Collegiate Year 1923-1924 Promises to be Difficult Period in Student Government—Qualified Candidates to be Nominated at Special Assembly Wednesday Afternoon.

FINAL ELECTION ON MAY 3

Miss Idaho Takes Place of May Queen—Must Be Senior Woman

With one of the most difficult years for executive management in the history of the University of Idaho in prospect in the year 1923-1924, the coming nominations for the offices of the A.S.U.I., to be made in a student nominating assembly at 4 p. m. Wednesday, mark one of the crucial moments in the growth and advancement of the university.

The executive positions of the student body carry tremendous responsibility, for the coming year especially, because of the changing conditions that will have to be dealt with. Advances in student government have demanded that strong men, keenly intelligent be given the guiding power. During the past few years the university has grown out of the personal touch which formerly characterized the management of activities. Formerly the contact between the various members of the student body has been close enough to permit personal co-operation between the leaders, and insure efficient handling of the problems that came up.

Honor Code Installed
Plans such as the honor code, which has been recently proposed, and on which action has just been begun, will have to be put into effect largely by the incoming president. The present A.S.U.I. constitution gives the student body president the power to practically handle all the arrangements in such cases, and gives him very broad executive power.

No definite plan for a number of these proposals has yet been made and the 1923-1924 administration will be faced with the problem of putting them into practice. The student interest in the way in which things are run, and the way in which things are carried out has increased. The athletic teams are gaining notice over the entire west, and the university has secured its position as one of the most efficient compact and well organized universities on the Pacific coast.

"It has been my experience that the University of Idaho is outgrowing the methods which it has used successfully in the past," said Lynn Hersey, president of the associated student body for the past year.

Grow With University
"We are becoming a large university, and it is up to us to develop means and methods to take care of our increasing size. Student government has been in force since the university has been established, and it will be up to the coming leaders to see that we continue to equal our growth in enrolment with the growth of our student governing organization."

Budget Plan Used
The recent reorganization of the A.S.U.I. constitution last February provided a budget system, putting the distribution of the funds for all athletics and student enterprises in the hands of the board of supervisors, which board allows department claims on an apportionment based on a budget which is presented by each department manager. Under this plan the old haphazard method which proportioned the funds unevenly was done away with and a scientific machine was substituted to allow for correct distribution.

The success of the plan depends on those who are elected to the student body.

"BETTER AMERICA" LECTURES PRESENTER FOR STUDENTS

The third of a series of "Better America" lectures written by Newell Dwight Hillis will be given in Room 34, Morrill hall, Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock, April 18. This lecture is entitled "The Republic as a Golden Mean between Autocracy and Democracy." Well chosen stereopticon views are used to illustrate the lectures, each of which requires about 40 minutes for its presentation. All are invited to attend.

DEBATE TEAMS PICKED

Coach Harding Names Debaters for Triangular Wrangle With Montana and Utah.

Allegra Eckels of Portland, Frank Wyman of Boise, Robert Reed of Coeur d'Alene, and Phil Buck have been selected members of the University of Idaho varsity debating team by Lewis A. Harding, debate coach, for the triangular forensic contest with the universities of Montana and Utah. Miss Eckels and Frank Wyman make up the affirmative team that meets the Utah negative in the university auditorium Friday night.

Phil Buck and Robert Reed are members of the Idaho negative duo which meets the Montana affirmative at Montana. Francis McKee of Weiser is the alternate on the negative team while Robert Barnett of Lewiston is the affirmative alternate.

The question for the triangular speakers' wrangle is "Resolved that the United States should adopt a cabinet parliamentary form of government." Members of the team were selected after two weeks' training and upon the basis of a final tryout at which Coach Harding judged the members of the varsity squad for places on the team.

SONG AND STUNT FEST NIGHT OF TRACK MEET

CLASSES ALREADY WORKING ON THEIR PRODUCTIONS.

Twenty-Five Dollar Prize Will Be Given to Writer of the Winning Song.

The annual song and stunt fest will be held in the university auditorium on the evening of May 12, which is the day on which the interscholastic track meet will be held. Song writers are already working on the songs that each class will present, and stunts are being planned.

Each class will be allowed to present two songs, and one stunt, along the lines of a vaudeville act or sketch. The songs and stunts must be original, and no one connected with the department of dramatics will be allowed to coach any stunt.

