CLAUS PLAYS TO CAPACITY HOUSE

Violin Instructor Gives Wonderful Recital in Auditorium Friday Evening.

(By DEMERICE EBBLY.)

The violin concert given last Friday night in the auditorium by Carl Claus was a marvelous success. The large audience, held by the spell of the music, were at times so silent that the room might well have been empty.

The first number on the program, "Adagio and Rondo (Grand Concerto No. 1), by Vieuxtemps, was very long and difficult, however, Mr. Claus executed this number with the natural ease, which characterizes his playing. The "Cradle Song," by Schubert, for which Mr. Claus used a mute on his violin, was greeted with such enthusiastic applause that he was compelled to play it a second time. The auditorium was so silent that even the respirations of the audience were inaudible. The tiny thread of sound was so clean that even in the intense stillness it seemed but a minute voice from miles off, whispering its music to a breathless audience.

Remarkable Version of "Legende."

In decided contrast to this piece, was the next selection, "Valse de Concerto," by Musin, which was very brilliant and required lightness and delicateness of touch. In the third group perhaps the most enjoyable was "Legende," by Wieniawski, which has been variously interpreted by violinists. The version given by Mr. Claus was the favorite one of "Poland Oppressed." Under the yoke of a harsh conqueror, Poland mourns her lost liberties, her broken homes, her murdered patriots, her shattered fortunes. The opening theme is a lament which is developed with passionate intensity and followed by a second theme in a brighter mood. The light of hope breaks into the oppressive darkness, becomes stronger and finally becomes a call to the nation to rise and fight the conqueror.

VANDALS TO HAVE BREATHING SPELL

Week of Quiet Should Give Team Needed Rest From Trip

A well earned rest is in store for the Vandals for the next week. No games are scheduled for Idaho's basketball team until the University of Washington comes here on February 10 for a return game. The Vandals have already played five out of their ten Pacific Coast conference games, and the quick succession of contests for the past two weeks has left the team ready for a breathing spell.

So during the exam week, and for a while thereafter, the team will engage in no contests. The second part of the season will find a team which will be strengthened considerably by their rest, and will have stored up a fund of energy great enough to carry them at full speed to the completion of their schedule.

RULES OF ORDER BUTCHERED; ROBERTS SHUDDERS IN GRAVE

Long live the dear people! Last Thursday the spirit of reform filled the air, and the solemn gathering of the A.S.U.I. was attended by three hundred students. Almost immediately the meeting went into a committee of the hole. It was feared that someone would pull the hole in after him, thus making it impossible to find the way out, but luckily enough holes were found in some of Mr. Briscoe's arguments to insure everyone an exit in case of accident. At several times it appeared that there was no one in charge of the meeting, and President Hersey has been accused of leaving the meeting in the lurch. The truth of the matter is that he was acting in two capacities. He was president of the A.S.U.I. and

WILL GIVE PIANO RECITAL AT GARFIELD

Frank Mitten, talented young musician of Moscow, attending the University of Idaho, will give a piano recital next Saturday afternoon at Garfield, Washington. Several citizens from that town recently heard Mr. Mitten in a recital here, and immediately requested him to appear in their city. He is a student of Mrs. Sharp, assistant professor of Music at the university.

The Elwetans announce the pledging of Mason Wills of Kooskia.

VARSITY PLAYERS TO PRESENT THREE PLAYS

Last Appearance of Semester to be Friday Night In U. Hut

The Varsity Players will present their last series of one-act plays this semester in the University Hut next Friday evening at 8:15 and, according to the opinion of those who have seen them, "My Lady's Dress," "The Rider of Dreams," and the "Rim of the World" will surpass anything given so far this semester.

"My Lady's Dress," by Edward Knoblock, is a complete scene from the play of the same name, and is laid in a dressmaking establishment belonging to a Jew. The whole thing is a very clever study of human nature and it firmly establishes Knoblock's reputation as a playwright. Another scene from the same play was produced last year and made a decided hit, which promises well for the success of this presentation. Ted Turner and Pearl Stalker play the leads.

