Women Display Interest In All Co-Ed Athletics

Supervision of Miss Catherine Winslow Responsible for Creation of Zest in Physical Development—Girls Overcome Weather Handicaps in Participation in the Events.

SPRING PROGRAM APPEALS

Outdoor Baseball, Hockey and Tennis Planned—Work on Football Field.

Interest in women's athletics on the University of Idaho campus is rapidly increasing, under the sponsorship of Miss Catherine Winslow, head of the women's physical education department, according to all indications. Miss Winslow's policy of converting her gym classes into athletic teams, thus adding zest to the routine of physical education, together with the intensive interest and attention which she is devoting to her work, is directly responsible for the results attained.

Serious Weather Handicap.
Weather conditions during the past year have been a distinct handicap. Hiking this spring has not aroused the interest it usually does, owing to the fact that rains and snow have rendered the roads impassible.

The physical education department provided forty pairs of skis for use by the women of the campus last winter, but little use was made of them for the reason that the snow would not remain on the ground for any great length of time at a stretch. Basketball, however, was a distinct success, the excellent playing of the girls speaking for the superior tutelage they received during the season.

Spring Sports Appeal.
This spring an extensive program of outdoor baseball, hockey and tennis has been planned. The university tennis courts will be available during certain periods each day, these periods to be arranged later. Equipment will be provided for baseball and hockey. Turnouts will take place on the football field.

Miss Bahler, manager of women's baseball, has charge of all equipment for that sport. Baseball turnouts will be held each Wednesday and Friday, at four o'clock. All girls who are eligible are urged to turn out for the interclass games.

Tennis Instruction Offered.
Every girl who wishes to learn to play tennis, acquire new strokes, or further perfect her game in any way, as well as those who intend to play for pleasure only, are urged to attend meetings of court fans to be held in Miss Winslow's office each Friday morning at nine o'clock.

A women's tennis tournament will be held later in the season, when weather conditions are more settled. Every girl on the campus is eligible to enter the tennis class, and competition is expected to be keen. Careful attention will be given to

STUDENT BODY PREXIES

TO MEET HERE MAY 14

The semi-annual conference of the college student body presidents of the Pacific coast will be held jointly at Pullman and Moscow, starting May 19. The last meeting of the group was held at Berkeley last November, in conjunction with the annual meeting of the collegiate newspaper editors of the conference.

This will be the first time that either Idaho or Washington State has been the meeting place of the association. A committee of student body officers of Washington State college, headed by Milton Enslow student body president, met here with A.S.U.I. officers Monday night to make final arrangements for the conference.

COAST TRIP TO OPEN IDAHO'S BALL SEASON

VANDALS MEET WASHINGTON, O. A. C., AND OREGON.

Practice Demonstrates Great Year on Diamond—Twirling Staff Unusually Strong.

The Idaho Varsity baseball squad will leave for the coast next Thursday to meet the University of Washington, Oregon Agricultural College, and the University of Oregon nines on their home fields. The trip will take eight days, two games being played at each college.

The Vandal nine will be at a distinct disadvantage upon this trip. The team will leave with a scant three weeks of outdoor training, and will meet teams which have had the advantage of a much longer training season, due to more kindly climates. The University of Washington team may be expected to be exceptionally strong, that school having the advantage of an unusually large student body to draw from, as well as having an almost complete team returning from last year's coast championship squad.

Stellar Brand of Ball.
From all surface indications, however, Idaho ball players will give a very good account of themselves on the trip, though laboring under a handicap. The Silver and Gold has a strong combination of pitchers in Snow, Marineau, Fitzke and Eddy.

each girl turning out for the sport, and an excellent opportunity will be offered for those who wish to learn the fundamentals of the game.

And Did You Know That---

How many students are able to answer intelligently the questions that will be asked of them about the university by high school graduates and parents of prospective Idaho undergraduates? Following is a meagre description of the University of Idaho that undergraduates might do well to memorize. Some of the facts, as contained in a new university bulletin, are not generally known, and all the following facts will prove to be worth knowing when Idaho students interest Idaho high school graduates in their own state institution.

"The University of Idaho was established and is maintained by the commonwealth of Idaho for the higher education of its young people."

"Enrollment this year is approximately 1700—a number large enough to permit provision of adequate teaching facilities; a number not so large as to preclude acquaintance of student with instructor and fellowship of student with student."