Songs Due April 28.
All songs which are to be presented must be given to the A.S.U.I. president, Lynn Hersey, before April 28. A prize of twenty-five dollars will be awarded the writer of the winning song, and an equal amount to the class which he represents. Judges for both the songs and stunts will be selected later, but they will not be members of the student body.

The songs which will be given must be sung by the class as a whole. Both songs and stunts will be presented by classes in reverse order of seniority, freshmen appearing first, and seniors last.

Fifteen Cents Admission.
An admission charge of fifteen cents will be charged to cover the price, and in event that any money is left over it will be given to the student body.

I. meeting will be one of the most important and interesting of the entire collegiate year.

ENG. CLUB PROGRAM

Sarah Truax Alberts to Read Milnes' Play at "Big Time" Meeting Tuesday Night.

Sarah Truax Alberts, of Spokane, well known to University of Idaho audiences as an actress and reader of distinction, will present a reading which will be the feature of this year's "Big Time" meeting of the English club, Tuesday night at the Guild Hall. Mere mention of Mrs. Alberts' name is indeed enough to assure a program of unusual interest.

A. A. Milnes' recent and popular play, "Mr. Pym Passes By," will be read by Mrs. Alberts. She will appear at assembly Wednesday morning.

The English club members will dance after the meeting, and there is a suspicion that there will be "food". All members of the English club, who are in good standing, namely those who have paid their dues up to date, are invited, and they are entitled to bring one guest who may be a member of the club. Cards of invitation are being given to those members who are included in the lucky classification, and admission will be by card only.

Plans for the new student campaign to interest Idaho high school graduates in the University of Idaho will be mapped out at a meeting of county and town chairmen Tuesday night, April 24, at 7:30 in room 108 of the administration building. The meeting is regarded as one of the most important student gatherings of the college year in that the new student campaign has to do in a large measure with the continued enlarged enrolment at the university next fall.

The campaign for new students is in charge of the A.S.U.I. and Merle Drake of Challis, has been named general chairman. The committee works in co-operation with the university publicity department in charge of Edward P. Mason, director of publications. All plans are also carried out with the assistance and co-operation of the University of Idaho alumni association.

Organization Complete
The general plan calls for correspondence with all Idaho high school graduates, or prospective students at the university the fall of 1923-24. Idaho meetings during the summer to acquaint high school graduates with the university undergraduates and graduates are also included in the general plan. An organization of county chairmen and two chairmen, with sectional leaders, will carry on the work.

County and town chairmen will be given power to conduct the summer campaign, designed to acquaint prospective Idaho undergraduates and their parents with what the University of Idaho offers, as they see fit, as conditions vary in different localities. (Continued on page three.)

PROSPECTS CONTINUE BRIGHT FOR BASEBALL

VANDALS LEAVE FOR COAST THURSDAY AFTERNOON.

Kinnison Suffers Injury to Two Fingers of Right Hand—Pitchers Work Nicely.

Prospects continue bright for the University of Idaho baseball nine during the coming season. The team will leave for the coast Thursday, as planned, unless there is some last minute change in schedule, and the aggregation which will accompany Coach MacMillan on the trip is one of the snappiest outfits that ever represented Idaho on the diamond.

All is not a bed of roses for the varsity sponsor, however, in spite of the favorable outlook. Kinnison, stellar varsity receiver, suffered an injury to two fingers of his right hand while catching last week. It has not been ascertained as yet whether bones were broken, but it is thought the injury will not permanently incapacitate him. It is doubtful, however whether he will hold down his place behind the bat during the early games, although in all likelihood he will not be out of the game all season. There is no certainty as to who will take his place in the early games, although Grenallo appears to be the most likely candidate for the position.

Pitchers Going Good.
Although the loss of Kinnison will be a decided handicap upon the Vandal nine, still it offers no insurmountable obstacle. The pitching staff is still going strong, and promises to give any team in the conference a lot of trouble. Snow, Marineau, Eddy and Fitzke form a stiff quartet for any string of batters to buck.

The Idaho infield is still playing a stellar brand of ball. Cobley at first, Kleffner at second, Stivers at short, and Lawson at third, have been playing together exceptionally well so far this season, and will no doubt form the infield during the first games of the season.

Ostrander and Edwards will no doubt continue in their present positions in the field, with a reserve pitcher holding down the third position.

Wednesday dinner guests of Kappa Alpha Theta were the Messrs. S. Stevens, M. Drake, D. DuSault, H. Wittenburg, W. Nixon and B. Hodgins.

