

WELCOME TO IDAHO, CLASS OF 1927!

SATURDAY FOOTBALL PRACTICE OPENS BRIGHT VANDAL SEASON

Coach Mathews Gets Squads Under Way Yesterday Afternoon for Initial Workout of Year on Maclean Field; Ten Lettermen Turn Out, With Thirty Other Candidates Out for Positions on Team.

1922 FRESHMEN PROMISING

First Few Days to Be Devoted to Condition Drills and Exercises

The Vandals are off on the 1923 Coast and Northwest conference football race!

Coach Bob Mathews and his staff of assistants put a squad of about forty through a series of conditioning drills and exercises especially worked out to get the players in-top condition as early as possible. This is the first year that the opening practice has brought out so near a full squad. Players arrived on every train Friday and kept dribbling in as late as Saturday noon. Mathews communicated with each of the varsity candidates recently and pointed out to them the necessity of starting as early as the conference rule permits. Idaho has a schedule which requires her to get pointed rather early and to stay on edge through the five remaining games.

The Idaho squad cut loose with a moderately stiff practice this afternoon, along with the other squads in the two conferences. This was the first day that teams could engage in organized practice but all outfits were on the mark ready to start as soon as the bars were lowered.

Forty Men Out
Of the 40 candidates out the first night all but an insignificant few have excellent chances to get into play during the season and possibly make the award. The lettermen from last year constitute a small part of the squad but will loom up more prominently when it comes time to select the first string eleven.

Although it is logically impossible to make any predictions with but one workout as a foundation it seems justifiable to say that the 1923 squad appears on the whole more promising than the one last year. The players are responding with a willingness which argues well for the morale of the squad. It will be remembered that it was the closely knit cooperation and unified spirit that made the Vandals the most talked of team on

MOSCOW CANVASSED FOR STUDENT WORK

Every possible business avenue has been entered in an effort to find enough part-time jobs to insure employment for students at the University of Idaho this fall who feel that they cannot continue in college unless they work during spare hours. Although the problem is difficult, Moscow business men are responding splendidly and every effort is being made to secure enough jobs for all applicants, although the number of applications this year is above normal. President A. H. Upham appealed to the chamber of commerce in an effort to have university students given the preference in the selection of part-time employes. The town has been canvassed and every place where some student may find work has been listed at the student employment office, which is conducted by Ted Turner of Caldwell.

There will be more work for women students this year than ever before, according to Mr. Turner. He also predicts that there will be an abundant supply of odd jobs, although the number of steady part-time jobs will be smaller.

Pendleton, Ore., Sept. 16.—The University of Idaho special came through here on practically schedule time, early this morning. The train, in charge of Special Agent F. J. Nixdorf, is carrying seven steel sleepers, one composite observation car, two diners, one day coach, and two baggage cars.

WORK ON GEM STARTS

Manager of Annual Arrives To Start Work on Subscription Drive

With the arrival on the campus yesterday of Merle Drake of Challis, manager of next spring's annual, the Gem of the Mountains, work on obtaining advanced subscriptions for the year book will be pushed by the manager and his staff of assistants.

Many students were disappointed this last spring in not obtaining copies of the annual, due to their failure to take advantage of the advance sale conducted a year ago, and the strict adherence of the staff to their rule of ordering only those books actually subscribed for in advance. It is the intention of the new manager to continue the precedent set last year, and students are being urged to take advantage of the advanced sale of the year to be conducted in the very near future.

The Gem of the Mountains this year will be issued by the associated students, the long standing custom of the Junior class taking the responsibility for its publication having been terminated by the student action last spring when the recodified A. S. U. I. constitution was adopted, creating the department of the Gem of the Mountains, similar to the department of the Argonaut, assuring Idaho of a constantly increasing better annual unhampered by class limitations as regards finances and talent.

FORMER IDAHO DEAN DIES IN CALIFORNIA

DR. CHARLES NEWTON LITTLE SUCCEUMBS TO HEART FAILURE

Retired From Idaho Faculty Last Spring After Twenty-two Years Service

University circles are saddened by the death of Dr. Charles N. Little, who resigned this summer from the deanship of the College of Engineering, after 22 years of service on the university faculty. Death came suddenly in Berkeley, California, the last day of August, and the funeral services were held in Moscow September 5.

A message received by Mrs. Little from a nephew says that Dr. Little was found sitting in his chair at his desk, death having been due to heart failure and evidently instantaneous.

Had Accepted Invitation
Dr. Little had accepted an invitation from Professor Lehmer at Berkeley, to appear at his mathematical seminar, September 11, to discuss the theory of knots, a little-known branch of mathematics on which Dr. Little was recognized as an authority with a reputation throughout the world of mathematics. Since retiring from the deanship at Idaho, Dean Little had found his enthusiasm renewed in this subject, which had much absorbed him in earlier years.

