IDAHO WINS ONE OF TWO W. S. C. GAMES

IDAHO WINS ONE TO TWO—VANDALS OUTPLAY COUGARS IN BOTH CONTESTS

LOOSE 19-18 AT PULLMAN WIN 22 TO 14 HERE

Vandals Are Flattered at Beating Fast Cougars.

Thursday night Washington State defeated the University of Idaho at Pullman by the close score of 19 to 18. The game was a real battle, both teams fighting hard all the time. It is the consensus of opinion in both schools that Idaho played the better game, not withstanding the final score. Playing in a gym not any too large at best, with the crowd out upon the floor, and with about as bad conditions as to ventilation and playing space as one could imagine, Idaho demonstrated to the State College supporters that the Vandals are once more to be the blight upon their basketball aspirations. In the first half Idaho started off with a rush, Hyde, Hunter and Carder leading in the attack, and whirlwind passing coupled with long-range shooting soon had the Cougars in a dilemma. Toward the end of the half the Pullman team settled down and scored a few points so that the half ended 12 to 9 in favor of Idaho. In the second half the Cougars came back with a changed lineup and in a few minutes tied the score. Then the game seasawed back and forth throughout the remainder of the period, with no team more than two points in the lead at any time. With Idaho one point in the lead and scarcely a minute to play, Loomis scored from the middle of the floor, winning the game for W. S. C.

Idaho's Faults
Hunter was away off from shooting fouls. All the team seemed to have developed a severe case of "Buck Ager," the ball simply would not go in the basket. The passing was good but Moe had a tendency to wildness, and the team was not passing down the floor fast enough. Our defense showed to advantage and the good condition of the team was very evident. The score:

IDAHO WINS FRIDAY

On Friday night, with the local gym filled to overflowing, the Vandals tamed the Cougar team in a battle that will long be remembered. By the score of 22 to 4. This score, does not really show the superiority of the Idaho team over W. S. C. but it at least makes some sort of amends for the defeat at Pullman the night before. Idaho jumped into the lead at the start of the game. Pullman tied the score before the first half was over, but the period ended with Idaho leading 10 to 7. In the second half the Cougars attempted to repeat the performance of the night before but were unsuccessful and before the period was half over Idaho had a comfortable lead and was never in danger of the rest of the game. Capt. Hunter played a stellar game, both offensively and defensively, but the whole team has not as yet displayed any real ability to hit the basket consistently. Washington State has a fast, hard fighting team and Idaho feels that beating them has given her a flying start toward the 1921 Northwest championship. The score:

Idaho	Field	Goals	Fouls	Points
A. Fox, f.	1	1	3	3
R. Fox, f.	2	2	4	4

Second Semester Registration Jan. 31

Registration for the second semester will take place Monday and Tuesday, January 21 and February 1. Classes will begin their regular work Wednesday morning. It is imperative that all students be fully registered by Tuesday evening. The regular fee for late registration will be levied for all delayed beyond that time. Students absenting themselves from class because of late registration will be subject to the same penalty as those skipping before or after vacation. Being fully registered does not mean having merely paid the registration fee. By Wednesday evening all classes must have been arranged for and all schedules made out. Students are cautioned to register in their courses by the number, being certain that the course number that they register for is the one they desire. The courses are listed according to number in the catalog, and this should be referred to constantly to eliminate mistakes. It is further announced that students must register in their entire curricula, as "Bachelor of Science in Agriculture," rather than merely Bachelor of Science. The particular course in science or letters in which they are getting their degrees must be designated. There is no day set aside for the registration of any one class or classes, all four years being privileged to register either day.

APPOINT COMMITTEE TO BOOST CONCERT

Large Group Will Canvas Student Body in Interests of Peterson Recital.

