

MOSCOW HIGH WINS STATE BASKETBALL CHAMPIONSHIP

"SCHOOL FOR LOVERS" CERTAIN TO ATTRACT

"COSI FAN TUTTE" MEANS "THEY ALL DO IT"

Comic Opera Full of Wit and Sprightly Action Coupled with Mozart Melodies.

Mozart's "Cosi fan tutte" or "The School for Lovers" is to be presented in the university auditorium Friday evening at 8 o'clock.

The play, which is in the form of an Opera Comique, is in two acts. The plot of the play is simplicity itself but it works out in a most complex and tremendously comical fashion. It is full of sharp and refreshing wit and sprightly action, aided by the beautiful melodies of Mozart.

Set in Naples. The setting of the story is in Naples during the eighteenth century. It is concerned with two young Neapolitan officers, engaged to marry two girls who are sisters. With the persuasion of a cynical old bachelor they test the love of their sweethearts by saying that they are called out of town on military duty. They return the same day disguised as rich Albanian Noblemen and make love to the two girls.

Each finally succeeds in winning the love of his friend's betrothed, but as they are about to be married the bachelor, Don Alphonso suddenly announces that the officers have returned from the trip on which they were called. The ladies are obliged to confess to their original lovers, after which Alphonso explains the joke and says:

"It is impossible to be angry with women for flirting, 'tis woman's nature—'Cosi fan tutte' (they all do it)."

All-Star Cast.

The play is presented by an all-star cast including the celebrated American prima donna soprano, Irene Williams. It is under the personal direction of William Wade Hinshaw.

The music of "The School for Lovers" is quick, tuneful, and intricate, and is most successfully presented by the cast, every member of which is a finished musician.

The name "Cosi fan tutte" is apt to be rather misleading due to the fact that one may receive the impression that the play is in Italian. To avoid this impression, let it be understood that the entire play is in

"Cosi Fan Tutte" Real Benefit to Love-Lorn

Can you imagine two fraternity brothers engaged to a couple of sorority sisters, suddenly agreeing to test the constancy of their respective innamorates by suddenly being called out of town. Returning disguised and each making violent love to the other's sweetheart, and finally by threatening suicide, each winning the heart of his friend's ladylove and then making their identities known?

Gracious, what a fuss there would be on sorority row!

Maybe some cynical old member of the faculty would say: "Cosi fan tutte,"—they all do it—so you must not be angry with the dears!"

This is the plot of the Mozart Opera to be given Friday evening. Never before has there been offered on the campus "A school for lovers," a short course in love-making, as it were. So to make quite sure of getting at least one lesson students are advised to get reserved seats at Hodgins' Drug store at once. The price is $1.00 and $1.25.

A short course in the making of love would be a fine thing for some, but for others—well, a few pointers might be picked up from the collegians. However, what would be of benefit to any campus would be how to eliminate a college romance.

CONSTRUCTION PLANS MADE FOR MENS' HALL

The executive committee of the University of Idaho decided at a recent meeting to proceed at once with plans to secure the erection of a new men's dormitory at the university. The new building will be erected by the University of Idaho Building association, an organization of Moscow business men, and will be available for use at the opening of college next fall.

The association has already financed the building of one dormitory at the university but the program for the second was suspended waiting action of the legislature on the appropriation for a new science building. The new dormitory will cost approximately $100,000 and will be a structure similar to the women's dormitory now nearing completion. The executive committee meeting was attended by Dr. E. A. Bryan, state commissioner of education.

Women's Association Dance Comes Saturday

The Women's Athletic association dance will be held in the university gymnasium Saturday night. The affair promises to be one of the most successful dances of the college year. There will be fifteen dances and three extras. Proceeds of the dances will go toward the expense of sending an Idaho delegate to the western conference of the National Collegiate Women's Athletic association at Stanford in April.

The dance will begin promptly at 8 o'clock. Music will be furnished by a university orchestra.

COLLEGE BOYS BETTER LOOKING "DAY BY DAY, IN EVERY WAY"

College boys are becoming better looking each year, the director of physical education of Northwestern university has declared in summarizing reports of physical examinations of three hundred freshmen. The physical director attributes this advancement in beauty to the new plan adopted almost universally in high schools. This new system gives students two years of health training.

