"NAME" CONTEST FOR NEW CAMPUS MAGAZINE OPENS

Editors of New Literary Magazine Urge All Students to make Contributions.

"What's in a name?"

That's what the management of the new literary magazine wants to find out, so they are giving everyone the opportunity to suggest one for the new literary magazine which comes out next month.

Just write the name you think the most appropriate on a slip of paper and sign your own to it and drop the slip into the box under the bulletin board in the Ad. building. There are no eligibility limitations whatever. Anyone can suggest as many names as he wishes.

Saturday Last Day.

Then next Saturday, the last day of the contest, the judges will take all of the suggestions and from them will choose the name which they think is most "fitting and proper." The winner will receive a year's subscription to the magazine and will have his name prominently placed in the first issue.

That box by the bulletin board will serve also another purpose, namely, as a receptacle for all contributions to the magazine itself. Material is needed, much material; and if all that is accepted cannot be put in the first issue, why, room for it will be found for it in the second, and the third, and so on.

Much Material Wanted.

But the point is: turn in the material. The editors are in earnest about this magazine, they are interested enough to respect the efforts of anyone; regardless of the merit of the contribution; so if any student lets modesty or fear of ridicule stand in way of his contribution, he is doing himself and the magazine and the school a great injustice.

Any kind of literary material is wanted; poetry, verse, (get the distinction), short stories, humorous stories, plays, essays, jokes, in fact, as has been said before, any kind of literary material.

The literary magazine will be just what its name implies: a publication devoted to the interests of everyone who wants to see individual ability discovered and rewarded and

UKRAINIANS CANCEL UNIVERSITY CONCERT

No Western Concerts to Be Given by the Chorus.

Cancellation of the concert which was to have been given by the great Ukrainian chorus on January 20, in the auditorium, came as a complete and unpleasant surprise to Professor Bangs, who received word Saturday as well as to the students and townspeople, who have been looking forward to the appearance of that celebrated group of singers.

According to the message received by Professor Bangs, the company has cancelled all of its many contracts to appear in concerts on the western coast, and will immediately return to the east. In so far as can be ascertained this decision is final, so it will probably be a long time before a similar group of such gifted artists will make their appearance in Moscow.

Chorus and Exceptional One.

The Ukrainian chorus is a group of talented artists of Russian birth who present, in their program, a series of folk songs and native melodies, the beauty and classic value of which, according to press criticisms, can hardly be equalled by any other nationality.

SEATING PLAN FOR COMING GAMES

Graduate Manager Albert Knudson wishes University students and faculty to take particular note of the change in seating which will go into effect Friday night in the gymnasium, when Idaho and Montana meet in the first basketball game of the year. They are:

Reservations of seats may be made for 25 cents for two days previous to each game, up to four o'clock of the day of the game. After this time, no reserved seats will be obtainable, and all left will be open to whoever is first on hand when the doors open.

No persons will be seated in reserved sections after eight o'clock. All students must show their A.S.U.I. tickets to gain admittance, whether he has a reserved ticket or not.

WA-HI DEFEATS FROSH QUINTET

Freshmen Lose Fast Game to High School Team.

The U. of I. Freshman basketball team got-off to a bad start last Saturday afternoon when they took a trouncing to the tune of 37 to 20 from the fast Walla Walla high school team in the University gymnasium. Coach Hunter used, four extra men in an attempt to stem the onslaught, but the Wa-Hi boys continued to drop the ball in for counters. The game was rough but fouls were not frequent and the big crowd of fans was kept on its toes throughout the game.

In the first half the Idaho men didn't seem to have a chance. The Wa-Hi boys started to score early in the period and kept it up all through the half. They passed exceptionally well and every man on the team shot baskets with uncanny skill. They made several shots from the middle of the floor and were very good on their shots. Their team-work was exceptional for a high school, while the Idaho men were having some difficulty in playing together. The lack of practice showed up in the Freshmen, and they seemed unable to make their shots count.

But the Idaho Babes came back strong in the second half and held the high school lads to a pretty close score. Closer guarding and more team work kept the Wa-Hi score from getting much bigger and our boys dropped in a counter once in a while themselves, although they had some hard luck with their shots.

Although the Babes took a licking from a better team they have no reason to be discouraged because the season is yet young and with more good hard practice and faithful training they should come out well to the front in their schedule. They have the material and from now on they will have the practice, so instead of taking a setback, Frosh, lets step out and show the world that we can play the old game. Anyone can quit but it takes a good man to fight it

Illinois Co-Eds Must Study Or Lose Dates

"No study—no dates," as a rule for women at the University of Illinois, is being considered by the second council. It has been suggested that one 4 or one E take away the mid-week, and a D and an E or two E's take away both the mid-week and one week-end date, and so on, until three E's and a D eliminate all dates until the next six weeks' grades are reported.