"The Rider of Dreams," by Ridgeley Torrence is a Negro folk play filled with characteristic southern dialect. The cast will consist of: Pauline Pierce, J. M. Raeder, Doy McKinley, and Kenneth Hunter.

"The Rim of the World," the last of the group, is by Floyd Dell, the author of "Moon Calf" and "The Briary Dush." This play will appeal to those who like a combination of gypsies, oriental costumes and colorful settings. In the cast are: Mrs. Schoonover, Eugene Springer, Maxwell Sholes and Talbot Jennings.

GOLD STAMPEDE ENDS IN A BOOK

Yellow Metal Brings Idaho Into Statehood and Suggests Magazine Name.

By ROBERT L. HOLBROOK.

"The Nugget," the name of the new literary magazine soon to be published at the University of Idaho, will be one of the most notorious features in connection with the book. Briefly, it will epitomize the chief factors in the foundation of the great commonwealth of Idaho.

Historically, the discovery of "yellow metal" augmented the great influx of miners that later

Comic Scribes May Win Copy of "Nugget" by Contribution of Best Article Out of Five.

A free copy of "The Nugget," new literary magazine to make its bow to the campus the latter part of February, will be given to the student who turns in the best humorous article before the tenth of month, according to an announcement just made by the managerial staff, which is rapidly culminating plans for the placing of the book in the hands of the printer.

The crying need of the magazine up to date is the submission of more material by the individual students. The information advanced with the announcement of the contest for the best article of a humorous vein.

Must Be Five Articles.

The article to meet the requirements of the contest must be between 150 and 300 words and portray a story of interest to everyone. The reservation is made, however, that at least five articles must be submitted. But there is no limit to the number that each individual may contribute.

The staff felt it necessary to specify that five articles must be turned in in order to secure sufficient material to enable the editors to make a real competitive selection. It is highly probable that this feature will be used in connection with every issue.

Much Discussion Over Magazine.

The magazine itself is causing no little amount of discussion on the campus as the date of publication draws near. Editorial and managerial plans are practically complete and everything is being set in readiness for the appearance of the book.

A considerable advertising campaign is being waged upon the campus in behalf of the magazine that it may receive the cooperation of the entire student body. The book will be an independent venture by the students and the desire is to get them behind it in every conceivable

Babes Sweep Down on Lumberjacks Led by Rich Fox and Win 45-18

(By TED TURNER.)

Playing exceptionally good basketball for a freshman team, the U. of I. frosh team swooped down on the husky bunch of lumberjacks from the Potlatch A. C. and when the smoke of battle had cleared, the scoreboard showed a score of 45-18, in favor of the Frosh. The first half was fast and furious, but the superiority of the Babes was shown after the first ten minutes of play and by the end of the half the Woodsmen were beginning to show signs of the terrific pace set by the Freshmen. The half ended 24-12.

From the first tip-off the Babes displayed a brand of basketball that was dazzling and which was unexpected of them by fans who have witnessed previous Freshmen games. They

Dr. Schmitz Honored By Scientific Group

The rank of fellow in the American Association for the Advancement of Science has been conferred upon Dr. Henry Schmitz, associate professor of forest products in the school of forestry, University of Idaho, an honor awarded only for noteworthy achievement in some field of scientific research. This distinction comes to Dr. Schmitz largely because of his contributions in studies of wood decay.

STANFORD BEGINS BASEBALL PRACTICE

Stanford University, Palo Alto, (P.I. P.A.)—With the advent of a modified form of spring weather and an occasional dry field on which to work out, Coach Harry Wolter's 1923 baseball team is now getting in the early rudiments of diamond technique. For the past week, five old varsity men and forty others have reported for light workouts. Coach Wolter intends to divide the squad into four baseball nines, and four or five inning games will be played every afternoon.