GIRLS' GAMES TONIGHT

Inter-Class Basketball Tourney Attracts Interest—Games Begin at 7:30 in Gym.

Much interest is being manifested in the girls' inter-class basketball finals to be played this week. On Tuesday night the sophomores will meet the seniors and the juniors will match their skill against the freshmen. On Thursday the junior-senior and freshman-sophomore games will be played. On Tuesday, March 27, the ties will be played off.

Each class is perfectly sure of victory, especially the freshmen and sophomores, who, with characteristic sophomore confidence, are already computing the scores. The freshmen had a large squad from which to select a team, and they have two fast forwards in Esther Kennedy and Evangeline Bennet. The sophomores have excellent team work, and "Gene" Cruzen and "Happy" Bahler are a pair of crack guards, while "Maggie" Carter has shown capabilities as a forward.

On the junior team are Cletys Gossett and Mary Huston, who have had some excellent experience in basketball and who will be sure to make a good showing. The seniors have Mary Thompson and Margaret Mimms, who are well known in girls' basketball at Idaho. Both are all-around players, with excellent records of successful playing.

Games will be called promptly at 7:30. Miss Catherine Winslow will referee. Pauline Pence, girls basketball director, is in charge.

THIRD AND DECIDING GAME WON BY LOCAL TEAM IN FINAL FIVE MINUTES

SOUTHERN IDAHO QUINTET TAKES RUNNERS-UP CUP

Interscholastic Tournament Most Successful in History of University—Coeur d'Alene Awarded Sportsmanship Trophy—Boise Team Strong

Moscow high school, fighting its way from the bottom of the ladder, took the Idaho interscholastic basketball championship, Monday night, defeating the fast Oakley team, 21 to 13, in the closest, headiest, and most sensational game of the series. It was the greatest game of high school basketball ever seen on the university floor.

Excitement held the bleachers in an uproar throughout the game, and with the final gun Moscow rooters rushed out on the floor to carry off the victorious players. So strenuous was the demonstration that no formal presentation of the trophies was possible.

Cups are Presented. Coach Mathews was forced to fight his way through a crowd of ardent fans in order to present the title cup to Bumgarner, Moscow captain. The runners-up cup was presented to K. Wilson, captain of the Oakley five.

Two strong defensive machines, went on the floor Monday night, and the game throughout the first half was close and hard fought. Moscow failed to score a single field goal during the first period. Moscow's four points were made by Nedros, on free throw conversions. Although the local team was unable to score its floor work was beyond criticism, the Oakley boys being held down to two field baskets, both registered through long shots, and three free throws.

Great Defensive Game. Neither team was able to solve the defensive of the other during the first period, and while Oakley was in the lead, 7 to 4, at the end of the first period, it would have been impossible to have picked a winner at that stage of the game.

Moscow came back with a little faster game at the beginning of the second half, but Oakley maintained her defense, and was complete master of the situation as well as the long end of the score until the last eight minutes of play, when the southern defense slumped long enough for Nedros of Moscow to register two field baskets, which gave the title holders their first lead of the game, 14 to 13.

Moscow Takes Lead. Up until this point Moscow had failed to score a field basket, and with this spurt the bleachers were in an uproar. Moscow took the lead, and for the first time in the game the winners' offensive was able to operate successfully.

Moscow's defense held as impregnable as ever, but their floor work was stronger, and the ball was worked down the floor on several fast plays. Woody and Nedros were enabled to score two field goals, and Woody counted another. Woody registered once more from the floor before the final gun closed the game.

Approach Varsity Play. Both teams worked well, and exhibited defenses that would have done a varsity aggregation credit. It was not until the last five minutes of play that Moscow's superiority was evidenced. The Moscow boys, holding their lead, once they had gained it, played a heady game, holding the ball in safe territory and waiting for a sure chance before they went in for baskets.

Nedros of Moscow was the particular star of the struggle, scoring nine out of a possible sixteen free throws, and making three of Moscow's six field baskets. His individual scoring alone carried Moscow into the lead when the score stood 14 to 13. No other Moscow man had succeeded in scoring till then.

Oakley Men Fast. Larson, Oakley center, was held well in check throughout the game, making but one field basket, and scoring but five out of a possible nine free throws. Hunter, the speedy Oakley guard, was also covered throughout the game, and was able to score but once.

