

ROCKWELL IMPRESSED WITH IDAHO OUTLOOK

PRESIDENT BOARD OF EDUCATION HERE FOR MEETING

Says That University Never Had Better Support From Idaho People

"I am no longer concerned about the enthusiastic loyalty and affection in which the university is held by our people. The evidence is increasingly accumulative on the campus," said Senator I. E. Rockwell of Bellevue, president of the state board of education, shortly before his return to south Idaho after a board meeting at Moscow. Senator Rockwell met with other members of the board to consider the preliminary plans for the new science hall and other matters coming up in connection with the opening of the thirty-second university year. He came to Moscow early, to be present at the formal opening exercises.

"My visit here at the beginning of the semester has been a succession of glad surprises. Even the first day's registration denotes the instant approval by our people of the enlarged service plan set in motion by the present administration to meet the demands pressing upon us as never before from all section of the state. Idaho Spirit Prevails

"The spirit of the student body fills the very atmosphere with its 'pep' and 'go'. Its earnestness and zeal is reflected everywhere. There is a fine concentration all along the line; the faculty conscientiousness seems to express an added zest, as though taking over new and larger responsibilities. I thought the president seemed almost satisfied about things; he is thoroughly appreciative of the spirited response to his plans and efforts to develop in our beloved institution a greater capacity for outstanding service.

"The college of engineering seems to me one of the particular examples of revision and extension of facilities for the great work in hand. Dean Ivan C. Crawford, head of the college is a product of varied and practical experience covering many years. President Upham regards his appointment as a real achievement.

Engineering Outlook Bright

"Under the leadership of Dean Crawford the engineering college is beginning a new existence in surroundings and with equipment and working space unusual for us. This expansion was made possible through the purchase of the manufacturing plant of the Idaho National Harvester company near the university. The physical conditions could hardly be bettered if the plant had been built to order. The college of engineering now for the first time in our history as an institution is rigged out for a real career in mechanical, electrical and agricultural engineering.

"We are congratulated on all sides on the success of President Upham in filling the important place recently occupied by Dean O. P. Cockerill of

MULLAN STUDENT WINS J. J. DAY SCHOLARSHIP

Richard Alton Adams of Mullan, will receive the Jerome J. Day scholarship in the University of Idaho school of mines for 1923, according to a decision by the scholarship committee, announced today. The committee experienced difficulty in deciding between Mr. Adams and William Bolander of Burke, both being outstanding in scholarship, interest in athletics and possessing the qualities of leadership and cooperation upon which judgment is based.

The Jerome J. Day scholarship carries an annual stipend of $250 for four years. It is open for competition to high school boys of Shoshone county who are entering the school of mines.

Mr. Day in founding the scholarship in 1917, denied any philanthropic motives. His purpose, he pointed out, was to encourage mining education in Idaho, because of his appreciation of the value of technical training.

PEP BAND WILL HOLD TRYOUTS WEDNESDAY

The Pep band will begin its fourth year with tryouts Wednesday afternoon, at which time the personnel for the present college year will be selected. The organization was formed in the fall of 1920 by Lynn Hersey, who served as its leader for three years, and Gypson Stalker, who was yelling at that time. The purpose of the band is to furnish music at pep rallies, athletic contests, and other university functions.

The leader of the band this year is Al Marineau, and the manager is Ullie Powell. Marineau has spent the summer with an orchestra in the Orient, and he will not return to the university until the second week in October.

OVER HUNDRED FROSH REPORT FOR FOOTBALL

THIRD MORE CANDIDATES THAN EVER BEFORE

Coch MacMillan May Use Two Teams To Play Double Game Schedule

If quantity can be considered as a criterion the University of Idaho should have another whale of a freshman football team. The roster of the "babe" squad already numbers 98, approximately one-third larger than any other yearling turnout in Idaho history. It is expected that the maximum turnout will number over 100.

Because practice has not progressed sufficiently to permit an estimate of the genuine football talent present, it is necessary to consider the situation from the standpoint of numbers only. It is reasonable to assume, however, that in such an array, representing all the larger high schools of the state, at least on good team of players can be found. Coach Dave MacMillan, who gave Idaho her freshman championship team last year, is back at the wheel and has outlined a practice program which will perfect players who have come from high schools and develop those who have not had previous experience.

