UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, MOSCOW, IDAHO, SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 17, 1921.

NUMBER 1

PROMINENT IDAHO MEN TO ADDRESS ASSEMBLY. TWO UNIVERSITY GRADS

WILL START YEAR OFF WITH BIG GET-TOGETHER MEETING
—GOVERNOR HERE.

FRENCH TO GET HONORARY DEGREE

University Christian Federation Sponsoring Student Reception at Gymnasium Friday Night; Freshman Convention Wednesday at Four O'Clock.

Old and new students will be brought together in a body for the first time at assembly Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock.

Burton L. French, Idaho '01, U. S. representative from Idaho, and Governor D. W. Davis will be here and deliver short addresses. Robert O. Jones, Idaho '16, secretary of state, who has been active in boosting the university in southern Idaho is expected to be in Moscow and attend the assembly.

The honorary degree of doctor of laws, which was voted to Mr. French last spring at the inauguration of President Upham, will be conferred upon him at this time.

Dr. E. A. Bryan, commissioner of education, and Stanley A. Easton of Kellogg, members of the board of regents, will be introduced to the student body.

Members of the faculty will appear in academic costume, forming in line at Ridenbaugh hall and marching to the Administration building. Several musical numbers are being arranged for the occasion.

Following the assembly, the prominent visitors will be the guests at a luncheon given by members of the Moscow Chamber of Commerce.

Students will also have the opportunity of indulging in a few good old Idaho songs and yells. Numerous announcements concerning activities, coming events, classes, etc., will be made. President Upham has requested that there be a big attendance of students at the opening assembly as a compliment to the distinguished Idahoans who will be here.

Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock freshmen will assemble in the auditorium where President Upham will talk with them on university life.

Reception Friday.

A reception for students and faculty members of the good old fashioned get-together kind will be held at the gymnasium Friday evening at 8 o'clock under the auspices of the new organization which will replace the present Y. M. C. A. and the committee of 40.

Entertainment aplenty is being arranged and under the lead of older university students and the faculty members hand-shaking and formalities will be cut to the minimum.

The main fun of the evening will be "The Opening of the College of Good Cheer," a burlesque on a year at the university, in which everyone will get a humorous glimpse on the high spots of college life. The program will be a continuous series of surprises, each one with a laugh of it.

All students, faculty members and friends of the university are urged to attend. Refreshments will be served at the close of the entertainment.

PRESIDENT A. H. UPHAM ADDRESSES FACULTY BODY

OUTLINES CHANGES IN ADMINISTRATION, AND POINTS OUT WORK FOR ENSUING YEAR.

Much interesting and important information in regard to the university will be found in the following address which was delivered by President Upham before the faculty Saturday morning.

In this address President Upham analyzes the status of the university, deals with conditions which bear heavily upon university life and activities, and explains much of the organization which is of interest to the students. He also cites changes in regard to registration, what matters are determined by the deans, rulings as to deficiencies, absences, probation, etc.

In this issue is the first half of the

INFLUX OF NEW STUDENTS BREAKS PREVIOUS RECORDS

ADVANCE INFORMATION SHOWS
NEW HIGH REGISTRATION
MARK WILL BE SET.

With the freshman class promising to be from 25 to 50 per cent larger than ever before, and an unusually large number of old students returning to hit the grind again, it is assured that early predictions regarding a new enrollment record are to come true.

Last year, a banner year for students, 150 new students had sent in application blanks before the first registration day. This year the number is 325. It is doubtful though if this indicates the increase to come as the registrar's office has made a greater attempt this year to get application blanks in early. However, it does indicate an increase.

Owing to the drop in wages, and the general lack of employment, many students who had one or two years of university work and then dropped out to work are coming back.

An unprecedented number of students are planning to work part or all of their way through the university. More than 200 students have written in asking for jobs and probably as many more have arranged for work through other sources.

Advance reservations at the dormitories, and the number of old men and women coming back to the fraternity and sorority houses give further proof to the fact that the enrollment record will be broken.

Influx of Ex-Soldiers

From 125 to 150 federal vocational men will be in training at the university, about twice the number that were here last year. The Veteran's Vocational club is now trying to arrange to accommodate this increase through their organization.

Moscow people, co-operating with the university, are arranging to take care of students should the dormitories prove too small.

The Schedule

The season's schedule follows:
October 8—Camp Lewis at Moscow.
October 15—University of Oregon at Portland.
October 22—Washington State College at Pullman.
October 29—University of Utah at Salt Lake.
November 5—University of Montana at Moscow.
November 11—University of Wyoming at Boise.
November 16—Gonzaga University at Spokane.
November 24 (Thanksgiving day)—Whitman college at Walla Walla.

WE'RE A HAPPY FAMILY SAYS PRESIDENT UPHAM

You are too busy and too much interested just now in other things to have much time for words of welcome however sincere. I do want to tell you though that we are genuinely glad that you are here and anxious to make this thirtieth year of the University of Idaho the best year of all. Most of you are here at a great sacrifice on the part of somebody. Many of you are not quite certain how long your funds will permit you to stay. Let's all work together to make every day count as much as possible and pay some tangible return on our investment.