Every man on each team gave all he had to play. Woody of Moscow scored when his team needed the points, while Estes and Drury worked perfectly in the machine on the floor. Martindale of Oakley was always dangerous, scoring two field goals, and was strong as to floor work. Captain K. Wilson put up a brilliant and desperate fight. Davidson starred for Oakley on the defense. Captain Bumgarner played cool and heady basketball for Moscow.

ALL-STATE HIGH SCHOOL QUINTETS

(Selected by Coach David MacMillan, Dean M. F. Angell, and R. L. Neidig)

First Team	Position	Second Team
Bradbury, Coeur d'Alene	F	Martindale, Oakley
Quinter, Boise	F	Scarbro, Coeur d'Alene
Larson, Oakley	C	Drury, Moscow
Nedros, Moscow	G	Quillen, Boise
Hunter, Oakley	G	Woody, Moscow

The Sportsmanship cup was awarded to the Coeur d'Alene team by the same committee designated to pick the All-State team. Considerable difficulty was experienced by the committee in making the Sportsmanship cup award in that all the high school players evidenced a fine type of sportsmanship—bitterly contested but clean style of play. The four high school teams were good losers and good winners.

DEAN MATHEWS COMING

Famous Chicago Man Billed for Next Assembly Period—Time Changed To One o'Clock

Dean Shailer Mathews of Chicago, nationally known for his cleverness and wit in presenting really worth while topics, has agreed to appear before the assembly of the university next Wednesday afternoon. He will give an address at 1 o'clock in the afternoon and all the regular 1 o'clock classes will be held at the 10 o'clock period, since Washington State College has already arranged to hear him at the time when Idaho's assembly is usually held.

It is a rare opportunity for the student body to hear one of the most sought after speakers in the country, whose terse and witty talks have made him very much in demand by the colleges especially. At Miami university he has for the past ten successive years been voted the most popular speaker who has come to their platform, under a system where one speaker is presented at a Sunday afternoon program once a month.

Dean Mathews is a Baptist minister and has gained exceeding prominence through his broad views and liberal opinions. There are few propositions which are entirely good and few which are entirely bad, and Dean Shailer Mathews has an unusually clear insight on all angles of things, coupled with a fine sense of humor that fills his talks with an intense interest from the first word to the conclusion.

TENTATIVE OUTLINE FOR COMING PAGEANT

PRELIMINARY WORK INDICATES SCOPE OF PRODUCTION.

Three Main Episodes, Three Interludes and Finale—Students Asked for Original Ideas.

(By ELIZABETH MOUNT)

A tentative outline for Idaho's historical pageant has been prepared by the book committee, according to Dr. G. M. Miller, chairman of the committee. The outline is being released in its preliminary form in order that students may begin work on the scenes indicated and that the student body as a whole may realize the scope of the pageant.

"This is not a finished outline," said Dr. Miller, "this is merely a framework for suggestions. We want student ideas on the subject and if they are good we will use them; if they are not good we shall modify them, but let us have the ideas."

The pageant as outlined now will consist of an introductory masque, three main episodes, interludes, and a finale. The masque will deal with the primitive Indians, their mythology, and a prophecy as to the coming of the whites.

Trail-Breakers First

The first episode will probably be devoted to the trail breakers, explorers, fur-traders and missionaries. The second episode will be concerned with the discovery of gold and the territory. In this episode will be included the Indian's last stand. The third episode will depict the development of Idaho through her industries. It is planned to leave the working out of this episode to the schools in the university which are chiefly concerned. The incidents under mining will be developed by the school of mines, those under lumbering to the school of forestry, and irrigation and farming to the college of agriculture.

The first interlude, the Oregon trail, will show a prairie schooner camp, the pioneers around the camp fire singing trail songs. A typical cowboy dance, such as depicted by Owen Wister in "The Virginian," will be the second interlude. The

"Wearing o' the Green" Mandatory for Freshmen

On Saturday, the Seventeenth of March, St. Patrick undoubtedly turned over in his grave, sighed, gasped for air and mumbled a feeble protest as he viewed the heterogeneous display of the verdant shade on the campus and the campus satellites. Even nature, gracious and thoughtful, fared forth and draped the campus in pale, washed-out green grass—a forerunner of spring.

