BASKETEERS OUTCLASS GONZAGA HOOPSTERS

SPOKANE IRISHMEN EASY MONEY FOR VANDAL BASKETEERS FRIDAY NIGHT

Gonzaga's basketball team fell miserably short in its attempt to humble the Vandals in the university gymnasium Friday night. The varsity game went to Idaho by the top-heavy score of 39 to 10 and would have been much worse had Idaho paid any particular attention to the game and made an attempt to pile up a heavy score.

The game was slowed down materially by Gonzaga's repeated attempts at defensive playing, seldom showing flashes of legitimate basketball. The Spokane team was in for a defeat and was doing its best to hold the score down to a minimum. As a result, Idaho had the ball during the majority of the game.

Makes Spectacular Throw
Idaho's superiority was shown in the fact that Gonzaga made only one lone field goal, but it was a pretty heave from mid-floor regions by Hatrup, forward. The other eight points were the yield of tosses from the free throw line which Needles converted out of 14 attempts. Al Fox made a better average for Idaho, converting seven out of his 10 chances at free throws.

Idaho Men Play Good Ball
The work of Al Fox, Captain Rich Fox, Telford and Edwards for the andal squad was without peer, while Malloy was unquestionably the luminary in the Gonzaga line, but Malloy couldn't win for his team. Telford and Edwards guarded consistently but occasionally slipped down the floor and contributed a field goal or two. Edwards played a little game all his own under Gonzaga's basket, making five perfect shots.

Use Second String Men
Soon after Idaho gained safe lead over the visitors, Coach MacMillan began shifting his lineup and before the game ended nearly all members of the squad has been given chances against the Irishmen. At the end of the game Al Fox and Edwards were the only two members of the original quintet on the floor.

Gonzaga shifted repeatedly and used all varieties of attacks and combinations to stem the Vandal attack. All of the substitute men worked well against Gonzaga.

"Duck" Hunter, referee, was unquestionably fair to both sides and his method of handling a game is very creditable. The lineup and summary:

Idaho (39)	Gonzaga (10)
R. Fox	F. Hatrup
A. Fox	C. Richlie
Thompson	G. Malloy
Edwards	G. Flaherty
Telford

Substitutions: Idaho—Nelson for Thompson, Gartin for Telford, Marinneau for R. Fox. Gonzaga—Hunter for Richlie, Ashmore for Hunter, Hodges for Hatrup, Richlie for Ashmore.

Scoring: Field goal for Idaho—R. Fox, 2; A. Fox, 7; Edwards, 5; Nelson, 2. Free throws—A. Fox, seven out of ten. Field goals for Gonzaga—Hatrup, 1. Free throws for Gonzaga—Needles, eight out of 14.

UNIVERSITY DRAMA CLASS TO GIVE ORIGINAL PLAYS

MEMBERS OF DRAMA CLASS WRITE MERITIOUS PLAYS FOR ADAPTION

Three plays written by students in the English 37 will be presented soon as the third production of the class. "Fluff-Stuff" by Virgil Bedwell, "Enoch Hard'un" by Dona Eggan, and "Home Brew" by Phil Buck will be given at this time.

"Thumbs" written by Mary Beinfuhr who is a graduate student, two years ago, in the first playwriting course offered here.

The settings for these original plays will be along the line of the latest efforts in impressionistic settings. The screen method of Gordon Craig will be adapted. The stage will be a formalized one of steel gray pillars and brilliantly colored draperies, which with some change in treatment will be adapted to all four plays.

The full membership of English 37 will be used in casting these plays which are to serve as examination plays.

SIX MEN CHOSEN ON DEBATE TEAMS

MEMBERS CHOSEN WEDNESDAY FOR UTAH-IDAHO-MONTANA DEBATE

Six men were awarded places at debate tryouts held in room 307 Wednesday afternoon for the purpose of choosing representatives for the Utah-Montana-Idaho triangular debate on the question, "Resolved that Congress should enact legislation for compulsory arbitration of labor disputes on public utilities," scheduled for March third.

Contestants chosen for the affirmative and negative teams were: Errol Hillman, Walser S. Greathouse, Phillip Buck, Carl Feldman, Alternates chosen were: Atchley and Glen Wilkinson.

Judges selected for the occasion were: Dean O. P. Cockerill, of the law school, Professor Jas. M. O'Grady, of the education department and Kenneth Collins, asst. professor of English.