The University of Idaho will come to hold the place that belongs to it in the regard of our citizens only as it inspires in the hearts of all our students the loyalty, pride and affection which are about the finest things of college life. But loyalty, pride and affection are not inspired by the practice of "getting by" in classes or just evading the clutches of the law. They grow out of an unwavering respect for the good name of the university and a constant desire to get solidly back of every worthwhile thing the university is trying to do. We are just a community of honest, well-meaning folk, and I assure you that we are going to enjoy our life here together.

NEW RUSHING RULES INTRODUCED BY GIRLS

Under new rushing rules put in force this fall by the Women's Pan-Hellenic Association, entertaining of the budding rushee will extend over two long weeks, giving sororities ample time to become acquainted with all new girls, and likewise to give to the rushees adequate knowledge of the sororities.

Monday sororities will give teas and every freshman will attend each of them—six rounds of tea. Dinners, breakfasts, firesides and teas will continue until Wednesday of the second rush week. Thursday, Friday and Saturday of the second week there will be no entertaining of rushees and Saturday bids will go to the dean of women. The "parade" of girls going to sororities will be Sunday afternoon, October 2.

Captain Eben W. White, past assistant surgeon in the public health service, has established an office at 802 Deakin avenue, adjoining the campus and will serve as medical supervisor of the world-war-veterans who are attending the university for vocational training. He will have similar supervision over vocational men at Washington State College, Pullman.

IDAHO GARNERS SECOND IN TRAINING CAMP RELAY

Among the honors taken by university students at the reserve officers' training camp at Camp Lewis this summer was that of second place in the training camp relay race. The relay was a feature of a divisional track meet. Idaho's team consisted of Gerald Gill, Gerald W. Friedman, Vaughn A. Price and Marshal Macey. Idaho was represented by 17 men at the summer camp.

RELIGIOUS CONFEDERATION EXTENDS SCOPE OF WORK

RELIGIOUS-SOCIAL ACTIVITIES
OF UNIVERSITY STUDENTS MORE UNIVERSAL.

Religious and social life among university students will be fostered in the future by an organization to be known as the United Christian Federation, according to announcement today by the Rev. J. Orrin Gould, student pastor, reporting a decision of the board of directors of the Cooperative Church foundation.

"Every student who is a member of a church of any kind will become a member of this federation automatically," said Mr. Gould.

Mr. Gould announced that the interests of no individual church would be promoted but that all students would be encouraged to be faithful to religious principles they already had espoused.

Headquarters of the organization will be maintained at the university hut, the building that was erected by the National War Work Council of the Y. M. C. A. for use of student soldiers during the war. This is now university property.

Includes Everybody

A proposed constitution now being drafted will provide for creation of an executive committee, working under supervision of Mr. Gould, which will be made up of representatives from all church organizations in the town and all student organizations of whatever sort. This will take the place of the "committee of 40" which was organized by Mr. Gould last year.

Under the executive committee a "council of eight" will have charge of religious education, friendly relations, vocational service, extension service, vocational counsel, finance, publicity and music.

The university has given Bob Lietch, student, Lewiston, and Arthur Guerin, Spokane, a concession for a canteen in the university hut, from which lunches, candies, and notions will be sold. Refreshments will be supplied for campus meetings and entertainments.

PLAN OF REGISTRATION SIMPLIFIES PROCEDURE

PENALTY FOR ALL ENROLLING
AFTER TUESDAY; A. S. U. I.
FEE IS $8.50.

Registration, starting Monday morning at 8 o'clock, will consume two days—Monday and Tuesday. Classes will meet at their scheduled hours Wednesday and thereafter.

Students for whom high school credits have not been sent to the university can only be admitted provisionally until these are furnished.

To register, new students will first go to the committee on admissions in room 110 where they will fill out matriculation cards and receive permits to register. They will then take their cards to the registration room of the college they are to enter. Former students will go direct to their respective registration rooms.

The registration rooms are as follows: Letters and Science, B. A. and B. S., Frosh and Sophs, 217; B. A. and B. S., Juniors and Seniors, 211; and all H. E. Pre-Med., 213; Law, 210; Education, 321; Engineering, 203; Agriculture, (Morril Hall), 12; Mining, (Geol. Bldg.), 1; Forestry, (Morril Hall), 32.

Fees in which students will be interested in are: A. S. U. I., $8.50; Health fee, $2.00; General deposit, $5.00; Military, $7.50; Typewriting, $5.00.

All students will be required to pay the A. S. U. I. membership dues, the health fee and the general deposit. The general deposit is refunded at the end of the term if there are no charges against the student. All students taking military are required to pay the military deposit.

