Smoking on Campus

The stand taken on smoking by a student organization has raised a storm of protest from all quarters. This protest does not come from smokers alone, but from everyone who realizes the "blue law" tinge that such a proposal, if carried into effect, would assume.

It is not a question of smoking, it is a question of personal liberty that is involved. Surely students of the university are old enough to determine for themselves whether or not they should be permitted to enjoy the privilege of smoking on the campus. It is not within the bounds of an organization whose avowed purpose is the welfare of the university to assume the right to dictate to a student as to whether he shall or shall not do a thing that is clearly a matter of his own personal choice.

For years smoking was prohibited on the campus, but a year ago the board of regents abolished the rule. This was done as many students, forbidden the right to pursue their own personal pleasures on the campus, utilized the basements of the university buildings for smoking purposes, thereby endangering the building by fire. Since the abolishment of the rule, there has been no smoking in the buildings.

The board of regents saw fit to remove the restriction. Let well enough alone!

High School Guests

The last of the present week members of four Idaho high school basketball teams will be the guests of the university. Extensive plans are being made for the entertainment of the visitors. The high school men will be impressed with the magnitude of the university; they will be impressed with the fine cordiality with which they will be received. As basketball players they are looking forward to playing on the gymnasium floor on which the Pacific Coast basketball championship was won.

The players of the four teams are the best basketball material in the state. Every effort should be made to interest them in their own state higher educational institution. Idaho's brilliant basketball record may be attributed in a large measure to the annual interscholastic basketball tournament. High school players have had an opportunity to visit the Idaho players and they have come to Idaho for collegiate training.

Think It Over

The plan suggested by the Open Forum for adoption of the seniority plan in assembly seating and exit is a commendable one, and calls for serious thought and discussion on the part of the student body.

Without a doubt the present hit-and-miss plan is unsatisfactory, and a change is needed. Whether or not the plan suggested will relieve the difficulty and prove satisfactory is a question, but it at least rates discussion and a fair trial.

March 24—Kappa Sigma initiation dance.

The most attractive formal dance given this college year was the initiation dance of the Omega Phi Alpha sorority Saturday night at Guild hall. The hall was transformed into a beautiful Japanese garden with cherry blossoms lining the walls. A garden wall over which a crescent moon looked pleasantly at the party and a subdued lighting effect were other decorative features.

The programs were attractive. The music and floor were excellent. Refreshments were served by dainty youngsters and a solo dance added to the party.

Patrons and patronesses were Dean French, Mrs. L. A. Gleason, Dr. and Mrs. A. H. Upham, Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Butterfield, and Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Bonnett. The guests were Mr. Chastain of Lewiston; J. Brand, M. Hale, H. Ostrander, N. Wilson, B. Batwell, E. Alexander, R. French, all of Washington State college, W. Casebolt, H. Telford, L. Boas, F. Crandall, P. Drus, J. Emmingham, L. Hersey, P. Omega Phi Alpha announces the initiation of Mildred Minicely of Boise, Florence Green of Salmon, and Fern Cranston of Sandpoint.

Delta Gamma held its annual Founder's Day banquet Saturday evening at the Odd Fellows' hall. The immense banquet table was artistically decorated with festoons of floral decorations in the fraternity colors of bronze, pink and blue. The place cards were little sailor boys and the menus and favors were original and clever. After the feast the girls adjourned to the Delta Gamma house, where the freshmen furnished entertainment. All the active members of Delta Gamma and a number of the alumni were present.

JUNIORS OF BRITISH COLUMBIA ASSUME SENIOR PRIVILEGE

It has for some time been the custom at the University of British Columbia for the seniors to wear gowns to lectures. This term the juniors decided that the honor should not be monopolized by upper classmates. Since Christmas the freshmen have been seeing the seniors and juniors trailing around the halls in academic dignity.

SEVENTEENTH SESSION PROVIDES A MILLION.

(Continued From Page One.) The university was $853,000. The total amount to be received from the action of the seventeenth session of the legislature for the university's bare running expenses and the various sub-departments is $921,000. The $200,000 provision for the science hall brings the total up to $1,121,000.

Consideration of legislation relative to election laws and ways and means of reducing the tax burdens of the people, together with matters pertaining to the educational work of the state, were outstanding features of the seventeenth session of the legislature, according to a statement made by Chris Hagan, representative from Latah county.

Hagan Makes Statement.