ENTRANCE CANCELLED IN RELAY CARNIVAL

IDAHO WILL NOT SEND TEAM TO SEATTLE.

Weather Conditions Delay Conditioning Men—Prospects Show Big Improvement.

The University of Idaho will not send a relay team to the Relay Carnival at Seattle, as has been planned, according to a statement by Coach Mathews, head of the university athletic department. This decision was recently made, owing no doubt to wretched training conditions at Idaho this spring.

Although track aspirants will lose one of their best trips, the decision of the athletic department is wise in the extreme. So short has been the training season that the Silver and Gold team is far from the pink of conditions at present. With but a little over a week more to train before the Relay Carnival it could not be hoped that the men could reach the peak of form.

Deemed Not Advisable.
The showing which the squad would make at Seattle, while no doubt it would be creditable, would not be a fair representation of what Idaho really could accomplish if given a favorable opportunity to prepare. Moreover, the trip to Seattle is a hard one, training would be interfered with, and the fact that the following week is scheduled the first regular meet of the season, make it not advisable for Idaho to enter a team.

The varsity squad has been profiting enormously during the present fine weather. Rapid strides are being made by contenders in almost any event.

The men are now out on MacLean field. A jumping pit has been dug, and is filled with sawdust, making the best possible pit for the pole vault and jumps. Hurdlers are able to perfect their form, it being possible to run a full course, whereas in Lewis court it was possible to set up but two hurdles.

Practically two weeks and a half are left for training before the first meet of the season. An additional week's training is allowed by the fact that the team will not be sent to Seattle. It is thought that the men will gain more by the week's training here, if present weather continues, than they would by competition in that meet.

A. S. U. I. ELECTION.

The continued success of the A. S. U. I., the success of the university is dependent upon the selection of the A. S. U. I. officers by the students themselves in the near future. See to it that the men and women you elect are the men and women qualified for their respective positions. Don't vote for anybody on the basis of popularity—your vote should go to the man or woman whom you feel is best qualified to handle the position.

Good government is up to you and if you don't have good government next year the fault is yours.

Upon your vote, your intelligent vote, hinges the question of whether or not the year 1923-1924 is to be the best year in the history of the university. If that goal is to be attained the most able leaders, the best qualified office holders must be elected.

SONG AND STUNT FEST

Practically all of Idaho's songs have been written for an annual song and stunt fest, and later, because of their worth, have been accepted permanently. This annual contest is the one way that we have of gaining new songs of Idaho.

But a scant two weeks yet remain before all songs written for the coming song fest must be in the hands of the A.S.U.I. president. And we need new songs. There is every reason to expect that at least one of them will be good enough to accept permanently. And it might be a good idea for song writers to keep in mind that Idaho is in need of an Alma Mater song.

LIBRARY DISCUSSIONS.

First we wish to call attention to "A Lesson in Dentistry," or "Library Conversations" published in the Forum column of this issue of The Argonaut. The writer, "C. E. C.," is to be congratulated upon a singularly effective bit of writing. His is the humor that has made the incident amusing and yet at the same time he has pointed out with striking clarity the tendency of students to fritter away time in the university library. The other more serious angle is that students who go to the library to "kill time" are terribly annoying to those students who want to take advantage of library opportunities.

We somehow have a mental picture of "C. E. C." first disturbed, then annoyed by the conversation so vividly described in the Forum. He probably listened in and looked on with alarm as to the sanity of the individuals. Probably realizing the futility of further attempts to study, he closed his books and to "let off steam" dashed off the Forum contribution.

ASSEMBLIES.

We imagine it comes somewhat as a surprise to assembly speakers to learn that the University of Idaho has an enrollment of approximately 1700 students. The assembly problem is a problem. The public events committee tries hard to bring the best possible speakers and the best possible entertainment to the university but it would seem that members of the committee would get discouraged at times. Of course the assembly programs throughout the year may not have had the universal appeal that would make assemblies ideal, but the lack of appreciation by the student body does not tend to improve the assembly events.

One suggestion, in passing, for the improvement of assemblies is that the program could well be opened with a piano solo, a quartet or solo number, or with a musical number by an undergraduate from the department of music. A recitation by "Ahme" Kearne would draw a record breaking crowd.

More students should attend assembly. The fault lies with the upperclassmen. There are a few of the faithful present every Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock but the assembly hour to too many people, who ought to know better, is nothing more than an hour of rest.