Charles Newton Little was born May 19, 1858, at Madura, in southern India.

The President's Message

With everything set for the opening of another academic year at the University of Idaho, it is indeed a pleasure to welcome to the campus the multitude of former students returning to continue their work and the almost equally large number of others coming to the University for the first time. We have been fortunate during the past summer in making some adjustments which will enable us to take better care of the student body, both in the matter of housing conditions and in classroom and laboratory accommodations. We shall still be crowded and there will necessarily be some inconveniences, but conditions are so much better than they have been and we still have ahead of us in the near future such excellent prospects of further growth in facilities to meet our demand that our outlook at the present is a most optimistic one.

Students of the University of Idaho should know that their University is particularly well thought of throughout the entire country. During the summer I have had abundant reasons to know that the excellence of our scholastic standing and the loyalty and unity represented in our spirit have become famous from coast to coast. Letter after letter coming to the office indicates a knowledge and appreciation of these facts on the part of the public. Rapidly increasing inquiries from prospective students, even in the New England and Atlantic states bear further testimony to this. All over Idaho the University is being respected as never before. It is a real achievement for every one of you to be able to look to another year here at the University. It is my sincere wish that this year may be a prosperous and conditions may prevent any of you from completing your education here and happy one for each one of you and that no difficulties of finances or home becoming a full-fledged alumnus of the University of Idaho.

A. H. Upham
President.

ALUMNI HOPES HIGH FOR MEMORIAL GYM

KJOSNESS RETURNS FROM TOUR OF STATE

Says Alumni Association And American Legion Strong For Proposed New Building

Sentiment throughout the state is strong for a memorial to veterans of America's wars, to be erected on the University of Idaho campus, according to W. B. Kjosness of Boise, president of the alumni association, who has just completed a tour of the state. Mr. Kjosness is so optimistic that upon his return to Moscow he told President A. H. Upham that he firmly believed the memorial would be built within a year. It is planned to construct a combined armory-gymnasium, making it a distinctive building, in memory of the Idaho veterans.

While in Moscow, Mr. Kjosness attended a meeting of local boosters at which plans were laid for the incorporation of the memorial association. When the matter was placed before the Moscow chamber of commerce, that organization decided to underwrite it for $3000 to be used in getting under way. Following the incorporation, a president and board of trustees will be elected, a drive secretary chosen and the campaign launched in full force.

First actual contribution to the memorial fund will be on the registration days for the coming university year, when each student will contribute $10 toward the fund.

FEW FACULTY CHANGES MADE DURING SUMMER

Changes in the faculty at the University of Idaho this year have been the fewest for any year in the last five. Only 16 resignations were handed in from last year's personnel, as against 18 in 1921, which was the low record up to that time. The 18 resignations in 1921 represented approximately 18 percent; this year's represent less than 13 percent.

In 1920 the turnover was 30 percent on a faculty of 100, while in 1922 there were 21 resignations filed.

Changes during the year have been as follows: law, 1; engineering, 4; letters and science, 6; education, 1; library, 1; administration, 1; physical education, 1; forestry, 1.

KEEP OFF.

Beginning Monday, and continuing until further notice, all football practice will be closed to the public. The field will be carefully guarded, and Coach Mathews desires that every student cooperate with him by not attempting to gain admittance to the field.

NEW STUDENT OFFICE INSTALLED IN U HUT

A. S. U. I. PRESIDENT AND TREASURER AND ARGONAUT INSTALLED

Intended As General Student "Hangout"—Football Dope Boards And Scores Available

A unified A. S. U. I. office, in which will be the desks of the A. S. U. I. president and treasurer, and the editor and business manager of The Argonaut, has been established in the "U" hut the past week. In the past the various offices have been scattered throughout the buildings, but it was felt that it would be far better to have them together.

It is desired that the new offices become a general campus "hangout". Football schedules of the Pacific coast conference, scores of all games, and standing of all teams, in addition to a university calendar and other information will be posted on the walls for general information.

A score sheet will also be kept of all games in other conferences and high school games played in Idaho will also be chalked up.

There will also be a table on which may be found the current issues of all university and college papers in the Pacific coast and Northwest conferences, and many from other sections of the United States and Canada.

Ted Turner, student employment manager, who formerly had this office, will move to the one in the rear which was formerly used by Prof. Chenoweth.

IDAHO STUDENTS MISS QUAKES BY TWO DAYS

Fear that Doy McKinley and Al Marineau, University of Idaho students who are with the orchestra of the steamship President Madison were in Yokohama at the time of the earthquake, has been relieved by the news that the President Madison sailed from Japan, headed for China, two days before the quake.

