TWO NEW DOMESTIC VICTORIES TO BE ERECTED UNDER NEW PLAN

Hall for Women to be Under Construction by October First, Says President Upham, and Will be Completed in About Three Months. Will be Located Across the Street from Ridenbaugh Hall, Facing Campus. Another to be Started Later.

$200,000 BONDS ISSUED

Relieves University From Cost of Building Homes for New Students

A permanent solution of the housing problem which has confronted the University of Idaho has been found with the organization of the University of Idaho Building Association by Moscow business men, whereby bonds are issued for dormitory purposes maturing serially and to be paid out of the receipts from the dormitories.

The bond issue will be marketed in two issues, of $100,000 each, the first of which is now being handled by Ferris & Hardgrove, well known Spokane bond dealers. The first of the two buildings proposed will be a dormitory to take care of 120 women, and the bids will be called for within two weeks, said President Upham. Actual construction of the building will begin October the first.

The hall will be located on the orchard tract across from and facing Ridenbaugh hall, on what is known as the Shannon property, acquired by the building association.

Later in the year, another building will be commenced to be used as a

S. A. E. BUILDING NEW FRATERNITY HOME

Start Construction Late In August on House to Cost $11,000

The Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity just recently decided to make extensive additions to their home on Deakin avenue, and took immediate steps to rush the work along, with the result that they are right now in the midst of the construction work, which will not be completed for another sixty days.

The house when finished, however, will afford ample accommodations for around forty men, and will be one of the most spacious and roomy houses situated on the campus. The front part of the old home is being used in the building of their new

Many Campus Improvements and New Homes to Greet Students

After a long week's work of cleaning, painting, and hanging of window curtains, the Idaho campus is again ready to receive the influx of old and new students who will continue to swarm in until the middle of the week. Sorority and fraternity members have been coming in on every train, and have been hollering "Hello Bill" to their fellow early birds for some time.

The older student will notice many new improvements and changes as he steps from the train and wends his way up toward "the old hill." He will probably notice first of all that Lindley Hall is now fully completed and ready for occupancy after having had added to it this summer the third floor which will afford quarters for fifty additional men.

UPHAM STRESSES ECONOMY FIRST FACULTY MEET

Must Bend All Energies to Meet Acute Financial Situation

CO-OPERATIVE PLANS

Asks Faculty to Work on System for Co-operation With Smaller Colleges

Economy, efficiency, and the bending of all possible energies toward meeting the acute financial situation confronting the University were the main issues stressed in the opening address of President Upham to the faculty at their first meeting of the academic year Saturday morning in the Auditorium. Among other things which the President wished accomplished by the faculty this year was the working out of plans by each department for cooperative courses between private colleges in the state, the Idaho Technical Institute, and the University.

President Upham discussed at length the many serious problems confronting the University administration as a result of the steady increase in the enrollment and the necessary financial retrenchment at this time.

The president impressed upon the faculty the need for the greatest efficiency possible for the coming year, and conveyed to them much the same idea that he wishes to get across to the students coming to the

WE'VE GOT TO WORK HARD THIS YEAR, SAYS PRESIDENT

As this year begins, Idaho faces many difficulties which will have to be overcome as time goes on. With prospects for the biggest year in our history, our greatest problem is that of housing and classroom accommodations. We have made many improvements to take care of the increased number of students, and we only wish we could have done more.

For a few weeks we will have to put up with a few inconveniences and a certain amount of congestion that may seem irksome, but just keep smiling and look as tho you liked it. We have been busy planning and arranging the teaching schedule to take care of everyone, and however it may look now, we see much better things just ahead, and ask you to help us do the best we can for the present.

Idaho has big work ahead of her this coming year, and it will take the combined efforts of everyone to accomplish all the things we set out to do.

We have an excellent teaching staff, and will do everything humanly possible to make this the best year, in every way, that Idaho has ever had.

A. H. Upham

ECONOMIC BULLETIN FOR BUSINESS MEN

The department of Economics of the university this month issued the first of what is to be its monthly bulletin emphasizing the economic matters of general import which immediately interest and affect the citizens of Idaho, which will be sent to all persons desiring to receive them.

It will include such data as the volume of bank clearings in Boise, the trend of retail prices in Pocatello, price movements in lead and silver, the extent of and volume of our oriental export trade and movement of western goods through the Panama canal.

MECHEM IS NAMED EVANS' SUCCESSOR

The position left vacant last spring by the resignation of Professor A. E. Evans as assistant professor of law at the university to accept a position with George Washington university, has been recently filled by the appointment of Phillip R. Mechem, son of Professor Mechem of the University of Chicago law school.

Professor Mechem is considered to be one of the best teachers of law now available in the country, and is ably fitted to fill the vacancy in that college caused by the resignation of Professor Evans, one of the most popular professors in the university.

FOOTBALL PROSPECTS LOOMING BRIGHT AS PRACTICE STARTS

KEEP OFF!

Coach Matthews wishes football enthusiasts to remember that the football gridiron is his class room, and that no one but coaches and players will be allowed there. The bleachers can be used at all practices, and Coach Matthews would like to see regular crowds there every night.

But keep off the field!

MATTHEWS REAL FIND, GENERAL CAMPUS OPINION

New Athletic Head Has Big Record to Back Up Idaho's Hopes

FORTY APPLICANTS

Comes From Washington U. After Successful Year as Football Coach

Idaho athletic prospects are brightening since announcement of the selection of R. L. Matthews, former coach at the University of Washington and at Willamette university, to take the position of athletic director and head football coach, left vacant by resignation of Coach Tom Kelley. More than 40 applicants and persons eligible for the position were considered in making the choice, according to Dr. A. H. Upham, president of the university.

"Idaho could not have selected a better man to take charge of athletics there, and particularly football," says L. H. Gregory, Portland sports writer. "Matthews made a remarkable coaching record during the six years he was at Willamette. That college never had material ranking with that of the higher conference universities, yet only once in the six years was its football team decisively beaten in a game with one of the big elevens."