A. S. U. I. President William Langroise announces the appointment of a committee to cooperate with the faculty committee on public events to promote interest in the coming concert by May Peterson, soprano prima donna of the Metropolitan Opera Company. The committee, according to present plans, will make a canvas of the entire student body, boosting the sale of tickets, and in every way possible seeking to increase interest in the coming concert. Prof. Bangs, of the department of music, will have charge of the operations. The membership of the committee is as follows: James Fox, Gladys Hastie, Margaret Dubois, Stinson, Fred Graf, Thurllyn Schronitz, Mike Thometz, Helen Cochran, Grace Taggart, and Mercedes Jones.

PETERSON RECITAL FRIDAY, JANUARY 28

SINGER SAID TO BE MOST BEAUTIFUL WOMAN ON CONCERT STAGE TODAY.

IS LAST OF ARTIST SERIES

Peterson's Engagement For Fourth Opera Season Indicates Her Genius.
Miss May Peterson, charming young prima donna of the Metropolitan Opera Company, of New York, said to be the most beautiful woman on the concert stage today, will appear in concert in the University auditorium on Friday evening, January 28. Her concert will be the last of the University's artist's series. The admission will be one dollar.

The rise of Miss Peterson in the musical world has been rapid, yet not sensational. Today, however, she stands as one of the most popular artists on the concert stage. Her engagement for the fourth consecutive season by the Metropolitan Opera Company to sing leading soprano roles marks her ability as a dramatic artist. Miss Peterson is the daughter of a Methodist minister of Oskosh, Wisconsin. The naive beauty of her voice was first noted when she was singing in her father's choir. At the age of eighteen she went to Paris, at her own expense, to study under Jean de Reszke. The story of her struggle to live in the foreign country and at the same time continue her studies, her only source of income being her own labor, and her final engagement by the Opera Comique in Paris, forms a narrative intensely dramatic and romantic. Although still young, she now occupies a high point in the range of operatic fame. Miss Peterson's engagement here comes as a result of the earnest endeavors of Prof. Bangs, and the committee on public events, to secure for the University the very best in musical talent. Miss Peterson's program will consist largely of standard concert songs, and her charming personality and gracious stage presence, coupled with her unequalled interpretive genius, will make her recital full of popular interest.

ELECT ASSOCIATE EDITOR NEXT FRIDAY

TERM OF PRESENT EDITOR AUTOMATICALLY EXPIRES AT THAT TIME.

MUST BE JUNIOR OR SENIOR

Executive Board Will Pass On Eligibility of Nominees.

Election of the associate editor for the Argonaut will take place Friday afternoon, from 2 to 4, in room 108. Nominations will be made at the A. S. U. I. meeting to be held Wednesday afternoon and posted on the bulletin board.

As provided in the constitution of the A. S. U. I., the associate editor is elected each semester. At the end of the semester following that in which he is elected he automatically becomes editor, the term of the editor under whom he has been serving expiring at that time. According to this ruling, Gibson Stalker, the present editor in chief, will cease to hold office at the end of this semester. C. H. Swanstrom, the present associate editor, will automatically become editor, leaving the office of associate to be filled by election.

According to the constitution, to be eligible for nomination for associate editor, one must be a member of the incoming junior or senior class, must have served creditably for a year on the Argonaut staff, and must have had a year in the school of journalism, or the equivalent in practical newspaper experience.

Nominations are to be made by the A. S. U. I. convened in regular business meeting. The eligibility of the nominees will be passed on by the student executive board.

FROSH DOUBLE VICTORS IN CAMAS PRAIRIE TRIP

WIN FROM NEZ PERCE HIGH SCHOOL AND WINCHESTER TOWN HOOPERS.

LOSE TO NEZ PERCE TOWN

Rough Playing and Poor Floors Are Features of Entire Trip.

Playing three games in as many nights on strange floors, the first game Thursday, Jan. 6, the Frosh basketball team won the Nez Perce high school and Winchester town team but were defeated by the Nez Perce town team, in the recent trip taken into the Camas Prairie.

The first game with the town team of Nez Perce ended with the long end of the score, 31 to 20, favoring Nez Perce. The game was exceedingly rough and many personal fouls were committed, but none called, by both teams.