Mr. Hagan's complete statement from the Star-Mirror on the activities of the seventeenth session follows:

"Early in the session there was some complaint relative to the educational work of the state. It was thought that no attempt to interfere therewith would be made, but as time went on discussion grew and opinion crystallized to some extent. The first evidence of bringing the matter of educational work before the legislature was a bill introduced by three members of the progressive party, which called for the combining of the offices of the commissioner of education and the state superintendent. Shortly thereafter the second bill was introduced abolishing the office of commissioner and making a radical change in the method of appointment of the board.

"This latter bill, which was known as 211, was extremely vicious in that it made the board of education a political one. This bill was introduced by seventeen members of the house, made up of republicans, democrats and progressives. A hard fight was made against the bill led by the Latah county delegation and entered into by university alumni and friends of educational all over the state.

Dispose of Bill 211.

"The bill was finally disposed of by amending it in such a manner that no one could vote for it, and it died in the hands of a committee. By this time the feeling had become strong that some change should be made in the handling of affairs of the state board of education. Many reasons therefor were given.

"Ninety per cent of these, however, were based on a lack of real understanding of what the state board of education and its officers had accomplished and were attempting to do. Those in opposition to the present system insisted that the office of commissioner of education be done away with at least temporarily, and worked out a proposition of making no appropriation for the salary of the commissioner after July 1. This plan was put through the finance and appropriation committees, and carried by a large majority in both the house and senate.

Gallant Fight Made.

"A gallant fight was put up by those who are informed relative to the educational work of the state, and it was pointed out that the proponents of this action were making employees in the educational work subject to political dictation, and that in disposing of Commissioner Bryan they were dispensing with the services of an educator of national reputation, and one who has done much in building up the educational institutions and the general school system of the state; that for a salary of $5000 the state was receiving services for which others states were paying from $10,000 to $18,000. The demand was insistent, however, and a majority of the members of the senate made it impossible to prevent the action being taken.

"Little or no criticism was heard relative to the university and the work that it was doing. On of the other hand there was much commendation of the university and of President Upham. The feeling towards the university was reflected in the appropriations that were finally secured for its many activities. While the amount received for general maintenance and operation was not all that was asked by the university and the board of education, nevertheless the per cent of increase to be received over the amount had during the past biennium is considerably larger than for any of the other state institutions."

To Approve Science Hall.

The three-eighths mill levy bill finally passed both houses, and Mr.

Hagan is very confident that Governor Moore will sign it, as he is convinced that the university must have a new building if it is to be permitted to grow and develop.

Whether this money can be made available to start the erection of the building this year has not yet been determined. It is believed however that the money will be available to start actual work by the middle of the coming summer.

pegging away and they won enough games on the other fellows' floors to put them in position to play off a tie with University of Washington for the championship of the northern section of the coast conference. And they played this game on a neutral court at Spokane.

High Grade Sportsmanship.
Having defeated Washington and gained the right to play California for the championship of the entire Pacific coast, they had no choice but to play California on the Moscow floor, as the coast college conference last winter voted the deciding games between the northern and southern sections should be played on the home floor of the northern section's champions. Idaho has won the coveted honor of being the best college basketball team on the Pacific coast, and has won it after an up-hill struggle. The quintet of the little Idaho school played a hard game at all times and they accepted defeat when it was their portion with a smile and without making any alibis. In victory they are entitled to all credit, not only for their athletic prowess, but also for their highgrade sportsmanship.

Poor Condition Shown.
Lack of condition was very apparent in a majority of entries in every race. Many were forced to drop out in middle distances and the mile. The need of consistent training which was impressed on contestants by this fact was one of the greatest benefits of the meet.

So short was the course for the hurdles and the sprints that little could be learned of the real ability of contestants. Some little could be ascertained as to their experience and form, however.

The summary of the meet is as follows:

40-yard dash—Casebolt, Sigma Nu, first; Kleffner, Beta, second; Funk, Phi Delta, third; Powers, Phi Alpha Psi, fourth. Time: 5 seconds.

roduction of illustrative material in the succeeding issues.

Although a new venture at Idaho, the "Blue Bucket" promises to become a regular publication. Three issues will be printed this spring, according to plans made before the active work of publishing was undertaken.

The next issue will be edited by the University Press club, which already has plans underway, and will appear on the campus sometime in April. The third number will be edited by Ted Sherman. Talbot Jennings is editor-in-chief. Miss Ruth Hawkins edited the first number.