Old students who desire to change from one college to another must first get the permission from their present dean and then from the dean of the college they hope to enter. If they want to change from one curriculum to another within a college, they will get permission from the dean of that college.

Upon entering the registration room of their college or curriculum students will be given a registration sheet. First a trial study list will be made out under the supervision of a

"CONDITION" WATCHWORD OF EARLY GRID WORKERS; NINE LETTER MEN RETURN

COACH KELLEY NONCOMMITTAL
AS TO VARSITY PROSPECTS;
STUDENTS HOPEFUL.

BLUE GRASS SOD COVERS GRIDIRON

Veterans of Last Year's Squad Go Through Daily Conditioning Practice; Season's First Game to Be At Moscow With Camp Lewis.

Nine letter men, a varsity squad of 40, Coach Thomas Kelley, Captain Grover Evans and the Idaho football season has started. Prospects are looked upon as "reasonably good" but every Idaho undergraduate, alumnus, and well-wisher is looking forward to the most successful season in the history of the institution.

In realization of a hard schedule of games, Coach Kelley is making no predictions except that of hard grueling work for his team. Upon his broad and capable shoulders will rest, to a large extent, the responsibility of "Silver and Gold" success on the 1921 gridiron.

Encouraging indeed, is the seasonal outlook from many angles. The student body is wholeheartedly behind Kelley and his men, the varsity candidates are behind Kelley and Kelley is behind his men.

"Kelley and Fight"

Idaho undergraduates came to know last year that the words "Kelley and Fight" were synonymous. Certain it is that whatever the outcome of the season, the 1921 eleven will be a fighting football machine and "more power to 'em."

Every football man returned to college in the best of condition—the result of summer outdoor work.

Only by the hardest work by the candidates, the most devoted service, and the unswerving, child-like and implicit faith of the student body, can Idaho hope to win fame for "Old Idaho" this current season. The schedule is a hard one and reports from the northwestern and Utah camps show that every one of Idaho's opponents is to develop faster, better and heavier eleven this year.

Blue Grass Field

The MacLean field gridiron has been painstakingly sodded and is now a fine grass field. This field will be used only for games this year. All practice will be held either on the campus or on the adjoining field to the main gridiron.

In commenting on the prospects for the season Coach Kelley said:

"The goal of the varsity candidates and myself is of course to make the 1921 season the best in the history of Idaho football. I am far from optimistic, however. Every individual man must do his best if the team is to do things this year."

Passing the ball, punting, simple signal practice for the back field candidates, and charging; passing the pigskin, the lineman constitutes the early season work of the varsity aspirants. Each practice is wound up with a jog or two around the quarter-mile track.

First work is designed to acquaint the jersey "huskies" with the handling of the elusive oval and to condition them.

Problematical in every sense of the word is the material Kelley has to work with. It will be impossible to tell just what strength or lack of strength is in the new men.

One of the letter men "Gus" Irving of Rupert, halfback, and Captain Evans, end, are looked upon as the probable mainstays of the current year. Other letter men are: "Babe" and Frank Brown, James Neal of Boise; Heintz Glindeman of Coeur d'Alene; "Huck" and "Beany" Brecheers of Caldwell; "Duddy" Gowen of Caldwell, James Whitcomb of Lewiston, and "Butch" Nagel of Genesee.

member of the registering committee and when this has been approved a corrected list will be made.

Students will pick out their class sections while making their trial study lists. They will copy the corrected study list on coupons 2 and 3, and secure the signature of their registration officer on each.

From the dean's office, the student goes to the main registration room in the library, on the first floor of the administration building. There a sec-

Read The "Booster Book"

Students are cautioned, for their own profit, to scan closely the "Booster Book" issued by the Committee of 40, which is now being distributed to everyone on the campus.

The "Booster Book" represents considerable effort on the part of its compilers. It will be valuable now for the information it carries in regard to the various university organizations and during the year handy for reference.

One of the best features of the publication is a map of Moscow, including the buildings on the campus and the fraternity and sorority houses close by.

An outline of the various organizations in which new students will be interested is given, each organization being dealt with separately.

In addition the book includes: university calendar, welcome from President Upham, message from the Student Pastor, general information regarding the library, scholarships, the Idaho system of grading, etc.

The Booster Book was edited by Robert Holbrook, associate editor of the Argonaut, with the assistance of William Briscoe, Byron Bundy and Lee Gregory. These men remained in Moscow to prepare the book a week after school closed so that it would be ready on registration day.

CUSHMAN TO GIVE

DRAMATIC COURSE

For Sophomores, Juniors and Seniors who have a serious interest in dramatics, the English department is offering this year for the first time a course in "Play Production."

The course as designed offers practical work in acting and the coaching of plays. Public performances on the auditorium stage will be presented every other Tuesday during the year. These will be open to students and townspeople. Special attention will be given to appropriate make-up, costuming and scenery.

The course will consist of one lecture and four hours of rehearsal each week. Membership in the class will be limited and applicants for admission should be made before registering for the course.