REGISTRATION TO BE MONDAY AND TUESDAY

Will Follow Plan Used for First Semester Enrollment

Registration for the new semester will begin next Monday morning, February 5, at 8:30 and continue for two days. It will be conducted in much the same manner as last fall and the hours will be 8:30 to 12:00 and 1:30 to 5:00 for each day. Students are urged to register promptly as all registration must be completed by Tuesday evening or two dollars will be added to the fee. Old students who intend to continue the same curriculum will report to the registering office of their college. Here they will make out a prospective course and submit it for the approval of the dean.

Students Desiring to Change.

Students desiring to change their curricula must report to the dean of the college in which they were last enrolled and get a change of curriculum card. This must be signed by both the dean of the college they are leaving and the college they are entering and turned in to the registrar's office.

All new students should report to room 206 of the Administration building to the admissions committee before attempting to register.

Sections will be practically the same as last semester so persons intending to remain in the same course should enroll for the same sections, unless a special arrangement is made. Mr. McLaughlin will arrange all classes in freshman English.

All sophomores having irregularities in English should report to Dr. Miller and all ex-service men who have not all ready presented their discharges must do so at the time of registration.

What Makes A Good Date, Asks Indiana Women

University of Indiana.—"What are the essentials of a 'good date'?" queried the women students of Indiana university, who aim to please. Accordingly, they took a census and found that brains are no attribute so far as popularity is concerned. A good line seems most desirable. Sense of humor and pulchritude came in for their share, while sorority qualifications was ignored completely.

Indiana co-eds, after satisfying their curiosity, declare that it doesn't mean anything. As for the men—well, silence is golden.

Imagine the lowly snake inviting his beloved into the luxuriant depths of a barber chair to have her snow white neck shaved. What a boon! While he is having his manly jaw scraped he can keep his only on in the next chair amused with pusillanimous perflage.

FINAL ANNUAL SALE OPENS NEXT MONDAY

It is Expected That by Tuesday 90 per cent of Students Will be Signed Up

Everything is in readiness for the last Gem of the Mountains subscription sale which will open next Monday morning, according to Charles Preuss, editor, and Glenn Wilkinson, business manager of the year book, who are in charge of this last subscription campaign. It is expected that by Tuesday evening will see from ninety to ninety-five per cent of the student body signed up for one or more copies of the book.

Orders may be placed with the representatives stationed in front of the main bulletin board or in the halls of the Administration building, where subscriptions will be taken throughout the two days. The price of the book will be approximately the same as last year, $1.50; $2.00 of which must be paid when the order is given and the balance when the book is delivered in the spring.

Be No Second Edition.

Bids for the printing of the year book are being closed, according to Wilkinson, and it is necessary that he should know the number of books desired, since only those ordered will be printed. There will be no second edition of the Gem of the Mountains and anyone who may expect to obtain an annual at some later date will be disappointed.

The Gem of the Mountains this year will be somewhat larger than last year's book and will be entirely different in material design with many new features including a new and especially attractive cover design.

Mr. Preuss, the editor, states that work is well under way and the various department heads are getting their material into shape, and that the book will probably go to press early in April and will be finished about the first of June.

ONE MORE DRIVE.

A campaign for $10,000,000 to make the University of Southern California the greatest in the west will soon be undertaken in California.

AGS AND LAWYERS ARRANGE BET ON INTER-SCHOOL GAME

A wager which will be of a great deal of interest to the school in general was arranged Sunday evening by Chief Justice of the Supreme Court Abie Goff and High Potentate Fat Stevens of the Ag. school, of the outcome of the game soon to be staged between the local schools of law and agriculture.

Rumors as to some such wager have been for some time current. On Sunday evening, however, the first definite announcement was forthcoming. A special representative of the Argonaut witnessed the meeting of the representatives of the two institutions, and consequently can present to the public the following agreement:

We, the students of the schools of law and agriculture of the University

Game Was Scrap From Start To Finish

Spectacular and decisive was the 28-19 defeat administered to the Cougar quintet of basket-shooters, Saturday evening, in the university gymnasium by Coach MacMillan's tribe of Vandals. The impressive "comeback" of the Idaho hoop artists well avenged the Pullman disaster of the night before and proved that Idaho is still a factor to be contended with in the race for conference honors.

