IMPRESSIVE EXERCISES MARK 27TH ANNUAL COMMENCEMENT

Graduate Large Class Wednesday With Elaborate Program—Dr. Ward Delivers Address—Governor Davis Also Speaks

8 MASTER DEGREES Advanced Work on Varied Subjects Wins Gradu- ate Honors

Eighty-nine baccalaureate degrees and eight masters' degrees were granted this morning at the twenty-seventh annual commencement of the University of Idaho. The commencement address was delivered by Dr. Henry Baldwin Ward, head of the department of zoology of the University of Illinois and national president of Sigma Xi, honorary scientific fraternity. Addresses were made by Governor D. W. Davis, Dr. E. A. Bryan, state commissioner of education, and Mrs. J. G. H. Graveley, Boise, president of the state board of education. The ceremony of conferring the degrees was impressive. Diplomas were presented by Dr. A. H. Upham, president of the university. The deans of the respective colleges when called upon after saluting the president called out the names of the candidates to stand. President Upham then read the names of the candidates and each graduate stepped forward to the stage to receive his or her diploma.

The candidates for degrees were seated in the front and center section. Members of the faculty were seated in the section immediately behind the seniors and alumni were seated behind the faculty. Friends and relatives of the graduates had seats reserved for them and the undergraduate students filled up the rest of the auditorium. The academic procession was impressive, headed by President Upham and Dr. Ward, Governor Davis, Dr. Bryan, members of the state board of education and faculty members. The procession was formed at Ridenbaugh hall at 10 o'clock and the commencement exercises opened at 10:30. Members of the professional marched into the auditorium to the "Processional" played by the university orchestra, with the audience standing.

Able Commencement Address
The Rev. H. H. Mitchell, rector of the Episcopal church, opened the exercises by giving the invocation. Dr. Ward in his address on "The Struggle of Man with Wild Life in North America," urged the graduates to be of service to their fellow men and to civilization.

"The world looks to you," he said in speaking to the graduates, "as college men and women to know, to lead, and to do, as no man liveth unto himself alone."
"Education now is a matter of concern not only to the individual but a matter of vital concern to the public," said Dr. E. A. Bryan in introducing Governor Davis. "It is now not only a privilege to receive an education but a duty and it is the duty of the state to provide that education—not for the individual but for the state."

Dr. Bryan referred to Governor Davis as the commander in chief of the educational forces of the state. "It is a great pleasure," continued Dr. Bryan, "to have Governor Davis here in that he is showing his interest in education and that we may recognize the important work he has done for the best interests of this and other educational institutions of the state. Steadily from beginning to end education in the state of Idaho has had the warm support of Governor Davis."

Idaho's Greatest Asset
"Idaho's greatest asset—the graduates of her institutions," said Governor Davis.
"Imagine my feeling in taking part in this program with all these distinguished educators. My own education was limited to the fourth grade. That is one of the reasons why I am so vitally interested in education."

"I am glad to be classed as a supporter of education. Idaho's greatest resources are the graduates of her institutions. Here is created the spirit of solidarity, the unity, and the spirit of cooperation between young men and young women in the state."

Assume Responsibility
"Make the best of your opportunities. Remain in Idaho and help conserve the state's great natural resources. The state looks upon you as leaders. The state depends on you for great things. The cooperation and friendship you have developed here means a great deal to Idaho. The responsibility of these men in charge of educational and governmental affairs will soon be on your shoulders. Assume that responsibility like men and women."

"One hears of decay. I am not fearful of decay as long as our institutions can turn out into the field such men and women as we have here. You have a debt to society. Take an active interest in affairs of your community, your state, and your government."

Exert Individuality
"Exert your own individuality. Use your own ability. The tendency of the times is to lean upon the government—to ask the government to do things that the people can do themselves. I object strenuously to the government's action in federalizing so many branches of the state government. The state has an individuality and should develop with the cooperation but not the control of the federal government.

"If we become more and more inclined to lean on the government we destroy our individuality. We have too much dependence upon government. The desire to push forward and do what we can for ourselves has been the chief factor in making our country what it is."

Wishes Class Godspeed

1923 GEM MAKES APPEARANCE ON CAMPUS MONDAY

Novelties Feature of Book,
Said To Be Best In Years

SALE REPORTED GOOD

Cost Up, But Book Bigger
And Better Say Staff
Members

The nineteen twenty-three Gem of the Mountains, year book published annually by the junior class of the university, was put on sale Monday at noon, and a brisk sale of the books has been experienced during the past two days.

This year's annual is considered to be one of the best ever published in the history of the university, and contains 360 pages, many of which constitute distinct innovations in the line of college annuals.