The business management of the booklet has been conducted by a staff of three. Miss Rosebud Donovan is manager and Paul Harlan and Robert L. Holbrook as assistant managers.

Number of Copies Limited.
The first issue of the magazine has been limited to 550 copies. The large majority of these have been subscribed for in advance and will be delivered before other sales are made.

It is the plan of the business management to place the "Blue Bucket" on sale as Moscow people are interested in the university and have denoted a desire to purchase copies.

club accompaniment, the appealing melody of the song literally taking the audience off its feet.

Open With Student Song.

The program of the club opened with the singing of "Oh Let Us Sing of Idaho," popular university melody, which was followed by Estudiantina, a heavy number well rendered, and a solo by Mr. Riplinger, "Lo How a Rose," and "Matona Lovely Maiden," by the Glee Club, were both roundly applauded and were sung with just the right touch to appeal to the audience.

"Honey I Want Yer Now," sung by the quartet, was given two encores and made a pronounced hit with the audience. "In Absence," and "Musical Trust," two numbers sung by the club were also well received, as was "Rolling Down to Rio." The program closed with the singing of "Idaho Fair."

Professor Edwin Orlo Bangs, head of the department of music, was director of the club, and deserves much credit for the able performance given Friday night. Members of the quartet were Mr. Simmons, Mr. Johnson, Mr. Allumbaugh, and Mr. Vickrey. Robert M. Cummins is student manager of the organization, which consists of 26 men, including the soloists.—L.A.B.

TWO IDAHO PLAYERS ON ALL-COAST FIVE.

The Argonaut staff takes pleasure in calling attention to the fact that The Argonaut's first team is the same team picked by "Doc" Bohler. Mr. Bohler was not influenced in his decision by The Argonaut, probably, but The Argonaut claims credit for good selection.

Mr. Bohler's comment on the players selected follows:

"As has been my custom in making the selection of the all-star Pacific coast conference basketball team I have again taken into consideration the all-star choices of coaches in the conference. There were few variations in first-team selections.

The first forward position unquestionably goes to Captain Al Fox of Idaho, the championship team of the conference. It was largely due to his efforts that his team won the championship. He is a clever man in handling the ball, has the ability to control it and to keep it in his team's possession. He is a good dodger, sidestepper, a master of the pivot and dribble and a clever shot. He also has an exceptionally good record as a foul goal shooter. This is Fox's second year on the team.

Native Son is Selected.

"As a running mate for Fox I choose Talt of California. He is a large, rangy man, fast and has the knack of dropping them in from any position on the floor. He fakes and side-steps exceptionally well and is especially dangerous under the basket with his jump shots. Like Fox he is a fine foul goal shooter and has a record of converting 80 per cent of his tries. This is his second year on the all-star team.

Gill of O.A.C., McHose of Stanford and Friel of W.S.C. have done good work for their respective teams and should have special mention.

Center Hard to Pick.

"The center position is a bit hard to pick, as we have two good men in Latham of Oregon and Hjelte of O. A. C. They are both big, powerful men. The majority of the critics favor Latham. He is give the place over Hjelte on account of his versatility. He is an exceptionally good shot, fast for a big man, and is a very good defensive man. O'Neil of California also deserves consideration for his work in the southern division.

"For the guard positions I give Telford of Idaho first choice. He is a large man, clever in handling the ball, good at diagnosing opponents' plays, is an unusually close guard and showing speed to cover tightly any fast man. Although a guard, in the majority of games he outplayed and outscored his man. For the other guard position I name Crawford of Washington. Although small of stature he nevertheless makes up this handicap in his speed and clever floor work. He is full of fight, exceptionally aggressive, checks closely and is a good shot from any position on the floor.

"Bryan of Washington, Campbell of University of Southern California and Kincaid of California, on account of their stellar work, deserve special mention."

PAPERS HAIL VANDALS WORTHY CHAMPIONS.

"It is explained," reads his lament, "that the Idaho gymnasium is a cramped affair with a low ceiling. The Idaho boys have naturally adapted their game to their home court, and the Bears, with little or no chance for practice on a strange court, doubtless will find themselves handicapped. To be frank, they are fearing the worst."

