea becoming dry, (or America wet), he would have probably placed the prospects for one of our most dignified students, an "I" man of long standing, a post graduate in the law school, and one whom the freshmen consider as being quite in another world, being seen subsmissively bending over while members of the freshman class used a paddle with a full arm swing. Yet such an occurrence took place.

R. R. "Bunt" Breshears was the man who created the sensation. Convicted of the crime of wearing a rooter cap in the dining room at Lindley Hall, he was summoned to appear before the discipline committee of that house to answer for his offense. As to his guilt there was no doubt. So like a true good lawyer, (and good sport) he took the position of upholding law though the heavens fall, and as a result, the two freshman members of the committee received the unexpected pleasure of paddling a man who was thought to be safe and beyond all chance of retribution for his stand on strict obedience to custom on the part of the class of '24.

DRAMA CLUB PRESENTS "NOTHING BUT THE TRUTH"

Happy Selection Makes Work of Club Successful—Difficulties of Club.

(By Harriet Ensign)

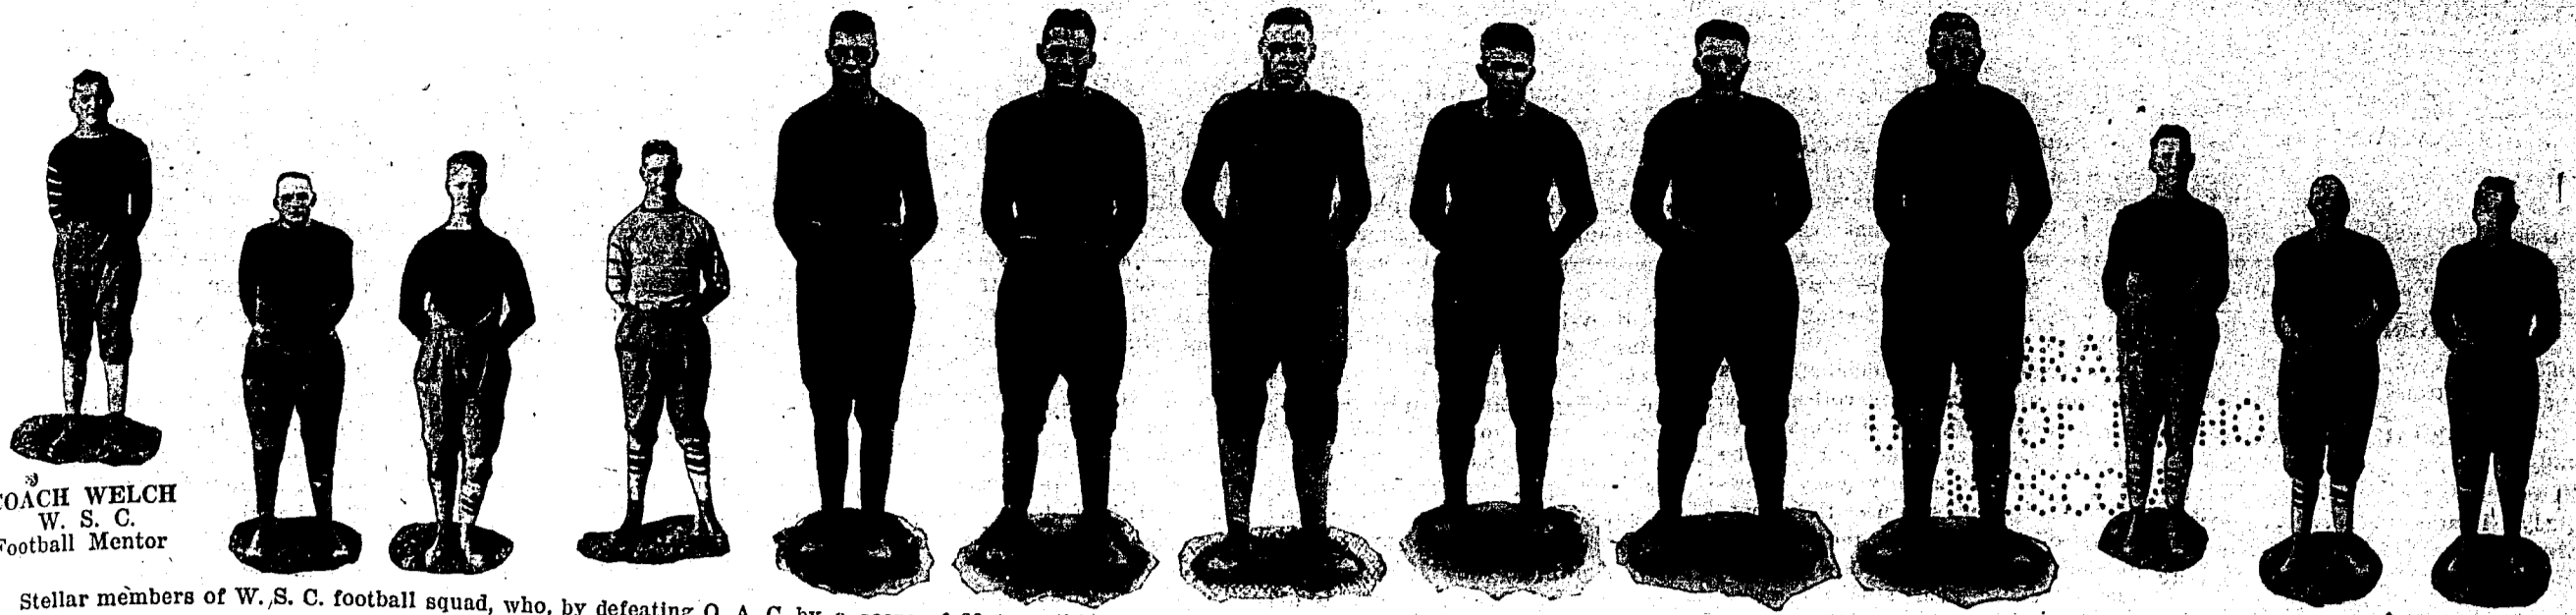

If you have never tried to tell the absolute truth for twenty-four long hours I am sure you would never want to attempt it after seeing the woeful trials that fell to the lot of Bob Bennett in "Nothing But the Truth," the play presented by the Drama Club on November 9th. From the time the curtain rose, for the first act, on the spectacle of Kenneth Anderton's upturned cigarette and tipped-back chair, until it fell after the last thrilling lie of the liberated hero, the play was one long laugh.

The play certainly illustrated the difference in feeling between a light comedy like this and any thing more emotional and deep. Playing in a small hall like the Guild Hall and before an audience that is personally known to the actors, puts a large handicap on the players who try to present a serious play. It is hard to carry an audience in such a way as to make them feel that the people before them are the characters of the play and not the people they know. Where a serious drama will either amuse or bore the audience, a thorough comedy like the one just presented, will carry its audience thru sheer nonsense and they will forget everything but the play.

As the people left the hall after the comedy was over I heard one man, still laughing, say, "Say, buddy, are all the Drama Club plays like that? If they are I'll say I've been missing something, but I'm telling the world I won't miss any more of 'em," and he passed mirthfully on.

SOON COMMENCE CO-ED BASKETBALL

Inter-class Games Will Offer Eligibility To National Women's Athletic Association.

It has been announced by Miss Watson that basketball for the co-eds will start immediately after the Thanksgiving holiday.

The feature this year will be inter-class games instead of inter-house games as it was last year. By inter-class games the foundation will be laid for membership to the National Women's Athletic Association which will be established on the campus as soon as eligibility is shown. This does not bar inter-house games if the girls so desire, it was stated.

The preliminary games for Freshmen and Sophomores will be worked off by Christmas after which the Juniors and Seniors will have their try-outs. A definite schedule will be posted later.

EDMUNDSON TO COACH VARSITY BASKETBALL AT U. OF WASHINGTON