The sale of the books is reported as being very encouraging by William C. Carpenter, business manager. There are still, however, a considerable number of the books remaining to be disposed of, and these will be on sale for one more day.

Innovations from the general trend of Idaho annuals were galore. Student activities were placed before the classes and an eight-page color section showing familiar and picturesque campus scenes gave the book a mark of complete distinction. A large alumni section, telling of the work of the alumni association, is also given a prominent position.

Feature Athletics
The outstanding department, however, is the athletic. The victorious basketball season and the football season is featured with special illustrated stories and action pictures from the numerous games of the season. Freshman athletes are given a position in keeping with their importance during the season.

Rex Kimmel of Boise, a junior in the college of law, was editor-in-chief of this year's book with Lois A. Boas, also of Boise, a junior in the college of engineering, as assistant editor.

William C. Carpenter of Boise, a junior in the college of engineering, handled the business management, assisted by Vernon Walters of Twin Falls and A. Kenneth Anderson of Moscow.

Highly Capable Staff
Other members of the staff included: Robert Cummins, Wallace, photographs; Richard Johnson, Morton, snapshots; Margaret Kutnewsky, Boise, society; Kenneth Hunter, Moscow, alumni; Helen Bloom, Spokane, Wash., and Cameron King, Lewiston, art; Sylvester Kleffner and Vernon Walters, Twin Falls, humor; Philip Buck, Joe Curtis and Theodore Sherman, all of Boise, literary; Charles Preuss, Tacoma, Wash., Jack Armstrong, Pocatello, and Robert Garver, Walla Walla, Wash., athletic; Ruth Litton, Moscow, Mary Ball, Colorado Springs, Colo., and Bethel Collins, Boise, organizations.

The cost of this year's book is considerable above the ordinary but the juniors are easing their feelings with the thought that they have given the university one of the best yearbooks in history.
Charles Preuss, who assisted in preparing the athletic department this year, will have charge of the 1924 Gem.

Carry the Word Home

"I am glad to commend the A. S. U. I. on its action in getting behind the new student campaign in such a vigorous manner," said President Upham today.

"To see the entire student body wholeheartedly working on this campaign proves to me that Idaho means something to them that she has not meant before. They are going to make it mean the same to hundreds of others in the state."

"The mere fact that the students have taken this campaign in hand will mean much to citizens of the state. By their action they prove that the university is giving them something of which they see the immediate value."

"Their advertising in their own communities will be a powerful influence for Idaho because every Idaho student is a walking Idaho ad."

"I am glad to see their willingness to cooperate with the university publicity department in the effort to make Idaho an institution for all Idahoans."

UNIVERSITY CLUB TO BEAUTIFY CITY

Will Work With R. R. For Improvement Of The Adjacent Land

The University Club, composed of faculty and graduate members of the University of Idaho, through a committee on civic affairs, will endeavor to beautify and improve the property adjacent to the Northern Pacific and O. W. R. R. & N. depots. Railroad officials have agreed to defray the expenses for the improvement, provided the club provides the plans for the improvement. Prof. Dale, head of the department of economics was named chairman of the committee in charge, and is working on the proposition.

Officers were elected by the club last week, and Charles Hungerford, connected with the Idaho experiment station, was elected president to succeed R. B. Elder, professor of metallurgy of the mining department. Other officers elected were: Virgil Kirkham, school of mines, vice president; S. F. Browne, economics department, re-elected secretary-treasurer. Harry Magnuson and William Murray were named on the executive committee.

ELECT PENWELL NEXT YEAR'S TRACK LEADER

Cinder Star Honored At Meeting of Present
Track Squad

Guy Penwell of Moscow, two year letterman and crack mile runner, was unanimously elected to captain the University of Idaho track squad next year at a meeting of the present team last week.

Penwell is a star track athlete, and his work this year on the cinder path is an example of what long, hard and consistent training will do. With one more year to run, he should be able to set some new Idaho, if not conference, records in the distances.

Ten letters were awarded this season to members of the track team. The winners of the winged "I" this season are: Captain Gerald Gill, Sioux Falls, S. D.; Captain-elect Guy Penwell, Moscow; Henry Canine, Burlington; Raymond Harsch, Washington, D. C.; Horton McCallie, Kamlah; Gustav Bjork, Lewiston; L. K. Mohler, Cashmere, Washington; Warren Stoneman, Hillyard, Washington; Marshall Macey, Boise; and Arnold Cobley, Victoria, B. C.

SENIOR MINING STUDENTS MAKE SURVEY TRIP IN NORTH

Senior students enrolled in mining, accompanied by several members of the university faculty, made a survey trip of several of the larger mines located in the northern part of the state last week.