Competition Keen
Preparatory to the regular tryouts, the candidates gathered in room 108 to draw for positions at the tryouts. They were then formed into teams according to the numbers drawn.

Twelve powerful debaters met at three p. m. in the battle for positions on the varsity teams to debate against Montana and Utah. All the debaters had their material well in hand and competition was of the keenest.

Limited to five minutes the speeches were nevertheless of a very high character. A great deal of confusion was avoided by the arrangements made whereby a man was not compelled to debate any particular side of the question but had the privilege of taking either side with the assurance that choice would be made according to merit of the case only.

Good Men on Teams
The men chosen at the tryouts Wednesday are the best debaters of the university. Many are tried and known men of the university. Others have come to the university from other institutions with established reputations.

Greathouse, Buck and Wilkinson are old letter men at the University of Idaho. Greathouse and Wilkinson featured in several of the major debates of last year. Buck was one of the foremost debaters at Idaho in 1919-20 and has in addition the distinction of having held positions on the teams at Stanford University, which he attended last year.

Hillman was prominent in debate in normal school, having made the team for three successive seasons. While not so well known, Atchley and Feldman have had considerable experience and give promise of being strong members of the teams.

With strong opponents in the field, Coach Chenoweth will put the teams through a period of intensive work between now and March third. The debate promises to be the biggest of the present school year and it is the intention to put a winning team forward.

Negative Team to Salt Lake
The men composing the negative team will journey to Salt Lake City to contest the University of Utah. Three men will make the trip, two on the team and one as alternate.

The University of Montana will debate here where Idaho will endorse the affirmative phase of the subject. The judges have not yet been named. Details are being cleared up as rapidly as possible.

JUNIOR NOTICE

Each Junior in the University must have an individual snap shot of himself into the heads of the Gem of the Mountains staff pronto. This will be used for the Junior feature section. UNIQUE POET ENTERTAINS AT SPECIAL ASSEMBLY

SIX HUNDRED LISTEN TO POET; VERSALITY OF EXPRESSION GETS APPLAUSE

Vachel Lindsay, probably the most unique figure in modern American literature, entertained the student body Thursday at a special assembly meeting. The poet was introduced by Dr. George Morey Miller who characterized him as "the only poet capable of filling the place of James Whitcomb Riley in the hearts of the American people." A large assembly nearly filled the auditorium.

"Judith, the Dancer," a charming poem, headed Mr. Lindsay's program and received prolonged applause. A marked effect was produced by the poet in the repetition, again and again, of the line, "I know a dancer."

"The Congo" Well Liked
"The Congo," said to be Lindsay's best known poem, was unusually well received. The poem, a study of the negro race, was given in three aspects: the savage race, the race glorified and the hope of the negro race.

Mr. Lindsay is said to be a wonderful interpreter of the American negro. He explained to the audience that his respect and admiration for the negro had prompted him to write "The Congo."

"The Calipso," a humorous bit of poetry, in which Mr. Lindsay pictured the days when circuses would be refined, was well received. The next number, "Johnny Appleseed," was the story of the planting of the first apple tree which resulted in the first orchard.

General Booth Enters Into Heaven
"General Booth Enters Into Heaven," given by request, also received a hearty welcome. This poem was one of the most popular written by Lindsay. In it is pictured General Booth entering Heaven to the strains of a Salvation Army band.

"The Last Song of the Chinese Nightingale" concluded the program. The signing of the Armistice is purported to have given Mr. Lindsay the idea for this poem.

Uses Sound Devices in Poems
Vachel Lindsay has written his poems with the idea of speaking them. The sound qualities stand out supreme. His reading of "The Congo" indeed proved him to be a wizard with sound and rhythm.

Mr. Lindsay has a very striking personality and face and possesses exceptional power to attract and hold attention by his versatility of expression. His voice ranges from the shrill parrot tones to the roar of the lion.

600 Tickets Sold
The English club, under whose auspices Mr. Lindsay was brought to Idaho, wholly financed the event by the sale of tickets. 600 paid admissions were recorded. The club contemplates other such numbers in the interest of good entertainment at the university.

GLEE CLUB RETURNS FROM STATE TOUR

STATE TOUR COMPLETED AMID OVATIONS; ROYALLY ENTERTAINED DURING TRIP

One of the most successful tours in the history of the University Glee club was completed Friday when the members returned to the campus after a sixteen-days' trip. Thirteen towns in Idaho and one in Montana appeared on the club schedule and at each the club was greeted by enthusiastic crowds.

The concerts were received well at every place, and the members, according to their own reports, were royally entertained.