The two students sailed from Seattle on the shipping board steamer on August 16. The ship was scheduled to arrive in Yokohama August 20, and leave September 1. The vessel is making an excursion trip, and will, before its return to the United States, call at Shanghai, Kobe, Manila, and other ports.

NEW FACULTY RULING

"Except in the case of new students, a penalty of $2.00 is imposed for late registration, provided however that if a student registers after the last date for change of study list, (October 8), he will be required to pay a late registration fee of $10.00.

NEW ENGINEERING LABORATORY READY FOR COMING SEASON

Former Annex to Engineering Building to be Used for Drafting Rooms—Equipment There Moved to Old Harvester Plant—Engineering Offices Moved from Ad Building.

ARGONAUT ANNOUNCEMENT
The Argonaut staff for the coming semester has not yet been appointed. Anyone desiring a position on the staff as reporter, copy reader, or proof reader should see the editor either Monday or Tuesday, between 11 and 12 a. m., or 1 and 2 p. m., at the Argonaut office in the U hut.

CURTAIN OFFERS PLAYS

Dramatic Society Will Present Series Of Productions Early In Fall

The first event of what promises to be an unusually interesting year in dramatics as Idaho will be given early in the fall by The Curtain, honorary dramatic fraternity. The program contemplated is a group of one-act plays consisting of "The Mirage," an Indian play with a picturesque setting among the cliff-dwellings in Arizona, "Over the Hills," by John Palmer, with unusual opportunities for a cast of two people, and "The Monkey's Paw," a play of the supernatural made from the old plot of the three wishes, dramatized by Parker from a short story by W. W. Jacobs, the noted English writer of longshore and village life.

Members of The Curtain who will be available this year are: John Cushman, Camille McDaniel, Abe Goff, Pearl Stalker, Mrs. Schoonover, Talbot Jennings, Maxwell Sholes and Doy McKinley.

In addition to Curtain Activities, other unusual dramatic work is contemplated. With the laboratory theatre, The Curtain, and the all-college plays every student who is interested in dramatics will be given an opportunity to try his skill. The pageant revealed unexpected dramatic material and many of those who took parts in the historical production will no doubt re-enter the dramatic lists this fall.

George Varnell Says Coach Mathews Has Best Idaho Team In Many Years

Football prospects at the University of Idaho for the coming season are good says George M. Varnell, veteran Pacific Coast conference referee, in the first of a series of press articles dealing with the prospective strength of each team in the coast and north-west conference.

"On present dope, the eleven turned out by Coach R. L. Mathews of the Moscow institution figures to be one of the best that has represented the University of Idaho in recent years," he says.

Squad Much Stronger

"When Coach Mathews gridders report for their first practice of the season, September 15, that being the date set by the Pacific Coast and Northwest conferences for the opening of organized football practice, the Idaho mentor should have a squad considerably stronger than last fall, and one from which practically a veteran team can be built.

"Last season was Coach Mathews' first at the University of Idaho, and it was not until late in the season that the effects of Mathews' coaching

Kappa Deltas Remodel Home Kapsas Start Construction Thursday

Work has been rushed during the past ten days toward moving the laboratories of the mechanical and agricultural engineering departments to their new locations in the recently acquired Idaho Harvester company buildings on North Main street, valued at $100,000, and purchased for the university through W. R. Day, one of the principal stockholders in the harvester company, which ceased operations several years ago.

All equipment of the mechanical engineering department, lathes, steam and gas engines, testing apparatus, wood and steel shop tools, have been moved from the Engineering building and annex to the new quarters, supplemented by the many valuable machines included in the purchase of the harvester works. The Engineering annex, where formerly all laboratory work has been carried on, has been converted into drafting rooms, for which purpose it is ideal. By the new arrangement, the drafting rooms on the second floor of the Administration building, as well as those in the Engineering building, will be available for classroom purposes, which will relieve somewhat the crowded conditions prevalent during the past two years.

Forney Hall Furnished

Other building improvements have been made on the campus during the summer months which add greatly to its appearance and convenience. The Mary E. Forney hall for women has been completed and furnished throughout, and is now in readiness to receive the influx of Idaho co-eds. The new dormitory will accommodate 125 women, and was built during the past term under an arrangement between the State Board of Education and the University of Idaho Building association, a group of Moscow business men, at a cost of $100,000. It is to be reserved for upper class students only, the freshmen girls being housed in Ridenbaugh hall exclusively.

HULME FIGHT TO COME SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 29

Inasmuch as the traditional date for the sophomore-freshman fight falls upon the day of the College of Idaho game, the date for the under-class argument has been moved forward to Saturday, September 29, which is the Saturday closing the first week of college. It is urged that all classes organize as promptly as possible during the first week so that events will move smoothly and in due order. The "I" men will have charge of hostilities, as usual. It is rumored that an additional morsel or two will be added to the fight menu in order to make the affair lively as well as interesting.