Clarence "Heck" Edmundson, former University of Idaho track star, and a member of the American Olympic team of 1914, will coach varsity basketball at the University of Washington this season, according to advices received through the University of Washington daily.

TAKE PICTURES FOR ANNUAL AT ONCE

Freshmen and Sophomores Should Go to Eggan's and All Others to Sterners Immediately—Spokane Pictures.

Absolutely all pictures for the 1922 "Gem of the Mountains" must be taken before the Christmas vacation, and preferably before December fifth, according to an announcement made by photo editor Horning Monday afternoon.

It is pointed out that the local photographers will have their time taken with the regular run of holiday work after the first days of December, and therefore will not be able to devote the time necessary for the doing of good work to the annual portraits.

"Many students have the idea that we are waiting for a photographer from a Spokane studio to come to Moscow to do the work for 'The Gem of the Mountains,'" said Horning. "The report is erroneous. All pictures for the year book will be taken by the local photographers."

Use Spokane Pictures
He continued to say that any who might prefer to have their pictures taken in Spokane might use those pictures in the annual if they would arrange with their photographer to furnish a cut of the same size and style as those used in the Gem.

TWO CONCERTS FOR PRICE OF ONE

Students May Buy Tickets Admitting Them to Remaining Concerts of Artists Course For $1.25.

Students will be admitted to the concerts to be given by Josef Lhevinne, pianist, and May Peterson, Soprano, the two concerts remaining on the University Artists Course, for a lump sum of $1.25, according to an announcement issued by the committee on public events Saturday. The tickets will be on sale immediately after the vacation.

The Lhevinne concert is scheduled for the evening of Friday, December 10. Miss Peterson will appear at the University auditorium on January 28.

Miss Peterson is regarded as one of the most talented and artistic of the rising young sopranos. It was only last season that she was engaged by the Metropolitan Opera Company to sing prima donna roles calling for soprano. Critics in both America and Europe are most lavish in their praise of her work.

CALIFORNIA LEADS SCHOOLS IN SIZE OF STUDENT BODY

The University of California has passed the New York University and now leads the country in number of students enrolled, according to telegrams received.

The total registration in regular courses at the University of California is 11,154, Recorder Sutton announces.

Registration figures just received by telegrams from other universities show the following enrollment in similar courses: Michigan, 8800; Columbia, 8317; Illinois, 8285; Minnesota, 7437; Pennsylvania, 7000; Chicago, 6728.

HEAD NEW SCHOOL OF EDUCATION LECTURES

Dean J. F. Messenger Speaks On "The Making of History" to Assembly Wednesday, November 17.

Dean J. F. Messenger, head of the newly created School of Education in the University, Wednesday gave an inspiring talk on "The Making of History" at assembly hour. This was the first appearance before the student body of Prof. Messenger, and he and the new college were welcomed into the University by Dean Cockrill of the law department.

In his address Dean Messenger told of his desire to work with the American student. Continuing he stated that each student was standing on a bridge between two activities, looking always for an objective. "The day of decision is the day of making history," he said, "but do not look and think of the present very unpleasant circumstances, look on to a bright and prosperous future."