The students were particularly interested in the mechanical "mucking" shovel now being used in many of the mines, as well as in the process by which the mines are trying to curtail the existing high cost of production.

AGE WINS OVER YOUTH FACULTY-SENIOR GAME

Scholarly Professors Set Grads Back In Annual Clash

"Old age bested youth" with the result that the seniors received their first setback from this cruel world Tuesday afternoon when the faculty defeated them in the annual baseball clash, 10 to 6. Inconsistent fielding by the near grads coupled with timely hits by the "profs" were the items that spelled defeat for the seniors.

Coach MacMillan in the box for the "profs" proved very effective and the support given by the rest of the outfit was far above par for the usual tutor nine. One blot, however, marred the wonderful showing made by the faculty when Dean Angell, after holding down the initial sack in big league style for five innings, blew a single down the first base line, the seniors scoring on the error. Prof. Johannesen of chemistry fame held down the back stop berth in excellent style, controlling his peg down to the second bag and letting nary a single curve of Coach MacMillan's pass him up.

Prof. Hulbert, of the "Ag" department, featured with the stick for the faculty, clouting out a two base hit, bringing in several men on the drive. Roch Fox, hurling for the near grads, came close to winning his own game by driving out a three bagger.

Soon after the "prof" batting machine began to find Fox's offerings, knocking him from the box. Jacobson followed, but also was touched considerably by the tutors.

KIMMELL TAKES FIRST IN ORATORICAL MEET

Idaho Junior Takes First
In Northwest
Contest

Rex Kimmell, junior in the college of law, won first place in the annual triangular oratorical contest held this year at the University of Washington. Along with the honor of winning first place in the contest went a prize of $100.

Mr. Kimmell's oration was on "Continuing Ideals," and won the unanimous decision of the judges. This marks the second successive time that first place in the contest has gone to an Idaho student. Ralph Breshears won first place at Eugene, Oregon on an oration on the acute labor question.

REGNER KULBERG IS ELECTED HEAD OF NON-FRAT MEN

Regner Kulberg, a junior in the college of letters and science, living in Moscow, was elected president of the associated non-fraternity students of the university last week. Robert Holbrook of Sweet was chosen vice president, and Emil Stunz of Boise was re-elected as secretary-treasurer of the organization.

BROWN RE-ELECTED WRESTLING COACH FOR NEXT YEAR

"Babe" Brown, of Boise, football captain elect, was bestowed further honors by being again unanimously voted wrestling captain. Brown is a member of the Kappa Sigma fraternity and enrolled in the school of education.

His record in the past, making him stand out as the foremost heavy weight wrestler in the northwest, gave him undisputed title to the mat leadership. Besides leading the wrestling squad last year, he also tutored the outfit, developing several stars of no mean repute. The majority of honors must also go to Brown in putting wrestling on the major sport list at Idaho.

Although the sport is still young and the school did not make an exceptional showing this season, the entire squad will be back and the outlook for the future is exceedingly bright.

KELLEY TENDERS RESIGNATION AS ATHLETIC COACH

Springs Big Surprise On College As Whole
This Week

NO SUCCESSOR NAMED

President To Appraise the Students as Soon as Possible

Coach Thomas Kelly, for the past two years head of the athletic department of the University, and head football coach, has tendered his resignation to President Upham, to take effect immediately.

The news of Mr. Kelly's resignation came as a distinct shock to the administration, which stated that as yet no successor had been selected, nor had they one in mind. Coach Kelley in resigning, stated that he had had an offer from the University of Missouri, from which he came to Idaho two years ago, which considerably overshadowed his remuneration here, and which he felt obligated to take at this time.

"We have no one in mind at the present who will take Kelly's place," said President Upham when seen about the matter. "The student body can rest assured, however, that no pain will be spared in securing for the position the very best man that can be had. Definite announcement of any new appointment will be made just as soon as possible. We are sorry to lose Mr. Kelley; but we feel that we can not stand in the way of his betterment."

BARTON GOES TO PEABODY COLLEGE FOR SUMMER

Prof. J. W. Barton, head of the department of psychology at the university, left Sunday for Nashville, Tenn., where he will give a twelve weeks' course of lectures in introductory psychology and a course in psychology of learning at Peabody college. The second of these courses is intended primarily for graduate students in psychology.

While in the east, Prof. Barton will visit many universities and colleges to investigate their psychology laboratories, which will include the Universities of Chicago, Nebraska, Colorado, Iowa and Illinois.

Miss Gladys Hastie of Seattle has returned to attend the graduation exercises of the class of 1922, of which she is a member.