"Seven distinct schools and colleges are maintained, affording instruction in the arts, sciences, and literature, with opportunities for technical specialization in agriculture, engineering, law, mining and metallurgy, education, home economics, business and music. A strong pre-medical curriculum is offered. Baccalaureate and advanced degrees are granted. The seven schools and colleges, in order of their establishment, are:

"The college of letters and science (offering, in addition to B.A. and B.S. curricula, special curricula in home economics, pre-medical studies, business, and music). The college of agriculture. The college of engineering. The college of law. The school of mines. The school of forestry. The school of education.

"The organization of the university includes also the agricultural experiment station, with four substations; university extension; and the summer school.

"The faculty is made up of 126 persons. There are 35 professors, 14 associate professors, 23 assistant professors, 23 instructors, and 19 others, not including undergraduate assistants. Part of the staff of the experiment station, numbering 32, is included in these figures. In addition, the agricultural extension division numbers on its staff 51 persons, including 16 specialists and 35 county and district extension agents.

"Twenty-four buildings, on a campus and college farm of 400 acres, provide accommodations for instruction, experimentation, and the housing of students. On the campus proper of forty acres there are nine major buildings.

"Two large dormitories and several residence cottages are provided for young women. There is one large dormitory for men, and a second is soon to be built. Fifteen fraternities and sororities have houses adjacent to the campus.

"Graduates of accredited four-year high schools are eligible for admission to the university as students, in accordance with requirements stated in the catalog.

"Expenses are lower than at many other state universities. There is no tuition fee. The greatest items of expense are for board, room, and clothing. These require a sizable outlay for the present-day young person, whether he attends an institution of learning or not. Estimates supplied by students indicate that $500 will cover the entire year's outlay for the frugal student, without requiring him to deprive himself of any essentials of college life. Some students spend less than this; other more.

"Most of the students earn a part of their way; many earn a considerable portion of it. Average earnings of 139 students from the opening of the school year in September, 1921, until January 1, 1922, were $25.24 a month. The new student is urged, however, not to depend implicitly on such opportunities for his first year. He should enter the university with sufficient funds to pay all his way for the first semester."

STUDENT HANDBOOK TO BE ISSUED NEXT WEEK

PUBLICATION IN CHARGE OF SILVER LANCE.

Will Contain General Information For Students and Customs and Traditions.

The official student handbook, published for the first time by authority from the A.S.U.I., which is being issued under the direction of the Silver Lance, honorary senior men's organization, will be delivered for distribution next week.

A handbook has been issued several times, but always by individuals, as a business enterprise. This year, however, the publication is being financed by the student body, without profit, and it will contain no advertising.

OUTLOOK MOST BRIGHT FOR TENNIS AT IDAHO

CANDIDATES TO GET RANKING IN SPRING TOURNAMENT

Four Letter Men Playing Fast Game—40 Entries to Furnish Keen Competition.

Varsity tennis aspirants have been working out daily, during the past week, in preparation for the tournament which will be played off this week end, and the first of next week, to decide the ranking of men from whom the varsity squad will be picked.

Forty men are entered for this tournament. Some preliminary matches were played off Thursday. It is hoped that all the matches will have been decided by the middle of next week, the season being close.

METHODIST STUDENTS ATTEND BIG BANQUET

All university students, who are members of the Methodist Episcopal church, were guests at a young people's banquet in the new Methodist Sunday school temple Wednesday night. The banquet was given in honor of the visiting young people in attendance at the annual convention of the Moscow district of the church. Favorite Idaho and college songs were sung between courses and the evening ended with an illustrated lecture on "Better Men and Women," by Dr. James V. Thompson of Chicago, nationally prominent religious leader.

FINAL PRESENTATION VARSITY PLAY FRIDAY

"I" PROVES BIG SUCCESS IN SPOKANE.

Play Takes Well With Rapidly Changing Scenes and Clever Acting.

Fresh from a real dramatic success last week in Spokane, the Varsity Players will give a return engagement of Lord Dunsany's "I" Friday night in the University auditorium. This will make the third performance of this pleasing fantasy and students are assured of a high class production.

At Spokane last week before the Inland Empire Teachers' association, the play was presented before a capacity house and was applauded from curtain to curtain. With two performances behind them and splendid reports from each the production Friday night is sure to be a winner. This will be the last chance given students this year to see an all university play and everyone should take advantage of the opportunity to see what Idaho is capable of doing dramatically. "I" is unique in that a great deal of the interest and much of the plot depends on rapidly changing scenes and widely contrasted settings to create their appeal.