Just another argument to prove the fact that a co-ed's life should not be one of E's.

POPULAR COUPLE MARRY

Word has been received in Moscow of the marriage in Spokane over the holidays of Marjorie Hinkley and Marshal B. Macy, two prominent former University of Idaho students. Mr. Macy graduate last spring, and is now connected with the Spokane Dry Goods company.

CO-ED WARBLERS WORK ON UNUSUAL PROGRAM

Quartet and Trio Selections to Form Part of Program.

Rumor has it that the Girls' Glee club, which is rapidly becoming one of the most popular organizations on the campus, and as such is attracting the interest of eds, co-eds and faculty, is making extended plans for what would be called in "campus" a "keen program" which will be given in the near future.

Among the many features that are being worked out is a particularly gifted trio which will undoubtedly prove very popular with the audience, and a quartet that will deserve a couple of encores at the very least.

Arrangements are being made at the present time for a number of outside concerts, the dates of which have not been definitely decided upon but will be advertised in plenty of time to make everyone acquainted with them.

Large Turnout For Wrestling Augurs Well

Twenty-five men reported to the call of coach James A. (Babe) Brown for aspirants for the Varsity wrestling squad Monday evening, the majority of whom, however, were freshmen.

"I feel optimistic over the turnout Monday evening," said Brown last night. "There were four letter men who reported, and around whom we will have to build our squad this year. They are Kimison, who has quite a reputation around here as a grappler of no mean skill, Horning, well known Idaho light-heavy weight, Hillman, in the lightweight class, and myself."

The athletic department is endeavoring to arrange some wrestling tournaments for the near future, of which there will probably be two at home.

All Seats Will Be Reserved For Basket Ball Games Says Knudson

Reserved seat tickets for varsity basketball games this season will be provided students and members of the faculty, Graduate Manager Albert Knudson announced. The plan is to be put in effect to avoid the congestion of last season's games. The reservations will be on sale two days before the date of the ten home games.

Students will be charged 25 cents for reserved seats. The faculty members holding seasonal athletic tickets and the members of the A.S.U.I. must present their tickets to obtain reservations and again at the game. No reserved seats will be held after 8 o'clock in order that there be no interference with the varsity games.

The reserved tickets will be on sale two days before the game and up to 4 o'clock the afternoon of the date

Co-Eds' Skiis Arrive; Girls Pray For Snow

While the sun shines warmly on the campus and leads the ignorant to the anticipation of an early spring, forty pairs of belated skiis mock the eyes of their owners from where they stand, useless, in a corner of the women's office in the gymnasium.

When the snow was here every effort to locate the missing skiis was futile but as soon as the warm chinook cleared the ground, lo—they appeared.

The opinions of the various co-eds in regard to express transportation efficiency would hardly look well in print.

However, Miss Winslow has not given up hope. She feels sure there will be more snow.

Y. M. SPEAKER HERE FOR ASSEMBLY FRI.

The regular University Assembly will be held Friday morning at ten o'clock instead of Wednesday as usual. At this time, Ben Cherrington, traveling secretary of the Y.M.C.A., who has spent the past two years in a study of conditions in Europe and European universities, will address the Idaho students.

Mr. Cherrington is a speaker of marked ability and his address is attracting considerable interest throughout the nation.

HOUSE WARMING OPENS NEW FRATERNITY HOME

Sigma Alpha Epsilon Hosts to Formal Reception Friday Evening.

Members of the Idaho Alpha chapter of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity celebrated the opening of their new home with an elaborate house-warming last week end. The events consisted of a tea Thursday afternoon for members of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon Mothers' club, a formal reception Friday night for Moscow people, students and faculty, and a house dance on Saturday.

The fraternity has expended $14,000 in improvements and furnishings for their new home, which is now one of the most attractive fraternity homes of the Idaho campus. The house has ample accommodations for 35 men.

The large living room which extends entirely across the front of the house is one of the features. It is large enough to be impressive and yet at the same time is so comfortably and attractively furnished as to be entirely home-like. The dining room where more than 40 men can be accommodated is off of the living room. The lower floor also includes a kitchen and apartments for the

CLUB PLANS TO GIVE SHORT PLAY

The Spanish club will meet this evening at 7:00 in Room 312 of the Administration building. The meeting has been called to discuss the advisability of presenting "A Spanish Night." If the play is accepted, it will be given later in the year by a cast composed of members of the Spanish club.