Held Northwest Title

Last year's Idaho freshman eleven enjoyed the glory of a highly successful season, which cinched the northwest title. During the six games the Vandal yearlings were scored on but once.

The success of the 1922 crew, coupled with the encouraging prospects for the frosh outfit now in the making, is having its reaction. The athletic department finds that it is mighty tough to get games for such a promising outfit. The teams that in years past have been able to compete with the best Idaho yearling team on equal footing are showing signs of hesitating to tackle the 1923 frosh. Two games are a certainty. Washington State college freshmen will come to Moscow this year and the Idaho frosh go to Missoula for a return game with the University of Montana freshmen. Negotiations are being made with the smaller colleges and universities throughout the Inland Empire.

Two Teams Possible

With such a large squad it is not unlikely that Dave MacMillan who has been in charge of freshman football for several seasons, will put two elevens in the field. The second outfit will be given a schedule of games with Idaho and Washington high school teams.

Fred (Lefty) Marineau of Coeur d'Alene, varsity baseball captain last season, is assistant coach.

Following is the personnel of the freshman crew:

F. Armstrong, Spokane; Rich Adams, Mullan; I. C. Burroughs, Poughkeepsie, N. Y.; E. G. Blackburn, Pittsburg, Pa.; Wilfred Beals, Okanogan, Wn.; Leonard Beall, Wilder; Frank Billa, Des Plaines, Ill.; J. Bayliff, Moscow; Lawrence Bloom, Walla Walla; Albert Bailey, Twin Falls; Cecil Brown, Homedale; J. Bauer, Sugar City; E. L. Bigley, Spokane; E. F.

Wanted: Co-Ed Actress Who Hasn't Bobbed Hair

All pretty or talented co-eds who haven't bobbed their hair will please present themselves to Prof. John Cushman immediately. There isn't a single candidate for the university plays to be presented who hasn't done the Sampson and Delilah act to her curly tresses.

Actresses are simply impossible with bobbed hair, says Mr. Cushman, authority and professor of dramatics, and now the department can't produce anything but Fiji island plays and F. Scott Fitzgerald.

For instance, how would it look with a slim, fair Spanish beauty with her hair frizzed out at the sides and done up with a band around her head. Or Cleopatra vamping Mark Anthony with her shortened locks. Shades of Shakespeare and Oscar Wilde. Imagine a Lady Macbeth or the playmate of Lady Clara Vere de Vere with bobbed hair!

No more can our budding actors rhapsodize over the moonlight shining through your beautiful tresses, and our play producing class can no longer produce the balcony scene from Romeo and Juliet.

It isn't necessary to be pretty. All that is required is that the candidate still has her hair. The dramatics department will cry its eyes out with gratitude.

Otherwise this year's productions will be Russian plays selected by Mencken, Nathan, and recommended by Vanity Fair.

FIFTEEN TURN OUT FOR CROSS COUNTRY

SQUAD EXPECTED TO REACH THIRTY BY END OF WEEK

Number of Veterans and Good New Material Foreshadows Good Season For Idaho

Fifteen men turned out for the varsity cross country team Monday afternoon, when the first workout of the year was held, under the pacing of Lewis Williams, varsity two-miler, and cross country man. This number is expected to be greatly augmented during the next few days, and it is expected that before the week is over, between 30 and 40 men will be going around the oval each night.

Among the veteran track men who are reporting for the cross country grind, are Williams, in charge of the conditioning work of the squad, Hillman, Sowder, who won his letter last spring in the half mile event, but who shows promise for longer distance work. Archibald, Crowe, Casbolt, star Idaho quarter-miler, and Powers.

Two Runs Scheduled

Two meets have been assured the Idaho squad for this fall, one dual meet with the Washington State College Cougars, and the conference meet. Neither have been definitely fixed as to date, however, but will occur before the cold weather sets in too strongly.

Idaho last year took the W. S. C.—Idaho dual meet handily. Williams taking first place, and Penwell second, both for in advance of the nearest Washington State competitor. The conference meet held at Eugene, did not turn out quite so good. Idaho taking a third place.