"Chick" Evans, who accompanied the team as coach, said, "It was a good football game and all gains were made on straight line bucks through tackle." The lineup was as follows:
R. F.—Cantine.
L. F.—Woodrow.
C.—Keane.
R. G.—Cornellison.
L. G.—Cobley.

The second game the Frosh won easily from the high school quintet by a score of 26 to 14. This game was a much faster and cleaner game than the first one. The same lineup was used with the exception of Troutman in place of Woodrow.

The last game with the Winchester town team at Winchester, the Frosh taking the measure of the lumber jacks to the tune of 31 to 9. Superior defense by the Frosh kept the opponents score low. The game was rough, and poor ball was an outstanding feature of both teams. The lineup was the same as that of the first game.

Semester Exams Begin Saturday

Final examinations for the first semester will begin at 1:30 on Saturday afternoon, January 22, and continue through to Saturday, January 23, according to a tentative schedule posted by the office of the registrar.

Unless otherwise announced, all examinations will be held in the room in which the class meets for recitations or lectures. In working out the schedule for their examinations, students are cautioned to make sure of their course, as that is the means used of denoting the various examinations of the schedule. Course numbers may be determined by looking up the course number in the University catalog.

All examinations must be written in blue books, unless otherwise specified by the instructor. Blue books may be obtained at the Bursar's office. Students are urged to make sure of their examination schedule at once, and make written reports to the registrar's office of all conflicts.

NOTICE!

On account of the necessity of assiduous application to studies, and studies alone, during the days on which the term examinations fall, there will be no Argonaut issued during the coming week. (Shut up, you crab. This skip in the publication was at least announced before hand.)

IDAHO TAKES GRAIN JUDGING HONORS

Takes Four Out of Five Cups in Contest Held at Nampa.

At the recent meeting of the Idaho State Seed Growers' association held in Nampa the Idaho grain and seed judging team from the college of agriculture carried off four of the five cups offered in the judging contests. Gustav A. Wiebe, of Aberdeen, was high man in the contest and Raymond L. Spangler, of Longmont, Colo., took second place in the individual contest. The Idaho team won first place in the general seed judging contest and first honors in the judging of Dicklow wheat and potatoes.

Idaho's four handsome silver loving cups were brought back by H. W. Pui- bert, of the department of agronomy and coach of the team. The three smaller cups for the individual high man, first place in wheat judging, and potato judging, were won permanently but the large team cup is to be held by the college of agriculture until the next meeting of the seed growers. Members of the victorious Idaho team were Gus Wiebe, Raymond Spangler and C. A. Berryman. Expenses of sending the team to Nampa were met by the Agricultural club, the members of the team, and by Moscow business men. C. B. Green contributed $25 toward the expenses of the trip.

- Feb. 26—Gonzaga at Moscow.
- Feb. 4—Montana at Moscow.

(By Robert Garver.)
This week the Vandals journey to Spokane for two games, one with Gonzaga and the other with S. A. C. We should win these two games easily and the team should be in good shape for Whitman the following week. Whitman has not yet hit her stride but dopsters seem to think that she will have a great team again this year.

Most of the Northwest Conference teams will get into action this week. Not much reliable information is obtainable at the present time as to the abilities of the respective quintettes but from the strength of Washington State we must conclude that most of the squads will be better than last year. O. A. C. will have a better team than last season but probably will not rank with the schools from this section. Oregon will have a very strong aggregation and will be a hard contender against Idaho. We have only one more with Oregon and that is on her home floor. Willamette should not hamper our championship aspirations to any great extent. Montana will probably play about the same brand of ball as Willamette. Taking it all in all, if we can win the next six games on the schedule, and that "if" should not be very large, Idaho will have a straight run for the bunting.