All Magazines Now Accessible At U Hut

The secretary in charge of the University hut wishes to announce that he has a complete line of magazines on hand and that the students are perfectly welcome to come at any time and make use of them. The only request that the secretary makes is that the magazines be left at the Hut and not be carried off.

The magazines will be left on a table in the secretary's office and there are plenty of good rocking chairs throughout the building and students are invited to come over at any time and read or write letters. The magazines on hand are: Saturday Evening Post, Womens Home Companion, American Magazine, Literary Digest, National Geographic, and Field and Stream.

IDAHO CHAMPIONS STRONG AS EVER

According to Dope, Montana Will Be One of the Strongest Contenders Against Idaho—Vandal Strength Was Tested During the Holiday Trip When No Games Were Lost.

CONSTITUTION OF A.S.U.I. REVISED

Committee on Recodification Adds Several Needed Changes.

The A.S.U.I. committee on the recodification of the constitution is now completing its work, and when the revised constitution is placed before the student body for acceptance or rejection a great many needed and beneficial changes will be found. Chief among these is a plan whereby the honor system, or honor code, can be adopted by the student body. This plan, which has met with the hearty sanction of faculty members, would provide for the honor system, covering cheating, not only during examination, but all undesirable actions on the campus, and a student council to enforce the system by punishment of its infractions.

System Used By California Schools. This system has been adopted by both California and Stanford, and it has had a remarkable success. In fact, councils have been far stricter in punishing individuals who break it than the faculty ever was. Every individual is given a fair trial, much in the manner of a jury trial, and he has the right to defend himself.

At Idaho two colleges have adopted the honor system, as far as cheating during examinations are concerned, and no student has ever been accused of cheating since the rule went into effect. Every student is on his honor, and he guards the system jealously. In other colleges the old monitor system, where the professor remains in the room, is still in use. A better system of auditing and accounting for the A.S.U.I. funds is also being worked out. The board of supervisors will O. K. each expenditure, and give no chance for useless expenditures, as two boards approve each account. A committee will also be appointed to audit all accounts.

Argonaut Twice-a-Week.

Another change will be a plan whereby the Argonaut can be issued twice a week instead of once. Idaho is the only school in the Pacific coast conference that does not put out at least a twice a week student publication. The salaries of the editor and business manager will also be low.

Winter Carnival At W.S.C. Awaits Snow

Washington State College, Pullman.—If the weather turns cold the skating rink on Rogers field should be a success. A solid base has been made on the site of the proposed skating rink which will be flooded as soon as conditions permit. The committee in charge of the carnival is planning an interesting ice hockey tournament.

As yet no location has been selected for tobogganing, coasting and skiing. This, however, is a minor problem, as the hills in this vicinity afford excellent opportunity for such sport.

VESPER SERVICE SUNDAY.

There will be a vesper musical recital in the auditorium Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock, according to announcement by Prof. E. O. Bangs, of the University of Idaho department of music.

Idaho's championship basketball team will open its schedule of collegiate games here Friday night, in the first contest of a four-game series against Montana. This event will be one of great interest to Idaho students, for it will be their first opportunity this year of seeing their team in action.

Idaho will be represented in the contest, by a decidedly strong team. According to Coach MacMillan, the five who will probably start are Captain Al Fox and Nelson at Forward, Thompson at center, and Telford and Edwards at guard. All these five are letter men of last year, and have under MacMillan become men of exceptional ability.

Nothing unknown to the general public in the way of dope on the game is in evidence. Montana will be one of the strongest contenders against the Vandals whom they will meet during the season. Last year they were the only college team to win a game from the local squad prior to the series for the national championship. The Vandals won, however, all the other three contests against Montana. This year the Grizzlies will come here with five letter men back, intent on taking another claw at the Idaho men. It is probable, however, that Idaho's crew will be superior by a comfortable margin.

The strength of the local squad was tested in their recent barnstorming trip, and the results were entirely satisfactory. All the men taken on the trip were given a chance to show their value at some time during the playing. The team returned with a clean slate, having won every contest.

Friday night's clash will be followed by another, against the same opponents, on Saturday evening. Preliminary to the first game, there will be a match between the Idaho freshmen quintet and the team from Cheney Normal. According to those in charge this game should itself be well worth attending.