A crystal takes the place of the proverbial "magic carpet" and transports the hero into all sorts of adventures in a strange land, from which he finally emerges exactly 24 hours after he started. Tickets are still on sale at Hodgins' for the performance. Don't miss it.—P.M.H.

"I" Club Dance Management Announces Cash Prize Offer For Saturday Evening

In the belief that everybody is kind of shape. Refreshments will be served at some time or other. It might be added that the refreshments themselves will be some kind or other. The music is to be imported from Washington State college.

The management has decided that a cash prize will be given for the best looking couple on the floor. The chief factors will be actual physical appearance, ability to shake a "mean" shoe, and the pull the winning couple may have with the judges.

There will be a few side entertainments one of which is a piano solo by Kieffner.

PRIMARY HELD APRIL 26TH

Final Election May 3—Idaho's Growth Up to Incoming Officers.

Wednesday, April 18, at 4 p.m. nominations will be made by a special meeting of the A.S.U.I., called by President Lynn Hersey, for all the student offices of the University of Idaho for the coming year. With the opening salvo of political for the most important offices of the university campus for the coming 1922-1924 year, students are already considering the qualifications of possible candidates for the various offices.

The primary election is to be held eight days after the nominating assembly, on April 26, and the final elections will be held two weeks later on Thursday, May 3, in accordance with the provisions of the A.S.U.I. constitution.

Nominations at Assembly
All candidates for office with the exception of the departmental managers will be nominated and their names placed on the primary ballots directly by means of nominating speeches of any member of the A.S.U.I. in the assembly on Wednesday. In nominating speeches the students may discuss the qualifications of their nominees as well as putting up their names.

Nominations can also be made by petitions, containing the names of at least twenty-five members of the A.S.U.I., providing the petition is presented to the president of the student body twenty-four hours prior to the opening of the polls at the primary.

Presidency Real Responsibility.
The presidency and vice presidency of the A.S.U.I. are positions which require great executive ability on the part of the office holder as well as diplomacy. With the great growth of the university in the past year and the very probable advancements in methods of running student affairs in the next year, the men elected to the positions will be forced to deal with problems arising from the advance in size of the university. The personal contact which has been such a factor in student government will be rapidly replaced by a more perfect and easy running machine to handle affairs.

The president and vice-president must be chosen from the incoming senior class, and the secretary and treasurer of the A.S.U.I. must, according to the constitution, be selected from the incoming junior and senior classes.

Unique Answers Made By Undergrads To Series Of Educational Questions

Demonstrating the fact that many teachers take little or no account of the background of knowledge which a pupil possesses, Professor J. M. O'Gorman of the school of education, gave out two lists of questions of the same relative difficulty, the one to six-year-old children and the other to college students. Questions in the first test such as "How long is a foot?" and "Where does the sun rise?" were paralleled in the other test by "Where do the seeds of an apple point?" and "How much is a ton of hay?"

Among the answers given to the questions by members of his education class were: "A pituitary body (a gland) is a new way to do the hair."

"A scallop (a form of marine life) is a way of fixing potatoes."

"A dumb-waiter is one who cannot talk."

"To take the L. (elevated railway) means to get a football letter."

Delicatessen stores were credited with selling anything from toilet articles to hardware; while hay was guessed to be anywhere from $5 to $30 a ton. According to the answers the House of Commons seems to have anywhere from 21 to 500 members.

A. S. U. I. Positions.

The A.S.U.I. election of officers for the coming college year is to be held in the near future. Nominations are to be made next Wednesday. Good student government is entirely dependent upon the interest taken by the students. Pick the men and women that you want in office because you believe them to be capable.

Student Handbooks.

The official student handbook, which will be out of the printer's hands next week, deserves more than passing comment. Such a book is in every sense a publication that is representative of the A.S.U.I., as much so as The Argonaut or the Gem of the Mountains, and the action of the student body in making it an official publication, instead of one issued by individuals on a commercial basis, merits much praise.

SOCIETY

Amy Barstad, Editor.

One of the most characteristic of the smaller parties on the campus was the one with which Omega Phi Alpha entertained Chi Beta Epsilon. The affair was given Wednesday evening in the form of an old time basket social. A large red flag, hung on the front porch, proclaimed the gathering. After the crowd gathered "O' S!" the official auctioneer, stood upon the platform and auctioned off the baskets. After the last basket was sold the music began and all joined in the square dance. Later on in the evening light refreshments were served.