Skill, however, rather than brutality, will be the predominant note of the contest, although a display of sheer strength now and then will no doubt be appreciated by the audience, men as well as women. Freshmen are warned that the afternoon will be strictly formal and that they should dress accordingly, with the green cap well to the fore. In the evening the two under-classes will hold the Bury-the Hatchet dance in the gym.

WELCOME, 1927

In this, the first issue of The Argonaut for the new year, the old students bid you welcome to the university campus. It is their most sincere wish that your stay upon "the hill" be enjoyable, profitable, and useful. The faculty joins with the students of previous years in their good wishes and will bend every effort to lead you to a plane of higher educational development.

A PRAISEWORTHY ACTION.

Ten dollars will be paid to the memorial gymnasium fund by every student at the time of his registration. This action is the direct result of a motion passed by the student body last spring. It is the wish of the students themselves.

This student donation will accomplish several things: It will show the alumni and supporters of Idaho that the present students are vitally interested in their university, and that they are willing to back any movement for its betterment.

It will show that Idaho students are loyal to their country, and are anxious to do something in memory to its heroes.

It will show that the students realize the serious need of a new gymnasium.

And it will be a material aid to the fund that is to be raised.

IDAHO'S LOSS

University students and faculty circles were greatly shocked during the past fortnight to learn of the sudden and totally unexpected death of Charles Newton Little, a member of the engineering faculty of the University for 22 years, and dean of the college of engineering since 1911. It was largely through his scholarly vision and his untiring efforts that the college of engineering has been brought to its present position of high standard throughout the country. His work for the university and for his students has always pervaded by that conscientious directness which gained for him lasting friendships among university men. He was a professor who gave himself untiringly to the advancement of engineering science, striving always for that perfection of achievement that distinguishes a true scientist.

It is regretted by all that after his retirement during the past summer as dean of the college of engineering, that he could not have enjoyed for many years to come a scholar's leisure, so notably earned after a life time devoted to educational service. His work here, however, will not be soon forgotten, and his monument will be in the hearts of the hundreds of successful engineers whom he launched on the work which he so well loved himself.

audience will be interesting in that Dr. G. M. Miller, now head of the English department of the university, was one of his early teachers. Dr. Miller, then a young professor direct from Harvard, was the man who made classic literature interesting to Walker, and directed him into the deeper study which led to the dramatic work in which he has been so successful.

VOHS RULED INELIGIBLE

Faculty Passes Against Star Tackle Will Be Assistant Line Coach

Because the faculty committee on eligibility found that some time in the past he played a few minutes of varsity football at Notre Dame university the services of Dale Vohs of Emmett, husky Vandal tackle, have been lost to the 1923 team. Vohs has played two years on the Idaho team and until the committee investigated his record he was listed among the veterans around whom the 1923 eleven will be formed.

Dale Vohs, who was barred from this year's squad because of eligibility. He is now on Mathew's coaching staff.

Although Vohs is an Idaho boy he went to Notre Dame after completing his high school work and easily made the yearling team at that institution. He was a varsity candidate his second year but it was not known that he participated in a collegiate game until recently. The football revival at Idaho, which started in the fall of 1920, attracted Vohs westward and during two seasons he was one of Idaho's prize tackles.

When the committee's action was known Coach R. L. Mathews jumped at the chance to get another assistant coach to complete his staff. Vohs, with his familiarity with Notre Dame football and his two seasons at Idaho, will make a valuable addition to the Vandal staff. Mathews is himself a veteran of one of the famous Notre Dame elevens of former seasons.

Meetings

A meeting of the A. S. U. I. executive board is called for Wednesday, September 19, at 4:00 p. m. at the student body office in the "U" hut. Thursday, September 20, the board of supervisors will hold their first meeting of the college year. This meeting will be held at the "U" hut, at 4:00 p. m.

and his system of play began to show effectively. This fall he will have a strong nucleus of veterans who will be well versed in the Mathews style of play in addition to a number of strong players from the 1922 frosh team, who also received their baptism in his style of football last fall under Coach Dave MacMillan, Mathews' assistant.

"The Idaho team will lose the services of Babe Brown, one of the greatest fullbacks the Gem State institution has had in recent years; Dale Vohs, a high caliber tackle and heady lineman; Jim Neal, another strong lineman; "Beany" Breshears and Arnold Cobley this year, the first three via the three years' eligibility rule, and the last two by graduation.

"Brown, Vohs and Neal will be keenly missed on the Idaho squad this fall, as they form a trio of players who fit well into Mathews' system. Nine letter players are expected to report to Mathews September 15 to try for places on the 1923 team, in addition to Bob Fitzke, who was declared ineligible last season, and a number of good prospects who showed their wares on the freshman team last season.