TENTATIVE TRIP OF GLEE CLUB ARRANGED

Attitude of Towns to Be Visited is Cordial—Go February 18.

Facing a particularly bright season, the Men's Glee club will probably start south on its annual trip February 18, according to Manager Robert Cummins, who has tentatively arranged the following schedule:

Weiser (tentative), Feb. 19; Boise, Feb. 20; Nampa, Feb. 21; Gooding, Feb. 22; Twin Falls, Feb. 23; Rupert, Feb. 24; American Falls (tentative), Feb. 25; Pocatello, Feb. 26; Blackfoot, Feb. 27; Dillon, Mont., Feb. 28; Wallace, March 2; Coeur d'Alene, March 3; and return to Moscow Sunday evening of March 4.

At a later date, not yet determined, the Glee club will take a short trip to Lewiston and one to Spokane. The men will travel in a special Pullman as far as Boise.

The attitude of the towns where the Glee club will entertain is one of cordial welcome. And this year they will certainly not be disappointed, for the Glee club as a whole is in better shape than almost ever before. A number of receptions are being planned for the boys when they strike towns. Coeur d'Alene and Boise have each signified their intentions of giving them a royal welcome and lavish entertainment.

A LIBRARY OR A STUDY ROOM?

A few years ago, Saturday morning classes in the University of Idaho were quite the exception; in fact, four years ago there were only thirteen on the class schedule, and nine of these were laboratory classes. Today, however, they are quite the thing, so that the person who does not have an eight or nine o'clock class to make on Saturday morning is lucky indeed.

Figures from the registrar's office give the number of Saturday classes this semester as 61. Not a few of these are classes which require outside reading and preparation, and students are coming more and more to consider Friday evening as a study night. Several group houses consider it such, and are a little particular as to who shall leave the premises Friday evenings, or as to the amount of noise which shall ensue from within the house.

However, the university library considers Friday evening as strictly a holiday period, and has consistently failed to meet the increased number of Saturday classes by correspondingly opening its doors to whomsoever might wish to use the library for study purposes. We are naturally aware that most University students do not wish to consider Friday evening as a study period, but there are on the other hand a great many students who do not wish to consider that evening as merely a time when they shall pay tribute to the "movie" god.

Let's look at it from a little different viewpoint.

One of the real pleasures which a modern public library affords is that of browsing around in search of new reading matter, exploring new books, and discovering new authors whose style is appealing. That alone is an education. Under present conditions, such tactics on the part of the students are practically impossible. During week nights, the library is filled to overflowing with students, who, because of the crowded housing conditions prevalent on the Idaho campus, are encouraged to do as much of their studying in the library as possible. The magazine room is continually crowded with those who are looking for particular material as a part of their daily work, and standing room is in all truth at a premium, so that the casual searcher for just "interesting reading" is discouraged from attempting anything of the sort.

J. T. CROOT
TAILOR

One of the solutions of how to get the average university student to make the use of the library which he should, is to keep it open during the period when he is most likely to have time on his hands, and during which his natural tendencies are toward recreation. And we firmly believe that there are a lot of us who can really get a great deal of pleasure from reading; probably more than professors of English give credit for. Surely the time for such reading would be during week end nights and Sunday afternoon. Besides a dance or two, which do not accommodate more than three hundred at the most, there is no other way to spend a Friday evening than at a downtown movie, pool parlor, or in lounging around one's house.

It is the belief of the Argonaut that enough students would take advantage of the opportunity of doing some constructive reading and thinking during those evenings and on Sunday afternoon to warrant the added expense in opening the library during that time.

At least we think it would be worth a trial.

THE HONOR SYSTEM

Students soon will be given an opportunity to accept or reject the honor system, as a plan whereby such a system can be installed at Idaho will be embraced in the recodified constitution, which will soon be presented to the student body for ratification, either as a whole or in part. Such a system would be solely in charge of the student body, and would be enforced by a student council. If it is adopted, to every student is delegated the responsibility for upholding and enforcing the system. Honesty in examinations is not the only end, that such a system would achieve. It would extend to student conduct at all times and places, and is intended to put a stop to every undesirable practice existing on the campus.

The honor system is not infallible. But it is a cooperative plan, a less noxious and officious method than the present monitor system, and it casts a better light on the university than any other form of student control now in existence. And if placed in student hands a power which rightfully belongs in student hands, and it strengthens and adds to that goal toward which every student body is striving—student government.

BY ALL MEANS SUPPORT THE HONOR SYSTEM.

AN AUDITING SYSTEM.