Turns Out Champion Team

"Also, it won the non-conference football championship every year of the six. This record was achieved with material so scanty that sometimes not more than 12 to 15 men all

SCHEDULE HARD ONE

Play Eight Games, Seven Away From Home During the Season

First football practice of the year was held Friday afternoon on MacLean field when head coach "Matty" Matthews marshalled his men out onto the field and put them through a few preliminary runs and signal practice. He first gave the men a Short talk, merely stating that every one would do his best and give his all to make the year the most successful that Idaho grid enthusiasts have ever witnessed.

But seven letter men reported for practice Friday, but a large part of last year's freshman team was on hand, and the remainder are expected within the next day or two.

Coach Matthews when seen and asked for a statement just prior to the initial workout, had but this to say: "Tell them that we will play our games as we come to them, that's all." He seems little inclined to make any boasts or to offer any excuses, but he at once gives the impression that both he and his men will give an account of themselves worthy of the unflinching support of the undergraduates.

Idaho has one of the hardest schedules in years, and one which will

UNIVERSITY CADETS TO BE REORGANIZED

Will Consist of Two Battalions of Three Companies Each During Year.

Reorganization of the cadet corps so that it may more readily lend itself to the maneuvering of the regular army will be one of the outstanding changes made in the department of military science and tactics at the University of Idaho this fall, according to Capt. Claudius L. Lloyd, instructor in the department.

The corps will be organized so as to consist of two battalions of three companies each and will be handled by a student colonel, lieutenant col-

Acute Housing Situation Presents Difficulties For First Few Weeks

The housing situation at the university this fall has reached the acute stage, and every effort will be bent the first two weeks to take care of all students in the best possible manner. Just how this can be accomplished, is still quite a question which the administration is puzzling over.

The situation for the men, however, is not nearly as bad as that for the women. With the addition to Lindley hall, two hundred men can be comfortably taken care of for a short time by the use of additional cots in each room, thereby caring for three men in each room.

Women Taken Care of

Until after the two weeks of rushing is over, all the new women will have to be taken care of by the university proper, and the only way in which this can be done, stated President Upham, will be for the good people of Moscow who have always so generously responded, to take in the young women for the time being. Ridenbaugh hall has been somewhat remodelled so that it will normally take care of eighty girls comfortably, and the dining room and kitchen enlarged and rearranged to give more efficiency. Jenkins hall will hold about thirty girls, as will the Bartlett cottage and the cottage which was formerly occupied by the Phi Delta Theta group.

New Serving System

A new system of serving in both Lindley hall and Ridenbaugh hall will be inaugurated this year, which should greatly aid in serving larger numbers than heretofore. Mrs. O'Neil, who has had considerable experience in handling dining rooms, has been secured to take charge of the Lindley hall dining room. Mrs. Richardson will continue to have charge of the

TO THE NEW STUDENTS

In this, the first issue of the Argonaut for the new year, the old students bid you welcome to the university campus. It is their most sincere wish that your stay upon the "hill" be enjoyable, profitable and useful. The faculty joins with the students of previous years in their good wishes and will bend every effort to lead you to a plane of higher educational development.

THEY'LL NEED IT

Being somewhat in an allied industry, the Argonaut editor can appreciate the desire of the 1924 Gem of the Mountains staff to learn at the earliest possible date just where they stand financially. Don't hesitate in ordering your year book this week if you want it. They need to know where they stand.

It's not too early now to go down to MacLean field and watch your team work out. They're doing it for you, and they aren't bashful about working before an audience. Make it a practice of being on hand two or three times a week, you'll get good returns on your time spent.

Work—work from the day of the first class and your college life will take care of itself. Do not think that any particular member of the faculty is trying to ride you—because the people making up the faculty are not of that disposition. Their purpose here is to aid the students and occasionally in their efforts to do this they may appear to demand an amount of study far in excess of a reasonable amount—then is your time to work.

PROMINENT GRADS WED LAST MONTH

Georgia Oylear and Paul T. Rowell, two very prominent University of Idaho spring graduates, were married August 28 at the home of the bride's parents at Middletown, Idaho. The groom graduated from the College of Agriculture and was president of the Associated Students last year, and prominent in other college activities, while the bride obtained her degree in the College of Letters and Science and was active in the Women's League, the Mortar Board, and the Y. W. C. A.

The couple left almost immediately for the Bermuda Islands, where Mr. Rowell will have charge of a head lettuce project.

REV. J. O. GOULD TAKES DES MOINES POSITION

The Rev. J. Orrin Gould, for the last two years student pastor at the university, has been selected for the pastorate of the University church at Des Moines university, the foremost Baptist institution in the United States.

TO NOMINATE FOUR RHODES SCHOLARS

Preliminary Selection to Be Made in October and Final Selection December 2

The University of Idaho will be eligible this fall to nominate at least four candidates for Rhodes scholarships, according to an announcement from the office of President A. H. Upham this fall. All degree-granting colleges and universities are allowed to nominate candidates in proportion to actual enrollment.

Preliminary selections will be made between October 7 and 14, in order that applications may be filed with McKean F. Morrow, secretary of the state committee of selections, by October 21. Final selection will be made December 2. Other members of the committee are George H. Curtis, Rupert, and President Upham.

President Upham will appoint a faculty committee to canvass the university prospects so that selection may be made at the October faculty meeting.

Wage Editorial Scrimmage Through Statesman Columns

A verbal battle between two popular University of Idaho columnists was waged during the summer months through the "Little editorials" column of the Idaho Daily Statesman, published in Boise, over the personality and advantages of bobbed hair for the modern girl.

The first article written in defense of the advocates of the bushy bobs, appeared over the name of Ruth Kutnewsky, and appealed to the common sense of the public to stop the criticism of the girls, who, for comfort's sake sheared off their silken tresses. Her statements were almost immediately refuted by Pearl Stalker in the second contribution, which seemed to make the situation decidedly interesting, to say the least.

