

Vandals Battle Onward To Pinnacle Of Conference

IDAHO WINS FROM OREGON MEN, 32-29

Hair-Raising "Battle of the Ages" Ends in Signal Victory—Most Spectacular Game of Season—More Thrilling Than Famous Washington Contest Last Years.

MAC'S MACHINE IS GREAT

Captain Al Fox Makes Five Field Baskets and Seven Free Throws

(By Ted Turner.)
Now listen, let me tell one. Unless you saw that game Monday night between Idaho and Oregon you haven't seen a real basketball game. Yes, I know. Those Washington games last year were good, but I want to tell you about the "Battle of the Ages." Talk about fight, and passing, and shooting, and everything else. Well, listen. I'll start right at the first and if you don't think this was some ball game—well it was.

To begin with, there was a lot depending on that game. It was to tell whether Idaho had a chance to win the old championship or not and those kids were pretty nervous. Its enough to make anybody nervous. And when Mac put it up to them before the game started you could see tears in their eyes but you could see more than that in their faces. You could see those men were going out there to give Mac and the university everything they had. And boy, they sure came through in great shape.

Crowd Goes Wild.
But to go on with the story, when that old whistle blew for the first tip-off the fellows on both teams were rarin' to go. Oregon got the first tip-off and then lost the ball to Idaho. They battled back and forth for about two minutes before either team had a chance to shoot. The crowd was yelling and the players couldn't hear the whistle. All of a sudden "Hunk" Latham, of Oregon, got hold of the ball out in the middle of the floor and whang, he shoots one clear from the center ring. Of course we all thought it was an accident and the crowd went wild.

They were sure battling. Some one made a foul on Idaho and Al dropped one in for Idaho's first score. Then on the next tip-off Al made an awful pretty basket. That put us in the lead by one point and we sure kept it all the first half. Everybody was so nervous that they couldn't hang on to the ball very well but they were sure scrappin'; both sides. And the

Torsen-Morris Marriage Held Monday Afternoon

The Morris home was the scene of a beautiful wedding Monday when Esther Jane Morris, a member of Gamma Phi Beta sorority, and Henry L. Torsen of Kappa Sigma were united in marriage in the presence of forty close friends and relatives.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. B. Morris of Moscow. She is a member of the class of '24. Mr. Torsen is a well known man on the Idaho campus, having graduated in commerce in 1922.

Before the ceremony Miss Louisa Martin sang "At Dawning," accompanied on the piano by Miss Margaret Collins. Miss Morris wore a dress of cream baronet crepe with veil and carried a bouquet of ophelia roses and frezillas. Miss Fay L. Morris was bridesmaid and Lynn Hersey best man. The young couple left Monday afternoon for the coast where they will spend a short honeymoon. They will take up their residence at Potlatch, Idaho, where Mr. Torsen is in the employ of the Potlatch Lumber company.

W.S.C. COUGARS CHECK

O.A.C. QUINTET, 19-16

(Special to Argonaut.)
Washington State College, Pullman—Washington college Cougars checked the Oregon college basketball team Monday night, winning 19 to 16, after a thrilling game. Hjelte, powerful and effective O.A.C. center, was high point man with six field baskets to his credit.

Shroder of Washington State and Kelso, playing his first game of varsity basketball, were the heroes of the evening. The score was 16 to 15 in favor of O.A.C. A foul was called on O.A.C. and Shroder made good on both free throws, giving W.S.C. an extremely uncomfortable one point lead. Then Kelso arose to the emergency, hooped a field basket with 20 seconds to play, and the game was won.

Washington State led at the end of the first half, 10 to 8.

Two hundred eighty new students enrolled at the University of Washington this term.

Indoor Track Meet Scheduled March 3

With the conclusion of the intramural basketball tournament, won by Sigma Alpha Epsilon quintet a call has been issued by the athletic department for the first intramural indoor track meet ever held at the university. The meet will be held in Lewis court on March 3.

All participants must be above passing in their studies. Letter men may compete, but they cannot enter in an event in which they have won a letter. Each organization may enter two men for each event, with the exception of the relay.

Each man turning out for any event must train with the frosh and varsity track teams for a period not shorter than ten days. Any man who violates any of the rules will be declared ineligible for the meet.

The events scheduled for the meet are: 40-yard dash, 40-yard low hurdles, 40-yard high hurdles, high jump, broad jump, shot put, one mile relay, two mile relay, and pole vault. The last two events may not be held. Judges for the meet have not been determined as yet by the athletic department.