Along with the recodification of the constitution of the Associated Students it might be well, as suggested by a certain member of the senior class through the Student Opinion column of the Argonaut last week, to incorporate a system of auditing which would keep the students better posted as to where their money actually goes.

It is a regrettable fact that hardly a student can tell you how much money goes for this and that activity, or which activities are making money and which are losing money. A better posted student body will not be so wont to criticize the expenditure of Associated Student funds, and by all means some method of auditing and reporting should be incorporated in the proposed recodification.

toria relief fund. If people who are always ready and anxious to bring foreign drives here would transfer their efforts to something of this nature, the results would be better.

BUBBLES

Since the weather is kinda punk at this time a few words as to how to entertain a date on Sunday afternoon would not be amiss. The following dissertation is not meant for steadies; they just sit and look at each other and look and sit and have a wonderful time. But if it happens to be your first or second adventure passing the long afternoon away conveniently is not so easy.

The first thing not to do is to get into a truth party. Some people are just naturally too curious to live and others have very poor memories.

The most spectacular time accelerator is to borrow a large book. Stand a cut glass candle stick on it. Place another large book on this and lay an apple in the center of the second book. Then balance an ink bottle on top of the apple, and by laying on your back in the center of the best rug you can, if successful, make this mess of junk remain for some time balanced on your chin and the extreme end of your nose. The applause is well worth the risk.

Another stunt to make yourself more welcome the next Sunday is to carve your initials, with your partner's, on the end of the piano and encircle same with a heart. If done artistically the results are terrific.

Another hour exterminator is to investigate the caverns and recesses in the upholstery of the davenport. Allow each contestant certain points for certain articles, like for instance, 5 points for a hair pin, 20 points for an apple core, etc., and make the game 100 points.

Didn't some one say to look for a winter carnival? Anybody found it yet?

Why not make it a water regatta.

As hard as it rained last Saturday night it could not settle the dust at the Washington club dance.

Well the Christmas holidays just came and went, and many of the students went and came and the snow just came and perhaps has went but the wind just keeps on coming.

We have bubbled so much
We have bubbled so long;
We can't even sell them
For the price of a song.

So please, Dear Public,
Excuse us this time,
And expect us next week
With a much better line.

Well, that's that.

Student Opinion

Dear Editor:
At the Freshman basketball game last Saturday there was some evidence of the poor sportsmanship, among the crowd, that the University of Idaho does not sponsor or tolerate. So as a hint to those people who cannot control their emotions at ball games, I would suggest that you leave all your clever remarks to the players and referee at home.

The best way to show your loyalty to your team is to either go out for practice and give them the benefit of your ability and knowledge of the game or else give them encouragement instead of the razz from the sidelines. Perhaps those lads who are out for practice every night and play in the games know more about the game than those of us who give information from the sidelines. The players and coaches will appreciate it if we confine ourselves to giving only encouragement to the team, and leave the information part of it to the coaches.

It is up to the older students to set the example. When we hear any remarks that are not in accordance with Idaho sportsmanship, let us see that it is stopped. The members of the "I" club are always equipped with oak and cane and it might be well to report any violations of the rule to that august body. They are all men who can appreciate good sportsmanship from the sidelines and might know how to handle the situation. To put the whole thing in a nut-shell, we want to treat our visitors as we would have our own team treated when they are away from home. So let's watch it, folks, so that no team can carry the work back to their school, that Idaho students are poor sports.

GROUP BASKET BALL REVIEWED THIS WEEK

Intra-Mural Schedule to Continue Games Friday.

Resuming the previously arranged schedule, intra-mural basketball will be in full swing this week. Of the 50 games scheduled, only 5 have been played; the rest must be finished within the next six weeks.

Lack of practice time will probably make this week's games slower than usual but arrangements are being made whereby a practice schedule will be posted on the gymnasium bulletin board every Monday.

A good deal of the credit for the satisfactory schedule arrangement is due Wm. Gartin, who is in charge and is working hard to make this intra-mural season a successful one.

The following tentative schedule has been arranged for this week: Monday, Jan. 8, 9:30 p.m., Phi Alpha Psi vs. S.P.A.; Tuesday, Jan. 9, 9:00 p.m., Lindley Hall vs. Sigma Nu; Wednesday, Jan. 10, 9:30 p.m.; Phi Delta Theta vs. Beta Theta Pi; Thursday, Jan. 11, 9 p.m., S.A.E. vs. Elwetias; Friday, Jan. 12, 3 p.m., Kappa Sigma vs. Phi Gamma Delta; Saturday, Jan. 13 1 p.m., Phi Alpha Psi vs. Beta Theta Pi; 1:45 p.m., Phi Delta Theta vs. Sigma Nu; 2:30 p.m., Lindley hall vs. Elwetias.