Prof. J. H. Cushman, director of university dramatics, who has coached Idaho plays for the past two years will conduct the course. Last year Mr. Cushman scored unusual successes in directing the Booth Tarkington play "Clarence," which toured northern Idaho, and the farce comedy "Her Husband's Wife," which played the northwest theatres for seven weeks this summer.

PLAN OF REGISTRATION--

tion clerk will check his registration in any sectional course. He then makes out coupons 4, 5, and 6 of the registration sheet, and a class card for each subject on his study list.

A representative of the Military Department will be stationed in the registration room to check the student's military record. All ex-service men coming to the University for the first time should show their service record to the military officer here. The student will then go to the registration clerk in the Library to have his class cards and registration coupons checked.

The next stop is the fee writer's desk. Here, a representative of the Bursar's Office will enter on coupon 8 of the registration sheet a list of the fees which the student must pay.

Must Pay Fees

From the Library, the student will proceed to the Bursar's Office (Ad. 107) where he will pay his fees. He then goes into the Registrar's Office where his cards are given a final check. He is given coupons 1 and 8 of his registration sheet, (trial study list and receipt) and deposits all other cards. This completes his registration.

Students who do not complete their registration on Monday and Tuesday will pay a late registration fee of $2.00 in addition to the other fees and deposits.

John ("Dutch") Cramer, ex-'18, is here to finish his law course after several years absence. Cramer saw heavy service overseas, returning with a D. S. C. won for bravery in action at Audennes.

University students will regret the death of Vernon Fawcett, an old Idaho man and a member of Phi Delta Theta. Fawcett was drowned near Portland this summer while attempting to save the life of a woman companion who had gone beyond her depth and could not swim.

Wilfred E. ("Kewpie") Newman, ex-'20, has returned to finish his course this year, after two years absence teaching. Last year Newman was head of the science department in Wallace High School.

Philip W. ("Phoebe") Buck, ex-'22, is back again after a year spent at the U. of Cal., southern branch, at Los Angeles.

Dr. J. Harry Einhouse has opened up the practice of medicine in Moscow. He is a graduate of the University of Idaho and is a member of the Beta Theta Pi chapter. Mrs. Einhouse, formerly Ola Bonham, is also a graduate of the university and a member of Gamma Phi Beta.

Walner ("Pete") Peterson, ex-'23 is in college again after a year spent in the woods of northern Idaho.

Phi Delta Theta announces the marriage of A. R. Thompson to Miss Mary Chubbuck of Delta Gamma, which took place at Blackfoot on August 10.

Wesley Barton will not return to college this year. He is now principal of the Cottonwood high school.

Miss Katherine Jensen, head of the home economics department, has returned from a trip to Sandpoint.

Jean Gerlough, a graduate of the University of Idaho, and a Beta Theta Pi, left Friday for Montana to take up work in the oil fields.

Miss Alice Hankinson, former university student, will leave this week for Missoula, Mont.

Huck, Beany and Sherm Breshears, of Phi Delta Theta, members of the football squad, were among the first to report for early practice. Bunt Breshears, another of the brothers, is practicing law and coaching high school football at Nampa.

Vern Walters and Eugene Ostrand arrived at the Kappa Sigma house Tuesday from Idaho Falls. They came overland, travelling through Montana and northern Idaho.

PRESIDENT ADDRESSES FACULTY MEMBERS

address. The remaining half will appear in the next issue of the Argonaut.

The address follows:
"Ladies and gentlemen of the faculty: 'It is a genuine pleasure to welcome all of you, new and old, upon your return to active service at the opening of another academic year. For the University of Idaho this will be the thirtieth year of its active existence. This a brief career indeed as compared to that of the famous universities back east or their far older brethren across the seas. But even Idaho has achieved, and has made a contribution to the life of the state and of the Pacific Northwest of which we the present staff may well be very proud.

"A state university may serve through the efforts of its experiment station, its extension division, its public bureaus, its faculty members who have given counsel in matters of general interest. But the real test of a university's contribution to state and nation lies in the roster of its alumni, its finished product. In these thirty pioneer years the University of Idaho has graduated 910 young men and women with degrees, 412 of whom are at present residing within the state and taking active part in its social and industrial life. Probably five thousand more have gone out without degrees, but have remained here long enough to receive the impress of university life and acquire its lesson of loyalty and service. Every county of Idaho, practically every community, has its quota of these men and women. Many of these have lost contact with the institution. They are badly in need of organizing. But they have not forgotten college days or lost faith in the higher standards of learning and culture imparted here.