ERNEST LINDLEY, RHODES SCHOLAR, SAILS FOR OXFORD

Word has been received at the University that Ernest Lindley, son of former President E. H. Lindley, sailed for Oxford January 1. Mr. Lindley, who was chosen as Rhodes Scholar from Idaho, was awarded highest honors in the class of 1920. Before sailing he made an extended trip through Indiana. It is interesting to note that the Rhode Scholar from Indiana is a Phi Psi from E. K. Lindley's own chapter, Indiana Beta.

The Parthenia of the University of California for 1921 has been written by Josephine Brown, a former member of the class of 1921 of the University of Idaho. It is a masque given by the women students of the university each spring to typify the spirit of womanhood and is the climax of the women's activities for the year. The work is largely creative and represents every phase of educational activity. While at Idaho Miss Brown, who as a member of Delta Gamma sorority, was prominent in dramatics and composed the words to the popular Idaho song, "I am Growing Lonely."

cism, even though it be adverse. And nothing is more discouraging than knocking in absentia.

If you hear of something that you think might make a piece of news, tell the editor about it. Or, better yet, write down the facts and drop them in the Argonaut box, which is situated under the bulletin board in the main hall of the administration building. One pair of eyes cannot see everything that is going on around the campus, and you can blame no one more than yourself if something of interest or import is omitted from the paper.

The editor of a college weekly has a hard row to hoe at the best, and the situation at Idaho puts our particular editor on a par with the most difficult. If you want to have a good student newspaper—if you want to be proud of the organ that goes out every seven days to represent you in the other schools of the northwest, do everything in your power to help and encourage the editor and business manager of the Argonaut. They are the ones who make or break the paper.

R. O. T. C. NOTES

Quite a veteran in the army service is Sergeant Woods, who has joined recently the instruction staff of the local R. O. T. C. unit. Sergeant Woods has during his enlisted time spent over 11 years in the infantry service, and also saw 14 months as an aviator during the war. The field of his activities has ranged from the Philippine islands to Alaska. He has also seen service on the Mexican border with the 21st infantry. All of these "from a buck private down to a second lieutenant" have been occupied by Sergeant Woods. He is a graduate of the school of musketry and holds several degrees for his excellence in marksmanship.

A chance for local marksmen to shine is to be given by the announcement of an indoor marksmanship contest to be held by all the units of R. O. T. C. in the local corps area. The entries in this contest are to be ten-man teams. No institution is to be allowed to enter more than three teams, and each unit must have the number of teams to be entered reported by the 25th of this month. Tryouts for the local teams are being held in Lewis Court.

Major Huddelson of the local R. O. T. C. unit is on a week's leave of absence, during the duration of which he is in charge of the Idaho vocational stock judging team which is competing at the International Stock show at Denver.

Additions to the equipment of the battalion of cadets have been received in the form of a 37 millimeter accompanying piece for infantry and a Stokes mortar of the type the American troops used in the trenches. The pieces will be used in the spring to instruct the Idaho cadets.

ELWETAS OBTAINS RARE SPECIMEN OF ALASKAN OWL

Floyd Cossit, who is working in the woods north of Bovill, recently captured an Alaskan White owl (species Stryx, Mialaco) and has sent it to the Elwetias, where it is being kept. The Alaskan White owl is rarely seen so far south as this, and it is attracting many visitors. The specimen is a very large one, weighing about 35 pounds. In color it is snow white, with a slightly darker shading around the neck and legs. These birds have an extremely keen vision at night, but their eyes are very sensitive to light, so the bird is kept in a dark box during the day time, and at night is given the liberty of the Elwetias porch, it being chained however, to prevent its escape.

It is now planned to send the owl to the state museum of national history in Boise in the near future, for while it is a great curiosity, the members of the Elwetias say it takes too much time to provide mice for Mr. Who Who, and he refuses to eat any other food.

IN PASSING

This is the last issue of the Argonaut to be published under the present administration of the sheet. With the opening of the new semester a new era for the university journal will begin. A new figure will occupy the editorial chair, and new hands will litter the floor and desk of the Argonaut office. It is the sincere desire of the passing editor that "new" may be the watchword for those who have in charge the publication of the journal in the future. Without any attempt at a pun, it is hoped that its columns may be filled with news that is sparkling and live in its recency. May its pages reflect all that is freshest and best in the student life. May its future expressions of opinion be up to the minute in thought, injuring none, inspiring many, and satisfying all.