CALENDAR COMMITTEE CHANGES PROM DATE

TIME CHANGED TO OBTAIN MANN'S ORCHESTRA.

Governor and Mrs. Moore Will Attend Annual Junior Class Dance.

Plans are underway to make the Junior Prom, to be held Friday, April 20, the most elaborate dance of the year. The gymnasium will be artistically decorated, and Idaho dancers will be favored by an orchestra of real artists.

Many of the older students feel that Idaho's dances are falling short of the high standard which has been maintained in former years. With this fact in view, the junior class, in conjunction with Dean French, has decided to give a dance that will again establish a mark which Idaho's dances should strive to meet in the future. The committee will carry out their duties with the hope of making the Prom an occasion worthy of our pride and consideration.

The calendar committee and the faculty have consented to allow the Prom to be held on Friday, instead of Saturday, as was originally planned. This change makes it possible for the committee to secure the Mann Brothers orchestra, of Lewiston. All those who are familiar with these musicians anticipate an unusual affair.

The decoration scheme has not as yet been announced, but the committee has worked out many unique designs which will make the hall very elaborate and attractive.

Among the guests will be Governor and Mrs. C. C. Moore, President and Mrs. A. H. Upham, Miss Elizabeth Russum, Mr. and Mrs. I. E. Rockwell, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. G. Gravely, Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Easton, Mr. and Mrs. Huntington Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Lappincott, Dr. and Mrs. E. A. Bryan, Dean Permeal French, and Mr. and Mrs. Jerome J. Day.

The committees in charge are: general chairman, Charles Preuss; patrons and patronesses, Ted Turner, Bill Perry; programs, Charles Preuss, Jewel Coon, Agnes Cox; refreshments, Myra Armbruster, Jessie Grigson, "Doc" Noggle; decorations, Roger Wheaton, Lamar Ridgeway, Pete Drus, Port Arthur, George Graham, Joe Cogan, Wayne Leland, Luke Fleming, Alice Ficke, Cletys Gosset, "Silver" Lang, Helen Ramsey, Bernadine Mosier, and Evelyn Kearns.

Student Handbook To—

The need of such a booklet has been felt for some years, as the Gem of the Mountains and the university catalogue do not contain certain information that is valuable to students, both new and old.

The booklet will consist of 48 pages, and will contain material of general interest to students. The members of Silver Lance has spent a great deal of time in collecting information for the book, and have obtained it from many sources. Traditions have been investigated, their origin found, songs and yells have been collected, and much other investigation has been made.

The Hulme fight, the rules of which have been the subject of discussion for several years, has been investigated, faculty members and alumni who were here at the time of its origination have been interviewed, and for the first time the rules of the fight, which was adopted to abolish prolonged class fighting, will be published. Similar work was done with regard to the annual stunt and song fest.

To Give Traditions.

The book will contain the list of Idaho traditions and customs, and their history, information and pointers to new students, a directory of group houses, a schedule of athletic events for the coming year, Idaho songs and yells, a church directory, the constitution of the A.S.U.I., a history of the university, a message from the president to new students, history and scope of women's activities, a list of honor groups, scholarships offered, a discussion of student government, and printed rules of the Hulme fight and the stunt and song fest.

Will Contain Schedule Card.

Another interesting feature will be a double page on which is printed a schedule card for both semesters. This will permit a student to keep a record of studies carried and furnish an interesting feature for memory books.

The booklet will be issued free of charge to all students, and it will also be given to new students next fall.

Four Letter Men Out.

Ken Hunter, Curt Herrington, Dan Prescott and Charlie Preuss, all last year's varsity men, are out again this spring, and from all indications will make as favorable a showing this year as last. There will be no dearth of competition for varsity berths, however. Bill Gartin, Clyde Richards, Abe Goldstone and George Gahan are all promising prospects for first string positions, and will give the letter men a race in the coming tournament.

In addition to the men named there are various other men turning out, who, though they constitute an unknown quantity, still exhibit considerable promise, and will no doubt figure in upsetting considerable preseason dope.

Challenge System Used.

The single elimination system will be followed out in the present tournament, which has been scheduled simply for the purpose of ranking players. From the ranking men in the upper frames the varsity team will be picked. After this tournament the system of challenges carried out last year will be put in practice, in order that varsity men will not be tempted to neglect their game because of lack of competition.