In continuing the substance of his statements were "Resolutions make men, men make history, do not tie your resolutions to a star, tie them to a mule. The word is a mirror in which one sees himself, your actions reflect yourself."

STOCK JUDGERS WIN HONORS AT PORTLAND

Take First and Second Places At International Show—Ruben Johnson Takes Individual Honors.

The Idaho stock judging team composed of Ruben Johnson, James Fox, Leon Taylor, William Boehance, and Loran Kitch, coached by C. W. Hickman won first place at the Portland International Livestock Show with a score of 2937. Utah took second with 2815, O. A. C. and W. S. C. tying for third with 2779 points apiece. Two of the Idaho men made individual honors, Ruben Johnson taking first and James Fox taking third place.

At the Spokane show Idaho lost first place by seven out of five thousand possible points and lost the Lewiston contest by twenty points. L. B. Taylor took high individual honors.

AG. COLLEGE OWNS A LARGE HERD CATTLE

Over Three Hundred Purebred Stock Used For Educational Purposes By Department.

The University livestock herd, owned by the College of Agriculture and used for experimental purposes, now numbers about three hundred head, being composed of horses, beef and dairy cattle, sheep, and swine. This is said to be one of the largest herds of thoroughbred cattle owned by any University in the West.

Besides the cattle at the University, four other farms are maintained throughout the state which boast of some fine stock. At the Sandpoint substation there is a herd of eight dairy cattle, half of which are purebreds, and thirty head of purebred Shropshire sheep.

At Caldwell there is located a herd of thirty cattle, all purebred Holsteins. Last winter at this station, one hundred steers were kept for a period of one hundred days in determining the values of a variety of rations. This winter there will be kept there a herd of 140 beef cattle and 600 sheep for similar tests.

SENIORS LEARN TO USE BREATHING HELMETS

The Bureau of Mines Mine Rescue car for the northwest district was in Moscow last week for the purposes of giving instruction in the use of oxygen breathing helmets to the seniors in the School of Mines. The oxygen helmets are used in mines when the atmosphere in the mine is so contaminated with poisonous gas as to make it unbreathable. This condition is usually present after a mine fire. The helmet will enable a man wearing it to go into a gas filled mine and remain there from 2 to 15 hours, before he is compelled to return for a fresh supply of oxygen.

STUDENT AFFAIRS

Deeming that the proposition to change the dictatorship of the expenditure of student funds from the faculty to the students is not a dead issue, the Argonaut once more seizes the frayed rag, and re-commences to chew.

If any student were to be told that he was paying tuition to go to the University of Idaho, which is supposed to be a state institution, maintained by the state, he would doubtless feel shocked and insulted. Nevertheless, that is exactly what faculty dominance of student monies amounts to.

Whether the present system has shown its defects or not is not to the point. It is not desired to change the present system because it has failed, but because there is seen to be a possibility that it may fail.

It is not desired to change the present system because it has failed, but because there is seen to be a possibility that it may fail. According to the present system, as has been stated students have no means of recalling any actions that may be taken by the board of supervisors.

It has been hinted that the Idaho students are not capable of taking care of their own financial affairs. Those who take the self-complacent stand of calling themselves imbeciles should calm their fears by considering that the proposed plan still puts sage members of the faculty in important positions as advisors.

The Argonaut wonders how much longer the students of Idaho are going to allow themselves to be regarded by their Washington friends over the hill as admitting their own incompetence and inferiority to other university students by allowing their faculty to manage their affairs for them.

A, B, or C?

From now on the time for study allowed before the end of the semester will be broken up by many holidays and other interruptions. It is time that we were stopping to consider whether our scholastic standing at the end of the semester will be A, B, or C.

It is hard, and very hard, to hold ones self to efficient, concentrated study during the holiday season, and it is unfortunate that the holiday season comes just at the time during the first semester when our studies need our most careful attention.

With the semester exams in sight just a short time after the Christmas vacation, we become aware of needed reviews and a host of little things to do that have been accruing through having been repeatedly put off, from times earlier in the year.

It is the time right now to take stock of ourselves and our time, and start to plan ahead, with the aim of coming out with the biggest possible showing at the end of the year.

A good plan tried successfully is to portion ones time out to the various phases of his college life, allowing so much for each thing. Even if such a plan cannot be followed rigidly, it will be found that much more can be accomplished by trying to adhere to a schedule than by hit and miss studying.

Idaho has a good record in other things, it is peopled with students that may put her on a high scholastic plane. A great deal may be done by a stiffening of the study regulations in the group homes. It has been reported ed to the Argonaut that one of these has already instituted a plan requiring all its members to put in a specified amount of study each day

MUCH ADO ABOUT NOTHING

Last week witnessed one of the most earnest debates before the student assembly that the school has even seen. At the same time there was heard some of the most inane prattle that has ever spouted in a meeting of the A. S. U. I.

The regulation of student affairs is an important phase of college life, and it is right that it should receive more of the earnest attention of the students than it usually does. However, the student who uses the opportunity given to discuss these affairs to publicly voice his private opinions about certain other students whose actions or appearance do not please him does not, in so doing, show himself to be interested in the issues under consideration, but rather relegates himself to the class of muck slingers who are wont to occupy positions on soap boxes on city corners.

The Argonaut wishes to be shown the logic or argumentative value of bringing into discussion of who should control the expenditures of student funds, sneering and sarcastic remarks concerning the physical architecture of one who chanced to take the opposite side. Doubtless the speaker did so through a garbled conception of what constitutes effective public speaking. However, that merely makes his act pardonable, but not justifiable.