Season Looks Hopeful

With good weather conditions, and barring mishaps, the locals should be able to place a team of creditable ability in the field against Pullman this fall. Suits are being issued to all who will turn out regularly, and all who have aspirations along cross country directions, are urged to report to Williams at once.

UNDERCLASS BATTLE GOES TO FRESHMEN

DEFEAT SECOND YEAR MEN BY CLOSE SCORE

Sophomores Pulled Through Fire Hose In Event Which Decides Winners of Fight

The freshmen won the annual sophomore fight, held at two o'clock last Saturday afternoon on the campus by a score of 15 to 10. With a partially clouded sky overhead and a chilly atmosphere prevailing, the frosh trotted out their strong men and took three events out of five, while their arrow collar models perched on the sidelines and hilariously threw their newly acquired Irish headpieces into the air. In the wrestling events, scheduled

NEW PLAN MADE FOR SEATING AT GAMES

PERMANENT SEATS TO BE RESERVED FOR TOWNSPEOPLE

Students To Have Seats in Knockdown Bleachers on West Side Of Field

According to plans worked out during the past week by Graduate Manager Albert Knudson, the seating arrangement for grid games on MacLean field this coming season will be a complete reversal of the 1922 system.

Knockdown bleachers, will be erected on the west side of the field with a seating capacity of about 1200. These will be used by local students and faculty members, with a special section reserved for holders of faculty season tickets.

Townpeople and out of town visitors with reserved seat tickets will be seated in the permanent bleachers on the east side, hitherto always used for the Idaho rooting section.

Jerry's to Sell Seats

Reserved seats for all games will be placed on sale at Jerry's Cigar store at least four days in advance of each game, Manager Knudson stated Monday afternoon. General admission tickets will be sold only at the gate. A. S. U. I. cards will admit holders to the student section for all home games.

Manager Knudson asks that everyone acquaint himself with the seating plans and cooperate with those in charge to avoid confusion at games.

Reserved seats for the College of Idaho game scheduled for October 6, will go on sale October 2, the price having been set at one dollar. General admission tickets will be sold at the gate for 75 cents.

No announcement of prices for the Idaho-Montana game October 12, have as yet been announced by the manager, but will be kept as low as possible.

The new seating arrangement will provide a great deal more space for local students than in the past, and will facilitate the handling of the crowds expected to attend local gridiron exhibitions.

THREE NUMBERS OFFER VARIED ENTERTAINMENT

COMMITTEE ON EVENTS PREPARING WINTER COURSE

Sousa's Band, The Ukrainians, And Stuart Walker's Players To Give Numbers

A series of three programs that are without doubt the best that are obtainable in their respective lines will be offered as the annual entertainment course this year by the committee on events, which each year arranges a similar course during the winter months.

The first program of the series is John Philip Sousa and his 50 piece band, which will appear December 20. This musical organization has a world

ENROLLMENT FIGURES SHOW SOME INCREASE

Figures on registration this year show that there is an increase of approximately 10 percent in enrollment over last year at the same time. The enrollment will also be swelled by a great number of students who are registering late.

Last year there were 1324 students registered in the regular courses, and the total was brought up to 1632 by the summer session, short courses, and correspondence students.

Of the 1324 regular students last year 480 were girls, and 844 were men. Statistics on this have not yet been compiled this year, but the ratio varies little from year to year.

DRAMATICS CLASS TO GIVE GROUP OF PLAYS

LITTLE THEATER TO BE USED AGAIN

To Use Modernistic Ideas Of Stage Setting And Play Production

After a series of successful plays produced last year, the laboratory theatre of the University of Idaho has selected a series of vivid and interesting one act plays for experimental work this season.

Numbers of candidates turned out this year for places in the play production work, but owing to the intensity and finesse required by the art, only a very few selected players will manipulate the stage vehicles.

Use Modernistic Ideas

Experiments are being made by the Idaho guild in the most advanced ideas in staging and production. Several of last year's plays embodied ideas gained from the Moscow art theatre and the leading producers of New York.