"The letter players who are expected to report at Idaho this fall include Skippy Stivers, quarterback; Syb Kleffner, halfback; Lawrence Quinn and 'Dad' Hausen, tackles; Johnny Vesser, end; Maurice Kline, center; Lyle Tapper, guard; Frank Kimison, halfback; and "Fat" Stephens, guard. Sophus Marker and Walt Reamer, ends, will also make their bids.

"The 1922 frosh eleven at Idaho, which team won the freshman championship of the northwest conference with a record of being scored on but once in six games played, will report practically intact this fall for varsity work.

1922 Frosh Out

"Among the graduates from the frosh squad who are due to figure strongly this fall are Davis, Cameron, Nelson, Phipps, Heuffner, and Davison, backs; Bucklin, Stephens, Sibley, Disney, Payne, Lansdon and Jones, linemen.

"In Bob Fitzke, Coach Mathews is expected to have one of the prize backs of the northwest conference. Fitzke is an exceptional kicker, a good punner, strong line blocker and passer. "All in all, Coach Mathews should be ready to 'shoot' during the coming season. Idaho prospects do not tend toward a big team, but rather a team between 175 and 178 pounds in average, but a versatile team in that it will have kicking, passing and running strength. Idaho figures to be a tough nut for all of its opponents during the coming season, and incidentally the team will have a far better adjusted schedule than last fall, which should also mitigate in favor of the team's success."

WORLD FAMOUS BAND TO BE AT UNIVERSITY

SOUSA'S ORGANIZATION TO GIVE CONCERT DECEMBER 20

Ukrainian Chorus and Walker's Players Also On Winter Entertainment Program Here

Sousa's band heads the list of artists and entertainers of national and international fame who will appear before the University of Idaho students this year. It has been the practice of the university to bring as many high class entertainments to Moscow as possible, and this year's program will offer an unusual variety of entertaining and instructive features.

The famous band of John Philip will appear December 20. This band, which will come with a personnel of between 75 and 80, is billed as the "world's greatest musical organization." It will feature the latest compositions of its director.

Other Excellent Numbers

The second event will be the appearance of the Ukrainian chorus, an organization of 50 voices which already has had one successful season in the United States and Mexico. The Ukrainians, without accompaniment, present folk songs and native melodies of "Little Russia." Most of the leading singers of the chorus were active in grand opera at the larger cities of Russia before the company started on the foreign tour. They will appear in native costume.

Stuart Walker's players will give both matinee and evening programs on January 17. The play for the matinee has not yet been selected but in the evening, Mr. Walker's company will present "The Book of Job," an actual dramatic presentation of the Old Testament text. Mr. Walker is creator and director of Portmanteau theatre, which uses modernistic settings, and is one of the foremost figures in American drama.

SUMMER MONTHS SEE CAMPUS IMPROVEMENT

GROUP HOUSES ALSO MAKE ADDITIONS TO PROPERTY

Several comfort-producing improvements have been made on the campus during the summer—the paving of the drive in front of the Administration building, together with the graveling of the approaching driveway and the provision of parking space; the installation of a third boiler in the heating plant; and the creation of a social room in Lindley hall.

The circular drive around the fountain in front of the Ad building is being paved with cement. This paving extends also to the approaches north and south. Adequate drainage has been provided. Parking of cars in this area will be forbidden, but to take care of them a wide space opposite the south end of the Ad building is being gravelled. The driveway from the campus entrance at Ridenbaugh hall and extending on around the Ad building to the north end is being gravelled also.

New Boiler Installed

Installation of a third boiler in the heating plant is necessitated by the opening of Mary E. Forney hall. This 300-horsepower boiler will make possible better heating of the entire campus, as it will provide more reserve heat than the new building will require. Certain changes in the heating plant building are being made.

To make a social room at Lindley hall the three south rooms on the first floor, together with the cross corridor, will be merged.

Groups Also Repair.

Improvements have also been made by many of the groups on the campus. The most extensive work was done on the Kappa Delta house, which has been entirely remodeled and refinished, at a cost of approximately $10,000. The house has been enlarged to provide accommodations for 30 men, and the external appearance has been greatly changed. A steam heat furnace and a large fireplace were added.

Several business houses well known to university students have also been improved. The Oriole Nest has been entirely changed, the building being enlarged, and new fixtures installed. The Varsity grocery has added a mezzanine floor, Huffs' cafe has been redecorated, Bobs' Sweet Shop has changed in appearance, the Fashion shop and the Corner Drug store have been remodeled, and a marquis has been put over the door at Mittens'.