It will be sufficient to say that he lowered himself in the estimation of the students far more than he advanced the cause for which he was speaking. Not satisfied with this, the same speaker, evidently with keen delight, referred to himself as one who had in the past been active in engineering various steam rollers, and showing things down the throats of the student body in general.

It might be suggested that if it is necessary for such practices to exist, it might be better to keep them from the knowledge of the mass of the students.

As a whole, there is too much of the personal element in the discussions in the A. S. U. I. meetings. Such talk accomplishes nothing, and takes up time that might be used to far better advantage, in prosecuting other business.

STUDENT FIVE DOLLAR FARE

The movement that is on foot to secure for the students in the higher educational institutions maintained by the state of Idaho a maximum fare of five dollars each way in traveling to or from those institutions deserves the support of all students.

The movement has as its object the passage of a bill by the Idaho legislature guaranteeing to all students whose railroad fare for travel to or from the schools exceeds five dollars each way a refund of all surplus over that amount.

It will be seen, on the face of the proposition, that the rate will most greatly benefit those who come from southern communities. The project was initiated by people of the south.

The passage of the bill will bring to the University of Idaho approximately two hundred more students from the southern part of the state who are now attending the University of Utah and the University of Oregon. It will, in addition, make attendance at college possible for many who have hitherto found it financially impossible.

Every hundred that is added to the roster of the University of Idaho makes the diploma that the graduate receives upon completing his work that much more valuable. Therefore, whether the rate reduction will affect all students or not, it is to the advantage of all that the measure be supported.

The greatest help that the students can give to the project is the soliciting of support for the measure from the members of the state legislature from their districts. This may be done by writing to these dignitaries, showing the writers interest in the passage of the bill. It is strongly urged that each student take it upon himself to write to his or her local congressman or senator such a letter.

One student has so far been found who knew who represented his district in the legislature. This list is therefore printed, showing the representatives of the various counties of the state in the two houses of the legislature.

PLAINTIFF WINS IN CASE OF BARRISTERS VS. STUDENTS

After three hours of heated argument the case of the Bench and Bar Association versus the Associated Students of the University of Idaho which came up for trial in the University gymnasium November 13, 1920, was decided in favor of the plaintiff. The verdict rendered was that the lawyers had succeeded in staging one of the most successful all-college dances of the year. The only kick about the dance was the kick in the punch. The replication to the answer by the plaintiff was especially enjoyed by the defendants who were on the sidelines.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY WILL BUILD STADIUM

Southerners Will Construct Field With Sixty Thousand Capacity, Similar to Washington's.

Leland Stanford Jr. university will build a stadium, in many ways similar to Washington's, within the coming three years, if plans now being formulated are executed. While in Seattle with the football team last week, Edward Martin, the Stanford graduate manager, outlined the scheme upon which he is now working.

A financial plan similar to that worked out by General Manager Darwin Meisner will probably be used, and a large portion of maney may be raised from alumni.

Fifty to sixty thousand people will be the seating capacity of the Stanford stadium unless a larger one is found practicable. In that case, the plans may be enlarged so as to seat one hundred thousand people. The shape will be that of a horseshoe, but Martin states that they may later close the open end so as to form a bowl.

The present Stanford field will seat 23,000 people. It is necessary to limit the sale of tickets for the annual Stanford-California game to students and alumni, students being permitted three tickets and alumni two. Even then many are unable to get seats.

Since Stanford's entrance into the Pacific Coast conference two years ago, the attendance at its games has steadily increased, and the problem of seating capacity is growing very serious, according to Martin. The board of athletic control is the body which will handle the project there

Dr. Miller spent a part of Good English Week in Harrison, Idaho, where he addressed a large audience on the importance of Better Speech.

AN ODE

On learning of the new Argonaut Editor. A tear falls from my eye Like oil from a fountain pen. The old editor is gone, I heave a sobbing sigh Like the scraping of ice Across the ceiling. I wipe the tear away Like an Esquimeau chasing flies, A new editor has come, I smile, like a marble Rolling home My heart with rapture cries Like a bass drum. I dance with glee Like a neighbor quarreling With her pet flower, And rejoice, like a waiter Who has been tipped a fiver. —Mary 'Emal.

MEN'S GLEE CLUB TO LOOP-THE-LOOP

CONTEMPLATE MOST EXTENDED TRIP IN HISTORY OF CUSTOM FOR THIS SEASON.

PLAN WEEK-END CONCERTS

Neighboring Towns of Inland Empire Will Be Played In Addition. To Distant Localities.

Although as yet no definite contracts have been signed, all indications point to a more extended tour by the men's glee club this year than at any time previous, according to announcements issued by manager Cornelison. Twenty-five people, consisting of the club proper and a small orchestra, will take the trip.

It is planned to make a tour of the northern and southern parts of the state in one trip. Starting from Moscow, the club will go first to the towns of the north, thence south through western Montana, will work west through the southern section of Idaho, and return to Moscow by way of Oregon and Washington.

Last year it was found impractical to visit the cities in the north, and urgent requests have already been received by manager Cornelison for concerts in those places this season. The University clubs in Wallace and Kellogg are especially anxious to have the club appear in their localities, and have guaranteed record breaking houses.

"It will be our plan this year to try and get into those towns where the club has never been before, or where it has not appeared recently," said the glee club manager Saturday. "It may, therefore be necessary to pass by some of the localities in which the club is best known."