In looking backward over his term of office, the passing editor sees only a dismal litter of unattained ambitions and unfinished enterprises. Most of the time the paper has been bad. Rarely it has been fair. Never has it been at all worthy of the school and student body which it seeks to represent. It is the wish of the writer that the Argonaut, nursed by new and more capable hands, may rise from the ruins a truly representative organ, worthy of being referred to with pride by each one of its student constituents.

To those who have, by means of their co-operation, made it possible to put into the paper what little of good it may have contained, let it be said that it is hoped that the entire student body may become infected with their spirit, and that those who have thoughtlessly, although not maliciously, made a hard path yet more difficult to travel, may see in the former an example for emulation.

This is not an apology—neither is it a plea for sympathy. The editor who wishes nothing more than to shoulder the full measure of responsibility and blame for all that the Argonaut has been or has not been during the past semester. Journalistically he bids the student body farewell.

IDAHO SPORTSMANSHIP

Idaho has long prided herself on displaying a superior brand of sportsmanship in the attitude which she takes toward her athletic contests. Recently, however, she conducted herself in a manner that would seem to indicate that this is a false boast.

In the recent basketball game with Washington State College there was considerable criticism of the officiating. A referee who is reputed to be one of the best in the northwest was accused of showing partiality to the opposing team. Instead of sitting by like good sportsmen and leaving the mending of the wrong, if such there was, to those who are paid to look after that very thing, the students attending the game took it upon themselves to try to help matters by setting up a hooting and jeering that was rivaled in volume only by the wildest cheering over a sensational score.

Had the kickers been from the student body of a provincial high school their act might have been excusable. But such was not the case. They were the very select and superior, broadminded students of a leading university, boasting of a creed of sportsmanship that held them above all petty grousing. Under these circumstances the affair is inexcusable, and altogether worthy of condemnation. It is to be hoped that no similar ignoble impulse may ever again move a crowd of Idaho rooters.

THE FUTURE ARGONAUT

For many months, the editor has been forced to keep pent up many of his natural feelings. When someone crabbled because the paper did not come out in time for the notice about the particular dance that the crabbler was promoting to be effective, the editor could only grin and cuss a little bit at nothing at all, and pass the buck to the printer and the reporting staff and offer the kicker the clear that he, the editor, was given by the last fraternity brother who slipped his pin. But now that the editor is about to slip out of the journalistic yoke, he feels constrained to indite some convictions.

Don't crab, Mr. Student, or Miss Studentess, if the Argonaut is not what you thing it should be. If you have fault to find with the paper, tell the editor about it in a friendly way. He will appreciate that. It is bearing in a roundabout way things that some weak-spined grouch, lacking the courage to talk to him face to face, has said behind his back that makes an editor want to throw up the whole works and quit. Nothing can be more helpful than sincere criti-

FLOWERS AND FORMALS

Everyone had a good time at the Junior Prom, yet not a corsage was on the floor, and not a girl seemed to feel that anything was lacking in the party. Besides, a lot of us won't have to have our evening waistcoats cleaned before the next formal. What is the logic of flowers at a college formal? Why not make their absence a permanent feature of Idaho society?

We Like the Simile.

Heard while trying balloons for formal decorations: Gertrude R.: "This is awful. It won't do what I want it to." Gertrude S.: "Try squeezing him around the neck!"

Junior Prom Best In Years

Gliding over a floor as smooth as glass, beneath a beautiful and unique canopy done in white, lavender, and canary yellow, to excellent music which filtered through the canopy from somewhere above, and ending the evening with a battle royal that filled the air with serpentine, confetti, and the din of horns and squawking, the hundred and thirty couples who attended the Junior Prom Saturday night are unanimous in their verdict that it was the best party that has been held at the University for many years.