A "scrap from start to finish" was the frequent comment, but never for a moment after "Oz" Thompson dropped a neat one for Idaho's first count, was the issue in doubt. Outplayed and outfought, W.S.C. was on the defensive throughout the entire first half, making but two field goals and two free throws for a total of six points.

Al Fox was the high point accumulator of the game, converting 10 out of twelve free throws, while "Oz" Thompson was second with three field baskets to his credit. Friel and Roberts were high point men for the visitors, each annexing five points.

Idaho Scores First Three Minutes.

Idaho hoopsters with blood in their eyes started the scoring three minutes after play began, when a pass from Telford to Thompson netted two points. Two baskets each by "Ade" Nelson and "Bill" Gartin, and one by Telford and four free throws by Fox gave the Vandals a safe lead of ten points at the end of the half.

Substitution of Edwards for Telford shortly before the end of the first half, with "Telly" going in in the second were the only changes made by Idaho during the game.

Second Half Rough.

The second half was rough and hard fought with fouling frequently on both sides. W.S.C. tried valiantly to overcome the Vandal lead and with long shots by Sorenson and Roberts were able to reduce it by one point.

The close guarding of Schroeder and Sorenson prevented Captain "Al" Fox from making any baskets, but caused the Cougar guards to foul time and again in their attempts to stop him.

In the closing minutes of the game, the W.S.C. forwards tried shot after shot from every position on the floor in a vain attempt to stem the tide of defeat. The game ended with Idaho passing the ball under the Cougars' basket.

For W.S.C. Sorenson, Friel and Loomis did good work, with the husky center having a little edge on his team mates. Individual stars for Idaho were hard to pick; Telford playing a brilliant game at guard, while Thompson was high point man on field baskets. "Al" Fox sustained his reputation as the best free throw tosser on the coast.

A WORTHY UNDERTAKING

One of Idaho's graduates of last spring has voluntarily taken upon himself an obligation which every one of us could well afford to copy, and one which deserves more than passing mention. In a recent letter to a university faculty member, he stated that each year throught his life, he will send to the library of his Alma Mater the best new book which he can find written upon a subject in which he is vitally interested. "I feel that in this way," he states, "I will be able to partially pay a debt of gratitude which I owe to my Alma Mater, and I feel also that it will keep me in closer touch with the university than anything else which I would be able to do."

Therein lies a story. What a world of personal good we could get from searching through the newer publications in our own particular branch of endeavor, and picking from them the one we thought best to put in the University of Idaho library. It would serve as a definite tie to the University campus where for four years we lived and learned. It would mean keeping Idaho forever in our minds and in our hearts.

If one hundred students, going out to the four corners of the world each year, would annually send back to their University one carefully chosen book pertaining to their work, it would be but a short while until the library would be receiving a huge number of the best books obtainable. Coming as they did from former students, they would be doubly appreciated, and would show in a measure that the more serious side of a student's life here on the campus was really appreciated by him.

TOO OLD TO IMPROVE?

We got some real enjoyment out of the little farce put on by the local chapter of the Intercollegiate Knights between halves at last Saturday's game, but regardless of any more serious sentiment which might have been contained therein, the Argonaut still feels that better methods of leadership in college yells could be devised than that practiced at Idaho.

Far be it from us to advocate more mannerly yelling. The more enthusiasm, volume, and spirit which we can show to our team, the better Idahoans we will be. It was the author's privilege this past fall to witness yell leaders from the recognized three leading universities on the Pacific coast, (to-wit, Stanford, California, and Washington) in action, and the noticeable outstanding distinction between the leadership of the Idaho men, regardless of their excellent intentions, was that they failed to crouch into an Egyptian pose preparatory to and during the leading of yells. They seemed to be able to instill more life and genuine jazz per student in perfectly ordinary individually human methods than we seem to be able to do here.