NEW ASSISTANT NAMED TO HELP DEAN FRENCH

Announcement of the appointment of Mrs. Louise Shaff Blomquist of Lewiston as assistant dean of women at the University of Idaho has been made by Permeal J. French, dean of women. Mrs. Blomquist will have direct charge of the women in Mary E. Forney hall, new dormitory for women.

Mrs. Blomquist received her A. B. degree from the University of Washington in 1915. She taught at Mackay high school and later at Lewiston normal. Last year she took advanced work at Columbia university leading toward a master's degree.

GREETINGS

In order that we might better serve our appreciative and growing patronage, we have just completed the addition of a balcony tea-room to our busy establishment. This will give us a greater opportunity to serve you as we can now provide anything from Adam & Eve on a raft, to an elaborate banquet. As a suggestion, for breakfast, it could be one of Bob's winsome waffles chased by another and a good cup of coffee, the best in town. Or if you are feeling a little high-brow have a bowl of Post's bran—you'll soon be buying it by the package (2 for 35c over on the grocery side.) On the other hand if you're like us, rather bourgeois, you will probably fall back on Bob's good old hotcakes with slathers of syrup, or a ham and egg order.

Our 35c noon lunch, including choice of desert is a very popular and satisfying order. However, just remember that we serve refreshments and lunches at any hour of the day.

Bob still makes those delicious pies, cakes and pastries. We're as proud of his ability as a cook and baker with a lifetime's experience behind him as we are of the new member our establishment. Remember Eugene Ralph of the Kampus Kitchen and U. hut? Well, Gene will soon be handling the grocery side of our business. With Atta-Boy Eddie's help he will be selling everything from a multitude of minced clams all hog-tied and hobbled, to a couple of cabbages camouflaged as sauer-kraut.

Speaking of Atta-Boy, watch for him. You'll find him chasing around

THE ECONOMICAL

COACH
R. L. MATHEWS.

The man on whom the students, alumni, and supporters of the university pin their hopes for a successful football season.

MATHEWS IS SILENT ABOUT VANDAL HOPES

COACH WILL MAKE NO STATEMENT ON SEASON

Will Play Games As They Come
But 1922 Varsity Squad
Speaks Well

R. L. Mathews, Vandal gridiron chieftain, had no sooner returned to Moscow to make ready for the opening of football practice Sept. 15 than he was surrounded by anxious Idaho supporters, seeking some assurance that prospects were as rosy as they had been pictured in the press. But Mathews has never in the past made a practice of counting his chickens before the hen climbed off the nest and although he may feel uneasy about the oncoming season he isn't talking. He may have some very definite conclusions formed in his own mind, but they are staying there.

This condition need not be construed to mean that Matty is disheartened—far from it. It means that he is going to play the games one at a time, just as he did last season. Idaho may not win any games, although the most chronic pessimist can hardly be justified in feeling that way, but any football follower seeing the 1923 Vandal team play will know at the end of the fourth period that he has seen a real team in action, which brings out the purpose foremost in Mathews' mind at the present time—that of giving Idaho a real football team.

Much Material Available

It is true that from the standpoint of material Idaho has everything to feel gay over, but reasons for gloom can be discovered by a little search. For instance, the schedule this season is so arranged that Idaho must be at the peak of condition and ability for the Washington State game at Pullman, October 19, and stay at the top until the last game at Los Angeles, November 24. Six tough games come at weekly intervals. It is not often that a team is required to get pointed so early and stay pointed throughout the season. Generally there is a "set-up" or a week's layoff somewhere along the line.

Further analysis of the schedule reveals that it contains a "first" in the history of American football. The closing three games will be played on one trip. Years ago coaches would howl and moan if they were called to play one hard and one easy game on the same trip. Last season Idaho played two games on one trip, and neither was noticeably easy. This year they will follow the same route, but instead of playing two games will make on three. It is believed that this is the first time in American football that three games have been scheduled for the same trip.

More Home Games

Regardless of the blue spots on the schedule the home guard will see more of the team than in any season past. Three games will be played on the home field and one at Pullman, which is only nine miles away.

Much is being whispered over the coast about Idaho's chances to find a companion for her basketball championships. It is true that some of the veteran talent which featured so strongly on last year's eleven will be lost but although the candidates from the frosh team may be equally good in basic football it will be sometime before they are capable of taking the places of men who have been together two or more seasons.

Team Makes Appeal

Last year's team was not successful from the standpoint of games won but there was an appeal about the playing of the 1922 Vandals that made the crowds flock to see them play, even though they were certain to lose. It was that fighting ability that caused Southern California to invite the Vandals to oppose them at Los Angeles, Turkey Day, in their big game.

Regular practice will start Sept. 15 and shortly thereafter Mathews will know how many football men he has. According to present information the varsity squad will number around 40, with everyone having a chance to land a varsity position.