Since the tendency is changing rapidly from the old inartistic, inelastic and labored realism to swift, intense action and staging characterized by the extreme elimination of detail, the plays selected are of an impressionistic type and a more radical technique. The guild is now composed almost entirely of a new cast, and each play has but a few actors.

"No Smoking," by the Spanish playwright, Jacinto Benevente, will probably be the first to be staged. Benevente is the author of thirty or forty modern plays which have been produced in the United States. He produced the "Passion Flower" which gained such quick success last year with Nancy Neill.

"The Loving Cup," was the second on the list, is written by Alice Brown, writer of plays and stories for Harper's Magazine and The Century. She is author of "Children of Earth."

"The Trysting Place," also to be produced, is typical of the Booth Tarkington plays, and its leading character is much like "Clarence", which is even yet being given all over the country. The department of drama play production gave it this summer with a cast from the summer school class in play producing.

"Poor Madeline," the fourth of the plays which have been selected will probably appear in the theatre workshop late in the year. It is unusual since the leading characters are both required to play two parts. It is by Louise Saunders, and the leads are something of the fairylike "Pierro and Pierrette" type.

Prof. John Cushman, director of the theatre laboratory, believes that the performances this year will be especially strong.

The type of play which lends itself to the laboratory method of production is an impressionistic one, and the elimination of detail and use of lights to the extent to which it has been developed opens up a vast field of possibilities.

Professor Cushman is constructing a small model theatre for experimental purposes, especially in lighting effects. In this model theatre a number of methods of using neutral lights, flashes, combination and group lighting will be tried out. By this means

FOOTBALL SITUATION REMAINS UNCERTAIN

STRENGTH OF PACIFIC COAST TEAMS PROBLEMATICAL

Forty Idaho Varsity Candidates Work Hard With First Game Scheduled October 6

The football situation in Pacific coast and Northwest conference circles still remains obscure, with little definite information on any of the teams available. The Washington Huskies, under Coach Enoch Bagshaw, are making good progress toward building up a representative team, while W. S. C., O. A. C., Idaho, and U. S. C. all have plenty of good material and prospects. Stanford was hard hit during the final days of last spring by faculty scholarship slashes, which seem quite common on the Palo campus.

"Gloomy Gus" Henderson, Southern California coach, has not as yet made many of his persistently gloomy predictions for the coming season, but they will be perfectly in order, and will be expected now most any day. Meanwhile, the Idaho squad of over forty men has been going through its paces in a gratifying manner during the first ten days of practice, and all of last year's veterans are again in uniform and rapidly getting into good physical trim.

Scrimmage This Week

Little has been done in scrimmage work so far, but the coming week will likely see varsity squads lining up against each other for light workouts. Coach Mathews is still saying little and doing much, and every candidate has about as good a chance of making the varsity squad as the next fellow.

The seven lettermen from last year's eleven who will likely see action again this fall are Frank Kinnison of Payette, Johnny Vesser of Coeur d'Alene, Morris Klime of Plainfield, N. J., Lawrence Quinn of Boise, Lyle Tapper of Richfield, Sylvester Kieffner of Twin Falls, and Vernon Stivers, of Moscow. W. F. Stephens, of Blackfoot, is a letterman from the S. A. T. C. team of 1918.

Other members of the varsity squad who are making bids for berths on this year's eleven are Walter Reamer of Lewiston, Frank Kershnik of Burley; Royal Irving of Rupert; Robert Fitzke of LaCrosse, Wis.; John Reed of Idaho Falls, and Robert Leitch of Lewiston.

New Candidates in Suits

The 1922 University of Idaho freshman team, winners of the frosh championship of the Pacific northwest, is furnishing promising material for the current varsity season. Yearlings of last year now in varsity suits are Wayne Davis, of St. Anthony, Clifford Davison, of Nampa; Neal Nelson, of Heyburn; Orville Jones, of Portland, Ore.; Hanley Payne, of Idaho Falls; Ray Stephens of Blackfoot; Ted Bucklin, of Idaho Falls; John Noh, of Twin Falls; Vic Cameron, of Boise; Otto Huefner, of Kellogg, and William Lansdon, of Boise.