Due to the financial condition now existing in some sections of southern Idaho, at one or two towns the houses were not completely filled, but as a general rule, the trip was a financial success. The most successful concert, from a financial standpoint, was given at Nampa, where "standing room only" was at a premium. Boise ranked a close second, the Pinney theatre being packed for the performance.

Club Royally Entertained
Alumni organizations, lodges, and individuals entertained members of the club with parties, dances, and other forms of entertainment at the various towns, and every effort was made to show the visitors a good time. At Coeur d'Alene and St. Maries, dances were given for the club by lodges, while at Twin Falls the Alumni club, under the leadership of Mrs. A. J. Peavey, former Idaho student, and a member of Delta Gamma, gave the club a dance and an auto trip to Shoshone Falls.

The officers for the Glee club for the present year are: Howard Knudson, president; Al Graf, vice-president; Fred Veatch, secretary-treasurer; and Rex Kimmel, manager.

Prof. Banes Directs Singers
Prof. E. O. Bangs, head of the university department of music, was director of the club of 20 voices. In addition an orchestra of six pieces was carried on the trip. The club gives its final concert of the year Friday night, January 20, at Moscow.

Members of the Club

The orchestra was made up of: Arlie Moe, Kellogg; Doy McKinley, Kellogg; Erick M. Leithe, Coeur d'Alene; William Bush, Grandville; Uli Powell, Boise; and Robert Cummins, Wallace.

Varsity Quartette Features
The varsity quartette was made up of Cecil Boliou, Fred Veatch, Robert Cummins and Wendell Palmer. The quartette on its tour was composed of Alfred Brigham, Cecil Boliou, Harold Johnson, Wilfred Newman, Arthur

It was decided to hold their dance, an all-college affair on March 4. The question of annual space was also discussed, with the result that an effort will be made to secure space.

SINGERS TO APPEAR IN HOME CONCERT

TALENTED STUDENT WARBLERS APPEAR BEFORE STUDENT BODY FRIDAY EVENING

The annual home performance of the university Glee club will be given in the University auditorium on Friday evening, January 20, at 8 o'clock. The club has just completed a two weeks tour of the state, and the coming performance will be the last one of the season, unless Lewiston and Spokane concerts, for which plans are now under way, should develop into realities.

The concert promises to be one that no student can afford to miss, not only because of its value from a musical standpoint, but because the club is a student institution as much as the athletic teams and is very popular. As an advertising agent for the University the Glee Club holds a very important position.

Diversified Program to be Presented
The program, which is divided into two parts, is an hour and a half in length. The first part consists of group songs, solo and quartet selections, and a short comic skit, "The Grasshopper."

Part two is devoted entirely to a comic operetta, "The Student Soviet." The music for this number is taken from Gilbert Sullivan's "Trial by Jury," while the words were written by H. M. Jones, professor of English at the University of Texas.

The plot of the operetta centers around a group of students who organize against certain professors, seize them, and hold trial to decide their fate. A dean of women, who sets the fashions for her charges, vamps the student judge and jury and saves the unlucky professors in the nick of time. The humor in the operetta is delightful, and the songs are catchy and well worth hearing.

Sextette Features
A feature of the Friday evening program will be a series of numbers by the saxophone sextette which accompanied the Club on its tour throughout the state. The sextette was well received all over the state and has made an enviable reputation for itself.

Solos, duets, and boules will constitute a few of the numbers of the sextette. The men composing the quartette are proficient with their instruments and have through previous appearances on the campus become well known.

Student Admitted on A. S. U. I. Tickets
75c admission will be charged for those attending the Friday evening program. Students are to be admitted upon presentation of A. S. U. I. tickets.

According to advices, the ticket sale to townspeople is progressing very rapidly. The concert is one of the major events of the year and is heartily supported by the citizens of Moscow.

IMPORTANT MATTERS BEFORE A.S.U.I. TODAY

COUNCIL PLAN IS TO COME UP FOR ENDORSEMENT OTHER IMPORTANT MATTERS

Assembly this week will hold transactions of great significance for all Idaho students. The idea of a student-faculty council and the election of associate editor of the Argonaut will be up for consideration by the student body.

Student councils have been under discussion on the campus for some time, many clubs and organizations having given considerable time and thought to their organization and adaptability to this campus. Many other schools have the student-faculty council system installed as a part of their government and it has proven highly satisfactory as a means of securing closer cooperation and more efficient management of student activities.