Spring Honor Graduate Takes Life at Home in Paul, Idaho

Hugh Francisco, an Idaho graduate with highest honors of his class last June, and well known on the campus, committed suicide by taking carbolic acid last week at his home in Paul, Idaho, after becoming despondent over ill health. He was found in his room by his sister Monday morning, September 7, in great pain, and died a short time later.

Mr. Francisco had just resigned the position of superintendent of the Shoshone schools, and intended leaving with his family for Pasadena, California, to spend the winter. His many friends at the university were greatly shocked to hear of his sudden act.

and did active personal work among the students of all denominations. His resignation became effective shortly after the close of the regular term but he has remained in Moscow for the summer. He will leave for Des Moines at once. No successor has been appointed to fill the vacancy.

BUBBLES

Dear friends—Once more I grasp the elusive CORONA in my lap and begin to fill my allotted space with unimportant mental catastrophes. Had a friend on the police force so the summer went extremely well.

To past inhabitants of the campus I need say only this, BUBBLES are usually full of air, hot or otherwise, but they are easily seen thru.

To new arrivals I would like to suggest that children are seen and not heard.

George Morey will tell you the rest. There are some announcements that should be made at this time.

1. Season tickets for the Arboretum are now on sale by the members of the sophomore class.

2. Those wishing to enroll in campus should do so at once. A large class is expected and it may be necessary to hold some night classes.

3. The night watchman will make his usual rounds at the regular time.

I ask you what you would do
With a girl
That said
You could kiss her
If you caught her
When she wasn't looking
And then sat there
All evening
With her eyes closed.

Irate Frosh—Say, how long've I got to wait for a shave?
Barber Jane—Bout three years, sonny.

Did you know that there is just one thing worse than not being able to take the sweetest girl in the world to the prom and that is to know that she is going with your best pal.

"I sure do miss that cuspidor,"
Said hubby dear one day.
But wifey said, "You did before,
That's why it's gone away."

Frosh—"Is this cup sanitary?"
Soph—"Must be. Everybody uses it."

This Happened in Twin Falls.
Dick—"How long is it going to take you to drive to Moscow?"
Osty—"Bout twenty-four hours."
Dick—"Must figure on breaking down several times."

"What is meant by the word 'Necking?'"
"Necking is the art of collaring a woman."

Nervous Frosh (in English, stroking his chin): "This is the forest primeval."

MUSIC DEPARTMENT GETS NEW BUILDING

House on University Avenue Acquired to Take Care of Expansion

The music department, cramped for room during the last two years, has found an outlet for expansion with the taking over of the house vacated this spring by the Alpha Delta Sorority on University avenue, which will be used as a practice and studio building.

Two new additions to the teaching faculty of the department of music were also made this summer. Bernadine Adair, an Idaho graduate in the class of '19, comes back to the institution as instructor in voice and public school music. Since leaving here she has been in attendance at the New England conservatory in Boston, and recently taught in Columbia college, Oregon.

New Piano Instructor
Miss Ruth Flaker Armstrong has been employed as an additional in-

STUDENTS PLAN TO TEACH YEAR BEFORE COMING TO COLLEGE

Some of last year's students are planning to teach for a year or so before completing their university education. A large number received state certificates at commencement, on the strength of work done in the university.

470 FARMS ARE STUDIED BY UNIVERSITY PEOPLE

Records of the year's business of 212 farms in the Twin Falls section were taken this summer by representatives of the University of Idaho and of the United States department of agriculture, in their third season of cooperative study of farm expenditures and farm management in this section.

Records of approximately 260 farms were taken similarly in the Palouse district by the university, Washington State college and the United States department of agriculture.

Byron Hunter, farm management investigator at the university, was in charge in the Twin Falls district, together with S. B. Nuckols of the office of sugar plant investigation of the federal department. With them were Walter E. Schmid of last spring's graduating class of the university, L. N. Wilson, a junior of next year, A. K. Larson, a vocational student and H. B. Pingree, who accompanied Mr. Nuckols from Colorado.

In the Palouse investigation were Prof. George Severance, E. R. Johnson, G. O. Baker and Arthur Johnson of W. S. C., N. R. Cooper, representing the federal government, Mr. Hunter and Miss Edna Bigelow of the university farm management office, and Kenneth Hunter, Eugene Branhall, Eugene Ralph and Miss Naomi Chapman of the University of Idaho student body.

A WELCOME To All Students OLD and NEW!

We are all going to be mighty busy this week; you in registering and arranging your courses for the semester, we in supplying your needs for the year. But let's take time to get acquainted, anyhow. We want to meet the new students and renew our acquaintance with the old.

And here's a friendly tip. When you can, buy your text books in the morning instead of in the afternoon. By doing this you will avoid the crowd. It will also help us improve our service during the very busy first week of school.

WILL SELL ANNUALS REGISTRATION DAYS

Advance Sale 1924 Gem to Be Held Early to Facilitate Financing

The staff of the 1924 Gem of the Mountains will attempt to get an early start this year by conducting their advance sale of the annual Monday and Tuesday, registration days, according to word from Walser, Great-house, in charge of the advance sale. "This year's staff plans additional features, and it is imperative that the financial situation be cleared up immediately, so that we will have a definite estimate of our resources before going to work," said Charley Pruess, this year's editor.

An advance payment of $2.00 will be taken at this time, and everyone should be ready to make a final decision of his intentions to either buy or not to buy, an annual.

Last year's staff was handicapped and financially embarrassed by accepting verbal promises to buy, which promises were in many cases not made good.

The editors have been working this summer in assimilating ideas, and will shortly announce their completed staff and commence actual work on the book.

Many yards of much needed new cement sidewalk will greet the eye of the new arrivals as they saunter down some of the streets adjacent to the campus. An untold saving in shoe shines and shoe toes will undoubtedly be realized during the year by these worthy improvements.