POINT SYSTEM ADAPTED FOR WOMEN'S ATHLETICS

Adoption of a point system for women's athletics was decided on at the Women's Athletic association meeting held Friday evening in room 108. A committee composed of Vera Luse, Bess Bernhardt, and Pauline Pence was named to work out the details of the system.

A plan similar to that in use in California will doubtless be adopted. Under this plan awards are given to women qualifying points.

NEW SIGNAL WHISTLE SCREAMS IDAHO'S WIN

FORESTERS' LOGGING STEAM SIG- GEN PROPERLY INITIATED.

Beta and Phi Delt Fog Horns Drowned in Paean of Victory Monday Night.

Be calm, lumberjacks, be calm! That was the Toots-E signal whistle you heard, but it was not blown as as a signal to grab your canthooks and heave ho on a log. Nor was it blown to set chokers on the logs or an opportune time to fill your lips full of snoose. It was blown to broadcast the 32 to 29 score and Idaho's victory over Oregon.

Toots-E came here to prove that the present means of notifying the world of Idaho's victories are entirely too slow. Toots-E is here to do better and started out with a bang Monday night after the Oregon-Idaho game. Toots-E itself is located at the university heating plant where the steam is secured but the whistle is blown by a lumberjack who is calmly watching the games in the gymnasium. All that is necessary is to make an electric contact and Toots-E does the rest. Its loud signal of victory is carried all over the country and its sound waves will be picked up by every radio broadcasting station in the country and the victory sent beyond Toots-E's reach. It is claimed that the whistle can be plainly heard at a distance of two miles.

Beat Fog Horns.
To keep pace with Toots-E the Beta and Phi Delt frosh will have to devise some faster than electricity device to manipulate their horns. It is rumored that already these frosh have registered for courses in mental telepathy.

During basketball season, the whistle will be blown at the end of the first half and will announce the score by blowing one sharp blast for each point. Idaho's score will always be announced first then after a lapse of several minutes, Toots-E will announce the opponents' score by short, sharp blasts. At the end of the game the whistle will be continuous for several minutes in the case of a victory, then will announce the score and finally will be blown continuous again. Toots-E does not know how to blow the defeat signal nor will it have occasion to use it.

The school of forestry is responsible for this latest means of informing all athletic fans of Idaho's victories. Toots-E was loaned to the school of forestry for demonstration purposes by the C. M. Lovsted and company of Seattle, Washington, who are manufacturers of this famous logging signal whistle.

IDAHO PRESENTS PLAY FOR INLAND TEACHERS

HIGH TRIBUTE PAID TO UNIVERSITY ACTORS.

Pearl Stalker and Abe Goff Take Leading Parts in Production of "It."

A University of Idaho all-college cast has been selected to present a play at the annual convention of the Inland Empire Teacher's association at Spokane, April 4 to 6, according to a statement by James A. Burke, secretary of the association. Lord Dunsay's "It" has been selected as the vehicle of Professor J. H. Cushman, director of dramatics and work is already going forward. Several of the leading members of the cast have been chosen.

Preliminary tryouts have resulted in Pearl Stalker of Boise and Abe Goff of Walla Walla, Wash., being chosen for the leading parts. Other important roles will be played by

HONOR CODE SUBJECT FOR NEXT ASSEMBLY

A. S. U. I. MEETING COMES WEDNESDAY MORNING.

Spring Pageant and Nominations for Co-Ed Glee Club and Athletic Managerships.

The "Honor Code," a code which includes the honor system in examinations, will be definitely presented for student action at the assembly Wednesday morning.

"The A.S.U.I. will take over the assembly Wednesday morning with the idea of feeling out student opinion upon the much discussed honor code which is at present in effect in so many schools and colleges in the United States," said Lynn Hersey, president of the A.S.U.I.

"The honor system has been in effect in the law school and school of mines for a number of years, and Dean F. A. Thomson, head of the school of mines and Dean O. P. Cockerill, head of the law school, will give the student body talks on the success of the code, as applied to examinations, in the past."

To Explain Code.
Mr. Hersey will explain the code thoroughly and give a resume of its success in other schools in order that the college may have a definite idea as to the working and feasibility of the plan, then the meeting will be opened for general discussion.

"The consideration of the problem is of great significance to the school, and we will do all we can to let the student body get a thorough understanding of it before we take the consensus of opinion," said Mr. Hersey.

Spring Pageant.
Tentative plans for a spring pageant will be given by Rex Kimmel, and a committee will be appointed by the chair to cooperate with the faculty in making the arrangements. Probably the pageant will go under a different name this year, and follow a slightly different line than the one given last year. It is planned to make it a yearly affair in the future and to gain as much student interest as possible.