Many freshmen are required to go to assemblies. They go but they use the hour to write notes, chat with a "date," plan what the wearing apparel will be for the next dance, or get a French lesson. In other words you can send a freshman to assembly but "you cannot make him do himself any good." Consideration for others should be a motto at assemblies for there are students who go to assembly to give the speaker serious, considerate and tactful attention and who want to get something out of the hour.

The problems have been presented and practically no solution offered. A possible solution, however, is that students pack the front seats. If necessary, the seniors should have the last rows and the freshmen should be given the first seats in the auditorium.

BREADTH OF VIEW.

College students should strive to cultivate a broader vision than the boundaries of their campus, and should cultivate a habit of measuring things by big standards, and universal values, rather than by prevailing fads on the campus, or the particular set of opinions held by their own small group of associates. A broad minded individual must be an independent thinker, and a college education, if it fulfills its possibilities, should be a great aid to independent thinking. Psychology teaches us that we think in terms of our own mental experience and since our college education gives us a bigger and better field of mental experiences, it should also give us a broader field of understanding, and a better appreciation of what is genuine and worth while in life.

However, there is a deplorable tendency on the part of the college student of today to measure values in terms of the standards accepted on the campus, no matter how narrow they may be, or to look through the tinted glasses of his own small group of friends. This tendency cannot be condoned on the ground that the student will acquire a new standard and a new view point after leaving college, for during his college career he is forming life habits and developing permanent character traits. He is a mature individual with a high intelligence quotient, and he should have a breadth of vision, which extends far beyond the realm of his daily experience. He should cultivate tolerance, more of the "live and let live" philosophy, and look upon his fellow beings as members of the great whole, each with his place in life to fill. Let's get away from narrow bigoted conceptions of things, and see life as it is with all its splendid possibilities for appreciation and development. Let us think, independently and measure things by their true worth, unhampered by group opinions or campus prejudice.—D.C.

SARAH TRUAX ALBERTS.

The presentation of Sarah Truax Alberts by the English club brings to the university a person of real worth. Mrs. Alberts' readings and presentations of plays have been the background of Spokane's cultural life for the past few years.

UNIVERSITY COW TAKES SECOND ON STATE MARK

Idaho Segis Cinderella Korndyke, bred and owned by the University of Idaho, has just completed a record which gives her second place in the state for both milk and butterfat production for senior three-year-old cows in the 365-day division. The official figures received from the Holstein-Friesian Association of America by the dairy department gives this cow a record of 20,191.6 pounds of milk, 658.26 pounds of butterfat, equivalent to 822.83 pounds of butter.

Idaho Segis Cinderella Korndyke would unquestionably have taken first place with a record of between 950 and 1000 pounds of butter but for an unfortunate accident which necessitated her being removed from test at the end of 299 days. She is the daughter of King Segis Matador Walker, the foremost and probably best proven son of Matador Segis Walker.

Whereupon the co-ed parted her carmine lips, threw back her head, dropped her lower jaw two inches, pulled her tongue back into the region of the tonsils and looked triumphantly while the two men gazed in wonder on the assortment of synthetic teeth held in place by gold bars, palate straps, clamps and pegs. I, too, carry a display of dental surgery that is not to be scorned and I was on the point of opening my mouth when I remembered that I had failed to brush my teeth after breakfast and feared that a coat of oatmeal, burnt toast and coffee grounds would mar the view of the glistening ivory and gold.

Chagrined I closed my book and rushed home to apply brush and peppermint so that I may not be present in the future from joining such helpful discussions in the University Library.—C.E.C.

Y.W.C.A. TO GIVE PARTY TUESDAY NIGHT FOR GIRLS

A "weenie roast" is the feature of a get-together meeting planned for Tuesday night by the Y.W.C.A. All university women have been invited. The party will be held from 5 to 7 o'clock. The co-eds are to meet at the university hut.

COUNTY CHAIRMEN TO OUTLINE WORK

Four District Leaders
Arthur S. Guerin, Jr., of Spokane, will be in charge of the campaign in northern Idaho. Errol Hillman of Rexburg, will direct the work in the southeastern district. Darwin Thomas of Malad, is the sectional leader for southwestern Idaho, and Louis A. Boas of Boise, is to have the sectional leadership for the Boise-Weiser district.