"In appreciation of what we have been able to do in training the leaders of a succeeding generation, the people of Idaho have been sending us their sons and daughters in rapidly increasing numbers. In 1914-15 the catalogued enrollment was 658; in 1919-20 it had mounted to 1021; and during the year closing last June it reached a total of almost exactly 1300. Unfortunately Idaho, like most other states, is barely emerging from a hard and trying period of readjustment in which the agricultural communities like ours have suffered most of all. As early as the legislative session last winter this was reflected in a vigorous policy of cutting every request for public funds to an absolute minimum. Our own attempts to provide classroom and laboratory facilities commensurate with our growing numbers were thwarted; but our maintenance funds, while cut considerably below our original estimates, were left high enough to assure us at least a good healthy existence during the present biennium.

"The fact is that we fared reasonably well in this distribution of public funds—better than we might have fared had the legislature met at the zero hour which came later in the spring; better far than the universities of a few states which have had to wait for their appropriations until an adjourned session this summer. Idaho's fortunes are rapidly improving in almost every quarter of the state, but the taxpayers are in no mood yet to look approvingly on expansion or innovation in public institutions at public expense. It is my earnest desire that all divisions of the University may be administered during the coming year with the most rigid economy consistent with the service we owe our students and the public. For a number of us this may mean a heavier load than we are accustomed to carry, the curtailing of some favorite advanced course or the postponement of a cherished plan of research. These same things are taking place all over the country, and are a part of our responsibility as public servants.

"With these things in mind I am not concerned today in bringing you the vision of a 'greater Idaho.' For this there will be another day not far distant, when the present financial depression is only an ugly memory. I wish to speak rather of a few practical things in our organization and procedure which may be made to produce greater unity of effort and accomplishment.

"The University of Idaho just now enjoys in happy combination the limited numbers, close acquaintances and remote location of the typical small college together with the ramifications and complex relationships of the larger state universities. Not so long ago it was itself little more than a very small college. We have no easy administrative problem in retaining all the advantages of the college while the various divisions of the university perform their dependent and independent functions with proper efficiency. We have and shall continue to have this General Faculty, meeting regularly once a month—by tradition on the first Friday at 4:15 p. m. At these meetings all members of the teaching and experimental staff are expected to be present. The privilege of voting the General Faculty will extend to all members having the rank of assistant professor or above.

"Heretofore the several schools and colleges of the university have recognized the existence of their separate faculties but have made little use of them. Standing committees have represented these colleges, sometimes including comparatively few of the instructors actually associated with the college. For this year I am listing no such committees, but intend to place a much larger burden on these divisional faculties under their several deans. The composition of these divisional faculties was determined last year by executive action as follows:

"In divisional faculty meetings departments classed with other divisions of the University shall have the right to representation and to one vote each, provided that they offer accepted major work or its equivalent in credit hours (20) in the curriculum of the division which is meeting. The limitation of the voting privileges has been left to the separate colleges to determine, but I am anxious to have the meetings of these faculties so directed that the humblest instructor may speak his mind freely as to policies employed and the students under his care. Divisional faculties will meet once a month at such regular times as they may appoint. They may report direct to the General Faculty, but matters which are the concern of standing committees of the General Faculty will more conveniently go direct to these committees and be submitted by them to the entire body.

"In accord with this larger emphasis on the divisional faculties and their deans, it is our intention to transfer to them as many matters of detail as possible from the duties formerly imposed upon the Scholarship Committee. This committee will thus need chiefly to consider general policies of procedure and to act as a court of inquiry on cases referred or appealed to the General Faculty. If desired similar standing committees on scholarship may be created in the larger colleges to assist the deans in maintaining the required standards of scholarship. The Registrar's office will act as a clearing house for all information pertaining to scholarship and will provide a check on the proper observance of all scholarship rules.

"At the risk of wearying you, I should like to put this in more concrete terms:

"Permission to carry less than twelve hours of work or to carry hours in excess of the number prescribed in the course may be granted by the several deans.

"Refunds for late registration will be ordered by the president only upon written request from the dean.

"Changes of registration during the first four weeks involving only a single school or college must be approved by the Dean and the professors concerned.

"Changing of registration from one school or college to another during the first four weeks must have the approval of both deans concerned.

"Any course dropped after the first four weeks will receive the grade F unless permission is given by the Scholarship Committee.

"Deficiencies from a previous semester, whether conditions or incompletes, must be removed by the date appointed in the calendar unless written permission for an extension of time is secured from the Dean and the instructor. If not removed these records automatically become F, unless permission for extension of time has been filed in the Registrar's office.

"Warnings for unsatisfactory work or attendance in any class may be submitted at any time to the Registrar's office. They will be recorded there and transmitted without delay to the Dean concerned, who will personally call the student to account. An excessive number of scattered absences noted in the Registrar's office will result in a similar warning sent direct to the office of the Dean.

"Probation and dismissal for unsatisfactory work are to be regarded as the concern of the entire University, to be considered by the Scholarship Committee and recommended by them to the General Faculty. Except where these cases arise automatically under the rules at the end of the semester, they are to be presented to the Scholarship Committee by the Dean of the college involved. Every student placed on probation becomes the particular charge of the Dean of his college, who should see to it that the parents are kept fully informed regarding the case.