The semi-annual election of the associate editor of the Argonaut will also be up for consideration. Each semester it is necessary to elect an associate editor who works one semester in that capacity and in the second semester succeeds to the office of editor.

Student body president, P. T. Rowell, is desirous of a big turn-out to consider these affairs so that the full opinion of the campus will be expressed.

SOPHOMORES ATTENTION!

There will be an important Sophomore class meeting Wednesday afternoon at 4 p. m. in the auditorium. Among other things, nominations for next year's Gem of the Mountains staff will be made. Be there '24.

EXAMINATIONS OR (?)
 With examinations starting us in the face the question of the relative merit of examinations is again in the foreground. And the question is one that is receiving more and more attention as the years pass, and indications are that future years will see still less of the proverbial examination crises.

The main argument advanced against examinations is that they do not measure adequately the ability of the examinee. No three hour period with discussion covering a number of questions ranging from ten to fifty or even more, can possibly hope to touch more than a few major points. Something must be left out and that something, omitted may be of just as vital importance as that included.

Then there is to be taken into consideration the student's position in the examination. With the rush and nervous tension of examination week haunting him for several weeks prior to the date for the testing, many students worry themselves into a condition that totally unfit them for efficiency. Questions well known to them may be slurred over or nervously omitted.

Again, the student may make it a point to remember only the main points of the course and in doing so emphasize those phases of the subject which will not be mentioned at the examination. It is, therefore, a matter of speculation. He may guess right or, again, he may not. His fate will thus depend upon the accuracy with which he forecasts the questions. And the vital point is that in emphasizing some points rather than others he will emphasize—but not be called upon to answer—good points.

Opposed to the traditional examinations is coming into vogue the practice of having the students as individuals prepare extensive theses on some subject or some phase of the particular subject. Thus the student is given a fine opportunity to do practical research work and at the same time fill the requirements of the examination. While studying up the particular topic chosen for his thesis the student not only become informed along the line of the subject of the thesis but gains valuable information about the whole course he would not otherwise get.

The thesis system has particular merit in that it places the student in a position where he must use capacities that many times never come into use. He must not only select material that is of the best character but must also weigh the material and determine the relative value of the various points investigated. It is therefore a training in judgment and initiative that will prove invaluable in after life.

But the odd part about the whole matter is, contrary to the common belief, the student who has undertaken such a task will almost invariably say that he has gained more real knowledge of the subject than had he studied for an exam. He will also say that they spent more time and effort on the thesis than they would in preparing for an exam. But he is confident that the results will justify the means. Many instructors at the university are in sympathy with such an arrangement, and give the student the choice on writing such a paper or taking the examination. They, too, feel that more benefit is derived from the preparation entailed in the student's research work in some phase of the subject rather than in an examination. The spirit is spreading. It should be encouraged.

WHY NOT A SKATING RINK?
 Because of the lack of a skating pond of some sort a great deal of fun and health-giving exercise is being foregone every day for hundreds of students who might otherwise spend their leisure time profitably and enjoyably during this season of cold days and freezing nights.

In times past considerable agitation has been in evidence at sometime during the year for the establishment of an artificial skating rink to be used by the university students and townspeople. The need has remained constant since the first talk was made about such a measure but nothing tangible has ever resulted. The enthusiasm that is fostered at the first snowfall every year has always terminated in 00000 less than nothing being done.

For health-giving exercise of a delightful character such a skating pond could not be rivaled. While enjoying themselves to the utmost all would be contributing towards the maintenance of their health through a wholesome diversion out in the open air—one of the surest cures for common winter ills is more outdoor exercise. True, coasting has a certain amount of value in maintaining the students' acquaintanceship with mother nature during the winter, but this sport has nothing like the pull that is felt in a good skating party. Then, too, there is much less likelihood of accident attached to skating than to coasting down some of the slide streets and running the risk of meeting an automobile at the next corner. Skating would appeal to all and would fill a breach felt by those who do not dance or those who dance because of the limited scope of college activities.

There is no reason why such an undertaking would not prove successful from every standpoint. Other institutions have their skating ponds, why not Idaho? The University of Washington, where it is necessary to use artificial weather conditions, has a splendid pond. So with many of the other schools. Surely Idaho with natural freezing conditions present in the winter could maintain a skating pond. From a financial standpoint there is no reason to believe that the risk involved would be prohibitive in any sense. Such a pond might be created by joint cooperation between townspeople and students and operated as a form of municipal recreation. Municipal recreational ideas are coming to the forefront as never before and such an undertaking would not be out of harmony with the trend of the times. Admission charges would be gladly paid by those wishing to renew their youth through this invigorating and pleasant outdoor sport.