A pleasing schedule of meets is offered for the team this year. An effort is being made to arrange a weeks' trip on the coast which will include matches with the University of Oregon, O.A.C. and Willamette. In any event the regular return match will be played with Willamette university. There will be a triangular meet between Idaho, W.S.C. and Whitman college, and later a dual meet with each college.

Work on Five Courts.

Two of the courts by Ridenbaugh Hall have been put in excellent condition. New nets and tape have been supplied, and considerable surfacing work has been done. By the end of next week, weather permitting, one more court by Ridenbaugh and two back of the Administration building will be put in shape, making a total of five in all.

With the completion of the courts it will be possible for more men to work out daily, and the tedious waiting for courts will be done away with to a large extent.

Campus Discusses Politics

Growth up to Officers.

Since the officers of the A.S.U. are given wide powers in student administration the race will probably be exceedingly keen. The president subject to the feeling of student opinion to a large extent, practically directs the policy, and the situations which he will be confronted with during the next term will require an unusual amount of organizing ability.

Several plans which have been started this past year will be put in force, and their success will depend largely on the executive ability of the new officers. Re-adjustments are expected to come up which will demand considerable initiative if Idaho is to hold her place with the leading universities of the west.

The departmental managers are nominated by the governing board.

Business Managerships.

The business manager of The Argonaut is nominated from the university at large, but in the past he has usually been selected from the junior or the senior class. As manager of the entire business end of the university publication he handles the circulation, directs the financial policy of the paper, and handles all the advertising. It is necessary for the student body to elect a man for the position who has business ability and who can handle a number of details correctly. Since the paper depends to a great extent on its advertising rather than its circulation for its money, the business manager must have some previous business experience.

The associate editor of The Argonaut automatically becomes the managing editor for the following semester. He is nominated, subject to certain requirements based on his ability and his previous service on the paper, by the Argonaut Board, which nominates not more than four persons.

Argonaut Responsibilities.

The university twice-a-week paper exerts a very great influence on the student opinion, and its support is practically necessary for any project dealing with the university. The business manager is also a member of the board of supervisors.

The business manager of debate is selected generally from the ranks of the debaters and handles all the arrangements for interscholastic debates. In the past years the University of Idaho has ranked well in forensic activities and the fall term is expected to witness a revival of some of the contests that gained wide support here in the past.

Takes Charge of Tour.

The Glee club manager makes the arrangements for the Glee club on its trips, arranges its appearances, financing, ticket selling, gets the quarters in the different towns, and the success of the annual tour depends upon the capabilities of the manager. He must have been a member of the Glee club in order to be eligible to run for the nomination. The manager of the Pep band is also an important position. The Pep band plays for all the athletic contests, and has done a great deal to advertise the university. The band itself nominates three candidates.

Gem of the Mountains.

The editorship of the Gem of the Mountains is one of the big positions of the university. After this year the A.S.U. is to publish the volume containing the pictures and records of all those in the University of Idaho. The year book has a literary department and news department. The editor must necessarily be not only an expert writer, but an organizer. He must have had a year's experience on the Gem of the Mountains staff, and must have the recommendation of the Gem of the Mountains board, which is composed of the editor, the manager, the president of the A.S.U., and the chairman of the faculty committee of student publications.

The business manager of the Gem of the Mountains is nominated from the school at large, but the preference is to juniors and seniors. He must be able to take care of all the business of having the cuts made, the printing, and all the other business arrangements connected with the publication of the book.

Women Show Interest.

Interest in the running of the university affairs is being shown more and more by the women. In the past semester two new departments for women have been created. Following the trend which has made itself felt in all the national elections in the past few years, women in the University of Idaho have taken a hand in affairs.

Manager of girls' athletics is nominated from the Women's Athletic association, and not less than three nominations can be made. The new department has taken charge of all women's athletics in the university, and since it is a new department, it is growing rapidly. The girl who is nominated will have to be able to organize and expand it rapidly enough to take care of the increasing needs in that field.

Nominations for manager of the Girls' Glee club are made from within the organization, by the organization. Since the club is only in its infancy, the position will be one of considerable importance, and will demand a great deal of ability for development.