Assembly Wednesday, in charge of the new student campaign committee was an education on the side for the student body. The hour was set aside as one of instruction concerning the University of Idaho.

Each of the four colleges and three schools which make up the university were explained by representative undergraduates who told what each school had to offer the prospective Idaho student.

New officers of the A. S. U. I. were installed after the assembly. Lynn F. Hersey of Lewiston is president for the coming year, succeeding Paul T. Rowlin, also of Lewiston; Gerald Gill follows Frank Brown as vice president; Verle Bartlett succeeds Bethel Collins as secretary and Marie Hummel will be treasurer for the second term.

Organize On Military Plan
The student campaign is organized on a military plan. Under it the state is organized into three sections, southwestern, southeastern, and northern, with a separate section for eastern Washington.

Each section has a chairman who acts as commander-in-chief over his territory. He directs the work in that section as he sees fit, working in unison with chairmen of the other sections.

The section chairman appoints a county chairman for each county under his supervision. These in turn work out advertising plans which fit the needs of their respective communities. They keep in touch with the section supervisor and with the other county chairmen.

Appoint City Chairmen

Each county chairman appoints city chairmen who attend to the work in the various towns of their county. Their work consists in seeing all the prospective students that they are able to interview and talk Idaho to them in the most advantageous way.

Besides this student organization an alumni secretary has been appointed who will get in touch with all alumni. They will work with the city chairmen in talking up the university to the high school graduates.

Will Keep In Touch

Numerous bulletins and circulars, of which the Father and Son booklet and other early summer publications are representative, are being prepared and will be sent out at intervals as part of the advertising campaign.

The booklet, "Father and the Boy Visit the University" is already in circulation and in an interesting way tells of a trip of an Idaho father and prospective Idaho student through the numerous schools of the university.

The pamphlet, "What Do We Know About the University," which was passed out at the close of assembly was designed to answer questions which high schools graduates are asking about courses offered by the university. Information contained in it will make each Idaho undergraduate a salesman well fitted to present his school in the best light.

Other letters will be gotten out through the summer by the university press service which will also "press agent" the university in newspapers of the state.

Joel L. Priset, Jr., chairman of the new student committee was in charge of the assembly. Other members of the committee are Louise Yeaman, Genevieve Dart, Oren A. Fitzgerald and Glen R. Wilkenson.

Oren A. Fitzgerald of Grangeville is district leader for northern Idaho and the county chairman for the ten northern Idaho counties are:

John Brady, Wallace, Shoshone county; Margaret Mims, Coeur d'Alene, Kootenai county; Goldie Felton, Lewiston, Nez Perce county; Milton A. Johnson, Nez Perce, Lewis

Another year is done. Another class of graduates have left the University, and it remains for those fortunate enough to be able to come back next year to carry forward the work for a Bigger and Better Idaho. An associated students' committee has taken on its shoulders the task of carrying the word of Idaho into ever hamlet and town in the state. Every Idaho student is an active member of that committee and should feel the sacredness of his task. It will not be too early to begin talking about your University as soon as you get home. If you like it, and believe in it, then make your high school friends believe in it as you do.

Reverend J. Orin Gould, for the past two years student pastor of the University, has tendered his resignation to take effect September first. In losing Mr. Gould, the university is losing one of its staunchest friends and boosters. While here he has been always for Idaho, and Idaho first.

We are sincerely sorry to see him leave, and feel that in the time that he has been among us, that he has given a distinctive service to the students, and has helped to give to the university an atmosphere which will be missed with his departure.

A. E. Evans Leaves for East

Prof. Alvin E. Evans of the university school of law left Moscow Monday afternoon, to be absent about three months. He goes first to Austin, Texas, then to the University of Chicago, and to Lincoln, Nebraska, lecturing before the students at the summer schools in each university.

ENGLISH DEPARTMENT SPONSORS NEW BOOK

Literary Booklet By U. of I. Students Proves Big Success

For the first time in many years a strictly literary booklet has been issued on the campus, when "Extravagances," a 25-page collection of short literary efforts from students in the English department, was offered for sale the latter part of last week. The booklet was issued under the supervision of two instructors in the department, J. Stanton McLaughlin and Kenneth Collins, and was edited by Earnest K. Fuller, a junior from Rose Lake, Idaho, enrolled in the college of letters and science.

Glen Wilkinson and Carl H. Brown, both of Twin Falls, were in charge of the business end of the publication, and were aided in financing the proposition by local business men without the necessity of selling advertising space in the book. Contributors to the booklet were Marlon Featherstone, cover design; Jack Rodner, Richard Fox, Thomas Sherry, Charlotte Jones, Bernice Harding, L. I. Mohler, Dorothy Cagé, George Gahan, Paul Harlan, Maxwell Shoales, Josephine Walker, Helen Bloom, Arthur Sawyer, Eleanor Eddy, Muriel Tuttle. "Froth," a short play published in the book, was written by Nora Ashton, a former student, who has died since.