The freshman boys—true to tradition, blossomed out in the signal of their eternal ignorance—as compared with the sedate senior. Some of the thoughtless or misinformed yearlings appeared improperly adorned and were informed of their transgression to the tune of a narrow oak paddle.

Pog Irish, plain mick and all the members of that race so well known on the police force were put in numbers. All bore the sign of St. Patrick.

They tell us that one of the wearers o' the green chased one of the few wearers of the orange from the Hotel Moscow to within a block of the court house. At least they were headed in the right direction. When interviewed, a member of the Pat and Mike race said that Siki went to Ireland and we all knew what happened to him. The interview stopped at that point.

In contrast to blue Monday, Saturday was indeed green, and as far as is known it was also snakeless. Which was to be expected.

A Great Tournament

The annual interscholastic basketball tournament just closed was a big success. The tournament almost paid for itself and the tournament, in past years has not approached this record. The play was fast and approached varsity caliber. The sensational come-back of Moscow was a big feature.

High school players were well pleased with the courtesies extended them by the university. The visitors are planning on entering the university upon completion of high school.

Oakley in the championship game got the support of the university crowd because Moscow had a good rooting section and the Oakley players, as did Boise, Coeur d'Alene, and Moscow players, made a big hit with university people.

It was with a great deal of satisfaction that Idaho people watched the two teams coached by Idaho graduates—the fast, clever and hard-fighting Oakley players, coached by Linus Sanberg and the capable Boise players, coached by Jim Keane, who is making a big name for himself as director of Boise high school's athletics.

MOSCOW HIGH WINS STATE CHAMPIONSHIP

FIRST MOSCOW-OAKLEY GAME

In the first game of the tournament, Friday afternoon, the Moscow team, crippled by the loss of Thompson and handicapped by the fact that Drury, their only available center, was so weakened by illness as to be scarcely able to hold his feet on the floor, lost to the fast Oakley team, 38 to 30.

The Moscow five put up a game fight throughout, the first half ending with the score tied 15 to 15, but their passing and floor play was ragged. Oakley took the lead in the first ten minutes of the game, and steadily increased it until the game.

Nedros Goes Well

Nedros of Moscow played his best as forward in this contest, scoring four field baskets and six out of a possible six free throws. Bumgarner and Woody scored two field goals apiece, and played a consistent game as guards.

Hunter of Oakley played an exceptional game at guard, carrying the ball down the sidelines for five field baskets. Moscow seemed unable to check him, and once he got by no one could hope to intercept him. Larson, center, also played a splendid game, missing but one free throw, and tying with Hunter on field baskets. He showed more consistent form than the little guard, Martingale and Davidson both played excellent games at forward.

COEUR D'ALENE-BOISE GAME

In the Friday evening game Coeur d'Alene took Boise down the line 31 to 33, Bradbury, forward, dropping in the winning basket in the last 31 seconds of play. The game throughout was full of breaks and spurts, Boise displaying better passing, and running up the score time and again when the Coeur d'Alene defense seemed to go to pieces. Each time the northerners would take a spurt, however, and bring the score up to par. Even in the last two minutes of play it seemed that Boise had the game sewed up, but an over-eagerness to score lost them the ball and enabled Coeur d'Alene to ring up the winning basket.

Bradbury, Coeur d'Alene forward, was high man, with seven field baskets, and eight out of a possible 12 free throws, a total of 22 points. Quinter of Boise also played a stellar game, ringing in six field baskets, and five out of a possible ten free throws.

MOSCOW-BOISE GAME.

Saturday morning the Moscow team came back with a rush, taking their second game from Boise with a score of 31 to 17. Drury, center, was much strengthened with a day's rest, and the Moscow machine showed up to much better advantage than on the day previous. Their passing was much improved, and they held the ball much better.

Nedros, Moscow, was high man of the game, with a field baskets and 11 out of a possible 25 free throws. Quinter of Boise scored 4 field baskets and one free throw, out of a possible five.

able to start the contest with the result that Moscow ran up a 12 to 0 score during the first few minutes of play. Bradbury was then put in and he seemed to pull the Coeur d'Alene aggregation together, and he led a spurt that brought the score up to 12 to 7 in Moscow's favor. The rest of the period Moscow succeeded in maintaining the lead by a comfortable margin.

Coeur d'Alene Almost Ties.