Another phase of the question presents itself in that the skating pond might be very profitably used as the scene of many intercollegiate winter sports. Hockey is one of the recognized departments in athletics at many institutions and could easily become so at Idaho. The winter season is especially a dull period in athletics at present—no reflection upon basketball—and such athletics as are made available by a pond would be received with hearty applause.

The situation is such that the not far distant future will virtually demand a skating ring in the vicinity of Moscow. The need is here. The climatic conditions are favorable. There but remains one thing to be done—build the pond. With health, recreation and entertainment during the winter so dependent upon a pond, the time must rapidly approach when one will be built through community cooperation private enterprise, or what not. It is coming, and with it better time for the university students from a health and pleasure standpoint.

In the Muscle Shoals project, Ford and Edison propose to experiment upon a new phase of the currency question. Whether or not they are successful in financing the enterprise with currency issued on the potential resources of the hydro-electric power at Muscle Shoals rather than upon the regular issue of U. S. bonds is a conjecture. However, the experiment has some good material for thought and will bear following closely.

WE, like the professors, have gotten behind in our work and find that only by redoubled efforts can be hope to function at semester exams. Post-Christmas season was ever a time notable for attempts to make good where in we have heretofore in the semester failed.

THE female of the species is more deadly—to the male—than the male. For illustration: It has been discovered that the gentler sex of the malaria carrying mosquito will disdain to touch the body of the female rabbit while a feast upon the anatomy of a defenseless male rabbit is a rare delicacy.

ANNUAL RETARDED SLIGHTLY
GEM OF THE MOUNTAINS MUST HAVE MORE STORIES AND MORE JOKES SOON

The staff of this year's annual is not altogether pleased with the way that "copy" has been coming in. Less jokes, stories, and snap shots are now in than has been the case for several years past for this time of the season. It is the wish of the staff that everybody keep on the look-out for good jokes than inevitably result around the campus, and stick them in the Gem box in the Ad building hall. The majority of the work, say the editors, must be done during the next six weeks, so as to give the engravers and printers time to do work which will be creditable for a state university.

STUDENT COMMENT
 Dear Editor:
 Considerable favorable comment has developed as a result of the action taken at the last A. S. U. I. assembly preceding Christmas concerning the curtailing of social expenses of the students attending the university. The measures received the applause and admiration of many not directly connected with the university.

But a situation of some gravity has resulted since the adoption of the same resolution because of the belief prevailing that all students and organizations connected with college dances are reticent about cooperating in the move for reduced dance tickets. It seems to be the opinion of a number of people on the campus that if the dances are to be run on a non-profit paying basis, that the prices charged for music should also be materially reduced. College dances, it has been agreed, should be democratic in price as well as in the manner conducted, but to make them such requires cooperation with everyone concerned.

For another thing, Much confusion has arisen by the habit some students have fallen into by coming to the dances without a date. Since the admission is twenty-five cents per individual this can hardly be considered fair to those men who are willing to spend an extra quarter for the privilege of bringing a date. These remarks are not made with the idea of slurring any person but is simply a statement of the facts of the situation as they appear to the writer. The movement is on for reduction of high prices in college functions. Let it continue by receiving the support and cooperation of all.

COMMITTEE ON MOVIES REPORTS UNFAVORABLY
 The committee appointed by the University Christian Federation to investigate the desirability of instituting student owned and operated movies upon the campus has returned a report to the effect that immediate action does not appear advisable. The committee has been at work upon this investigation since before Christmas.

The investigation disclosed the fact that the amount of student business handled by the local movie concerns is not sufficient to warrant any action towards the establishment of a student motion picture show. But the committee suggested that the matter be brought up again at the beginning of next year when it is hoped that the present financial condition will have been alleviated.

Lenore Pickrel of Epokane and Dorothy Stapleton of Pocatello attended the Junior Prom. They were guests of Gamma Phi Beta Saturday and Sunday.

PREDICIONS UPSET
 Previous predictions in the conference basketball circles have been completely upset. No one calculated Whitman would be able to win from the University of Oregon after dropping two straight to the Oregon Aggies. Washington defeated Oregon by an overwhelming score at Seattle in the Viking's first game of the season.