IDAHO CO-ED WINS MUSICAL HONORS

To have reached a goal which is the ambition of almost every great musician throughout the world, a successful appearance at the Metropolitan Opera house in New York, is the distinction held by Miss Valberg Kjosness, of Lewiston, a former student at the University of Idaho. Miss Kjosness accomplished this while a member of the St. Olaf Lutheran college choir, Northfield, Minn., a now world-famous group. The concert was the last of the choir's winter tour and critics were extremely lavish in their praise.

Miss Kjosness has made several shorter tours with the St. Olaf choir besides the midwinter tour of 31 concerts. Everywhere the same extremely loud praise was given. "It seems that nearly half of the 900 students at St. Olaf seek membership on the choir, and the 65 who are finally chosen are envied by the other students," says the Lewiston Tribune in commenting upon the success of Miss Kjosness.

Dear Publik:

This will be the last time that I will be able to give you my little quota of advice and weakly hot air. I am sad. Exams did it. Write hear I want 2 right and tell you just what I think of exams—plural and singular—male and female.

Erams are the means that the members of th faculty takes in one last thrust at yur seat of intelligence. Usually it is the last straw, the finil blow and the parting thot. They is about as popular with the students as the hay fever is 2 a elephant.

Preperashun on the part of the stעדwents for these orgies takes place in the form of multitudinus hours of eye strain, brain renovashun and re-cataloging, added light bill and general discomfort assosheated with an ever lasting grasse for some member of the faculty.

The results must be viewed with a microscope to be scene. The profs have a reat time gloating over the 'A' stעדwents and deciding which of the others shall comprise the necessary flunks in there subject. Many a prof has worn out many a nickle in trying 2 decide this question. All in all exams ar a curse 2 stעדwents and 2 strong a weapon for the faculty to weild. I therefore move that exams be tared and feathered, a rock tied on there neck, dragged for blocks in the mud and dumped in Paradise Creek with due, proper and fitting cereamonies. Do I here a second?

Yurs if I stand theexamas, Noah Count.
U. S.—Don't forget those new students yu ar going 2 bring back next year 2 witness the above ceramonies.

Speaking o rare humor—how about the person that said that Wednesday, the 6th was a holiday and then put our hardest exam the next morning?

Well, anyway, after the summer vacation you can come back up here and rest up.

"If in nature and in the realm of human relations our help cometh
from the hills, why not also in re-

class of 89 members rose to its feet,
"you things rightly that you have reached a height. The world at large looks to the hills of your individualism for help. You will give
it. Thousands and tens of thousands have gone before you. They have given their help. Many have been lost in the valleys. Some have lifted the plane of living to the level they had reached at the end of the college climb. A few, very few, have continued to mount.

"What will you do? A host is about you at this height. You feel its warmth. On the next height just above you there are not so many.
Then you will begin to feel the loneliness of the heights. You can go to the heights where you may even cry, as did the Great Saviour of Mankind, "My God, why hast Thou forsaken me?"

Blind Soprano Sings

Miss Margaret Carney of Portland, blind soprano, who gave a recital at the university earlier in the spring
sang "Angels Ever Bright and Fair."
She was accompanied by Miss Marguerite Clark of the music department. After the singing of the Doxology by the audience the Rev. J. Orrin Gould, student pastor, pronounced the benediction and the orchestra played the recessional march while the academic procession marched from the auditorium.

The commencement week program was opened Saturday night with the presentation of Shaw's play, "You Never Can Tell," by a special cast of characters from the senior class. The play was directed by Dean Permeal
J. French and Professor Cushman.

Sunday afternoon on the campus,
in front of the administration building, the university military band of 40 pieces, directed by Brent Nielson, gave a concert lasting over an hour.
The cadet organization this year is unquestionably one of the best at any institution featuring it as part of the military work.

Today Senior Day

Today is senior day. The members of the graduating class this afternoon observed the time honored tradition of planting the ivy. The faculty-senior baseball scrap, scheduled for this afternoon, has been postponed until tomorrow, which will be observed as alumni day.

The most significant event on today's commencement program, however, is the installation of the University of Idaho chapter of Sigma Xi national honorary scientific fraternity. The ceremonies will be conducted this evening by Dr. Ward, who will deliver the commencement address Wednesday, and Dean Ellery, while the students of the music department are giving their annual recital in the university auditorium. Dr. Ward is president of the fraternity and Dean Ellery is secretary.