Coming back fighting mad the last half, Coeur d'Alene succeeded in breaking up the Moscow stalling game, and came within an 18 to 21 score of tying matters. At this point the regular Moscow lineup was shoved into the frame, and the addition of the fresh men soon widened the margin.

The work of Bradbury with a bad ankle was the outstanding feature of the game. He was high point man for Coeur d'Alene with a tosses from the field and 6 out of 10 free throws. Nedros, of Moscow, in registering nine baskets and leading the Moscow offense, was high point man.

SECOND MOSCOW OAKLEY TILT

Moscow's 21 to 14 win over Oakley Saturday night, which forced the championship game of the series to be held over until Monday evening, was in itself in every sense a championship contest. The Moscow quintet fought hard, playing its best to make good its only chance for premier honors of the state. Oakley, on the other hand, with one win already over Moscow seemed more confident, but fought hard to keep the final game from being tied over until Monday.

The win of the up-state aggregation was a source of surprise to many fans. The dope was sorely against Moscow. The northern team had played two games that day to Oakley's one. There was one win already in Oakley's favor and Moscow had been compelled to change its style of play, due to the poor condition of Drury, Moscow's star center, as a result of recent illness. However, the Moscow pivot man seemed to be in fair condition and helped a great deal in scoring the win.

Guarding is Close.

Guarding was exceptionally close and the floor and passing games were exceedingly fast. Due to erratic shooting and close guarding in the initial period, five minutes had passed before Nedros broke the ice for the first basket. This style of play led to a 8 to 4 score in Oakley's favor in the initial period.

Moscow the second half came back strong and after the first few minutes of play forged into the lead. Once in the lead Moscow kept up its stride and through the resisting ability of Nedros and Woody soon widened the gap. The Oakley offense was rendered helpless during the final eight minutes of play when Davidson, the downstate scoring ace, was withdrawn from the contest on account of personals.

Summary.

Moscow (21) Oakley (14)

K. Estes ..... F ..... Davidson

Field Goals: Moscow—Nedros, 4; V. Estes, 2. Oakley—Davidson, 3; Martindale, Larsen.

No Postponements of Indoor Ball Contests

The athletic authorities in charge of intra-mural indoor baseball have made the announcement that all games played in the future cannot be postponed unless absolutely necessary. This action was taken as a great number of games have been postponed of late, and if the games are not hurried through the indoor schedule will conflict with other intra-mural activities. The request is also made that the results of all contests be turned into the athletic office.

In order to hurry the indoor schedule through, games will be played every evening this week.

THIRTY FIVE MEN OUT FOR SPRING FOOTBALL

Spring football practice opened Monday afternoon, with thirty-five men out in suits. Formations which had been worked out in class room periods were run off under the watchful eye of Coach Mathews.

The turnout took place on McLean field, and a good substantial workout was given the men. Everything went off smoothly during this first night's practice. Coach Mathews expects every man out for spring practice who expects to make the squad next fall. Baseball and track men will be excused to take part in their respective sports with the coming of spring vacation.

SOCIETY

Parties were more or less forgotten the past week and all attention was focused on the basketball tournament. After the last game Saturday night the merry-making began and many dances, smokers and other forms of entertainment were furnished the visiting teams. The Phi Gamma Deltas entertained with a house dance and smokers were given by Beta Theta Pi, Phi Delta Theta and Sigma Nu.

Friday evening Gamma Phi Beta entertained the members of Chi Beta Epsilon at an Irish "Wake." Guests arrived at 11:30 attired in Irish costume and the time was spent in dancing and Irish games. A buffet supper was served and the last dance was featured with serpentine, paper caps and sparklers.

Guests of Delta Gamma Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Butterfield. Dean French and the Misses Magrison, Hayn, Creswell, Trousdale, McDonald, Gallagher, Grigson and Wicher, were Sunday dinner guests of Sigma Nu.

TENTATIVE OUTLINE FOR COMING PAGEANT

Finale will, in some way, perhaps in a vast procession, bring in statehood, the wars, the progress of transportation and education as the guide of the future.

References in Library. In the outline the references to books in the university library have been grouped under the incidents on which they contain material. Most of them will be placed on reserve. It is urged that if anyone is interested in any scene, if he sees a possibility in some part, that he read the references and get the necessary data to write the part. It is not necessary to hold strictly to the historical facts, as they may be altered to increase the effectiveness of the scene. The outline follows:
