Idaho Girl Wins The Contest In 1920; Now Enrolled in Northwestern University

An opportunity to obtain the best university education in America is again offered to all students of high school grade throughout the United States and its territorial possessions through announcement by the Highway and Highway Transport Education committee, Washington, D. C. of the National Essay contest for 1922.

To the high school student writing the best essay on the subject, "How good roads are developing my community" will be awarded the Harvey S. Firestone university scholarship, which provides all reasonable expenses and tuition for a four years course at any university or college that the winner may choose. The scholarship is valued at approximately $4,000.

In addition to its material value the scholarship offers unusual literary honors and advantages. Magazines of national circulation and hundreds of daily newspaper print the winning essay, while prominent educators, acting as judges, have expressed their admiration of the literary merit contained in its composition. The winner of the 1920 contest was received officially at the White House in Washington and presented with the scholarship certificate by President Harding, who extended personal congratulations.

Idaho Girl Wins

The scholarship awarded by the Firestone company two years ago was won by Miss Katherine Butterfield, of Weiser. Miss Butterfield won the scholarship competing with contestants from every state in the union, and Idaho papers were exceedingly strong in their praise. Miss Butterfield is now enrolled in Northwestern University, Evanston, Illinois.

The contest in Idaho two years ago was conducted by Lee Fluharty of the university extension department, but the contest this year is in charge of Dr. George Morey Miller, of the University of Idaho English department.

All papers will be judged by the English department, and the best essay from the state will be sent to the national judges, who are to be appointed by the United States commissioner of education.

TO WAGE WAR ON FIRES

DEPARTMENT OF FORESTRY IS TO COOPERATE WITH FEDERAL GOVERNMENT

April 16-22 has been designated by President Harding as "Fire Protection Week," and during that time posters bearing forest fire slogans will be distributed throughout the United States. The school of forestry has received a supply of these posters, and has been asked to assist in their distribution throughout northern Idaho.

This week is especially interesting to Idaho and Washington, and Oregon as they have practically half of the available standing timber in the United States, and it is in these states that huge forest fires do great damage every summer.

PREPARES UNIQUE AD

FORESTRY DEPARTMENT WILL SEND NOVEL PUBLICITY MATERIAL TO BOISE

The school of forestry has worked out a very clever plan to bring before the public, at Boise during college week, the type of work it is doing, and the opportunities which are offered its graduates.

Among other things it has prepared a drawing of a tree with the branches representing the department's different lines of activities. The lower branches are the lines of work offered for instruction, and the upper branches the different phases of work into which the trained men can follow. The tree also spreads a branch showing the amount of research and public service work done at the school.

VOCATIONALS TO MEET

DISTRICT MANAGER WILL ADDRESS MEN ON SUBJECT OF REHABILITATION

"Rehabilitation" will be the subject of an address to be given to vocational men of the university by L. C. Jessup, manager of the thirteenth district, United States Veterans' bureau. The address will be given on Tuesday evening, April 25, at 8:00 p. m. in room 217 of the administration building.

H. L. McCoy, chief of the rehabilitation division of the bureau, will also be present, to meet and address the men. It has been requested that every vocational man attend the meeting if it is possible for him to do so.

KELLEY GETS SPRING FOOTBALL UNDER WAY

SQUAD OF FIFTY CANDIDATES TURN OUT LAST MONDAY

Practices To Continue Through The Year, Including Light Scrimmage Work in May

Official spring football training got under way Monday, fifty men reporting for the initial workout on the campus. The workouts will be held Monday to Thursday of every week, the other two days of the week will be given over to the frosh for baseball practice.

Every phase of offensive and defensive play will be taken up during the spring season which will last the rest of April and through May. The workout Monday consisted of the preliminary rudiments of the game, starts, passing and punting. Coach Kelley expects to go easy with the early training, but before the middle of May hopes to start some short scrimmages.

The long spring training period will undoubtedly put the Idaho candidates in excellent condition for the heavy season next fall, and give Coach Kelley an excellent idea of whom the squad will be composed of.

The local mentor has issued a call for every available man, no matter how limited his experiences of the game, to report for spring practice if he has any idea of turning out in the fall.