New varsity candidates are Guy Wicks, of Moscow; Percy Rowe, of Moscow; Dwight Disney, of Rupert; Ralph Hasbrouck, of Nampa; John Cluen, of Boise; Les Ernshberger, of

A WORD OF EXPLANATION

In printing the story of the Vandal football prospects in the last issue, it was not the intention of The Argonaut to make predictions. The quoted story was the opinion of a Los Angeles sports authority, and it was as such that it was printed.

The Argonaut recognized the fact that no game was scheduled with California. And it was assumed that this would be understood. The story was printed with the sole purpose of showing, to use the time honored expression, "what the people outside think of us."

"HELLO"

Idaho is noted among universities and colleges for its democratic spirit. And the foundation of that spirit is the "hello" tradition.

Every Idaho student greets every other Idaho student with a friendly "hello." It is not necessary that they know one another—all are Idaho students. Other universities have "hello" days, but every day is "hello" day at Idaho. It is one tradition that must be kept.

JUST FROSH

A freshman in a university faces a situation which is extremely foreign to him. He has recently been a high school senior, with all the honor and dignity that it carries in high school life.

From this environment he is suddenly shifted to another. He becomes the butt of all jokes. He receives attention from every side, attention which may seem unwelcome. He is made to feel distinctly that he is "just a frosh." Sometimes it is a bitter pill to take.

But that man who is "just a frosh" should reflect. Every sophomore, junior and senior on the campus has gone through the same period. He has had the same troubles, the same worries, the same attentions. And after it is all over every one of them has realized that it wasn't so bad after all.

ENGINEERS IN DEMAND

Dean Crawford Cites Class of Civil Engineers At Alma Mater

There was never a greater demand than now for civil engineers with the proper technical training, says Ivan C. Crawford, new dean of engineering. Dean Crawford comes from the University of Colorado, where he was professor of civil engineering. Dean Crawford, himself a graduate of the Colorado institution, has data on all civil engineering graduates from his alma mater, upon which he bases his statement.

"Of the 24 senior civil engineers at Colorado this year every man was placed before graduation day," he said. "Three went on railroad jobs at $165 a month, four went into government positions at $150, six went into highway work or joined the staffs of the large oil companies at salaries ranging from $125 to $150 a month. Those going to the American Bridge company have an opportunity to get further training and a chance to specialize in structural work. At the end of three or four months of satisfactory services the salaries are raised to $145 or $150 a month.

Many to Big Companies
"Apprenticeship courses with the General Electric, Westinghouse company, and Western Electric, at salaries slightly over $100 attracted most of the graduates in electrical and mechanical engineering.

"Of approximately 800 engineering graduates from the University of Colorado, at least 90 percent are now actively engaged in the profession."

Dean Crawford's statements are substantiated by figures on graduates from the University of Idaho college of engineering, who has secured attractive positions in various branches of the profession.

GONZAGA ELEVEN LOOKS GOOD TO SPOKANE FANS

From reports being circulated from Spokane the past ten days, Coach Gus Dorais is whipping a football team into shape at Gonzaga which gives promise of being even better than that which went through the most successful season last year that Gonzaga has ever experienced.

A large number who comprised the Bulldog varsity eleven last year are back again this season, and unless some unforeseen event greatly upsets the dope, it can be expected to be a dangerous contender for gridiron prominence in this part of the country. Gonzaga last year played the W. S. C. Cougars to a standstill, and won from the University of Idaho after they had gone through a number of strenuous away-from-home games.

The quintet of veteran players upon whom Dorais will place the responsibilities of backfield work consists of Horton Stockton, a big, burly, smashing lineplunger, with worlds of experience and a natural knack for the game, Mat Bross, Mal Ingram, who played a spectacular game last year, Paek Garrity, another dangerous player against any team, and "Gib" Skeate.

Dorais, like the Idaho mentor, Coach Mathews, is a great believer in having his men in the pink of condition early in the season, and he has been stressing special routine work with that view in end.

Possibly the biggest problem which confronts the Bulldog coach will be development of a good quarterback. He very aptly stated that he would "either use a big, fast man at that position, or a little fast man capable of handling himself well in open field playing", which is just what any coach would do, providing he could get either a "good fast big man, or a good fast little man", so his plans along that score are still cloudy. However, his two best bets just now seem to be in either Douglas Dykemen, who has the qualities of being big, and Puggy Hinton, who has just the opposite qualities. Both, though, are said to be football players of high caliber, and either may develop into clever field generals.