The Argonaut thought that possibly a change to a more modern method as interpreted by leading western institutions might be an advantage. Maybe not, though.

OFFER IS MADE TO HUMOR ARTISTS

Although the first publication of the "Nugget" has been made possible by the helpful spirit of the English club which sponsored the book in a financial manner, the magazine is being edited and managed clearly outside the club.

The idea is to collect material from whatever source obtainable for the booklet. In order that this might be done everyone is proffered an invitation to submit articles, be they humorous or serious, essays or stories.

To get into print these articles will not need to be of the commonly highbrow type, as many seem to have the opinion. The aim is to collect merely the best well written stories, essays, sketches that can be written at the university and reproduce them in the "Nugget," so that all may have an opportunity to enjoy them.

A Real Souvenir.

Copies of the new magazine will be real souvenirs for two reasons, state those in charge of the first publication, who are earnestly endeavoring to show the value of such a publication to the student body and the institution. They say:

"In the first place the book will be a departure in the extra curricula activities at Idaho to be undertaken for the first time. Nearly every other institution publishes its pseudo-literary magazine but so far only sporadic attempts have been made here to launch such a book.

"With students at the helm of the 'Nugget' both from the managerial and editorial standpoints, the occasion is at hand for the beginning of a magazine that will reflect with a great deal of credit on the university and student body. All that is necessary is the unqualified cooperation from the students themselves.

"The book will be a souvenir that every student will want to keep with him, not only because it is a new departure, but because it will contain reminiscences of days that can never be recalled but which will never fade from memory."

PROF. CLAUS PLAYS TO CAPACITY AUDIENCE

There is a promise of freedom regained and the movement sweeps on in ever growing harmonies to a passionate climax, broken by a despairing shriek—the foot of the conqueror has descended once more. The first movement is resumed with gloomy fervor; there is momentary despair which given way to a solemn promise to be prepared when the true call for freedom comes.

For an encore he played "Humoresque," by Dvorak, which is always a great favorite.

Last Number Requires Skill.

The last number on the program was "Souvenir de Hayden," by Leonard, which, like the first number, required much skill in execution. It was certainly a brilliant ending to a very splendid program. As an encore to this, Mr. Claus played "Souvenir," by Drdla. Throughout the program he played with intense feeling, successfully carrying his audience to the point of living each number as he played it.

Professor Florence R. Sharp, assisted Mr. Claus at his recital. The art of accompanying is a most difficult one and especially violin accompanying. That Professor Sharp, possess talent in this art, was easily discernable by the extreme ease and skill with which she accompanied Mr. Claus. The virtuous character of a great deal of violin music, and the lack of words, make it extremely difficult to follow. Mrs. Sharp has a very highly developed technique which is an added requisite in accompanying. She wore a beautiful gown of watermelon shade, which was exceedingly becoming.

Receive Much Applause.

Mr. Claus and Professor Sharp were greeted with enthusiastic applause after each intermission, which certainly showed that the concert was a decided success. There is no doubt but that Mr. Claus has won a permanent place in the hearts of all music lovers.

AGS AND LAWYERS TO STAGE WICKED BATTLE

Agriculturalists Accept the Challenge Sent From Law School

Again the edicts have been posted and once more we are to witness another terrible slaughter. Students who by chance read the warrants posted on the bulletin board were shocked and surprised to learn that the most honored lawyers have challenged said party of the second part, namely our most worthy Ags. to one man and murderous session of basketball. Also, that said Ags. have duly accepted said challenge and have faithfully promised said lawyers that they will meet them any time and anywhere, providing it is not during the harvest season, or plowing time.

The managers of both teams are equally silent about the inside "dope" on their respective teams. It is needless to state that the Ags. are wonderful basket shooters, because of their large experience at pitching hay, and they have a first class pilot, and the lawyers must be wonderful guards because of their protective ability.