"An accurate record on all probations must be kept on file in the Registrar's office. In fact this entire rearrangement adds greatly to the burden of that office. This is as it should be. Registrar's offices are not exactly popular factors in the academic machinery. Theirs is the disagreeable duty of checking human

CAMPUS SPRUCED UP FOR NEW ARRIVALS

WOMEN'S DORMITORY OVERHAULED; AD BUILDING AND MINING LABS REARRANGED.

Many changes and improvements have been made during the summer months in the buildings on the campus. The library has been moved to the south wing, where modern book-stacks have been installed. The mings, Wallace; Walter C. Chub-bury has been made into class rooms and the space given to the law library.

The space formerly occupied by the general stenographer and the women's rest room has been rearranged and made into a laboratory for the Department of Home Economics.

A fine women's rest room has been provided in the south wing. The work in Geology will be largely transferred to the Assay Building which will provide two more class rooms on the third floor for other branches.

Many changes are being made in office and class room assignments in preparation for occupying the new south wing of the Administration building. Rooms of the physics, economics and law departments are among those now being moved.

Steel book stacks on the first floor of the new wing are nearly ready for the moving of the university library of 50,000 volumes, which is expected to be the biggest task of the summer. Books will be shelved on the first floor and basement levels and the mezzanine floor. The law library will occupy a part of the present quarters of the general library on the second floor. A separate periodical room, in quarters formerly occupied by the physics lecture room will be a new feature of library accommodations.

A big battery of furnaces is being removed from the assay building, which will be converted into a museum and class room building for the department of geology. Present quarters of the geological department are on the third floor of the Administration building. The assay furnaces will be rebuilt in the mill building of the school of mines.

Office for Dean of Women.

The first-floor room formerly utilized as an English Office has been made available for the Dean of Women as an office.

Extensive changes and improvements have been made in the Assay and Metallurgical Buildings. The assay furnaces and the laboratories incidental to assaying have been moved to the Metallurgical Building together with the laboratories of the Bureau of Mines. The space thus vacated in the assay Building has been divided into class rooms and laboratories and the work in Geology will be carried on in this building.

Ridentough Hall has received a general overhauling, much decorating having been done and, best of all, a hardwood floor having been put in the dining room. This adds much to the beauty and serviceability of the building for the students and public.

Lunch Counter For "Y" Hut

The former "Y" hut has changed its color and is about to change its name, in conformity with the plan of this administration to develop this into the social religious center of the entire University. A small but complete, lunch-counter will be installed in the building, to be operated by a couple of students.

Jenkins Cottage, the Gymnasium, Lewis Court, and many of the Agricultural buildings have been treated to a new coat of paint, greatly improving the general appearance of the campus. Coach Tom Kelley is strutting around very proud of the improvements made to the athletic field. The drainage system started on Campus Day last spring has been completed. The running track has been lengthened and by careful nursing by Coach Kelley, a fine lawn has been grown upon the football grid-iron. He is now busy making improvements to Lewis Court, putting in a new lighting system and oiling the dirt floor, and he proposes to have it in such shape that it can be used for volley ball, handball and intramural basketball.

More Room at Infirmary

The capacity of the Infirmary has been increased, four additional beds having been added.

To assist the faculty in getting to their eight o'clocks on time an electric clock is being installed in the It is hoped that this clock will not only be of assistance to the faculty but that it will add greatly to the appearance of the Administration building, and will do away with the appearance or lack of completeness which has prevailed for so many years.

"GET A STUDENT" SLOTAN IS URGED

Following the flood of applications for work received from prospective students this summer, Moscow citizens wholeheartedly co-operated with the university in locating jobs.

Already quite a number of students who arrived early are at work and with the arrival of the special from southern Idaho, the rush for jobs promises to be a great game.

The canvas for jobs here this summer inspired Rev. H. H. Mitchell, rector of St. Mark's Episcopal church, to the following:

If you wish to run your Ford
Get a student;
If with work you're feeling bored
Get a student;
If your clock or watch won't go,
If your girl has not a beau
To take her to the picture show,
Get a student.

If you need help in your store,
Get a student;
If you find you need still more,
Get a student;
To peddle goods from door to door;
To do most any kind of chore,
Or anything on sea or shore,
Get a student.

If you need a good stenog,
Get a student;
If you cannot keep a dog,
Get a student;
If from wrath you lose your hair
And wish to "cuss" and rip and rare
And can't find words enough to spare,
Get a student.

SAYS WOMEN'S DEAN

"Economy must be the watchword of every student; some of those who registered cannot tell how long they will be able to stay in school and many must have work at once if they are to remain; students who can see their way clear for the coming year should limit themselves in keeping with the other students," said Miss Permeal French, dean of women, when interviewed yesterday.

"Students who have been here before, especially the upper classmen, must lead the way. Their actions will guide the new students. We want all students to develop themselves and progress scholastically, socially and in student activities, and in this the inspiration and example of the upper classmen will be accepted by the younger student."