Those who will appear in the student recital tonight are Inez Sanger, Irene Starrh, Lionel Sterner, Frances Roach, Eleanor Eddy, Earl King, Al-
lice ePterson, Iida MacMillen, Werner Ripplinger, Frank Mitten, and Frederick Somers. The program will commence at 8 o'clock.

This year's commencement week,
which is the twenty-seventh, will come to a successful close with the commencement exercises proper Wednesday morning. The seniors will assemble at Ridenbaugh hall at 10 o'clock and march in the academic procession to the auditorium. The commencement address will be delivered by Dr. Henry Baldwin Ward, head of the department of zoology of the University of Illinois, president of Sigma Xi.

Eighty-nine baccalaureate degrees and eight masters' will be granted at the Wednesday exercises.

Will Talk on Religious Education

On Thursday evening, June 8, will occur the fifth of the series of programs on "Religious Education," which are being held at the Presbyterian church. Rev. J. Orrin Gould will address the meeting. These programs have been of interest and value to all Sunday school workers and to those interested in any phase of religious education. All church and Sunday school workers are especially invited, and those of the general public who appreciate a thoughtful and inspiring address will find these well worth attending.

NATIONAL OFFICERS INSTALL SIGMA XI

SCIENTIFIC SOCIETY INSTALLATION COMMENCEMENT FEATURE —SENIORS PLANT IVY

Installation of the University of Idaho chapter of Sigma Xi, national honorary society, by Dr. Henry B.
Ward, Professor of sociology at the University of Illinois, national secretary of the society, and R. Edward Ellery, dean of Union College faculty, and national president, was one of the features of commencement week
at the university.

The installation nceremonies were held Monday at the University club,
at which time fifteen charter members of the Idaho chapter were taken into the society, after whih an installation banquet was held in the Lindley hall dining room, at which over 100 were present.

J. W. Wodsadelak, president of the Idaho chapter, arter as toastmaster.
The principal talk was given by Dr.
Ward, who told of the significance of the society. He said it was an organization for the promotion of research in science. Dean Ellery also gave an address.

Many Guests at Banquet
Members of the state board of education and board of regents were guests. Dr. E. A. Bryan, state commissioner of education, addressed in behalf of that body while President A.
H. Upham represented the university in welcoming the scientific society.
Stanly Easton, president of the board of regents, was to give an address
but he was unable to reach Moscow in time to attend. Senator Randall of Lewiston, a Union College graduate, came to Moscow to meet Dean Ellery and was present at the banquet.

Installation of the Idaho chapter brings the number of western charters to five. Others having chapters in the society are the University of California, University of Washington, Stanford University and the University of Colorado. Dr. J. E. Wodsadelak, professor of zoology and entomology, is president of the Idaho chapter; Dean M. F. Angell of the college of letters and science, vice president;
Dr. Henry Schmitz, associate professor of forestry, secretary; C. E.
Behre, associate professor of lumbering, treasurer.

Fifteen Charter Members

Charter members of the Idaho chapter are Dean M. F. Angell, D. R. Barrows, C. E. Behre, Dr. F. W. Gail,
Dr. W. M. Gibbs, C. W. Hungerford,
Lr. J. A. Kostalek, G. R. McDole,
Dean F. G. Miller, Dr. R. A. Muckow,
Dr. Henry Schmitz, Eugene Taylor, Dr. C. L. von Ende, Dr. J. E.
Wodsadelek and J. H. Young, all members of the university faculty.

Dean Ellery, who preached the commencement sermon to the class of university graduates here Sunday morning, also gave a sermon to the Washington State college seniors at Fullman Sunday. He left yesterday morning for Union college. He has several more commencement engagements at various points in the east.

Seniors Plant Ivy

The seniors planted the ivy at the west entrance of the administration building Monday afternoon. The graduates assembled at Ridenbaugh hall and marched in academic procession to the site selected for the planting. The class oration was delivered by Donald Payne, while Miss Inez Sanger and Walter Schmid did the planting. The tree was dedicated with the singing of the senior class song, "Gem of the Mountain," and
"Idaho, We Dearly Love Thee."

The annual recital of the students in the department of music was held in the auditorium Monday evening while the Sigma Xi installation banquet was being held in Lindley hall. Conflicting features of the commencement program reduced the crowd to a minimum but it was a thoroughly appreciative and music-loving crowd which attended. The students appearing in recital were Inez Sanger, Irene Starrh, Lionel
Sterner, Frances Roach, Eleanor Edy,
Alice Uterson, Iida MacMillen,
Werner Ripplinger, Gertrude Christ-
on, Frank Mitten, and Frederick Somers.