We do not remember having heard a single sob from Idaho during the entire season, even when the Gem State university's brilliant team was trailing the field in the early part of the northwest conference race and Idaho was meeting the foe on foreign courts. The Muscovite crew kept

Beginning with a talk before the English club Tuesday afternoon William Webster Ellsworth, for 37 years connected with the Century Publishing company, will give a series of three subjects to University of Idaho students and Moscow people.

Mr. Ellsworth is being brought to the university at a very great expense to the institution, the English club and the modern languages department co-operating.

Well Known Lecturer.

The talks which he will give here are perhaps his best and have received the most favorable comment on his many lecture tours.

His schedule will start with "The Writing Game," which will be given before the English club Tuesday afternoon. The same evening he will give his illustrated lecture on "Moliere and his Times," under the auspices of the modern language department, and Wednesday morning he will appear before the regular assembly with "The Joy of Writing."

During the 37 years that Mr. Ellsworth was a part of The Century company our really national literature was developed, and The Century company was most intimately connected with this growth.

IDAH0 DAILY STATESMAN GIVES DETAILS OF ACTION.

Educational Appropriation Bill Omits Commissioner of Education and Business Agent.

The Idaho Daily Statesman of Boise carried in its Saturday morning issue the following news story on the action of the legislature in not making provision for the salary of the commissioner of education and the business agent of the state board of education:

Protests Are Made.

"In spite of protests against its passage, the house of representatives Friday passed the big educational appropriation bill calling for the expenditure of $1,856,198 for the state's educational institutions in the next two years.

"Brainard of Shoshone county who has opposed the abolishment of this office ever since the question came up in the legislature led the discussion when the bill came up for final consideration Friday. He said he would vote for the bill because it carried funds for the state educational institutions but bitterly protested the underhand way in which the office of commissioner was being eliminated when it could not be done openly. He said it was known that house bill No. 211, providing for the abolishment of the commissioner's office, could not pass and protested against the way in which the same purpose was being accomplished.

Bruce Makes Reservation.

"Bruce of Ada county also protested and the house laughed at him when he said he wished to be recorded as voting for the bill with the exception of the part that eliminated the commissioner's salary. He later changed his vote to "no."

"Taylor, chairman of the appropriations committee, told the house members that the bill as presented was a "compromise and a sell-out." He said the house appropriations committee and the senate finance committee were equally divided on the subject and that in order to get through the senate the house bill levying a three-eighths of a mill levy for the improvement of state educational institutions, it was necessary to pass the educational appropriation bill without provision for the salary of commissioner of education.

"At the same time the house was passing the educational bill the senate was passing the house bill providing for the three-eighths of a mill levy."

IDAH0 TO BROADCAST OFFERINGS OF CAMPUS

UNIVERSITY RADIO SET TO BE COMPLETE SOON.

Sending Radius of Several Hundred Miles From Gymnasium, Auditorium and Litz Hall.

The university is now equipped with a radio broadcasting station which will rank with other universities of this section when completed. Work was rushed on the installing of equipment so as to be able to broadcast the results of the California-Idaho basketball games.

The station is at present far from complete in equipment and is operating under difficulties in broadcasting to any great distance, in that a small-powered transmitting set is being used until the arrival of a larger transmitting set. Upon the arrival of the new transmitting set the station will be able to broadcast for a radius of several hundred miles.

Three Broadcasting Points.

When the station is complete in every detail it will be possible to broadcast the gymnasium, auditorium and Litz hall. These buildings will be connected with the station by an ordinary telephone line. The voice currents used to modulate or control the high frequency waves sent out from the aerial are produced in an ordinary microphone or telephone transmitter such as used in any ordinary telephone. The microphone is commonly placed in the same room as the radio transmitting set, together with the auxiliary apparatus necessary to modulate the high frequency current produced by the vacuum tubes.

The microphone can be placed anywhere if it is connected with the transmitting set with a telephone line. All that is necessary, therefore, to send the results of a basketball game or any other entertainment is to set the microphone where all the sound waves will be carried into the transmitter, these sound waves are transmitted over the telephone line to the transmitting set where they are sent out into the air to be picked up by some station within receiving distance. The words spoken into the microphone can be heard as plainly as if the person receiving the message were in the room with the sender. One's voice when transmitted is just as easy to recognize as when transmitted over the ordinary telephone, and sometimes much easier.

