THE HONOR SYSTEM
 The honor system in college examinations continues to be a much mooted question among students and faculty of a great number of American colleges and universities.

Whitman is one of the latest to give the system a trial, and the past semester exams were given on the honor of the students, with the restriction however, that each student must promise to report any cheating in a written statement, either signed or unsigned. Even this seems to call a little short of the absolute honor system, but is perhaps an essential to the success of the plan. It is common knowledge that students are not prone to "stool pigeon" or squeal to the authorities, even when their own rulings are broken. The honor system cannot be successful without the co-operation of the student body in reporting infringements of the rule.

The Colorado College of Agriculture adopted the honor system this past semester for the first time, in the exams in the department of physics, but no report has been received as to its result.

At Simpson College, Iowa, the students voted to adopt the honor system, and Simmons College in Texas voted in the system by a vote of 448 to 40, and at the University of Oklahoma, the students were notified by the faculty that unless strict observance of the honor system was maintained it would be abolished.

At Idaho the college of law has had the honor system in force for many years. There are no restrictions imposed on the students as to their conduct during the exams, nor is there any arbitrary rule as to reporting cheating. So far as known, it has been an unqualified success, and no infringements have ever been reported, or even rumored. It is said that the honor rule prevails in some of the departments of the College of Agriculture, and in a few of the other departments in the various colleges of the University.

The matter of adopting the honor system for the entire university has never been brought to a student decision at Idaho. The general sentiment of the student body seems to favor this system, while the faculty are said to be about equally divided on the matter. The honor system has been a pregnant question in American institutions of higher learning for many years, and is one of no little moment.

It seems reasonable to conclude that the majority of University students are sufficiently mature to realize that they are here not merely for grades, but for what they are actually obtaining from the work given. When this attitude is general, there should be no inclination for infringements of the honor system. However, human nature is not uniform in its mental processes, and in some schools where the system has been tried, it has proven a dismal failure; in others, an unqualified success.

However, it seems a well nigh universal attribute of human mental processes, that "don'ts" mean "do it, if you can get away with it," and that too rigorous restrictions and subjugations to arbitrary authority lead to mental rebellion and infraction of law. The average person responds to a trust and confidence, and the Golden Rule is still exerting its influence upon civilization. There is no doubt that there is a certain satisfaction in slipping one over on the person who is distrustful of you, or who is constantly on the outlook for some infraction of established rules. This is not a commendable attitude by any means, but it nevertheless exists and is a factor to be reckoned with in passing on the merits and disadvantages of the honor system.

We believe that this question is one which should be brought before the student body for approval or rejection, and the person or persons who bring this question to a focus before student consideration will be doing the student body a well worth while service.

IN EXPLANATION.

In last week's issue of the Argonaut there appeared an editorial under the caption, "University or Group." The article has brought out a great deal of comment, both favorable and unfavorable, some students deeming that it was hardly unfair in its charges. There was no intention on the part of the editor to take any particular group or groups; it was the intention to drive home a fact which has been more or less apparent on the campus for some years, and while believing that the spirit of the editorial was justified, and that its true intent can be gleaned from the article itself, we admit that its grammatical construction was such as to render the intent ambiguous.

To those groups, or individuals, who deem themselves to have been unjustly made the target of adverse criticism, we offer our apologies, and pledge our support in rectifying the damage done.

A New All-College Event.

To all University People:
 Perhaps this is the first attempt to have an all-college attendance at the services of the churches of Moscow on a given Sunday. But why not such an all-college event?

There is a certain charm about a church and its service that cannot be found anywhere else. You are impressed with the fact that people are gathered together, all seeking after knowledge of the truth. Did you ever stop to think what a stupendous idea that is?

Most of the local churches will have services particularly helpful to students. You will be uplifted and strengthened by an hour's stay in an edifice held sacred to the worship of God.

Therefore, let us set aside February 20th as "Go-to-Church Sunday," and be sure to keep that appointment. You will be benefitted, and the members of the churches will be glad to welcome you. Let's make church attendance as universal as possible, Sunday, the thirteenth.

EVERYBODY GO TO CHURCH.

No doubt you gave a great deal of time to the selection of your course of study. You have indicated your choice of the different subjects offered by the University. I am wondering if you have registered in one of the local churches for a course of Bible study?

The Bible is the most wonderful book written. It is so simple that he may run who reads; the illiterate can find in it the way of life. It is so deep that the most scholarly cannot exhaust its teachings nor plumb its depths. The church is the great institution in the world where the truths of the Bible are taught. The churches of Moscow have special courses of Bible study especially arranged for the students of the University. You should be enrolled in one of these classes.

Why not attend the church of your choice next Sunday morning and register for a course of Bible study.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA GIRLS INDIGNANT

"Stagging" So Common It Has Almost Supplanted "Dating" According To Co-Eds.

"Stagging" has become so common at University of Southern California that it has almost supplanted "dating" according to a number of co-eds interviewed in an investigation conducted by the Trojan, the student paper. "They're pikers, that's all," is the invariable comment of the women. Among the remarks made by feminine students who refuse to give their names for publication, are: "Whenever I go to a theatre now days, I go with a girl chum." "I have to drag along my

FAIR SEX WAGES WAR ON "THE FILTHY WEED"

Away With Abbreviated Skirts, Paint and "Coodle Garages" Say Boys in Reply.

"In ye good old days" seems to be the slogan adopted by the young people of a certain church in Mattoon, Illinois.

Twenty-five girls, at the instigation of their Sunday school superintendent, signed a pledge not to keep company with boys who used the "weed." This anti-cigarette club is still growing, and not without results, according to the superintendent, for several boys have quit the habit.