Intense interest will probably center around nominations for yell king. The university has gained a great deal of prominence throughout the west for its novel yelling and advertising schemes at athletic contests. The winning of the Harvard yell contest provided a great deal of publicity. The position of yell king depends pretty largely on the man who is occupying it. If the yell king has fine spirit, originality, resources and plenty of nerve he can help the teams win contests, he can rouse school spirit, he can put the university squarely and unitedly behind its own activities. A man with the personality to put the job across can do invaluable service to his alma mater. He may be nominated from either the incoming junior or senior class. Rivalry in the contest for the May Queen will be keen. The May Queen may be nominated from the present senior class, and is a highly honorary position. Maid of Honor to the May Queen is nominated from the junior class, and Page to the May Queen from the present sophomore class.

Coast Trip To Open

and a mighty snappy infield all around. The squad has made every available minute count, and is turning out a stellar brand of ball.

Hitting has improved tremendously, considering the length of time the men have been out of doors.

No permanent assignment of positions has as yet been made. At Lewiston Kinnison caught, and will, in all probability, start the season behind the bat. Cobley has been holding down first, though Kline is running him a close race for the initial sack. Klefner will in all probability continue on second base, and Stivers at shortstop. Larson at third base, with Ostrander and Edwards working with one of the pitchers in the field, will in all probability complete the team.

Six men were cut from the squad this week, preparatory to intensive training for the trips. A mighty able combination remains, every man showing ability entitling him to a varsity position.

WEATHER CONDITIONS BRIGHTEN UP OUTLOOK

NEW MATERIAL OUT FOR SHOT AND DISCUS EVENTS.

Fox and Quinn Show Possibilities— Fitzke Out for Jumps—Gilson Suffers Pulled Tendon.

Track prospects are showing somewhat brighter, as a result of intensive outdoor workouts made possible by the continued fair weather. No record breaking time has as yet been made, but in track events the varsity aspirants are showing very satisfactory improvement.

Weight men, hurdlers, and pole vaulters are still in demand, but some new material has been unearthed. Al. Fox and Lawrence Quinn are out for the shot and discus. Fox is turning out for baseball, but is finding time to train for the field events. Fitzke, also out for baseball, is turning out for the high jump, and shows promise. He did five feet seven inches consistently in high school, and should better that mark materially here, with careful coaching and attention.

Relay Carnival Coming.

The Relay Carnival at Seattle will be held in a little over two weeks time. Idaho will enter a team, and provided fair weather continues, and the men are enabled to continue their present rapid improvement, the results promise to be gratifying. It cannot be expected that the Silver and Gold will send the winning team, considering training conditions here this year, but from all indications Idaho will make a creditable showing.

The varsity lost one promising contender during spring vacation, when Merle Gilson suffered a pulled tendon, while training on the high school track at Lewiston. In all probability Gilson will be out for the rest of the season.

FROSH BALL PLAYERS PROMISE STRONG NINE

THIRTY YEARNING STARS ANSWER MATHUEW'S CALL.

Season to Open With Game at Cheney Normal—Plans Made for Good Schedule.

Freshman baseball is under way. During the past week over 30 yearlings answered Coach Mathew's call daily. A bevy of former prep school stars are out for the team, and although little has been shown by the yearlings as yet, a strong nine is certain to be developed.

The yearling schedule up to date is mostly tentative, as the majority of the games are still pending. The team will open the season at Cheney Normal, April 28. Games will be played with the W.S.C. frosh May 4 and 5 and 24 and 25. Two of these games will be played at Moscow and the other two at Pullman. On May 26 Cheney Normal will play a return contest here. The rest of the schedule will be filled out with games with Moscow, Cullisac and Spokane high schools.

Future Varsity Players.

Little interest was shown in freshman baseball last season with the result that few trained sophomores answered the call for the varsity ranks this year. Under the able tutelage of Coach Mathews, who coached the Championship Washington varsity baseball nine last year, a freshman team will be developed that will help in building future varsities.

The candidates have been rounding into shape during the week of workout. Their muscles are beginning to limber up, and despite the adverse baseball weather, the squad is making a fair showing. The poor baseball weather has played havoc mostly with the pitching candidates. However, a couple of weeks are still available before the opening game in which time the hurling staff will make marked improvement as will other candidates.

PALOUSE WHEAT STORY HEARD BY UNDERGRADS

AGRICULTURAL SPECIALIST TALKS AT ASSEMBLY.

Dr. W. J. Spillman Says Investigational Work Now Being Actually Done in Field.