General Chairman Drake with the assistance of the sectional leaders has named the following county and town chairmen. Any students from Clark, Caribou, or Boise counties have been asked to get in touch with Mr. Drake at once.

UNDERGRADUATES NAME OFFICERS FOR A.S.U.I.

body offices. In the coming election the A.S.U.I. president must use considerable ingenuity and resource. Although candidates have not as yet been named, the strongest leaders on the campus are being talked of for the office, which is the most important that the A.S.U.I. has to offer.

Executive Board Members

The vice-president is a member of the executive committee. The secretary and treasurer are also executive board members and must necessarily give efficient support and backing to the president and cooperate with him in putting A.S.U.I. measures into effect.

The president and vice-president must be chosen from the incoming junior and senior classes, and the A.S.U.I. constitution also provides that the secretary and treasurer must be chosen from the members of the incoming junior and senior classes.

In Wednesday's A.S.U.I. assembly the candidates will be named by means of nominating speeches, which permit the nominator to give a short talk in favor of his or her nominee. The assembly, which is the first step in the selection of the candidates, is followed a week later on April 26 by the primary election where, according to the student body constitution, the candidates are narrowed down to the two polling the largest number of votes. The final election takes place on Thursday, May 3.

Women's Positions Important
Miss Idaho will be the leading honorary position for women. Formerly the May Queen has been elected from the present senior class. But this year the all-university pageant, which is being put on at graduation, will take the place of the old spring pageant, and Miss Idaho takes the place of the May Queen. Students will also elect a maid of honor and page to Miss Idaho.

The maid of honor must be chosen from the present junior class, and the page from the present sophomore class.

Associate Editorship
The Argonaut is recognized as one of the chief aids in carrying out plans for advancement. Its importance is constantly increasing in the field of publicity for the university. The associate editor of The Argonaut, who is elected this spring automatically becomes editor for the year 1924-1925. The associate editor must have had at least a year of experience on the paper, as well as certain other qualifications. He is recommended by The Argonaut board, and nominated in the general assembly.

The Gem of the Mountains is the university annual, put out by the A.S.U.I. The nominee for the position of editor must have had a year's previous experience on the staff, and must have the recommendation of the Gem of the Mountain's board, before his name can be put up in the assembly.

Yell King's Work

If the man elected yell king has a great deal of energy and ability as an enthusiasm arouser and resourcefulness he can do a great deal by way of making the university known throughout the west. In the past the unusual stunts "pulled" by Idaho rooters at the games attracted wide attention. The yell king may be nominated from either the present junior or senior classes.

The departmental business managers are not nominated by the student body, but by special A.S.U.I. committees, and names of the nominees will be published in the Friday's issue of The Argonaut.

ALUMNI

Donald DuSault, Editor.

Word has just been received from Ray D. Armstrong of the class of '13 that he wants members of his class who are interested in a reunion this coming June to get in touch with him at Hagerman, Idaho, so that arrangements could be made for a good live reunion.

Graduates of the class of '13, brush the old suit case off and journey back to Idaho and have a real reunion, and get acquainted with your old classmates again as well as the new alumni that will be here, and remember that June 9 is Alumni Day. Mark it on your calendar and arrange your work so you will be in Moscow on that day, and talk it up to all the other members of your class and get all of them here together. Watch this column for further announcements.

Nearly seventy Idaho alumni, students and faculty members attended the annual banquet given by the Spokane alumni chapter at Culbertson's on April 5. Joseph M. Pond, '15, acted as toastmaster for the occasion. Short talks were given by L. F. Morris, '16, Mrs. William J. Lee, '12, President Upham, Chancellor Melvin A. Bramon of the University of Montana, president of the University of Idaho from 1914 to 1917, Dean Permeal French, Richard Ott, '19, and Dean F. M. Ott, of the graduate school of the University of Washington, head of the English department at Idaho from 1899 to 1901. Mrs. L. E. Des Voignes, '08, gave several vocal selections. After the banquet everyone went to see "It," presented by the Varsity Players in Spokane that evening.

Paul Hinchliff, '21, graduated with a B.S. agriculture degree and is now agricultural instructor in the Parma, Idaho, schools. The last issue of the Idaho Farmer gives Mr. Hinchliff much credit for the work he is doing there. The slogan adopted by him for the use of his students and others as well is "Use the community in which you live as a laboratory." The boys and girls of his classes are taught to notice the things around them, the things they see and which they come in contact with every day, and to use them as object lessons for their studies.