But the boys of the Mattoon high school fired a broadside into this club by signing the following pledge:
 "I do solemnly affirm that I will not court a girl who persists in:
 "Wearing knee length skirts.
 "Wearing low cut waists below the point where mother wore them when she was a girl.
 "Wearing silk stockings.
 "Using paint or rouge.
 "Attending dances minus her corset.
 "Pulling out her eyebrows or wearing her hair in such style as to hide her ears."
 Both sides are firmly holding their stand, and "much good is being accomplished," according to the Sunday school superintendent.—Oregon Daily Emerald.

UNIVERSITY OF WASHINGTON GETS BAGSHAW AS COACH

E. W. "Baggy" Bagshaw, who has been turning out championship football teams at Everett High, has been secured by the University of Washington as varsity football coach, and will assume his duties there in April of this year. Baggy goes to Washington under a three year contract, starting at a salary of $4,500 the first year, $4,750 the second and $5,000 the third year.

Last year Baggy's high school team tied Toledo for the U. S. championship, and this year walloped Cleveland for American high school championship.

Bagshaw seriously considered the position of varsity coach at Idaho last year.

They're here! The forerunners of the deluge of goolashes have reached the Idaho campus at last. The dainty feet of the fair co-eds are encased in buckled monstrosities belonging to the overshoe family and the male portion of the campus is sighing for the good old days of slender ankles and unencumbered feet.

Reports from other college papers cite Denver University as the victim of a similar epidemic. The situation at Idaho is not considered as serious as that at Denver, but if the fad continues in popularity it is likely that some action will be taken. The noise by goolashed feet makes it impossible to study.

WHITMAN TEAM TO BE SAME FOR NEXT YEAR

With the exception of Captain Garver, Whitman's football team next year will present the same lineup as it had this season. Consequently the Missionaries are expecting to turn out the strongest grid aggregation next fall that they have had in ten years.

California Raises Fee.

U. of C.—The present tuition fee of $20 a year for non-resident students will be increased to $150, the increase taking effect next August. The action of the regents was largely in response to the opinions expressed by financial officers of the state that the state could no longer afford to extend free education to non-residents.

Enrollment figures presented by President David P. Barrows at the meeting showed that there were 1,151 non-resident students registered at the university last semester. It is expected that the increased fee will yield a revenue of about $100,000 a year to the university.

THE JUNIOR BOOMERANG FROM SHELLEY RECEIVED

The Argonaut is in receipt of Vol. 1, No. 1, of the Junior Boomerang published by the Junior class of Shelly (Idaho) high school. It is a creditable sheet, and much of its merit is due to the work of Miss Alice Hankinson, instructor in English and Commerce, who was a student of the University last year.

Berkeley Students Are Good Flunkers.

University of California—Registration figures for the university will show little change this semester. More than six hundred students were "flunked out" and this figure is more than balanced by the new enrollment. MILITARY BALL LOOMS AS BIG SOCIAL EVENT

War God's Ball Said to Be Finest Social Event of Present Season Many Novel Stunts Planned.

On Saturday evening, Feb. 19, at 8 o'clock, the gym will be the scene of that most festive occasion of the year, the Military ball. For this occasion the barren walls of the gym will don a new suit of clothes, different and more sprightly than any of its previous garb.

You men who have seen service, this is your dance. Dust off the old rick suit, shine those putts, garnish a dollar and a half, and march to the gym. The common mortal who is there in his fish and soup and the campus cadet will both wish they had one or two of your service stripes, and many will be the envious looks cast your way.

Hints are very prevalent to the effect that new and thrilling features are in the course of evolution and will be ripe for the bursting of a week from Saturday. Past performances can not compare with the new and novel features to be divulged. Col. Chrisman and Maj. Harrison are doing all in their power to make this the most successful and enjoyable events of the year.

Arrangements for the affair are in the hands of committees selected from the cadet officers, with Maj. Hudelson in charge. With the assistance of the entire cadet corps in decorating the gym, little doubt remains that this will be a stellar occasion of the season.

Idaho Nails Second Fray. In the game Saturday night, Idaho nosed out the Bruins with a margin which was too close for comfort, and left the game undecided until the final minute.

Due to an injured ankle, Capt. Hunter did not start the game, and his absence made a vast difference in the team work of the Vandals. Wyman and Perrine started, making three changes in the regular lineup. The team seemed a trifle helpless, and many plays were poorly executed, but every man was fighting gamely and it was merely the lack of more experience as a fighting unit which kept the machine from rolling up a heavy score.

Idaho lead at the end of the first half by the narrow score of 11 to 9. Immediately after the second frame opened the Bruins roped two pretty baskets and held the heavy end of 15 to 12 score, Idaho having annexed one counter on a foul.

Capt. Hunter, was then called into action, and his appearance on the floor brought the rooters up standing, and he was given an ovation which made the old gym quiver from floor to flagstaff. The ball had scarcely been tipped off when Hunter tore under the goal and dropped in a perfect counter. A moment later he dropped one from down the floor, giving Idaho the lead again.

Hunter again scored, giving Idaho a three point lead. Baskets by Moe and Fox brought the total to 22 and Montana was unable to increase her score after the advent of Hunter into the fray.

This was one of the most thrilling games of the present college generation. Hunter's entry into the game seemed to charge players and spectators with a new life, and it was a wholly different team which snatched victory from the Bruins in the last nine minutes of play. It was simply another demonstration of the marvelous basketball instinct of Capt. Hunter whose floor strategy is without a par in the entire Northwest.

The work of Moe and Fox was fully up to their past records, and they played rings around their opponents.

Carder played his usual stellar defense and also annexed a basket for good measure. Wyman and Perrine demonstrated that they are fully capable of a place on the Varsity lineup.