A feature of the affair was the balloting by those present to select the most popular all round girl in the Junior class. Miss Gladys Hastie was chosen by a large majority. Standing in the glare of a spot light, the remainder of the hall being in darkness, Miss Hastie was presented with a handsome bouquet of crysanthemums.

In the receiving line were Gerald Gill, '22, president of the Junior class, Miss Myra Armbruster, President and Mrs. A. H. Upham, Dean and Mrs. E. M. Hulme, Dean and Mrs. O. P. Cockerill, Dean and Mrs. J. G. Eldridge, Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Parsons, and Dean, Evelyn Butler.

FOR PREVENTION OF BLINDNESS

Wonderful Progress Made by the National Committee in That Direction.

WORK IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Conservation of Vision Classes Growing in Number as Educators Discover It is Practicable to Open Classes in Small Cities.

New York.—More than 4,000 supporters of the work of the National Committee for the Prevention of Blindness were reported at the sixth annual meeting in this city. This report shows a remarkable increase from the 63 charter members in 1915. The work for the last year showed much progress for the conservation of vision in the public schools and colleges.

The report continues: "Conservation of vision classes in the public schools are growing in number as educators have discovered, through the efforts of our committee, that it is practicable to open such classes even in cities smaller than the largest. The present census of such classes is 62, of which 12 have been established within the last year. So far as known, the classes which now support such classes include Illinois, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Washington. There is no more hopeful part of our work than this, and we are proud to have contributed a considerable part to the establishment of these classes.

Blindness in Children.
"The chief cause of blindness among children is due to ophthalmia neonatorum. The percentage this year is 22.5 per cent as compared with 17.7 per cent for last year of those who have newly entered the residential schools. This disease is an inflammation of the eye usually contracted by newly born children. The percentage is even higher in the public classes. We have reason to regret this unfortunate relapse. This is the first year but one that has not shown a considerable decrease, but we are quite sure that our figures are more accurate than in the years gone by, and possibly some of this increase is due to the greater accuracy of our reports. We must faithfully and persistently pursue our fight against babies' sore eyes and continue to reduce the number of children who need not have been blind.

"Trachoma's victims (one of the most dreaded of contagious eye diseases) have been discovered in several states where it was not suspected this scourge could be prevalent. Not less than nine states have during this year initiated or renewed their fight against the spread of trachoma. In Illinois, particularly, there has been a marshalling of the forces for systematic operation in the stamping out of this disease. In all cases it has been the function of this committee to serve as a helpful agency in this work.

Caused by Wood Alcohol.
"Wood alcohol poisoning still causes much blindness through drinking this substance masquerading as a familiar stimulant. This condition was not a surprise to us, and we had issued a warning which was used throughout the United States. Much activity resulted because of the newspaper accounts of the dreadful situation, and considerable work has been done by them toward eliminating this cause of needless blindness."

H. F. J. Porter of the Society for Electrical Development delivered the annual address. The subject of Mr. Porter's address was "Through Life's Windows." He showed the great dependence of man on healthy and well-cared for eyes, which he compared to a pair of motion picture cameras. "Indeed, the motion picture camera is made in imitation of the eye," he continued. "The better the condition of the lens and the better the illumination of the object the better the result of the photographer's effort. Just so with the more perfect instrument, the eye, and it behooves every one to see that his eyes are kept in good condition and free from eyestrain due to improper lighting. As it takes a longer time to take a good picture in poor light than in good light, so it takes longer to obtain a good conception of what is before us with poor eyesight and in poor light. Employers are wise who provide against accidents from poor lighting."

Return Hero Medal.
Connellsville, Pa.—While a negro woman held up Mrs. Annabelle Gemas along the West Penn street car line, near the Gemas home, two negroes searched her, took her pocketbook, containing about $30, but returning a gold service medal which the woman's husband, the late George Gemas, had been awarded for service in the Spanish-American war. The trio halted Mrs. Gemas with the request, "Please give us your money, lady."