"We have not yet completed our plans on the pageant yet," said Mr. Hersey, "but the committee will start to work upon it immediately."

Nominate Co-Ed Managers.
Nominations for manager of the Girls' Glee club and girls' athletics will be announced in the assembly and a discussion will be held on the Students' handbook. The nominations for two managerships are now being made out.

"We are going to get action on these matters, and stir up something on this campus," said Mr. Hersey, Vesser Takes Two Decisions From Star Visiting 175 Pound Cougar Grappler.

(By LOUIS A. BOAS.)

The Washington State college wrestling team Saturday night defeated the Idaho grapplers in the local gymnasium, 38 to 26, in a tournament which was fast throughout. But two of the six scheduled events were won on falls, four being taken on decisions, and one by forfeiture. Each match went to a fall or decision, the best two out of three being declared the winner, wrestling seven minute periods.

In one of the best matches of the evening, Wesley Phillippi, wrestling at 135 pounds, threw Allen of W.S.C. in the third period with a full nelson. The Idaho grappler clamped on the Girls who wish to make hiking a major sport must make 65 miles during the semester, according to a statement issued by Vera Luse, manager of hiking. She further stated that for those who hike 50 miles it will be counted a minor sport, and that no mileage will be counted except that of scheduled hikes.

These schedules will be posted each week, the first to appear soon on the bulletin board. Hiking classified as a major or a minor sport will count as point towards an award under the new point system being formulated by the Women's Athletic association.

Other officers were Vernon Johnson, Boise, vice president; Blanche Boyer, Mountain Home, secretary; and Alma Baker, Twin Falls, treasurer.

Chapman was elected president by a comfortable majority. He has been prominent in class affairs and in college activities.

The committee in charge of arrangements for the Freshman Glee reported that a definite date had not been set for the dance but that a date would be obtained from the calendar committee before the next meeting of the class.

(By JOEL L. PRIEST, Jr.)
The Argonaut claims credit for being a most reliable dopester. The Argonaut predicted that Idaho would win the Pacific Coast conference championship and behold—the prophecy nears fulfillment.

While Idaho was winning from Oregon, 32 to 29, our friends across the line, the W.S.C. Cougars, were taking the O.A.C. quintet to a trimming, 19 to 16. Saturday at Seattle the O.A.C. players defeated the Washington Huskies, 28 to 25.

The result is to be seen in the percentage column—Idaho, Washington, and O.A.C. are now tied for first place. All Idaho has to do now is to win from the Oregon Aggies here Wednesday night and Idaho and Washington will then be tied if Washington wins from Oregon Saturday at Seattle.

Idaho to Beat O.A.C.
The first and most natural assumption is that Idaho will win from the Oregon Aggies here Wednesday night. With Idaho winning from the Aggies the Vandals will have a record in the Pacific Coast conference of five games won and three lost. With an Idaho victory O.A.C. will be put out of the running with four games won and four games lost.

If both Idaho and Washington win their games Idaho and Washington will be tied for first place in the northern division, but if Oregon beats Washington at Seattle, Washington will be put out of the way and Idaho will be the winner. A victory by Oregon over Washington is somewhat questionable as the game will be on Washington's home floor and Oregon players are on a trip.

Two Plans Possible.
There is no provision in the conference for playing off a tie. Two plans have been suggested. One is

Ninth Annual "Ag Day" Scheduled for March 9

Extensive preparations are being made for the ninth annual "Ag Day," scheduled for March 9. This program is conducted under the auspices of the Ag club, an organization of students specializing in departments in the college of agriculture, of which George Tucker of Notus is president. According to present plans the day will be devoted to animal husbandry, dairy cattle, dairy products, horticulture, and grain judging contests; and fitting contests in poultry, dairy cattle, and animal husbandry. The animal husbandry fitting contests will be divided into beef, sheep and braiding contests.

Appropriate awards are being provided for the winners of each event and also for those making exceptional showings in several events. These awards will be presented at the banquet which will close the day's activities.

The public has been invited to watch the various activities on "Ag Day."

Argonaut Heading

The new Argonaut heading was made for The Argonaut by Donald M. Allan of Rosalia, Wash., a university sophomore. Allan spent a year at the Idaho Technical Institute at Pocatello after graduation from the Rupert high school. His poster work has already attracted considerable attention on the campus and his "chalk-talks" have won admiration. His series of class page drawings for "The Gem of the Mountains" has been accepted.