In all, the old hill looks pretty good after you've been gone for three months, and you come back just aching to dig in and get some grades which will make the folks at home draw a deep breath and vow that Johnny and Harr are surely improving.

increase in enrollment. Of the fifteen who resigned last spring to take other positions, only two held full professorships. They were A. E. Evans of the school of law, and Thomas Kelley, professor of physical education.

The university will offer this year one of the strongest freshman courses possible from the standpoint of instruction. In virtually every study taken up by first year students, heads of departments, doctors of philosophy, and men and women with experience and reputation will have direct supervision of class work.

Speaking of the changes in the personnel of the faculty, Dr. A. H. Upham, president of the university says: "The university faculty is stronger this fall than ever before and is ample to take care of the large increase in enrollment that has taken place."

"Altho slightly handicapped in making selections because of her inability to offer as attractive salaries as other institutions, the appointees secured by Idaho are capable men and women in their respective lines. Many of them decided to come to Idaho because of attractions other than salary, life in the west having the largest appeal."

Miss McDaniel to W. S. C.

Miss Camille McDaniel, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. A. McDaniel of this city, has accepted a position as instructor in English at Washington State College for the coming year. Miss McDaniel was an instructor in the English department at the University of Idaho last year.

TRIBUTE PAID ALUMNI WHO HAVE PASSED ON

Plea for More Complete Record in Directory Made by Oppenheim

Tribute to the accomplishments of Idaho alumni who have gone, and whose deaths are only briefly mentioned in the alumni directory, is paid by Benjamin W. Oppenheim, '04, Boise attorney, in a letter to the editor of the directory.

"I have been going over your 'tadpole' of a directory again and again, with a sort of fascination," writes Mr. Oppenheim, "and yet with a feeling that you have expressed in using the term 'tadpole'—that is, with a sense of its incompleteness.

"In studying over the names of those who have died, I feel particularly disappointed. The brief information given leaves one with a feeling that we were educated to die—a feeling which will increase as the list of those who pass beyond the scenes of this life increases. For example, running through the list chronologically, let me cite a few instances:

Was University Librarian
"Stella Maud Allen, '96, it appears, after her marriage, died at Colfax, Washington. I suppose that indicates the whole gamut of a woman's sphere, except motherhood. But in a directory of the University of Idaho, would it be out of place to show that this woman served the university as its librarian for a number of years? I would have somewhere a hint that she paid for her free education by a life of usefulness.

"Charles Baird Simpson, '98, is one of our distinguished dead—distinguished, that is to say, in his chosen work. He became an entomologist of note, and notwithstanding his early death, his activities and researches, particularly in the eradication of the codling moth, saved more in dollars and cents to the fruit raisers of Idaho than the entire cost to the state and national government of the Idaho experiment station prior to his graduation, to say nothing of his services along similar lines in South Africa. Here is a man who paid for his education, without which he might never have had an opportunity to develop his genius. Can not some hint of his useful life and service, so directly attributed to his scientific training, be embodied in the directory?

Heroes of Spanish War
"Edward Smith, '98, is given the brief note 'died,' with the date of his death and Ole Gabriel Hagberg, 'died in the Philippines about 1900.' I did not know Hagberg personally, but he

SENIORS WILL GIVE HISTORICAL PAGEANT

Will Constitute Part of Commencement Week Program Next Spring

The forthcoming historical pageant to be presented by the Class of 1923 should enlist the interest of every University of Idaho student at this time. On last August 8, one scene from this pageant, entitled, "The Coming of the Permanent White Settler," was staged by summer school students and witnessed by an appreciative audience of about 1000 persons. The Class of 1923 is to be congratulated on having in Dr. George Morey Miller an experienced pageant director who has successfully staged some of the larger middle west historical pageants. The class is fortunate, too, in having Professor C. J. Brosnan and his classes in Pacific Northwest and Western history to gather the romantic material, from which the stirring episodes and scenes of the pageant play are to be woven. President Upham's sympathetic interest in the pageant, coupled with the technical knowledge of the subject, is much appreciated and augurs well for this new feature of the 1923 commencement week.

"As one of the students of Idaho and Pacific Northwest history, who witnessed the accomplishments of last year in the gathering of rare books and documents on local history and the fine start made in collecting pageantry material, let me urge," said Don Fisher, who is doing considerable work on that line, "that the university's first historical pageant receive definite student body support from the opening day to the close of the academic year, now so auspiciously opening."

Students From Every County

Total enrollment in the same period increased from 548 to 1435. The additional figures represent the enrollment in short courses and the summer school. Here are the figures:

Year	College Courses	Short Courses	Summer School (excluding duplicates)	Total
1911-12	429	119	—	548
1912-13	470	98	195	763
1913-14	479	88	180	747
1914-15	495	79	245	819
1915-16	520	91	245	856
1916-17	631	85	291	1007
1917-18	524	68	—	592
1918-19	818	507 (S.A.T.C.)	—	1325
1919-20	850	73	91	1014
1920-21	1027	135	85	1247
1921-22	1237	89	109	1435

Last year's enrollment of 1435 was divided among the several schools and colleges of the university as follows: College of letters and science, 615; college of agriculture, 199; college of engineering, 123; college of law, 52; school of mines, 44; school of forestry, 63; school of education, 64; music students not registered for other courses, 25; short courses, 59, non-resident, 70; summer school, 1921 except duplicates, 109.

The map below shows distribution of students by counties for 1921-22. Every county in the state is represented. Nearly 500 students are from southern counties. Of these registered from Latah county many have removed from other parts of the state to complete their education.

MINE SCHOLARSHIP WINNER IS NAMED

Jerome Day Award is Made
By Committee to Wardner-Kellogg Graduate

The Jerome J. Day scholarship in the school of mines, for the four years beginning Sept. 15, 1922, has been awarded to Otto Huefner, graduate of the Wardner-Kellogg high school. Announcement to this effect was made today by the Day scholarship committee, consisting of Commissioner E. A. Bryan, President A. H. Upham and Dean Francis A. Thomson of the school of mines.