His work is not confined to the school room but takes in the whole community and the pupils are acquainted with the practical as well as the theoretical side of their work. They take trips to the dairy ranches, fruit ranches, stock farms, and in fact every kind of a ranch they can get to and find out how many of the agricultural problems are actually accomplished, and it is said that there are few, if any of the business men of Parma that are as intimately acquainted with the surrounding country, the farmers and the farms, dairies, orchards and gardens of that section, as are these boys and girls who have visited every farm, dairy or orchard of note and studied the work being carried on.

A. P. Bailey, who was in the Idaho prep school in '94, has recently been appointed manager of the Ohio Match company's western operations, with headquarters at Spokane. For the last four years he has been woods superintendent for the company in northern Idaho.

William Schultz, '07, formerly connected with the Firestone Rubber company at Spokane, is now in business for himself and owns the Standard Garage at Spokane. Mr. Schultz attended the Idaho banquet at Spokane last week and got acquainted with some of the newer alumni members there.

Marion P. Betty, '16, has recently announced his partnership with R. I. Turney of Los Angeles under the name of Turney & Betty, with law offices in suite 428 Mason building, Los Angeles, Calif. After graduating Mr. Betty was in the sheep business for three years and in March, 1921, went into the law business for himself in Rupert, where he has been until the present time.

Harry O. Bond, '12, practiced law at Sandpoint, and then in Thompson Falls, Mont., until 1918 when he went to Missoula, Mont., as auditor of income and excess profits tax returns, and at the present time he is an accountant at Missoula.

remains, it will be divided among the classes to help defray the expenses incurred in the production of their stunts. This admission is to be charged to everyone, including those who participate in the contests.

The stunt and song fest was originated in 1915, at the time of the interscholastic basketball tournament, and it proved such a success that it was adopted as an annual event. From the contest have come many of the Idaho songs now in use.

I was delighted this morning while seated at a library table by a triangular discussion by two male students and a co-ed.

The first student was complaining of toothache and opened up his mouth to expose to the curious gaze of his two companions a wonderful display of gold bridge, partial dentures, and loose lingual bars designed to prevent two block of artificial teeth from flying into the oesophagus their owner consumes beefsteak or from flying into the street when yelling at a football rally.

The second student opened his mouth and displayed a rich assortment

GOVERNOR MOORE WILL ATTEND JUNIOR PROM

PROM TO BE GIVEN FRIDAY NIGHT.

Decorations Will Transpose Gymnasium Into Garden With Hugo Flowers and Butterflies.

Governor and Mrs. Charles C. Moore are expected to be guests at the junior prom, to be held at the university gymnasium Friday evening. They will arrive in Moscow within the next few days.

The juniors have completed all final plans for the prom, which is to be one of the most elaborate social affairs of the year. The hall will be completely transformed into a garden of flowers and magnificently colored butterflies. A profusion of colored streamers will be suspended from wires attached to the balcony.

Decorate For Garden Effect

At intervals between the streamers huge, gorgeously colored butterflies and enormous, painted flowers will be distributed. The floor will be completely enclosed by orange and green crepe hung from the balcony.

An orchestra of musical artists will occupy a raised platform at one side, around which a lattice of colored paper will extend. Near the back of the gym at which will be seen, striding a huge black caudron, filled with programs for the dance.

To Be Realistic

Large mushrooms and toadstools will add to the grotesque effect of the witch and caudron. In the right hand corner a sparkling fountain will intensify the effect of the garden scene.

Butterfly shaped programs have spaces for fifteen dances with the ninth set aside as the junior special.

IDAHO GRAD SELECTED

Robert Eldredge Accepts Position in Sterling Chemistry Laboratory at Yale.

Robert W. Eldredge, a graduate this past semester of the University of Idaho, has been named laboratory assistant in the Sterling chemistry laboratory of the department of chemistry, Yale university, New Haven, Conn. Mr. Eldredge has accepted the offer and will probably take up the work this coming fall. In addition to his duties at Yale, Mr. Eldredge will take graduate work in chemistry.

The Sterling laboratory is the best equipped college chemistry laboratory in the United States. The new chemistry building was opened up for use the first of April. The college year at Yale opens about October 1 and it is believed that Mr. Eldredge will start his new work at that time.