THE WONDERING TEAM
 California is still wondering what happened to its "wondering team," on New Years day at the Tournament of Roses, and, the general opinion of critics is that the Bears were confident their reputation would carry them to an easy victory. During the entire season they were too confident and even Andy Smith, their coach, admitted that it would keep him busy making them believe they didn't know how to play football.

COUGARS STAGE COMEBACK
 The Cougars, showing a remarkable spurt of speed, humbled the Walla Walla Legionnaires in a two-game series at Pullman. The Walla Walla men played creditable ball but evidently the Cougars played better and for this reason were able to win. The Idaho-Cougar game at Moscow, Friday, January 27, promises to be a real fight, judging from comparative victories scored by the two teams. The Cougars got off on a bad start in their vacation tour but are rapidly coming back.

TO RESERVE SECTION
 According to Graduate Manager Fred Graf an entire bleacher section will be reserved in the university gymnasium for W. S. C. rooters coming to Moscow for the first Vandal-Cougar clash of the year. Providing the weather continues favorable for sleighing parties an unusually large number of red fezzed rooters are expected over.
 use of the pool has been reserved for the team on the ninth and tenth hours of each Monday and Friday.

ALUMNUS TELL OF UNI-VERSITY OF HARD KNOCKS

"I have spent five years in the University of Hard Knocks since leaving Idaho," writes Carl "Happy" Melugin, '16. "Some day I want to come back to old Idaho as the memory of my eight year here (four years preparatory) holds many fine associations and experiences. In those prep days when genial professor Soulen guided his mdsy crew through the classic halls of learning—halls destined to utter desecration at the hands of farmers and dairymen—we enjoyed the acme of school life.

Morrill Hall was some place in those days but alas, the work of the vandal is complete; Miss Smith's prismatic English room is strewn with the debris of a chemistry lab; Prof. T. Sage's room has lost all the air of the classic."

Mr. Melugin is now manager of the planning and cost department of the John Russell Outlery Co.

MINING ENGINEER ALUMNUS
RELATES HIS EXPERIENCES

"After graduating, I spent a year and a half as engineer for the El Tigre Mining Co. of Esquada, Mexico, but I had to get out of there on account of the activities of Pancho Villa," says Walter "Speck" Scott '14, who has a B. S. degree in mining engineering. Since leaving Mexico Mr. Scott has been chief chemist of the Northport Smelting and Mining Co., a lead smelter operated by the Day interests.

Ain't It a Grand and Glorious Feeling

Did you ever burn the midnight oil till it was blame near time for the breakfast bell, and wake up in the morning and study some more, and wonder what sort of quizz the Prof. was going to hand you, and with fear and trembling you buy a blue book, and go slowly to your doom, and when you get to the scene of the battle you open the door, and there staring you in the fact is a notice on the board stating that the Prof. is out of town and there will be no quizz. Oh, Boy! ain't it a grand and glorious feeling.

Dear publik:

I feel that it is about time that the 's of the campus was turned toward the library as a soshal senter. Far be it from me to expoz to the ravages of the blood thirsty students such a fine movement as our library and etc. but I would like to no how come book worms and squinty led birds think that this hear library is the place for them to bring there books and seep up the noledge and run the dates clear out.

Personally I never did like to throw my dates in the library but there is some of the fellows as feel that this is the cream place for fussing and it is in there bel-2 that I write this.

About the only solution that I can see for the dificuly is to make the following changes in the arrangements, to-wit.

Install an uptodate fountain where it wood be most convenient.

Put a good jazz orch. in the place where the high class books are now kept.

Induce the proper authorities to have the Pantages circuit brot hear on all weak nites with the exception of sat. nite. The reason that I left sat. night vacant is because on that nite they could have amateur nite. Most of the stwdents go to a dance or a show on that nite so it wouldn't inconvenyent very many of them.

The lighting effect would have to be changed as lots of the cos and coeds has week 's that they couldn't afford to strain.

In order to insure a crowd an admission of 25c could be charged Hoping that I have made the world a better place to live in I will shut and go get a drink.

Your steand friend,
Noah Count.

SPEAKS OF PROBLEMS OF MODERN MEXICO

PROF. OF LANGUAGE DEPARTMENT DISCUSSES ECONOMICS AND SOCIAL PHASE

Mrs. M. L. Sargent, professor of Romance languages, spoke to the student assembly Wednesday on the subject of Mexico. Her talk included both historical and present political phases.

Mrs. Sargent has spent a great deal of time in Mexico, having visited the southern republic on several occasions for various lengths of time. She has travelled the country from north to south and has studied the people and conditions in all its provinces.