Gonzaga plays the University of Idaho at Moscow November 2.

CALIFORNIA FACES TASK OF BUILDING NEW TEAM

Coach Andy Smith and his corps of assistants, are busy at work these days attempting to build up another great football machine, in much the same fashion that they faced the situation in the fall of 1920. The 1919 California team had been well ridled by graduation, but a wonderful bunch of sophomore material reported that fall, and they were developed into the "wonder" team of California, which passed into oblivion last year with the graduation of eight of the brilliant stars who made it such. The Golden Bears lost Captain Erb, Berkeley, Morrison, Clark, Muller, Dean, Gallagher, and Nesbit, all men of exceptional caliber, who fitted into their berths with unusual adaptitude, and five of the above were first water stars whose equals will be hard to locate.

Backfield Is Strong

However, with a host of good second year timber, and the indomitable will of Coach Smith, California may be expected to put a team into the field which will put up some stiff battles this fall. The material from which Smith will select his backfield will be good. Dunne and Spaulding, 1922 substitute halfbacks, are available, in addition to Blewett, Imlay, Dodson, Brown, and Nixon from the yearling squad. Witter, last season tackle, will likely be shifted to full-back, where he will be useful because of his driving ability and punting prowess.

Imlay, looked upon by some as the logical man to replace Charlie Erb at quarterback, is a sensational back. Just in passing, he happens to be an Idaho product, having been raised in Boise, and graduated from the high school there. Evans, substitute quarter of the 1922 eleven, will also be back, and King, a star on the freshman eleven several years ago, will be in uniform again.

To replace Berkey and the famous "Briek" Muller at ends, Coach Smith will have Hufford, who subbed for the varsity last year, and several other likely candidates.

For line positions there will be Beam, Neumeyer, Francis, Carey, and Perry. Horrell is showing promise for center position, and will likely fill that berth when the season opens.

UPHAM SEES EDUCATION RELIGION IN ACCORD

Dr. A. H. Upham, president of the University of Idaho, occupied the pulpit at the First Presbyterian church, Spokane, Sunday morning, in the absence of the pastor, the Rev. Dr. Sherman L. Divine. Dr. Upham announced as his subject, "Education and Religion," and said in part:

"Originally, all education was developed by the church or with the patronage of the church," said Dr. Upham. "Up to 100 years ago all who got an education got it under church direction, and the church and the school still have much in common."

"But conditions have changed. People have not turned against the church, but scientific knowledge and research have greatly broadened the field of education and in that broadening public education has developed. That does not mean that modern education is opposed to religion. The great broadening of education means simply that it is independent of the church."

"Churches which opposed state schools on the ground that they were ungodly have come to realize that there are more children from homes of church people in the state schools than in the church schools. A striking example of this is the University of Illinois, which has more students from Methodist and Presbyterian homes than are in the total enrollment of schools of those denominations in the state."

UNIVERSITY RECEPTION

MEETS WITH APPROVAL

With the dance floor crowded with happy couples and the walls lined with spectators, with a crowd pouring into the gymnasium and overflowing into the hall and down the cement steps, the usual formalities of introduction dispensed with, the all university reception Friday gained a success that entitles it to go down as one of the foremost of Idaho traditions.

The reception itself took place before the dance. Each person was given a paper on which to write his name, and the paper was pinned on him in a conspicuous place. A receiving line handled the general introductions.

Vocal solos were given by Miss Bernadine Adair, piano selections were given by Allen Pike, and talks were given by President Upham and Talbot Jennings, President of the Associated Student Body.

Idaho has gained for herself a reputation throughout the west for having a friendly, composite student body, and the "hello" habit has done a great deal toward fostering this good will.

Following this reception everyone is supposed to know everyone else and speak to him.

LARGE CROWD ATTENDS UNDERCLASSMAN DANCE

One hundred and fifty couples attended the Bury the Hatchet dance held in the gymnasium last Saturday night. This dance concluded the freshmen-sophomore hostilities for the year, and added a third successful event to the year's opening social calendar.