Before the long tour, plans are being made for a number of short week-end concert trips to towns of the Inland empire. Troy has expressed a desire to hear the organization. Arrangements will be made for concerts in Potlatch and St. Maries also. A short excursion will be made into the Camas prairie country, taking in the towns of Lewiston, Grangeville, and Nez Perce.

Manager Cornelison also announces that negotiations have been entered in with graduate manager Chambers, of W. S. C., for a joint concert by the glee clubs of Washington State and Idaho on the night of a basketball game at Idaho between the same two schools.

Program Is Varied
Prof. Bangs reports that a program of varied interests is being prepared. Chief among the clubs ensemble numbers will be Griegs "Land-sighting," a remarkable and sonorous chorus for men's voices. The program will also contain an enjoyable portion of comedy and burlesque.

LARGE PRIZE OFFERED IDAHO UNDERGRADUATE SCRIBBLERS

New York Man Will Give $75 In Prizes For Best 500 Word Essay On Earning Money In College.

Eight prizes, amounting to $75, are being offered by Arthur Murray, of New York, for the best 500 word essay written by under-graduates on "Five Ways of Earning Money at College." Any or all Idaho students are eligible to submit manuscripts.

Arthur Murray, who is offering the awards, earned $15,000 a year while going to Georgia Tech., according to a recent article in Forbes Magazine, by teaching a dancing class composed of 600 children, the largest dancing class in the world.

Murray is now gathering information on the various methods of earning money while in college, and is especially anxious to receive essays from students who are working their way through.

Following is a list of the rules of the contest.

1. Any student may enter the contest. Seventy-five dollars in prizes for the best essay on "Five Ways of Earning Money at College."
2. At least two of the methods of earning money should be original; the other three may be based upon the experience of others.
3. If you are working your way through college, state this fact and tell in detail what you are doing.
4. The essay should contain not more than 500 words.
5. The Prizes—First prize—$25.00, second prize $15.00, third prize $10.00, fourth prize $5.00, fifth prize $5.00, sixth prize $5.00, seventh prize $5.00, eighth prize $5.00.
6. The winning essays will be published in a leading magazine. The contest judges will also be announced later.
7. Contest closes December first. Send manuscript to Arthur Murray, 143 East 39th Street, New York, N. Y.

UNIVERSITY CLUB FIRE RAISES PERTINENT QUESTIONS

Much Agitation of Occupants of Overheated Building Caused by Confusion of Love Letters.

What would you do if your home should catch fire? Would you carry the mattresses downstairs and throw them out of the window? Maybe you think you wouldn't, but you would if reports concerning the fire at the University Club November 11 are true.

Reports concerning the cause of the fire vary in picturequeness from defective wiring, defective flue, cigarettes and a careless trouser presser—whatever the cause was it was a good fire. The volunteer fire department arrived on the scene in time to flood the third floor of the residence and numerous articles of clothing which had carelessly been left there by the owners. University students also aided the distracted professors in saving their belongings. "Slim" Swanstrom, especially, deserves mention for the efficient work he did in carrying out the light globes.

In addition to the damage done to the roof of the house considerable trouble was caused when love letters belonging to a professor living on the third floor got mixed up with some belonging to an inhabitant of the second floor.

Make Rate On Embossing.
With the aid of an embossing machine which has just been set up, the Book Store is able to sell high grade stationary embossed with the Washington seal, or any steel die embossing, at one half the price that the downtown stores ask for it. The Book Store buys the paper flat from the factories, cuts it up in note size with its own paper cutter, embosses it and buys straight from the factories, envelopes to fit. Beatrice Johnson is operating the machine. Only plain embossing is being done now but it is expected that colored work will be done later.—Washington Daily.

CONGRESSMAN FRENCH ADDRESSES S. E. I. U. C.

Endorses Scheme To Procure Five Dollar Railroad Rate For University Students.

Taking as his theme the necessity of elevating the educational situation in Idaho brought about by the disadvantageous location of the state university, Congressman Burton L. French addressed the southeastern Idaho club at a meeting held last Wednesday.

Mr. French pointed out the geological features in Idaho which make it impossible to locate a university at any one point which would offer equal opportunities to all sections of the state.

"There are two solutions for the present inequality of opportunities resulting from the present location of our university," said Mr. French. "The one would be to construct two or three universities and the other would be to adopt the plan for which you are working," (the $5.00 student rate from all sections of the state)

The impractical features of the first plan were explained in detail. The three sets of buildings, equipment and faculty would either cost almost three times as much as this one system for both construction and operation or else each would be inferior to this school and students going out from such schools would be at a disadvantage. Aside from the cost, these schools would be sectional in spirit and would not bring together the students from every part of the state for the exchange of ideas and the acquaintanceship of the future men and women of prominence from the various parts of the commonwealth.

Oregon U. Infirmary Acquires X-Ray Machine.

A portable X-ray machine strong enough for all fracture work, has been purchased for the immediate use of the infirmary. The staff feels that the addition will fit the infirmary to care for more of the accident cases as the machine can be wheeled to the bedside and the work handled there.

The X-ray is not intended for radium work but will be used for picture of fractures and in diagnostic work. It represents a considerable outlay and is a valuable asset to the department.

IDAHO R. O. T. C. RECEIVES PRAISE

"Has Opportunity Of Being Classed As Distinguished School By War Dept." Says Inspecting Officer.