It has every appearance of being an Idaho year—barring misfortunes.

PI PHI WILL INSTALL LATE IN SEPTEMBER

OMEGA PHI ALPHA GRANTED NATIONAL CHARTER

Helen Madden Represents Local Girls At National Summer Convention In Colorado

The University of Idaho will become a new home for a chapter of another national sorority September 27, 28, and 29, when the local group of Omega Phi Alpha, will be installed as Idaho Alpha of Pi Beta Phi. Omega Phi Alpha was granted a charter by Pi Beta Phi at the national convention held in Estes Park, Colorado last June. The Idaho petitioning sorority was represented at the convention by Miss Helen Madden, a Pi Beta Phi of the University of Oregon. Local groups in three universities received Pi Beta Phi charters this year, University of Idaho, University of North Carolina, and University of Tennessee.

Pi Phi national officers have sent word that Mrs. Spring, the editor of the Pi Beta Phi "Arrow", will act as installing officer at Idaho, with Mrs. Burton Beck, province president, assisting. The Washington Beta chapter at Washington State College will also assist at installation. Mrs. Ralston Butterfield, of Moscow, is chairman of the installation program for local Pi Phis.

Founded in 1867

Pi Beta Phi was founded at Monmouth College in April, 1867. The sorority now has more than sixty active chapters in educational institutions throughout the United States, with a membership of about twelve thousand. The badge of the fraternity is a tiny gold arrow, the colors are wine red and silver blue, the pledge button is in gold and the fraternity flower is the red carnation. The periodical journal of Pi Beta Phi is called "The Arrow." The new Idaho chapter will be associated in the Northwest with chapters at University of Washington, University of Oregon, Oregon Agricultural College, Washington State College, and Montana State College.

The local sorority, Omega Phi Alpha was founded March 5, 1920. That it should achieve membership in a national fraternity of the standing of Pi Beta Phi in so short a time after organization is evidence of a local group of unusual character. Omega Phi Alpha holds the scholarship cup for the second year, and its members are active in all university activities. Members who signed the petition and who will be initiated during installation are: Margaret Springer, Vera Luse, Verle Bartlett, Ruth Hawkins, Florence Selby, Rose Donovan, Florence Graves, Helen Ramsey, Hazel Ormsby, Fern Cranston, Ruby Irving, Lucy Jennings, Elise Conner, Bessie Savage, Vivian Roberts, Winifred Jones, Mildred Miniely, Jessie McAuley, Elizabeth Mount, Edna Burr, Florence Greene, Pledges, Juanita Hedden, Lois Crana. Alumnae and former members are also expected for installation.

INJURY BARS ABE GOFF

Operation on Knee Prevents Two Year Letterman Playing Football

A serious blow may befall the 1923 Vandal football squad in the loss of Abe Goff, two-year guard and center. Goff is the only lineman with two years' experience.

Goff's right knee was injured last season but he would not let the injury keep him from the game throughout the year. This summer a floating cartilage developed and an operation was necessary.

Goff declares he will be able to step back into his guard position and carry his share of the Idaho offense, but his doctor seems rather doubtful. He is starting out with the squad and a few nights of practice will settle the matter. If he is able to stand up under a few evenings of scrimmage he will have a fighting chance to stick—otherwise he will be the sixth member of last year's team to be lost.

where his parents, Charles and Susan Little, were stationed as missionaries, to which work, as earnest Puritan Christians, they had dedicated their lives.

Married in Lincoln

On August 5, 1886, at Lincoln, Nebraska, Dr. Little married Emma R. Funke, who was his loyal companion for 37 years, and who survives him.

Dr. Little received his A. B. degree at the University of Nebraska in 1879 and his A. M. degree from the same university in 1884. In 1885 he received his Ph. D. degree at Yale University. He was instructor in mathematics and civil engineering at his alma mater the University of Nebraska, from 1880 to 1884, and associate professor of civil engineering from 1885 to 1890 and professor of engineering from 1890 to 1893. From 1893 to 1901, Dr. Little was professor of mathematics at Leland Stanford University, resigning and coming to Idaho in 1901. In 1899 and 1900 Dr. Little was on leave of absence from Leland Stanford and during that time studied at the universities of Goettingen and Berlin.

Long Service Here

In 1901 Dr. Little came to the University of Idaho as professor of civil engineering and in 1911 was made dean of the college of engineering, which position he occupied until the close of the past school year, when he announced his retirement, at the age of 65 years.

Watch for consistent and steady Atta-Boy Eddie—of the Varsity Grocery.