It was a no-program dance and followed the lead of this year's informals with a number of tag dances, a feature which is stressed now in order to get the students acquainted before the big mid year dances.

No decorations were used, but the Bury the Hatchet added to the pep and enthusiasm with which the fall affairs are being received at Idaho.

The dance was under the supervision of Sydney Yeager, newly elected president of the sophomore class.

for three bouts, White, of the freshman class was defeated by Ross, sophomore, at 145 pounds. Powers, freshman, won over Johnson at 125, making the honors even, but the sophomores lost the event by forfeiting to Don Owens in the 175 pound class, for lack of a man. The two bouts were clever and fairly fast, Powers showing up as a possibility for future material.

Snow Has Charge
"Bung" Snow, representing the "I" club was master of ceremonies, and was assisted by "Telly" Telford and Walter Casebolt. The entire fight was put on under the supervision of the "I" club.

The pole wrestle was won by the freshmen with a five man team. This is a new event, but owing to its success will probably be a regular feature of the fights hereafter. A long pole was placed on four supports about four feet off the ground. The first two combatants equipped with boxing gloves, mounted straddle the pole, and attempted to knock each other off. The first freshman floored three men before he was replaced. The event was speeded up by several of the men hanging upside down by the legs and taking heavy punishment in their efforts to get back on the pole.

Sophs Win Hulme Fight
In the Hulme fight itself ten men on each side lined up opposite each other and for five minutes each tried to drag his opponent over the line on his side. Strategy won for the sophomores.

The eleven men on the frosh end of the rope in the tug of war pulled the sophomores through the fire hose without a hesitation, despite the fact that the sophs seemed to have them outweighed. The pickaback race was won by the sophomores.

The fight is an annual affair, and is the concluding event in the class supremacy fight that has replaced the old hazing system.

wide reputation and it is unusual that they can be procured at any but the largest cities in the country.

Walker Presents Plays

The second number on the course is Stuart Walker and his players, who will stage two productions here January 17. The play which will be given in the evening is "The Book of Job," but the program for the matinee has not yet been announced.

The closing program will be given by the Ukrainians, who will present folk songs and native melodies of "Little Russia." This is the second season that this chorus of 50 has appeared in the United States.

Adds to Cost
These three numbers have been secured by the committee at a cost which is approximately a thousand dollars more than that of past entertainment courses. It was felt that the added value of the programs this year easily warranted the extra expenditures.

The committee on events is Dean F. A. Thomson, Dean I. C. Crawford, Dean Robert W. Davis, Dean E. J. Iddings, Dr. G. M. Miller, Prof. E. O. Bangs, and Prof. F. W. Atkeson.

The Pen that made the Grade

Will Help You Make It Too

ONE reason alone that the Parker Duofold is invaluable to students is because fluent writing induces fluent thinking! You can't compose your thoughts if an unruly pen harries your brain. But Duofold's balanced swing, its super-smooth point, its fit and business-like feel in your hand, all give your mind free rein!

Ask your student friends who use this classic pen—they'll tell you they would rather let go of seven dollars than have to part with the faithful Duofold.

Its over-size ink capacity holds a long-distance ink supply. And its point is not only smooth as a polished jewel, but no style of writing can distort it; hence, a pen you can lend without fear.

Students call it the "All-American" Pen because it's the ranking favorite at leading universities and colleges.

Give yourself a flying start this year by getting Duofold this week.

Changes in Football Rules

The changes in the football rules as published in the Spalding Football Guide are as follows:

In rule III, section 2, which relates to substitution, there has been a slight expansion in the wording for the purpose of making the intent of the rule less likely to misinterpretation, and the same is true in section 3.

In rule IV, section 1, a paragraph has been added that provides a penalty against the team which deliberately delays the start of a game.

The wording of section 4 has been altered in order to make it clear that after a fair catch made at the expiration of a period the kick is allowed and also the subsequent play resulting from that kick, until the ball is declared dead by the referee; and also that the try-for-point is allowed if the touchdown is made just as time has expired.

In rule VI, section 1 has been made a little clearer, and the same is true of section 13 (d) of the same rule and of section 16 (b), second paragraph, relating to safety.