In the new heading Mr. Allan has combined the activities of the university. The administration building, as seen from the distance in all its beauty is admirably drawn. The six figures are representative of all undergraduate activity, the football and basketball men representing athletics. At the end of the scroll the two books "Service" and "Citizenship" stand for, as does the administration building, the University of Idaho, "devoted to the training of young men and women to the highest type of service and finest citizenship."

The Honor System

Idaho should have "the honor system." You undergraduates of other colleges would do well to observe the college of law and the school of mines. In your arguments as to the advantages of your own particular colleges you will remember that the lawyer or the miner always points with pride to the honor system.

Come to assembly Wednesday and learn about the system. The spring pageant and the nomination of managers for the two recently created women's departments are to be brought up at the meeting. All these matters are of vital importance and their determination rests with the members of the A.S.U.I.

The Vandals

The Vandals lost a couple of games and Idaho's championship chances were presumed to have gone glimmering. That presumption was only a presumption and the Vandals have made Washington's chances for the championship look like chances, and that's all. The Vandals came back and won games and more games and now Idaho stands at the head of the list.

All Idaho is proud of every man on the basketball squad.

"Toots-E Is Here"

Students of the school of forestry, a live wire crew, have filled a long felt need at the university in the installation of "Toots-E," logging signal whistle, which will announce Idaho athletic victories. It might not be a bad idea to have the A.S.U.I. officially recognize the forester's whistle as the official clarion of Idaho victory.

The club will also give preliminary training to prospective rooster kings.

W.S.C. WINS TOURNEY FROM IDAHO MAT MEN.

deadly hold as soon as the men hit the mat, and quickly pinned his shoulders to the canvass for a fall, which came in three minutes and 50 seconds. The first period ended in a draw, with both men on their feet throughout, while Phillippi gained a decision in the second session and cinched a victory in the third fall.

The only other fall of the evening came when Ewing, of W.S.C., threw Molyneaux in the first session of their match after five minutes and 45 seconds of clever mat work. The fall came when Ewing applied a half nelson from which the Idaho man was unable to work loose. The Pullman grappler won the bout in the second period by gaining a decision through more aggressive work, and at one time nearly gained a second fall by the use of a body scissors.

One of the hardest fought matches of the tournament was that between Vesser for Idaho and Bohlke of W.S.C., at 175 pounds, which Vesser won on two straight decisions. Neither man was able to keep his opponent on the mat, and although both fought hard, they ended on their feet at the close of both periods. The Idaho grappler, however, showed more skill and greater power throughout, and there was little doubt as to Vesser's greater aggressiveness.

Kinnison lost his match in the middleweight class to Hamilton, W.S.C., on two out of three decisions. The second period was declared a draw. The work of both wrestlers was good, but the Cougar grappler was a shade the faster, and gained his decisions by greater aggressiveness. Kinnison was handicapped by having been in the infirmary until prior to the match, and was clearly not up to form.

Brown, Idaho heavyweight, was forced to forfeit his scheduled match to Pullman due to being declared ineligible to wrestle through a recent faculty ruling.

Leighty lost his match in the featherweight division to Jahlstrom of W.S.C., on two straight decisions. The W.S.C. man was too fast for the Idaho grappler, and showed more experience.

The final score was given as 38 to 26. Bullivant of Spokane acted as referee.

IDAHO PRESENTS PLAY FOR INLAND TEACHERS.

Maxwell Sholes of Moscow, Rex Kimmel of Kisco, Fla., Marie Gauer of Payette, and Mary Kelly of Denver, Colorado. With the exception of Miss Gauer and Miss Kelly, other members selected so far have appeared in several other university productions.

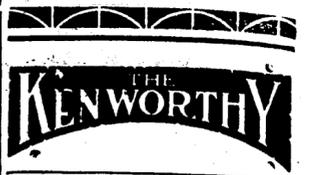

Being selected to present the main attraction at the teacher's convention is considered a high tribute to the ability of the actors developed at the university. The play chosen is considered unusually difficult for college students, but Professor Cushman believes that he has a cast which will give a pleasing interpretation.

The following partial list of appointments for the cast of "If" has been announced: "John Beale," Abe Goff; "May," his wife, Marie Gauer; "Miralda Clement," Pearl Stalher; "Liza," Mary Kelly; "Daoude," Max Sholes; "Ali," Rex Kimmel; Dancer, Grace Morgan.

Three parts are still open for try-outs, "Hafiz el Alcolahan," "Omar," and "Archie Beale."

Pete Druise has been appointed as designer, Ralph Hasbrook as stage manager, Walt Garret as electrician, and Rose Donovan as business manager. Virge McRae will handle the costuming.