Such a scholarship is given annually, to run for four years, with an income of $250 a year. Other present holders are George T. Walker of the class of 1925 and Robert M. Cummins of the class of 1923, both of Wallace.

The scholarship was established by Jerome J. Day to stimulate interest in the study of mining and to assist worthy young men in obtaining their education. Candidates are chosen from among the high school students of Shoshone county. General scholastic ability, fondness for athletics and qualities of leadership and co-operative ability are considered in the award.

The winner for the present year was valedictorian of his class in the Wardner-Kellogg high school last June and was prominent in all branches of athletics. The committee found also that he had distinguished himself by qualities of leadership among his class mates.

TWO NEW HOUSES TO BE ERECTED

dormitory for men, to cost an equal amount, and which will provide for 120 men. Both new buildings will be complete with dining room and kitchen facilities.

Regents to Rent and Buy

The plan is that these buildings will be erected by the association on sites purchased by them and will remain their property until paid for by the university. The regents of the university, however, will approve plans and specifications and will contract to lease and operate the buildings as halls of residence, paying in each case a fixed annual rental which will enable the association to meet its interest obligations to bondholders and to retire the bonds in series by the end of 15 years, at which time the halls will become university property.

Shows Moscow's Loyalty

The building association, which is an organization not for profit, is another evidence of the loyalty of Moscow citizens to the university and the sacrifices they are willing to make in order that the young people coming in rapidly increasing numbers from all over the state may have comfortable homes while here at the university. Through this association they have found a way to finance the housing needs of the university by utilizing on favorable terms funds which are seeking investment anywhere in the northwest. It is expected that the dormitory bonds will be much in demand.

Big Problem Solved

"One of our biggest problems is solved," said President A. H. Upham, "by this assurance of two commodious dormitories in the very near future. I cannot say enough to express our gratitude to these friends of the university who have realized how cramped we are for room and have found such an admirable way to help us out."

"When we are able to show the taxpayers of Idaho that their sons and daughters are to be housed here out of private funds and without expense to the state, they will be much more willing to help us with our other problem—an adequate new Science hall to provide space for our laboratory needs."

"It is of course unfortunate that the new hall for girls cannot be ready for some months after college opens, but I am quite sure that the best homes in Moscow will be opened to our girls for the short time until the hall is available."

keep her jumping from Missoula, Montana, to Los Angeles, California. But one conference game will be played on the local field, that with W. S. C. Seven games will be played on the road. This lineup of games was necessary, however, due to the local situation, and due to the fact that Idaho will play her first year in

IDAHO MAN WINS FIRST PLACE IN ESSAY CONTEST

Tablot L. Jennings, formerly of Nampa and a resident during the past year of Boise, and for two years a student in the University of Idaho, was awarded the first prize in the Pictorial Review's essay contest on the American public school system a short time ago.

Mr. Jennings entered the university in 1914 and completed two years of the bachelor of arts course before entering military service. Since his return from overseas he has been employed in the State House at Boise, and will register again this semester to complete work towards a degree.

the Pacific coast conference.

Material Plenty

There is no dearth of backfield and line material this year and several players among the list of available candidates are rather outstanding. Bob Fitzke, who was ineligible to play varsity ball last year, will come to the front with a dropkick almost certain within the 45-yard line. Morris Kline played a whale of a game at center and captained the frosh team last season. He will undoubtedly crowd Goff for his place at center, and the competition there should give Idaho two crack centers.

Babe Brown will captain the team during his third and last year on the gridiron. Brown plays both end and fullback, but his ability as a punter places him more in harmony with the backfield work. The line veterans, other than Goff, are Sherm Breshears, Pete Barto, Dale Vohs, Jim Neal and Jeff Stone.

Frosh Coming Up

The frosh material, coached by David MacMillan, will be a big factor in rebuilding the Vandal crew. Syb Kleffner, Charley Hausen, Noah Hays, Walt Remer, and Otz Neuman are all strong contenders for their positions. Neuman, however, is considered to be rather lanky for the position of quarter, which he held down on last year's yearling squad, and will have to stage a hard fight to play in varsity company.

Idaho's first game will be with the Whitman Missionaries October 7, at Walla Walla, and from then on, they will be ramping back and forth over the Pacific Coast on one of the hardest schedules conceivable.

Big Game Here

The big game for the home folks, will quite naturally be the W. S. C. Idaho game to be played on MacLean field October 20. Last year the game which was played at Pullman, was witnessed by a crowd of better than six thousand persons, and is the biggest athletic drawing card in this part of the country.

Probably the biggest game Idaho will play as regards conference importance, will be the contest with the University of Southern California at Los Angeles, November 18. This will be a battle between the two newest members of the Pacific Coast conference, and will be watched with great interest throughout the country.

Armistice Day at Boise

The Utah-Idaho Armistice Day game at Boise, will undoubtedly draw an immense crowd, and will be the third Boise football classic to be staged by the university.

Albert Knudson, newly appointed graduate manager and assistant coach, will aid Coach Matthews in getting the Varsity squad going while Ray E. Neidig and David MacMillan will probably either aid in training the varsity or in taking charge of Frosh squads, the exact details of which have not as yet been perfected.

Here is the schedule:

October 7—Whitman college at Walla Walla.

October 14—University of Washington at Seattle.

October 21—University of Oregon at Portland.

October 28—Washington State college at Idaho.

November 11—University of Utah at Boise.

November 18—University of Southern California at Los Angeles.

November 25—Gonzaga college at Spokane.

November 30—University of Montana at Missoula.

OLD TIMERS RETURN TO FINISH COURSES

Early Idaho Students Back
On Campus After Many Years' Absence

Old-timers who started their courses at Idaho and were forced to discontinue them are coming back next year.