In rule VII, section 2, relating to a kick-off crossing the goal line and then going out of bounds, the approved ruling that the ball is still in play and a touchdown possible has been incorporated; subject, of course, to the approved ground rules.

In rule IX, section 1, third paragraph, the position of players on and behind the line of scrimmage has been more thoroughly amplified in the interest of officials, and the same is true in Section 5 of the same rule relating to players in motion.

Changes in wording have been made in rule X (a), (b) and (c), neither of which, however, alters the accepted understanding of the play.

Rule XIV, section 1, has been slightly altered in order to make clear that neither side may attempt to extend the privileges of "time out."

Rule XV, section 5, has been reworded in order to make clear the rights of both sides, when more than one player signals for a fair catch, and the same is true of XVI, section 3 (b), relating to fouls on a forward pass.

In rule XVII, sections 1 and 3, the word "hand" has been inserted with a view to making clear the fact that a ball handed to a player ahead of the holder is a forward pass. It is also made clear that the penalty for an illegal forward pass may be declined, but that the penalty for an incomplete forward pass may not be declined.

In rule XVIII, an important alteration has been made which eliminates the last vestige of the "on-side" kick. No player of the kicker's side, even if he was behind the kicker, may recover the ball until it touches an opponent, except in case the ball did not cross the scrimmage line.

In rule XXI, section 2, the place from which the penalty is inflicted is the spot of the down, while roughing a forward passer inflicts the penalty from the spot of the foul, and clipping gives the privilege to the offended side of selecting whether the penalty shall be measured from the spot of the down or of the foul.

In rule XXIII, section 11, the wording is made clear as to the infliction of penalties for fouls occurring after touchdowns, touchback or safety.

COUGAR TEAM SHOWS PRE-SEASON STRENGTH

COACH EXAMINE GAINING CONFIDENCE OF W. S. C. BACKERS

Have Good Trio of Backs Upon Whom Will Fall Burden of Offense

Washington State College students, faculty and alumni are wondering just now what their new football coach, Exendine, out of the famous Carlyle school of the old days, will do this fall as mentor for the Cougar eleven. Exendine came to the Pullman institution with an enviable record of nine successful years in the coaching game at Georgetown University, Washington, D. C., where his teams met all the big eastern teams.

Taking stock of available material their prospects appear to be good, and with their new coach using with the same style of game that has characterized the W. S. C. teams for the past ten years, it should not prove difficult for either the players or the coach to become accustomed to each other.

Dunton Is Missed

The Cougars will without a doubt miss the services of Dunton, last year's captain and a dangerous tackle, while Butch Durrwachter's graduation left a serious hole at guard which will have to be filled from new material. Of those on the present squad, eleven are veterans of former years. Around these Exendine will mould his team. Those veterans are Kramer and Tryggviat ends, Shannon at tackle, Wetzel at guard, Crow and Burke at center, Jack Davis, and Harold Cook at quarter; Captain Hickey and Johnnie Zaepfel at halfback; and Stanley Bray at fullback.

The last named, Hickey, Zaepfel, and Bray, will be remembered by Idaho fans as the men who tore through the Idaho line last year during the second half with such terrific sledgehammer blows, forcing the Idaho line to give ground, and winning the game for the Cougars. That fatal half was merely a repetition of "Hickey through right tackle—Bray through center—Zaepfel around end—," wearing down Idaho's defensive line with their consistent pounding.

Wealth of Material

Other men showing to advantage are Hjertoos, a former Washington man under the now famous Gail Dobbie, Bervin, Byers, and Henderson from last year's yearling team. According to "Doc" J. Fred Bohler, head of the department of physical education and athletic director, the greatest concern will lie in the development of a strong line, which task will fall in the main on Hack Applequist's shoulders.

The Cougars are making all plans to again take the Idaho Vandal into camp, and to retaliate for the stinging defeat handed to them last fall by the University of Washington Huskies, in one of the fastest and hardest fought games seen in the northwest.

They will start their 2000 mile jaunt by taking on the Oregon Agricultural eleven at Boise November 10, for the annual Armistice day southern Idaho football classic.