Rehearsals on the play will start Tuesday. The company will play here about the last week in March, in Spokane the following week, and again in Moscow at a later date, which has not yet been decided upon.

roll out. It made a fellow sick to see those things roll right out of the basket after the ball was half way through.

Edwards to the Front.

Anyway, Idaho settled down and old Harry Edwards sneaked up and shot two baskets in succession. The gang was showing some awful pretty team work, working together like a charm. Oregon saw that we were started so they called time out. All this time Oregon players were shooting long ones and the shots were coming dangerously close. Our guards had to fight for all they were worth to keep those birds from making counters out of their long shots.

I guess the rest did the Oregon fellows good because when they started to play again Zimmerman made a dandy from way out in the middle of the floor. You had to hand it to Oregon they were sure fightin' and they knew how to play the old game. How the so ever, as you will later hear, we beat 'em fair and square. Anyway, after both sides made a few more points bang went the old gun that ended the first half and the score stood 14-11 in favor of Idaho. Both teams had stood the terrific pace in fine shape and were still full of fight.

Nerve Tension High.

Between halves everybody had to stretch the tense moments out of their systems because there was a lot of them. It was just about as hard on us as it was the players, as far as the nervous strain was concerned. And I was sitting right back of old Mac all this time and say, if you ever saw a man fight right along with his team its that old boy. He's in there fighting with those kids all the time. He is sure a card to watch at a game his team is playing. He gets so nervous and excited and is playing the ball every minute. I'll bet those kids would die for old Mac if he would ask them to. That is just why his teams always get so far. They are fighting for two things, Idaho and Mac.

But to get on with this game. The second half started a little slower than the first but players of both teams were surer of themselves. They were hanging on to the ball better and their passing was more accurate, if such a thing is possible. Idaho started right out to salt the game away and Al shot a foul and then made a pretty basket on top of it. Then this lanky Latham guy stretches out his lunch grabbers from the middle of the floor and dropped in two points for his team mates. Idaho was playing nice basketball but Oregon was shooting baskets from any place on the floor. Then Latham shot a foul that tied the score. Talk about your pandemoniums and Moratoriums and raving maniacs. That old gym was a temporary bug-house. You could see the bald-headed profs. tearing their hair, and the girls were crying and some of them were going hysterical and I guess there were a few tears in all our eyes for that matter. It was just because everybody was so wrapped up in the game. Why, you never saw such ballin' as was going on out there on the floor. Those poor kids were fighting with everything they had but it was mostly the stuff inside of them that carried them through. But those Oregon fellows kept dropping the old ball in for points till they had more than we did. It was pitiful. The score was 21-17 in favor of Oregon and it seemed like our fellows couldn't fight any harder.

Idaho Comes Back.

Al called time out for a minute and then they started after it again.

Zimmerman shot another of his long ones. Telly fought his way clear of about a dozen of those guys and made a pretty basket. On the next tip-off Oz sneaked through the mob and dropped a hard one in. The score was 23-21 in favor of Oregon. The roof started to raise up and down. Everybody was crazy. Then here comes old "Big Ben" Keane tearing his way through the mob and darned if he didn't cut loose and drop the ball in for two points that tied the game. Then the crowd was made. Oregon called time out to stop Idaho's mad rush but it didn't do any good because old Telly shoots a hard one that puts us two points in the lead. We were off.

But Latham again put a crimp in us, temporarily, with one of those long shots which tied the game again. To see those fellows out there battling would make Napoleon turn over in his grave. I tell you those guys would leap twenty feet after that old ball and they guarded each other like they were guarding their own lives. The score was tied. Al wormed and squirmed and fought his way down within throwing distance of the basket and say, it was sure a pretty one. I don't have to tell you what condition the crowd was in. We had just broken the tie and were two points ahead. But then this Latham bird mugged up everything with a couple of fouls that tied the score again. Al came to the rescue of the crowd and shot a foul which broke the tie again.

Crowd Crazy Again.

I tell you it was awful, the condition of that crowd. Oregon was fighting mad because the referee called that last foul. Latham and "Calm" Tommy had a few words. We were one point ahead and then here comes the terrible Swede, Telford, with a basket that made us three points ahead. Twenty seconds to go and then bang. Score 32-29. It was all over but the shouting, and they sure did shout. Everybody was hugging the next person to him or her, and it was my misfortune to be next to a man at that critical moment.