Leading the bunch will be Talbot L. Jennings of the class of 1919, who left the university to enter the World War and who since has been employed in an important position in the office of public works, statehouse, Boise.

"You guessed partly right," he writes. "I do intend entering the university next year, as I'm still in the notion of getting my degree. Am bringing one new student, even if I had to marry her to do it. Also hope to reclaim another lost sheep who changed schools last year. Prospects look good for the university down here."

William Briscoe and Elizabeth Sandellus, who have been teaching at Cascade, are expected back at the university next year.

Among other teachers who will return are Mary Penwell, who has been teaching at Viola, and Thomas N. Sickels, who has been teaching at Lapwai.

Miss Kathleen Steward, a former student, majoring in physics will re-enter in the fall as a senior.

used for adding to the collection such recent books as may be needed to make it complete.

The collection will constitute the nucleus of a separate library for the school of mines and will be known as the "Joseph J. Taylor library." The library consists of survey publications, geology, mining, maps and reports. The collection represents a saving of more than 30 years. Some of the government reports date back to 1866.

The value of the books to the university, it is announced, cannot be computed in dollars and cents. Most of the books are out of print and cannot be obtained under any circumstances.

University this year.

Demand High Standard

"With the enrollment so large it will be necessary to demand the highest standard of scholarship. Undesirable students and loafers must be culled out to make way for those who realize the seriousness of university work," said the President. "The institution, however, is still small enough so that a high degree of co-operation can be maintained between the different branches."

"The income has fallen below the estimate," said the university executive, "due largely to our inability to realize estimated returns on products from the farms and to non-payment of the income from the land endowment. Some funds which might have gone for maintenance have been used for permanent improvements in order to take care of students already at the University."

Housing Situation Better

President Upham commented upon the apparent permanent solution of the housing problem but pointed out the added difficulty of caring for students while the dormitories are being built.

"The new women's dormitory will not be completed before the middle of the year and accommodations must be provided until that time."

"Crowded classroom conditions will greatly handicap the work for the where we could buy good Polo Mallets, Riding Boots, etc., but having no horses, saddles, bridles and the like, are of no interest.

HOWEVER

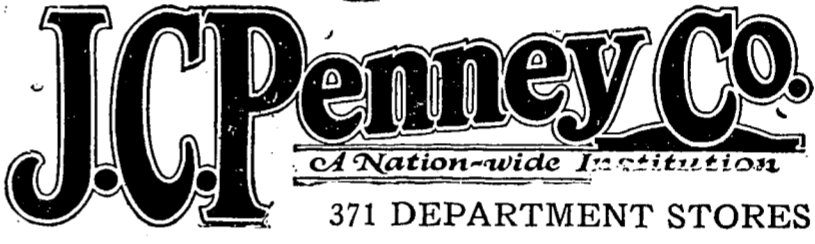

Do you know that for college men and women we have one of the finest assortments of appropriate clothing and apparel and things to wear to college?

And, it's a fact—we don't have these in just the ordinary kind. With the many thousands of college men and women we supply—you know we have 371 stores in as many communities—calling upon us, we naturally bend every effort to give them the things they need in the more interesting styles and in the better grades.

And, too, because of the great quantities we buy, we secure big price discounts and these savings are turned directly over to collegians when they buy from us. You see—you get more and pay less.

WE WELCOME YOU

first few weeks, and presents an almost insurmountable difficulty. The acquisition of additional rooms in the gymnasium, the university hut, and nearby cottages will provide a means of temporary relief.

Class Room, Problem

"Faculty committees have been working on class room problems for some time but with the increased enrollment it will be necessary to conserve all possible class room space. It is a severe burden upon the instructors but we must live until the legislature will appropriate sufficient money to erect a science hall. "It has been found necessary to utilize rooms in the university hut and the gymnasium for first-year classes, and a private house has been rented for part of the music department."

A brighter tone was given to the situation when the president explained that the increase in enrollment would not necessarily call for a proportionate faculty increase. The present teaching staff, said the president, would probably be burdened with freshman classes but that the upper classes would be raised to a higher efficiency, making the faculty a better economic unit.

Plan Co-operative System

Each college division except the college of letters and science was asked to work out plans for co-operative courses between the private colleges of the state, the Idaho Technical Institute and the University. This plan would eliminate all embarrassment for a student who desires to take his first two or three years at a smaller institution but to complete his work at Moscow. Such a scheme already functions between the university and the Technical Institute, but the president's plans call for a material strengthening of this co-operation.

ALUMNI BOOK GROWING FROM TADPOLE STAGE

Directory to Have all Names From Faculty to Prep Students

"Yes, it's just the tadpole of a directory," says Edward F. Mason, director of publication, who had charge of compiling the alumni directory, "but alumni and former students have fed in hundreds of new and corrected addresses, which should go a long way toward growing the tadpole into a healthy frog."

"Eventually this book ought to contain the name of every person who ever has been connected in any way with the institution—graduates, former students, preparatory students, faculty members, regents, students of the school of practical agriculture, recipients of honorary degrees, students in the S. A. T. C.—there's scarce an end to it."

Is a Tremendous Job

"It's a tremendous job. Possibly I wouldn't think of such a thing if I had not seen copies of some of the directories of middle western institutions. One of them had tackled just such a program. There were 35,000 names in the book."

"It's plain to be seen, of course, that such an achievement cannot be accomplished without the cooperation of every Idahoan. Indications are that such cooperation will be forthcoming. Alumni have been more than interested in sending in material to complete and correct the book that already has been printed.

Going Through Old Records

"An investigator in the registrar's office is now going through old records to complete the lists of former students, including all of preparatory days. This will mean the addition of hundreds of names to the lists. It will multiply again 'George's List' of names of people whom we are hunting. Cooperation of every Idahoan will be necessary to trace them all."

"Attention is invited especially to the fine tribute paid by E. W. Oppenheim to the accomplishments of Idaho alumni who have died, as presented in another column of The Argonaut. Such information is invaluable for the alumni records. It can be obtained in no way, except as persons who have the information give it to us. Suggestions from all sources are courted."