W. S. C. Offers Set.

W. S. C. kindly offered to broadcast the results of the California games directly from the gymnasium. All that would have been necessary was to have a leased wire from the gymnasium and the game could have been sent out from their large 500 watt set to all parts of the country, just as easily as they were sent from our own station.

With Idaho's broadcasting station complete it will be possible to broadcast many of the entertainments given at the university to all parts of the country, to be enjoyed by those several hundred miles from the university.

SCHOOL OF FORESTRY SIREN OUT OF ORDER

TOOTS-E VICTORY SIGNAL TO BE REINSTALLED

Plans Made to Put Logging Steam Whistle on Smokestack of Heating Plant.

The school of forestry Toots-E whistle, which recently made its debut on the University of Idaho campus as the victory signal for all Idaho's athletic contests, has had to temporarily discontinue its service in order to allow the telephone system of the new girls' dormitory to be installed. When Toots-E arrived, the forestry department borrowed 400 feet of telephone wire to connect it to the gymnasium, but two weeks ago this wire had to be used for the purpose for which it was originally designated, hence Toots-E has been unable to be used as a signal for victories. Toots-E wire is being rushed from Seattle and will soon be so connected that it can be blown from the gymnasium, athletic field or the baseball diamond.

Heard Six Miles Away

While Toots-E has been out of commission, C. S. Bates, of the University heating plant, has kindly set up another whistle until Toots-E can be reinstalled. When the additional wire arrives for Toots-E Mr. Bates will supervise the placing of Toots-E high up along side of the smokestack of the heating plant so that it can be plainly heard at a distance of five or six miles. Farmers living as far away from the whistle as four miles say they could hear Toots-E very plainly. Upon reinstalling the whistle, it is planned to have Toots-E officially recognized on the campus as the victory signal whistle as it is the fastest possible means of notifying athletic fans of Idaho's victories.

IDAH0 MAT MEN HAVE SUCCESSFUL SEASON

GRAPPLERS BREAK EVEN IN SERIES WITH W. S. C.

Lose Close Contest With Washington And Win From College Of Idaho.

(By DON CUNNINGHAM)

The University of Idaho wrestling team is to be highly commended on their showing during the last season. The team was handicapped from the first by lack of material, and was put at a decided disadvantage by starting the season several weeks later than any of its opponents. At the beginning of the season fifteen men turned out, but after the team was selected for the first meet, this number steadily decreased until there were but eight regular men.

John Vesser and Wesley Phillip, having won the required two matches during the season, were awarded letters. Frank Kinnison won one match and would have undoubtedly won the second if he had not been confined to the infirmary several days prior to the second W.S.C. match.

Win From W.S.C.

The first meet of the season was with W.S.C., Idaho winning by a score of 44 to 36. Vesser, Phillip and Kinnison all won their matches.

In the second meet with W.S.C., which was held here, the visitors won with a score of 36 to 32. Kinnison had just recovered from several days of sickness and was at a considerable disadvantage. Vesser and Phillip won from their opponents the second time.

The next meet of the season was with the College of Idaho and was held at Caldwell. In this meet Idaho demonstrated her superiority by winning with a score of 40 to 16.

Lose to Huskies.

In the last meet of the season, with the University of Washington, the Husky grapplers won with a 24 to 22 score. In this match the Idaho grapplers made an excellent showing. Vesser and Phillip both won their matches.

The teams as well as the school were fortunate in having as their coach, "Babe" Brown, who perhaps has had more actual experience in this line than any other available man. A great deal of the success of the team may be credited to his services. It is hoped that he will accept the offer made him to coach the team next year.

The prospects for wrestling next year are more than promising. Several experienced men will be back to start the season, including Vesser, Phillip and Molyneux. Training will begin the latter part of November in order that the team may be in first class shape for the first meet of the season.

the cast. It opened in a heated domestic squabble between John, a Scottish landlord, played by Clayton Hoover and Janet, his wife, played by Mary Kelly. They came to an agreement that they would both try to be silent and the first one to speak would go out into the stormy night and bar the door. When two Oxford vagabond students, played by Kenneth Hunter and Doy McKinley, came on the scene and helped themselves to everything in sight it became a problem how long the two could remain silent. As usual the woman won. The acting was well done and the cast didn't let a single dull place appear in the piece.

In toto, the three plays speak well for the success of the Little Theatre movement. The University of Idaho is advancing toward the goal set by the productions which are appearing in the east by the Theatre Guild.