The story of the development of the wheat used most generally in the Palouse country was told University of Idaho students at assembly Wednesday morning by Dr. W. J. Spillman of Washington, D. C., consulting specialist of the United States department of agriculture.

"Investigational work is now being done in the field," said Dr. Spillman. "Investigators are actually seeing what is to be done for the best agricultural interests of the country. In a short time the investigators will be able to tell the farmers of the Palouse country what is to be done to improve their financial condition."

Dr. Spillman told of his experiments leading to the development of a wheat combining the winter hardiness and great productiveness of the winter variety with the stiff straw and tightly closed head of spring wheat. The speaker was introduced by Dean E. J. Iddings, head of the University of Idaho college of agriculture, as a man who "knows well the agricultural and scientific problems of the United States." Dr. Spillman played an important part in the development of agricultural education in the northwest. He is a writer of note and one of the leading specialists of the United States department of agriculture. Thirty years ago Dr. Spillman was head of the Washington State college department of agriculture.

INLAND EMPIRE NEED THAT OF DEVELOPMENT

SPOKANE MAN ADDRESSES ECO- NOMICS GROUP.

New England Still Wilderness If Pilgrims Had Landed at Puget Sound.

"If the pilgrim fathers had landed on Puget Sound instead of Plymouth Rock, New England would still be undiscovered," was the statement of J. W. Bradley, vice-president of the Old National bank of Spokane, in a talk to Alpha Sigma Gamma, honorary business fraternity, at a banquet last night.

Mr. Bradley thoroughly discussed the Inland Empire, its resources, and its industrial possibilities. "France, with an area less than that of the Inland Empire, has a population of forty millions, while the Inland Empire has a population of not over four hundred thousand. And yet in this section we have far greater resources than the French republic. The industrial possibilities of this territory are immense, and are as yet but in the infancy of their development."

Little More Than a Start

Mining, agriculture, lumbering, and livestock raising are the principal industries of the territory, Mr. Bradley stated. But none of these have more than a start toward the proportions that they will assume in years to come, according to the Spokane banker.

"In the Coeur d'Alene district are some of the greatest lead, silver, and zinc mines in the world. The Palouse country is world famous as an agricultural region. The largest stands of white pine in the country are in the Inland Empire. Many sections of the territory are most successful livestock raising areas."

Crop Diversity Urged

"But we have much to learn. We have taken things from nature in producing our crops, and have never repaid. There is no necessity for leaving lands in summer fallow, as is the practice of the farmers of the Palouse. It is the most primitive method of replenishing the soil, and one which has been discarded in other parts of the United States and in foreign countries. What we need is a greater diversity of crops, which will allow the land to replenish itself without allowing it to lie idle. Legumes, such as alfalfa, peas, or clover would do this."

"Over nine million dollars were sent from the northwest last year for hogs alone. The people of this territory have not yet learned to produce a variety of commodities, and as a consequence, much money is sent out which could be kept here."

Columbia Basin Project

Mr. Bradley was enthusiastic over the Columbia Basin project, and the benefit that it will be to this territory. "I do not believe that the project will be completed for many years, but eventually, when it is done, its value will be huge," he said. He mentioned the million dollars that the Burlington, Northern Pacific and Great Northern railroads are spending this spring to advertise the northwest. He stated that advertising had done wonders for California and Colorado in getting new settlers, and he predicted that this advertising would have a similar effect on this territory.

Enthusiasm Over Possibilities

In closing, Mr. Bradley said, "I am highly enthusiastic about this country and its possibilities. In comparison to some other sections of the country it is a paradise. With its limitless resources, which are still undeveloped to any great extent, it offers the greatest opportunities in the world."

The organization to which Mr. Bradley talked is an honorary group of juniors and seniors in the department of business and economics at the university.

Annual Tri-State Oratorical Contest to Be Held at University May 24.

The annual tri-state oratorical contest, including the Universities of Washington, Oregon, and Idaho, will be held in the university auditorium on May 24, according to Phil Buck, debate manager. A prize of $100 will be given the winner.

April 23 or 24 is the probable date for the tryouts to select Idaho's representative in the contest. The contestants may select any original subject for their orations, according to Manager Buck. Speeches will be limited to 15 minutes each.

In the last two years Idaho orators have carried off first honors in each meet. Two years ago the prize was won by Ralph R. Breshears. Last year the contest was won for Idaho by Rex Kimmel.