SOCIETY

Holiday fun and frolic reigned supreme at an informal house dance at the Beta Theta Pi house last Wednesday evening. The guests were the Misses Baker, MacKenzie, McArthur, White, Yeaman, Hatfield, Montgomery, Jones, Kelly, Martin, Povey, Alvord, Gett, Kendrick and Brown. The chaperons for the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Jenkins and Dr. and Mrs. Einhouse.

Dinner guests of Kappa Kappa Gamma New Year's night were William Guernsey, John Reed, Kenneth Hunter, Roy Stevens and Ted Turner.

Alpha Mu Delta announces the pledging of William E. Lee of Boise.

The annual Women's League dance will be given in the gymnasium Saturday, January 13.

After attending school last week, we are in favor of extending vacations to nine months.

Wonder where our vacation went, though?

And the extra spondulicks we earned?

At least we have learned that it doesn't always pay to bluff on a pair of deuces.

We know one man who made a killing of his vacation. That man is Coach MacMillan. He took his string of basketballs to the north and to Walla Walla and turned in a clean slate.

The boys seem to have the old basket spotted. They dropped the spheroid in pretty regularly.

And Mac built up his defensive team, judging by the way the opponents were kept from scoring.

Now for the Bruins next Friday and Saturday nights.

And the rest of the gang that cavorts around in the Pacific and Northwest conferences.

We heard of a girl who sprained her finger the other day manipulating a tea cup. We've heard of elbows being sprained in trying to dislodge a stubborn flask from the pistol pocket, but this is the first time we have ever heard of wicked tea cup goin' on the rampage and spraining a finger.

Sleeping Porch Arrangements
The upper floor is devoted entirely to study rooms and a large sleeping porch.

The receiving line Friday night was made up of J. O. Thompson of Moscow, president of the chapter, Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Wodsedalek, President and Mrs. A. H. Upham, Miss Permeal J. French, dean of women, and J. Frederick Cline. The house dance Saturday night was followed by a smoker and a serenade of all women's groups and sororities.

The remodeling of the new home started late last summer and was not completed until late this fall. Curtis Richardson of Lewiston was the architect and M. C. Conley of Spokane was the general contractor. The new fraternity house is of a general bungalow architecture with stucco finish and semi-French windows.

ered slightly per issue, to compensate for the larger number of times the paper will be published.

Provision will also be made whereby class dues will be collected at registration each semester. Hitherto class treasurers have had exceedingly great difficulty in wringing money for dues from class members, but now all money for such purposes will be collected in advance, and turned over to the treasurer.

Juniors Lose Annual.

A plan is also being worked out whereby the "Gem of the Mountains" will be published by the student body rather than by the junior class. Practically all universities have adopted this system, in fact Idaho is the only school on the Pacific coast that has not abandoned the old system of publication by classes.

All amendments that have been adopted by the A.S.U.I. during the past year will be embraced in the re-codified constitution. There are several of these, and they will be written in, not as amendments, but as a part of the constitution itself.

"The way of an Eagle in the air"

CENTURY after century men broke their necks trying to fly. They had not troubled to discover what Solomon called "the way of an eagle in the air."

In 1891 came Samuel Pierpont Langley, secretary of the Smithsonian Institution. He wanted facts. His first step was to whirl flat surfaces in the air, to measure the air pressures required to sustain these surfaces in motion and to study the swirls and currents of the air itself. Finally, in 1896, he built a small steam-driven model which flew three-quarters of a mile.

With a Congressional appropriation of $50,000 Langley built a large man-carrying machine. Because it was improperly launched, it dropped into the Potomac River. Years later, Glenn Curtiss flew it at Hammondsport, New York.

Congress regarded Langley's attempt not as a scientific experiment but as a sad fiasco and refused to encourage him further. He died a disappointed man.

Langley's scientific study which ultimately gave us the airplane seemed unimportant in 1896. Whole newspaper pages were given up to the sixteen-to-one ratio of silver to gold.

"Sixteen-to-one" is dead politically. Thousands of airplanes cleave the air—airplanes built with the knowledge that Langley acquired.

In this work the Laboratories of the General Electric Company played their part. They aided in developing the "supercharger," whereby an engine may be supplied with the air that it needs for combustion at altitudes of four miles and more. Getting the facts first, the Langley method, made the achievement possible.