Mr. Eldredge is a son of Dean and Mrs. J. G. Eldredge. He has specialized in the department of chemistry for three years and graduated the first semester with a bachelor of science degree in chemistry. He has made a straight "A" average for four college years and last year was made a member of the Alpha society, honorary scholastic organization petitioning Phi Beta Kappa. His work will be at the alma mater of his father. Eldredge is a member of the Beta Theta Pi fraternity.

CO-ED ATHLETIC GROUP ELECTS NEW OFFICERS

Officers of the Women's Athletic association for next year were elected at a meeting held Monday, April 16. Due to the fact that the president serves as manager of women's athletics, no president was named by the club. The manager will be elected by the student body. Bessie Savage, Nampa, was elected treasurer; Laura Knutson, Spokane, secretary, and the following managers for the various sports: Basketball, Evangeline Bennett, Coeur d'Alene; baseball, Josie Hansen, Moscow; tennis, Joanna

"IF" WELL RECEIVED IN FINAL PRODUCTION

Last Friday evening the Varsity Players gave the last performance for the year of "If." The acting and scenery were even better than at the initial production before the holidays, and the people who were unable to attend the first show were fortunate in being able to see the fantasy at its very best.

The change from the usual type of college drama was decidedly refreshing, and it is hoped that the dramatic department can give us more of this class of entertainment. When we realize that "If" is the type of play that all the better class of theatrical centers are offering to their patrons, it makes us proud to know that Idaho took the lead among the colleges in presenting it to its student body. Situated off the beaten track, as we are here, we have little opportunity to see the really worthwhile shows and every Idaho student who took advantage of the chance was well repaid.—P.M.H.

COMMITTEES CHOSEN FOR IDAHO PAGEANT

Almost all of the preliminary work on Idaho's great pageant has already been disposed of by the general committee in charge. All of the sub-committees have been chosen and some are already functioning. This week work will begin in earnest on the costuming and designing and some of the actors will probably be selected.

Every student in school either has been or will be canvassed in order to ascertain just what sort of work he is fitted to carry on, and everybody should be ready to do whatever he or she is drafted to do so that our first pageant will be a real success.

Owing to the wonderful chance for spectacular and scenic effects the pageant committee has just about decided to stage it at night. The camp fires dotting the hills and the hundred and one chances for weird and unique sights will add greatly to the beauty of the event, besides offering better chances for close-up acting.

SPRING INSPECTION OF GADETS WILL BE MAY 2

WILL BE EXAMINED FOR DISTINGUISHED RATING.

Three Officers From The Presidio to Inspect Regiment for This Honor.

The annual spring inspection of the university R.O.T.C. regiment will be held on the campus Wednesday May 2, according to word received by the military department from headquarters of the ninth corps area, at the Presidio.

The inspecting officers will be Major Harry L. Jordan, head of the R.O.T.C. in the ninth corps area, Major Henry T. Bull, from the office of the chief of cavalry, and Major Ralph W. Kingman, from the office of the chief of infantry.

First Inspection for Rating.

This will be the first time that the local unit has ever been inspected for a distinguished rating, an honor that is conferred by the war department to a small number of R.O.T.C. units who show exceptional proficiency in training. But twenty per cent of all units can receive this rating.

Last year, although the regiment was not inspected for a distinguished rating, this would have undoubtedly have been awarded if the number of students had been greater. This year the prospects look very much brighter, as the required number of students are taking military training, and the work is being much more thoroughly done than in past years.

SUMMER SESSION TO COMMENCE JUNE 24

WILL BEGIN JUNE 5 AND CLOSE AUGUST 10

Dean J. F. Messenger Will Again Direct Annual Summer Session.

Summer school will begin June 5 and close August 10. The bulletins are being distributed this week and the schedule of courses indicates that the coming summer session will be unusually attractive.

While the summer school is primarily a school for teachers it offers a range and variety of courses that afford opportunities to freshmen who want to enter college early, to business men and women who desire to add to their general knowledge, to upperclassmen who wish to shorten their time at college and to graduate students who are doing research work.

Play Production Course.

A course in play production is being offered for the first time in the summer school. The success of the Varsity Players throughout the state has created a desire on the part of high school teachers for better dramatics in the high school. This course aims to train those who wish to direct high school or community plays. Prof. John H. Cushman is in charge of the course.

Among the new names on the faculty list are those of Miss Bernice

McCoy, former state superintendent of schools, who will offer courses in education, and William Proctor McElroy, who will have charge of the school.