SENIORS URGED TO MAKE LIVES GREAT

DEAN EDWARD ELLERY PREACHES BACCALAUREATE—SENIORS PLANTING IVY TODAY

In his baccalaureate sermon on
"The Hills of Human Help" Dean Edward Ellery of Union College, Schenectady, N. Y., challenged members of the 1922 raduating class of the University of Idaho to make their lives great, so that they might become helpful to their fellow men. The baccalaureate services were held in the university auditorium yesterday morning.

Members of the university faculty,
followed by the seniors and guests of honor, marched into the auditorium and the audience remained standing while the invocation was pronounced by the Rev. R. L. Dunn, pastor of the Christian church. A mixed chorus, directed by Mrs. Sharp of the music department, sang "Unfold Thy Portals," from Gounod's "The Redemption."

"I will lift up mine eyes unto the hills, from whence cometh my help."
"In these words, five thousand years ago," said Dean Ellery, "a Hebrew bard epitomized and prophesied
the experience of the race.

Despite Forecasts by Experts, Campus "Bobs" Increase by Leaps

Despite the fact that each newspaper which finds its way to the university campus contains long stories from purported experts on feminine attire proclaiming the lurid fact that "bobs" are now definitely out of style, or are in other words absolutely passe—despite this fact, we say, it has been called to our attention by members of the opposite sex, that the Idaho co-eds have recently taken tremendous steps forward, and have applied the shears with more gusto than ever before.

One industrious young fellow, with inclinations which lean decidedly toward detecting, has compiled a few statistics on the matter, and has found among other things, after visiting all the local barber shops, that during the past week at least seventeen fair ones have fallen before the lure of the abbreviated locks.

None seem to be immune, and the sorority which cannot point with some semblance of pride to its quota of exponents of the bob family, bush dutch and stringy, is a back number. There will soon be just as many styles of bobs as there used to be styles of rattling, and Heaven help him who would try to enumerate these.

Local drug stores have announced that they have recently laid in an extra large supply of a most popular brand of cold cream in anticipation of the large number of sunburned ears which are sure to follow in the wake of the shearing of the locks.

into practical use the things you have learned.

Mrs. J. G. H. Graveley of Boise, president of the state board of education, upon behalf of the board congratulated the graduates and urged them to "Carry On."

Violin Solo Features

The entire audience stood and sang the "Austrian Hymn" and the university military band played the "Pilgrims' Chorus" from Wagner's "Tannhauser." The big musical treat of the entire program was the violin solo "Ave Maria" (Schubert-Wilhelmy) by Prof. John W. Dickinson. The "Recessional" played by the university orchestra and the academic procession filed out of the auditorium with the audience standing, closed the exercises.

"America" was sung by the audience and the Rev. J. Orrin Gould, student pastor, pronounced a dignified and inspiring benediction.

Preservation of national parks was urged by Dr. Ward, whose topic was "The struggle of Man with the Wild Life in North America." In part his address followed:

"The irrepressible conflict of a growing civilization with a rich fauna has taken place here within such recent years that it may be followed step by step. It shows many changes that were unavoidable and includes also much wanton destruction of valuable natural resources.

Game Is Almost Gone

"The magnitude of the interests involved is demonstrated by the present day value. The game is almost gone. The fisheries already greatly depleted in many regions, are threatened with early destruction in the absence of better control. Legal measures to limit the destruction of wild animals deserve more careful consideration and more strenuous enforcement. Such measures should be based upon adequate knowledge of the life history and breeding conditions favorable to the species. Maintenance of government hatcheries constitutes a partially effective correction for the heavy tax laid upon native fishes by commercial fisheries.

"The destruction affects not only large and conspicuous forms but in equal or greater measure the minute organisms which form the fundamental food supply of larger forms. In connection with the extensive and in part unavoidable destruction of breeding and feeding grounds to provide for the improvement of the land and the maintenance of a larger population is added as a little appreciated but exceedingly pernicious influence for aquatic organisms of all sorts the extensive pollution of streams and lakes by city sewage and manufacturing wastes. Once that the public is educated to a comprehension of these unnecessary losses, it will insist upon the proper care of such wastes at the source.

Debt to the Future

"Our national parks serve the purpose of preserving in native purity unique examples of the American wilderness. As national museums, they will exhibit to posterity native wild animals under primitive conditions. Their preservation from the encroachments of commercialism is a debt we owe to future generations, and deserves the unqualified of all true Americans."