What is expedient or important today may be forgotten tomorrow. The spirit of scientific research and its achievements endure.

GO-EDS GATHER DOPE FOR FORENSIC MEET

Squad Settles Down to Work in Preparation For Debate.

Final wording of the question for the Women's Triangular debate has been received from Whitman college, which is acting as secretary of the debate, by Student Manager Phillip Beck.

The question has the accurate wording which Prof. Louis A. Harding, debate coach, asked for. It is as follows: Resolved: "That a Federal Department of Education be Established as Provided in the Towner-Sterling Bill."

The girls debate squad is very busy gathering material and cleaving out the issues of the question. They are getting well started, and have a good beginning on the large body of material involved in the work of debating this question.

Prof. Lewis A. Harding will not select the team until there has been some debating between the affirmative and negative teams. He will judge on their quality of work and capability to debate.

Senator Sterling of South Dakota, sponsor for the bill in the United States senate and chairman of the committee on civil service, in a letter to Prof. Lewis A. Harding, debate coach, said: "I am interested in learning that the debate council of the University of Idaho has chosen the Towner-Sterling bill as the subject for its Women's Triangular debate with the State University of Washington and Whitman college."

A great deal of interest has been shown in this bill, and it is being debated by a great many colleges, universities and high schools.

The women's debate will be the first thing of its kind ever held in the history of the university and will in all probability take its place with men's debate as a permanent addition to university activities. It forms a part of Professor Harding's plan for enlarging debating activity at Idaho.

Education Professor To Speak At Orofino

Prof. James M. O'Gorman, professor of secondary education at the University of Idaho, will address the Clearwater county board, members of the Orofino Parent-Teachers' association, and Clearwater county teachers on education matters Thursday and Friday, according to announcement.

Professor O'Gorman will speak Thursday afternoon to the county board on "Financing Our Schools." The subject of his address Thursday night before the Parent-Teachers' association has not been announced. Friday afternoon he is to speak to the teachers on the subject "Our Educational Outlook." Professor O'Gorman leaves tomorrow noon.

MARRIES FORMER IDAHO STUDENT

Miss Josephine Barstad, former Moscow resident and University of Idaho student, was married to Julius E. Nordby, a professor in the animal husbandry department of the University, Wednesday, December 27, in Spokane, at the home of the bride's parents.

Mrs. Nordby is quite prominent in Spokane musical circles, and has a great number of acquaintances on the Idaho campus. Mr. Nordby is a graduate of the University of Idaho, and has his master's degree from the University of Illinois.

Rumor Mathews Is Going South Unfounded

"I know nothing about the matter," was the statement made yesterday afternoon by Coach R. L. Mathews, athletic director and football coach of the University, in answer to questions concerning a "rumor" story which appeared in Monday evening's Spokane Chronicle to the effect that a southern University had made a very tempting offer to the Idaho mentor.

The Spokane story, which is creating lively interest in northwest sporting circles, stated that Mathews "is being seriously considered for the position of grid mentor at the University of Alabama, according to a report from the south."

The story continues: "The excellent record made by the Idaho coach last year at Moscow and his previous record while at Willamette university has stamped him as one of the strong coaches of this section and in sorting around in an effort to find a man for the Alabama position, Mathews' name is being given serious consideration."

"Whether or not Mathews would consider a new coaching contract is a question as it is well known that Mathews likes his berth at Moscow and is anxious to develop a winner at the Gem State institution. Mathews was freshman team coach at the University of Washington before accepting the post at Idaho."

DR. UPHAM ADDRESSES FRESHMEN ENGINEERS

Topic is "Importance of English to the Engineer."

"All business and professional men, in the commercial world today, demand that people in their employ use correct English," declared Dr. Upham in his address to the Engineering and Forestry students, Wednesday afternoon, on "The Importance of English to the Engineer."

Dr. Upham continued: "A person may be able to take a short cut education in English, but this is only for the people who are willing to pay the price for it. The fellow who has a contempt for English while in school finds that in the business world it is essential. His loss through the inability to use good English is the price he must pay for the short cut."

Man Judged by His English.
Among other things Dr. Upham said that a man's command of English is a criterion of his ability to do any other work. A man who can talk and write well can usually think straight.

"Good English must be effective as well as correct. Slipshod, easy-going English may get you by, but when the demand comes for good English, regardless of your other qualifications, you are not the man to fill the place.

"To be a success one must be able to write English in a way that will cause people to read it. One of the most important methods of securing a good command of English is the reading of good magazines and well written books."