The following rules have been drawn up for the contest:

1. No member of the Ags. will have in his possession during the time of the game pitchforks, milk bottles or any other dangerous weapon.
2. No member of the law school shall have in his possession any law books weighing over two pounds, nor shall he utter any word to the Ags. during the game which shall contain more than ten letters.
3. The team shall have more than five men on the floor at any one time.
4. Each captain shall reserve five rooms in the infirmary before the night of the game.
5. No participant of this game will be allowed to take more than four chews of snoose during the contest.
6. Game will be called on time.
7. The herders will usher during the game.

GOLD STAMPEDE ENDS IN PUBLICATION BOOK

led to the creation of the State of Idaho and still later to the choice of "Nugget" as the name of the literary publication. Just as in California the discovery of gold was the impetus for the building of the state of "perennial sunshine," so too was the discovery of gold on Canal creek near the modern Pierce City by Captain E. D. Pierce in the summer of 1860 the chief determinant in the invasion of Idaho by the gold seekers that later lead to the upbuilding of the State.

Pierce Discovers Gold.
Captain Pierce's find on the tributary of Orofino creek was followed immediately by a tremendous influx of fortune hunters. Discoveries of the precious metal rapidly spread over the entire state until Idaho came to be ranked well at the forefront as a gold producing state. Later silver and lead became important, but gold was first.

In 1863, just three years after Captain Pierce unearthed the treasure of gold hidden in mother earth at Pierce City, Idaho was created a territory. This was so immediate that it was nothing short of phenomenal and led to the admission of a part of that territory into statehood in 1890.

The Miner and Gold Pan.
With the discovery of gold and its consequent importance in the development of the state, came the miner with his gold pan to wash out the precious material that spelt fortune for him and enriched the coffers of the United States during the Civil war period.

Feature the prospector eagerly watching the contents of his pan wash out until the gleaming metal was cleaned of all dross. See the yellow dust and the nuggets that remained and you can get some picture of the causes leading to the settlement of Idaho and its subsequent rapid progress.

"Nugget" Suggestive Name.
"The Nugget" subtly suggests not only the factors most deeply concerned in the development of the state, but characterizes as well the contents of the magazine, publication of which will mark a greatly to be desired departure at the university.

"The Nugget" will be replete with the literary "finds" at the university, but not in the highbrow sense of the word. The contents are to be literary in that the material will represent the best obtainable at the university.

The magazine is to be divided into departments for humorous articles, essays, narratives and the various other kinds of composition that will make it an all around book of good reading and a suitable souvenir for those days after college.

had everything from team work to an ability to shoot baskets that was a sight for a weary fan who had to sit on somebody else's foot the entire evening. The team showed exactly 100 per cent improvement over their first appearance against the fast Walla Walla high school team, and Coach Squinty Hunter deserves a lot of credit for the way in which he has built this team out of practically all green material.

The whole team played wonderful basketball but the work of Stevens, at guard, and Talbot, at center, probably stood out a little from the others. Stevens played a wonderful game at guard and shot six baskets to boot. He and Talbot, also with six baskets, were tied for high point honors. Talbot got the tip-off most of the time and played the floor and shot baskets like veterans. Stillman showed his usual speed and played an awfully nice game all the way. He also converted 9 out of 15 free throws. "Wee-Wee" Cotter had a tough job handed to him when he was told to watch Rich Fox, but the little boy came through in great style and held the former Idaho star and captain to three baskets. Rowe played a good consistent game at guard and broke up several plays that might have gone for baskets. We take of our hats to you, Frosh, and we hope that you will keep right on going. For Potlatch, Rich Fox displayed some of his old tim form and several times brought forth bursts of applause by his brilliant floor work. He made three pretty shots from well into the middle of the floor. Burrows also played a nice game for Potlatch. In fact, all of them did at first, but the Babes were simply too fast for them. They had to resort to long shots because they never got very close to the basket. Burrows had a tooth knocked out in the second half and was replaced by Hansen.