"The University of Idaho is to be congratulated upon having so excellent an R. O. T. C. unit," was the opinion expressed by Major A. W. Cleary, United States army, after inspecting the battalion of cadets on Monday afternoon of this week.

The inspection, which is the first of the year by an outside officer, was held in Lewis court, where all the unit was drawn up to greet the visiting officer. After watching the battalion go through its various maneuvers, Maj. Cleary expressed this opinion to the body as a whole in a brief address.

Later he repeated and amplified this statement by adding, "The efficiency of the unit at this time in the year is marked, and is due to the efforts of the present commandant Col. Chrisman and Maj. Huddleson, and the very valuable assistance of the student instruction staff. I believe that if the future work of the corps progresses as has the work during the period between the opening of the college and the present, the university will be afforded a splendid opportunity of being classed as a distinguished school by the war department. This is an honor that no school in the northwest has achieved since the war. If every educational institution could have such an efficient unit as I've seen today, it is my opinion that we as a nation would have little to fear from possible encroachments of hostile powers."

Maj. Cleary has since November first been inspecting the various units in the northwest, his territory extending as far east as Cheyenne. He left San Francisco at that time for this purpose.

TICKET SALE AFTER VACATION

This Is First Appearance In America Since War—Is Said To Be Greater Than Before

Josef Lhevinne, universally acceded to be the greatest technician among living pianists, will be heard in a concert in the University auditorium on the evening of December 10. Students tickets will be on sale immediately after the Thanksgiving vacation.

Lhevinne is Russian by birth, and received his musical education in his native country. From his early years he was watched by the great virtuoso Rubenstein. When Lhevinne was but fourteen years of age Rubenstein is reported to have heard him play a Beethoven concerto, and to have said, "You will go far. Work hard and you will succeed."

That Lhevinne did work hard is evident from the success that has attended his musical career. His first American appearance was in 1907, and he thrilled at this time even the most phlegmatic of the musical critics. With the outbreak of the war in 1914, Lhevinne was interned in Germany, and was lost to America for a period. In 1919 he returned, and the reports of the leading eastern critics indicate that he is greater, both in his music and in his technique, than ever.

The fact that Idaho students will be hearing one of the musical wonders of the world is vouched for by reports of his concerts printed in the leading papers of the United States. The Chicago Evening American refers to him as a "Titan of the keyboard." On the occasion of his third recital in New York, the "American" of that city published the following statement in its critique: "When Lhevinne, plays as he did at this, his third recital of the season, he is absolutely unapproachable."

W. J. Henderson, regarded as one of the best informed and most reserved critics in the country, says of Lhevinne, in the New York Sun, "He has at his command a range of dynamics and color not surpassed by that of any other pianist before the public."

Lhevinne will come to Moscow under the management of Steers and Co-man of Portland.

OPEN FORUM MEETS

The Open Forum met last Thursday evening in the Y hut. The program consisted of a solo by Miss Lucie Throckmorton and a general discussion, which centered chiefly upon the students rebate bill.

The meeting opened with the general discussion. After about twenty minutes of argument and speeches, the president introduced Miss Throckmorton, much to the pleasure of all present. After this, discussion was resumed, the meeting ending promptly at eight thirty o'clock.

With this we close: "Et tu, Brute," yelled Caesar as the can-opener slid between his ribs. "Ah," quoth Brutus, "What a cutting remark!"

ARIZONA CO-EDS VOTE FOR SELF GOVERNMENT

Fall In Line For Progressive Organization of University Women.

The women of the University of Arizona have for the first time organized a woman's self-government association, adopted a constitution, and elected officers. It is a strictly student organization, with no older authority. The constitution was adopted without change except one section which read that the social hour should close and study hour begin at 7:00. The girls voted to change this hour to 7:15. Every woman regularly enrolled in the University is eligible to membership. The object of the organization is to regulate all matters pertaining to the student life of its members which do not fall under the jurisdiction of the faculty or the student body organization, and be a medium whereby the standards of the University can be made and kept high.

UNREQUITED PASSION

I saw her on the hill one day,
Beneath a shade-tree sitting;
I tried to catch her ruby eye;
She only kept on knitting.

We met. I loved. On bended knee
I set my marriage trap;
With blazing eyes, she said to me
"Get off my yarn, you yap!"

Oh, there was never grief like mine
On earth or in the pit.
Since this fair queen, of ruby eye
To my fond hopes said, "Knit."

DEAN THOMSON ATTENDS MINING CONGRESS SESSIONS

Dean F. A. Thomson left last week for Denver where he will attend the meetings of the American Mining Congress which is in session there from November 15th to 20th. Dean Thomson is to make an address before the Congress on "The Influence of Flotation on Metallurgical Processes," and he will also address the Mining School section of the Congress on "The Curricula of American Mining Schools." Dean Thomson is a member of the general program committee of the congress.

VACATION BEGINS THURSDAY MORNING

Students Desiring to Leave Before That Time Must Secure Regular Leave of Absence.

The official Thanksgiving vacation for the University will not start until Thursday morning, according to an announcement issued Monday by Dean J. G. Eldridge. All who desire to leave school before that time will be required to procure the regular leave of absence, or suffer the penalty of having the grades of all classes missed lowered 10 points for the semester.

"In regard to the rumor extant among the students to the effect that classes will be dismissed Wednesday afternoon, I will say that it has no official foundation," stated Dean Eldridge. "There have been so many vacations already this year, that such a proposal would not be looked upon with favor by the faculty."