Something Funny, All Right.
Tiptonville, O.—There was something funny about the chicken dinner served Mayor Charles Beswick. He was guest of honor at a stag party where the chicken was served in liberal portions. On returning home Beswick found that 15 of his choice pullets had disappeared.

3,500,000 CHILDREN FACING STARVATION

Vast Relief Effort Launched by Eight Leading American Organizations to Avert Tragedy.

The most spontaneous as well as the largest consolidation of effort in the history of American relief and charitable organizations has grown out of the disaster which threatens 3,500,000 European children this winter. To the headquarters of every agency that dispenses American mercy overseas has come one steady cry for months past: the children, most helpless and blameless sufferers in the track of war, will perish by the thousands before next harvest unless America saves them!

When Dr. Livingston Farrand, chairman of the Central Committee of the American Red Cross, returned from a recent trip abroad, his report throbbled with the need of the children. From the feeding-stations of the American Relief Administration throughout eastern and central Europe came letters, cables, pleas of every sort. The Protestant churches sent investigators into after-war conditions and every report breathed the impending tragedy of starving and diseased children. Protestant, Catholic and Jewish, the child life of Europe is threatened with heartrending misery.

The European Relief Council, with Herbert Hoover as chairman and the whole power of American charitable thought and effort behind it, has been formed. It consists of Edgar Rickard, representing the American Relief Administration; Dr. Livingston Farrand, representing the American Red Cross; Felix Warburg, representing the Jewish Joint Distribution Committee; Wilbur K. Thomas, representing the American Friends' Service Committee; James A. Flaherty, representing the Knights of Columbus; Dr. C. V. Hibbard, representing the Young Men's Christian Association; Miss Sarah S. Lyon, representing the Young Women's Christian Association; Dr. Arthur Brown, representing the Federal Council of Churches.

It is the purpose of the Council to raise $33,000,000, in an appeal centering at the Christmas holidays, to the end that the situation regarding child life may be met. In every town and community of the nation, it is hoped, local committees, representing all the co-operating agencies will be formed to secure the vitally necessary funds. Of the amount sought, $23,000,000 will be used for basic food. For every one of these American dollars the local governments and communities aided will furnish two dollars, in the form of transportation, labor, guards, clerical help, cash contributions and such food supplies as are locally obtainable. No children receive the free food except after medical tests showing them to be seriously under-nourished. The remaining $10,000,000 of the fund is just as urgently needed for medical service to the children.

The European Relief Council will do much more than effect economies in the raising of the child-saving fund. It will, with the inspecting forces of eight great agencies, keep a constant eye on the administration of America's merciful gift, in order that there shall be no wastage and no tendency toward pauperization.

Slain by a Dog.
Greensburg, Ind.—William S. Smith, aged forty-five, starting on a hunting trip, was shot to death by his dog. The dog pressed the trigger of Smith's shotgun as it scrambled about in the automobile, just as the hunting party was starting.

KEEPS LONELY VIGIL

Girl Has Task of Guarding Forests From Fire.

Former Newspaper Woman Has Spent Two Summers in Quiet Lookout on Top of Mountains.

Denver.—Following two successful seasons, during which pretty Miss Helen Dove of this city, in her capacity of forest fire lookout, has discovered more than a score of incipient blazes, officials of the National Forest service are convinced that women are equally qualified as men in the art of chasing down the tiny wisps of smoke that sometimes lead to serious conflagrations in the thickly wooded districts of the Rocky mountains. Miss Dove is the only member of her sex in the West who holds the position of forest fire lookout.

From June until late October Miss Dove lives on the summit of Devil's Head peak, 9,300 feet high above sea level and 65 miles southwest of Denver. From sunrise to sunset Miss Dove scans the horizon, sweeping the thousands of acres of forest land beneath her powerful glass, constantly alert for the least sign of smoke, which often means birth of the terror of the timber country—the forest fire.