"I would like also to say a friendly word in regard to conduct. The least action or offense at the university is instantly known in every part of the state. This is true first because Idaho is a comparatively small school and also because of the popular interest Idahoans have in the university. Our ideals must be fine and our acts still finer."

When asked for a statement regarding regulations for students Miss French said she preferred to wait until she had an opportunity to speak directly to the students and that when these were made clear she would expect a ready response from the students.

Miss French is now working night and day arranging to care for girls and on the Monday and Tuesday who arrive on the special Sunday trains.

After an enjoyable and profitable winter visiting the larger colleges and universities of the east with a desire bigger than ever to do every thing she can for Idaho. While at George Washington University last winter Miss French was awarded the honorary degree of Master of Arts—one of the four women who have received this honor from that institution. The three other women who were so honored are Julia Marlowe, the famous actress; Mrs. Keyes, whose husband is a U. S. senator from New Hampshire and Miss Ella Boardman, the first woman commissioner in the city of Washington.

"Pete" Barto and Frank Brown of Kappa Sigma returned last Monday to report for early football practice.

Jim Neal, Vern Patch and Eugene Zachman of Kappa Sigma returned to Moscow the first part of the week.

"Chick" Seymour of Kappa Sigma has returned to school from Coeur d'Alene.

"Tuffy" Schetzle of Kappa Sigma has returned to school after an absence of two years.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor E. Jones have arrived in Moscow to make their home. Mr. Jones is an assistant professor at the university. He is an Idaho graduate and a member of Beta Theta Pi. Mrs. Jones, formerly Helen Douglass, is a Gamma Phi Beta.

John Sherwood Gill has returned to College from Seattle where he spent his summer vacation.

PRESIDENT UPHAM ADDRESSES

error and keeping our wayward feet from straying from the narrow trails we have ourselves established. But colleges and universities are respected among their fellows, and indeed respect themselves very much in proportion to the accuracy and completeness with which they keep their records and observe their rules. This insistence on form in our academic dealings is not petty. It is neither unfriendly nor personal. Let us keep office with the utmost punctuality and all our obligations to the Registrar's good will.

"Some time ago Idaho followed the lead of numerous other state universities in establishing the office of 'Executive Secretary.' The duties of this office have never been publicly defined here and no small amount of misunderstanding has resulted among members of the faculty. The function of the executive secretary is to relieve the president from close attention to details in certain matters for which he is responsible, particularly the disposition of University funds and the provision and care of University property. The executive secretary collates and organizes the budget estimate submitted upon request by colleges or departments and assists the president in preparing these for presentation to the Board of Education. In a similar way he represents the president in the supervision of expenditure made under the budget as finally adopted by the Board. He is authorized to sign requisitions and vouchers and to use his judgment in questioning proposed expenditures, pending the decision of the president.

"In his supervision of details of the physical plant the executive secretary is entrusted with responsibility for repair and alterations in buildings and grounds as authorized by the Board of Education, for the equipment and supplies used by the various departments of the university, and for all matters pertaining to the care and upkeep of the University property. This responsibility extends also to the experimental farms which he will visit and inspect at convenient intervals. Beyond these two main lines of activity he may be called upon to assist the president in other duties: akin to these or to assume further administrative responsibilities in the absence of the president from the University. His is not always an agreeable task and I bespeak for him at all times the good will and thoughtful cooperation of the entire staff.

"Still more recently we have added to our administrative organization the office of Director of Publication. His is primarily the duty of maintaining the relations of the University to its public. In factory terms he is the combination of purchasing agent of raw material and sales manager of our finished product. He is to direct the activities which acquaint prospective students with the University and to see that contact is maintained with them till they are matriculated. At the end of their course he will co-operate with their deans in getting them properly located and will co-operate with the alumni secretary in keeping track of them and keeping their interest in the University awake and productive during the rest of their lives. He is ex officio director of the University press service and chairman of our standing committee on publications and is much in need of your assistance and cooperation throughout the year.

"When in a few minutes you receive a copy of the committee appointments those of you who have been here before will note that other changes have been made in addition to those affecting the scholarship committee. The former committee on Student Activities has been transformed into a Committee on Calendar which will have full responsibility for scheduling the various meetings, entertainment, and social events which have of late given us a more and more complex problem. Public and official events, including the weekly assembly, are as before under the jurisdiction of the Committee on Public Events, and these and the regular athletic contests will have right of way on the calendar. The Public Events Committee is represented on the Calendar Committee, to which all requests for calendar dates may be submitted through the president's office. To the Calendar Committee is also entrusted the duty of enforcing all rules of procedure already established for social events, as well as the responsibility for considering changes in such rules and making recommendations to the General faculty. Information concerning the calendar will be available at all times at the president's office.