Reports indicate that a large number of students plan to spend the Thanksgiving holidays at their homes. These include the majority of the northern Idaho people, very few of those from the south deeming it worth while to make the trip down for the short time allowed. It was asked that it might be announced, however, that all who had no classes on Wednesday should feel at liberty to leave if they so wish. This, because some students were of the opinion that no one would be allowed to leave the campus until the beginning of the official vacation.

ARMISTICE DAY IS ROYALLY CELEBRATED

Impressive Flag Raising Exercises and Assembly in Morning, and Dance Later Feature Holiday.

While the Idaho gridiron warriors were making football history in Boise Armistice Day, an all day celebration was taking place on the campus with no less enthusiasm than was displayed at the Capital.

Flag raising exercises carried out by the overseas veterans and a military review by the University cadets started the day program at nine o'clock in the morning. Following this, an assembly was held. Congressman Burton L. French being the principal speaker. Dean Cockbill presided, and Dean Thompson and Col. Chrisman were guests of honor on the platform. The theme of Mr. French's speech was who would attend the Armistice Day celebrations of the future.

"Those who will attend the future celebrations of the day will be those mothers who sacrificed, and the wives and the widows of the men who ceased fighting on Nov. 11, 1918," said Mr. French. "It will certainly not be those who were not behind the government in its fight, that will perpetrate this day by future observance." Returns from the game were received at an "All College" dance downtown in the afternoon and dancing at the gym, where the Vocational men staged their second Annual Armistice Day Dance.

ENGLISH CLUB MEETS AT GAMMA PHI HOUSE

New Members Are Elected And Plans Made For Future Work—"Nevertheless" Is Played.

The first social meeting of the English Club was held at the Gamma Phi Beta house last Wednesday evening. A short business session started the evening, at which time tentative plans for the coming year's work were discussed. Many good speakers are planned for later meetings while an interesting Christmas program is promised. The club is looking forward to a fruitful year.

The chairman of the membership committee announced the names of the following new members:

Instructors in the Department—F. E. Brophy, Evelyn Butler, Kenneth Collins.

New Majors in the Department—Mary C. Brown, Ruby Irving, Ruby Spencer, Arthur Yaffey.

New Minors—Lois Eiders, Evadna Roberts.

Students making A grades in English last year—Mae Mathieu, Tom Speedy, and Elva Wilkinson.

For Argonaut work—Gladys Hastie. After the close of the business meeting, Miss Wegman entertained the club with three piano selections. The next feature of the program was the presentation of Stuart Walker's play, "Nevertheless," which emphasized in a farcical way the principles which Good English week has been teaching. The cast of the play was as follows: The Boy Bob Cummins The Girl Betty Woods The Burglar Mike Thometz The play afforded much amusement to the audience.

The rest of the evening was spent socially. Mrs. Milled's doughnuts and coffee made this part of the entertainment a great success, according to those present.

JAZZ HOUNDS FILL BOISE IDAHO SPIRIT

Follow Rigorous Program of Playing And Leave Lasting Impression Of College Enthusiasm.

The Idaho jazz band, led by Lynn Hershey and accompanied by yell leaders Ted Turner and Clifford Greetman, sojourned to Boise for the big Armistice Day game and left an impression upon southern Idaho folks which will not soon be forgotten. From the time the band left Moscow they followed a set program which kept them on the move every moment of the time, ranging from giving dances to street corner serenades.

Rudolph Guat, with his black face impersonations did heroic work in the Capital city, and was one of the drawing cards for the band wherever they went.

Arriving at Boise early Monday morning, they immediately commenced to make themselves heard, and kept the air continuously polluted with syncopated rhythm until Moscow again hove in sight. High schools were visited in all the towns surrounding Boise, the band played between shows at theatres, two dances were given to help defray expenses, they played at the principal street corners every day, and in short lent a carnival spirit to the affair and were said to be in a large measure responsible for the success of the game by their consistent advertising.

Following is an outline of the rigorous program followed by the jazz producers:

Monday—7:25 p. m. and 9:00 p. m., Pinney Theatre.

Tuesday—9:30 a. m., leave Boise by auto for Caldwell; 10:00 a. m., Eagle, (Star-Middleton); 12:00 a. m., Caldwell; lunch; 1:30 p. m., Caldwell High; 3:00 p. m., Nampa High; 9:00 p. m., Dance at Nampa.

Wednesday—7:45 a. m., Meet team at train, snake dance to Owyhee Hotel; 11:50 a. m., 8th and Main, 10th and Main; 8:00 p. m., corner 8th and Main, corner 10th and Main; 8:30 p. m., White City Dance.

OHIO STATE PLANS MILLION DOLLAR STADIUM

A great stadium will be erected at Ohio State University. Details of the proposed structure are announced by Samuel N. Summer, a prominent local business man, who is chairman of the Ohio stadium committee, which was formed recently by alumni and friends of the University to plan the structure and to devise ways and means to procure a fund to erect it.

The stadium will cost $1,000,000. It will dominate a ninety-two acre plot of land along the eastern bank of the Olentangy river, given to the University by its board of trustees a few years ago for development as an unequalled recreational and athletic field.

The structure which will be named for the state of Ohio, will be U-shaped in design and unlike any previously constructed stadium it will have two seating levels in elevation.

It will be 107 feet high, accommodating a crowd of 63,000 perhaps 42,000 of whom will be seated in the lower tier, and 21,000 in the upper tiers. Boxes alone will accommodate 700 persons.

FROSH GRIDISTS SCALP HALF OF OPPONENTS

Cougar Kittens Win

October 30, in Pullman, the Freshmen suffered defeat at the hands of the Cougar Kittens who gamboled through, over and around the yearlings almost at will.