39 BOYS WILL RECEIVE AID TOWARD EDUCATION

Boys' club members in the 39 counties of Idaho traversed by Union Pacific lines have opportunity this summer to work for agricultural scholarships at the university, given by the Union Pacific railroad system.

A $75 scholarship will be given in each county to the boy who is champion in his club work. In addition he will receive free transportation to and from the university, so far as his travel is over the lines of the O. W. R. & N. or the Oregon Short Line. The winner may enter the college of agriculture or take the short course.

home, which will hardly be recognizable when completed.

Will Cost $11,000

It is understood that the cost of constructing the new home will be $11,000. The additional space afforded will add another link to the gradual task of relieving the housing shortage now existing on the University of Idaho campus.

MISS BORELL GOES NORTH

Spokane, Wash., June 24.—Way up in central Alaska a brand new college is being organized—the farthest north institution of higher learning in the world—and a Spokane girl, Miss Lar Vern I. Borell, is one of the faculty members.

Miss Borell is a graduate of North Central high school and of the University of Idaho, class of 1921, and has been private secretary to W. H. Winfree, president of the Spokane Title company. She resigned to accept the Alaska appointment and left last night for the Coast on her way to the far north, planning to sail next Wednesday from Seattle for Juneau and Seward, and thence to go over the new government railroad to Fairbanks. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Borell, formerly lived in Spokane, but are now residing at Rathdrum, Idaho.

Miss Borell has been named as secretary to the president and college accountant at the new Alaska Agricultural college and school of mines. The school is situated on a beautiful tract of four sections of land four miles from Fairbanks, set aside by special act of congress in 1915. The college will open in September.

The president of the new institution is Judge Charles E. Bunnell, for more than 20 years federal and district judge in Alaska.

ALMQUIST WINS SUCCESS

J. Arthur Almquist, '19, was in Moscow for two weeks this summer, visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Almquist. He was on his way to Washington, D. C., to take the position of associate chemist in the fixed nitrogen research laboratory, under the United States government.

Mr. Almquist graduated from the department of chemical engineering of the engineering college of the University of Idaho, in 1919, with highest honors, and was awarded a University of California scholarship. In May of this year he completed his three years' work at the California institution, and received his doctor's degree in chemistry.

In the government work Mr. Almquist will be associated with Dr. Jos. Brahm, also a former Moscow boy, a graduate in chemistry from the University of Idaho in 1914, and later a graduate from the Chicago University. It is expected that Dr. Brahm will shortly be head chemist in the department.

GET AUTHENTIC FACTS ON HISTORY OF PIERCE

History of Gold Discoverer Bro't to Light By C. J. Brosnan

First authentic details of the personal history of Captain E. D. Pierce, whose discovery of gold in the sands of a small stream emptying into the Clearwater river near the present city of Orofino, Idaho, causing a gold rush comparing favorably in size to the famous California rush of earlier days, have been secured by Cornelius J. Brosnan, associate professor of American history at the university. Not until Professor Brosnan came into possession of a bundle of letters written by Mrs. Henry D. Jenkins at Knox Township, Indiana, to her husband in California, was the exact route of Pierce's travels determined. Professor Brosnan plans to exhaust every possible source of information about the life of this man, about whom little is thus far known.

UNIVERSITY CADETS TO BE REORGANIZED

onel and two majors. Each company will contain 58 men, or be equal to the strength of a platoon. Each battalion will be equal to the strength of a company.

"The reorganization of the university cadet corps will be made possible by the increased enrollment expected this fall," said the captain, "and will greatly facilitate the handling of the corps for ceremonial and tactical purposes."

In speaking of the work of the cadet battalion at the university, Captain Lloyd spoke highly of the showing made by those students who went to the summer camp of the university and college R. O. T. C. units at Camp Lewis this summer.

"Although the delegation from Idaho represented but the average run of cadets, it was among the best there and has the record to back up the statement. It made not only a good showing in the rifle contests but was one of the best handled units from a tactics standpoint."

Idaho Placed Second

"Among seven competing teams, the Idaho representation won second place, in spite of the fact that most of the men had never practiced shooting on anything more than an improvised range. This gained the institution a beautiful silver loving cup. In addition each member received a national match badge.

"The rifle shooting team was composed of Walter C. Chubbuck, Blackfoot, captain; Harrison R. Armstrong, Moscow, coach; E. Fred Creque, Seattle, manager, and the following shooting members: John Rasmussen, Shelley; Lewis H. Russell, Payette; Ryan B. Budy, Culesac;

Vaughan Price, Twin Falls; Roy K. Hendrickson, Lewiston; Lief E. Field, Moscow.

"James A. (Babe) Brown from Idaho was the only man in the entire infantry camp at Camp Lewis to make the qualification of pistol expert. In addition 12 other men from Idaho qualified for marked 'proficiency' in their work. They were:

"Advanced course men: Bryan B. Bundy, Culesac; William C. Carpenter, Boise; Robert M. Cummings, Wallace; William W. Gartin, Caldwell; Abe Goff, Walla Walla, Wash.; Guy O. Penwell, Moscow; Vaughan A. Price, Twin Falls; John Rasmussen, Shelley.

"Basic course men: Marvin M. Scott, Palouse; Theodore J. Schwartz, Palo Alto, Cal.; Roy H. Hendrickson, Lewiston; Walter C. Chubbuck, Blackfoot.

"The camp was so organized at Camp Lewis that every advanced student, who must have had two years of basic military work in the universities and colleges, had an opportunity to get practical experience in the commanding of troops. At this task as with others, the Idaho cadets were well at the forefront. Abe Goff of Idaho was called on perhaps more than any other one individual to take command of the cadet corps."

About 40 members of the university corps attended the summer encampment which was conducted under the command of Col. E. R. Chrisman, head of the military department at Idaho. He has had charge of the encampments for several years.