Dr. Little's research work on the theory of knots was of an outstanding nature and brought forth world-wide comment from mathematicians. It began with his thesis for his doctor's degree. Tait of the University of Edinburgh, also a worker in this field, and it was at his suggestion that Dr. Little continued his work on this subject, completing studies which Professor Tait's other urgent activities were pushing aside. These papers were published in the Transactions of the Royal Society of Edinburgh.

Wrote Mrs. Little

Again, in later weeks, after many years of routine activity, Dr. Little wrote Mrs. Little from Berkeley that he had met Professor Oswald Veblen, a brilliant young mathematician of Princeton University, who suggested an interview with Dr. Little, to talk over knots, Professor Veblen being one of the most prominent men in the world in mathematical analysis. As work in this line of mathematical research has engaged the attention of but a limited number of students, Professor Veblen expressed interest in meeting one of the few men in the world who know about them.

Dean Little was a fellow in the American Association for the Advancement of Science, a member of the Society for the Promotion of Engineering Education, the American Association of University Professors, the American Society of Civil Engineers, and the Idaho Chapter of the American Association of Engineers. He had been a devoted Christian since early life, a member of the Congregational church, but in Moscow, where that denomination is not represented, had worked with the Episcopal church. His earnestness of purpose and interest in others had endeared him to a large circle of friends. Frequent tributes are received from former engineering students of the university, not a few of whom, because of the excellent training given them by Dr. Little, occupy outstanding places in the engineering world.

ARCHITECTURE OFFERED

New Four Year Course Offered With Weaver As Head Of Department

With the institution of a four-year course in architecture this fall the University of Idaho becomes the third college in the northwest to grant a degree in architecture. The architectural department is being started under the direction of Rudolph Weaver, who has been head of the department of architecture at Washington State college since 1911. Mr. Weaver will be university architect and his appointment was largely the result of a desire on the part of the board of regents to have a competent man on the campus to arrange plans for the erection of the $200,000 science hall and the $100,000 men's dormitory. During the last 15 years he has designed buildings representing an investment of approximately $2,000,000.

Course Is Outlined
The architectural course, as outlined Professor Weaver, will lay a foundation for a general practice of the profession. Emphasis will be divided between the practical and the artistic side so that at any later time the student may decide to specialize as a designer or an architectural engineer. The department is so arranged that it will be a good cultural course and most of the subjects required will be those most desirable for any educated person to know. The history of the various types of architecture will also be featured.

Prof. Rudolph Weaver, new university architect, who will have charge of the four year course in architecture.

With plans going forward on the new science hall and the men's dormitory the architectural department will be of valuable service to the institution in preparing specifications. Arrangements will be made for some of this work being done by the students which will be excellent practical laboratory work.

It is expected that the Moscow city band will also be present at the train Sunday afternoon, and Moscow citizens will be out en masse to enthusiastically welcome the new students. The new sorority home is to cost approximately $20,000, which amount has been raised through a bond issue. Two New Buildings

The present college year will see two new university structures under way, the new Science hall and a new residence hall for men. The former is to be built from the proceeds of a special levy granted by the last session of the Idaho legislature, and will cost approximately $235,000, while the dormitory will be erected through an arrangement with the University of Idaho Building association similar to that resulting in the erection of Lindley hall two years ago, and Mary E. Forney hall during the past term.

Plans for Gym Progress

The state alumni association is busy working out the details of its plan to erect a new memorial gymnasium, to cost $200,000, toward which each student entering the university this fall will contribute $10, voluntarily authorized by the associated students last spring as the first contribution toward the proposed building. The Idaho American Legion, at its annual convention in August, lauded in high terms the University of Idaho alumni in their efforts to erect the gymnasium as a memorial to university men killed in American wars, and will lend every effort to the plan to raise the money necessary during the coming year.

Competition Is Strong

Competition will be strong for every position. Backfield players will get a bigger taste of it possibly than the linemen, for the sophomores are coming with some fine backfield timber. Mathews, however, isn't paying much attention to positions just yet. He is conducting his work now with the idea of discovering just how many football players he has; the placing will come comparatively easy at a later time.

The big job will be getting the squad into condition for the scrimmage and tackling practice, which will be the final pre-season proof of a player's ability. After the players are hardened he will start introducing some of the new plays which he has worked out during the summer.

Strong Coaching Staff

Coach Mathews has Albert H. Knudson, Dale Vohs, Babe Brown, and Jim Neal, all former Idaho players, as assistant coaches.

Registration has not proceeded sufficiently to enable Coach Dave MacMillan to ascertain what he has in line for the freshman team. It is not likely that the yearlings will shape themselves before a week or more. Idaho needs another good freshman team this year, which will be a mighty powerful talking point for a strong varsity next year. This may seem a long distance ahead; but Idaho realizes that the long sought chance to move upward in football is at hand and desires to be ready.