"Two entirely new committees are added to our list, those on Religious Interests and Survey. Both of these are much more innocuous than some of you may suspect. During the past year the work of the Cooperative Church Foundation under the direction of Rev. J. Orrin Gould, the Students' Pastor, appeared to pass successfully through the experimental stage and to crystallize in substantially the same form which is succeeding best in a number of other state universities. By this the institution is committed to no program of evangelization or of general religious education. It merely stamps its approval on the organization by means of which the churches of denominations secure and maintain contact with the young people from religious homes.

"During the summer we have succeeded in reaching a definite agreement with the Y. M. C. A. authorities in the Northwest regarding the maintenance and use of the hut erected on our campus by the National War Council. The Y. M. C. A. recognizes that this building, remaining on our campus, has become a part of the University property entirely under our jurisdiction, but I have assured them that in view of its original purpose it will be maintained as a religious and social center for the students, claims made upon it by religious organization within the University and particularly the Y. M. C. A. being given first consideration. Mr. Gould's office is still located in the University Hut, as it will be called hereafter, and the activities promoted by the cooperative Church Foundation will center there for the convenience of students and faculty. The entire plan of social and religious activities has reached such magnitude that it seems to me wise that the faculty and administration should be represented by a standing committee which will give this its particular attention. Hence the committee on religious interests.

"The Committee on Survey has been prompted largely by the work of a certain special committee last year. This committee, for which we never found a name, arose out of momentary objection to a lengthy athletic schedule, but was created with such a wide latitude of interest that it sat frequently during the year and gathered much information of great value. At this very time the leaders of the Association of State Universities are urging upon us all the advisability of undertaking a series of self-surveys which may forestall some day the annoying efforts of outside experts. My desire is that this new committee will address its surveys not merely to our own internal rumblings, but even more to other institutions so as to provide us with a body of data as to how the problems which vex us are met and disposed of elsewhere. Few of our problems are unique. Much of our thinking about them may be clarified by an understanding of what the rest of the academic world is doing. Matters on which we might profitably receive data from this committee from time to time are: (1) Requirements for the several degrees, both in subjects and in credit hours; (2) Methods of securing uniformity in the teaching loads; (3) Hours of laboratory work required for an hour of credit; (4)

Means of securing a uniform interpretation of grades; (5) Relations of faculty to organized student-body. As others occur to you, please feel free to suggest them, that the committee may at least weigh their importance. "Two committees already on our roster are given additional importance by recent developments in the public education of our state. As most of you know one of the enactments of the last legislature requires of all high school teachers within the state, at least in accredited schools, that shall be college graduates. This cannot be brought about all at once. Teachers on unexpired certificates are allowed to continue whether they have degrees or not, but increasing pressure will be brought upon the schools themselves, so that those which value their standing will very shortly employ only college graduates.

VARSITY PLAYERS TO SHOW HERE

The Varsity Players, university dramatists who this summer toured the northwest presenting the farce-comedy "Her Husband's Wife," are arranging for the presentation of their show before university students at an early date.

Appearing in 37 towns, principally in Idaho, the Varsity Players brought Idaho to the attention of thousands of people and, as the production was enthusiastically received in every place, many students were attracted to the university.

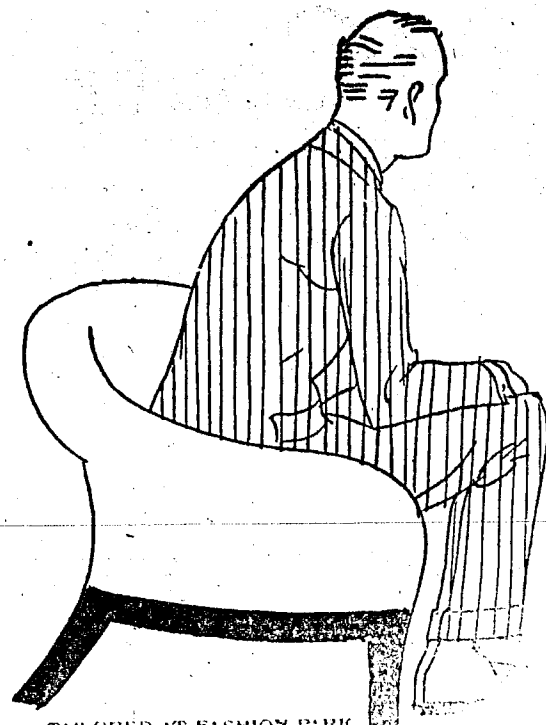

Members of the company were Prof. John H. Cushman, director of university dramatics, M. A. Thometz, Camille McDaniels, Donna Eggan, Rex Kimmel and Virgil Bedwell.

The tour turned out successfully and plans are now under way for a more extensive trip next summer.

In each of the towns where the show was given, university students co-operated in advertising the show and to these people no small amount of credit is due. Newspapers spoke flatteringly of the play and without exception the theatre managers are co-operated in advertising the show anxious to book next year's show.

The show will be given in a number of northern Idaho towns where there has been a demand for return engagements.