Nine Receive Commissions

AWARD BALL LETTERS TO TWELVE PLAYERS

Marineau Selected To Captain Vandal Baseball Team of 1923

Fred "Lefty" Marineau, Idaho veteran twirler, was the unanimous choice of this year's baseball lettermen to captain the 1923 baseball team. Marineau has just completed his second year of varsity baseball, and during the present season won an enviable reputation by defeating some of the best teams in the northwest.

Twelve players on this year's ball team were awarded letters on the recommendations of Coach MacMillan. The team, made up for the most part of new, untried material, took third place in the conference championship race, first honors going to the University of Washington Huskies.

Award Twelve Letters

Those to receive letters were: "Bung" Snow, Fred Marineau, and "Les" Eddy, pitchers; Rich Fox, catcher; Captain Percy O'Brien, first; Guy Wicks, second; Skippy Stivers, short stop; Frank Kinnison, third; Arnold Cobley, Gene Ostrander, Al Fox and Harry Edwards, outfield. "Les" Eddy, pitched the Vandals to two victories, but one of them was not with a conference team. In view of his consistent work last season, in spite of his crippled arm, the squad voted him a letter.

J. O GOULD QUILTS STUDENT PASTORATE

Christian Federation Has No Plans For The Future

Rev. J. Orrin Gould has handed in his resignation as student pastor to the cooperative church foundation board and expects to discontinue his duties September 1. There are no plans as yet for the continuation of the work started a year and a half ago.

Reverend Gould's duties were to promote social, religious and personal work among university students; formulate and carry out plans for their moral and religious welfare; and encourage general christian spirit on the campus.

Besides his duties as student pastor he was appointed chaplain of the R. O. T. C. by President Upham. He also served on the faculty committee of public events and student calendar.

A notice has been sent to Reverend Gould to appear at Lewiston to take an examination for chaplain with rank of captain in the officers reserve corps.

Other than this, Reverend Gould stated that he had no further plans for the future.

SENIOR CLASS SCORES IN FASCINATING PLAY

Present Shaw's "You Never Can Tell" Before Large Crowd

The senior class of the university in presenting Bernard Shaw's "You Never Can Tell," scored a distinctive success Friday evening, when the annual senior play was given in the auditorium for university students and townspeople. The play was given under the direction of Dean Permeal French and Professor J. H. Cushman and was pronounced by all who saw it as being a highly finished production.

The play is an exceptionally hard one because of Shaw's masterful ability to hide his psychology of life in the actions and words of his characters. The play chosen by the senior was perhaps the most interesting and gripping of the many written by the famous English author and has more than his ordinary amount of irony.

Paul Ellis, as Valentine, the dentist, was the hero. Hilda Thomas and Harold Murray played the parts of the Clandon twins, the outspoken children of Mrs. Clandon, played by Gladys Beach.

Michael Thometz, appearing in the role of William, the professional butler and waiter, was easily the most pleasing character of the play. William had his own views of life and managed to present them very tactfully and to his own gain, despite the great prevalence of "sirs" and other tokens of respect paid by the fashionable English servants.

Boyd Brigham played the part of Crampton, who left his family and changed his name from Clandon to Crampton. Around the reunion of the family and the love affair which springs up out of the first meeting between the sentimental dentist and the beautiful Gloria Clandon, played by Evadna Roberts, the play is built. Gustaf Hammar played the role of Bohun the legal counsel, and Walter Toews the part of McComas, an old friend of the Clandon family, who is more or less mixed in the family tangle. Miss Irene Johnston appeared as the maid.

MUCKERS HOLD SECOND ANNUAL "GRUB STAKE"

Stage Merry Banquet—Elect McGovern President

At the second annual "Grubstake" held by the associated miners of the University of Idaho Saturday evening, John T. McGovern, junior in the school of mines, from Newport, Washington, was elected president of the association for the coming year. Other officers elected at the same time were Sigurd Sampson of Kellogg, vice president; and Elwin A. Eastman of Lewiston secretary-treasurer.

Plans were made at this time for the activities of the muckers' association next year, which included the muckers' dance, the annual "Muckers' Smudge," and the third annual "Grubstake."

Talks were made by several seniors in the mining department and by faculty members present. Prof. Kirkham presided as toastmaster.

AGRICULTURAL MEN VISIT UNIVERSITY

Federal Leaders In Smith-Hughes Work Inspect College

Two members of the federal agricultural education committee were visitors at the university over the week end, inspecting the university and investigating the work carried on by the university in the training of students as Smith-Hughes teachers of agriculture.

The two members here were C. H. Land, and A. P. Williams. The former is chief specialist of the federal board for vocational training, in charge of agriculture education in the United States.

He expressed himself as being well pleased with the work being done in college, and in an address to agricultural students, emphasized the importance of making the Smith-Hughes education work successful through the Smith-Hughes teachers.