She began the talk with a historical sketch showing how the classes that how people Mexico arose. Various forces that invaded the country during its history were dealt with and their influences on the present makeup of the race demonstrated.

Mrs. Sargent related in an interesting manner the story of the fall of the various governments which existed in Mexico before the present administration. She gave an account of the fine work that the present leaders in Mexican politics, under the guidance of President Obregon have accomplished and of how they have brought Mexico from the rut she was in a few years ago.

The resources of Mexico have hardly been touched and her mines and natural resources combined with her great agricultural lands will make her one of the greatest commercial nations of the world in the near future. These and many other facts as portrayed by Mrs. Sargent made her talk very interesting to those in attendance.

VANDALS EMBARK ON FIRST OF CONFERENCE SERIES

HAVE WEEK'S REST BECAUSE CALIFORNIA DECIDES NOT TO PLAY IN MOSCOW

Coach David MacMillan and his varsity basketball team left Saturday afternoon for Oregon where they will play a string of six games before returning home. The Vandals opened their conference season against the University of Oregon Monday and Tuesday night and tonight are meeting Williamette University at Salem. Games are also to be played against the South Parkway A. C. and Multnomah A. C. at Portland.

Returning home from this trip the Vandals will have a whole week's rest before another conference game. This was made possible by California's declination to accept the invitation of the University of Idaho for a game at Moscow, Wednesday, January 25.

The Vandals will get in action again against the Cougars at Moscow next Friday and at Pullman the following night. February 1 and 2 the Idaho men play a two-game return series against Gonzaga university at Spokane.

FROSH WIN AGAINST CAMAS PRAIRIE FIVES

YEARLINGS MAKE SUCCESSFUL INVASION INTO TERRITORY OF TOWN TEAMS

The Freshman basket ball team, taking a week-end flyer into the Snake river country, won two out of three games played with the town teams of Nez Perce and Winchester. The scoring all three contests was close, the Vandal cubs breaking even with the Nez Perce tossers, and vanquishing the Winchesterians handily.

The games were veritable football games, rather than exhibitions of skill at netting baskets. The opponents of the yearlings were of the evident opinion that to beat them, the strategy of the gridiron would be necessary, and were able to get away with it in the first game, Thursday night, when Nez Perce slipped over a 28 to 24 victory. The following day, however, the Idahoans reversed things and won by 36 to 16. The Nez Perce team is made up of a number of older players, and all of pretty good size and ability on the floor. Inadequate floor space also proved a hindrance to the yearling hoop artists.

Winchester proved to be a little easier nut to crack for the Idaho basket cagers, and went down to defeat in their only game under a 36 to 16 score.

Six men made the trip while the second squad remained at home to give battle to the Cheney Norami basketballers. Those making the trip were: Captain Kline, Kieffner, Keller, Thomas, Reamer, and Hunter.

METROPOLITAN BARITONE TO APPEAR AT AUDITORIUM

Arthur Middleton, baritone, third number of the 1921-22 Artist Course, is scheduled to appear at the auditorium February 22. Posters of the concert have been placed and all arrangements are being completed for the successful conclusion of the present year's Artist Course program.

Mr. Middleton is reputed to be one of the most talented in his field ever sponsored by the Metropolitan Opera company of New York City. Authorities maintain that his performance will be a fitting climax to the present year's Artist Course at the university.

LINDSAY APPEARS BEFORE ENGLISH CLUB MEETING

A chanting-hypnotized audience heard Vachel Lindsay in his appearance before the English club Wednesday night Jan. 11 at the University hut. Lindsay first read an unprinted work "The Gypsies." When he gave "The Sea Serpent," a sailors chant, the audience chanted with him.

After the program by Mr. Lindsay, refreshments were served and a social hour observed. Mr. Lindsay was a guest of the club while here.

MISS JENSEN TOURING STATE

She is giving talks before the "movable schools" on home conveniences and children's diet. Miss Jensen will have visited Idaho Falls, Boise, Rigby, Rexburg, Grace and Idaho Falls. The list of speakers who will be present at the banquet Thursday evening includes: W. J. McConnell, former governor of Idaho; Ben Bush, assistant state land commissioner; Lynn Penn, state representative who sponsored the forestry bill at the last legislature; J. G. HEALTH COMMITTEE MAKES INSPECTION

TO MAKE REGULAR MONTHLY SURVEY OF GROUP HOUSES OF THE CAMPUS

The first report of the Faculty Committee on Health and Housing has just been made for publication by Mrs. J. M. Franklin, who is in charge of the University infirmary. The inspection was made just before the Christmas holidays.