The closing game of the season between the Frosh and the fast Moscow High team showed the Frosh to better advantage than any of the other tangles, the final score being 14-7 in favor of the Frosh. Fast team work and long runs featured this game.

Good Varsity Material

In speaking of material from the Frosh team for next year's varsity, Coach McMillan says:

"Kinneson, in the backfield, probably made the best showing of any man in the team, being a consistent ground gainer and showing good form at boosting the oval.

"Hoover, with experience, will make a strong play, next year, for varsity center.

"Wicks is a fast, aggressive player, but was handicapped all season by a bad ankle.

"Cobley at end and Bucklin at quarter ought to be heard from on next year's varsity squad with added weight during the summer.

"Playing football for the first time in his life, Preuss developed into one of the most dependable guards on the squad and should show up well next year.

"Undoubtedly Woodrow would have been one of the best men on the team, had he not sustained a bad fracture of his ankle early in the season. While in the game he showed up as the best ground gainer in the backfield."

VIEWS VARY ON AMENDMENT

themselves." I am convinced that it requires as much business skill to administer a small fund properly, as it does to administer a large fund. The A. S. U. I. money, though not much, is all that we have. An unwise expenditure of it might mean ruin.

William Briscoe.

I am in favor of student self government with faculty advice for the following reasons:

1. The money supporting the A. S. U. I. is all student money and they should have the control of the same.

2. With student control the acts of the board that is disbursing this money, are subject to the will of the students and they can recall any or all the members of that board that do not properly spend this money.

3. With student self government the students can demand an accounting of all the money paid in by them to the treasurer and also any other acts that pertain to student activities, while with the present system the Board of Supervisors is appointed by the President of the University and the students cannot recall any one of that Board nor any act of that Board.

4. With faculty advice the views of the faculty will be known for all expenditures before they are made.

Harmon E. Hosier.

Personally I see but one reason for transferring the control of student funds from "faculty and student control" to "student control." That reason is this: the sentiment of a good many students is that there should be no faculty control other than in an advisory sense of the word. If this sentiment is that of the majority of the members of the A. S. U. I., I am willing that a change be made, providing that the change involve a system which can be proven practicable to all of the departmental managers of the A. S. U. I. I want to see the students control their own affairs but I am not averse to the present system to the extent that I will endeavor to abolish it.

Boyd W. Cornelison.

I am in favor of student control of student affairs, and especially of the expenditure of student money. That there is value in the advice and supervision of the faculty there is no gainsaying. But I think, however, that the function of the faculty in matters of the student government should be purely advisory. The Associated students are organized for the carrying on of student affairs. The members of the organization pay a per capita tax into a common treasury to carry on these activities. It seems to me to be only logical and just that they should have the power to spend this fund.

William Langroise.

It seems to me absurd that anyone should think that young people who are capable of going away to college, a large percentage of whom voted for the president of the United States, and many of whom are making their own way through college, are not capable of handling community funds in which they are vitally interested, for their own welfare and that of their Alma Mater.

Verna Wilkinson.

I have not been convinced that the present faculty advisory system has failed to function properly, in any great degree. In the one or two instances where some may charge that the present system has failed, the fault may most probably be laid to imperfect administration, than assigned as defects in the system. A system of absolute student control, such as was lately proposed, contemplated a far too loose and a far too irrevocable conduct of important affairs to appear practical. When the need for a change is clearly shown and when a new system is proposed which reasonably presumes to abrogate, rather than to exaggerate our ills, real or imaginary, I will be glad to concur with its adoption.

Chas. H. Darling.

Being a member of the Executive Board, I hesitate to give my opinion publicly on this matter. However, it is truly with an unprejudiced mind that I say I am strongly for student control in our university and I feel that we are admitting a deplorable weakness when we say that unlike all of the other accredited universities of the west, ours is incapable of student government. Is Idaho below the standards of W. S. C., Whitman, Montana, O. A. C., U. of W., and the many others with whom we are associated? As a true Idahoan that I trust I am, I defy anyone to say that Idaho is not at least an equal with them all.

Gladys Hastie.

Speaking solely from the Graduate Manager's viewpoint, I could never be reconciled to a system providing for the approval of all expenditures by a committee as large as the executive board. A small student committee might be able to do such work efficiently. It seems to me that defects in the present plan should be clearly demonstrated before a change is attempted.

A. J. Priest.

WASHINGTON STATE LEADS CONFERENCE

wholly upon the showing of Washington last year and the prospects this year.

Oregon and Washington State have run true to form and we find them in the lead, with Washington State conceding the better team. Oregon was rather slow in getting started and was not shown up by Idaho. Then we find the Oregon Aggies, who were thought to have at the beginning of the season as good material as any team in the West, but who have failed to deliver.

Idaho has been the renovated team in the conference. Not considered in the running at the beginning she has shown more consistent football than any team in the conference and should probably be ranked above Oregon. Whitman has one of the best teams that has represented her since the time of "Butch" Hoover and "Nig" Borleskie. The Missionaries have played good football all season. Then comes Montana with the most erratic team in the conference. Beating Washington in her first game, the Bears seemed to have been blinded by the light from the Sun-dodgers, and were decisively defeated by the Cougars. They then called upon the Missionaries and were promptly taken into camp. Now that Idaho has defeated them Montana assists Washington in holding down the cellar. Let us all hope and work that Idaho may show the way to the conference next year.