But there you have it. Believe it or not, every word is so, except the last fifteen words of the last paragraph. I only hope the next game is not as hard on my nerves as this one or I will never live to tell you about it. Who were the stars? There are no such things on our team. Every man is a star. They work together so unselfishly that you would think they were members of the same family. But here is a summary of the fracas:

ALUMNI

Donald DuSault, Editor.

Many University of Idaho graduates are now in the medical profession. The Idaho men have received their medical degrees at other institutions and their pre-medical work at the university.

The Argonaut intends to keep the alumni informed of the activities of as many graduates as possible.

Among the Idaho graduates in the medical profession are:

Dr. J. Harry Einhouse, Idaho, '17, is now practicing medicine in Moscow. He is a graduate of the University of Louisville college of medicine. Dr. Einhouse is president of the University of Idaho alumni association.

Tony Taylor Crooks, '09. Dr. Crooks writes that he taught science in the More high school the year after he left college. He then went to Oxford as a Rhodes scholar, where he received his A.B. in 1913. The next year he taught in the Sullivan institute, P. I. He then did medical and research work in bacteriology at the University of Chicago until the war broke out, when he enlisted in the sanitary service and going overseas, saw service in France, Belgium, Germany, Vladivostok and Siberia.

In 1919 he wrote the prize essay of the American Association of Industrial Physicians and Surgeons, and belongs to three honorary medical fraternities. He concludes his letter by saying: "My motto is keep fat, healthy and single, and my hobby is disease bugs." His present location is in Chicago.

Dr. Gifford Fawcett, '09, is living in South Norwalk, Conn. After leaving Idaho he attended Rush Medical college for two years, going from there to Cornell medical school where he received his M.D. in '15. Dr. Fawcett writes that his greatest pleasure is in attending football games between the big eastern elevens and his biggest disappointments are to hear of any defeats in Idaho. Rush medical, or Cornell.

Dr. James G. Montgomery, '11, is now in Kansas City, Mo., where he is on the surgical staff of the Kansas City General and Mercy hospitals. Leaving Idaho he attended the University of Chicago and Rush medical college. He has recently been appointed to the American College of Surgeons.

Dr. Carrall Lee Smith, '21, is practicing in Spokane. Dr. Smith received his M.D. from Northwestern in '04. He writes that he was one of the founders of the American College of Surgeons. He took post-graduate work in eye, ear, nose and throat.

the employ of the C. M. & St. P. railroad and the Washington Water Power company at Spokane, as specialist in that line. The Spokane papers carried an announcement of his engagement in January and the wedding is to take place this month, just before he leaves for South America to attend a convention of physicians and surgeons to be held there.

Dr. Charles Edward Watts, '13, graduated from Rush Medical college in '18, was an intern in the Cook county hospital at Chicago and is now located in Seattle.

Dr. Julian Deigh Boyd, '16, is a practicing physician and surgeon at Caledonia, Miss. He did research work at the state university of Iowa in 1916-17 and received his M.S. in '19 and M.D. in '21. He is married and a member of a number of honorary medical fraternities.

Dr. Delos Edward Cornwall, '03, received his M.D. from Rush Medical college in '07 and at the present time is located at St. Maries, where he is district surgeon for the C. M. & St. P. railroad and is chief surgeon of the Western Hospital association in Idaho.

NO SUCH THING AS TROUT, SAYS PROF.

University of Washington, (P.I. P.A.)—What is a trout? There is no such animal, according to John N. Cobb, national authority of fish, and dean of the college of fisheries at the university of Washington.

Dean Cobb says that a trout is simply a young salmon which weighs under a pound and a half. As a separate variety of fish, a trout simply isn't, he says.

Co-eds at Indiana University are going back to old fashioned shawls, it is rumored. The new shawls are made of silk and are all colors of the rainbow. They are worn knotted around the neck, regular cow-girl style.

SMALL SUM RECEIVED FOR EXPERIMENT WORK

APPROPRIATIONS LOWER THAN IN OTHER STATES.

Activity Devoted to Best Interests of Agriculture Gets Little From Taxation.

Appropriations from state taxation for support of agricultural experiment station work in Idaho, are considerably lower than those in other northwestern states and considerably less than those in many of the other middle western and far western states, according to a tabulation of figures secured from directors of experiment station work in each state.

Of the northwest states Montana heads the list with a total of $272,480 for home and substations; Washington comes next with $202,700; Oregon third with $195,000; Utah fourth with $115,000; and Idaho last with $89,000.