The report consists of a general summary in the way of grades of conditions prevailing at the time of inspection. Grades have been assigned according to the merits of each house from the committee's standpoint and covers the month of December period of the present school year.

Sigma Nus and Thetas at Top

The Sigma Nu and the Kappa Alpha Theta houses lead the list with grades of A both in kitchens and other parts of the houses. At the foot of the list are the S. A. E. and Beta houses.

Grades for the various houses are:

House	Kit.	Rem.House
Lindley Hall	B	F
Ridenbaugh Hall	A	B
Omega Phi Alpha	C	B
Gammie Phi Beta	A	B
Sigma Nu	A	A
Kappa Sigma	C	A
Delta Gamma	F	C
Sigma Alpha Epsilon	E	F
Beta Theta Pi	F	F
Kappa Alpha Theta	A	A
Kappa Kappa Gamma	B	A
Jenkins Hall (Ldry)	C	B

Will Make Monthly Inspections

The Committee on Health and Housing have decided to make monthly surveys of the sanitary conditions of the houses as was done last year. Owing to the inability of the Committee to come to a decision early in the year these monthly examinations were not begun until December.

President Upham has expressed himself as heartily in favor of the monthly inspection as obtained last year and the plans have now been made for such for the rest of the year.

TELLS HISTORY STUDENTS OF EARLY FRONTIER DAYS

EX-GOVERNOR RELATES PIONEER EXPERIENCES TO HISTORY STUDENTS.

Students of the class in Pacific Northwest history were given a chance to get the "inside dope" on the making of the northwest Friday afternoon, January 13, when the Hon. W. J. McConnell gave a talk before the class on some of his adventures in Idaho in the early days.

Horse thieves, fake mines, and "gun-men" featured the story which was told in a fascinating manner and brought home to the students the fact that Idaho history was not all romance and wealth.

Mr. McConnell, who has served the state as United States senator and governor had an intimate part in the early history of the state which enabled him to bring the subject before the class in a unique and interesting way.

AGS PREPARE ANNUAL FETE

ANNUAL AFFAIR WILL BE GIVEN SOMETIME IN MARCH

"Ag." students are busy preparing for their one day holiday, "Ag Day" which will come some time in March when all "ags" leave books and classrooms for a day and participate in a series of judging contests.

"Ag Day" is an annual affair in the college of agriculture and the agriculture students take over the publications of the Argonaut for one edition and dedicate it to articles on the school of agriculture and the work of various "ag" students.

All kinds of grain and livestock judging contests are on the card for the day and prizes are offered to undergraduate contestants by numerous livestock associations and farm publications.

FORUM DISCUSSES LIBRARY

MISS SWEET, THE LIBRARIAN EXPLAIN USES AND MISUSES OF THE LIBRARY

The last meeting of the Open Forum, held last Thursday, was spent in the discussion of the library and its use and misuse. Miss Sweet, university librarian, gave a short talk on customs and the usage of the library.

Use of the privilege of taking reserved books out of the library and the necessity for their prompt return was discussed. The system of fines and other regulations concerning the practice of keeping books overtime was brought up also.

With the talk by Miss Sweet as a starter a lively discussonal meeting was held from which all the members gained a great deal of knowledge concerning this very valuable part of the university equipment.

FACULTY MEMBERS SPEAK IN SOUTHERN IDAHO

Faculty members of the school of agriculture and other departments who have attended the state seed show at Idaho Falls have a full schedule of lectures in southeastern Idaho for the next few days. President A. H. Upham is one of the principal speakers.

Each instructor has a series of lectures on his specialty to deliver at the "movable schools" which have been established in towns in the southeastern part of the state.

All towns in that section of the state will be visited and talks given on the uses and benefits of various methods of farm management and other talks will be given on the numerous farm problems of today.

A COMPANY WINS HONORS IN COMPETITIVE SHOOT

In the recent competitive shoot between the four companies of the R. O. T. C. the results show that "A" company carried off the honors, the total score for the six high men of the team being 1681. Highest individual score of the competition was made by Vesper, of "A" company, his score for the four positions being 191 out of a possible 200.

As a result of the meet "A" company will be designated color company until the latter part of February. Competitive contests are now being held for the purpose of choosing leaders to represent the university at inter-collegiate meets to be held shortly.