THE LETTER "E"

The most unfortunate letter in the alphabet, some say, is the letter "e", because it is always out of cash, forever in debt, never out of danger, and in Hell all of the time. That's all quite true. Still it's never in war, always in peace and always in something to eat. It is the beginning of ECONOMICAL, and without it there would be no health. It is the beginning of existence, commencement of ease and the end of trouble. It is the center of honesty and always in love. It is the beginning of encouragement and endeavor and the end of failure. It comes in life but once and is always found in heaven.

Display of Spring Modes in Dresses of Taffeta

Remarkable Values at

$24.75

There is an unmistakable air of grace and refinement about really smart frocks that has its appeal to women of discrimination, and in this remarkable display modishness combines with real value and a very moderate price.

The chic styles of which three are here illustrated will appeal to women and misses.

The taffeta used in these dresses is of the best quality, crisp, dainty and lustrous, and the workmanship has that exquisite finish of detail that distinguishes the really smart frock.

Some of the smart features are skirts with basket-weave hem borders and panels; the "petal" skirt trimmed with tucks and rosettes; the slightly bouffant skirt with its billowy gracefulness adorned with ribbon flowers. The waist parts are charmingly conservative in line and variously adorned. Most of the frocks have collars of self material, lace or Georgette.

Colors: Brown, Navy, Black

Graduate fellowships are being offered in Belgium universities for the academic year 1923-1924 for the study of scientific subjects, by the Commission of Relief in Belgium. These fellowships are open to graduates of standard universities of the United States.

S.A.E.'s Still Lead In Intra-Mural Race

The S.A.E.'s are still at the top in the Intra-Mural League. By defeating the Kappa Sigmas, 16 to 15 last Thursday night they have practically cinched the pennant. The S.P.A.'s have dropped out of the league, and have forfeited all games to their opponents, which will give each team one more game to their credit. No games will be played this week on account of the final examinations. There are at present six games to be played before the contest is finished. These six games will probably be played immediately after registration.

The following games were played last week:

Team	Won	Lost	Average
S.A.E.	8	0	1.000
Phi Delts	6	1	.857
Sigma Nu	6	2	.750
Kappa Sigma	5	2	.714
Betas	4	3	.571
Fijis	4	3	.571
Lindley	2	6	.250
Elwetras	2	6	.250
Phi Alpha Psi	1	7	.125

The schedule for the final games will be posted in next week's Argonaut.

LONDON WILL HAVE BIGGEST STADIUM

The world's largest athletic stadium, now being completed, will be opened at Wembley, England, by King George sometime next April. It has already cost well over a million dollars.

This amphitheater, situated in the suburbs of London will provide seats for 126,500 spectators, 23,000 of whom will be under cover. Quarters will be provided for over 500 athletes. There will be separate dressing rooms for the football teams, gymnasiums, plunge baths, and recreation rooms.

For the general public there will be a restaurant seating 1000 persons at a time and capable of being converted into a dance hall.

ALTHOUSE CONCERT PROMISES GREAT DEAL

Paul Althouse, one of the foremost American tenors will give a concert at the University Auditorium Tuesday, February 13, it was announced by Professor E. O. Bangs the first of this week.

Althouse is declared to be a tenor without equal in this country today, and his appearance on the Pacific coast at this time is being anxiously looked forward to by musical critics. Those who heard Arthur Middleton last year will probably get even more enjoyment from the Althouse concert here next month, as the two singers have many qualities in common. Althouse, though, is said to have a higher voice than Middleton, which adds greatly to his intonation. The two men have just recently returned from Australia, where they have been touring together, and where they were received enthusiastically.

Seats for the concert will be one dollar to everybody. Reserved seats will be put on sale at Hodgins' Drug Store Friday, Mr. Bangs stated.

Pledges All Active.

These girls were admitted for taking active part in hockey, basketball, hiking, tennis and rifle shooting. A new system is being worked out by which points will be given for each sport. This is to encourage the girls to turn out for more sports.

Much added interest is being shown in the association at the present time, due to the proposed amendments to the A.S.U.I. constitution providing for recognition of the W.A.A. as an official organization of the A.S.U.I. and for a manager of women's athletics, who is to be nominated from members of the W.A.A.