California Leads Field.
California is far in the lead with $1,160,000, of which $600,000 is for home stations and $560,000 for substations. Illinois spends $620,000 for experimental work; Arizona $155,216; Colorado $179,000; Iowa $465,000; Indiana $393,537; Minnesota $613,884; Nebraska $145,943; North Dakota $308,950; and Idaho $89,000. These figures are for the past biennium and do not include federal funds and incomes from the sale of products.

The average of northwest stations, not including Idaho, is $198,295. Idaho's appropriation is 45.3 per cent of this average. It consists of $39,000 for home stations and $50,000 for substations. Agricultural conditions in other states are such that all experimental work can be conducted at the central station.

AGS PAY CONTEST BET

STUDENTS PARADE IN FULL REGALIA OF DEFEAT AS PRESCURBED BY LAWYERS.

Gathering at Morrill hall at 11:55 Friday morning, the Ags, bedecked in the regalia prescribed for them in the glory of their defeat, formed in line and proceeded across the campus to the administration building. Entering by the side door they paraded through the entire building and stopping in front of the college of law they gave vent to their feelings by evoking that justly famous law school yell. Derbies flew in the air and red neckties waved frantically from the redder necks as the sons of the sod, trod rough shod over their vocal cords.

Fifty men, loyal and true, showed that they were real Idaho students by their display of sportsmanship and may it be said of the Ags that "they know their merchandise" when it comes to paying debts of honor.

After leaving the Ad building they formed in line at the "I" bench so that a few erstwhile photographers could snap their pictures and keep forever the memory that an Ag may be defeated but never whipped.

They then proceeded down the walk to the campus steps, where with one last resounding yell they disbanded to look forward to the annual tussel next year for their revenge.

Production of "If" To Be Forward Step

The presentation of "If," as an all-university play sometime this spring will be one more step towards the artistic standard which Prof. J. H. Cushman and the Varsity Players are seeking. Fresh from the pen of the young Irish playwright, Lord Dunsay, its London success was phenomenal, while the advance information from Broadway, where it is soon to appear, points to a similar American reception. Fantastical and spectacular, it will afford a splendid vehicle for the modern methods of direction and staging which are receiving so much attention from the dramatic department.

With such a foundation and with such a display of talent as the productions in the past have shown, the success of "If" is assured. Calling, as it does, for a larger number of characters than is usually required in a college play, it affords an opportunity for several splendid parts. To expedite try-outs, Professor Cushman has asked that all students desiring parts read the manuscript in the library and turn in their names and the parts they want to him, in room 104, Administration building. All the talent in school is urged to turn out and show what Idaho can accomplish.

Year Book Dance Set For Wednesday Night

Immediately following the O.A.C. game Wednesday evening, which is an open date night, the Gem of the Mountains all-college dance will be given at Eggan's hall. This is promised to be a special featured affair, so all the boys and their fair maidens have been urged to shake loose the "dogs" and come out for a good time.

As the proceeds of this dance will go toward financing the special feature section of the year-book, all ye gay ones out and contribute joyously to the cause.

SPANISH CLUB PRESENTS CLEVER PROGRAM FRIDAY

The first entertainment of the Spanish club Friday night in the gymnasium was a success from start to finish. A large crowd dressed as toredors and senioritas enjoyed the short program and spent the evening dancing.

The program consisted of an address of welcome by Marcus Ware, who was followed by the hit of the evening, Darwin Simmons and Ruth Montgomery dancing the "Casucha." The couple performed the difficult dance with ease and were encored time after time. Alberto Vasquez entertained with a recitation after which Delphin Raynaldo and Howard Sarvis played Spanish numbers on string instruments. The program ended with the "Regodon de Honor," danced by six couples. This dance is always used as a preliminary at all Spanish dances and is very beautiful when danced by a large crowd.

The Spanish club membership in which is based upon scholastic records, is practically a new organization on the campus. Plans are now being made to give several Spanish entertainments under the supervision of Delphin Raynaldo, the faculty honorary member of the club.

Agents Jobs On Board Show Recent Increase

The past ten days has seen an increasing number of positions for students posted on the bulletin board, most of which, however, are along the lines of salesmanship. A number of these will bear investigation, and the ambitious student could easily pick up quite a few dollars by taking advantage of some of the offers posted.

The records of the university show that an increasingly large number of students are working their way through college, and all indications point to this number being augmented during the next year. Other universities and colleges all report similar situations.

CLUB MEMBERS' NAMES ASKED FOR BY LEADER

Seventeen present students of the university who have been, at some time or another, members of boys' and girls' clubs in agriculture and home economics have been discovered by District Club Leader H. A. Stone, whose office is in Morrill hall.