There are no Sundays or holidays for Miss Dove. Occasionally, after a heavy downpour of rain or when clouds obscure the earth below, she gets a brief respite. Going to the fire lookout station early in summer, she must cook her own meals and perform all the work necessary to keep her cabin and lookout station in repair. She must chop her own firewood and carry her own water. Previous to assuming her duties as forest fire lookout, Miss Dove was a Denver newspaper woman.

DECORATED BY FRANCE

Miss Mary Dingman of New York returned recently from Europe where she spent three years establishing Y. M. C. A. canteens in the war-torn countries of Europe. She spent some time doing relief work in Russia and was awarded two French decorations for her war activities.

PROVES BEAT LACKS 'COPPER'

Citizen Hangs Dollar Bill on Broken Street Light and Waits in Vain.

Chester, Pa.—When an electric light in Prospect park flickered out some three months ago J. B. Geary, whose home is close by, says he waited patiently night after night for the policeman on the beat to report the matter and have a good bulb hung there.

Geary took a new crisp $1 bill and tacked the bank note on the light pole. Then he watched for the coming of the policeman. "Had the policeman been on the job he would have been rewarded with the $1 bill," said Geary, "but he has not put in an appearance and the money is still waiting for him to claim it." Other people have come that way and several dozen passers-by have attempted to pull down the money before his very eyes, Geary says, but he has given them to understand that the dollar belongs to the policeman that gets around there and has the light fixed.

Old Drum.

Eugene, Ore.—Among the early day exhibits at the Lane County fair will be a drum that was made 61 years ago in Waupaca, Wis., and that still has one of the original heads. The drum will be exhibited by F. H. West. It was made in 1859 by Mrs. West's father. To the martial notes of the old drum was mustered in Company A, Eighth Wisconsin Infantry, the regiment that is noted in Civil war history for having carried a live American eagle throughout the war.

FOSSIL REMAINS FOUND IN WYOMING

BONES OF PREHISTORIC ANIMALS FOUND IN GREAT PLAINS SECTION OF WEST.

(U. S. Geological Survey.)

What geologists term the Oligocene formations contain the fossil bones of a great variety of strange extinct animals. These strata are among the most widespread and most regularly distributed of the Tertiary sedimentary rock formations of the Great Plains and cover a vast area in Nebraska and Wyoming.

The lower Oligocene beds, which are believed to be over a million years old, are often called Titanotherium beds because they contain great quantities of the bones of extinct mammals of that name. They were clumsy brutes of elephantine size, according to the United States Geological Survey, Department of the Interior, having on the front of the skull a pair of great bony protuberances which, although hornlike in form, were probably not sheathed in horn. The head was long and large and of fantastic shape. In its thick, heavy body and short, massive legs the titanotheres resembled the modern rhinoceros. It was doubtless a sluggish, stupid beast, for its brain was small in comparison with the size of its body. The brain cavity was only a few inches in diameter and was surrounded by thick bone, as if to withstand shocks in battle. The titanotheres were the most formidable animals of the time, and though so far as known, there were then no carnivores capable of doing them serious harm, yet they seem to have disappeared suddenly from North America.

The animals of Oligocene time seem to have been abundant as well as varied in kind. Among the characteristic animals of this epoch were primitive forms of rhinoceroses, peccaries, ruminants, camels, insectivores, and opossums. Some of the flesh eaters of the preceding Eocene epoch had developed into true carnivores, including many forms of both doglike and catlike animals. The saber-toothed tiger, one of the most formidable enemies of primitive man, first appeared in the Oligocene epoch.

The horses whose history began with the diminutive four-toed Eohippus continued in the Oligocene, in which they were represented by many three-toed forms that were about as large as sheep. Hoglike animals were rather numerous, and although many of them were smaller than the modern swine some of them were very large. One of these was a formidable beast with curious protuberances on its head, the use of which is not known. Rhinoceroses similar to those now found in Africa and India lived in western America, and other rhinoceros-like animals were abundant.