ROOMS AND BOARD
All new girls will report directly to Dean French at Ridenbaugh Hall.
Boys expecting to live at Lindley Hall will report to Proctor Jenkins at his office in the Hall.
Boys desiring rooms (with or without board) out in town will secure full information from Mr. Turner at the "U" Hut on the campus.
To secure prompt delivery of baggage, boys should write name and Moscow address (if known) on trunk checks before giving these to transfer man.

REGISTRATION
Hours—8:30-12:00 a. m.; 1:30-5:00 p. m. Monday and Tuesday, September 18-19.
A late registration fee of $2.00 will be charged all returning students who do not complete registration before Tuesday evening.
NEW STUDENTS will report to the Committee on Admissions, Room 206, Administration Building, receive permit to Register, and make out Matriculation Card. They will then follow the same procedure as old students.
Old students who were not in residence at the University last year will report to the Registrar's Office before going to their registering room.
Students who wish to change from one curriculum to another must report to the dean of the college in which they were last registered and make out a petition to change curriculum. This holds good for those students entering the Law School as well as any other change of curriculum. The petition must be signed by the deans concerned and filed in the Registrar's Office with the student's registration cards.
Registration blanks will be obtained in the registering rooms. Read directions and follow them point by point. Bring your fountain pen.

EMPLOYMENT OUTLOOK NOT OVERLY BRIGHT

Odd Jobs if Done Well, May Lead to Permanent Work
—Ted Turner in Charge

"We have had a great number of applications already from students who desire work during the coming year and we have not been able to find work sufficient to go around. However, we expect to have many more openings during the next few weeks," said Mr. Mason, who has been looking after the employment situation during the summer months. Probably the greater part of the work will consist of odd jobs, which the students doing should see that they are done well, as they may open the way toward permanent employment later, stated Mr. Mason.

"We have asked half a dozen people who formerly gave employment to students what they would have this year, who were unwilling to give students work because the work last year had been very poorly done. This condition can be avoided if every job given out now will be done and done well, and will help the student doing the work and at the same time make it easier to obtain employment for others." Ted Turner, well known undergraduate, will have charge of the employment department during the school year, and will be located at the University Hut. Anyone desiring employment of any kind will get in touch with him there, or falling, should see Mr. Mason on the third floor of the administration building. Work will be given to those whose applications are on file first, so that those desiring work should make it a point to turn in their names at once.

MATHEWS REAL FIND, IS OPINION

told were available for the eleven. "In basketball under his coaching Willamette held its own with any of the colleges and several times was among the runners-up for the championship. His baseball teams also were good.

"Mathews' work at Willamette attracted the attention of his alma mater, the University of Washington, and last year he was signed as assistant football coach under Bagshaw and given charge of freshman athletics. His freshman football team went through the season without a defeat. He almost duplicated that showing as freshman basketball coach, his five losing only one game and that by a low score.

Varsity Baseball Coach
"Besides that, Mathews coached the varsity baseball team at Washington this spring and his nine won the northwest conference championship. His success as an athletic coach has been almost equally pronounced in football, basketball and baseball.

"Mathews attended the University of Washington in his freshman year at college and played on the football team. Then he went to Notre Dame, where for three successive years, 1908, '09 and '10, he not only made the Notre Dame varsity but was named on the All-Western eleven besides. In 1908 and '09 he was selected All-Western end. The next season he was switched to halfback and in that new position was included again on the All-Western team, this time as half.

"Not many players can point to a showing like that."

Notre Dame Graduate

The new Idaho coach is a graduate of Notre Dame, where he won his letters in football, baseball and basketball, according to George Varnell, Spokane sports writer.

"Mathews started his varsity athletic career in 1907, when he was quarterback on the University of Washington eleven," says Varnell.

"He entered Notre Dame in 1908 and played the season of 1908, 1909 and 1910 on the varsity football team. He played end during the 1908 and 1909 season and halfback during the 1910 grid season. He was chosen all-western end in 1908 and 1909 and given all-American mention after the 1909 season. He played guard and forward in basketball and an infield position on the Notre Dame baseball team.

"Matty's first coaching was done in 1911 at St. Edward's college at Austin, Texas. He tutored all sports and his football team was undefeated.

At Kenyon College

"The 1912 season found Mathews at Kenyon college, Gambier, O. He was athletic director and coached all sports. Mathews remained at Kenyon through the varsity years of 1912, 1913 and 1914. In 1915 he succeeded to the position of athletic director at Willamette university, Salem, Ore., and during his six years at Willamette did not lose a non-conference game in football and won six successive non-conference championships in each of the major branches of sport.

"Mathews accepted the offer to act as freshman coach of football and varsity baseball coach at the University of Washington in 1921 and he turned out a championship freshman lineup. He repeated in freshman basketball and won the Pacific coast championship with his varsity baseball team during the spring season.

"The new Idaho coach is generally regarded in the Pacific coast conference as an exceptional developer of material and a keen student of the branches of sport."

When Darwin Meisnest, graduate manager at the University of Washington, announced acceptance of Mathews' resignation there, he said: "We felt that Mathews was too big a man to be handling freshman teams and when the Idaho offer came we did not want to stand in the way of his acceptance."

Sport Suits for Young Men Better Clothes for Less Money

YOUNG MEN will find Sport Suits, in their deftly developed variation of style lines, in indisputable leadership. The popularity of the model also will be more in evidence among business men who like to "step out a step or two" away from their customary conservatism in dress.

Illustrated here is unquestionably the leader among the styles of Sport Suits. The pictures give both the front and back view. The four patch pockets to button, the straight yoke, the inverted pleat and three-quarter loose belt are all outstanding style-features which give a preference to this model.

In addition to the two and three-button single breasted models, there are double breasted models greatly favored by many; also semi-conservative styles. Choice of wear-resisting cassimeres in blues, grays and browns, club checks, tartan plaids and fancy mixtures. Sizes 35 to 44.