Names of all other such former club members are desired by Mr. Stone, who says they may be listed on notices now posted on the bulletin boards in the administration building and in Morrill hall, or they may be telephoned to the extension office, phone 189-J.

Whether the club work was done in Idaho or some other state, such names are desired, and Mr. Stone says it is important to the university as well as to the club members that the list be made complete.

Names thus far obtained are those of George N. Tucker, Calvin S. Pease, Edwin Weick, Frank Schuetz, Harold A. Steele, Elwin H. Scheyer, Lorne H. Wilson, Thomas E. Speedy, Bryan B. Bundy, Clarence Fales, Neil C. Derrick, Cletys L. Gossett, Mable Griffith, Harriet Swart, Wayne M. Biven, Norris Atwood and Wesley Calkins.

University of Arizona, S.I.P.A.—Women of the University of Arizona are to have interscholastic athletics for the first time in the history of the university. The Woman's Athletic association has become much more active with this incentive, and plans are being made for interscholastic basketball, tennis, and marksmanship. Training for the telegraphic track meet will start soon.

"DON'T SEND ME POSIES," CLAIM OF OREGON CO-EDS

University of Oregon, Eugene, (P.I.P.A.)—"Don't send me posies," is the cry of the University of Oregon Pan-Hellenic Council, and the campus is agog. Whether or not the Oregonians mean to follow it up with a plea for shoes is not laid bare, but the women say that the men are put to an unnecessary expense, and that the prevailing styles do not favor corsages anyhow.

The opposition plays up the thrill which comes only from opening a box of flowers, and say that the nose-gays add a touch of color to the most drab party. No settlement has been made by the men are dumbly hopeful.

Weslyan Club Gives Party Friday Night

The Valentine season was fittingly observed by the members of the Wesleyan club who met at the University hut for a delightful social time last Friday evening. The evening was spent in various kinds of amusements, stunts and other pastimes.

The making of valentines, writing a short verse on it and then consigning it to the person whose name had been drawn created more good humor than any other event. When the valentines had been sent and delivered, the recipient read the lines to the interest of the merry-makers. Refreshments of cake and hot chocolate were served at the end of the evening.

W.S.C. GETS CHARTER CHI OMEGA SORORITY

Washington State College, Pullman, (P.I.P.A.)—Word has been received from the national officers of Chi Omega that a charter has been granted to the Omega Theta local group at Washington State college. This makes the ninth national women's fraternity on the campus.

Chi Omega was founded at the University of Arkansas in 1895, and has 52 chapters. The W.S.C. chapter will make the fifth on the Pacific Coast. Omega Theta was organized as a Greek letter group in October, 1921, having existed for two years previously as a club, the Wastaco house. The formal petition was presented to the grand council of Chi Omega in the spring of 1922 and was passed by the national convention in June, subject to inspection. The inspection was made last November by Miss Ada Caldwell, grand vice president of Chi Omega.

W.S.C. SELECTS COACH

EXENDINE, FORMER ALL-AMERICAN END FROM CARLISLE, 3rd INDIAN COUGAR COACH.

Washington State College, Pullman, (P.I.P.A.)—Albert A. Exendine, Carlisle, '09, for the last nine years head football coach at the University of Georgetown, Washington, D.C., has been signed up to coach the Cougar grid men next fall. Exendine is the third Indian coach for Washington State and is another exponent of the famous Warner style. He played for four years under "Pop" Warner at Carlisle and made the All-American team at end position.

Exendine's success at Georgetown is remarkable considering the size of the student body from which he picked his team. He made an excellent showing against the Army, Navy, Princeton, and Dartmouth, and last fall defeated the strong LaFayette team. The contract with W.S.C. is for one year.

University Graduate Speaks To Foresters

Tom Jackson, a graduate of the University of Idaho in 1919 as a logging engineer, addressed the Associated Foresters of the university Saturday morning. Mr. Jackson is on his way to Susanville, Calif., where he has accepted the position of logging superintendent with a large logging concern. Since leaving the university he has been employed as logging engineer for the Edward Rutledge Timber company of Coeur d'Alene.

"The new concern to which I am going," said Mr. Jackson, "is a large modern logging outfit, and one of the things which induced me to accept this offer is the fact that the company is managing its holdings on the basis of a sustained yield, thus giving me a chance to practice forestry, and in this phase of my work I shall have the assistance of an experienced forester."

"In closing," Mr. Jackson added, "I am glad to know that a number of you are preparing to enter the field of logging engineering, as I believe it to be an exceptionally good one, and any young man who is equipped for the work will not need to look long for a job."