HONOR SYSTEM TOPIC GETS MUCH COMMENT

OPEN FORUM TAKES UP QUESTION AT MEETING LAST WEEK

Will Consider "The Freshman" At The Meeting Tonight: Have Problems To Solve

The Forum meeting of last Wednesday evening was the seat of an interesting discussion on the honor system. All students attending had the opportunity of discussing the points both in favor and against the system, as well as hearing a number of the university professor give their versions on it.

The honor system has been in use in the law school almost since time immemorial, in fact ever before Professor Gill had become one of the faculty, and has been proven to be very satisfactory in this department. In a number of the other departments of the university, the system has been used to some extent and has met with unanimous favor.

As Abe Goff said in speaking of its success in the law college, "It puts a man on his own initiative, he has an independent feeling about doing his work and although there are all the chances for cribbing, it simply isn't done.

At the next meeting Wednesday evening, a rather time worn subject but nevertheless one that is worthy of the attention of all will be talked over, and that is the subject, "what shall we do with our new freshmen." This problem is less evident at present that it is for the first month or so of school in the fall when conditions among the new comers is quite acute. Some means of entertainment or amusement of the nature they are accustomed to seems somewhat lacking.

It has also been debated quite often that some place be provided where the new students and especially the men, as the women seem to find it a little easier to get acquainted, could get together or congregate in an informal way and get accustomed to college life with the help of older men.

SEES BETTER TIMES IN MINING INDUSTRY

DEAN F. A. THOMPSON SAYS CONDITIONS APPEAR BRIGHTER

Rising Prices in Zinc and Lead Give 1922 Prospects a More Cheerful Aspect.

That the low ebb in the mining industries of the northwest has been passed is the impression of Dean Francis A. Thompson, of the school of mines and director of the state bureau of mines and geology, Dean Thompson visited these regions recently on returning from the inauguration of Dr. George Thomas as president of the University of Utah, which he attended as the representative of the University.

"The Coeur d'Alene region reflects much activity on the part of the smaller producer," said Dean Thompson. "With the constantly rising zinc and lead prices and the return of favorable conditions many of the larger companies which found it necessary to suspend activity during the era of depression are planning to resume operations.

"In the Butte district the Anaconda company is running about 60 per cent of a normal output, which is likely to be gradually augmented.

"While I was in Salt Lake the manager of the Utah Copper company announced a gradual resumption of operations and many other of the smaller operators in the Salt Lake Valley are making similar plans."

Dean Thompson said that the manager of a Salt Lake mining machinery concern informed him that during the first three months of 1922 the amount of business had exceeded that of the entire year of 1921, indicating extensive development during the coming year.

OFFICIAL SANCTION GRANTED NEWSPAPERMEN'S ORGANIZATION—MEMBERSHIP OF EIGHT

Official recognition and sanction of the University of Idaho Press club has been given the new organization by the faculty committee on student organizations. Membership is made up of newspapermen on the Idaho campus and faculty members fundamentally interested in the newspaper profession. This is the first time a press organization has been formed at the university.

The Press club is a professional organization, membership in which is obtained only after a definite demonstration of qualification has been made. The organization's purposes are: to promote the best and most favorable interests of University of Idaho publicity, to develop and maintain a spirit of cooperation among university students doing newspaper work on the Idaho campus, and to foster and assist in the publication of the University Argonaut and in the promotion of interest in newspaper work.

Membership is Limited

Membership, of necessity, is small, being limited to persons fundamentally interested in the newspaper profession and its advancement. The club has no insignia and no social aspirations.

The charter members are: Joel L. Priest, Jr., of Boise, president; Oren A. Fitzgerald, Grangeville, secretary-treasurer; A. H. Upham, president of the university; G. M. Miller, head of the English department; Edward F. Mason, director of university publications; Brown M. Schick, editor of The Daily Star-Mirror; Robert L. In order to effect the luxury tax method of raising funds the committee plans to secure the cooperation of all the business houses of the city for the week designated. The exact procedure has not been determined by the committee.

Committee on Job

The committee is sending out a letter to the various civic and commercial organizations throughout the state, asking for their aid in the matter of increasing the student loan funds.

It after the case of the two Moscow organizations, the chamber of commerce and the Rotary club, each of which gave one hundred dollars on the sliding scale plan, that is, each year, they will pay the same amount into the fund. Two other organizations of northern Idaho have also given money on similar conditions.

The fund now contains something like $15000, all of which is loaned out. There have been so many more requests for money than the fund contains that many have been turned down, with the result that some students have been compelled to leave school, or borrow money at a high rate of interest.