ONLY ONE CENT TAX DOLLAR TO UNIVERSITY

But Little More Than a Hundredth of Money for Taxes Spent on Higher Education.

In response to queries on operating costs, the administration of the university has prepared figures showing that, out of each tax dollar, this institution received only a little more than one cent.

The figures show that out of his tax dollar for 1921 the Boise man contributed only 1 and 7-100 cents to the support of the university; the Coeur d'Alene man 1 and 7-100 cents; the Moscow man 1 and 7-100 cents, and the Idaho Falls man 1 and 3-100 cents. In the rural communities the per cent is higher but the average for the whole state is 1 and 8-100 cents.

What It Means.

This percentage means that the $100 taxpayer, taken as the average in making the calculation, gives less than $1.08 a year to the support of all the work of the university; pays 27 cents annually in state taxes to maintain the agricultural extension service; adds one cent a year to his tax burden to educate 10 additional students; would pay 25 cents a year for two years to provide the university with a new science building.

It has been suggested that Idaho compel non-resident students to pay tuition and in this way relieve the burden of taxation. Figures from the records of the United States bureau of education for 1920-21 show that all Idaho colleges educated only 202 students from outside the state, and not all of those attended the university. The same figures show that during the same year California institutions were educating 4043 students from outside the state; Oregon, 2023; Utah, 535, and Washington, 1652.

The same year, the bureau records indicate, 1102 students resident in Idaho were attending Idaho colleges; but 1304 Idahoans were getting college educations in other states. Of this number 179 were in California; 243 in Oregon; 237 in Utah, and 309 in Washington.

Women's League Dance To Come Next Saturday

The second annual Women's League dance will be held Saturday in the gymnasium. The dance will begin immediately after the Idaho-Montana basketball game. The music will be furnished by a group of the crack musicians on the campus. Proceeds of the dance will go toward meeting the expenses of sending an Idaho delegate to the National Council of the Women's League.

ANNOUNCE NEW SORORITY.

Washington State College, Pullman, Wash.—Xi Delta, a new local sorority on the campus, has been announced at W.S.C. Work is well under way toward petitioning Alpha Xi Delta, a national sorority founded in 1893 at Lombard college, Galesburg, Ill. This is the fourteenth women's group on the campus and the sixth local.

NO MORE COMPS AT CONFERENCE GAMES

University of Washington, Seattle.—Complimentary tickets to football games will not be given out in the future by colleges and universities on the coast except to the press, according to a ruling passed at the last meeting of the Pacific Coast conference.

The opinion of the conference was that the universities are being imposed upon by granting an excess number of complimentary tickets. The ruling requires that all schools give a report of tickets sold for each game, and that free tickets be given only to the press.

NEW METHOD OF MAKING DYNAMITE

University of Washington, Seattle, (P.I.P.A.)—A new process for making dynamite, which will reduce the cost from about 15 cents to 6 cents a pound has been invented by Prof. W. M. Dehn of the chemistry department. Dynamite is made of 80 per cent ammonium nitrate and 20 per cent T.N.T., but not way could be found to incorporate the mixture. But by boiling, the air was drawn out of the sawdust and when the ammonium nitrate was sucked into the sawdust. Tests on stump blasting proved the new blasting powder to be successful. University officials are submitting a proposal to the legislature by which the powder is to be manufactured by the state and sold to farmers at cost.

In a recent issue of the "Mining Review," Salt Lake City, very creditable mention was given The Miners' Edition of The University Argonaut. Especially was comment made on the feature articles pertaining to investigations being carried on by that school in the University.

ENROLLMENT JUMPS IN PAST FIVE YEARS

Enrollment figures for the last five years, prepared by the registrar's office, indicate that the University of Idaho is carrying a constantly increasing load of students. This is the first time that figures on this year's actual attendance have been made available and they show that nearly a thousand students have been added in the last five years; nearly 500 in the last biennium.

In 1917-18 the registration, including summer school, special courses and non-resident instruction, was but 92; in 1918-19, 856; in 1919-20, 1038; 1920-21, 1348; 1921-22, 1533, and this year's enrollment now stands at 1568. Experience, however, indicates that 200 additional students will be added during the college year, bringing the total well above 1750.

New divisions of the university were added only when the needs of the constantly growing student body demanded. The college of letters and science, the nucleus for the present institution, was founded in 1889; the college of agriculture in 1891; college of engineering, 1901; school of law, 1910; school of mines, 1917; school of forestry, 1917; and school of education, 1920.
